

WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

Bovina's city park is in much better condition than usual, according to people we have talked to about it this week.

The grass is green and manicured. Much more so than in years previous, we've been informed.

As might be expected, people are using the park more for picnics and children are using the playground facilities more than they have previously.

The city is responsible for the care and maintenance of the park and if citizens approve of the present situation, the city council is entitled to the credit. Councilman Charles Corn is in charge of "the park and city-owned property." It's through his guidance that the park has taken on its improved look this year.

More improvements, including additional swing sets, are being considered for the park, we've heard unofficially.

Maybe when the park is rounded into shape, as it evidently will be when the considered improvements are made, more attention can be devoted to a city-owned swimming pool. One councilman, unofficially as far as we know, is highly in favor of the city building a swimming pool for use of people of the area.

The cost wouldn't be more than the city could afford, this councilman tells us, and the facility is one which has long been needed here.

Whether or not enough of the councilmen are in favor of it so that a vote on the matter would carry, we don't know. It's possible, of course, that such a motion wouldn't even get a second.

Those who are opposed to the swimming pool proposition think that the money involved could better be spent on other projects, like paying off present indebtedness or buying land for new city dump grounds.

Possibly that argument is a valid one. Certainly everyone is in favor of the city paying its just debts and providing adequate dumpgrounds for its citizens. However, it seems to us that the city is probably in a financial position to take on the aforementioned projects as they are needed. We said probably and we meant possibly.

If and when the community has a swimming pool, we think the city government will have to pay for it. Other plans have been tried here and failed. That's the best alternative remaining even if it takes a few months and the pool isn't ready until swimming season, 1967!

Most people, farmers excepted, think their jobs are hard ones. And while we don't mean to complain about ours here in print, we'd like to take the liberty to point out that there is a whole lot more to obtaining the baseball standings which appear weekly in The Blade than meet the casual observer's eye.

Getting the game results can be a chore if it's necessary to rely on the scorebooks in the pressbox at the baseball field, which it usually is. That's about as near an impossible task as you can run across.

There's at least a dozen scorebooks in the pressbox and no two scorekeepers use the same one. And it seems that the same scorekeeper doesn't use the same book for two games in succession.

Not only that, but most of the time the scorekeepers, who aren't getting paid much, we'll admit, don't bother to write down the date of the game being played. Without a date, you can't look through those dozen books and determine for certain whether a game was played during the past week, the past month and it could have been even last year, we've discovered.

Lions Club members are responsible for keeping the score of games and running the loud-speaker system, among other things which they do for the boys baseball program. We could complain to them privately about their inefficiencies at this task, but they would probably tell us, and quickly, that if we

County Agent Resigns

Joe VanZandt, Parmer County agricultural agent for the past two and a half years, has resigned, according to an announcement this week from County Judge Loyde A. Brewer.

VanZandt's resignation is effective August 10.

He has accepted a position of county agent of Moore County with offices in Dumas. He will begin his duties there August 11.

No replacement for VanZandt has been named, according to Brewer.

Slate Singing School

A singing school is scheduled for next week at Bovina Church of Christ.

It will be Monday through Friday, from 8 to 9:30 each evening, announces Marlin Ferguson, who has helped in arranging the program.

To be taught will be rudiments of music to members of the congregation. Special emphasis will be on teaching men and boys who are interested in learning to lead singing, Ferguson points out.

Directing the singing classes will be Horace Coffman of Lubbock. He is song leader and associate minister of Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock and has several years experience as a teacher.

"We are especially interested in having people for other congregations attend the classes," Ferguson says, "and the public is invited to attend any or all of the classes."

Plans for Bull Town Days, 1966, scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 18-19-20, are nearing completion, announces C. E. Trimble, general chairman of the event.

Steer roping, heading and healing by teams of two, has replaced the matched calf roping as a feature of this year's celebration. The steer roping will be Friday afternoon, August 19, under the supervision of Bovina Roping Club, co-sponsor of the celebration with Bovina Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

Bill Lookingbill is chairman of a Roping Club committee in charge of the steer roping. Teams will rope four steers each, he points out. Entry fee will be $28 per team.

Admission charges to the roping will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children.

An added feature of this year's celebration will be a banquet for ex-students of Bovina Schools. The banquet is scheduled for Saturday night at 7. It will be in school cafeteria, Friday, August 19, at 5 p.m. It will be served in downtown Bovina as it has for the past two years.

Other events slated for Thursday are a cow calling contest, a queens contest, a beard growing contest and a talent show.

Friday's schedule begins with a chuck wagon breakfast at Bovina Gin. The downtown parade begins at 10 a.m. A community picnic is slated at the city park at noon Friday. Registration of old-timers by members of Bovina Woman's Study Club also begins Friday morning.

Following the steer roping and the free barbecue Friday afternoon, will be fiddlers contest finals and a downtown square dance.

6 Vacancies On Faculty

Tax rate of Bovina Independent School District will be increased by 12 per cent for 1967. This action was taken by the school board Monday night at a regular monthly meeting.

The tax rate was increased 18 cents per $100 valuation -- from $1.47 as it is this year to $1.65.

Broken down, the new total tax rate shows $1.19 for maintenance and 46 cents for retirement of bonds. The old rate was $1.02 for maintenance and 45 cents for bonds.

"Most of the tax rate increase," explains Superintendent M. O. Spears, "was necessitated by a raise in salaries for school personnel."

The total tax income for the school district next year will be approximately $200,000. The school budget is approximately $400,000 with state funds making up the difference between the income and the budget.

Annual public hearing on the budget for the 1966-'67 school year will be scheduled in August, Spears says.

During the forthcoming school year, the school will have two teachers more than last year. One was earned through increased average daily attendance last year and another will be paid at school district expense to teach a third section of the sixth grade.

Last year's fifth grade, which will be this year's sixth, had a maximum of 82 students with only two teachers. This made each of the two sections too large and another section will be added for this class.

Included in the budget for '66-'67 is $6000 earmarked for use of the school library and audiovisual materials.

Also at the Monday night session, the board approved the hiring of Mrs. Nora Hightower as special education teacher. She replaces Mrs. Margaret Renfro, who resigned at the end of last school year. Mrs. Hightower has a masters degree. She taught special education in Arizona last year.

Six faculty vacancies remain after the signing of Mrs. Hightower.

They are grade school principal, high school science, junior high English and Spanish, junior high coach and two first grade sections.

Reflections
From
The Blade

TEN YEARS AGO -- July 11, 1956

Because of showers which fell intermittently during the afternoon's activities and a final outburst of rain which caused cancellation of several events planned for the day, Bovina's third annual Fourth of July picnic attracted about 300 persons -- about half the number who attended last year's Independence Day celebration.

Several members of the Bovina FFA Chapter will be in Dallas
July 25, 26, 27 for the State FFA convention, according to Roy Crawford, Bovina vocational agriculture teacher. This will be the first time Bovina FFA members have attended a state convention. Boys planning to make the Dallas trip are Jimmy Stevens, Duane Rea, and Donnie Spring. Stevens will be the voting delegate for the Bovina Chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stevenson and family went to San Angelo
Saturday where they visited with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs.
Oakley Stevenson. Oakley is assistant county agent of Tom Green County and Mrs. Stevenson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H.
Moody, is employed in an abstract office there.

SIX YEARS AGO -- July 13, 1960

Lightning that apparently traveled down a television antenna started a fire in the Boyd Gilreath home in Bovina during a thunderstorm Friday afternoon. Gilreath estimated damage at from $2500 to $3000.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Redden announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joy, to Sonny Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd D. Gentry, of Clovis. Vows will be exchanged August 27 at Bovina Methodist Church.

Miss Eileen Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Williams, and Carroll Burnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burnam, exchanged wedding vows Sunday afternoon at 3 in First Baptist Church.

Off Di Cuffa

By Pat

Invitations to the wedding in the White House have been mailed and, to our surprise, we haven't received one. Guess we'll have to watch it on television. We wonder what it will be like to have a special color show about a wedding. At least it will be different.

Probably it is a blessing that we aren't famous because an hour long color special of our wedding would have played something like "Fractured Flickers". Among the first major catastrophes was when the bride forgot to get the key to the minister's study so that she could dress. There she stood in treading pants while the wedding guests entered. When the intended finally got dressed, the set time had passed. As usual everything was a little late.
During the ceremony, in the general nervousness of the occasion, the bride and groom stood so close together that the bride's veil was caught on the groom's sleeve. When they started to kneel for the prayer, both hit the kneeling bench with such force that it almost bent double. After the ceremony the preacher announced that the groom could kiss the bride. Now one would think that that part, at least, had been rehearsed; however, the groom in his flustered condition grabbed the bride around the neck leaving her with no place to put her hands. Everything went as planned at the reception; all of the guests were served the traditional wedding cake and punch. After the last guest had passed the bridal table, the punch separated into two parts leaving punch and a floating ring of strawberries with no place to go except on the floor.

Everyone survived this ordeal with the help of tranquilizers and a sense of humor. When the happy honeymooners arrived home and read their contract thoroughly, they discovered that the minister had dated the marriage license May 2, although the wedding had occurred on June 2. The state of Texas questioned this because application for the license hadn't been made until May 30.

Four years later, we look back on the whole experience and wonder if it was worth the trouble and frustration; however, we have decided that it was. We can't live with him, but we sure can't live without him.

4-Hers' Camp Deadline Set

Parmer County 4-H members and leaders are reminded that Friday, July 15, is the deadline to have record books and the Camp fee of $9 turned in at the County Agent's office.

The County Camp has been set for July 25 thru 28 in Holy Ghost Canyon, near Pecos, N.M. Both boys and girls are attending the camp this year. The Camp fee was set at $2.25 per day for a total of $9. This includes transportation, food and insurance. Excellent food and a chance to cool off are in store for those who attend, according to Joe VanZandt, county agent.

James Mabry, Lazbuddie 4-H leader, will be supervising the cooking, as he has for the past 15 years.

Parents are needed who can go and help furnish transportation. The camp fund pays for the gas and oil on the trip. "Call or come by the County Agent's office if you can furnish some transportation," VanZandt requests.

"4-H members may miss out in various county awards and the 4-H camp if you do not get your record books or camp fee in by Friday," says VanZandt.

At Home In Parmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR
County HD Agent

While visiting 4-H boys and girls who are doing result demonstrations, it was good to see the progress being made by these youngsters in "learning to do by doing."

Coy and Jan Jameson were among those who have made a lot of progress on goals set earlier in year.

Coy had put out a large number of shrubs and learned their names. His mounted exhibit helped to identify shrubs and a study of shrubs made planning the foundation plantings easier, too. The drawn plan was made prior to selecting and setting out shrubs. This plan prevented mistakes that too often are made by those without knowledge of shrub—that is, using too tall or large specimen under windows that later cover and overpower the area.

Jan Jameson has carried out a result demonstration on her bedroom, by applying good principles of arrangement of furniture, selecting color scheme and hanging pictures. The study center was planned in the corner of her room and made from inexpensive materials, but very attractive and adequate. The "pin-up" framed board added interest and convenience. Colors not only were selected but also made were shades, curtains, cushion for chair this summer. She has been a busy teenager this summer and enjoying the results of her efforts. Hats are off to this vivacious ambitious girl.

Another 4-H'er near Friona has started a result demonstration in landscaping. This is Gregg Collier. Drawing of the plan and removing some inappropriate shrubs this fall will be his first step.

DRESS REVUE

With 35 girls entering the County Dress Revue, judging, entering, checking scores, arrangement and decorating the stage as well as other things require a lot of help of leaders, parents and others.

The leaders of the groups have worked hard and patiently with the groups and have made a worthwhile contribution in training the girls in clothing work. Mrs. Earle Hise, Bovina 2nd grade teacher, has just made a contribution well beyond the call of service in 4-H work in that area. She has served as organizational leader and a clothing group leader for five girls, and when a call came for help in decorating the auditorium for the dress revue for the 14th, she volunteered to do that with the help of a parent, Mrs. Rita Mast.

Two former 4-H girls, Kathryn Gober and Janis Billingsley, were a real help too, with the dress revue.

Parents have contributed generously of their time. Others, like Mrs. Hurshel Harding and Mrs. Joel White have not only served as project leaders but also "pinch-hit", as organizational leaders in the absence of a club organizational leader. Mrs. Ronald Howard, and Mrs. C. C. Graef of Lazbuddie have helped with 4-H.

Hospital Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Windsor Lacey are both recovering from major surgery in Clovis Memorial Hospital. They entered the hospital last Monday and are expected to remain for a few days more.

MR. AND MRS. ALTON BOLTON

Minyen-Bolton Vows Exchanged

Kathy Minyen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Minyen, and Alton Bolton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Bolton, of Corbin, Ky., were married in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church, June 24. Rev. Ralph Aday, church pastor, officiated the ceremony before an altar centered with a candelabra arch, jade greenery and palm, and flanked with baskets of white gladioli.

Mrs. Mac Glascock, pianist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mary Dane in "Because" and "Twelfth of Never".

Mrs. Jon Wardenburg, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her full length dress was yellow silk organza over peau desoeite with headpiece of organza bows. She carried a long stemmed yellow rose.

Judy Minyen, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her ensemble was identical to that of the matron of honor.

Candlelighters were Charlotte Sutterfield, of Stratford, and Melinda Watson, Kress, cousins of the bride. They wore yellow dresses with flower circlet headpieces.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of French taffeta designed with a scalloped neckline in French illusion imported Alencon lace motifs embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The bodice featured long tapered sleeves. The long flowing skirt draped to form a bustle chapel train. Her veil of Alencon lace was attached to a coil pill box embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins matching the trim on the gown.

Sapp-Moody Vows Read

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lee Moody are at home after their wedding at the Scottsdale Methodist Church in Scottsdale, Ariz., June 18.

Mrs. Moody, the former Lana Jane Sapp, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey F. Sapp, of Scottsdale. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moody, formerly of Bovina.

Officiating the double ring ceremony, before an altar flanked with candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and centered with a cross at the base of which there was a Bible, was Rev. Gene Hawkins, of Lockney, brother-in-law of the groom.

Floyd Woodard, of Scottsdale, the organist, accompanied Tom Scotten, of Tempe, Ariz., in traditional wedding music.

Lora Lou Sapp, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her full-length dress was of yellow silk organza over taffeta with a natural waistline and controlled skirt. She carried a cluster of yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids, Linda Anderson, Bobbi Locke, and Lisa Jo Sapp, sister of the bride, wore gowns identical in style to the maid of honor's; theirs were lime green. They carried clusters of lime green carnations.

Elyse Moody, niece of the groom, was the flowergirl. Her dress was full-length of lime green organza. She wore a headband of yellow rosebuds and carried a basket of daisies.

Gary L. Sapp, brother of the bride, was candlelighter.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of silk organza with re-embroidered Alencon lace applique, featuring Empire waist. She carried an orchid atop a white Bible.

Doug West, of Clovis, served as best man, Jerry Roach, was the groomsmen, Bill Roth, of Texico, and Randy Jones were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Minyen chose a beige lace dress with peacock blue hat and white accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The table was laid with a white lace cloth over yellow, and centered with yellow roses and candelabra.

Cake and punch were served by Carolyn Damron and Martha Snodgrass, Patsy Cumpton registered guests.

The bride wore a yellow knit suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage for her wedding trip.

She is a graduate of Bovina High School.

Bolton is a graduate of Clovis High School.

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED MOODY

The mother of the groom wore a two-piece beige suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was yellow rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

For her wedding trip to Colorado, the bride chose a baby blue two-piece linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was white roses.

Mrs. Moody is a graduate of Arizona State University; she taught last year in Anaheim, Calif.

Moody is a graduate of Bovina High School. He attended Texas Tech and is now employed at the First State Bank of Bovina.

Weldon Moody, served his brother as best man, Groomsman were Ray Phillips, of Clovis, N.M., brother-in-law of the groom; Donald Holcombe, Compton, Calif., cousin of the bride; and Gary Sapp, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Sapp chose a pink linen dress with lace top and pink accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

Wilkerson-Rife Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Randolph Rife were married in an informal, double-ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church June 25.

Officiating at the wedding was Rev. Ralph Aday, pastor of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white nubby weave cotton suit with white accessories. She wore a necklace borrowed from Mrs. Charles Cynn, a blue garter, and her new wedding suit.

Mrs. Rife is the former Carolyn Yvonne Wilkerson, daughter of H. L. Wilkerson. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Rife, of Woodville, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Bovina High School.

Rife was graduated from Woodville High School, Woodville, Ohio, and is currently stationed at Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis.

Youth Rally At Church

Approximately 100 attended the Baptist Associational Youth Rally Monday night at the First Baptist Church here in Bovina.

After a business meeting, youth of the church presented a program compiled by Mrs. Betty Hawkins.

Donalita Hawkins presented a chalk drawing with musical background entitled "You Never Walk Alone".

Pantomime drama, "Since Jesus Came," was presented by Lynn Murphy, Alan Carson, Rex Cumpton, Beth Hutto, Martha Adams, Vickie Hawkins, Larry Dendy, and Carole Jamerson.

Fellowship followed the program with games and refreshments.

Shower Fetes

Mrs. Moody

Mrs. Alfred Moody was honored with a bridal shower Friday afternoon in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

Lime sherbet punch and decorated lemon cookies were served from a table laid with yellow and white and centered with an arrangement of daisies in a crystal bowl.

The honoree wore a corsage of yellow pom pom mums presented to her by the hostesses. They also gave her an electric percolator.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Ovid Lawlis, Mrs. Wilson D'Cluffa, Mrs. Paul Jones, Mrs. Vernon Ward, Mrs. Henry Minter, Mrs. Travis Lloyd, Mrs. Zimmery Boozer, Mrs. Wallace Rogers, Mrs. Roy Hawkins, Mrs. H. H. Kelso, Miss Opal Perry, Mrs. Bill Bradshaw, and Mrs. Charles Hawkins.

Out of town guests were Mrs. E. H. Moody, of Mesa, Ariz., Mrs. Ray Phillips, of Clovis, Mrs. Gene Hawkins, of Lockney, Nancy Hawkins and Brentie Dutton, of Lockney, Margaret Young, of Hereford, Mrs. Oakley McGill, of Clovis, and Michael Cooper, of Carlsbad, N.M.

Shower Honors

Mrs. Caldwell

Mrs. Don Caldwell was honored with a bridal shower Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vernon Estes.

Corsages of green and white carnations were presented to the honoree, to Mrs. Bedford Caldwell, mother of the groom, and to Mrs. J. R. Caldwell, paternal grandmother of the groom.

The serving table featured a white linen tablecloth and crystal appointments. It was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and greenery and green tapers.

Alternating between the guest register and the serving table were Mrs. Jon Lin Riddle and Mrs. Roger Ezell.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. A. M. Wilson, Mrs. Gene Ezell, Mrs. Vernon Estes, Mrs. John Dixon, Mrs. Johnnie Horn, Mrs. H. J. Charles, and Mrs. James Roach.

Kelso To Host Ceramic Party

All who are interested should bring a sack lunch, card table, and brushes to the all day ceramic party to be held Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. H. Kelso.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jurck from Plainview will be here to assist the painters.

LINDA ESTES

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Estes announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda, to Billy Lynn Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Marshall.

The wedding will be at the Farwell Methodist Church August 23 at 8 p.m.

Reception will follow the ceremony in Fellowship Hall of the Church. All friends of the couple are invited. No invitations are being mailed locally.

The Sound Of Faith

We are surrounded by sounds. Whether we live in a large city or a small village, work in a factory or on a farm, go to the office or stay at home, we cannot escape the many sounds around us.

Some time ago an entire television network program was devoted to "The Sounds of the Sixties." In a recent musical there was a lovely song about "the hills . . . filled with the sound of music." But in the midst of these varied sounds there is one with a difference—the sound of faith as summed up by Paul: "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God . . . Their sound went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world." (Romans 10:17-18 KJV)

The sound of faith knows no national boundaries or racial barriers. A young boy in the Congo writes, "I have a great pleasure to write this letter to you, because I want one book too necessary to me. The book is the Bible." It is revealed in the gift from former headhunters in Ecuador who gave 500 sucres, equivalent to 100 days' work, to share the word of faith with other people.

The words of faith traveled to the ends of the earth in 1964 in the 70 million Scriptures circulated by the United Bible Societies. Of this total, the American Bible Society was responsible for more than 48 million copies in more than 400 languages and dialects.

These are some of the sounds of faith made possible by the American Bible Society on its 150th Anniversary. In the words of the apostle Paul,

For from you sounded the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to God-ward is spread abroad.

Give Plans For New Rec. Center

Much work remains to be done on the Baptist Recreational Center, announces Mrs. Harold Hawkins, one of the leaders of the new project.

The building was moved onto the lot across the street from the church last week. Work on the inside will be completed before anything is done to the exterior.

Some plans for the building include a portable stage, portable refreshment bar, Coke and candy machines, a small kitchen, record player, and a lounging area, Mrs. Hawkins says.

Inside games will include darts, checkers, shuffle board, and ping pong. Outside activity will be volleyball, horse-shoes, quoits, a bar-b-que pit, and shuffle board. Work will begin soon on a 20-hole miniature golf course.

During the summer months

Marriage Licenses Issued

Three marriage licenses were issued from the office of the Parmer County clerk last week. The licenses went to: Ronnie David White and Barbara Gayle Garrison; and to Thomas Wesley Northcutt Jr. and Judy Beth Ballard on July 7; Anthony DeWayne Holland and Virginia Lynn Wilson, July 11.

The building will be open every afternoon and night. In the winter it will be open Friday nights, all day Saturdays, and Sunday afternoons. Sponsors will be on hand at all times it is open.

The building will be used for drama workshops, parties for all age groups, hobby craft lessons, and just a place to relax.

Name suggestions for the center can be entered by members of the church in a box to be located at the church. A team will judge the best name entry.

Says H. D. Agent --

Keep A Supply Of Food On Hand

Grandmother had quite a pantry, probably backed up with a cellar, a smoke house, and ice house, and some meat on the hoof. It was a rare occasion indeed when she did not have several weeks' supply of food on hand.

Often we think that a pantry is not needed today. After all, you can go out almost any time and pick up what you need. So why bother about maintaining a pantry or sizable reserve of food supplies?

This is not quite so, claims Cricket B. Taylor, County Home Demonstration Agent of Parmer County, with the Texas A&M Extension Service. According to her, each person should keep enough food on hand for at least 14 days. This recommendation is not based solely upon possibilities of war emergencies, either. Natural disasters, such as floods, power failure, hurricanes and the like also make this 14-day pantry a desirable possession. It is not unusual to find persons shut off from sources of food and pure water for sev-

Still another excellent reason for keeping such a pantry is an economic one. Although the original investment could run into several dollars, a food stockpile could become quite a budget stretcher. For example, a carefully planned and well stocked 14-day pantry can practically eliminate those extra fill-in trips to the grocery store. Over a period of time, considerable savings may result--food budget savings, savings in time spent on trips, savings in money spent on transportation, and savings in money spent for "extras."

Many families already have close to 14-days' supply of food on hand or more at all times, whether they realize it or not. Make a start with foods already on hand, then build up a 14-day pantry over a period of weeks or months if you need to do it that way. Such a reserve food supply could then be emergency insurance as well as a family budget boon.

Torild Skjerve To Return To Norway July 20 Former Resident Tells Of Scandinavian Trip

Torild Skjerve, Bovina's current International Christian Youth Exchange student, sponsored by the Bovina Methodist for a tour of the United States before returning to her home in Tonsberg, Norway.

From Bovina she will travel via bus to Chicago where she will board a chartered bus with other exchange students to go to

Washington, D.C. After five days there, the group will go to George Williams College Camp on Lake Geneva in Wisconsin. They will be in Wisconsin from July 26 to July 31, when they will go to New York to tour the United Nations and other points there. On August 2, she will leave from Kennedy Airport to fly to Copenhagen, Denmark, where she will take a train to Oslo, Norway.

Her parents plan to meet her there in Oslo.

Torild has spent the last year in Bovina with the A. M. Wilson family. She was a member of the senior class of 1966 at BHS.

An interview with Torild, or Trudy, as she is called in Bovina, brought forth her impressions and comments about Bovina, Texas, and the United States.

Torild says that her most difficult adjustment, besides the language, was in school, American and Norwegian schools differ in almost every way. Both the school periods and the school days here are longer. In Norway all sports and organizations are outside the school, so football games, club meetings, and other extracurricular activities were a new experience.

In Norway, the teenagers stay at home most of the time to study, Trudy says that teachers and students have a much more familiar attitude toward one another here than they do in Norway. Although the schools in Norway are not as formal as in some European countries, the students are expected to rise when the teacher enters the room and to be more formal in all their actions toward teachers.

In comparing the American and the Norwegian teenager, Trudy states that in attitudes and thinking, they are about the same; however, she says that the Norwegians take academic work more seriously—in fact social activities there are few. She thinks that the American way of dividing social and academic learning is good. The American teenager has more freedom than does the Norwegian. Driving the family car, much less having one's own car, is unthinkable there!

When asked about our educational system, she said that she likes the idea of free and equal education for all. In Norway students who finish high school must furnish their own books and supplies during the last three years; whereas, here in the U. S. these are furnished by the school system. She says that this free education can also be a disadvantage in the fact that people come to take it for granted and don't learn as much. Sometimes young people in America don't realize the merits of education because it is easy to get.

Her lasting impression of America will be that one can take as many baths a day as she wishes. Her home in Norway is rather old and the water heater only heats enough water for one bath per family per day.

Fried chicken and charcoal broiled steak are her favorite American foods.

Because she has relatives living in America who told her something about this country, she didn't come here with the exaggerated image that some people have. However, she did think that most Americans were fat and that they all dressed like the tourists who come to Europe do. She says that her idea of an American was that of a fat person in bright, gaudy clothes, who boasted about the United States. She thought that Americans were all wealthy because money came so easily here. Now she thinks of Americans as friendly, hospitable, honest, hard-working people. She knows that money is hard to get everywhere!

One difference between Norwegian and American people is the way they spend their money. In Norway those who spend their money on luxuries are considered spendthrifts. Norwegians are by nature frugal. She thinks that this difference may be because in America, luxuries are easier to get.

Upon her return to Norway, Torild plans to finish high school (this year did not count toward her graduation over there) and teach a year to make some money. Because the Norwegian high school is equivalent academically to the American junior college, a person may teach in elementary school after high school graduation. After this year of teaching, she may attend a university, but her plans are not definite.

"Exchange of students is important," she says, "because by living with another people, one can learn of their culture, religion, history, and attitudes. He can come to understand that people all over the world are the same; only culture, languages, and creeds are different."

Her final comment was, "I have enjoyed this year more than I can ever say. People in Bovina have been so friendly and openhearted to me. The whole year has been a very happy one for me."

SS Class Has Party

Girls in the King's Daughters Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a swimming party at the home of Mrs. Betty Hawkins last Friday.

Water games were featured; Dala Boyd won the game in which the girls ate bananas under water. Debra Hawkins blew the biggest balloon under water.

After swimming the girls cooked hot dogs outside. Members of the class attending were Dala Boyd, Debra Kirkpatrick, Betty Kesler, Debra Nuttall, Shelley Vaughn, Debra Spicer, and Deborah Hawkins.

Guests were Brenda Newborough, Toni Pinner, Terry Schuler, Terrie Foster, and Vickie Hawkins, and Carole Kirkpatrick.

Community Conversation

Rev. and Mrs. George Small and three daughters, Sharon, Maurie and Martha Lynn of Austin are visiting this week in the home of Mrs. Small's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams.

The Smalls arrived Monday night and plan to stay through Friday.

Chatelleraut, France
28 May 1966

Dear Folks,

We left Chatelleraut at noon Friday, May 6. Our first destination was the Netherlands again. We spent a couple of hours in Brussels, Belgium, on the way. The reason we wanted to go back to Holland again so soon was because the next day, Saturday, was their Annual Tulip Day. This is the day that all the tulips (blooms) are cut from the fields and used in a big parade. The parade was absolutely beautiful with floats that looked like they were straight from "fairyland". We watched the men cutting the tulips in the fields and stuffing them in sacks to be thrown away (if they were not used for the parade). The men worked so fast with little sharp knives that it reminded me of someone heading feed. You see, the bulb is the important part of the tulip for these people, not the bloom. They enjoy the beauty of the blooms, I am sure, but the bulbs are what they sell for money. One of these men whom we were watching cut a big bouquet of tulips for me. I am sending one wilted tulip petal "straight from Holland."

Another interesting experience on our way through Holland was a visit with some Dutch relatives of one of Joe's friends. Joe's friend is originally from Holland, but now lives in Chicago. He works for Santa Fe and that is how Joe met him. We went to visit his cousin in the northern part of Holland, and thoroughly enjoyed it. The man could speak pretty good English, and his wife could say a few words. She fixed us some tea before we left.

From Holland we drove through part of Germany and took a ferry to one of the islands of Denmark. We spent the night just over the border and drove into Copenhagen the next morning (Sunday) in time for church services. As I wrote on our card, the Bob Eubanks who used to be in Plainview are now missionaries in Copenhagen. We finally found the church building and surprised him and his family when we walked in. The worship service was in Danish, so we didn't understand much that was said, but the songs had the same tunes and the order of worship was the same. After church the Eubanks insisted that we have dinner with them. That afternoon and night we did some sight-seeing. The major attraction for us (after we had seen it), was a lovely amusement park. The park is named Tivoli and has a ferris wheel, roly coaster, games, etc. plus all types of entertainment from concerts to acrobatics. At night the lights are absolutely beautiful.

We took many pictures there and hope they make it look as pretty as it was. Of course, we didn't ride anything or play any of the games.

Monday I talked Joe into staying in Copenhagen a few hours so that I could do a little shopping. We bought a few little inexpensive items including three teal wood candle holders. Just about noon Monday we left Copenhagen and started to Stockholm, Sweden. We had to take another ferry-boat ride before we crossed into Sweden. One amazing fact about Sweden is that they still drive on the left hand side of the road. This was quite a change for Joe and we had several interesting experiences by forgetting to get back on the left side after passing a car or making a turn. It was about an eight-hour drive to Stockholm from Copenhagen, so it was about 9:30 p.m. when we drove in there. All of the hotels in Stockholm were full, so we spent the night in our car at a campsite. (We were planning to stay in the car some, for it is quite comfortable with air mattresses and sleeping bags.)

Final Games Thursday --

League Winners Determined In Boys' Baseball Program

It's all over but the shouting in Bovina's boys baseball program for this summer with winners declared in both Little League and Peeewees event though the final games are scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) night.

First State Bank-Lawlis Gin clinched the Little League title with two wins in its last two outings.

The Cicero Smith Cats, though they lost a game last week to the Oklahoma Lane Eagles, have coasted to the championship in the peeewe division.

The Bank-Lawlis team took a squeaker from Bovina Gin-Generalgas Tuesday night, 14-13. Then, the league title was sewed up Monday night as the Bank-Lawlis boys clipped the Rhea Tigers, 4-2, in one of the most exciting games of the season. The Tigers have been the Cinderella team of the league. They got off to a slow start, but came on fast in recent weeks and were in a tie for third place through Monday night's games.

Oklahoma Lane made a bid for the top spot in the Little League by picking up two victories in the past week. The Eagles would have had a chance at the pennant if Bank-Lawlis had lost its Monday night game to Rhea, OL bounced Bovina Wheat Growers-Bovina Insurance, 23-13, Friday night, Thursday night, the Eagles downed Gin-Gas, 12-2, in a make-up game from June 28.

In Thursday night's regularly-scheduled game, Rhea outlasted BWG-BI, 21-5. The final game of the season is slated for tomorrow (Thursday) night as Bank-Lawlis meets Oklahoma Lane in a game which could have a bearing on second place.

In the peeewe league, Oklahoma Lane Eagles were the hot team during the past week of play. They whipped the league-leading Cats, 14-11, Thursday in a make-up of a cancelled June 28 game, downed Big Nick's Little Machines in a regularly-scheduled game for that night, and beat the Machines again Friday night, 11-5.

Bovina Blade-Bovina Welding won its third game of the season Tuesday night of last week with an 8-6 verdict over Big Nick, Blade-Welding lost to Cicero Monday night, 14-11.

Final peeewe game is also set for tomorrow (Thursday) as Big Nick meets Blade-Welding. (The following standings do not include Tuesday night's games.)

Eight Team League --

Slow-Pitch Set For Next Week

A men's slow-pitch softball league is scheduled to begin here Monday night.

The league, composed of eight teams, is sponsored by Bovina Lions Club, Jim Russell, is chairman of a Lions Club committee in charge of the league.

Eight teams are entered in the league which will last for a three and a half week period with each team playing seven games -- each of the other teams one time.

The teams are Hammonds' Hotshots, Jaycees, Lions, Goldsmith's Fireballs, Clearman's Clouters (high school boys), Barraza's Bombers, Shelby's Team, and The Bulltowners.

A doubleheader is scheduled for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights of each week with each team playing two games per week.

The schedule for next week:

Monday -- Hammonds vs. Jaycees and Lions vs. Goldsmith;

Tuesday -- Jaycees vs. Goldsmith and Clearman vs. Barraza;

Thursday -- Hammonds vs. Lions and Shelby vs. Bulltowners;

Friday -- Clearman vs. Shelby and Barraza vs. Bulltowners.

Additional information about the league may be obtained from Russell.

Former Resident --

While in Stockholm we did a lot of sightseeing and saw "Sound of Music" the first night we were there. (I had already seen the movie, but was anxious to see it again and for Joe to see it). We visited a museum which now houses the Wasa--a Swedish warship which sunk on her first voyage in 1627. In 1956 the warship was discovered on the bottom of Stockholm harbor and it has since been excavated. Very extensive work has been done and is in progress to replace the parts of the ship which were damaged or lost. Much of the ship was perfectly preserved because it was buried deep in the mud.

The first night we spent in the car held a surprise for us: I was awakened after a few hours of sleep by Joe saying, "Oh, no we have overslept, look how bright the sun is! We have got to start taking some pictures." We then looked at the clock to find out that it was 3:00 a.m. We then realized that we were getting so far north that we had very few hours of darkness. The sun rose every day around 3:00 a.m. and it was daylight about 2:30 a.m. Soon we got used to it, and could sleep until 6:00 even if the sun was up.

The afternoon of the second day we were in Stockholm, we started our first train ride to Narvick, Norway. We left at 5:00 p.m. and got into Narvick about 24 hours later the next day. On our way, we crossed the Arctic Circle. Things didn't look much different across the Arctic Circle, but it was an interesting experience to be that far north. Of course, we were still many miles south of the North Pole. We did a little walking around in Narvick, bought a spoon for my collection, and spent the evening relaxing at the hotel. At 4:05 a.m. the next day we caught our train from Narvick to Helsinki, Finland. This was a longer ride (on four trains) which lasted about 31 hours. We got into Helsinki about 1:45 p.m. on Saturday, May 14. We had read that the stores closed at 3:00 and I was wanting to do some shopping. So we left our bags at the train station, (after locating a hotel reservation) and went shopping. We had only a few minutes, but that was long enough for Joe: he found what he was wanting -- a decorative kerosene lamp. We found a good price on it, and it is pretty, so we bought that as a souvenir. The lamp was made in Sweden and bought in Finland, so we have a souvenir from both countries.

We had read in one of our guide books that there was a very good, inexpensive restaurant downtown in Helsinki, so we decided to go there. We rode the bus from our hotel down to the restaurant. There was a sign on the door, and the door was locked, so we had to assume that the sign read "Closed" in Finnish. A young water came walking out of the restaurant, so we asked him if they were closed. He said yes, that they closed at 6:00 p.m. (it was about 6:30). He spoke very good English, so we talked with him for a few minutes and learned that he had spent a year in the United States as an exchange student. He asked us about our plans for the evening and we told him that we had none other than eating at his "closed" restaurant. He gave us a suggestion for dinner, and asked if he could be our guide for our evening of sight-seeing. He even took us to the cafeteria he had suggested, helped us get what we wanted to eat, then came back in a few minutes to start our sight-seeing tour. We walked for quite a while, then rode buses and streetcars for the rest of the tour. The last thing we did was to go to his house to meet his mother and have some coffee and Finnish cheeses. It was a very interesting evening. He is about 19 years old and will graduate from high school this year. One of the most interesting parts of the evening was a visit with his mother, for she is a home economics teacher in a hotel and restaurant school. She teaches the "cooks how to cook". She spoke some English.

Sunday morning we took a few pictures of the impressive sights we had seen the night before, then caught our plane from Helsinki back to Stockholm where we left our car. The flight was very nice, and lasted only an hour. We had left our car in the custody of a man who watched it and kept it locked inside a fence until we were to call for it. When we flew into the airport, we noticed that things didn't look familiar. Upon inquiring, we learned that we had flown into the International Airport, and realized that we had left our car 30 miles away at the Municipal Airport. (The lady who sold us our tickets and told us where to leave our car at the Municipal Airport didn't bother to tell us that we would fly into a different airport). So, I stayed with our bags while Joe took two buses and a trolley to get our car. After about two-hours we left Stockholm for Oslo, Norway. We stayed in our car again Sunday night, and drove into Oslo early the next morning.

Oslo is much smaller than the other capitals we visited -- Copenhagen, Stockholm, and Helsinki -- and much less sophisticated. The prices were lower for sightseeing and for merchandise. I bought a pair of casual shoes, and we bought a basket for flowers, nuts, etc. Our third purchase will be more meaningful if I tell you about it after you hear what we saw on our sight-seeing tours. First, we went to three museums, each one housing one or more ships. The first was a museum with three viking ships in it. These ships were used as burial ships for great viking kings and queens about a thousand years ago. Like the Wasa, they were buried in the mud, and thus were well preserved. Seeing these ships and reading about them was very interesting and such a different thing to see in comparison with all the big Cathedrals, etc. in France. Later that day, we saw our third souvenir: a bronze viking ship. It was so pretty that we couldn't resist getting it. Of all the souvenirs of Norway, we think it is the best that could be bought; and about the most expensive too. We are waiting until we move to unpack it, but we are anxious to see it again.

The other two ship museums were also very interesting. One houses the famous Kon-Tiki raft; and the other houses the ship Fram which was the first ship to go to the North Pole and later the first one to go to the South Pole. We saw a magnificent sculpture park there in Oslo which we thoroughly enjoyed. One evening we saw a movie, and the other evening there we took a trolley ride across some countryside. Tuesday, May 17 was the National Independence Day of Norway. We stood for three hours watching one of the parades in which 30,000 school children marched with flags up to the King's palace. The King waved to them as they marched by. Joe and I were too exhausted to watch the second parade which was to be the high school graduates who did the same thing as the students. It was very colorful and interesting.

Reas Attend Shrine Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rea attended the Imperial Council Session of the Shrine in San Francisco last week. They left Amarillo by airplane Friday, July 1, and returned last Friday.

They managed to get a flight out of San Francisco before the airline strike started. During the time spent there, they toured San Francisco and the Bay area, seeing Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf, the Golden Gate Bridge, Alcatraz, and other points of interest.

Girl Scouts To Organize

Mrs. Charles Corn and Mrs. Edward Isaac assumed the leadership of a new Girl Scout troop comprised of fourth, fifth, and sixth grade girls at a meeting Thursday night.

Mothers and girls interested in Girl Scouts heard Mrs. Ralph Wilson and Mrs. W. M. Massie give information about the organization. They also showed pictures and distributed literature about Girl Scouts.

Girls interested in joining the troop should contact Mrs. Corn or Mrs. Isaac. All mothers are asked to help, too, says Mrs. Corn.

The Friona Girl Scouts have invited Bovina to a day camp sometime in August. More information about it will be available later.
