Hello Girls Walk-Out Hits Cities

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Possibility that a mushrooming strike of women telephone operators would spread to New York City arose Thursday as a forecast of "definite" government action was heard in Washington.

Henry Mayer, attorney for the Federation of Long Line Telephone Workers, said the union is considering calling out its girl operators in New York as a sympathy gesture to Ohio workers, who started the strike over expenses bonuses paid to workers imported into Dayton.

It already has spread to Washington and war-busy Detroit. Virtually the only optimistic word of the day came from Miss Jeanette Reedy, vice president of the Ohio union, who wired associates in Dayton that prospects for settling the dispute Thursday appeared good to her.

"Warrants Federal Action" E. H. Gustafson, vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, told reporters in Washington that while some workers had returned to their posts in Ohio the situation "still is serious enough to warrant Federal action."

A spokesman for Economic Stabilization Director Vinson predicted the action here without hunting what it might be. Vinson, however, usually routes unsolved labor disputes to the White House. Only President Roosevelt can order government seizure.

A settlement, of course, would forestall Federal action.

Krug in Conference A. J. Krug, War Production Board chairman, was reported doctored with army officials. The Army presumably would take over the strike exchanges in the event of a seizure order. Krug's activity in the strike stems from the Office of War Utilities, a WPB branch which he formerly headed. It is charged with the maintenance of war essential utilities.

Strike Orderly In Washington, hub of United Nations communications links, company officials said its long distance switchboards were "about two-thirds" covered. A spokesman said "a lot of operators are going

American War Leaders Cry For Support

WASHINGTON—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower said Thursday his soldiers were making daily headway by courage and suffering, but they need "myriads of shells and tires and guns and blankets and planes."

The man commanding the gigantic Western Front offensive against Germany appealed personally to the American people to over-subscribe the Sixth War Loan drive and "transform the money quickly into vital fighting equipment."

It was Eisenhower's second urgent appeal to buy War Bonds. He made it in a talk prepared for (NBC) broadcast from his European headquarters. The text of the statement also was released by the Treasury Department.

Misery Can't Stop Them Mud, cold, bullets and minefields can't stop the millions of American boys from pushing the enemy back if they are plentifully supplied and supported from the homeland, Eisenhower declared.

The equipment is needed "now," he said. And the soldiers must get it "from the money you lend the government."

He said the American fighting men are "entitled to the constant assurance of your understanding, of your resolution and of your unflinching zeal."

War Loan headquarters had no new figures for Thanksgiving Day. The latest progress report, Wednesday, chalked up $482,000,000 paid in by individuals, compared with the total quota for individuals of $5,000,000,000. The drive began Monday and will end Dec. 16.

Nimitz Is Thankful Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, said in a Thanksgiving Day message over the same program with Eisenhower that "We give thanks . . . to the men and women and children on the home front. Their toil and their savings invested in War Bonds have made possible the outfitting and supply of the great fleet which has struck the enemy so effectively."

And Admiral William F. Halsey Jr., commander of the Third Fleet, said: "We give thanks that we have a decent homeland to fight for. We give thanks that we have been able to keep the enemy's fleet and his bloody hand from touching that homeland."

General Douglas MacArthur in a War Bond message released by the Treasury said "We at the front have complete faith in you at home. The spirit of America—always in your heart—has never failed us and we know you will supply needed money through the purchase and holding of War Bonds."

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has accepted the general concept of a plan he submitted for disposing Chinese forces to meet the Japanese threat and that it now is going into effect.

Wedemeyer, who came to Chungking as commander-in-chief of U. S. Army Forces in China after the recent recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, made the announcement at a press conference.

He also declared the Japanese would not be defeated by the island hopping strategy now under way in the Pacific but would have to be ultimately defeated on the continent of Asia.

He said his command automatically would embrace any American seaborne forces landed in China.

Today's War Map

American Ninth Army troops advance through the small German villages of Koslar and Barmen, Thursday, to a point only 26 miles from Cologne. In the south, the American infantrymen and French tanks fanned out on the flat Rhine plain within 18 miles of Strasbourg, capital of Alsace-Lorraine. The inset map locates both fronts on the Western Front.

Ninth Army Troops Within 26 Miles Of Nazi Arms Center

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON—(AP)—American Ninth Army troops drove through deep mud and German steel into the Roer Valley villages of Koslar and Barmen Thursday in a slow advance toward Cologne, 26 miles away on the Rhine.

Both towns are north of the Hitler superhighway from Aachen to Berlin and it was along this concrete road that the Germans had massed the best and most of their troops in the west. Below the road, Ninth Army troops entered Bourheim, Patterns and Lohm to form a battering ram six miles wide and pointed directly at the bomb-ravaged Rhineland arsenal city of 768,000.

A cold, pelting rain driven by gales added to the miseries of ferocious German resistance; it denied air support for the columns of infantry, tanks and cannon moving through the thickly fortified zone before the Rhine. The Roer and its affluents were flooded.

On Rhine Plain

On the Allied southern flank, American infantry and French tanks fanned out on the flat Rhine plain less than 18 miles from Strasbourg, capital of Alsace-Lorraine, in a complete breakthrough of resistance so spotty that the crack Allied assault teams were opposed by some Nazis who have been in the army less than a month. One company was composed entirely of deaf Germans.

The implication was obvious. Marshal von Rundstedt was giving up Lorraine and doubtless Alsace, too, to save what he could from the debacle of the Vosges mountain front where it was estimated a few days ago that 70,000 troops of the enemy's 19th Army were nailed against the Rhine and caught between Allied forces less than 60 miles apart through the Saverne and Belfort Gaps. French in the south advanced four miles from Mulhouse to Battenheim.

British Drive On British forces in Holland moved to within two miles of Venlo in the great bend of the Maas (Meuse) River, captured the highway town of Amerik and pushed through the worst minefields and mud encountered since the early days of the war.

Denison Blast Toll Now Nine Dead And Four Critically Hurt

DENISON—(AP)—The death toll in a butane gas explosion that swept a block of this city rose to nine Thursday, and four others burned in the fiery blast remained in a critical condition.

The ninth victim was Mrs. John Marshall of Sherman, who died in a hospital there at 4 a.m. Thursday.

In a critical condition at a Sherman hospital were Mrs. R. B. Marshall, Dallas, and Mrs. Otto C. Ahlers, Sherman. Also critically burned were Lonnie Joe Hammons, 12, Denison, and Mrs. Ed Kilgore, Denison, who were under treatment at a Denison hospital.

Was Passenger Mrs. John Marshall was riding in an automobile which collided with a butane gas tank truck late Tuesday, setting off the explosion which rocked buildings over a wide area of the northwestern edge of Denison.

Her husband, a Sherman real estate man, was fatally burned. Other victims were Mrs. C. A. Bass, Austin Jordan, F. L. Nix and Lonnie Iker, all of Denison; R. F. Hammon, Sherman, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sweney, Kansas City.

Thirty-three persons were burned in the blast.

Eisenhower Will Try Any Cigaret Vendors

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower has ordered the court-martial of any service personnel engaged in black market sales of cigarettes, it was disclosed Thursday.

The supreme commander, ordering an investigation of reports of illegal sales, expressed determination to see that the distribution of cigarettes in this war theater is equalized as possible.

Communications zone headquarters, which is in charge of cigarette distribution, soon will effect a distribution at the rate of five packages weekly to combat troops and two packages to forces in rear areas. Officers and men in rear areas have been allowed no cigarettes in the last two weeks in order to maintain the issue of seven packs a week to combat men.

United States Soldiers See Thanksgiving As A Prayer Of Confidence From Nation

By The Associated Press Thanksgiving came Thursday to American fighting men in the full tide of battle—on a turkey wing and a prayer, a prayer of confidence and hope from a nation in its third warlike observance of a great American tradition.

Many civilian tables throughout the country were lacking turkey but there was no lack of it for soldiers and sailors at home and abroad.

The department proclaimed turkey a must for the men in the trenches, while those in hospitals, training areas and combat stations, also feasted on King Tom.

The townfolk of Plymouth, Mass.—home of the first Thanksgiving—observed the day in a manner symbolic of the spirit of celebrations throughout the nation and near the battlefronts. There was morning prayer to be followed by their most elaborate wartime feast day and an evening tableaux with a cast of Pilgrim descendants.

While traditional church services were being held throughout the nation, religious services were also taking place at every Army post on the far-flung battle areas.

In Cherbourg, France, French civilians and British troops joined Americans in a festival evening at the municipal theater.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges told his troops of the U. S. First Army driving inside Germany along the approaches to Cologne:

"x x x it is enough for us to know that because of you, people of all the world today are giving thanks to God Almighty who has made possible your vast achievement, x x x"

On the home front, war plants remained on full production schedule.

Because of the calendar quirk which produced five Thursdays this month, there again was a mixup over the holiday date. Forty-one states and the District of Columbia followed the federal statute in celebrating Thursday.

Arkansas, Idaho, Nebraska, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia will have their legal state holidays on the fifth Thursday, Nov. 30. Georgia will have two Thanksgiving days—Thursday by gubernatorial proclamation and next Thursday by state law.

Expected To Treat Operators probably will continue the natural test for a short time, and then treat saturated section between casing-seat at 5,088 feet and total depth at 5,157 feet, with acid.

Swab was pulled once each 60 minutes. After 800 feet of oil which had accumulated in the hole during a shut-in had been swabbed out, for net recovery of 12 barrels, the well filled up 400 feet, with oil, in four hours.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Russian assault forces inched closer Thursday to the Hungarian communications strongpoints of Hatvan, Eger and Miskolc in grim hand to hand fighting along the 35-mile battle line northeast of Budapest.

Chill rain and deep mud solved Marshal Rodio Y. Malinovsky's offensive, but the Soviet communiqué listed six villages captured and 43 German tanks knocked out against fierce counterattacks by Hungarian and SS (Elite Guard) Nazi units.

Otherwise, the war bulletin said, there was only minor action along the rest of the far-flung Eastern Front.

Germans Say Buzz Bomb Now Flying Artillery

LONDON—(AP)—A Berlin broadcast asserted Thursday that "continuous improvement" had been made in robot and rocket bombs and that the range of the vengeance weapons "is no longer a problem, in spite of the withdrawal of the German front line."

"The flying bombs are becoming more and more the flying artillery of the German army," the DNR account said. "The target aiming has been perfected to such a degree that flying bombs may be used against important small enemy centers within the front line."

Words From The Wise

And, behold this day I am going the way of all the earth: and ye know in all your hearts and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you, and not one thing hath failed thereof.—Joshua 23:14.

It used to be that a newspaper could come out bravely in favor of home and motherhood without much fear of contradiction. But nowadays, with progressive education and all, it isn't as safe as it used to be.

The early life of the Mlles. Dionne was contradictory. Although sheltered and guarded, they were public property. Their very existence altered other people's lives, made tidy fortunes, provoked bitter battles.

After 10 years of constant companionship, the five Mlles. Dionne are still friends. They seem to think independently but without animosity, and to agree on fundamentals. That is a condition which any family of children or nations might envy, and we hope that the post-Dumbarton Oaks conferences will take note of the Dionnes' example.

Thus the young ladies all had different plans for a career, but were in unanimous agreement that the world was very big. And while differing in their appraisals, they expressed general approval of Santa Claus, Americans and people.

But the young ladies told the interviewer, emphatically and as one, that they didn't want to be a queen. It involves too much sitting down, said one; you get honored too much, said another; a queen has to meet too many people, said the third; there isn't enough fun and freedom, in the fourth's opinion; and the fifth decided she couldn't do what she wanted to if she were queen.

Poor children, they have been honored, gaped over, stared at, sequestered and secluded as much as most queens. But there's no bitterness in the renunciation of royalty—just pity, understanding and disinclination.

The Mlles. Dionne are rich little girls. They have been movie actresses, and have shaken hands with a king and queen. But what was "the most wonderful thing that ever happened to them?" That was easy: for one it was her first communion; for another, her last birthday party; for all, being home with mama and papa and under one roof with their brothers and sisters.

BUY WAR BONDS AND SAVINGS STAMPS

Lawful Mutiny
The German army, long synonymous with rigid discipline, has now sanctioned mutiny in the interest of "total resistance." The Nazi Party, which clearly controls the army, advises German soldiers or home guards to shoot anyone who contemplates surrender—even if it be a soldier's superior officer.

The announcement of this surprising move was found in a captured copy of a Nazi army-circulated publication, and its text included the admission that "our will to resist is the only thing we have left against the material superiority of our enemy until the new weapons are ready for the front."

Results of such an anarchic loosening of discipline can only be guessed for the time being, but surely it will be an invitation to many disaffected soldiers, especially the older and less ardent Nazi.

Obviously there must be widespread disloyalty or war-weariness among German troops and officers to require such a desperate remedy. And while there is danger of building up too much hope on this premise, it would appear from this "fanatic resistance" is being despaired of, and that "the new weapons" are truly the Nazis' last hope.

Another Booby Trap?

Barkley Believes Taxes Can Be At Least Halved

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Democratic Leader Barkley predicts that the present annual $45,000,000,000 federal tax bill can be cut about in half after the war.

"I believe that when this war is over," he said, "we can build a sound economy in which there will be jobs for all who want to work. With the right cooperation and exercise of wisdom we can have a national income of somewhere between 125 and 150 billion dollars, or even more."

"We are now paying about $45,000,000,000 a year in taxes, which is about what the whole national income was not so many years ago. When the war is over, I believe we can reduce this tax bill to somewhere between $22,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000."

Barkley's remarks were made during Senate debate Wednesday on the $1,000,000,000 flood control authorization bill.

The secretary said: "It would be the mission of this reserve component in the event of a national emergency, to furnish units fit for service anywhere in the world."

Mainly Defense
Basically, the training would be pointed toward defense of critical areas in the United States against land, seaborne or airborne invasion and assistance in covering the mobilization and concentration of the reserve forces. But the units, Stimson said, also would be capable of integration into larger organizations or task forces.

He asserted that this conception of the new mission of the National Guard "would interfere in no way with the traditional mission of the National Guard to function in the protection of life and property and the preservation of order under state authorities."

The importance of the National Guard in the peacetime army would not be lessened by enactment of any system of universal military training, Stimson said.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Ed Carey Talks (Thanksgiving) Turkey
Bert Childers hails Ed Carey on his back porch. "What you doin', Ed?" he asks. "Pluckin' our Thanksgiving turkey," Ed replies. "Looks like a chicken to me," says Bert. "Looks like one to me, too," Ed allows. "But with so many turkeys goin' to our fightin' men, some chickens got to do a turkey-size job."
Guess that's the way Thanksgiving is going to be in a lot of homes this year. We'll be sitting down to rationed foods and substitutes—and being mighty glad about it... knowing that the best is going to our men overseas. And from where I sit, the most important thing of all isn't rationed. That's the Spirit of Thanksgiving! Today—as the lights are going on again all over the world—there's more of it than ever! And more cause for it—as the powers of darkness yield to freedom, tolerance, and human kindness!

Midland Residents Are Urged To Become Civic Theater Patrons

Patron subscription for the Midland Civic Theater have been coming in extremely well, Mrs. John P. Butler, chairman of the patron committee announced Tuesday. The Civic Theater would like to give all Midland residents the opportunity of becoming patrons, however, and since many of the newer residents are not on the mailing lists, an open invitation to subscribe now is being extended to all who are interested in this work.

Patron memberships are priced at $25, with associate memberships selling for $10. Those becoming either patrons or associate members are entitled to two reserved seats for every play given during the season. Each group is allowed to select two representatives to serve on the Board of Directors.

Brings Best In Drama

Since the Civic Theater is the only group having the policy of bringing to Midland audiences the best in modern drama, it deserves the support of all lovers of the theater—and of the city, for it is only through the work of such organizations that Midland will become the center of culture in West Texas.

Contributions for this purpose are deductible from income tax payments. Checks may be made payable to the Midland Civic Theater, and mailed to Mrs. John P. Butler, 1603 W. Holloway. The name, address, and telephone number of the donor should be included with the check, in order that a membership card may be sent to each person contributing.

Tickets for the groups first play of the season, "First Lady," which will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Civic Auditorium, now are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce. Tickets also may be purchased at the box office of the auditorium on the nights of the show.

It was decided that the next meeting, which will be held Dec. 6 at the home of Mrs. Fred Wycoff, 721 W. Kansas, will be a cup shower for the lodge hall.

Those attending the dinner were Mrs. Bernard Collins, Fred Wycoff, Mary Leo Baldrige, E. Jones, Lee Thomas, A. Floyd, Hattie Inman, Minnie Crumley, Ed Barber, G. C. Driver, L. C. Stephenson, H. E. Skipper, and J. Wayne Campbell.

Long Skirts for Small Figures

LAST YEAR bright little Junior crepes and big or little evenings went well enough together. This year everyone is dressing up, and the young crowd especially is again discovering that small figures and long skirts are made divinely for each other.

New York's Junior designers have scaled lots of exciting party clothes in sophisticated satins and crisp taffetas along young lines, such as the full-skirted, swishy dresses pictured, in pink and black. Both have pretty necklines and covered-up shoulders.

The same fabrics are charmingly used for short party dresses with sheer, peekaboo yokes front and back, or low cut backs. One such style, for instance, is in rustling black moire taffeta, its skirt hitting just below the knee and the bodice cut high in front but slashed in a deep V down the back.

All of these dresses look lovely over the table top, but have the freedom of motion Juniors adore for the waltz or rumba.

For dates at home and the movies, Juniors are wearing lots of pretty crepes and wools with touches of bead or sequin embroidery, or even simpler trims such as a bow of bright satin on a black crepe dress, or piping around the neck and short sleeves of a violet colored crepe.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTETH at any drug store—adv.

Make Jellies For Yuletide Gifts

Jellies are gay yuletide presents for friends.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Time to begin winter jelly making for the Christmas tree. Here are good practical recipes for gay and delicious results.

Grapefruit and Grape Jelly
Five and one-half cups sugar, 1 1/2 cups canned grapefruit juice, 1 1/2 cups bottled grape juice, 1 bottle fruit pectin.

Measure sugar and juices into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about nine glasses (six fluid ounces each). Note: Fresh grapefruit juice, strained, may be used in this recipe.

Thrifty Cranberry Marmalade
(Using Orange and Lemon Skins)
Five cups prepared fruit, 7 1/2 cups sugar, 1/2 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit, use skins from four medium oranges, and two medium lemons and cut in quarters. Lay quarters flat; shave off and discard about 1/2 of white part. Put yellow rinds through food chopper twice. Add four cups water, juice of two lemons, and 1/8 teaspoon soda. Bring to a boil and simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Add one pound ripe cranberries and simmer, covered, 10 minutes.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just five minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot marmalade at once.

Apple Jelly
Three and one-half cups sugar, 2 cups canned or bottled apple juice, red coloring, 1/2 bottle fruit pectin.

Measure sugar and juice into saucepan and mix. For a deeper rose color, add a few drops red coloring. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about five glasses (six fluid ounces each).

Global Air Transport Question Before 54 Nations' Delegates

By JAMES J. STREIB
Associated Press Aviation Editor
CHICAGO—(P)—Dragged out of seclusion by a spontaneous outburst, the Anglo-American struggle for complete agreement on a global air transport body was placed Thursday before delegates of 54 nations participating in the International Civil Aviation Conference.

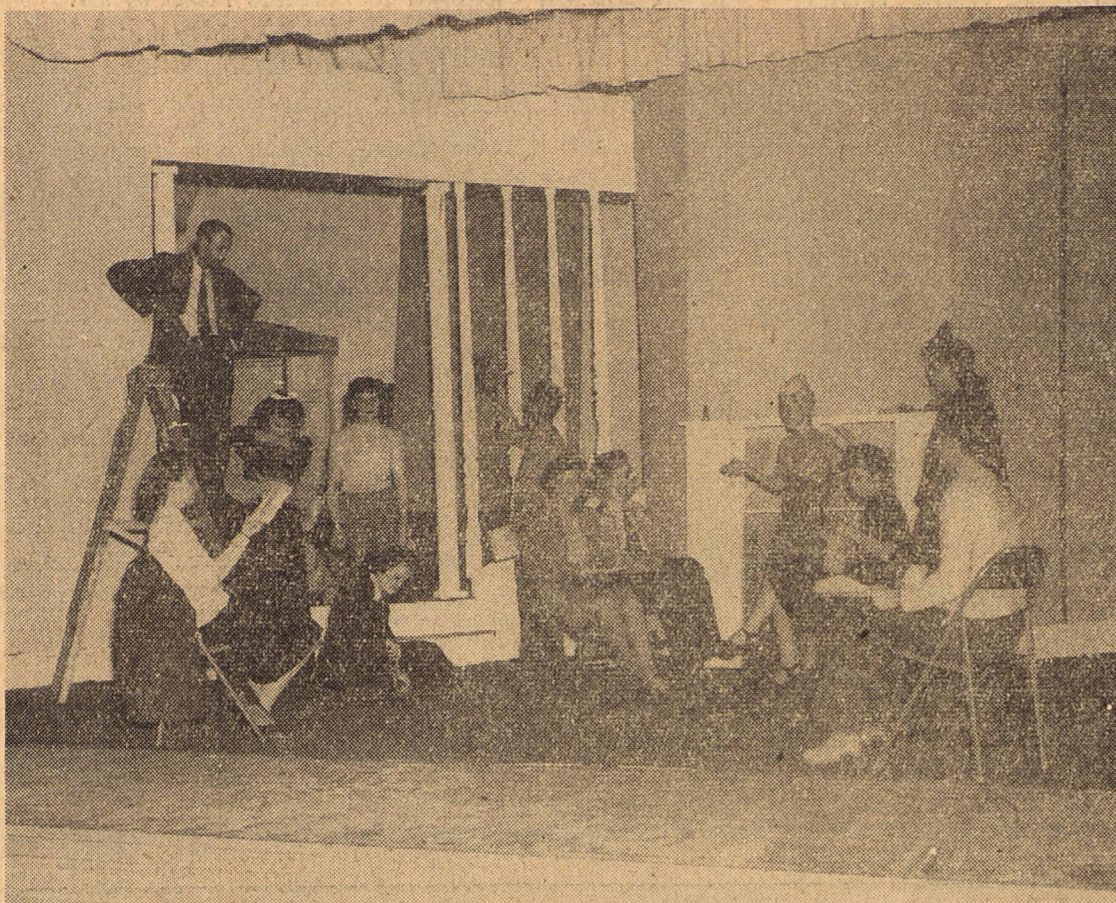

The hope for immediate solution of the question of economic control was thus pulled from the grave during what had the appearance of a burial service, such as that given the Anzac plan for a single world airline early in the 23-day meeting, but cautious observers were reluctant to encourage optimism.

Talks Had Failed
It was pointed out that the British and Americans had failed to bring their ideas together in nine days of private talks, in which the Canadians took a middle course and did much of the difficult work of drafting compromise proposals into formal language.

One of the men closest to the tight struggle said, however, that after Wednesday's open meeting of three committees—representing all of the countries—he felt there was a 50-50 chance for success, whereas he entered the meeting feeling the chance was one in a thousand.

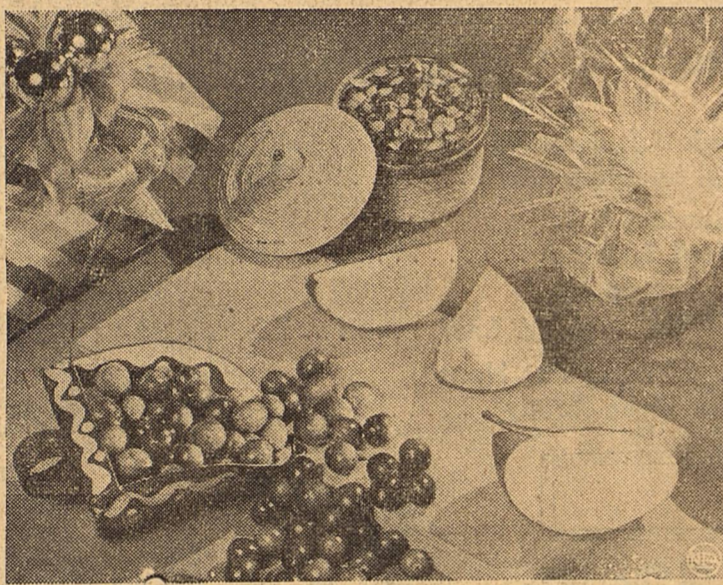

The meeting was the long-awaited opportunity for various countries to speak their minds on the document prepared by American, British and Canadian leaders and submitted without commitment. It outlined "the international air administration" as a consultative and review body for world airlines. It included a plan for fixing of minimum rates by operators, provided for bilateral negotiations on routes, preserved the rights of cabotage (internal traffic) and of fixing the routes and stopping places foreign aircraft must use, provided for administration of world standards for air navigation and the technical phases of aviation.

Cast And Stage Crew Of 'First Lady' Prepare For Opening Night

That the producing of a play entails man and varied activities is borne out by this rehearsal scene, showing part of the cast and stage crew of the Civic Theater's production, "First Lady," hard at work getting play into shape for Friday's opening night. Reading from left to right, the workers are Mary Sittes, script girl, checking the players' line; Norris Creath, resting after a bit of carpentry; Anne Bingham, trying on a costume; Mozelle Dement, repairing the sound board; Anna Sue Barrow, practicing an entrance; Pvt. Fred Westphal, touching up the scenery; and Gretchen Estes, Meri Cornelius, Nancy McKinley, Mildred Jones and Marjorie Lenthall, all rehearsing under supervision of Director Steve Briggs.

Cranberries Glorify The Turkey

Homemade cranberry spreads make unusual Christmas gifts.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
Cranberries won't be as abundant as in peacetimes, but there are enough to give everyone his Thanksgiving share.
Here's a good combination to glorify the royal bird.
Cranberry Mandarin Sauce
Two cups sugar, 2 cups water, 4 cups fresh cranberries, 2 tangerines.
Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil, without stirring, until all the skins pop open—about 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Peel, section and seed tangerines. Add to sauce and allow mixture to cool in saucepan. If desired, add a few slivers of tangerine skin to sauce. Makes 1 1/4 quarts.

Another variation is Spiced Cranberry sauce:
Spiced Cranberries
Two and one-half cups sugar, 1/2 cup water, 2 2-inch sticks cinnamon, 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind of one lemon, 4 cups fresh cranberries.
Combine sugar, water, spices, lemon juice and rind and boil together 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring, until all the skins pop open. Chill to service. Makes 1 quart.

San Angelo Major Dies At Controls Of Bomber In Sacrifice To Save Lives Of Crew In Stricken Ship

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
A U. S. BOMBER BASE IN SOUTHWEST CHINA—(P)—Major Horace E. (Stump) Carswell, Jr., pilot of the B-24 Liberator which sank a Japanese cruiser and destroyer Oct. 16 in one of the greatest bombing exploits of the war, gave his life 11 nights later in a selfless effort to save members of his crew.

The 23-year-old Texan, who already had become the ranking hero of the U. S. 14th Air Force, made his final decision in the highest traditions of the air force.

Major Carswell was one of the first officers assigned to goodfellow field at San Angelo when it opened in 1941. He married Miss Virginia Ede who lives at San Angelo. Carswell's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Carswell, Fort Worth.

With two of the engines in his four-engine bomber shot out in a low-level attack on a Japanese convoy in the South China Sea, Carswell and his co-pilot, Second Lt. James L. O'Neal, 26, of Maywood, Ill., were nursing the plane to base when the other engines failed. Eight crew members bailed out. Three officers remained aboard. The plane crashed in flames on a China mountainside.

Could Have Jumped
Carswell and O'Neal could have jumped before that happened, but they were sweating it out with 2nd Lt. Walter V. Hillier, of Chicago, whose parachute had been so riddled by flak he could not use it.

Hillier, who a few hours earlier had scored a damaging near-miss on a Japanese destroyer and two direct hits on a medium-sized merchant ship, died with Carswell and O'Neal.

The last man to bail out, nose gunner Staff Sgt. Carlton S. Schenep, of Hicksville, N. Y., saw Hillier wheeling with his ruined chute on the flight deck floor between the pilot and co-pilot.

Just Sat There
"The Major and O'Neal were just sitting there, looking straight ahead," Schenep said. "They knew the others were bailing out, but they made no move to stop them. They knew about Hillier's chute. I couldn't see their faces. They were still trying to ride her in. Then the number two engine sputtered and I jumped."

Schenep's own parachute had been soaked with hydraulic fluid. It failed to function properly.

"I went out through the open bomb bay and pulled the rip cord," he said. "Nothing happened. I claved at the pack with my hands and got the chute out. I landed on the mountainside. The plane crashed about 500 yards away. There was a big explosion and fire."

"The flames lit up the mountainside. I stayed at the spot until daylight. I couldn't go near the fire. There were continuous little explosions as the ammunition—what we hadn't jettisoned over the sea—kept going off. The three men must have been killed instantly."

Just restore the water... Get fine whole milk!

Scientific triumph! Fine whole milk from lush dairylands now brought to you by Kraft with the water removed! It "keeps" on your pantry shelf! Makes delicious fluid milk quickly, milk with uniform cream content!

Science predicted that some day a way would be found to remove the water from fresh whole milk... a way that would give you vital food values and tempting freshness of flavor. That day is here!

Right in America's lush dairylands fine fresh milk is pasteurized, the water is removed from it by an exclusive process of dehydration and valuable vitamin D is added.

By simply restoring the water, you get whole milk... delicious milk... and nutritious milk! For, in this powdered form, you get milk's complete protein and its precious calcium and phosphorus. Also food energy and vitamin B2 (riboflavin). You get also 400 units of vitamin D in each quart you make.

Moreover, Kraft Powdered Whole Milk saves you money two ways: lower cost per quart and no losses through spoilage in your pantry. It keeps well on your pantry shelf and you make it up as you need it. Simply mix with water, shake in a quart jar, chill in your refrigerator. Then it's ready for drinking... cooking... every milk use. Try it today.

James Mims Tells Of Soldiering In The Philippines

S/Sgt. James Mims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mims, doesn't think much of the Philippines. At least a letter received from him leaves one with that impression.

"What doesn't crawl, hops; what doesn't hop, flies; and everything bites," is the way he describes the island on which he served with the 24th Division.

"Mosquitoes are so thick you can't stir them, and when wire makes a good net to keep them out, I don't believe they had a square meal until we arrived," he continued.

Plans On Ice Cream
"We were on the ocean just a couple of days before we landed. One good thing, we had ice cream about three times and good chow, which was a welcome change. When I get home I think I'll just do nothing but eat ice cream," he wrote.

"They don't play for fun here. So far the only Japs I have seen have been dead ones and prisoners, but they were only a few hundred yards away when we landed. We have had air raids and rain every night. A fox hole isn't the best place to sleep, but we are making out o. k. Snipers take pot shots at us once in awhile, but rather quickly find themselves full of lead.

"We have eaten pretty well so far. There is a ten-in-one ration which has some good cheese, jelly, butter (?), corn, lima beans, bacon, eggs and other good things, but not like fried chicken.

"It is much like the other South Pacific areas here—jungles, coconut palms and lots of good hot sun. The natives are very glad to see us and tell the usual stories of the Japs. They carry all kinds of odd-shaped bundles on their heads and we see water buffalo and bamboo huts just like the pictures.

Monotonous Digging
"We have a pretty good set-up, but it gets very monotonous digging fox holes every time we move, but they're quite comforting when bombs come over or snipers get ambitious. I believe I'll be heartily sick of the islands when I have dug holes all the way across them."

He said it was quite interesting coming in on A-Day, and it seemed more like watching a news reel than being in it. They had to wade a few feet, filling their shoes with water. Since they were so thirsty they cut open some green coconuts, which are mostly juice. "You can't imagine the confusion on the beach, but very quickly all kinds of stuff starts moving up and getting into shape to function."

A 'Sea' of Pies for Men at Sea

Coast Guardsman Arnold M. Manthei, of Princeton, Wis., surrounded by a "sea" of his wares somewhere aboard the combat cutter in the Atlantic, pauses in the midst of baking Thanksgiving pies to sample one of his culinary masterpieces. The occasion is somewhat of a celebration, too—the pie Manthei is tasting is the 7500th he has baked since he entered the Coast Guard.

Latest Beauty Trick Is Matching Mascara And Eye Shadow With Costume

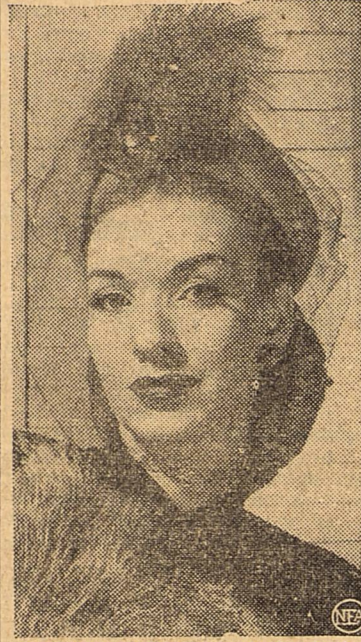

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Using green mascara on your eyelashes to match a green feather which puffs over your hat may sound a trifle mad, but it's being done. So reserve judgment until you hear me out.

This business of coating your lashes to match your bonnet is a vogue launched by Madam Aziza, former Parisian eye cosmetician, who hand-makes 10 shades of shadow and mascara to glamorize your sparklers, which this season are in strong competition with fancy headpieces.

First to adopt the vogue were glamorous models, Lynn Engler, the John Powers beauty, has mascara or eyeshadow to go with every color hat.

Said Lynn, as she stroked on purple mascara to match the purple feather on her hat, "My favorite evening whimsy is to wear gold eyelashes to match a gold turban that winds around my head."

LYNNE ENGLER: Whimsical.

Justice Department Questions Jurisdiction In Humble Oil Case

FORT WORTH — (P) — Harry I. Rand, attorney for the Department of Justice, Washington, Wednesday said in the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals that Federal Judge W. H. Atwell of Dallas exceeded his authority when he issued an order restraining WLB and PAW officials at Washington from seizing or threatening to seize the Humble Oil and Refining Company's Ingleside plant.

Rand said the injunction, issued last Sept. 21, had no jurisdiction over Washington officials of the two agencies. He contended Humble properly should have brought its suit in Federal district court in the District of Columbia.

Conceded Lack
Rex G. Baker, general counsel for the Humble Company, conceded the district court's lack of jurisdiction over national officials "as long as they remained in Washington," but said they would bring themselves within the court's jurisdiction if they or their agents came to Texas to carry out seizure of the plant.

Baker, describing Judge Atwell's order as "protection of the company's property," said they sought to prevent "illegal sanctions." The sanctions, he said, were in the form of refusal of the 8th Regional WLB at Dallas to act on the company's application for wage adjustment unless it complied with a maintenance of membership provision in its union contract.

Bulldog Butch Finds Cornell Butch Co-ed

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—(P)—Sgt. Balson Butch, bulldog mascot of the Marines at the Philadelphia Navy Yard has a pin-up girl, too, a co-ed at Cornell. With her picture, now in a place of honor in Butch's kennel, she sent a note:

"You see, my name is Butch, too. Right now I'm a co-ed, but in April I expect to be one of those Beautiful American Marines' and perhaps someday I may also be a Sergeant."

One Man Army Hospital Finally Closed Down

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(P)—Now that its one patient has improved, the Army Air Forces convalescent center hospital will close.

Capt. Ned Hood, public relations officer, said that closing of the hospital was delayed a week while Pvt. Ted Hollister, overseas veteran of World War II, won the first round against pneumonia. His condition now will permit him to be moved.

The franc is the most widely circulated coin in Europe, being used by about 148,000,000 people. In Italy the franc is known as the lira; in Serbia, the dinar; in Spain, the peseta; but the value is always the same. The system of coinage is known as the Latin Union.

Feed Precautions Against Diphtheria

Parents of Midland children were cautioned Thursday by health officials that youngsters should be immunized against diphtheria.

Dr. J. A. Olean, director of the Midland County Health Unit, told of the death recently of a child from diphtheria. The child began choking up and died before a doctor could be reached, Dr. Olean said. Another child in the family now has the disease, and the mother has shown positive reaction.

"By all means, children who have not been immunized against the disease should be taken to the family physician and immunized immediately," the doctor declared.

Col. Dahl was assistant military attaché at the Norwegian Embassy in Washington before returning to England to assume his present command.

State Officials Check Election Returns

AUSTIN — (P) — The governor, attorney general and secretary of state began the official canvass of general election returns here Wednesday.

Secretary of State Sidney Latham said it would require about a week to finish the tabulation as required by law.

The count underway covers only presidential electors, other state officers, and congressional and district races. Official canvass of the votes for governor and lieutenant governor is made by the legislature.

OPA Thwarts Sergeant's Marriage By No Gas

GREENVILLE, PA.—(P)—It was "no gas, no wedding" for a Camp Reynolds soldier. He postponed his marriage because the camp ration board ruled he could not have gas for a borrowed automobile to drive his bride-to-be to church. "My fiance won't ride a bus in her wedding dress," the soldier lamented.

Choose the kind of deodorant that suits your particular perspiration type. Then stick to it as you do to your soap and your toothbrush. A deodorant that "checks" as well gives double protection, and saves your clothes by preventing stains.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Remember when Thanksgiving football games used to be called "Turkey Day classics"? ... now there are few turkeys and fewer games, but we note with pleasure that the tradition is being preserved by the U. S. Forces in the Middle East. ... The pyramid league scheduled a Thanksgiving opener and will operate with seven clubs—the Medics, the Air Corps, and two quartermaster groups—the medical outfit, called the "Rebels" and an air corps team known as the "Golden Hurricane" are co-favorites and Larry Leonard reports the rebels are ready to roll.

CIO Wants Wage Freeze Removed

CHICAGO—(AP)—The CIO turned from its political interests to the economic Thursday as the seventh annual convention was asked to demand immediate removal of wage freezes.

The 600 delegates who enthusiastically voted to continue the Political Action Committee indefinitely, worked through the Thanksgiving holiday to wind up their meetings by Friday night.

Resolutions condemning the War Labor Board's handling of disputes and demanding that the "Little Steel Formula" which has braked wage increases at 15 per cent above January, 1941, levels, be discarded, were prepared for formal action by the convention.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Allied advance into the Rhineland is encountering new problems of security, due to dangers from Nazi underground units and from spies—threats which General Eisenhower has recognized by issuing an iron-clad rule against Yankee soldiers fraternizing with German civilians, even speaking to them, under penalty of very heavy fines.

This menace originally was brought to the attention of folk back home here when Lt. Gen. Hodge's First American Army reached the Aachen sector. The mysterious disappearance of some of his men, apparently victims of the underground, resulted in the issuance of orders against fraternization, and since then the rules have been made more rigid.

Every mile of penetration into Germany by the Allied armies increases the difficulties. Many "civilian" operatives are Nazi soldiers who've discarded their uniforms for multi and who are prepared to play the part of spies or do murder.

Damages Morale

Of course that's not the whole story. Apart from the spying and underground operations, it's damaging to the morale of soldiers to fraternize with the civilians of an enemy country. You can't be friendly with folk and be tough with 'em at the same time.

Some of you undoubtedly remember the first Christmas in the last war, when British Tommies and German soldiers decided to bury the hatchet for that one day of "Peace on Earth." In some sectors they fraternized in no-man's land, swapped Christmas boxes from home, and even played football. But the military moguls quickly stepped on such comradeship among men booked to kill one another.

Secrets Are Revealed

It's amazing how much hurt can be done by a seemingly harmless bit of information. For instance, say a new Allied division has just moved into a sector where troops are being concentrated to make an offensive. A couple of boys from this division drop into the local pub for a glass of beer.

The genial landlord hears the casual mention of the name of the division and reports it to his headquarters. The German command immediately recognizes that this division twenty-four hours earlier was in a sector 50 miles away. It's appearance in the new sector probably means that the Allies are concentrating troops there. Thus the secret of the coming offensive is given away.

HOLIDAY SETTING

Thanksgiving is one occasion when you can turn your talents loose on a dinner table and, by using a little cleverness and skill, make up for any lacks in fine china and heirloom silver, which you may not have.

Using that traditional symbol of the harvest, the pumpkin—either a real one scooped out or a make-believe shell for your centerpiece, fill it with autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums, and make that the centerpiece of your setting.

Expensive straw mats can pinch-hit for a fancy cloth and either white or orange-colored pottery plates will tie into your color scheme. Place cards can be made of folded squares of orange paper, fringed with scissors, and decorated with pumpkins, either painted on or put on with stickers.

Making a candy or nut cup in the guise of a Pilgrim Father's hat is no trick at all if you'll use black paper for stovepipe crown and brim, white paper for buckle, band and rim around the brim.

Stick white tapers in low crystal candle holders that flare, such as Plymouth pattern one shown above, and match your water glasses to these.

American Women Have Big Responsibility Ahead To Meet Returning Servicemen With Kindness And Proper Psychology

By DOROTHEA LYLE
Associated Press Staff

DENTON—(AP)—Wives, mothers and sweethearts of returning servicemen should prepare now to meet with understanding problems which will face them when their servicemen return, Dr. Merl E. Bonney, psychologist of the North Texas State Teachers College faculty, says.

The veterans readjustment problems—lack of initiative and ambition, restlessness, sudden breaking of group ties, attitude toward recounting war experiences, and physical handicaps—call for careful handling to avoid nagging and a desire to pamper him.

To combat servicemen's inertia, Dr. Bonney urges wives to be good sports, give their husbands incentives to develop ambition, encouraging them to take active, full-time jobs.

Formula Given

His formula for women whose war-restless men continually seek new jobs and better locations is to influence their husbands to remain settled, making them realize their problems will follow them, and then to build up friends and group life to make home more appealing.

Dr. Bonney foresees a sense of "aloneness" after years of living and fighting with "the outfit" and suggests servicemen join local veterans organizations and civic clubs.

"Too much has been said about the marked personality changes of both men and women which will disrupt pre-war marriages and engagements," psychologist states. If the women at home have advanced and matured there should be no wide personality schism to be bridged.

"The girls who are going to school and advancing themselves mentally are doing the smart thing," he says, "instead of those running home to hibernate until Joe comes home."

New Interests Important

New interests and other topics of conversation will help veterans who dwell too long on their war anecdotes. More difficult to handle are those reticent about war talk. Of this group some simply have no adventures to relate but others are psychologically ill, having suffered shock which they seek to repress.

Because he thinks such men cannot return to normalcy until they "talk out" their experiences, Dr. Bonney advises their womenfolk to encourage such talk. "Don't just ignore such reticence," he urges. Dr. Bonney continues: Leaves Sense Of Guilt

Personal conduct of failure leaves a sense of guilt with the soldier. There psychoneurotics—they constitute 45 per cent of service rejections—need their confidence restored. Wives can make them realize that many capable and dependable men could not adapt themselves to army life.

Guilt may be felt also because of drinking or other physical exercises.

Because drinking is the answer to many problems in the service—monotony, restlessness, fear—substitute answers and compensations must be developed in civilian life to counteract the tendency to forget it all with a drink.

Adjustments to physical disabilities can be made more easily than to mental handicaps. The wise woman at home will not try to ignore such an obvious handicap as a missing arm or leg, but will avoid pity and emphasize what the injured man can do.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—To the troubles of cigaret smokers who figure they're lucky these days to find a pack anywhere, the War Food Administration Thursday piled this unhappy thought:

The demand for American tobacco, it explained, may increase next year, regardless of whether the war ends in the meantime. Some reduction in domestic usage may occur if the armed forces' requirements are pared.

Facial Contours Should Be Guide To Selection Of Chunky Costume Jewelry

JANET BLAIR: Jewelry perfects shape of her face.

By ALICIA HART

It's well to know what you're up to when you wear the new jewelry pieces, which, because they are bolder in design and more brilliant in gleam, create dominant lines that can affect the shape of your face.

For expert pointers that will keep your shopping quests for jewelry safe from errors, listen to gem-loving Janet Blair, who passes on tips for choosing them which every movie girl learns from her studio.

Janet's advice is to wear dog collar or multiple-strand choker necklaces only if your face is slender. If it's round, she says, your best bets are oval or long necklaces and twin clips or pins placed off center and low down on the neckline of a dress.

"Bold earrings are a face-widening device, too," Janet reminds you, "but if you'll also wear a V-shaped necklace or a big pendant or medalion suspended from a ribbon, you'll direct the onlooker's eyes in a long line down as well as across your face, which creates the impression of an ideal oval shape."

Bulldogs Play Lamesa

Quartermaster Building Catches Fire At MAAF

Thanksgiving got off to a blazing start at the Midland Army Air Field Thursday morning when one of the quartermaster buildings was found ablaze about 9:15 a.m., it was said by field officials.

The post fire department soon had the fire under control and damage estimates were held at approximately $100.

Midlanders Are Favored Over Lamesa In Spite Of Weight And Bill Richards' Injury

Coach Gene McCollum and 28 Bulldogs left for Lamesa at 9 a.m. Thursday for their next to the last District 3-AA Conference game of the 1944 Season.

The Bulldogs are favored over the Lamesa Golden Tornado in spite of its advantage in weight and the fact that triple-threat Halfback Bill Richards is out of the Midland line-up because of injuries.

Lamesa has had a very unsuccessful season, losing to all of the conference members, while Midland has put five out of eight games on the win slab.

New Halfback To Start

The coach said that either Bobby Drake or Barney Hightower would start the Lamesa game which is called for 2:30 p.m. Thursday. If the game begins with Midland on the offensive, Drake will be in the position customarily occupied by Bill Richards, but if the toss finds the Bulldogs eleven starting on the defensive, then Hightower will be listed as the starting halfback.

Perhaps the hottest player that Lamesa has is their captain, Boone, who is fast on his feet, has a commendable passing arm and is smart in his position as quarterback.

Lamesa's tackles average 183 1/2 pounds each, one weighing 185, the other 182.

Probable starting lineups:

Midland	Position	Lamesa
Hyatt	LE	Hawkins
Funk	LT	Fortenberry
Letwisch	LG	Matlock
Edwards	C	Shillingburg
Gerald	RG	Bizzell
McNeal	RT	Hurley
Conly	RE	Neiman
Yeager	QB	Boone
Roy	RH	Self
Drake or Hightower	LH	Horton
Hale	FB	Moore

General Admission Tickets Go On Sale

General admission tickets to the Thanksgiving football game between the Midland High School Bulldogs and the Odessa eleven went on sale Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce.

The supply of reserved seat tickets is dwindling as only single seats are left for the west stand, and the quantity for the east stand is limited.

The general admission tickets are being placed on sale in advance so fans can save themselves the inconvenience of having to stand in line at the stadium ticket booths in order to purchase tickets.

Tickets for soldiers were also placed on sale. The tickets sell at half the price for civilian tickets. Students' tickets also are being sold at the Chamber of Commerce.

Tw-e-e-t Girl

It's probably just another press agent's stunt, but it is certainly worth making a memo of the fact that eye-fel Virginia Mayo, above, Hollywood actress, has been appropriately dubbed "The Girl Most Likely to Be Whistled at in 1945." And it's not too early to start practicing.

Willie Hoppe Retains Lead Over Cochran

CHICAGO—(P)—World Champion Willie Hoppe retained a fairly comfortable lead over Challenger Welker Cochran Thursday as they rested in their long match for the three cushion billiards title.

Hoppe, with 1,226 points, led the San Francisco veteran by 74 points after Wednesday night's block in the 1,500-point challenge match. He beat Cochran, 50 to 36 in 33 innings, the second fastest of the long match, after losing the afternoon game, 66 to 50.

Leading Golfers Tee Off In Portland Open
PORTLAND, ORE. — (P) — The country's leading par chasers hiked off Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole Portland Open, a golfing event touching off the 1944-45 winter tournament golf scramble and worth $15,500 in War Bonds.

First big winter open ever held in the Pacific Northwest, the tournament not only attracted such nationally famed performers as Byron Nelson, Harold McSpaden, Sam Snead, Craig Wood, Jimmy Hines and others but provided a unique promotional venture in that caddies and meals were free to contestants.

Nothing quite like it had ever been offered before and Snead, the colorful Hot Springs, Va., pro, just discharged from the Navy inquired "how long has this been going on?" Snead, incidentally, teed off as the choice of many to crack up the one-two money winning combination of Toledo's Nelson, former U.

Marty Marion Hailed As Most Valuable Man
NEW YORK — (P) — Marty Marion of St. Louis took bows Thursday as most valuable player in the National League in 1944 on a one-point decision over Bill Nicholson of Chicago. There won't be many to say he doesn't deserve it.

Nicholson's boosters point to the Cub outfielder's feat of scoring the first "slugging double" in league history by leading with 33 homers and 120 runs batted in. The selection of Marion, however, strikes a popular chord in most of the nation.

The 6-foot-2 shortstop from Iva, S. C., was the key man of the Cardinals' infield, helping his pitchers hang up sensational low-hit records by his defensive brilliance and chipping in with enough blows from a 269 mark to bat home 64 runs. His unofficial .971 fielding average was the best in the circuit.

San Angelo-Abilene Game High-Lights Schoolboy Schedule
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Championships in five districts are due to be determined Thursday in the Texas Schoolboy Football race with San Angelo entertaining Abilene in the feature battle.

San Angelo, defending state titlist, can not sew up the District 3 pennant with a victory Thursday because there still will be another game on the Bobcat schedule, but Abilene can if it wins.

Wichita Falls is in the same situation as Abilene in its battle with Vernon. Vernon has another game before it can claim the District 2 championship should it win from Wichita Falls.

Austin (El Paso) needs only a tie with El Paso High to win the District 4 diadem.

Paschal can tie the North Side and win the Fort Worth District championship but North Side can take it with a victory.

Scharbauer Hotel Is Town Meeting Place

The Scharbauer Hotel, since it was built, has developed into a community meeting place. Most civic clubs hold their meetings there, and it is the place where most community committees hold meetings. Ranchers from all this section of West Texas meet there and consummate cattle and land deals.

The Scharbauer is known among the traveling public as the finest hotel in the state for a city the size of Midland.

Farmers Co-Op Turns Out Better Bales

With a few days of clear weather to dry cotton in the fields, the large number of cotton growers of Midland county who depend on the Farmers' Co-Operative Gin will be bringing in loads of cotton in what it is termed "better bales."

The Farmers' Co-Operative Gin has won a wide reputation for the quality.

The Battle of Bull Run is the name used in reference to two different battles. The first, July 21, 1861; the second, August 30, 1862. Both battles were between the Union army and the Confederates. Both were won by the Confederates. The first battle of Bull Run is sometimes known as the Battle of Manassas.

Excel-Sure Does Quality Work

The Excel-Sure Cleaners, owned by James L. Daugherty, has been turning out quality cleaning since June 1, 1938. The concern moved into its present building at 110 North Big Spring April 15, 1940. In addition to cleaning and pressing work, the concern takes orders for made-to-measure clothing.

Modern Ideas Suggested On Use Of Glass

The Midland Glass Company at 1811 West Wall Street is featuring the Blue-Akko safety glass for automobiles. This glass is described by Q. M. "Shine" Shelton as one of the best for windshields as it permits clear vision for both night and day driving. At night there is no glare caused by the lights of approaching cars, and no sun visor is needed for day driving.

The concern also carries a stock of channels and regulators for automobiles.

Another item the concern now has in stock which often is needed around the home are brackets for glass shelves.

Large Assortment Of Mirrors

With Christmas approaching, Shelton called attention to the fact the Midland Glass Company has an unusually large assortment of mirrors of all types.

Shelton has made a thorough study of the use of glass and how it can brighten homes and make them more beautiful and livable.

Among the newer ideas for use of glass in the home which have become increasingly popular are built-in plate glass mirrors, decorative glass partitions and colorful glass wainscoting for kitchen and bathrooms.

"These combine to make a house that is brighter, gay and easier to keep clean," Shelton revealed. Booklets Are Available

Shelton has many booklets available which illustrate and describe ways in which glass can be used to brighten homes.

It has been demonstrated larger windows are practical for smaller homes, after considering the savings in other wall materials.

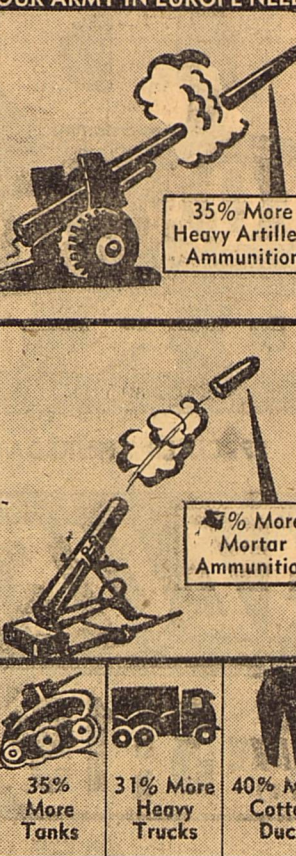

Today large windows are available in many styles. There are corner windows which meet at right angles and go right around the corner of the room. There are ribbon windows with wide multi-paned areas which occupy the large portion of a wall instead of windows of the high, narrow conventional type.

One of the most modern uses of glass is in partitions to wall off an extra alcove, den or nook without creating a dark interior.

In the kitchen and bathroom a colorful new wall glass provides the most sanitary and beautiful of all wall materials.

"We invite Midland citizens to visit us and let us show them how glass will improve their homes," Shelton said.

OUR ARMY IN EUROPE NEEDS

35% More Heavy Artillery Ammunition

35% More Mortar Ammunition

35% More Tanks

31% More Heavy Trucks

40% More Cotton Duck

Pass the ammunition and more of it, is the cry from the Western Front, according to Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, indicating that production must be boosted on the home front. Chart above shows items which must be produced in greater numbers, with heavy artillery and mortar shells leading the ammunition groups. Troops are reported firing 35 days planned supply in 10 days — and there are no reserves in this country.

Men Of War Study To Be Men Of God

AP Newsfeatures

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC — From the general awareness of God and religion that comes to men in combat has sprung a small but flourishing seminary whose students are Fourth Marine Division veterans of Saipan and Tinian.

The class meets for two hours twice a week and the interest of the men is accentuated by the fact that because of other duties it is often very difficult to make the classes.

All the men attending are sure that they want to enter the ministry or missionary work after the war, but this is a possibility and in the meantime they are advancing their knowledge of religious matters.

One student actually transferred from a behind-the-lines outfit to an assault infantry company because he believes that manifestations of the Divine will are more frequent in the front lines.

Another decided to become a missionary to Japan after witnessing Jap brutality at Saipan. "Somebody has to give these people the Word," he says, "and I figure it might as well be me."

Grady Brown Standard Service Offers Rapid Battery Charging

Many Midland motorists are hailing the battery charger at the Grady Brown Standard Service Station as one of the greatest conveniences offered motorists in Midland.

The charger can be connected to a battery and the battery will be fully charged in 30 minutes.

"Now is a good time to check car batteries and determine if they need charging," Brown said. "A weakened battery often will start a car on a warm morning, but will fail to turn the motor over when the mornings are cooler."

Brown has owned the Grady Brown Standard Service since Oct. 15, 1943. He has owned or worked in service stations in Midland since 1931. He came to Midland in 1929.

Does Civic Work

In addition to operating his business Brown participates in various civic affairs. He is a member of the Midland Volunteer Fire Department, the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce and of the Odd Fellows.

The Grady Brown Standard Service offers its customers Standard petroleum products, including gasolines and a complete line of oils and greases.

"We feel that in offering our customers Standard products we are offering them products of known high quality and products which represent real value because of their superior quality," Brown said.

The widely and favorably known lines of Atlas and Exide batteries are sold at the Grady Brown Standard Service. Champion spark plugs are featured. Other automotive accessories also are sold by the concern.

Lubrication Is Specialty

Lubrication is a specialty of the Grady Brown Standard Service. With Standard specialized lubricants and greases, high pressure grease guns, and workmen who know lubrication thoroughly, motorists are assured no lubrication points will be overlooked when they take their cars to the Grady Brown Standard Service.

Excellent jobs of car washing, polishing and waxing are turned out at the station. Care is taken to make sure the surface is not scratched or damaged.

Another service offered by the concern is tire repair work and tube vulcanizing.

"We cordially invite all Midland motorists to give us an opportunity to serve them, and promise them prompt, courteous and cheerful service," Brown said.

Scientists claim the earth's atmosphere shields its inhabitants from harmful sun rays and helps to equalize day and night temperatures.

Shabby French Fighters On Western Coast Of France Continue To Battle Germans

Where the Germans held out along their Atlantic Wall in France.

By TOM WOLF
NEA Staff Correspondent

WITH THE FRENCH FORCES OF THE INTERIOR, ATLANTIC FRONT—It is an open secret that the No. 1 problem discussed by Churchill and De Gaulle in Paris was the French demand for arms and equipment for the French Forces of the Interior fighting on the Atlantic front.

This is the war's forgotten front. I have just returned from an extended tour of large portions of this German Atlantic wall. It consists of six separate port-pockets manned by an estimated total of 75,000 Germans. It runs from Lorient and St. Nazaire on the north to Royan and Pointe de Grave—keys to the Gironde estuary and therefore to the giant port of Bordeaux, which the FFI liberated months ago.

Harried by the Allied armies north of the Loire and by the FFI south of the river, these large German forces retired to positions which they had long fortified, stocked and prepared for just the role they are now playing: delaying as long as possible Allied entry into key ports of the Atlantic.

Lack All But Spirit
The Germans are well dug in, equipped with tanks, including Tigers, and heavy artillery up to 240 millimeter naval guns. They are said to have at least three months' food supplies. These supplies were almost untouched during the summer, for heavily armed German units went on frequent grain and cattle forays against neighboring farms and villages.

Other supplies are regularly flown in from Germany—unopposed by the FFI air force, which consists primarily of a handful of planes rebuilt from aircraft shot down or stolen from the Germans. Also flown in are key German officers, mail and newspapers—all to boost morale and make sure none gives vent to his defeatism by surrendering.

In the field opposing this well-armed German army is a force of perhaps 45,000 volunteers of the French Forces of the Interior. There are probably that many again in the FFI who are ready and waiting to fight but for their lack of clothes, guns and ammunition.

Everywhere along the Atlantic front I found the same story. The FFI lacks clothing, lacks guns, lacks ammunition, lacks planes and tanks and artillery, lacks ammunition—in fact lacks everything except the spirit necessary to wipe out these German salients in the west.

One front-line company I saw had five different types of rifles—British, American, Belgian, French and German—which they had received by parachute or plunder. In another area I saw a company come out of the line without rifles. These had been handed over to the men of the relief company because there weren't enough weapons to go around.

It's already well below freezing at the front at night. Even during the day it's cold, with a wet, penetrating wind blowing in from the Atlantic. Yet I saw men in line dressed in linen summer clothes without any overcoats at all. At least one-third of the men are in early civilian dress. Some are even in shorts. If real winter sets in before help comes, this front is going to be Valley Forge.

Men Are Bitter
From this situation a great bitterness is growing up against the Allies—and especially against the United States. Most men of the FFI believe clothing, guns and munitions can come from America alone and they wonder why they haven't received them.

Responsible officers of the FFI are the first to realize why they could not be given first priority on supplies. Most troops are not trained for full scale modern warfare. There is a certain amount of lack of discipline. "What can one expect," a colonel asked me when I commented on the fact that the guard had not saluted him, "when men have neither proper uniforms nor proper weapons?"

On the other hand, Colonel Adeline, commander of the southern half of the Atlantic front and regular army officer who graduated from St. Cyr in 116, told me that his men have had sufficient training to do the job. "Naturally, we would have to adapt Maquis-style tactics in part," he said, "but given arms we could clear the Germans out."

Throughout the Atlantic front officers and men of the FFI also realize that Allied supply problems on the eastern front are tremendous as it is—without the additional burden of supply on the western front. But they feel that the strain of supplying a few tens of thousands would be unnoticed in supply lines which feed, arm and clothe millions of Allied soldiers.

They feel doubly bitter because they have risked so much for the Allied cause and contributed so much to it. One small unit now underarmed and underclothed at the front held up a whole German armored division in the Dordogne for a week during early June when its presence in Normandy would have aided the Nazi cause tremendously.

Ask For Bombings
And they feel bitter because they feel they need so little. "Two or three heavy Allied bombings or a small naval task force would at least show the Germans that the Allies haven't forgotten us," a regimental commander in Pointe de Grave said. He estimated that with comparatively few pieces of heavy artillery and some needed ammunition his men could free the Bordeaux area in two to three weeks.

A captain of a company near La Rochelle—a veteran of the last war, a man of means, who could now be comfortably at home were he not so determined to rid his country of the hated Boche—summed up the spirit of every man I talked to. When he spoke it was not as an officer to a war correspondent, but as a Frenchman to an American. There were tears in his eyes as he said, "We ask nothing from you but the means to fight for our country."

U. S. Music Better Than British, Says Conductor Beecham

AP Newsfeatures
LONDON—U. S. musical organization is 50 years ahead of that in England, charges Sir Thomas Beecham, famous British composer, who brands it a "scandal" that the London Philharmonic Orchestra received no support from state or industry.

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra gets about $900,000 a year from an industrial sponsor," Beecham says. "This enables it to have the right number of concerts and rehearsals.

"British musical institutions are still walking in the old morass of reactionary unbelief," the conductor adds, "and as a result British orchestras are playing as badly as ever."

No Cigaretts in Any Language—Except Jap

Mrs. Chester D. Kozuchowski of Chicago, left, embraces an armful of Japanese cigarets, sent to her by her husband, Corp. Chester Kozuchowski, and if they prove smokable, her worries about the smoke shortage are over for some weeks to come. But Willa Hepler, Washington Ill., finds no cigarets in any language in a Chicago store which advertises the lack in English, German, Yiddish, French, Russian, Portuguese and Italian, Greek, and Bohemian. And the same applies if you speak Icelandic.

Zoo Mourns 'Jenny,' Its Lazy Pelican

NEW YORK—(P)—After an unlistinguished and blameless life, "Old Jenny," a pelican of uncertain age and no ambition, died in her winter quarters in the Bronx zoo.

"Old Jenny," which arrived in 1904, was the second oldest zoo inhabitant, being antedated only by

"Pete," a hippopotamus, born in 1903.

In announcing the passing of "Old Jenny," the zoo stated that she merely "ate fish, sat around on the water, never mated and had no ambition."

Because the bird was an adult when it was acquired by the zoo, there was no way to determine its actual age, but zoo officials said the longest recorded life of any pelican in a zoo was 48 years, established in a European menage-

rie. Authorities explained that few pelicans live that long in the wild because of their inability to continue the struggle for food against more active birds.

Passengers In The Dumps

SOUTH PACIFIC—(P)—Nine Seabees, stationed on a south Pacific isle, borrowed a truck to ride to a chicken dinner offered by a hospitable native family that lived on a mountain top. On the way back in the dark, the driver had trouble coming down the steep road and for a time was puzzled by the unfamiliar arrangement of brake and clutch pedals, but soon mastered them. Hearing his mates yell, the driver stuck his head out to inquire if anyone wanted to get off. He found only three of his original eight passengers still aboard. He was operating a dump truck.

It was a Christmas night in 1776 that General George Washington and his small army crossed the Delaware River at McKonkey's Ferry, near Trenton, N. J., to win the battle that revived the hopes of American independence.

Petite, Pretty Woman Directs 1125 Workers, Overseas Mechanical Operations In War Plant

By MARIANNE PACHNER
NEA Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND—“Make the most of your time... don't expect something for nothing,” are the three golden, successisms of the business world's newest Cinderella, attractive Helen Borski of Cleveland, Ohio.

Helen has just been elected to the board of directors of the Cleveland Worsteds Mills, the first woman in the history of the company (80 per cent of whose employees are women) to hold such a position.

Twenty-four years ago she had to deliver a rapid fire sales talk to the personnel director before he would even give her her first job as errand girl. He thought the job was too big for her. Today, she divides her time between the study of operating costs and the efficient, sympathetic management of 1125 employees. No machinery is purchased or scrapped without her recommendation; no worker is hired without her size-up. And no worker has ever been let out because Miss Borski's analytical mind sometimes cuts mechanical operations in half.

This last is significant, for it has been her suggestions for the simplification of work processes that have made Helen invaluable to a company that does a $20,000,000 business yearly. These suggestions are not born of cloud-wrapped inspiration but are the result of the simple, never-failing question which she has always asked herself before approaching any task: “Am I doing this the easiest way possible?” It has taken her from errand girl to inspector to executive board of directors in 24 years.

Of Polish Descent
Helen was born in Cleveland, of Polish parents. A childhood journey to the homeland brought her back to America at the age of 8 speaking only one language—Polish. She entered a Polish Catholic school here and graduated with a high school diploma at 16, having completed the 12-year course in eight years. After-school hours were spent assiduously learning fine needlework and crocheting under the exacting eye of a patient and painstaking mother. There was no time for the playground.

At 16, having completed school, she applied to the Cleveland Worsteds Mills for a job because the plant was within walking distance of her home. Progressing from errand girl to inspector in the department where she started, she had been at the mills eight years when she was asked to go into “piecework” to study the methods then in use and to make recommendations.

Within a few days the ex-errand girl had spotted many unnecessary operations which went unnoticed among the custom-staled workers, noted the efficiency of others, decided which machines were worth their floor-space and which should be discarded, then made suggestions to the executive board. When these were put into effect results were stepped up, individual operations cut down.

Streamlines Factory
Since that time Helen has profitably stream-lined every shop in the mill and has gained the friendly co-operation of everyone with whom she works through her whole-hearted interest in their individual welfare.

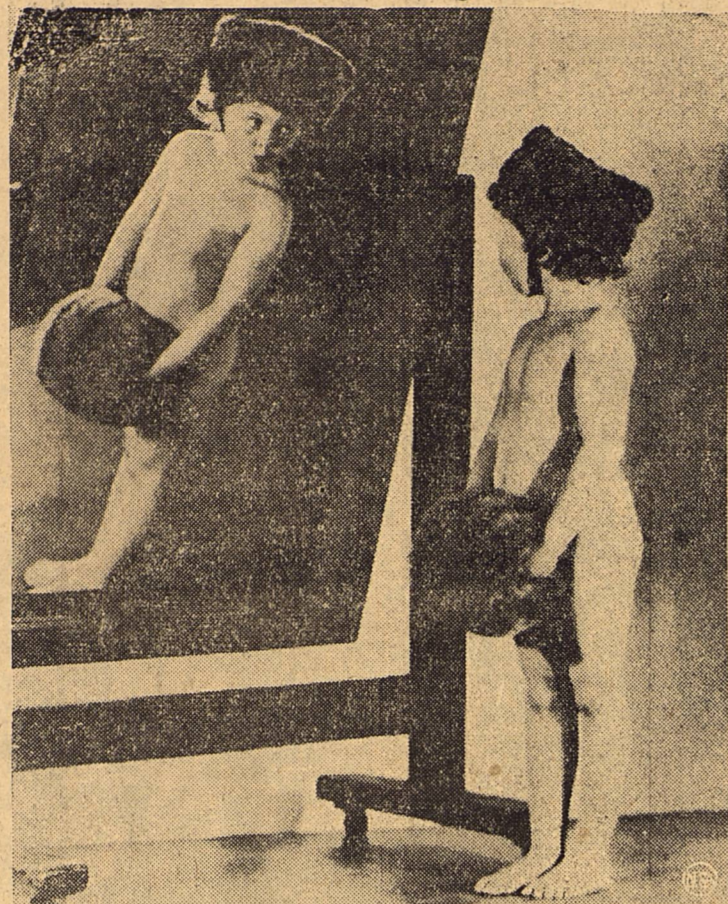

Acquaintance with five foreign tongues in a city where 66 per cent of the population is foreign speaking has been a great help. Helen can lapse into Polish or Russian at will. She finds that misunderstandings fade when language barriers come down.

No Time to Play
At 40 Helen Borski looks 25. She is petite and pretty with the friendly charm of the person who's interested in the other fellow. When asked to trace her success story, she will point to that disciplined childhood where work was the order of the day and say, yes, she supposes it all helped but that there's one thing she's missed out on altogether. She has never danced, she can't swim, she attends about one movie in six months. But she has discovered a recreation that suits her.

It is her four-acre farm in suburban Chagrin Valley, which is a dream come true. All of her spare hours are spent planting, weeding, or caring for the brood of chickens in whose health she takes a fanatical interest. She just can't seem to get out of the habit of work.

If possible, include milk in the children's or worker's lunch. Tests show that milk lessens fatigue, reduces accidents, cuts losses in man-hours, and improves production and earning power in war plants.

Not Fur Enough

Little Marilyn Richards of Philadelphia wears a look of perplexion—and not much of anything else—as she contemplates the garb she has donned for approach of King Boreas and his wintry blasts.

British Tommy Slings New Lingo
LONDON—(P)—Like the RAF, the British army is developing a language of its own, entirely new from World War I slang.

Noises made by the enemy when under shell or mortar fire are described by men in the Low Countries as “ticking,” a typical British understatement when applied to yells of panic and dismay.

Armored Division On Mule-Saving-Time
FIFTH ARMY BATTLEFRONT—(P)—Armored division GIs in charge of a string of Italian mules got supplies through despite the fact that a couple of the mules crashed down an embankment.

“We didn't know anything about mules,” said one donkey tender, “but the stuff had to get through. Our chaps were holding a spearhead and the only trail to them was under fire from three sides.” On the trail two mules slipped and skidded down an embankment with their loads of cigarettes.
