Show Girl Is Held In Navy Officer Shooting

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 27-year-old night club hostess and show-girl was held in $300 bail Monday pending investigation of the shooting of Cmdr. Charles S. Osborne, 27-year-old Fort Worth, Texas, Naval officer.

A further hearing was set for November 2. "Why have a further hearing for me? I didn't do it," Helen Joyce Cook of Long Island, N. Y., said. "We need to get his side of the story," Assistant District Attorney Edward Swartz replied.

Commander Osborne, 27, was taken to the Philadelphia Naval Hospital after the shooting Sunday night. His condition was described as serious.

Detective George Anderson said he asked Naval Intelligence to take a statement from Cmdr. Osborne, who was quoted by the detective as saying he was shot accidentally when a .35-caliber pistol he was handling was discharged.

Cmdr. Osborne has been stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard since Sept. 14.

Jury Picked In Frazier Murder Case At Stanton

Marion Wilhart Frazier, 18-year-old Montague County youth, went on trial in district court at Stanton Monday morning on a charge of murder in connection with death of Jewel Revis Treadwell, whose bullet-pierced body was found February 15 under a culvert on Highway 80 ten miles east of Midland.

A jury for the case was selected at the morning session of court and testimony was being heard at the afternoon session.

Frazier has been held in the Midland County jail since his arrest the day after the body was found, except for a short time he was out on bond.

Shell To Drill 3 New Prospectors To Ellenburger

BY JAMES C. WATSON, Oil Editor
Shell Oil Company, Inc. has filed applications with the Railroad Commission to drill an Ellenburger wildcat in West Ector County, and outposts to an Ellenburger discovery in that same area, and also to a lower Ordovician discovery in Southwest Andrews County. Drilling on each of the three deep explorations is to start immediately.

Shell No. 2 A. E. Thomas, 644 feet from west and 1,989 feet from north lines of southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 28, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, is approximately one mile south of Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, second Ellenburger producer completed in the TXL pool.

Shell No. 2A A. E. Thomas, 664 feet from north and 2,005 feet from west lines of section 8, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, is a short distance southeast of the company's No. 1-A Thomas, initial producer from the lower Ordovician in the TXL district.

Both projects are to drill to 10,000 feet, or Ellenburger pay. Shell's No. 2 Ratliff and Bedford, 100 feet from north and 660 feet from east of section 4, block 73, ps1 survey, in Southwest Andrews County, will start drilling immediately to 12,000 feet.

Southeast of R&B
The location is 1,867 feet southeast of Shell and The Texas Company No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, discovery for four pays — and now preparing to test the Ellenburger, and complete after flowing from the Devonian on a dual-completion program.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 38-X Means, in northeast corner of section 9, block B-35, ps1 survey, in North Andrews County, was conditioning drilling mud, after a drillstem test at 13,962-14,393 feet, in an unidentified formation.

Packer failed after tool had been in the hole 36 minutes. Recovery was the 5,000-foot water cushion, 360 feet of drilling mud, and 1,990 feet of salt water.

No Oil Show
There was no show of oil, and only a slight show of gas. Shutin pressure was 7,500 pounds and flowing pressure was 3,400 pounds.

Humble No. 1 Cowden, in section 35, block X, CSD&RGNG survey, in East Crane County, was coring from 7,947 feet. A core at 7,830-47 feet, recovered 11 feet of lime, two feet of shale, and another two feet of lime.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Coble, in tract 34, league 63, Hardeman County School Land survey, two miles south of closest prospect.

Seven Persons Marooned On Island As Eight Rescued

By The Associated Press
Eight of 15 persons marooned on an island in Lake Texoma, near Denton, were rescued Sunday night but the 73-foot Moulton, damaged while going to their aid, had to be beached.

The Moulton is the largest boat on the lake. It is operated by the U. S. Army Engineers. It struck a log during the storm and water poured through a rent in the side. It had to be beached in Mineral Bay six miles north of Denton.

Meanwhile, other boats Monday are attempting to remove the other seven marooned persons. The weather had cleared with a low temperature of 45 degrees, although the lake is still rough.

Stormy winds which swept a cold norther into Texas Sunday began to subside Monday. But the mercury remained low.

Alvin Miller of Madill, Okla., and his brother, Alvin Miller, of Conroe, Texas, were drowned. A ten-foot wave capsized their 14-foot boat. They clung to the boat for some time but high waves finally brushed them off.

Alvin Miller's body was recovered Monday, but a search is continuing for that of Volney Miller. Alvin had been released from the Navy two weeks ago, and had been attending a family reunion at Madill.

Light in most areas. Wettest was Houston with 47 inch. Corsicana reported 50.

Winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour were common over the state Sunday. Fort Worth got a dust storm and Dallas got hail.

A tornado struck Pittsburg, injuring 14 persons and knocking down 25 homes.

Pittsburg Monday considered relief measures for tornado victims. Two Red Cross representatives were on their way to the area. Early Sunday night, following a two-inch rain, the tornado lashed out a path in the vicinity of the Northeast Texas community. The injured listed were farm families, most of whom were hurt when their homes collapsed. The tornado carried one automobile four miles.

One Critically Injured
Critically injured was Sam Bynum, a farmer found in a ditch with a possible skull fracture. Injured in the collapse of homes were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fulmer and daughter, Fulmer's sister, Mrs. Polly Fulmer, Mrs. and Mrs. Tom Lamar and Mrs. Nancy York.

F. L. Martin saw the tornado coming. He wrapped his wife and daughter in blankets. The Martin house was destroyed but the family escaped injury.

PARIS (AP)—France's first general election in nine years placed an almost unqualified stamp of approval Monday on General De Gaulle's plans to found a Fourth Republic on a new constitution drafted by the people's chosen representatives.

Figures announced by the Ministry of the Interior Monday morning, 12 hours after the closing of the polls, showed that De Gaulle had won an overwhelming victory in a two-pronged election which decided that:

(1)—A constituent assembly—designated at Sunday's election—will draft a new constitution rather than attempt to rebuild the government on the 1875 document which was the foundation of the Third Republic.

(2)—The executive power will be vested in a provisional government during the seven months the assembly sits rather than in the assembly itself.

Official results from 84 of France's 92 departments:
In favor of a new constitution, 13,887,082; opposed, 554,750.
In favor of an interim government, 9,582,210; opposed, 4,841,249.

The question of writing a new constitution was supported by all political parties, but the Communists—aided by the radical Socialists—had opposed De Gaulle on the interim government issue.

Midland County went into the final week of its Victory Chest campaign Monday still $6,955.45 short of its $23,077 quota. R. J. Dickey, campaign chairman, announced.

In the first three weeks of the campaign $16,411.55 in contributions were made to the chest. Since $13,077 of this amount goes to the National Victory Fund only $3,334.55 is left to carry on Boy Scout and Girl Scout activities in Midland County.

"If the county is to meet its quota more than $1,000 a day must be contributed this week by its citizens," Dickey pointed out.

The quota is not obtained by Boy Scout and Girl Scout activities of the county will suffer just at a time when they are more important than ever," the campaign chairman declared. "A contribution made now is a contribution to the welfare of the youth of our county."

Contributions can be made with Ralph Barron, treasurer, at the Midland National Bank.

TELEVISION STATIONS TO GO ON AIR IN 1946
WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Communications Commission experts forecast Monday a "fairly good number" of television stations will go on the air during 1946.

Within four weeks FCC hopes to announce rules and regulations for television broadcasting.

The next step will be to process the 140 pending television applications. Their station construction can get under way.

Revolutionist Cabinet Controls Venezuela After 3-Day Fight

CARACAS (AP)—A cabinet pledged to democratic ideals took over the reins in oil-rich Venezuela Monday under sponsorship of a revolutionary junta which stamped out all important resistance to its coup d'etat in a tumultuous weekend of armed conflict.

Respectable Romulo Betancourt, 37, a former newspaper columnist, assumed the dual role of president and minister of the interior with a pledge that his government had assumed power only to provide Venezuela with "free, direct universal suffrage by secret ballot."

Betancourt promised that Venezuela would take an energetic part in preserving hemispheric unity.

"We want to be good neighbors not only on Pan-American Day, with flowery words and phrases, but in deeds as well," he said.

The new president, a one-time Communist who later renounced the party, announced that his government would respect the rights of foreigners and their investments.

The last major opposition to the new regime ended Sunday as the Andean states of Tachira, Merida and Trujillo swung over to the rebels. Resistance also ceased in the mountainous state of Zulia, whose oil fields are the basis of Venezuela's economic life.

Fighting ceased when the government announced it was not opposed to the Andinos, a western military clique which has dominated national politics for a century.

A small force loyal to deposed President Ismael Medina Yangarita still held out in the southeastern section of Caracas but junta leaders predicted its speedy liquidation.

Plans Trial for Medina
The new government promised "fair and speedy trials" for Medina and Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras, whom revolutionary leaders accused of malfeasance of public funds.

An investigation into the affairs of other former public officials was underway and Dr. Leonardo Ruiz Fineda, secretary of the junta, said other trials might result if evidence shows they enriched themselves at public expense.

Ruiz Fineda also announced that the new government had abolished press censorship for the first time in Venezuela's modern history, started reorganization of the police force, and would begin preparation of a new election law.

He said the national assembly would draft a new constitution to provide a universal secret ballot and would meet in April to set a date for a general election.

Americans Dodge Bullets In Caracas As Gun-Toting Looters Ramsack City

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—While gunfire rained on the streets of Caracas, looters ransacked the city, and steel fragments caromed through doors and windows, Americans caught in the bloody revolutionary coup crouched in barricaded hotel rooms through three days and nights of terror.

That was the picture brought back Monday by refugees from the Venezuelan revolt, first to arrive in this country since violence flared in the South American nation Thursday.

"The nocturnal and boisterous who broke loose Friday were the worst," said Miss Mary Francis, attorney from Oklahoma City who, with about 100 other Americans "sweated out" the revolution at the Avila Hotel.

"I say boys 15 and 16 carrying carbines—and they were a trigger-happy bunch," she related.

Miss Francis said the Caracas police force, which remained loyal to the government, apparently had been wiped out.

"Some capitulated finally and came out with their hands up—but they were shot down anyway," she said.

Miss Francis, a pilot herself, commented that their planes "dropped hand grenades chiefly but didn't appear to be hitting anything important."

Bombing Accurate
Bombing was too accurate at Maracay, airport center just outside Caracas, for Mrs. Madge Davis who admitted she "cried through the whole thing in a hotel room along with two weeping American mothers, San Angelo and San Antonio.

Wind Velocity Goes To 52 Miles An Hour
Colder temperatures and high winds were brought to Midland Sunday by a cool front which moved from Lubbock to Midland in two hours. The winds attained a velocity of 52 miles per hour in Midland at 1 p. m., and the mercury fell from 58 degrees at 8 a. m. Sunday to a low of 36 degrees at 7 a. m. Monday.

The city will enjoy pleasant mild weather Monday and Tuesday with the temperatures being slightly warmer Tuesday.

Sunday's high winds were not Midland's exclusive property as the same conditions were reported at Amarillo, Gainesville, Abilene, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, San Angelo and San Antonio.

New Unrests In South America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal Monday declared the proposed merger of the War and Navy Departments is "revolutionary" and "un-sound."

Bluntly opposing the War Department, the Navy cabinet head offered the Senate Military Affairs Committee a substitute postwar plan for the armed forces.

The Navy plan called for continuation of present War and Navy Departments and an creation of a national security council. This would be composed of the present secretaries of state, war, and navy with the chairman of a proposed national security resources board as fourth member.

The President of the United States would preside as commander-in-chief.

Truman Brought In
"Backers of the merger count on President Truman's throwing his weight behind the idea.

Chairman Hill (D-Ala.) recalled in a discussion with reporters that Truman publicly championed unification of the armed services when he was a senator.

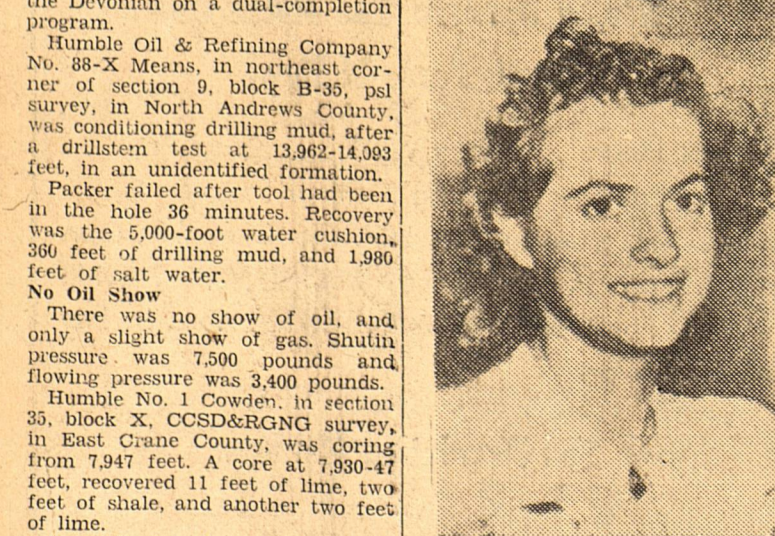

"Mind you, I'm not attempting to say what his views are now but what they were when he was in the Senate," Hill cautioned.

Hill recently visited the White House to talk over his measure with the President.

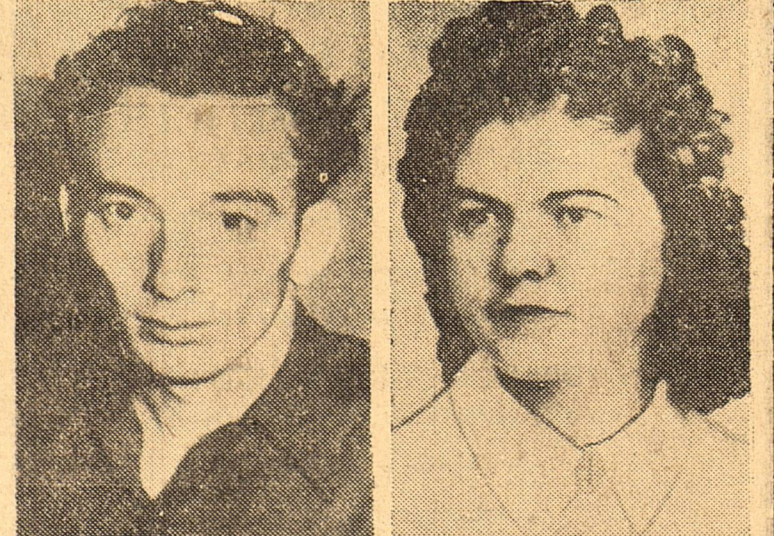

Secretary of War Patterson, General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the Air Forces, have endorsed it enthusiastically.

Selling Our Surplus Ships

American operators of shipping lines are, to quote one of them, "shocked and alarmed" at Reconversion Director Snyder's recommendations for disposing of surplus government-owned merchant ships. Their concern seems justified.

In a letter to Chairman Bailey of the Senate Commerce Committee, Snyder asked that the pending ship sales bill be amended to allow foreign competitors equal opportunity with American lines for purchases and trade-ins. He also asked that foreigners be permitted to charter American vessels.

Snyder's motives are undoubtedly sound. He defends his proposals by saying: "We live in a world in which our own safety and prosperity are directly dependent on the maintenance of friendly relations with other countries and on their economic progress as well as our own."

That is true enough. But there is a possibility that, with Snyder's program, we might be furthering foreign economic progress at some expense to ours. For what appears to be an equal opportunity for foreign and domestic purchasers is actually an advantage to the former, since operating costs of this country's merchant marine are higher than those of any other.

Further, our "surplus" of merchant ships is more apparent than real. Much of it is in Liberty ships. These small, slow, outdated vessels could not be operated profitably by Americans in international competition, and it is unlikely that any other nations would want them.

The question then would seem to be whether we wish to ask our own shippers to compete in the open market for modern-type ships which foreign purchasers, with their low wage scales, could operate more cheaply.

The answer to that might be different if we had monopolized prewar shipping. But the prewar dead-weight tonnage of our merchant fleet was less than half that of Great Britain. And only about 25 per cent of our prewar foreign trade was carried in American vessels.

Our Maritime Commission does not want to monopolize the transportation of world trade. It does not want to compete for trade between foreign ports. But it does feel that American ships should carry at least 50 per cent of American trade.

Among this country's current problems is that of finding jobs for many experienced merchant seamen. This means finding cargoes for American ships. And neither jobs nor cargoes will be forthcoming if foreign competitors can offer equally fast service at less cost.

In addition to this there is the necessity of keeping an adequate merchant marine as an important part of our national defense. The beginning of the recent war found our shipping in deplorable condition. That risk should not be run again. One way of avoiding it lies in giving our shippers first choice of what they and the country need.

They're All Human

The bulky literature on how to treat the returning veteran has recently been augmented by an analysis by Gen. Jacob Devers. He says, in effect, that servicemen will return to civilian life in better shape than when they left it, and that we should all avoid "cautious, kindly and condescending attitudes" in dealing with them.

With all respect for this distinguished commander, it would appear that he has added just one more misleading generality to the general confusion on the subject. His sweeping assurance seems as over-simplified as the earlier, opposite prediction that every veteran was a potential or actual psychoneurotic.

It should be apparent by now that servicemen are not a race apart. They are just as dissimilar a group of human beings as when they went off to war. That is not to say that there have been no changes. Some have been injured physically or mentally or spiritually. Others are emotionally unharmed. It's obviously impossible to lump them into a class. And stay-at-homes who try to do so, and attempt to mold their attitudes and behavior according to somebody's general prescription, will surely be doing a disservice to some veterans of their acquaintance.

Straight Talk From A German

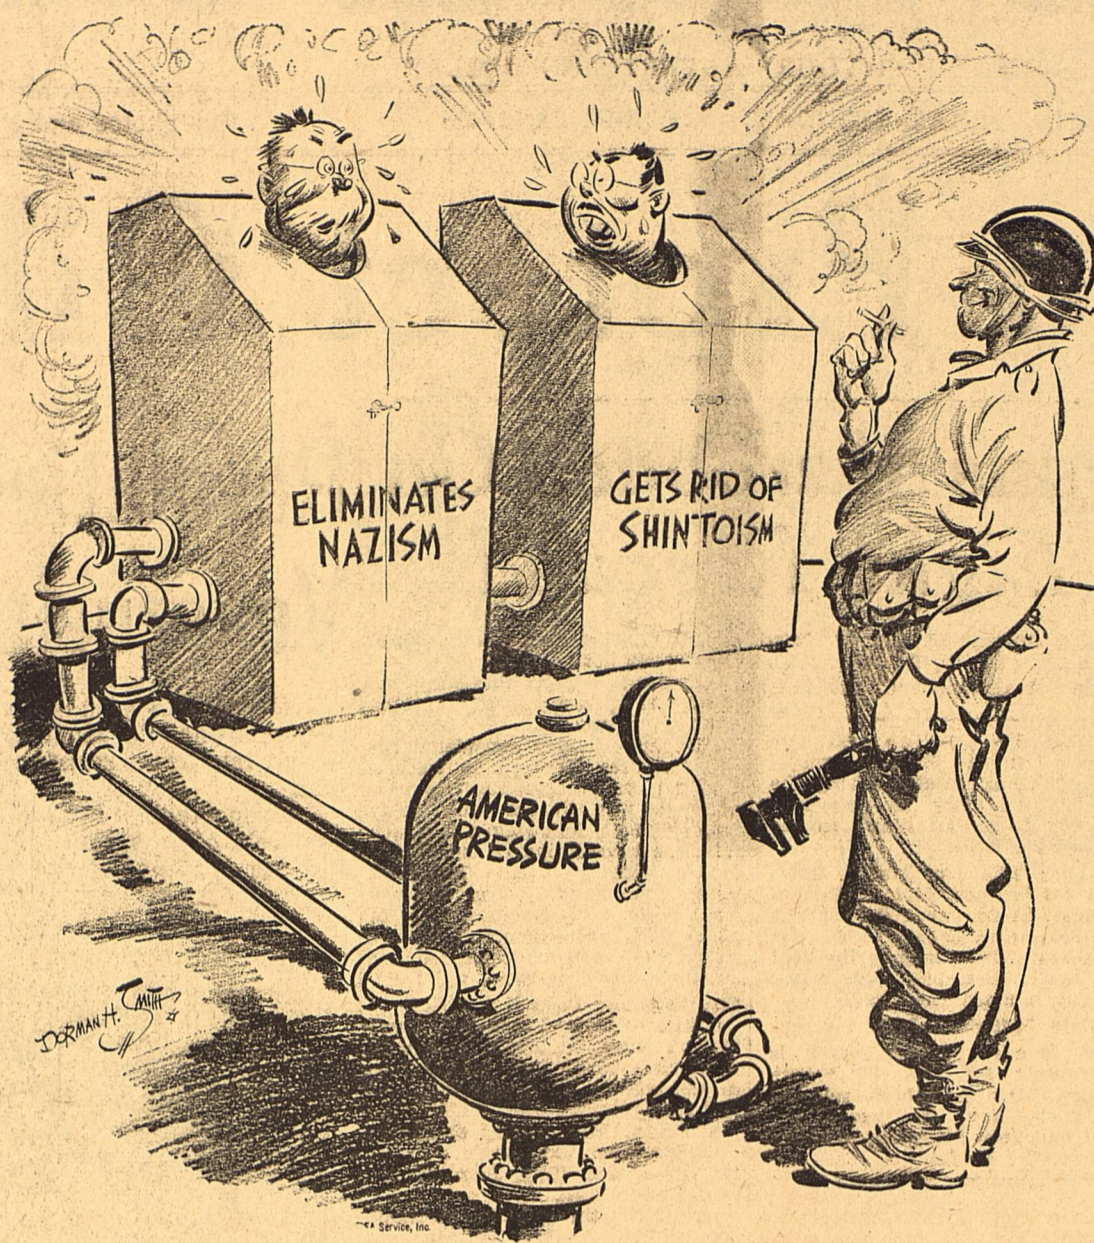

One apparently repentant German offers no cause for immoderate joy. But when the German is the mayor of Frankfurt and he is talking the sort of talk he did to a sizable radio audience of his countrymen, there is some hope that the long process of German reform is getting under way.

The mayor did an about-face from the prevalent German practice of buck-passing and told his listeners that there must be an atonement of the whole people. He pointedly reminded them that Hitler's Nazi party was supported by 90 per cent of the voters in the 1937 Reichstag elections.

That is something which the Germans in defeat would probably like to forget. But the fact remains that nobody forced Nazism on them. Among their last free acts was their support of the regime in two elections. They forged the chains for their own willing necks. And no amount of consequent suffering or present self-pity can deny it.

Perhaps if enough responsible Germans speak out as plainly as did the mayor of Frankfurt, the masses will be forced to admit their own full responsibility for their present plight and act in a way that will prevent a repetition.

Guaranteed To Reduce The Power To Make War

Discharges Are Offered To AAF Aviation Cadets

FORT WORTH—Approximately 30,000 aviation cadets and students who have not begun actual flight training have been offered the alternative of obtaining immediate discharges from the Army or transferring to an enlisted status. Also affected by the directive from Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the AAF, are approximately 4,000 cadets now in flight training or temporarily withdrawn from such instruction. Men in this category are being asked whether they wish to continue their flight training, apply for a discharge or revert to an enlisted status.

Information in the directive has been sent to all stations involved from AAF Training Command headquarters here.

In a letter accompanying the certificate each cadet will fill out, Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the AAF Training Command, commended the men for their patience and loyalty.

Only Volunteers Eligible
The new policy concerned only men who volunteered for cadet training from civilian life and who qualified for advanced training in medical and psychological tests.

Men who have been eliminated from any phase of cadet training for a cadet, academic or physical deficiency, or unsuitable habits or traits of character, are ineligible for the discharge option.

General Arnold's directive was prompted by the war's end and the subsequently lessened need for trained aircrew personnel. Since all the men affected by the new policy volunteered for the Air Forces with the understanding that they would be given the chance to complete a course of flight training, the AAF is now offering them the opportunity of returning to civilian life.

Those electing to leave the service will be discharged with the grade of aviation cadet.

The group of 30,000 who have not started actual flight training is made up, in part, of those now in preflight school and graduates of the preflight phase, including men now in the maintenance and inspection course of flight engineer training.

Quotas Reduced
It also includes all men now serving as on the line trainees and former on the line trainees who were relieved from pre-aircrew status without prejudice since V-E Day because of reduced quotas and later transferred to technical or gunnery schools.

The approximately 4,000 men being asked whether they wish to continue flight instruction are those already in the flying phase of pilot, bombardier, navigator, advanced flight engineer or radar observer night fighter training.

Also eligible to resume their course, obtain a discharge or transfer to an enlisted status are those men who were withdrawn from a flying phase of training after Aug. 14 of this year when they elected not to be retained in the postwar Air Force, provided they now elect to remain on active duty until June 30, 1947, or for the duration of the emergency and six months whichever date occurs sooner.

AAF Headquarters pointed out that those choosing to be discharged must await their turn to be transferred to a separation base, and that in many cases their actual release may not be effected for several weeks.

It also was explained that discharges who are qualified for overseas duty and have had less than two years of service are subject to reinduction, but that draft boards would not take such action without the specific permission of the director of Selective Service.

SUCCESS AND TRAGEDY

THE Colon season opened with a really fantastic bill—far more important and costly than the previous year. The Argentines had made so much money on the World War, they did not care what anything cost them.

I had one success after another from the very first night and was treading on air. All the teamwork I had done the previous year at the Colon and during a short engagement with Nemanoff at the Empire was a perfect base for us to work on. He was just a little taller than I, and though not handsome, made a magnificent appearance on the stage. He was powerfully built and as fair as I was dark—always an interesting contrast for dancers. I was also having a personal success, with all the admirers I could possibly want and a lot I did not want. When I looked in retrospect at the last six months of my life, I could not believe that I had ever been so weak and stupid as to have got myself involved in a marital tangle.

Because I could find no hotel both good and inexpensive, I found a tiny house on a quiet street close to a shady park where I could have all the animals I wanted without interference and a large studio where I could install a piano and practice. Number 1420 Juncal was the address of this house which was very lucky for me and became quite famous in Buenos Aires.

I did not dare to write mother that I was actually living all alone in my own house and did not think it was diplomatic to tell father either, but of course I wrote the entire story about Leslie to him. He replied saying that the subject of my marriage was very painful and that he would prefer not to hear or write any more about it.

LIFE was very pleasant in Buenos Aires that year—I don't remember a dull moment. I was making and saving money. My only extravagance was the parties I gave in Juncal for my fellow dancers. I got on well with all of them and we had some riotous times on beer and sandwiches, generally after the show—for we were all too serious to think of letting any amusements interfere with our work.

Many of the girls in the ballet had got themselves tangled up in sentimental complications, but I always steered clear of anything of the sort. Although I never used my husband's name except for business purposes or told anyone except my best friends about my marriage, I felt I owed him at least enough respect to keep myself to myself and concentrate on the work I had left him for.

I gained more confidence in myself as the season went on and began to think seriously about trying out an idea I had for a ballet. I made a plan of it and showed it to a good friend of mine, Auguste Mauraage, a composer and concert violinist of outstanding merit. He had come to the Colon, first as first violinist with Saint-Saens and then with the Pavlova company. He liked my idea so much that, after studying it, he said he would write the music and we would produce it together if it was successful. We worked on this ballet "Farlequin Noir" in my studio, and I designed the decor and costumes and planned out the choreography with Nemanoff.

THE season of the Colon was to finish in Buenos Aires with some "farewell" popular functions, and rumors had been flying about ever since Rio that, in spite of the colossal success, everything was not well and that Bonetti had been losing money. It seemed incredible, for the Colon had been packed for every show. Bonetti undoubtedly had a terrific salary sheet to cover, and I suppose the general intake was not up to his expectations. We continued working unusually late in the season, giving command performances for the Presidents of Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bonetti were worried about something, I could tell, and I felt terribly sorry for them—they were such a grand couple. Some of the big stars who had earned thousands of dollars sulked and muttered in corners about the Bonettis' being broke.

The climax came when the season in Buenos Aires was nearly over. I was up in the wardrobe room with Madame Bonetti one afternoon, checking ballet costumes that were to be sent back to Italy, when her son came running upstairs looking for her. After talking to him she turned white and asked me to accompany her. We hurried down to Mr. Bonetti's office. Stagehands and the office personnel were standing about looking scared. I felt a chill creep over me when Madame Bonetti tried to open the office door and found it locked. She could get no answer from within, so young Bonetti, nearly beside himself, broke down the door. Mr. Bonetti was unconscious in his chair, with a loaded revolver clenched in his hand. He had suffered a stroke at the precise moment he was about to pull the trigger.

The Bonettis were ruined, and there was nothing for poor Madame to do but take her sick husband and, together with her son, return to Italy. Mario Carelli remained to close the Colon. I never heard what happened to the Bonettis except that they sold their home to pay up everything they owed, and that Mr. Bonetti was an invalid.

America's Heart Authority

Maurice Sackett, Mus. 2/c, recently sent me some interesting hands played aboard the USS General G. M. Randall. Tournament bridge players take their duplicate games right into the war zones.

In this hand, Sackett made a difficult six no-trump contract. After winning the opening club lead with the nine-spot, he returned a club. East won and led the suit back, dummy discarding a spade. West had let go two diamonds, from which Sackett judged that West's distribution might easily be 4-4-4-1. He led the three of hearts, won in dummy with the queen and returned the heart deuce. West played the nine-spot. Sackett was confident that West also held the heart jack and, unwilling to chance a break, he finessed the ten of hearts. The diamond finesse worked, and the queen of spades dropped doubleton.

Sackett certainly played his luck for all it was worth to make the contract.

Waxahachie Plans Big Welcome For Tiger Hero

WAXAHACHIE — (P) — Paul Richards, who got his start in baseball on "the nation's most famous high school team," comes back Tuesday to receive the acclaim of his home town as a World Series hero and Waxahachie's outstanding sports figure.

The big catcher, key man in the Detroit Tigers' drive to an American League championship and victory over the Chicago Cubs in the big series, will be honored with an appreciation banquet, receive an award and be lauded by athletic directors from over the state.

Richards played with Waxahachie High School in 1924, 1925, and 1926 when the team had an unbeaten string of 65 games competing over a four-state area. Seven of its nine regulars went into professional baseball. Among them were Art Shires and Belve Bean, who started in the big leagues but whose strings ran out a number of years ago. Richards is the only one left of that start brigade now in the pro game.

TCU Wins Hard-Fought Game Over A&M

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs narrowly missed being beaten by a determined Texas A. and M. team in Fort Worth Saturday. Proof of the Aggies' determination is the score board in the background. The score is TCU 13, A&M 12, it is the 3rd quarter and the 3rd down on the TCU 1-yard line. Robert Goode No. 44 of A&M started for the TCU goal line and just one yard short of victory dropped the ball. Arrow points to ball, which is still in the air. TCU took over on their 20-yard line and went on to win. Final score TCU 13 A&M 12.

Sergeant And Wife Who Married Again Reunite

DENVER—(P)—The sergeant who was believed dead and his 19-year-old wife who had a mixed marriage annulled were happily reunited and planning Monday to return soon to their Kansas City home.

"Everything is all right," said Sgt. Gene Birdwell, who was found alive in a Japanese prison camp 12 days after his wife, thinking he was dead, married his uncle at Wichita, Kans. The uncle was Jack Marshall. That marriage was annulled.

The soldier and his wife, Ann, affectionately met again at the railroad station Saturday night when she arrived to be with him while he gets a checkup at Fitzsimons General Hospital.

Although he expressed dismay when he first learned of his wife's second marriage, the reunion brought kisses and smiles. "It's all right now," the sergeant said.

Birdwell, an aerial gunner, had been reported killed in action.

Kicking Points After Touchdowns Valuable In Southwest Contests

By The Associated Press. There is plenty of scoring in Southwest Conference football but the old reliable point after touchdown still is quite a necessary article in a team's repertoire.

The place-kick figured most prominently in three of four games played by the conference last week. Texas Christian triumphed over Texas A. and M. 13-12.

Texas, of course, didn't have to worry about points after touchdown, although Tom Harrell plunked four between the crossbars as the Longhorns smashed Arkansas 34-7.

Texas Christian has a fellow who makes points after touchdowns and field goals a necessary art. He is Harry Mullins who beat Texas and Rice last year to bring the Horned Frogs the title and who has kept T.C.U. in the race this year the same way.

The famous King Tutukhamon ("Tut" to Americans) whose tomb was investigated in 1922, is thought to have been about 12 when he was crowned.

Bulldogs To Clash With Abilene In Midland Friday

Midland High School's Bulldogs, victors over Big Spring last week, 9-6, will play host Friday to the Abilene Eagles, who showed a return to power in defeating the Lubbock Westeners 12-6 on the weekend. The contest Friday is a District 3-AA conference affair.

The Bulldogs rate higher than Abilene in the District 3-AA standings, the Eagles having lost their only conference game to Odessa, while the Bulldogs hold a 500 percentage in losing to Sweetwater and winning over Big Spring.

The Bulldogs began the school year as a pre-season District 3-AA favorite, but the Taylor County boys have not fared so well in their five games to date.

Historical Records Even. Midland and Abilene have won three games each in six contests played since the district was organized in 1939.

Table showing historical records between Midland and Abilene from 1939 to 1944.

Highland Park To Play Wichita Falls In Top Schoolboy Grid Clash

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF. Associated Press Sports Editor. The Texas schoolboy football race has arrived at that point when "crucial" conference games appear on the schedule.

It is a big week in title play with the top game in the Houston district where unbeaten Milby and San Jacinto meet. Not only are these two undefeated in conference battle but they have unbeaten records in season campaigning.

Eger and Amarillo clash in the major game of District 1 being together teams undefeated in title play. It is the same in District 3 where San Angelo tackles Odessa and District 5 where Paris engages Sherman.

Port Arthur vs Galveston. St. Champion Port Arthur goes up against a tough eleven in Galveston as the defending titlists of District 14 open the conference race.

The outstanding game of the state is an interdistrict affair with Highland Park (Dallas) playing at Wichita Falls. This contest will match two of Texas' eleven undefeated, untied teams.

In the schedule of 50 contests this week, 32 are conference affairs involving 15 of the 16 districts.

Rolling into the stretch are these undefeated, untied elevens: Pampa, Plainview, Wichita Falls, Odessa, Paris, Highland Park, Brownwood, Cleburne, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville. All except Lufkin have games this week.

Pampa plays Brownfield, Plainview clashes with Lubbock, Brownwood tackles Mineral Wells, Cleburne meets Ennis and Brownsville plays Brownwood.

Four teams are undefeated but have been tied. They are Austin, San Jacinto, Port Arthur and Galveston. Port Arthur and Galveston play each other, San Jacinto engages Milby and Austin takes on San Antonio Tech.

Americans -

Clark Brown, Allentown, Pa., business man, said suddenness of the revolt caught Venezuelans and visitors unaware.

"The sound of gunfire was the first indication of revolution," he said. "There had been unrest but the outbreak was not expected so soon."

Brown and others among the 15 persons who clipped into Miami from La Guaira, said that widespread looting and sacking of homes of prominent persons and liquor and jewelry stores followed the outbreak.

He attributed the pillaging and the deaths of many persons in Caracas to "irresponsibles" who took up arms and roamed the city in the confusion of the revolt.

Brown said estimates of the dead in Venezuela as a result of the revolution "ranged from 2,000 to 9,000 when he left Sunday morning."

Court Gives California Time On Coastal Suit

WASHINGTON —(P)—The Supreme Court gave California an opportunity Monday to answer a Justice Department suit which seeks to establish federal rights to oil and minerals in off-shore lands.

The court asked the state to show by Dec. 28 why the tribunal should not permit the department to file a complaint against California.

Shell To -

(Continued from Page One) duction on the west side of the Lovelland field in West-Central Hockley County, was on total depth of 4,951 feet in tan dolomite, and was preparing to bail and test.

Operator reported there was 800 feet of fluid in the hole. Content of the fluid was not reported — at least a part of it is oil.

Garza Gets Another. J. T. O'Neal, Lubbock, has filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 K. Stoker, a wildcat project in Central Garza County.

It will be 330 feet from south and east lines of the west 80 acres of the southeast quarter of section 1238, block 16, K. Aycock survey, abstract 615. It is to go to around 3,000 feet, and is northeast of production in the Garza field.

Corrigan and Crump No. 1 Nystel, Southeast Terry County exploration in southwest corner of section 8, block 38, ps1 survey, had penetrated below 4,540 feet, in lime, and was continuing.

Carl B. King Drilling Company, and others, No. 1 Santa Fe, in northwest quarter of section 29-98-37e, in extreme Northeast Lea County, New Mexico, was drilling ahead below 4,300 feet in San Andres lime, topped at 4,170 feet, on an elevation of 4,000 feet.

Signs In Williamson. Stanoliand Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Williamson, in northeast corner of section 5, block 45, TP survey, 7-1-N, Ellenburger wildcat in the North Goldsmith area of Northwest Ector County, was coring from 7,081 feet in lower Permian.

A core at 7,068-81 feet recovered 13 feet of lime with scattered streaks of slight porosity and slight oil stains. The zone being penetrated is probably the same as the producing formation in the Union field in Northwest Andrews County.

Shell No. 1-A Slaton in southwest quarter of section 16, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, and an outcrop to Ellenburger production in the TXL area of West Ector is bottomed at 9,336 feet, in dolomite, preparing to run casing.

Some indications were developed in coring to the present level. It is probably in the Ellenburger, but no official top of the formation has been reported.

Pumping From Silurian. Stanoliand and Shell No. 1 Waddell, in section 8, block B-7, ps1 survey, in West Winkler County, and northwest of production in the Wheeler-Ellenburger pool, was testing the Silurian section on the pump, after treating that formation at 9,270-9,457 feet, with a total of 6,000 gallons of acid.

Operator reported to the Railroad Commission that the well was pumping at rate of 150 barrels of oil daily following the acid. Production before the treatment was negligible. It may be re-acidized.
