Nazi Fanatics Flee Madly Toward Safety Of American Lines

LONDON—(AP)—Die-hard Nazi fanatics who fought on in Czechoslovakia in defiance of German unconditional surrender were reported in headlong flight toward American lines Friday as a vast pincers by three Soviet armies threatened momentarily to envelop them.

The First, Second and Fourth Ukrainian armies opened the assault on broad fronts from the northwest, east and southwest when forces under Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, wanted as a war criminal, and Col. Gen. Woehler ignored the surrender.

Only Fighting In All Europe

It was the only reported by German troops in all Europe. Elsewhere the Germans were giving up docilely. The Soviet High Command announced capture of 209,060 Germans in preliminary checkups along the front.

Remnants of the beaten German surface and underwater fleet were in Allied hands, including the cruisers Prinz Eugen and Nuernberg, which had shelled Copenhagen over the weekend.

Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz' submarine fleet was surrendering and putting in to British ports.

Dunkergue Surrenders

Dunkergue, scene of the British defeat in 1940, had surrendered. The Channel islands of Sark, Jersey and Guernsey, which had been taken by the Nazi shortly after the fall of France, capitulated to a British task force.

The dismantling of some 120,000 Germans in Holland was underway.

Premier Marshal Stalin, in messages to President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill, congratulated them on the unconditional surrender of Nazi Germany, declaring that "the joint struggle of Soviet, American and British armies against the German invaders will go down in history as an example of fighting collaboration of our peoples."

The Germans in Czechoslovakia still fighting melted about in a great 4,000-square mile pocket.

Fanatical German pilots in Czechoslovakia were reported to have used their last fuel to bomb a concentration camp where Jews were interned.

Two New Outside Tests Staked In Ector's TXL Area

By JAMES C. WATSON, Oil Editor

Locations for two extension efforts to the proven area in the TXL three-pay field in West Ector County were reported Friday.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-C Thomas, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 6, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, is to be an Ellenburger exploration and will dig to around 10,000 feet. It is on northeast side of the field.

It is one location north of Shell Oil Company, Inc. No. 1-A Thomas, original discovery for Ellenburger production in that district, now bottomed at 9,852 feet, with 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at 9,705 feet, getting ready to complete.

Slightly Wild

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1-B TXL, 660 feet from south and east lines of south half of south half of section 19, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, is to be a 2,500-foot prospector to the Devonian.

It is three-quarters of a mile north and same distance west of closest Devonian producer—Rowan Drilling Company No. 1 TXL.

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A University, possible Devonian discovery in East-Central Crane County, was to drill ahead from 8,080 feet, in lime and chert.

A one-hour drillstem test was taken at 8,028-80 feet. Recovery was 60 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil or gas.

Parrott Perforating

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Parrott, East-Central Upton County prospective discovery from the lower Permian, was perforating 5 1/2-inch casing to test.

The pipe had been run to 9,944 feet, above plugged-back total depth of 9,943 feet, in shale. Operator had cemented the casing at 9,000 feet, and the section below that point was swung, and there was no cement in or around it.

The entire cemented portion of the pipe is to be perforated with scattered shots. Up to early Friday (Continued on page 6)

U. S. Troops On Move To Pacific Area

SHAEF, PARIS — (AP) — Some American troop units already are on their way to French ports and headed for the Pacific war under the redeployment program, it was disclosed here Friday.

The first combat troops from Europe, however, are not likely to reach the Pacific theater in much under six months.

The first to go are service troops, for they are needed to prepare the way for the flow of combat veterans who helped defeat Germany.

Beside the service units already on the move, others have been ordered, Brig. Gen. G. S. Eyster, acting deputy chief of staff, said.

WMC Outlines Plans For Easing Of Control

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The War Manpower Commission Friday outlined plans for a gradual easing of controls over workers "as rapidly as circumstances permit."

But, Chairman Paul V. McNutt said, general relaxations must await Japan's defeat.

First effects of a so-called "transitional post-V-E Day program" will be felt in areas where manpower is adequate.

Known as groups 3 and 4, WMC directors in these areas may lift controls immediately after consulting with local management-labor committees.

In labor-short sections, classed as groups 1 and 2, such present control programs as employment ceilings, priority referrals of workers and the 48-hour week will be continued in effect.

In those areas, however, McNutt said, WMC directors will watch for changes in the labor market in an effort to speed reemployment of laid-off war workers when other jobs are available.

The transition period will last until July.

Canning Sugar Calls Swamp OPA Workers

The local rationing office has been swamped with calls and applications for canning sugar, officials said Friday, all because of an erroneous rumor that the applications have to be in the office by May 12.

Actually, the spokesman said, the applications can be made anytime between now and Oct. 31.

North Central States Have Killing Frost

By The Associated Press

Killing frosts struck the North Central section of the nation early Friday in the wake of a mixed snow and rain precipitation area which swept into the Northeastern states with snow up to six inches in depth reached at Montpelier, Vt.

The weather bureau said Friday's was the latest killing frost in the affected area in 28 years.

Covered Four States

Thursday night's frost area extended as far south as Evansville, Ind., and Carbondale, Ill., and covered most of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Southern Michigan, with killing frosts recorded in some sections of those states.

R. C. Schmidt, Chicago bureau forecaster, promised relief was on its way for the entire nation, with no great cold in immediate prospect anywhere.

Northern New England had its most severe May snowstorm in 25 years, with falls measuring up to six inches, while the five-inch fall at Albany, N. Y., was the heaviest May snowfall on record.

June Production Same As May, PAW Certifies

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Petroleum Administration for War Friday certified that total production of petroleum for war in Texas during June shall be 2,333,000 barrels daily, Olin Culberson, chairman of the State Railroad Commission, announced.

Of the amount certified 2,170,000 barrels daily shall be crude which is the same rate of production certified for May.

Because limitations of transportation and refining facilities do not permit further shifting or additional movements of sweet crudes from other areas into the Longview terminal of the war emergency pipeline the 16,000 barrels daily increase in sweet crude certified for allocation in the East Texas field in February, March and April may be continued to June, Ralph E. Davies, PAW deputy administrator, has advised.

United Nations Conference Develops Strong Bloc Of Small Nations Which Are Determined To Win More Power

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER, Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The United Nations Conference appeared Friday to be developing a strong bloc of small nations determined to win themselves greater authority over the proposed use of force to prevent future wars.

The issue is coming sharply to the fore in conference committees considering amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world peace organization as it was drawn up by Britain, China, Russia and the United States in Washington last fall. Here are current top developments:

1. Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada told a committee on functions of the Security Council, which is the exclusive powerful core of the proposed organization, that any nation whose troops were to be used against an aggressor should be permitted a voice in the council's decision to take forceful action, Mexico and New Zealand endorsed this idea and Australia and several others are backing the principle.

2. New Zealand suggested that the proposed world assembly of nations—whichever the Dumbarton Oaks plan would assign little authority—should have the right to approve or reject any security council action. This is bluntly opposed by the big powers.

3. A Cuban proposition that the security council be enlarged from 11 member nations, provided under Dumbarton Oaks, to 14 or 15, was debated in the committee on the council Thursday but a decision was delayed pending further study.

4. The same general issue of the council's powers was tied into the behind-the-scenes dispute over regional security arrangements which has split the United States delegation down the middle.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) promised the regional arrangements committee Thursday night, that an American plan would be drawn up as soon as possible, and the delegation scheduled another discussion on the issue Friday.

Behind the United States deadlock is increasing pressure from Latin America for an independent security system in this hemisphere.

This is reportedly opposed by those delegation members who contend that if the world security council is to have any chance of success it must be given full powers to act anywhere in the world.

Other Big Issue

On the other big conference issue—how to govern the ex-enemy territories of both world wars—the Big Five powers appeared to be steadily approaching an agreement.

Russia and China Thursday submitted trusteeship plans. These, like that of the United States, would provide for creating strategic trusteeships over Pacific islands and other places having military importance. The British are reported nearing agreement with the United States on this point.

Strategic areas need special treatment in order to allow their development as army and navy bases.

War Criminal List Now Includes Himmler, Hess And Goering

LONDON — (AP) — Rudolf Hess, Heinrich Himmler and Hermann Goering all have been listed by the United Nations as war criminals and there is strong possibility that Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz will also have to face trial for his life.

The information about the ranking luminaries of the fallen Nazi hierarchy and Hitler's successor in the surrendered Reich came Friday from a highly reliable source.

This informant estimated that between 4,000,000 and 6,000,000 Germans might be forced to atone for their nation's atrocities if the proposed plan of pool punishment is adopted by the victorious powers.

Hess and Goering both are prisoners and both were Hitler deputies. Himmler, the hangman head of the Gestapo, is a fugitive.

Jap Naval Officer Sees Quick Surrender

The officer, whose name was withheld, expressed belief surrender would follow sustained saturation bombing of Japanese metropolitan areas and industrial centers.

Battered Germans Present Problem Of Food Supply

By ALVIN STEINKOPF, PILSEN, CZECHOSLOVAKIA — (AP) — On the main highway between Pilsen and Prague a great vagabond army of German troops and civilians, including women and children, was gathering Friday.

On the fields around a half-dozen Czech villages some miles east of Pilsen at least 50,000 persons were in dejected clusters. More were streaming in from the east.

They were herded into several areas of some thousands of acres by road patrols of the U. S. Second Division. A division headquarters spokesman said the problem of feeding, transporting and keeping order among them was almost as great a task as D-Day.

In fields of new wheat the Germans were sleeping, bathing their aching feet in the drainage ditches and wondering what they would eat.

Other Germans moved down the Prague road in every conceivable type of conveyance—one truck frequently towing two or three others which were gasless, without tires or knocked out mechanically.

Even tanks and motorized artillery which dozens were clinging rumbled into the pocket formed by the American forces.

Many Armed

Many of the crowd were armed, but no immediate effort was made to take away the weapons.

Congressmen Vote Selves Raise Despite Many Hot Arguments

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Some members said it seemed like a sneaky way to get a raise.

Others argued the public has no idea what an expensive thing it is to be a congressman.

The upshot—a shouting House majority voted Thursday to give each member $2,500 a year, tax free, as expense money to top off his $10,000 salary.

The House wrote the expense allowance and some employ pay increases into a $50,000,000 appropriation to pay the costs of Congress.

The bill goes to the Senate where members can knock out the House increases or vote themselves some expense money.

Singapore May Be Next On Lord Louis Moubatten's List

By PRESTON GROVER, CALCUTTA — (AP) — With Rangoon captured and the campaign in Burma virtually ended, troops of Admiral Lord Louis Moubatten's Southeast Asia Command turned their eyes toward Singapore Friday as their next likely objective.

While some of Moubatten's men have been in the jungles for a year or more and are badly in need of rest, others are comparatively fresh and could be quickly made ready for a new campaign.

The latter include the forces which took Rangoon in a combined sea and air operation—just such troops as would be needed for a landing on the Malay Peninsula north of Singapore or on the island of Sumatra, across Malacca Strait from Malaya.

Backed By British Fleet

This special group of paratroopers and amphibious troops is backed by a fleet growing in size week by week and likely to increase now that the European campaign is ended.

There is the genuine prospect that operations elsewhere in the Pacific may advance so fast that British forces will be able to walk into Singapore unopposed.

Unlike operations in the vicinity of Japan, the Japanese forces facing the Southeast Asia Command have neither air force nor navy to aid them. It is estimated that there are between 200 and 300 Japanese planes to defend the entire Sumatra and Malaya area, while no portion of the Japanese surface fleet has dared to venture so far south of Japanese home waters. A few Jap submarines continue to operate in the Bay of Bengal.

Tokyo Spokesmen See 'No Alternative' But To Keep Fighting

By LEONARD MILLIMAN, Associated Press War Editor

Mines strewn by Superfortresses in every major part of Japan furnished new hazards Friday for the imperial navy and merchant marine, both already pared to a fraction of pre-war strength by U. S. planes, warships and submarines.

The Twentieth Bomber Command disclosed that B-29s, in history's greatest aerial mine-laying operations, have planted floating explosives in Tokyo Bay, the Inland Sea, Singapore Harbor and other former havens of Japanese shipping. The most frequently used waterways were described as "polluted" by American-laid mines.

Japan tried to strengthen its political position in threatened corners of its crumbling empire Friday as 200 Superforts thundered over six targets on the home islands in a daily preview of predicted 2,000-plane raids against Nippon.

All Tokyo spokesmen appeared to agree there was "no alternative" to the Mikado's war lords but to continue fighting despite slow attrition of their armed forces on every island front and a threatened debacle in China.

Chinese Continue Slaughter

A Chinese Army spokesman reported that a sweeping Chinese counteroffensive has trapped thousands of Japanese and killed off at least a third of the 80,000 invaders who began driving toward the U. S. Chihkiang air base in Western China a month ago. He said Nipponese reserves were thrown into the lines as Chinese columns closed a pincers 40 miles from Paiching, main springboard of the abortive Japanese offensive.

Such political moves might be to strengthen the position of five former premiers and other elder statesmen with Premier Kantaro Ezuki. The session had scarcely broken up when Japanese broadcasts reported political prisoners would be released in Thailand, civilian support was asked in Sumatra to "consolidate the wartime structure" and the Mikado's ambassador to Indonesia had been called home hurriedly for conferences.

He indicated that large numbers of Flying Fortresses and Liberators used in battering Germany would be shifted to the Pacific, where they would be used in the role of "medium bombers," augmenting operations of the ever-increasing fleet of Superfortresses.

Doolittle disclosed that the present bomber strength of the Eighth Air Force exceeded 2,400 Liberators and Fortresses.

The largest number of heavies Doolittle ever dispatched in one attack was approximately 2,000 last Christmas Eve.

"For every bomber we have at least two full crews," he said.

He reviewed the history of the air war in Europe, stating that at one time "losses approaching a prohibitive rate" on the deep penetration raids into the heart of Germany threatened to restrict operations so much as to bring into question the ability of the air force to make its D-Day deadline.

Army Will Release 2,500 Men Saturday

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Approximately 2,500 soldiers will be released from the Army Saturday under the point rating system announced by the War Department Thursday.

The discharges will take place at Army separation centers in various parts of the country, the Department said.

The men, first to be released under the new discharge plan, will be drawn from soldiers with long overseas service who had been brought back to the United States under the rotation system prior to the end of the war in Europe for rest and recuperation.

Soldiers from all theaters are included in the group.

War Department Announces Control Plan For Germany Headed By Gen. Eisenhower

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States representative on the council as agreed upon at the Yalta Big Three meeting.

Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay will serve as deputy to Eisenhower and also will be "deputy military governor for Germany," the department said, without amplifying this latter reference.

The announcement said that United States Army, Navy and Air Forces had perfected over a period of many months and in coordination with the British, Russians and French a "coordinated program to impose a stern military government over all of Germany and to carry out the policies agreed upon at Yalta." It did not, however, officially define the area of American occupation.

Directly under Clay will be two other sections—public information and public relations. The former section, said the department, "will control all forms of public expression in Germany, including newspapers, radio, magazines and other publications and motion pictures."

OWI Director Elmer Davis Thursday announced that all foreign publications, films and business enterprises will be banned from Germany.

Public relations will be concerned with issuing communiques, accreditation of correspondents and press censorship.

The demobilization of German armed forces and disarmament will be attended to by three military divisions—army, naval and air.

A reparations, deliveries and restitution division will supervise carrying out in the American zone policies agreed upon in the control council dealing with activities "suggested by its title," said the department.

"Tremendous tasks lie ahead of the economic division, which will deal with such problems as food, agriculture and forestry, fuel and mining, price control and rationing," the department declared.

"This division will see to it that the Germans are forced to exert all (Continued on page 6)

Two Budgets

You never saw seven-and-a-half billion dollars. Neither did anybody else, including Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and Mint Director Nellie Tayloe Ross. There isn't any such thing. Sums like that are just figments of fevered imaginations, reduced to figures in government ledgers.

When President Truman sliced seven-and-a-half billion dollars off the 1945-46 war budget, he eliminated something so impersonal and so inconceivable that it doesn't seem to have anything to do with you or us. But it does. That reduction, a drop in the bucket, means $53.57 off the 1946 expenses of every individual in the United States—$214.28 off the budget of every family of four.

We won't pay any less next year because of this reduction. We have been going into debt so deeply every year since 1931 that a reduction as small as seven-and-a-half billions can't begin to catch us up. We shall have to pay just as much next year, but each of us will be $53.57 less in debt, a year from June 30, because the President used an axe on the war budget.

We should be grateful to the fighting men who, by beating Germany, enabled the President to cut back war estimates for the coming year. We should be grateful to the President for the promptness and firmness with which he grasped the opportunity.

It is not belittling what has been done to point out, however, that this cut was in the almost 80-billion-dollar war budget inherited by President Truman. It has no effect upon the more than 13-billion-dollar non-war budget.

It is inevitable that a great war like this should be run at a deficit. Not even this nation can pay such expenses out of current income. The war budget will come down, from now on, until Japan is defeated, at which time much of it will disappear.

The peacetime non-war budget is the one to fear. It is the one with which we must live, and try to keep on speaking terms, after our war-inflated 160-billion-dollar national income subsides to normality. The non-war or administrative budget alone calls for $100 next year from every man, woman and child in the country.

President Truman has been in the White House too short a time and under too extraordinary circumstances for us to expect him to have done anything concrete about the administrative budget. We hope and expect that he will give attention to that as soon as he can.

Closing?

Reports from New York hint that the city's oldest comedy-drama may be closing soon. We don't refer to the six-seasons-old "Life With Father" or the Center Theater's perennial ice show, but to a production now in its twelfth year.

It is known variously as "Life With the Little Father" and "The Follies of Fiorello." The star is his honor, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. And the rumor is that the closing notice may be put up between now and next fall's municipal elections.

Of course LaGuardia is a veteran trooper, and a clever one. And there are still customers out front to cheer lustily no matter what the critics say about the performance. He has played scenes in the past in which the applause drowned out the hisses. So he can't be counted out. Yet political experts say that, bereft of Republican and Democratic support, his chances grow slimmer every day.

The Little Flower is a colorful mayor of a colorful city, and a source of vivid news for the whole country. If he goes he'll be missed both for his shenanigans and the high caliber of his administration. For even those who resent his temperament and name-calling, who charge him with being dictatorial and egotistical, admit that he's been honest and, as New York mayors go, efficient.

Watch For Bill

If you should happen to be around a ship soon, keep an eye peeled for Bill Clark, who is reported missing. It is thought that he may have shipped as an able-bodied seaman or perhaps as a ship's carpenter.

Bill is five feet six-and-a-half inches tall, has sparse hair and a small mustache, is hale and hearty, has neither false teeth nor spectacles. When last seen he wore a blue uniform with white metal buttons. He won't refuse a drink if you offer one.

If you should find more than one answering the description, Bill will be the one who seems most at home on a ship. He ought to. He has sailed the seas more than half a century. If cornered, he may confess to his 100 years.

Unwept, Unhonored And Unsung

Japan -

(Continued from page 1) "In the fall and winter of 1943-44 improved German tactics and more lethal armament increased the Luftwaffe's toll of our bombers until we faced a very grave crisis," Doolittle said.

"Then early in 1944 long-range fighters which had been continuously in development came into the air battle of Germany in sufficient numbers to win for us in this period of our greatest crisis.

"In order to destroy the German air force," Doolittle said, "we deliberately intended to precipitate large scale air battles."

One of the highlights in the history of the Eighth Air Force was its campaign against German oil production which Doolittle described as "a continuing contest between bombardiers and German reconstruction battalions.

"At Leuna, west of Leipzig, the enemy's largest synthetic oil plant had to be attacked 18 times by the Eighth and three times by the RAF. It was the most heavily defended single industrial plant in all Germany."

Halted Five Times

He said the bombers halted all production three five times, but each time the Germans applied thousands of repair men to the job of putting it back into partial production.

The Eighth Air Force's public relations staff, in a compilation Friday, said the force dropped an average of one ton of bombs every minute during the last months of the war against Germany.

Here are some other figures: Enemy aircraft destroyed, 18,512. Aircraft dispatched on all types of operation, 616,900. Leaflets dropped in night operations, 1,444,280,000. Gasoline consumed, 1,044,202,950 gallons.

Locomotives destroyed, 4,660. Vehicles destroyed, 4,882. Railway cars destroyed, 6,038. Oil cars destroyed, 1,449.

JayCees Hear Plans For Summer Play Program In Midland

Plans for the summer recreation program were related by Gene McCollum to members of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce at their meeting held Friday noon in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel.

McCullum told the JayCees interest in the program on the part of students is much greater this year than last, and that activities were being arranged so that all age groups can participate.

Some musical numbers given by students from the Midland High School were heard. A quartet composed of Peggy Ayres, Billy Ann Hill, Ann Ulmer and Norma Conley sang two numbers. Mickey McDonald gave two accordion numbers.

R. Benton Ross of Wichita Falls, president elect of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by Clint Dunagan, president of the state's organization.

Dennis Murphy made a report on the campaign being made by the JayCees for Midland merchants to underwrite the World Championship Rodeo against financial loss. Russell Howard made a report on the plans for the membership dinner Tuesday night.

The Rev. Hubert Hopper, president, presided.

Chairmen Named Mr. Hopper has named the following committee chairmen:

W. B. Neely, internal affairs; Frank Monroe, programs; Harlan Howell, finance; U. A. Hyde, publicity and public relations; Dennis Murphy, membership; A. A. Jones, external affairs; Gene McCollum, sports and fellowship; Don Scott, civic development; John Hill, youth welfare; J. R. Maedgen, war activities; C. E. Day, public health and safety; Russell Howard, special entertainment.

Charts of the organizational and committee set-up were given members at the meeting, and they were asked to mark their committee choices and return them to Ted Thompson, secretary and treasurer.

Scattered and Sporadic

Sumatra, Thailand and Indochina lie on the western flank of one-time Japanese shipping lanes on which Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced Allied planes have sunk or damaged ships aggregating 1,822,000 tons in the first four months of this year. "Only scattered and sporadic traffic is now attempted," MacArthur said as he reported the destruction of six more small freighters.

Superforts following up Thursday's initial successful 400-plane raid against Japan's home island oil supply sources, struck in three waves Friday. The heaviest blow was against the Kawanishi seaplane plant near Kobe, Japan's largest. The two other strikes were directed in the morning and at dusk against Kyushu Island, where three airfields and war industries at Miyakonojo and Nittigahara were bombed.

Simultaneously the 20th Air Force reported photographs showed previous raids had knocked out about 80 per cent of the two Hiro naval aircraft factories near Kure and the Tachikawa air engine plant in the Tokyo area.

On the closest battle front to Japan the Sixth Marine Division bridged and crossed the Asa River on the west coast of Okinawa. It was the biggest gain of four U. S. divisions on the front where 38,857 Japanese have been killed.

Two fleet auxiliaries of Okinawa were damaged in renewed Japanese suicide plane attacks, one of which missed Rear Admiral Lawrence F. Reifsnider's flagship by a few feet.

A daring naval shore party rescued 494 natives from islands of Jaluit Atoll in the Marshalls, despite Japanese shore fire.

There was no further report of an isolated American battalion on Mindanao Island of the Southern Philippines, where other 24th Division units were systematically reducing Japanese strongpoints.

The 31st, was "rapidly consolidating its advances" inland. The mountain-fighting 43rd was closing in on Ibo Dam, a major source of Manila's water.

American Officers Discover Hitler Did Not Have The Simple Tastes He Promoted The Nazis To Believe

By LOUIS J. LOCHNER

MUNICH—(P)—There were disappointed faces in the U. S. 179th Infantry when one of its mechanics opened Hitler's safe in his private home on Aussere Prinz Regenten Strasse Friday.

Instead of the expected documents—possibly even the fuhrer's will—they found only 12 copies of the first edition of "Mein Kampf," most of them autographed. Otherwise there was not a scrap of paper in the safe.

But under the residence was found one of the most modern and bomb-proof cellars in all Germany. The shelter, according to the caretaker, was constructed only after the war began.

Seven-inch steel plates, embedded in four feet of thick concrete, made up the ceiling. Every room was separated from the next by steel doors. There was a modern little electric kitchen, a small but comfortable bedroom and several small underground living rooms.

The more one studies Hitler's various hideouts, the more one realizes how deceitful official propaganda built him up as a simple man of the people, whose personal wants were the most modest and whose every hour was so concentrated upon Germany's welfare that he had no time for private life.

Unknown to Munich Residents Unknown to most residents of Munich, he had maintained his sumptuous private residence here since 1929 while pretending to live either at the Reichchancellery in Berlin, the mountain retreat on Obersalzberg, above Berchtesgaden, or in the pretentious so-called Fuehrerbau on Munich's Koenigsplatz.

An example of the ignorance concerning Hitler's private home was given when I searched for this hideout. I mistakenly went to a street within the confines of the old part of the city known as Prinz Regenten Strasse, instead of the street by the same name beyond the Isar River, prefixed by the word "Aussere," meaning outer.

Nobody in the old section to whom I spoke had even heard of the private Hitler dwelling. Everybody referred me to the Fuehrerbau. Like everything affecting Hitler, the private dwelling had costly furnishings, large rooms, modern gadgets and expensive paintings.

The contents of the spacious library, I was told, had been removed by intelligence officers for study.

Geli Rabau In this house there were both a painting and bust of his niece, Geli Rabau.

She was reported to have committed suicide in her bedroom in this dwelling soon after Hitler's accession to power because she was jilted by her uncle. However, the story that Hitler strangled her in a fit of passion never died.

Her bedroom appeared to still have the original furnishings. Two American soldiers are now living in it.

Hitler's bedroom struck me as effeminate, except that the couch-like bed was exceptionally hard. The upholstery of the couch and chairs had delicate, light colors such as the average man would not choose. The dresser, night table, stove and thing were all white. On the linens the initials "A.H." were embroidered.

Only a few minutes from Hitler's retreat is the home of the much-discussed Eva Braun. After an inspection and a talk with the caretaker there I must revise my previous opinion on one phase of Hitler's life, namely, his relationship to women.

At Eva Braun's house I felt convinced there was some sort of bond between the former fuhrer and the former photographer's assistant. Hitler had a passion for art and architecture. Her library has many books on the subjects.

She appears to have entertained many of Hitler's personal friends, who then sent her books with inscriptions saying how much they enjoyed her hospitality.

But Hitler apparently sometimes gave her books intended for himself. I found a volume on the life of the composer Eugene D. Albert, by Wilhelm Raupp, with the author's dedication to Hitler.

An oil painting of Eva Braun showed a blue-eyed, blonde Gretchen-type of Teutonic maiden. The appointments of the house, which the housekeeper said Hitler had given to Eva, were in good taste. Nobody seems to know her present whereabouts.

Conference -

(Continued from page 1) tossed a potentially explosive proposition into the committee on trusteeships. This would commit the United Nations to the principle that colonial peoples should be assured of eventual independence — which could become a hot point of debate for empire nations.

American officials had hoped to avoid discussion of colonial questions here and to limit the whole problem of dependencies to that of setting up machinery for controlling former enemy territories.

British Papers See New 'Big Three' Meet

LONDON—(P)—London morning papers speculated Friday that Prime Minister Churchill, President Truman and Premier Marshal Stalin might meet soon to discuss European postwar problems. The papers disagreed, however, as to where they might meet.

The Daily Herald said Churchill was taking the initiative in arranging the conference.

The Daily Mail said Churchill was personally trying to break the deadlock over the Polish government and added that there had been several exchanges between the prime minister and Stalin.

(In Washington, White House aides said they had no information on any plans for a future meeting of the "Big Three.")

Maher's Day Programs To Be Held At Midland Churches Sunday

Special services have been planned for Sunday morning worship services in the churches of Midland in observance of Mother's Day. Sermon subjects and special music are to be in keeping with the observance, and several churches will have white and red flowers to pin on persons as they arrive in the vestibules.

Rev. Raymond Hall, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, will present a vocal solo at the services of that church and will use as his selection "Dear Little Mother." A recognition service has been scheduled, with tribute to be paid to the oldest, the youngest, the youngest mother, the youngest baby and the mother who has the greatest number of boys and girls in the armed forces.

A vocal trio composed of Mrs. F. C. Cummings, Mrs. D. D. Downing and Mrs. George Bennett, will present a group of Mother's Day and home songs at the services at the First Christian Church. A day of prayer will be observed, after which carnations are to be presented to gold star parents, those who have sons who were killed while in line of duty.

Forest Gambill will present a vocal selection in keeping with the Mother's Day theme at the Calvary Baptist Church Sunday morning. Awards will be presented by Rev. A. W. Smith, pastor, to the oldest mother, the youngest mother, and the mother with the largest family. "A Mother's Love" has been selected as the anthem at the First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. J. Norman is soloist and Mrs. R. W. Harris is organist for the anthem, directed by Merl Cornelius.

J. DeLo Douglas will present a vocal number, "My Mother's Prayer," by Weeden, as part of the special music for services at the First Methodist Church. Guion's "Prayer" will be given by the choir, and Mrs. Holt Jowell, church organist, has selected as the morning offertory, "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler. Music service will be conducted by Capt. Jehome R. Snyder, choir director.

PIANO RECITAL TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Mrs. Maude Leonard will present a group of piano and voice students in a recital Saturday at 8 p. m. at the North Elementary auditorium. A program including 20 selections has been scheduled.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE

By Virginia Chase

EVER since Mrs. Guptill had discovered the secret of the kerosene, she had taken it upon herself to mete out punishment. She saw to it that Mr. Cutter got the dregs of the coffee, the tail of the fish, the neck of the chicken. What was more, she put a padlock on the closet so that he had no more clothes.

I had my grudge against him, too. One day in reaching secretly for the register, I noticed that the copper paper weight was missing. To have asked him where it was would have been to reveal my own trickery. Besides, he wouldn't have answered.

"I believe he's put it away just to spite me," I complained to my mother.

"Nonsense," she said. "Some transient has picked it up for a souvenir. It didn't amount to anything anyway."

My mother might have been more sympathetic had not her mind been on something else.

One Saturday morning she had filled the oil stove, put in a new wick, and set it in the linen closet. On Sunday when she picked it up to take back into the bathroom, she found it dry. The wick had not even been lit. The stove held a gallon.

Suddenly a question had come to her. What did Mr. Cutter do with all that kerosene when he finished with it?

She went at once to his door and knocked. No one answered. She stepped inside. His chamber work had not been done. (Ada liked to leave it until last, so that she could dwell upon it.) The receptacles were all empty. The lamp was empty, too.

She looked around the room. There wasn't a speck of dust anywhere. The windows were clean; the brass plate on the chimney was shining. She looked in the closet. It was bare. (Mr. Cutter owned only the clothes on his back.) She opened the drawers of the bureau. The top one held a shirt and some underwear, neatly folded. The others were empty. She looked in the commode. Under the bed. Out the window. Everywhere. There was no sign of kerosene.

She called us girls together and took us into her confidence. We searched the cellar, the linen closet, the halls—everywhere he would have been likely to go. My mother herself searched the office. None of us found anything.

EARLY in March the weather moderated. It rained and at the same time grew very cold so that everything was covered with ice.

One morning Mrs. Guptill recklessly stepped into the back yard without taking time to put on her creepers. She had barely put her foot down before she slipped and sprained her ankle.

The sprain turned out to be a bad one. Bad enough to keep her in bed for a week, my father decided, or even longer if she didn't stay perfectly still. She made a terrible fuss when he told her. Who would get Jay off in the morning? Who would do the cooking and "planning" who would take charge of the 20 visiting Odd Fellows who were coming for dinner on Saturday? Here it was Tuesday.

We would find someone, my father assured her with more confidence than he felt. Help was hard to get especially at this season.

The second day passed without even a real prospect. Upstairs Mrs. Guptill was fit to be tied. Things were going to rack and ruin, she knew. There was no good, she said, in trying to keep it from her. Here it was Wednesday.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Guptill threatened that if we didn't have someone by night, she would come downstairs herself.

She meant it, too. Suddenly father had an idea. "I've got the very person," he said. "I don't know why I didn't think of her in the first place."

"Who?" my mother wanted to know. "We've scoured the town."

"Eunice Sawyer. Luther owes me $20. She was asking me the last time I saw her if there wasn't some way they could work it out."

"She'd be real good help," my mother agreed, "only..."

"Only what?"

"Nothing, only..."

MY father was getting provoked. He had his own hands full, and he considered this help-hunting a kind of personal favor he was doing my mother. "What's the trouble with Eunice Sawyer?" he demanded.

"Nothing," the trouble with her," my mother assured him. "I just wondered if she would be willing to come."

"Why shouldn't she be willing?" he demanded.

"No reason, I guess. Why don't you telephone her?"

He went into the office. In five minutes he was back again. "She'll let us know right away," he said. Actually it was an hour before she called back. She would see us through the Odd Fellows' dinner, she said, on condition that she could go home on Friday night. Her husband would have her back at 5 in the morning. She could come no other way.

That afternoon, my mother called us together. "Eunice Sawyer is going to help us out for two days," she said, "and I want you to be very careful not to let on that I ever told you about her having been friendly with Mr. Tapley. As I think it over, it was just gossip anyway and probably made up out of whole cloth."

"And something else," she hesitated and then went on, trying to be very matter-of-fact. "There is no occasion for Mr. Tapley's knowing she is here. After all, he is a boarder, and not in the least concerned with the running of this place."

"Yes, Mama."

"We hadn't been fooled."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

(This is the fifth of six articles discussing the suit direction convention.)

Suit directing is used not only to show an immediate entry card, but it is equally effective in disclosing which of two suits may be led safely by a partner.

The declarer played low from dummy on the opening spade lead and won the trick in his own hand with the ace. Two rounds of trump were taken.

On the second heart, East discarded the jack of spades. Now the discard of this high card, especially when the seven spot forced the ace, said to partner, "If you can get in, the diamond suit (the higher of the other two playing suits) will make the safest lead."

Well, as it happens, West has two heart tricks and without the suit directing convention might easily return a club, which would give the declarer his contract. You can see that the diamond return defeats the contract.

British Say No Truth In United Press Story
LONDON—(AP)—The British War Office stated Friday there was no truth in a United Press story of an alleged plot by German prisoners of war to stage a mass break and seize control of London last Christmas Eve.

The story, which had been held for some time, was finally passed by censorship because there was no longer any security involved, but a note attached in censorship advising the editor there was no truth in it. A War Office spokesman said.

The United Press in New York said it had not been advised of the War Office denial of the story and that there was no immediate comment.

'Double Murder' At Grocery Proves Dud

No double murder was reported at a Midland grocery store Thursday, despite a rumor which spread quickly among those in hotel lobbies and on the streets.

An officer was walking down the street when a friend asked him where he was going.

"Oh, just to see about a double murder at a grocery store," the officer replied in an off-hand manner, and went walking on.

That started it. Soon the "double

Brooklyn Dodgers Rate 'E' For Effort In National League

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Brooklyn's tattered Bums may not mess up the National League's first division for long but as of Friday the Dodgers rate a large "E" for effort.

Tabbed to spend the summer wrestling with the Phillies for a comfortable corner in the cellar shade, Leo Durocher and his gang in second place within rooting distance of the leading New York Giants.

It's a patchwork ball club with Outfielder Augie Galan playing first base and other positions filled by a delegation of citizens originally destined for the Montreal farm club. But it's winning, hitting often and not doing too badly in the field. Even Rickey Surprised.

Even Brother Branch Rickey must be surprised at the club's .272 batting average, what with Dixie Walker, the 1944 hitting king, at .254 and Augie Galan lower at .250.

Things were so tough that Durocher opened the season at second base, but aching muscles and appearance of a conditioned Eddie Stanky ended that. Stanky has not made an error in 98 tries.

Arrival of Eddie Basinski, ticketed for Montreal, shoved Mike Sandlock out of shortstop and set up a second base combination that has been clicking.

Then Luis Olmo, who had been benched for weak hitting, got back in the lineup and topped a good week with eight hits in a Sunday doubleheader, taking over the league lead at .396.

The Brooks' second western test with the Cards was rained out Thursday with all the other National League games and all the American contests except a night tilt in St. Louis.

Jack Kramer hurled the Browns to a second in a row over their first Eastern visitors, Washington, by a 10-2 score.

COOL WAVE BRINGS RELIEF

A cool wave brought welcomed relief to Midlanders who have been sweltering under 90 degree temperatures during the past week. The thermometer dropped to 60 degrees shortly after midnight Thursday. Thursday's high reading was 88 degrees.

said: "They are in no mood to use them, and we have more urgent things to do."

Numerous Germans arose from the beds in hospital field tents, some with arms upraised in stiff splints, some wearing pajamas — and hobbled down the road. All seemed terrified by the prospect of being overtaken by the Russians' motor patrols or Czech Partisans.

A number of American ambulances were ranging out this morning to pick up the most seriously wounded, injured and sick.

At the camps, Col. Morris was beginning the segregation of soldiers, civilians, families and women. Thousands of Czechs sitting on village curbs and even in rocking chairs on the street pavements watched the broken German retreat with grim satisfaction.

Only a few of the Germans were arrogant — most were bewildered and crushed.

Escaped Kansas Convict Is Captured In Texas

TOPEKA, KAN. — (P) — Guy Long Jr., 24, who escaped from a Kansas penitentiary April 6, has been captured at Greenville, Texas. Lou P. Richter, director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation, said Friday.

Long's wife, Martina Herklotz of Hays, Kan., in whom he married at Amarillo, Texas, was arrested Thursday at Durant, Okla., Richter said. She is accused of aiding Long's escape.

Long left a trail of stolen cars that extended through Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Richter said extradition of Long might be delayed because he is charged on eight counts of forgery in Texas. Long was serving 15 years for grand larceny.
