Fifteen Japs Killed On Okinawa For Each Dead American GI

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

Destruction of 33,462 Japanese troops on Okinawa—nearly 15 for every American killed—was reported by the Navy Saturday as the Yanks on that important Ryukyuu island opened a fresh offensive after crushing a mighty Nipponese counterattack.

Liberation of Davao, last major city of the Philippines taken from the Japanese, was announced by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

On Tarakan, just off Borneo, Australian and Dutch troops fought ahead to seize half the airfield and clear two sectors of Tarakan City.

American Army and Marine casualties on Okinawa were reported as 14,283, including 2,337 killed, 11,432 wounded and 514 missing.

Three thousand Japanese were killed Friday in a major counterattack which was thoroughly broken up. The Yanks took advantage of the demoralized enemy by launching a fresh offensive Saturday morning on the central and eastern sectors. By mid-morning Sunday the Yank drive still was gaining.

A tentative plan of the United States Army to throw possibly 6,000,000 picked soldiers against Japan was disclosed in Washington Saturday as the hard-pressed Nipponese continued their fierce resistance on Okinawa and Tarakan, Borneo, Jap Ships Destroyed

Smashing against Borneo coastal sectors Allied fliers destroyed 19 small freighters and other craft.

Scattered Japanese forces in Davao were liquidated in sharp fighting and Yank doughboys punched two miles inland.

The Japanese suicide air, sea and land counterattacks on Okinawa Friday, Tokyo time, were viewed by one American commander as the desperate acts of an enemy facing defeat. Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, chief of the 24th Corps on Okinawa, said it was easier to kill the Nipponese than to dig them out of pillboxes and caves.

Early Saturday morning Superforts hit two northern Kyushuu airfields. Late in the afternoon others unloaded explosives on three southern Kyushuu fields, only 35 miles north of American-invaded Okinawa.

Bradley Presents Konev With U. S. Legion Of Merit

SOVIET FIRST UKRAINIAN ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley smilingly presented the U. S. Legion of Merit to Marshal Ivan S. Konev Saturday at a gay colorful meeting of the two army group commanders who played major roles in the defeat of Germany.

Konev said he accepted the award not as a personal honor but as a symbol of the achievements of the Russian and American armies together, and exclaimed, "Long live the American Army!"

Bradley and Konev met in a German country home some 50 miles from Berlin. Bradley and his staff and a group of correspondents were wined, dined and lavishly entertained.

Although they had to use interpreters, the two commanders hit it off well from the first. The affair was strictly social, with no discussion of military matters.

Konev Set Stage Well
Konev had set the stage for his meeting with Bradley and it was an impressive drive to his headquarters east of the Elbe.

Russian and American troops and vehicles were intermingled along the road. Most of the Russian vehicles had red banners and flags on them, carry overs from the May Day celebration.

German road markers had been replaced by Russian signs. Women military police directed traffic with red and yellow wands. It was like moving through a section of Russia.

Bradley's column drove across an Elbe bridge with Russian soldiers at attention, their tommyguns slung across their shoulders in firing position and their hands on the triggers as though they were ready to shoot. American, British and Soviet flags flew at the bridge and along the route to Konev's headquarters.

36th 'Texans' Free Famous French Heroes

ITZER, AUSTRIA—(AP)—Former French Premiers Edouard Daladier and Paul Reynaud and Generals Maurice Gamelin and Maxime Weygand were freed from months of German political imprisonment Saturday when two battalions of the 36th (Texas) Infantry Division fought their way into Itzer Castle.

The world-famous four French leaders were among a number of other famous persons who were liberated.

Among them were a sister of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, a former head of the French trade unions, and tennis champion Jean Borotra who, in a melodramatic fashion, got out of the castle at noon to bring word to American troops of the plight of those imprisoned.

Elements of the 12th Armored and 103d "Cactus" divisions and the 753d Tank Battalion figured in the release of the famous figures.

Saturday night they were en route to an American general's command post for a conference and dinner.

Others Freed
In Paris it was announced that Andre Francois Poncet, former French ambassador to Berlin and Rome, had been liberated by French troops in South Germany. Albert Sarraut, former president of the French Council, and Francisco Niteli, president of the Italian ministerial council, also were freed.

For all the Americans knew up through roads and hills alive with SS men offering last minute resistance, this was the last important engagement of the war, since back at Innsbruck arrangements (Continued on page 3)

Truman Endorses Philippine Plan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Saturday endorsed the Philippine independence policy as laid down by the late President Roosevelt and named a committee of nine to accompany Senator Tydings (D-Md) on a special mission to Manila to examine conditions there and report to him.

The Chief Executive in a formal statement expressed the hope that he would be able to accept the invitation of President Osmena to visit Manila at the inauguration of the Philippine Republic.

As a result of discussions he had with Osmena, Truman said he was "prepared to endorse and carry through to their conclusion the policies laid down by President Roosevelt respecting the islands and the independence of the Filipino people."

Waitress Is Not Good Accountant
OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—When Waitress Julia Kidd closed up the cafe she left a notation that there was $76.65 in the cash register.

Next morning she found instead a note complaining, "There was only $45.10."
The writer of the note ought to know—he stole it.

WPB Green Lights Machine Tools For Reconversion Period

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The War Production Board Saturday night approved well over $103,000,000 worth of machine tools and plant construction for 72 major industries to break any bottlenecks which would delay reconversion.

The action grants priority aid for the retrofitting and respinning job which must be done far in advance if the automobile, refrigerator and other industries are to swing into peacetime goods production without long shutdowns and idleness when the reconversion signal finally is given.

WPB announced also that it has appointed "reconversion administrators" for each of the 72 industries, but did not name them. Their role will be the same as that of Henry P. Nelson, recently named coordinator of reconversion for the motor industry at Detroit.

The preparedness allotment is intended to prepare the industries only for a "break-even" rate of civilian manufacturing. This is the minimum amount deemed necessary for companies to meet operating expenses. For automobiles it represents more than two million cars a year, as against a prewar peak of better than four million.

U. S. Engineers Complete New China Pipeline

CHUNGKING—(AP)—Oil and gasoline are flowing into China from Calcutta through the world's longest pipeline, U. S. Army authorities disclosed Saturday.

The last 400-mile link has been thrust into China from Northern Burma and no longer must China's war machine wait for precious fuel trucked in arduously or flown perilously over mountain and jungle.

Soldiers from Texas and Oklahoma and other states skilled in pipeline construction have accomplished this engineering miracle.

Nightmare Job
But not a soldier who had helped lay the pipelines of America ever dreams of such a nightmare job as this as he laid and welded the sections across the plains and rivers of the United States.

Army engineers with the aid of Chinese workmen conquered passes 9,000 feet above sea level, and sweated through Burma's jungles.

They toiled through the monsoons, and the freezing blasts on towering peaks, solving engineering problems unheard of anywhere else in the world.

The pipeline is of the portable type, but for all that Army engineers estimate it can carry double the amount of fuel that could be trucked over the Stilwell Road.

Seventh Army Only Unit Holding Out In Continental Europe

By ED L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press War Editor

Additional mass surrenders brought the war to a virtual standstill in much of Europe Saturday night, but Norway remained a tightly-held Nazi camp and German hold-out armies continued fighting the Russians and Americans along the Baltic coast and in Czechoslovakia, Austria and Yugoslavia.

Two German armies in Southern Germany and Western Austria—an estimated 400,000 men—capitulated to the Allied Sixth Army Group. Although the formal "cease firing" order was timed for noon (5 a. m. Central War Time) Sunday, the U. S. Seventh and French First armies were instructed to stop all combat immediately. The same news was broadcast to the Germans in an effort to stop further bloodshed.

Norway, where perhaps 300,000 Germans are holed up and along whose coasts remnants of the German fleet are hiding, was the enigma of the European zone. Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, the Reich's new fueder, may have taken refuge there. He called on his armies to fight on against the Russians Saturday "to save as many Germans as possible from Bolshevization and enslavement."

A Doenitz order read over the Flensburg radio before the British moved into that city Saturday said Friday's surrender in the northwest had been forced "because the struggle against the Western powers had become senseless." But nowhere was there a German hint of their intentions in Norway.

The Norwegian puppet premier, Vidkun Quisling, broadcast Saturday night that "all attacks from the outside will be resisted" and the Swedish foreign office officially declared that reports of imminent surrender in Norway were premature.

With fighting on his right flank ended by surrender of the German First and 18th armies to Gen. Jacob L. Devers' Sixth Army Group, Gen. Patton swung the full might of his U. S. Third Army into Czechoslovakia, hammering at the German Seventh Army.

Behind the German lines Prague patriots rose up and drove the German troops west 22 to 77 miles from Prague and 22 to 27 miles west of the arsenal city of Pilsen.

East of Prague the Germans were reported pulling back before the pressure of the Russian Second and Fourth Ukrainian armies, moving west on an 85-mile front toward the rail center of Olmuetz (Olmouco). Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's troops also were moving westward from Bruenn (Bruno) on a wide front between the Morava river and the Danube while south of the Danube the Russian Third Ukrainian Army advanced along the Danube toward Linz, occupied Saturday by Patton's men.

The Russians along the Baltic captured the great German naval base of Swinemunde, the V-bomb experimental station at Peenemunde and cleared the islands of Jesdom and Wollin north of Stettin.

In Yugoslavia, the Germans were withdrawing west between the Sava and Braza rivers. Marshal Tito's liberation army was reported hitting more than 40 miles from the Croatian capital of Zagreb.

Polish Rift Still Splits Big Parley
By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Russia clashed anew with Britain and the United States over Poland Saturday at the very instant of reaching agreement on measures intended to strengthen a world organization of United Nations.

The latest row over Poland was revealed by Secretary of State Stettinius, who reported that Russia had arrested "a number of prominent Polish democratic leaders." A Moscow broadcast said there are 16 of them.

Stettinius and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden have demanded a "full explanation." Until they get it, there will be no talk with the Russians on setting up a Polish government satisfactory to all three powers.

The squabble over Poland contrasted with a spirit of harmony and good-will engendered at the United Nations Conference by the ability of the four sponsoring powers—China, Russia, Britain and the United States—to get together on all but two amendments they want to incorporate in the Dumbarton Oaks Charter for World Peace.

The broad sweep of changes acceptable to all four embraces such points as: "Specific assurances, of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, promotion of human rights and fundamental freedoms, non-interference in a nation's domestic affairs unless they threaten world security," full representation for small and middle-sized nations on a powerful security council, and expansion of the council's powers so it not only could recommend procedures but also actual terms of settlement of disputes.

In addition, Britain, China and the United States are agreed on provisions for review of threatening international situations and for fitting regional security systems into the scheme of a world organization.

Russia insisted for more time to consider those points and may yet join in sponsoring them.

Stettinius made his announcement on Poland at a news conference. The Polish issue is linked officially to the United Nations Conference by a single thread. Poland (Continued on page 3)

Midland Boy Scouts Win Honors At Big Spring Camp Event

The 172 Midland Boy Scouts who attended the annual round-up at Big Spring, of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, brought back honors, W. A. Mtrain, scout executive, reported on returning from the camp late Saturday afternoon.

Two Midland troops returned with blue ribbons captured in the competitive events. Winners were Troop 51 and Troop 151. In addition to the blue ribbons carried off Troops 153 and 85 took red ribbons, while Troops 10, 18 and 52 returned with yellow ribbons.

Won Tent Pitching Event
In addition to these honors Troop 51 won first place in the tent pitching event, second place in wall scaling and second in the total number of points awarded to any one troop for the entire camp of over 800 boys.

All Midland troops entered teams in the various events. Troops 51 and 84 staged special programs for the entertainment of the camp.

Capt. Kenneth Howat, Midland scoutmaster, led the camp in singing the Army Air Force song in honor of the Big Spring Army Air Field, which supplied the judges for the various competitive events.

ROME—(AP)—A Swiss telegraphic agency dispatch from Berne quoting frontier reports said Sunday that Vito Mussolini, nephew of the fallen Duce, had been arrested by partisans in Northern Italy along with several other Fascists.

LONDON—(AP)—The Danish radio at Flensburg, in a dispatch reported Saturday night by Reuters, said Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz had ordered the German "werewolves" organization to abstain from "any illegal fighting activity" in Allied-occupied territory "by virtue of the truce which meanwhile has been put into effect."

NEW YORK—(AP)—CBS quoted the Swiss radio Saturday night as reporting that the German Mediterranean fleet had surrendered unconditionally.

JayCees To Obtain Pledges Insuring Rodeo Against Loss

Midland's JayCees have accepted the task of calling upon Midland business concerns and obtaining pledges for underwriting the World Championship Rodeo June 7, 8, 9 and 10.

James N. Allison, representing the Chamber of Commerce, met with officers and directors of the organization Friday night and explained the directors of the senior organization had voted to ask business concerns of Midland to underwrite the show against loss. Allison explained the rodeo had never had a loss, and about the only possibility of its losing money will be to be rained out.

The Rev. Herbert Hopper, president of the JayCees, appointed Dick Prather as chairman of a committee to obtain the pledges from business concerns.

Plain Speaking

Reports from Washington say President Truman talked right "on the line" to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, who "appeared to appreciate" the vigor and positiveness with which the President expounded the American viewpoint on the Polish situation.

This is in line with reports from Moscow that Molotov's superior, Premier Stalin, enjoyed the bluntness of the late Wendell Willkie and of President Eric Johnston of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce when those gentlemen visited his capital.

And these reports might be an object lesson to a perhaps small but very vocal segment of our pub, which appears to feel that Marshal Stalin is so sensitive, or petty, that he can not endure frankness or friendly disagreement on any point.

Certain publicists seek to create an impression that the United States and Great Britain have only two options—either to "yes" Moscow slavishly on everything, however viciously it may offend against every democratic instinct, or to fight the Soviet. Cooperation with Russia, these softsoapers feel, can be had only at the price of letting the Kremlin run the show.

That, in our opinion, is poppycock. Neither Stalin nor his associates are that petty. They are, properly, doing their best to advance what they consider Russia's long-term interests—just as Churchill is Britain's and we trust Truman will this country's.

But Stalin is a prime realist. He knows that his Russian interests and our American interests do not always coincide. He will press his full claims as far as he can hope to make them stick. But he, no more than we, wants to go to war over anything short of the unavoidable. And, if it is his friendship and admiration we seek, we will get them more quickly by standing up for our own interests and principles than by cheap boot-licking.

The Communist regime has felt, understandably, that every man's hand was against it. Moscow was courteously sold down the river long enough so that we can not expect to kid Stalin by pulling our punches.

What Moscow wants, Stalin demands. What Moscow dislikes, wholly-controlled Soviet journals condemn bitterly and sometimes violently. Stalin does not assume that the price of cooperation must be his playing Casper Milquetoast. Why should we?

At the San Francisco conference certain decisions must be made that involve disagreements between Russia and the Anglo-American democracies. Are those decisions to be made by conciliation and cooperation or by unilateral action of Moscow, accepted, sulkily but docilely, by us?

President Truman's positive, vigorous conversations with Molotov set a tone that is distinctly encouraging.

Veteran's Hospital Site Is Picked But Remains Big Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration has picked a West Texas site where it wants to build a hospital, but the city selected is one of Washington's best-kept secrets.

The recommendation by the administration still must be acted upon by a joint federal board of hospitalization which meets Thursday, May 10.

The board, in turn, must make recommendation to the White House, where it is considered first by the budget bureau and then submitted to President Truman for final approval.

The announcement of the site then may be made either by the White House or referred back to the joint board for disclosure.

Board members are Major Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, the surgeon general of the Army, Navy and Public Health Service, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, the Director of Bureau of Prisons, and Col. George E. Hams, assistant to General Hines and representative of the Veterans Administration on the board.

The hospital will be constructed with an initial capacity of 250 beds. It will cost about $2,000,000. It will be designed so it may be at least doubled if the demand requires an expansion.

It has been estimated that the internal temperature of the sun is 50,000,000 degrees. Its surface temperature is 6,000 degrees.

Amon Carter Finds Son In Germany

AT THE 3RD DIVISION COMMAND POST, GERMANY—(AP)—A Texas newspaper publisher and his son, a prisoner of the Germans since Faid Pass, Tunisia, more than two years ago, embraced wordlessly here Saturday and then the young soldier announced:

"We've got to go back and get those other fellows."

The reunion took place between Amon Carter Sr., publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and his son, Amon Jr., who was liberated by a special patrol sent to get him from the Luckenwalde Prison in time for the event.

The young infantry officer walked up behind his father and said quietly, "Here I am, Dad." His father turned around obviously overcome with emotion, embraced him and patted him on the back wordlessly.

Wants Pals Rescued
The lieutenant, overcoming visible embarrassment before the party of Army personnel and press representatives, kept saying:

"We've got to go back and get those other fellows. They're worried about the Russian-German fights going on all around them and we've got to get them."

An American Army Corps commander assured him arrangements were being made to evacuate all the prisoners at Luckenwalde.

The publisher, on a tour with American editors and publishers to view German atrocities, said: "I find most of these boys of ours who have been in prison camps over here are anxious to get home and have a try at guarding our prisoners of war there."

Employment Of Military Personnel Is Clarified

The employment of military personnel while on pass or furlough is clarified in War Department Circular 105-1945.

The circular states that routine furloughs are granted for the purpose of relaxation, recreation, health, travel and diversion. Due to the manpower shortage, the War Department policy is to encourage military personnel while on pass or furlough to employ as much of their free time as they wish in essential war industries or agriculture, with or without compensation.

The War Department stresses that the work must be in an essential industry in which there is a shortage of available labor and in which the military personnel do not render direct personal services to the general public.

Marfa Army Airfield Will Close May 25

WASHINGTON (AP)—Training activities at the Marfa (Texas) Army Airfield will be completed on or about May 25.

The office of Rep. Thomason (D-Texas) said it had been informed by the War Department that the field and nearby Fort D. A. Russell, an old cavalry post which has been used for housing and services incident to operation of the flying field, will be put on temporary inactive status then.

Nazi Generators Now Used To Light Allied Headquarters Building

BY HAL BOYLE
WITH THE U. S. SECOND INFANTRY DIVISION, GERMANY—(P)—The old "Rock of the Marne" regiment is lighting its headquarters with powerful portable generators once used by the Nazis to launch their V-weapons against England.

Sgt. Cecil R. Bracey of Wichita Falls, discovered more than 50 of the generators hooked up by cables to a German field launching ramp.

The generators weigh more than a ton and generate 15,000 to 20,000 watts—enough to light a small town. They are mounted on two-wheeled frames and a small vehicle can tow them easily.

The 38th Infantry Regiment captured the first generator soon after crossing the Rhine.

Staff Sgt. Robert L. Douglas of Jefferson, Ohio, with the help of Bracey and Sgt. Nelson Krewson of Detroit, Mich., immediately harnessed for useful purposes this force which the Nazis had used to start the flying bombs on their deadly are.

Regimental headquarters was set up in two of the largest hotels in the city of Göttingen and the generator easily supplied light for both buildings and power for radio sets.

It still is working for Uncle Sam in another area.

How To Be Happy
Lt. George W. Thornburn of Wichita Falls can laugh about it now, but at the time...

"The rumbling came nearer and nearer," Crucius recalled, "and then around a bend in the road came a German civilian tearing along with a wagon and a team of horses."

No lieutenant ever looked happier than Thornburn.

Joe Dillard Is New Marine Ace On Okinawa

By VERN HAUGLAND
OKINAWA — (P) — Three Marine fighter pilots became aces Saturday morning by downing four Japanese planes each. Each had downed at least one other enemy aircraft earlier in the Okinawa campaign.

They included Joe Dillard, 22, of Midland.

There was only part of the toll taken by the Second Marine Air Wing of Japanese raiders in furious action which saw Zeros reappearing in Okinawa combat for the first time in three weeks and the initial appearance over Okinawa of Dianas twin-motor bombers. No American planes were lost.

Dillard said his formation encountered six Val dive bombers and six Dianas at 8 a. m. as they came in four at a time, five minutes apart.

"I caught the first plane 200 feet off the water and sent him in smoking. His tail gunner shot back at me a few minutes," Dillard related.

"I made an overhead run at another Dianas right on the water. Then I split one with First Lt. Francis A. Terrel, 24, of Tacoma, Wash.; then blew up a Val which was making a run on a (U. S.) ship."

Conversation Is Easy In Spacious Quiet Superforts

By ELMONTE WAITE
B-29 BASE, TINIAN — (P) — Conversation flourishes in B-29s, because their sealed cabins shut out almost all of the noise of their four great windmills and their four great engines.

At first, all conversation is strictly business.

"Ready for immediate take-off," the commander, Lt. James McKillip of Chicago tells the control tower by radio.

He and the pilot, Lt. John Y. Lambert, Pasadena, Calif., already have checked a long list of things that must be in order. The big plane starts to roll down one of Iwo Jima's runways. It would have been lost at sea if it hadn't been for Iwo Jima—it would have run out of gasoline on its long trip home from Northern Japan.

Sounding Out Speed
Lieutenant Lambert is calling out the air speed—"Eighty, ninety, one hundred..." All at once the big plane is in the air.

It's bumpy at first; then you're above the clouds, which form a solid white sea below you, and the sunset is there in all its glory. No one says anything for a minute; then Lambert says: "That's something I'll never forget all my life—the sunsets I've seen out here."

McKillip's conversation turns to families. He says his wife will have a baby soon. He adds he didn't know people could be so happy as he has been the last two years, before he came overseas. It was one of those quickie marriages that turned out well—"I'll always owe the Army something for sending me to Maxwell Field; I met Cathryn down there."

MILLION-PLUS SORTIES

American Army Air Force pilots have engaged in more than 1,350,000 sorties against the enemy since Pearl Harbor. Over 60 per cent of these were flown in the first nine months of 1944.

London's 50 automatic telephone exchanges cover 220,000 lines.

SS Got GI Tank
The Americans lay at a farmhouse in the woods just below the castle at 2 p. m. when Borotra came up the road, accompanied by a guard, to tell how a German 88 gun had knocked out a 12th Armored tank which had made its way to the castle Friday night and shelled the castle Saturday morning.

He led another company of the battalion back up the road to surround the German defenders.

will have a seat at the deliberations now in progress, if the Big Three smooth out their squabble over reorganizing the Russia-Sponsored Warsaw government which Britain and the United States do not recognize.

The single gleam of hope for any immediate progress was that Foreign Commissar Molotov plans to remain at the Golden Gate a few more days.

It was Molotov who first informed Stettinius and Eden of the arrest of the Polish group. That was Thursday night.

Friday night, pressed for reasons, he said it was for "diversionist activities against the Red Army."

One responsible official said this was the way the newest Polish crisis originated:

The group of men, since arrested, was invited to a conference at Pruszkow, Poland, and three arrived March 27, the rest the following day. They were members of a resistance movement.

Having heard nothing from them by April 1, the British and American governments started a series of notes to Moscow. They went unanswered until Molotov, out of a clear sky, mentioned the arrests Thursday night.

Draft Registrants Must Get Board OK To Change Positions

Attention of registrants with the Selective Service Board was called Saturday to the fact that it is unlawful for registrants from the ages of 18 through 37 to change their jobs without permission of the board. Board officials emphasized registrants must obtain advance permission from the board to change jobs, and that to change jobs and then notify the board of the change does not comply with the regulations. For a registrant to change a job without obtaining advance permission of the board automatically places the registrant in the 1-A classification.

Bomb Plot Failure Brought Immeasurable Suffering To Germany

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst
Military historians long will pore over the events leading up to this climactic week of Nazi debacle in Germany seeking the key to the riddle of just what precipitated the final total collapse of the wehrmacht. At some point Nazi resistance became a planless, dis-integrated thing. The superb staff work of the German army that had seen it through the desperate dangers of the retreat from the Volga to the Vistula and then the Oder in the east, from the Normandy beaches to the Rhine in the west at some point broke down utterly. The why and wherefore of that will interest military students for years after the last shot in Europe has been fired. It can be gleaned only from captured German military documents of that period and the stories captured German officers of highest rank have to tell.

Already there are intimations in what such key figures of the German High Command have had to say since their capture. They contend that to the end Hitler "intuition," substituted for the seasoned judgment of professional military opinion, and doomed the nation to the terrible fate that has fallen upon it. In retrospect failure of the "generals' plot to eliminate Hitler many months ago must go down as a tragic disaster for all Germany." If it had succeeded the war could have been over in Europe long ago. Many a German city that now lies in utter ruin could have escaped that doom. Millions of men who have since died or been mangled in battle on both sides would have been spared, millions of others, men, women and children behind the lines, would have escaped untold horrors that Hitler fanaticism forced upon them.

For the essence of that futile revolt against him in his own ranks was realization that the war was lost even then, that to prolong it could lead nowhere but the chaos and ruin that is Germany today. It was a sad day for the world, and for Germany above all, when that bomb plot failed.

 AS the summer passed, Mr. Cutter ate more, slept more, and worked less. Any hour of the day you might find him dozing on his stool, his face supported by his two white hands. If you went to tell him that the water was low, he would pick up his pen and nod with a weary, harassed look as if to say he would come when he could ever get clear of what he was doing. Half an hour later, when you went again, you couldn't find him. He began to get irritable. One of my favorite pastimes was poring over the hotel register, especially its early pages.

I liked to finger the copper paper weight while I read. Mr. Cutter allowed me to take both that and the register less and less willingly. Often after no more than 10 minutes he began to tap on his desk and beckon. When I put them back, he would straighten them with exaggerated care and then would return to his nap or his circles.

I used to complain a good deal about him. "He's crabby," I said, vehemently. "And Papa is always just so puzzled." "Your father is nice to everyone," my mother reproved me. "But she must have noticed, as I did, that my father was especially nice to Mr. Cutter. Every noon he took the paper to him, and every evening he sat with him for a time in the office, though they seldom talked.

"Mama," Sue said one day, looking puzzled. "Is Mr. Cutter Ada's fellow?" "Of course not," my mother answered. "She likes him anyway," Sue argued.

THIS was getting more and more apparent to us all. She had made him a beaded napkin ring,

MRS. GUPTILL kept her eye on everything Mr. Cutter did, ready to find fault. It wasn't just that he was lazy, she said. He was wasteful, too. He left the office inkwell open. At meals he reordered, then neglected to clean his plate. Moreover, he was using too much kerosene. Every morning Ada brought his lamp down, bone dry. All of the other lamps were more than half full. Such extravagance! He must be burning it all night, she said.

Suddenly one day she noticed something. The lamp was bone dry, but the wick barely needed trimming. It didn't make sense. Something funny was going on, she decided.

She hit into Ada, demanding an explanation. Ada flared right back. Let people mind their own business. . .

This had gone far enough, my mother decided. That night she spoke to my father about it. "Mr. Cutter is turning this thing upside down," she said, "and I think you should discharge him."

"It isn't his fault, is it?" my father demanded. "Maybe not, directly," my mother granted. "But he is the disturbing influence. Besides, we haven't enough business to warrant his staying."

"Oh, I don't know about that," my father said, picking up his paper. He never liked to face unpleasant facts.

"I know," my mother said. She had gone through a lot that summer, and her patience was getting sorely tried. "He's no earthly good, anyway, and it's costing us money to keep him. I'm going to insist that you send him back." My mother seldom took a real stand.

There was a long, strained silence. My father got up and folded his paper. "I can't send him back," he said quietly. "I couldn't even if I made up my mind to it." He went out and closed the door.

Soil Conservation Service Completes Survey Of Ranges

The Soil Conservation Service completed soils and range surveys on the O. H. McAlister Ranch this week. Herd Midkiff, supervisor of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District announced Saturday. The surveys will be used by McAlister in planning a complete program for soil and water conservation on his ranch of about 7,000 acres located east of Midland.

Detailed information concerning the kinds of soils and their capabilities for forage production and the kinds and amounts of native grasses on the range is important in planning a program of range management which will maintain and improve the condition of the range, Midkiff said. The assistance of the Soil Conservation Service in supplying this information is made available through the Soil Conservation District. Ranchers who would like to have this assistance should contact the district supervisors of the county agent, or the soil conservation service.

Kent Boone has applied for assistance in planning a range program on his ranch southeast of Midland. Soils and range surveys will be made on the Boone ranch as soon as aerial photographs of the ranch can be obtained by the Soil Conservation Service.

Farmers; Ranchers Look For Rain To Save Crops; Ranges

Nature apparently is framing up on Midland County farmers to prevent a cotton crop this year, reports gathered by the Midland County AAA office indicate.

A number of cotton producers, who have planted, reported their cotton is dying because of a combination of lack of moisture, high winds and unseasonable cold weather. Other producers reported they were unable to get a stand.

Sudan Planted

AAA reports indicate some sudan has been planted, but the planting is not yet extensive over the county.

Range conditions are reported good, considering the lack of rainfall.

A general one inch rain in May would put both farms and ranches in a fairly satisfactory condition, and if the county receives its 28-year average of 2.12 inches for May the farms and ranges would be in excellent condition, agricultural authorities said.

Rites for the double ring ceremony were performed by the Rev. Hubert H. Hopper as the couple stood before an altar decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli. Burning tapers in tall candelabra added soft illumination to the setting.

Her full skirt extended into a long train and her veil of bridal illusion was attached to a halo fashioned with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a double strand of pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Doris Perry, who attended the bride as maid of honor, wore an ice blue net dress. The front of the skirt was fashioned with a flounce which extended to the back and formed a bustle. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Capt. John Hoover of Midland Army Air Field was best man. Ushers were Capt. Frank Hawk and Capt. Fred Trainhardt, both of MAAF.

Mrs. Peterson, mother of the bride, was seated to the left of the bride.

Too Many Gadgets Cut Down Chic

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"Be something of a dandy about looking just so," is a tip from girls who wear uniforms to girls who would like to look just as natty in non-regulation suits.

For instance, your shirt must be fresh and closed at the neck; jacket buttoned all the way; gloves unsullied; a polish worthy of a shoeshine boy's on your walkers.

Don't hang things on your lapels that pull your jacket out of line. You may not want to strip jewelry down to a wedding ring and a wrist watch, as do service girls, conforming to regulations, but this is a good decree to impose upon yourself — with modifications — if you're inclined to clutter up the crisp lines of a suit by adding too many gadgets.

Let's Keep Pushing Forward (AN EDITORIAL)

As the end of school draws nearer, many students begin to relax and to think about what they are going to do during the summer vacation. As they plan in their minds the future activities, they are inclined to be oblivious of the present and neglect certain duties that should not go undone.

One of these neglected duties is school work. Many of us think that because school is so near to an end, we need not bother to study any longer because our past grades are good enough to pull us through.

And isn't the solution simple? All the problems can be solved if we, the students, remember that we should work to the end if we want to accomplish anything. There's only one more month to go, so let's try to make the best of that month by keeping our school work up to date and not neglecting our duties.

Echoing Halls

MONDAY:
Wonders never cease; we made it back to school! All chemistry and physics themes are due. There were the usual excuses. If the students would put half the time studying as they do talking the teachers out of it, they might get some work done. The seniors got out at 2:30. Gloat, gloat, gloat!!!

TUESDAY:
The band played for us in assembly today. We would like to mention that the first chair solos were most entertaining. Tonight the band performed again. This time the choral groups joined in.

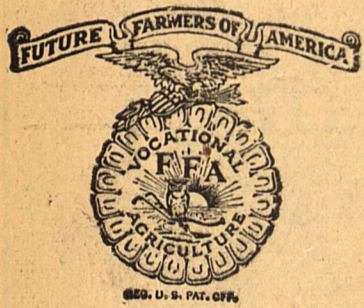

WEDNESDAY:
The Senior English classes got a moral lesson from Mr. Howell's little yellow book. Clubs met today. Of course some students were overjoyed at the cut periods. Isn't this interesting?

THURSDAY:
We would like to mention that signs should be posted throughout town saying: "This way to M.H.S." for those students who go to lunch-rooms and can't quite find their way back to school. It's getting hard and harder to get out of class. The teachers are even more "pass-happy."

FRIDAY:
The sophomores are dashing madly around making last-minute preparations for their dance, tomorrow night. D. O. students are looking forward to their picnic tonight.

The school is in an uproar over the graduation present of one senior girl. Optimistic parents, weren't they?

The Gates of Freedom are slowly opening. Only three more weeks kids, and then we're OUT!

Kelley Lewellen was nominated as a candidate for president of the West Texas area of the F.F.A. in the chapter meeting Wednesday. "Waylon Livingston and Bill Brown were elected for the district officers, probably vice president and secretary, respectively," said D. B. Collinsworth, chapter advisor.

Billy Gossett was elected president of this chapter of the F.F.A., with Billy Houston as vice president; A. C. Tredway, secretary; Bill Brown, treasurer; Glenn Williams, reporter; Weldon Fry, watchdog; David Wyatt, parliamentarian; Clarence Hardin, song leader; and James Locklar, historian for supporting officers.

Seventy-five agriculture boys and homemaking girls were at the wiener roast Wednesday night. "Everyone had a good. It didn't even rain," said Waylon Livingston, reporter.

If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is an inexpensive method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for Casella stimulating tablets (either 48 or 200, the 200 size costs much less per dose). Take as directed on label and feel the thrill of living again. (Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try Casella tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? Women too, will find Casella tablets beneficial.

Soap Lather Masks For Skin

ELLA RAINES: Finds blotting is best way to dry face.

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer The art of being a soap-scrubbed girl, without having a taut skin redden you for your zeal, is to skip the scrubbing. Instead make masks of heavy lather and put on in two coatings, letting the first dry before you apply the second. That's the trick of Ella Raines, star of "The Suspect," who removes the masks with a wash cloth wrung out first in warm water for cleansing, then in cold water for rinsing.

When you dry, Ella warns not to rub but to blot up moisture with a towel. You can speed up drying, if need be, with gentle patting.

The face cream which you may like to use afterward as a softener should be patted on, says this fresh-skinned movie star, who is a stickler for gentle treatment.

Otis E. Spann Escapes Injury

WITH THE AMERICAN INFANTRY DIVISION ON CEBU—Pfc. Otis E. Spann of Midland, Texas, was shaken up but otherwise unhurt when enemy troops blew up a section of road only a few yards in front of the vehicle in which he was riding as a hill man.

Spann is serving with the motorized 21st Reconnaissance Troop of the American Infantry Division. Called "the iron horse of the division," Spann's unit has the mission of patrolling in front of the advance infantry elements, locating enemy concentrations and strong points.

The Texas soldier's troop landed on Cebu on D-day and headed for Cebu City immediately after going ashore five miles to the south. They provided a mechanized screen for the foot soldiers who captured the city the following day.

Moving into the hills north of the city they have maintained patrol contact with the enemy throughout the campaign. Stabbing into Jap territory, they have frequently had to double as engineers in rebuilding shattered bridges over rain-swollen streams.

Pfc. Spann, overseas 15 months, is the son of Mrs. Cleo Herring.

Correct Posture Conserves Energy

Stop bending your back into a question mark when you sit. Don't thrust out your head, and stop slouching your shoulders like a playful seal. If you do, you'll have misery in your back. Bad posture habits impair efficiency on a job and make you more tired at the end of a working day than you need be.

To lick these spendthrift habits of dissipating energy, put some starch in the small of your back. Best way to keep a spine from giving in where it is weakest is to fit the "small of your back" into a posture chair. Lacking one, keep your back up, and your pelvis centered over the seat of your chair. Learn to move forward and to swing right and left from the hips, not from the waist.

Lotion Solves Knotty Problem

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer A girl born with curls is thrice blessed, but a mass of tight ringlets can be a knotty problem. Best way to solve it, experts say, is to govern the degree of curliness you want with scissors, used by an operator who knows how to thin hair out in layers and trim it slantwise.

Next step is to coach any remaining tightness out of curls with a setting lotion. Used as a matter of discipline in a regular weekly setting, it will replace knotty ringlets with plump curls.

Watch the operator's technique with a setting lotion and a fine tooth comb, as he coaxes tight ringlets into fuller curls or makes two ridges into one wave. Following his technique when you dress your locks will enable you to carry on where your hairdresser leaves off.
