

WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

Mark beautiful, sunshiny Saturday, May 2, down as a black day in Texas political history. The apathy of the voters of Texas proved to be the undoing of Senator Ralph Yarborough in his bid for the Democratic nomination for his senate seat. Observers can come up with a dozen or so reasons why Yarborough didn't win the Demo nomination, but all of them take a back seat to the one we've already mentioned. Yarborough's potential voters simply stayed away from the polls because they were not alarmed enough to know what was happening to them and to their senator.

While it's too late to matter now, a lesson in elementary politics was learned ---- get out the vote! Yarborough's opposition was successful in doing just that.

The lack of interest in Saturday's election took us by surprise. We had no idea that people here, in the county and across the state weren't impressed and enthused as always about the primaries.

The Republicans, bless their hearts, didn't have much to vote on.

But for Democrats, it was different. We had the aforementioned senate race and to add frosting to the voter cake on the local level, we had a county judge's race. We thought those two alone would be enough to make for an "average" turnout. It just didn't happen that way.

It looked from here as if about one of three people voted who should have.

Even with no "local" race, we expected voters in Bovina's box to turn out in twice the numbers they did.

Incidentally, sympathetic congratulations are in order to the citizens of Bovina, Oklahoma Lane and Lazbuddie for favoring Senator Yarborough with their majority vote. These were the only three of eight boxes in Parmer County to give Yarborough the majority vote he deserved and, according to unofficial reports we've heard since the election, they were a part of just a few voting precincts in the entire Panhandle to support The Senator.

We're proud of Bovina, Oklahoma Lane and Lazbuddie! If this sounds like sour grapes up to now, so be it.

This department hereby extends a sincere, printed welcome to Dr. Hickman to this community.

Dr. Hickman became a Parmer County citizen last week as he took over Bovina Medical Clinic.

We're proud to have him as a part of the community and in charge of the clinic.

Our dealings with him have been brief and non-professional, but we've found him to be friendly, sincere and with an unusual knack for doing just exactly what he says he will. The thing we liked best about him was that he wanted to come to Bovina.

Aside from the just-past primary election, one of the things that's making people gripy, irritable and difficult-to-get-along-with in general is this stupid daylight savings time. Best we can figure, it's costing our good people two hours sleep each and every night. Due to the unnatural relationship that DST has created between the clock and the sun, folks get to bed an hour later and get up an hour earlier. And that much loss of sleep just doesn't add anything pleasing to personalities.

DST was no doubt designed by people who have different ways of doing things than we do in this area.

Best thing we've figured out yet about DST is that day come October or whenever we're allowed to change back to a more normal method. And the only bad feature to that is that by that time we'll be used to it by then and will have to make still another adjustment.

That Fall adjustment is quite a bit easier to take than the one in the Spring, though.

Wonder how many votes DST would get if we could have an election just about it alone?

Be glad, fellow Texans, that Ralph Yarborough will be your senator for the rest of this year.

Mother's Day Dinner Slated

A fried chicken dinner is scheduled to treat Bovina mothers this Sunday on Mother's Day. The event is sponsored by Bovina Lions Club and will be served in the school cafeteria from 12 noon until 1:30 p.m., according to Wayne Spears, Lions president.

Vernon Estes is in charge of preparing the meal. Tickets will be $5 per couple, plus $1 each for children. Lions are selling tickets in advance and they may also be purchased at the door.

Proceeds have been earmarked to finance the boys summer baseball program in Bovina, which is also sponsored by Lions Club.

This year the teams will be playing in affiliation with the National Little League organization. Equipment is needed for the teams here, for Pee Wee, Little League and Pony League.

A large crowd is expected to attend the dinner Sunday, since the annual event has been a popular one here each year.

R. Yarborough Carries Bovina

A total of 234 voters in Bovina went to the Democratic Primary polls Saturday, among 1512 in the county, and re-elected Archie Tarter county judge in the only county-wide contested race on the ballot.

Although Parmer County gave the nod to Lloyd Bentsen for U. S. Senator, Bovina voted for Ralph Yarborough, 126-101. County vote was 932 for Bentsen, 559 for Yarborough.

Seventy-four votes were cast over the county in the Republican Primary, with George Bush getting 44 votes to Morris 31 for the U. S. Senate.

In his bid for re-election as county judge, Tarter carried all boxes in Parmer County except Black and Friona. He defeated W. L. Edelman by a county vote of 964 to 537. Bovina went for Tarter 176-48.

In the commissioner's race, Precinct 4, Raymond G. Treider, Jr. won that election over J. D. Carpenter, 117-102.

All other county officials whose terms expired this year ran unopposed, including District Clerk Dorothy Quickel; County Clerk Bonnie Warren; County Treasurer Mabel Reynolds; Commissioner, Precinct 2, Charlie Jefferson; Justice of Peace, Precinct 1, J. R. Thornton; JP, Precinct 2, Frances Euler; JP, Precinct 3, Wilbur Charles.

Parmer County went along with the state in approving Bob Armstrong for commissioner of General Land Office, over Jerry Sadler and Fred Williams. Armstrong received 752, Sadler 524, and Williams 108.

In other state races, Parmer County approved Crawford C. Martin for attorney general over David H. Brown 666-369; Ben Ramsey for railroad commissioner over Connie Lawson 1025-328; James G. Denton for Supreme Court of Texas, associate justice, place 3, with 598 over Malt Davis' 407 and Hawthorne Phillips' 141.

Only race the county was out of step with the state was that for court of criminal appeals, but it was a close one here. Parmer County gave 587 votes to Earl W. Smith and 585 to Truman Roberts.

In Republican Primary, Bovina registered 17 votes out of the 74 total for the county.

In addition to Bush, Republicans okayed Paul Eggers for governor over Roger Martin by a 68-6 margin. Bob Price was re-nominated for Congress, 18th District, without an opponent.

With the results in from both party primaries, Governor Preston Smith will meet Paul Eggers in the general election; Democrat Ben Barnes and Republican Byron Fullerton for lieutenant governor; Democrat Crawford C. Martin and Republican Edward M. Yturri for

For Practice --

Dr. Hickman Arrives Here

Dr. P. C. Hickman, D. O., arrived in Bovina Thursday afternoon and has since opened practice at Bovina Medical Center.

He announces this week that he is establishing practice here for general medicine and surgery. Office hours at Bovina Medical Clinic will be from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays.

Dr. Hickman is 35 years of age and has recently completed his internship in Dallas and received his license to practice in Texas.

He succeeds Dr. Cornelius Blasius, who after 18 months here, moved to Dallas January 1 of this year to enter residency.

The clinic was built here at the end of the campaign of Bovina citizens to raise money for its construction. Indebtedness is currently about $4,000.

Dr. Hickman will practice at the clinic rent-free for the first six months. He will purchase CAP Set the equipment from Dr. Blasius through the board of directors of Bovina Medical Center.

For 1970 --

Name Senior Top Honor Students

Honor students of the 1970 Senior Class, Bovina High School, have been announced by Gary Cox, principal. The top five include four boys and one girl.

Steven Wiseman is valedictorian of the class with a four-year grade average of 88.64. Joe Don Stevens is salutatorian with 88.61.

Next in line is Stuart McMeans with 87.56; Doris Corn, 87.19; and Randy Barrett, 87.16.

The students will participate in graduation ceremonies for the class on May 22.

Honor guard for the Senior Class each year is the high ranking boy and girl from the Junior Class. These include Sheryl Moore and Doyle Merrill. The seniors will select ushers from the Junior Class. Parents of the valedictorian and salutatorian are Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Wiseman and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stevens. The next three in line are sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McMeans, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Corn, and Mr. and Mrs. Monty Barrett.

Cox said the students are named on the basis of grades for the entire four years in high school. Scholarships will be awarded the top two students, and the high-ranking girl.

Finish County Census

The 1970 United States census in Parmer County was completed Friday, according to Mrs. Ann Corn, who has supervised the nose-count here.

Her reports were finished and mailed to Amarillo that day. A report is expected in the near future, possibly this week, on statistics gathered from the census, taken in the U. S. every 10 years. However, Mrs. Corn said her job has been terminated and does not know to whom the report will be made.

However, Mrs. Corn says there are some who think they have not been counted. Those who have not been counted, but still have their census blanks are asked to fill them out and call Mrs. Corn during the morning hours. Anyone else may also contact her.

If census blanks appear in newspapers of the area, these may also be used and mailed to her or address appearing on blank.

CAP Set Meet Here

The Community Action Program board in Bovina will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in St. Ann's Parish Hall, according to Lorenzo Granado of the office here.

Everyone is invited to attend, Granado said.

TPEA Okays Pay Benefits

AUSTIN -- "State employees should receive equitable pay and benefits comparable to Federal employees performing the same duties," announced Donald J. Frye, president of the Texas Public Employees Association after a board meeting April 20 when the 13 member board of directors unanimously endorsed TPEA's legislative program.

"There are many cooperative programs in Texas between State and Federal agencies where State employees are being paid less than Federal employees for the same job responsibilities," Frye said.

"The State currently lacks in its Classification Plan a provision for merit and longevity money. This should be a policy as it enables management to recruit and retain employees in careers for State government," stated TPEA's president.

"Although there is presently enabling legislation, funds should be appropriated to provide monies to pay the hospital

Discussion Held For Fine Arts

About 45 or 50 people from a five town area met in Farwell Monday night to hear pros and cons of a Fine Arts Council for Friona, Muleshoe, Farwell, Lazbuddie and Bovina. Mrs. Emily Whitesides, associate Director of Texas Fine Arts Commission, was present to talk to interested persons about the project.

She felt it might be more expensive than thought locally to affiliate the program into the school systems and that one or two appearance programs might be more feasible.

A steering committee was appointed to meet in Bovina in two weeks to further investigate the possibilities of a Fine Arts Council. Representing Bovina will be Mrs. Cap Naegle and Don Spring. Two people from each of the other towns involved were also appointed to the committee.

Marriage Licenses

Two permits to wed were issued from the office of Farmer County Clerk Bonnie Warren last Wednesday, April 29, including permits to Earnest Britten Clark and Mary Lois Nelson, and to William Frederick Steinbock and Helen Burnice Cunningham.

McMeans Breaks Record

Stuart McMeans broke the state record this weekend at the state qualifiers meet in Lubbock in his event, 330 low hurdles.

Even so, he came in fourth place, but not behind other Class A contenders. On top of that, according to Gib Hough, Stuart fell down going over one hurdle.

He ran the race in 38.4. The state record is 33.6. However, Coach Hough expects the state record to be reset this year below Stuart's time Saturday.

Pre-Register Six-Year-Olds

Next year's first graders will be pre-registered at Ridgelea Elementary School by their parents or guardians beginning at 1 p.m. Thursday, according to Wilson D'Cuffa, elementary principal.

All children who will be six years of age on or before Sept. 1 will attend the first grade next year should be signed up, D'Cuffa said.

Children will meet at the homemaking cottage that day, while the parents register them at Ridgelea Elementary. Members of the homemaking classes will stay with the children during the afternoon.

D'Cuffa asked that parents bring a list of immunizations the children have already received, as well as their birth certificates.

He urges all parents that have children in this category to register them on that day. D'Cuffa will be at Ridgelea Elementary until 3:30 p.m. Thursday for that purpose.

Former Resident --

Irving Lauds Dottie Stark

Mrs. Dottie Quicquel Stark of Irving and formerly of Bovina has been placed in nomination for the Altrusa Service Award for her work in the field of special education.

Mrs. Mary D. Lankford, who made the nomination, said "It is almost the 'in' thing now to be involved with the mentally retarded, but Mrs. Stark was serving in this area long before the need was really recognized."

Mrs. Stark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Quicquel of Bovina. She is a graduate of Bovina High School, received her bachelor's degree from West Texas State University and her master's from North Texas State University.

She is currently director of special education in the Irving Schools and has spent 11 years assisting children and parents with the different, difficult problems found in the special education field. Mrs. Stark has worked with the Irving Association for Retarded Children and the Council for Exceptional Children.

On the state level, she has served as president and secretary for the council for Administrators of Special Education; served five years on the Governor's Planning Committee to develop an educational program for special education; and is a member of the National Board for Selection of Audiovisual Materials for the Handicapped.

The nominee is a member of Soroptimist Club; served as president during the year of American Association of University Women; has been elected as a life member of Parent Teachers Association; and is a life member of Texas State Teachers Association.

In making the nomination Mrs. Lankford said, "To be dedicated in an area where most of us want to turn our heads away takes a special person. I know that Irving is fortunate to have the services of Mrs. Stark. Children who need special kinds of education may never be able to acknowledge their thanks to Mrs. Stark, therefore I think the citizens of Irving should show her that her work is appreciated."

For Diocese --

Council Hears Guidelines Set

Guidelines pertaining to social problems of the diocese were presented at the spring meeting of the General Assembly of the Diocesan Pastoral Council Sunday, April 26, on the campus of Wayland Baptist College.

Dr. Hubert Oppe, chairman of the Social Action Commission, listed channels for Catholics in the diocese to use to inform themselves on existing social problems and suggested ways for them to work with all citizens toward solutions.

Four delegates from St. Ann's Parish attended, Gene Brito and Joe Schilling from Bovina, James Ball and Leroy Berend of Friona, Rev. Norman Boyd and Mrs. Ben Rejino attended as visitors.

Opening remarks were made by Bishop Lawrence M. DeFalco D.D. and Mike Mahoney, chairman of the steering committee.

Some of the recommendations made by Dr. Oppe in reaching solutions to social problems included membership and participation in PTA's and similar organizations pertaining to schools where children are enrolled and taxes paid. He said members of the diocese should make an effort to become acquainted with top school administrators and members of the school board; that a maximum effort be made by teachers, school administrators, school boards and others to assist potential school drop-outs; and to teach and inform all people of the importance of the ballot box in bringing about change where necessary.

Other business on the agenda were reports by the president of the Priest's Senate, Rev. Thomas McGovern. He praised the Pastoral Council, saying it is the only one functioning in Texas.

He said, "We are unique." Dr. McGovern stressed the need of all clergy and laymen working together to make this a better world for all mankind to live in.

Closing remarks were made by the Bishop, who thanked all delegates for attending.

Cook's Corner

MRS. LESLIE MCCAIN

Although adept in turning out good results from any recipe, Mrs. Leslie McCain says her family is happiest when beans and potatoes are on the menu. She has had most of her experience in the kitchen on the McCain farm west of Bovina, where she has also learned the ups and downs of being a farmer's wife.

Born at Pep, Mrs. McCain was raised at Pettit where her father owned a grocery store and hardware store. She had never been exposed to farm life until marrying Leslie.

After graduating from high school at Pettit, Rose, as known by Bovina area residents, attended Draughon's Business College. She then began working at South Plains Hospital and Clinic at Amherst where she received her training as LVN and was employed by the Amherst doctor for three and one-half years.

While working there she met Leslie on a blind date. They married three months later in 1951 in Levelland Baptist Church. They built a new home in Littlefield, but in 1953 bought land west of Bovina and moved here.

McCain was reared in Paducah, finished high school there, attended Texas Tech, then served in the Seebies.

He has farmed all of his life and since moving here, has continued to add to his farming operations.

The McCains have two sons, Benny, a freshman in Bovina High School, and Butch, a sixth grader. Both boys are avid athletes and are also interested in singing.

They are members of the First Baptist Church. McCain is also a member of Masonic Lodge and she is an Eastern Star.

This week's cook enjoys "going" more than any other other hobbies, although she collects coins, plays volleyball, is a sports enthusiast and likes hunting deer. One of her favorite past times is sending cards to friends and acquaintances.

Four of her recipes follow.

Mrs. Buck Ellison is the contributor for the following bit of information:

This is a story of a young bride who asked her husband to copy a recipe being related on the radio. He did his best, but got two stations at once. One station was given the recipe and the other, the morning exercise program.

He took this down.
 Hands on hip. Place one cup of flour on the shoulder. Raise knees and depress the toes. Mix thoroughly in one half cup milk. Repeat six times. Inhale quickly one-half teaspoon baking powder, lower the legs and mash two hard-boiled eggs in a sieve.

Exhale. Breathe naturally and sift into a bowl.
 Attention! Lie flat on the floor and roll the whites of three eggs back and forth until it comes to a boil. Remove in 10 minutes from the fire and rub smartly with a rough towel. Breathe naturally. Dress in a warm room and serve with fish soup.

Roy Donaldson couldn't believe his eyes Friday. For the first time this year, the elementary physical education and junior high track coach, didn't have to postpone a track meet because of weather.

At least four or five were pre-empted this year by snow, rain or such.

Anyway, as usual, a good time was had by all --- especially by the kids, who really look forward to the event each year.

Now that it's over, the youngsters are already wondering "what to do."

Don't look now --- but it may be Spring. 'Course, nobody's promising anyone it won't snow. It did that in May back in 1966. We remember, because Bovina had been our home only two or three months.

Never will we forget that beautiful tree blooming under the snowballs in Mrs. Maccon's yard. We say "snowballs" because that's how it fell -- in great clumps of wet snow.

"Resources and Renewal" is the theme for Soil Stewardship Week - May 3-10, 1970.

Soil, water, plant, wildlife, and other resources need to be continuously renewed, as intended by our Maker.

Within this century and especially during the past 10 years, the approach to soil stewardship and resource management has been undergoing change and renewal at an unprecedented rate.

Consider some of the things that have caused this trend:

1. Increase in population - causing more demands on our land and related resources.
2. Emigration from farms and rural areas to the towns, cities and suburbs.
3. A shift of conservation votes to cities and suburbs.
4. Mounting pressures on resources, causing erosion, waste, pollution and litter.
5. Environmental quality has become a national goal.
6. Programs to attack poverty and hunger in rural areas.
7. The principles of ecology, stressing the vital interrelationships of all resources and the people who use them, have been increasingly recognized.

8. Conservation districts and other groups have enlarged their horizons, broadened their leadership, and strengthened their capabilities. All these changes have afected our resource effort. They have given a new look to the single-purpose conservation programs of a generation ago. In the current renewal, the nation finds itself moving swiftly toward a more unified, multi-purpose resource stewardship. With its broader base, it not only holds promise of larger service to man, but greater response to man's resource responsibilities under God.

Disposal --

Feedlot Waste Brings Problem

The Texas Panhandle and nearby areas is rapidly becoming the beef center of the nation. Along with this growth comes the problem of solid waste disposal.

Parmer County's feedyards have the annual sewage equivalent to a city of more than 3 million people. If the manure was applied to the land at a rate of 10 tons per acre, the waste from the county's feedlots would cover about 30,000 acres of land each year, or all the irrigated land in the county once every 12 years.

The problem is what to do with this much solid waste. Research studies are underway at the Agriculture Research Service's Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland to find ways to get rid of feedlot manure.

One of the most promising ways of manure disposal is "manure farming" -- applying maximum amounts to the land and still raise a crop. So far, economics has been a limiting factor; in most cases, commercial fertilizer is cheaper for the farmer.

Burying the manure in a landfill has also been suggested; this method, however, is not desirable due to the possible pollution of underground water supplies.

So, while the research goes on, feedlot operators, too, will keep on looking for ways to safely dispose of the by-product of their industry.

Challenge In 1970's

Soil and water conservation districts face an enormous challenge in the seventies, according to Gary A. Batte, District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service.

"Districts are broadening their services to help with the growing problems of our environment," Batte said. These problems of our environment include air and water pollution, overcrowding in the cities, threats to our wildlife, need for outdoor recreation, and attractive surroundings.

"It's a sure thing that rural development will be the 'in' thing during the seventies," Batte said.

In Texas nearly 80 per cent of the people live on 2 per cent of the land. Nationwide, 70 per cent of the people live on 2 per cent of the land. Texas now has approximately 11 million population. This is expected to climb to 15 million in the next few years. Where will this additional four million live? The only space left is the country.

Orderly development of rural areas is a must, and locally-run soil and water conservation districts are in a prime position to help. Decisions on land use will need to be made. The location of housing areas and industries may well depend on information available only through local districts.

Locally led conservation programs have dramatically reduced many forms of pollution and have improved the quality of our environment, according to Clyde W. Graham, head of the Soil Conservation Service for Texas.

"Many of us who have been concerned with conservation for a long time find it a little startling that our goals of conservation, purer water, and a better environment are now in the middle of a national crusade," Graham said. "Reforestation, establishing grasses and legumes, terracing, and other conservation practices installed by Texas landowners have had a big impact on pollution abatement.

The SCS has been giving technical assistance to local soil and water conservation districts with conservation programs since 1939, according to Graham.

"Sediment, for example, is the largest pollutant of water," Graham said. "Sediment washes from unprotected land into streams and lakes. The soil particles can carry disease and wastes, ruin fishing, and increase the cost of purifying water.

"More than 30 years of conservation work by the landowners of this country has greatly reduced the volume of soil washing from rural lands," he continued.

Graham pointed out that a large portion of sediment pollution today comes from urban construction sites, roadbanks, parking lots, and other nonfarm uses. He said many conservation practices that are effective on farmlands can also be used to curb nonfarm erosion.

"Air pollution from agricultural sources is a rare, localized problem now," Graham added. "But wind-blown soil from farmland once polluted the air on a grand scale.

"Clouds of dust blew from land that has been mismanaged and over-used, darkening the skies over Washington, New York, and other eastern cities.

"Air pollution of this magnitude has been eliminated by conservation programs. Permanent cover, tree windbreaks, wind stripcropping, and better management in many ways are keeping the landowners' soil at home -- and out of the air.

"Burning woodlands, prairies, and crop residues once sent natural plant nutrients up in clouds of smoke that blanketed the countryside in some parts of Texas for weeks at a time," Graham said. "Now, thanks to enlightened conservation methods, indiscriminate burning is no longer practiced. This source of pollution from our farmlands has been almost eliminated.

"Some people may be surprised to learn that conservation farming reduces the need for chemical pesticides and herbicides which are sometimes guilty of air and water pollution," Graham continued.

"Crop rotations are used to conserve and improve the soil and fight insects, weeds and diseases," he explained. "Certain plants kill nematodes, for example. A rotation to include these plants will help control nematodes.

"The conservation farmer strives to reduce soil loss and runoff," Graham said, "and this reduces the likelihood of fertilizers and chemicals washing into streams and lakes.

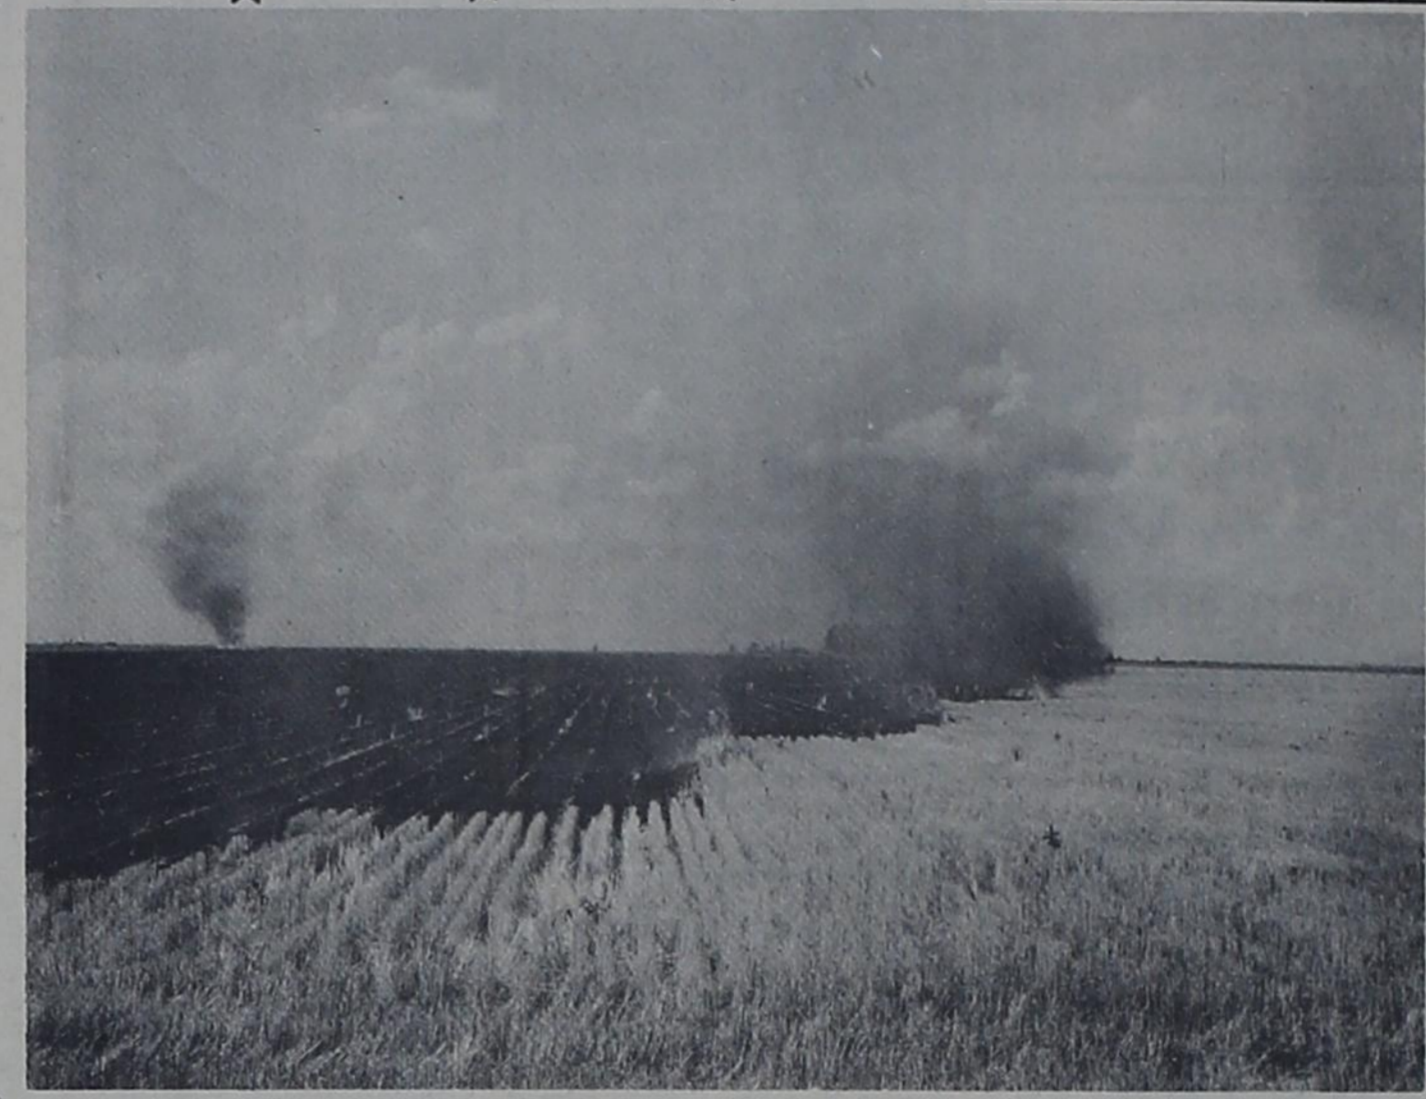

"New ways are being found to use or dispose of wastes that once went into streams. Wood chips, fruit processing plant wastes, animal by-products, and a long list of other materials are proving to be useful as soil conditioners or fertilizers," according to Graham. He said the whole concept of conservation is founded on planning for the protection and improvement of the environment -- a positive approach. A good example of the positive approach may be seen in the Texas Hill Country. Ranchers are joining with ornithologists in a program to inventory and preserve nesting sites for a songbird of limited range -- the golden-cheeked warbler. SCS land-use information is helping locate stands of ash cedar, which the golden-cheeked warbler must have to build his nest.

"This is a unique example of planning ahead to avoid detrimental activities," Graham said, "but the same positive principle can be used in planning for recreation, industry, housing developments, and the like. Such planning should begin with the land and its related resources."

Graham said that most conservation work is done in rural areas by farmers and ranchers -- but that the technical help that has been proven successful in rural programs is also available for nonfarm use.

State, County --

Matching Fund Aids District

The Parmer County Commissioners' Court took a step forward for conservation this year by appropriating $2400, annually to help pay for the operations of the Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District.

This action was made possible by a recent state law which also provided state money to match the county funds. Until this time, the district had no way to raise money except through donations and advertisements.

The Commissioners noted that conservation benefits all taxpayers in the county -- both farm and city people alike.

The district is using the money to help pay for awards, conservation educational material for schools, scouts, and other organizations, newsletters, annual reports, meeting expenses, promotion of Soil Stewardship Week, secretarial help, and many other activities needed to carry on a strong conservation program in Parmer County.

There are 41 other counties in Texas, besides Parmer, that are now providing similar assistance to their Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Four 4-H's Go To State

Four Parmer County 4-H members won the right to compete at State 4-H Round-up June 3-5 according to Janice Miller, County Home Demonstration Agent and Ronny F. McNitt, County Agricultural Agent. Deborah Harding won second place in the Food and Nutritional Activity; Darwin Green won first in Farm and Ranch Management; and Steven Kaltwasser and Kevin Kaltwasser won first in Beef Cattle Business Junior Symposium.

These 4-H members competed in district contests May 2 on the West Texas State University Campus. Members from the 22 county area of Extension District I participated in the annual contests.

For Boys 9 to 12 --

Pitch, Hit, Throw Sign-Up Begins

With the opening of the 1970 baseball season, all boys age 9 through 12 will be given the opportunity to participate in the first Pitch, Hit, and Throw competition sponsored by big league baseball, announces H. J. Charles, Phillips 66 dealer here.

Registration began April 7 and will continue through May 16. All boys entering will have a chance to show how well they can handle a baseball and bat and will be given an opportunity to represent Houston at the Major League All Star Game in July.

Registration and entries will be accepted from April 7 through May 16 at any participating Phillips 66 dealer. In Bovina, these include Charles Oil Co. and Northside 66 Service. A parent or guardian must accompany the boys to register. The competition is free. All a boy needs to compete is the desire to win. Everything else is provided -- balls, bats, targets, measuring tapes.

Each boy who registers will receive a free Pitch, Hit and Throw "Tips" booklet which gives him the lowdown on how to get in shape for the competition and turn in his best performance.

Every boy who participates in the Pitch, Hit and Throw competition has an equal chance to win since he competes only against boys in his own age group. Points are awarded for each ball he can pitch into a target, for the distance he can hit a fair ball, and for the distance he can throw a ball down the foul line.

Thousands of boys will compete in local competitions all across the country, and every boy who participates receives an official PH&T participants patch. Each local winner receives a PH&T plaque, a baseball warm-up jacket and winner's patch. Each district winner and one parent will travel to a major league city for the next level -- the division competition.

Each division competition will be held in a major league ball park on the field before a game. The four top division winners, one in each age group, representing the American League and the four top Division winners representing the National League will advance to the National PH&T Championship to be held at the All Star Game on July 14.

Each of the eight finalists and both of his parents will attend the banquet of champions prior to the final event as guests of Phillips Petroleum.

Phillips 66 Dealers of America and the American and National Baseball Leagues are sponsoring the Pitch, Hit and Throw competition nationally.

Before planning all of your menus for May, check the plentiful foods list. Each month the USDA furnishes us with a list of foods that are in abundant supply and should be lower in price than foods not so plentiful. This month the features are canned tomato products, Other ample supplies include milk and dairy products, eggs, dry split peas, canned applesauce, canned fruit cocktail, canned green beans, and canned and frozen corn.

May is Senior Citizen Month all over the country -- for the eighth time, it honors those people 65 years and older. Some of the aims of groups working on the needs and problems of the aging are to help familiarize senior citizens with services from government, private and educational institutions and to encourage home, school, church, community, state and nation to take heed of the senior citizen and his worth in our society.

About 250 students from the third through sixth grades participated in the Elementary Track Meet here Friday, held in conjunction with the annual school picnic.

Roy Donaldson, physical education instructor who directed the meet, said he was pleased with the smooth way the meet went off this year, mostly because of cooperation of students staying in the stands, and assistance by Bovina faculty members.
