Going Back To The Wild West Days

It is quite doubtful that any movie scout or Hollywood Producer would have given even a second look at the cowboy and his horse pictured here. They seem a far cry from the likes of Gene Autry and Champ or Roy Rogers and Trigger but when all was said and done, they could do miracles on the range and in the rodeo arena in comparison to the two stars named above.

The rider holding his guitar, which incidentally he could play, is the late Frank B. Reynolds of Haskell who was an early day wild west show producer, business man and rancher. After the days of the wild west shows in which he rode broncos as "Slim" Reynolds, he also produced several rodeos in the town of Haskell at the old Fair Grounds about where the Railroad Museum is now located.

The picture was taken in 1917 and probably just before he entered the service of his Country during World War I. The old horse he is mounted on could easily be a replica of "Old Hub" legendary cutting horse that won the Cowboy Reunion Rodeo in Haskell in 1898 at the ripe old age of 22 years.

James (Sonny) Reynolds of Haskell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Reynolds, will serve as honorary arena director of the wild west show slated to be held here on the nights of June 25th and 26th under sponsorship of the Bicentennial Committee and the Haskell Jaycees.

Brooks Middleton, well known Haskell rancher, cowboy and businessman, will act in the capacity of arena director at the old time show which will be staged in the manner of the wild west show of over fifty years ago.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM

BY
Belton Duncan
MAYOR OF HASKELL

Older people represent a vast reservoir of talent, experience, and wisdom—natural resources that are valuable contributions to their communities and State.

The City of Haskell urges all communities, clubs and churches to provide opportunities for older people to continue to use their talents and abilities; and urges all older people to become more involved in local clubs and city, to take an active part in affairs which affect their well-being and independence. We all stand to gain from sharing our concerns, using the resources available through older people and working together to build a better society for all persons.

Therefore, I, as Mayor of Haskell, Texas, do hereby designate the month of May, 1976 as and urge all citizens of the City of Haskell to honor their fellow citizens who have contributed so much to building our society, and provide opportunities for older people of our city to give of their time and talents to participate actively in the decision-making process, and to remain in the mainstream of life.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 1st day of May 1976

SUPER BASS MAY BE AWAITING YOU AT AMISTAD LAKE

If you are an angler who has always been tempted to try your hand in a bass fishing tournament, but never have, perhaps you should consider entering the competition at Amistad Recreation Area the weekend of May 15-16.

To enter this tournament on the beautiful National Park Service administered lake near Del Rio on the Mexican border, you don't need to be affiliated with a bass club. All you need is a $40 entry fee and a partner. And your spouse will do.

Patsy Cooley, spokesman for the sponsoring Del Rio Chamber of Commerce, said the third annual international partnership bass tournament will begin at 6:30 a.m. May 15 and she's expecting a field even larger than the 174 teams that competed last year.

Mrs. Cooley said that if you're good, or lucky, you could win a first prize of $1,000. The runnerup team will receive $500 and even the team that finishes 30th will get the $50 back, which is a $10 profit if you get your entry fee in the mail by May 10. (Late entrants must pay $50 and you can register even on the day the tourney starts).

And there's a $200 prize for the person who catches the heaviest bass each day.

Mrs. Cooley, a bass angler herself, said Amistad is her favorite lake, and she's a little sorry she won't be able to compete in the tournament. But she said that she would like to see a good turnout. "Last year we had 25 or 30 women entered and women are getting into bass fishing tournaments more and more," she said.

Good sportsmanship, courtesy, safety and conservation are stressed in the competition that specifies that all angling must be done from boats.

There is a 20-fish limit per partnership.

Mrs. Cooley said all fish weighed in become the property of the Chamber of Commerce. That's so there will be plenty of fish for the fish fry to be held Saturday night after the weigh-in. Of course, if you catch Super Bass, don't be alarmed. They won't eat him. They'll let you keep him for mounting.

Amistad is a great lake for family fun. Take along the entire family, even if they aren't anglers, and let them hike, swim, camp or enjoy nature walks and talks. Then go to the fish fry together. Fishermen and their families will be served free and first.

And have a SUPER trip in search of Super Bass—that is, Safely, Use, Preserve and Enjoy the Resources at Amistad.

Attends Three Day Conference

Mrs. Duward Campbell, Coordinator of services for the aging, attended a three day, state wide conference last week in Fort Worth for training in the Services for the Elderly. The conference was sponsored by the Center for Studies in Aging, North Texas State University, Denton, Tex.

She attended workshops in Physical Activity for Senior Citizens. The stress and building of exercise programs both for active and semi-active citizens were presented. She also attended workshops for designing service programs for minority elderly. Included in these workshops were financial planning; old age insurance and supplementary security income.

Stress was placed on nutrition and proper diets, and planning food budgets on limited incomes. Lodis Rhodes, Ph.D., Professor, University of Texas School of Public Affairs presented a look at two food delivery systems that could offer a lot meal of a balanced diet to insure a better nutrition program for elderly that live alone. It was pointed out that many elderly, due to a lack of money for a proper food budget and lack of interest in preparing food for one, suffer from improper diets and malnutrition.

Sunday School Class Has Reunion

The Hazel Reynolds Sunday School Class held its annual reunion dinner, Friday night, April 30, 1976 in the First Baptist Church Annex.

Hassie Couch, vice president, presided in the absence of Stella Trice who has a broken collar bone. After Mrs. Couch welcomed members and guests, all joined hands and May Belle Taylor gave the invocation.

The head table was covered with a hand embroidered linen cloth made in Portugal and belonging to Miss Taylor. The table was centered with a white candelabra containing tiny red, white and blue flowers and tiny flags. Other tables were covered with white cloths and centered with spring flowers of red, white and blue. The napkins also carried out the Bicentennial theme.

Mattie Merle Felker presented the following slate of officers for the coming year, Frances Lane, president; Mattie Merle Felker, vice president; Ruby Smith, and Lola Henshaw, secretary-treasurer. They were elected.

Ozelle Frierson presented the Memorial Service for deceased members. Nettie McCollum read the minutes for last years meeting and gave the financial statement.

Several years ago this organization set up a Memorial Fund in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Hazel) Reynolds and for several years have paid for one year's schooling for a girl in Brazil.

For sometime, plans have been in the making to perpetuate this fund. Virgil Reynolds, Austin, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds explained some of the aspects and Ben Charlie Chapman explained the legalities involved. The organization voted to have Mr. Reynolds take charge of the proposed plan.

This will widen the scope of funds denoted and also the work that could be done with the money. Ruby Smith was appointed Memorial Chairman and anyone wishing to contribute may do so by writing her at Box 402, Haskell.

Besides Mr. Reynolds and Judge Chapman guests were Hazel Womble, Abilene, Marguerite Jordan, San Antonio, and Mrs. Dick Andrews, Haskell.

The group sang "The Lily of the Valley", Mrs. Reynolds favorite song and closed the meeting with singing "The Evening Prayer."

The Easter Seal Society estimates that more than 100,000 handicapped persons are locked into unemployment by lack of accessible transportation. If they could get to job sites, they would earn more than $452 million, thereby reducing welfare costs by $49 million and increasing federal income tax revenues by $39 million.

Old Timers Enjoy Annual Get Together

The Pinkerton, Whitman, Foster and all Haskell County Old Timers, enjoyed an evening of fun, and get-together and visiting at the Haskell National Bank Building.

A large crowd attended and was registered by Mrs. Doc Pointer of Rule, Texas.

The long tables were well laden with delicious food. When time came to serve the meal, the president, Floyd Norman, Rule, called the house to order.

He asked Mr. Blake Johnston of Maintou, Okla. to return "thanks" for the bountiful meal. We enjoyed the fellowship and eating with old friends of long ago. We always have new faces, each year. People attended the reunion from all over Texas and Haskell County, various towns in Oklahoma, Kansas, and New Mexico.

Mrs. Angie Mullino entertained the members with her harp. We always enjoy this part of our program, and hearing her play the "Old Time Waltzes" and "Little Brown Jug".

These numbers were so popular 50 years ago. As Senior Citizens of today we still appreciate the old songs and music of yesteryear. We had a short business session, with the president Floyd Norman presiding. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Claude Ashley, read the minutes of the last meeting. She also gave a financial report. A collection was taken to help with our finances of next year.

We will meet again next year in the same place. After a late hour, we adjourned and said goodbyes until we meet again next year.

REDDY'S HELPFUL TIPS

- Distribute unfrozen foods evenly throughout the freezer. Foods freeze faster if they are not stacked in one section.
- To conserve energy, freeze no more than 10% of the total freezer capacity at one time. Label packages to conserve door-open time. Date and rotate packages so you use the older ones first.
- Defrost promptly—frost build-up of more than 1/4" makes cooling units work harder—they use more energy and wear out faster.

The accommodating little blue-eyed blonde who often greets you at the statement window, and helps you open your Safety Deposit Box, is Brenda (Mrs. Jimmy) Bynum. She is one of Haskell National's "newer" employees, starting work in October of 1975, in the bookkeeping department. Her employment came at a very opportune time, since her previous two years experience at Security State Bank in Big Spring, helped tremendously in the conversion of the bookkeeping department to computer.

Brenda and Jimmy, and daughter Michelle, reside at 1205 N. Avenue F, in Haskell. Jimmy is associated with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Bynum in Bynum's Furniture and Hardware Store. Brenda graduated from Colorado City High School and attended Howard County Jr. College in Big Spring, and Jimmy is a Haskell High graduate. They attend the First United Methodist Church in Haskell, and are active in numerous activities.

Haskell National feels that employees of Brenda's Caliber have added much to its continued growth, and helped in the continuous struggle to progress into the Computer Age.

Mental Retardation

Editor—This is one of a series of articles about Mental Retardation prepared by Mrs. Eugene Cochran and the Public Education Committee of the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens.

Are community based residences feasible for all levels of retardation?

Yes. The experience of other states and countries in providing community residence for severely and profoundly retarded persons has proven that it can be done successfully and economically. Further more "most retarded men and women are capable of setting life goals and communicating their desires and aspirations. Even non-verbal children and profoundly retarded adults can often participate in decision making and goal setting if given a legitimate opportunity."

Will small residential services cost more than our current state institutions?

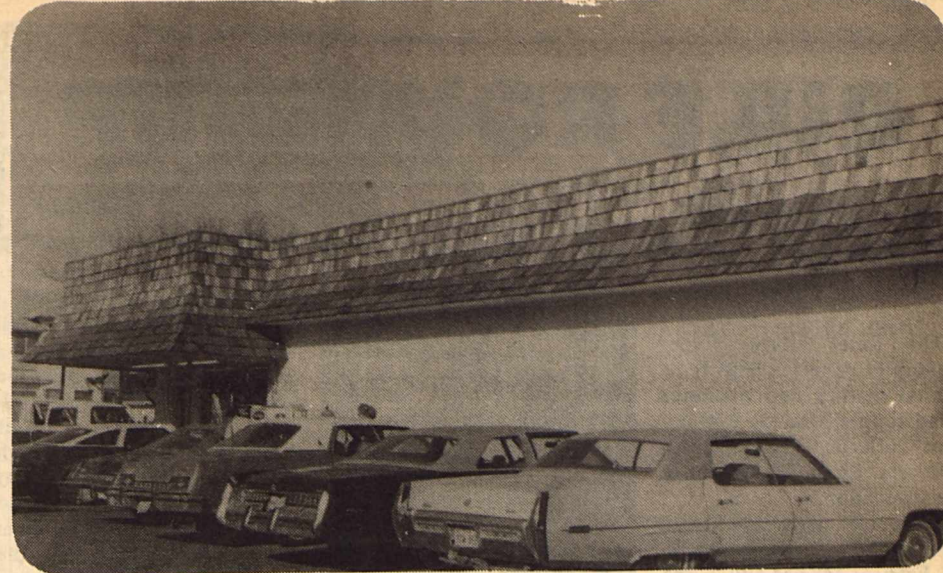

On a per person basis, small residential services cost approximately one-half to one-third as much as the cost of a resident of a large institution, depending on the individual's needs. This figure does not include, in the case of retarded individuals able to work, income from jobs which could be used to pay expenses nor does it include taxes generated by this income. (Statistics from the Right To Choose—NARC;

What benefits in particular would parents of retarded persons receive from small homes?

In addition to having to drive only relatively short distances to see their child, all parents could continue to be

THE NEW LOOK at Lane Apparel in Haskell shows the Western look. A number of the Haskell businesses have undergone repairs in the last few weeks and Bill Lane has come up with a new look for his store.

THE NEW M-SYSTEM building is completed now and shown is the new look here. The store has been completely remodeled inside and out. This is another sign of the progress that Haskell is making in keeping up with the times.

actively involved in meeting their child's day to day needs. They can be kept constantly informed of the progress their child is making and can monitor the quality of services that child is receiving—something which is often difficult to do in large institutions with many hundreds of residents and employees.

Will we have difficulty getting the community to accept these residences?

Some difficulty should be expected. The degree of community acceptance or rejection depends upon the amount of effort made by the Associations for Retarded Citizens to educate and prepare the community for this development—something Associations for Retarded Citizens are, by their very nature, committed to.

Many and varied types and kinds of community residences are springing up over the state of Texas. Some of these residences are designed to meet the needs of the MORE severely handicapped individuals...others are for the moderately handicapped...and yet others are designed for the most capable of the retarded citizen populace. Regardless of the design or type. All are proving successful to a great degree. Though all community residential facilities differ, all are the same in one very important area...residents living there and those responsible for their total welfare have at long last had the opportunity to express the "Right to Choose". Further information regarding current trends in community residences may be obtained from the TEXAS ASSOCIATION FOR RETARDED CITIZENS, 833 Houston St., Austin, Tx., 78756, David Sloan, Executive Director, Phone 512-454-6694.

Haskell Bicentennial Happenings

By Roxie Parker

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration is urging communities throughout the nation to observe our 200th Anniversary with a tolling of bells on July 4.

The time selected (2 p.m. Eastern Daylight Savings Time) will be 1 p.m. in Haskell, and is exactly 200 years from the precise moment the Liberty Bell proclaimed the independence of the new nation.

The bell-ringing will go on for two minutes in commemoration of the nation's first two centuries. Radio and television stations are being asked to broadcast the sound of bells during the period.

The Liberty Bell will be rung (amplified electronically because of the crack) in a symbolic national ceremony conducted by the Sons of the American Revolution at Independence National Park.

Jane McAadoo, Haskell City-County Bicentennial chairman is asking that area churches, groups and individuals participate in this unique observance of Independence Day, July 4, 1976.

A press release concerning the observance contained information that most of us once learned from our history books but have perhaps forgotten. We've had our memories refreshed about several things this Bicentennial year!

The Liberty Bell is one of the symbols of our nation's freedom; cast in Whitechapel, London by Thomas Lister, it arrived in Philadelphia in August, 1752.

Before the bell could be raised, a Philadelphia paper in 1752 reported "it was cracked by a stroke of the clapper during a test without any further violence" and was recast.

To the materials in the original bell, American copper was added; but too much copper gave the bell's tone a "brassy" sound and it had to be cast again. This third bell was finally hung in the State House steeple in June, 1753.

The inscription on the crown "Proclaim liberty throughout the land unto all the inhabitants thereof" is from the Old Testament, Leviticus 25:10.

In 1835, exactly 59 years to the day after the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the bell cracked while sounding the death knoll for Chief Justice John Marshall.

It is now displayed in the New Liberty Bell Pavilion one block north of Independence Hall.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Green, Red, Yellow, Pink, Orange . . . Texas Ambrosia
Texas agriculture is ready to serve up some of its best-tasting food in the coming weeks. In some parts of the state, it's time for tomato harvest as well as cantaloupe, watermelon, carrot, cucumber, honeydew, green pepper, and onion.

It's fresh fruit and vegetable time in Texas. Now is the time to get ready to enjoy it.

Cantaloupe harvest, for example, is expected to be underway this week in the Rio Grande Valley, while in the Laredo area the crop is making good progress; in the Winter Garden area, planting is finished.

Watermelons are expected to be coming from South Texas this month. Seeding is in progress in the eastern part of the state and planting will also be underway on the High Plains this month.

Tomato harvest in the Valley is making progress. Elsewhere, planting is moving along; some plants had to be replanted due to freeze damage in Central Texas. Field setting is active in both East and North Texas and planting should be in progress on the High Plains.

A small crop of honeydews has been planted in the Laredo area this season. Harvest should be moving along now. The majority of the crop will be grown in the Valley and it is making good growth.

Harvest of the green pepper crop is also underway in the state. The majority of the crop is in the Valley. Only a small acreage is expected in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area.

Carrot digging should remain active in the Valley through May. Supplies should also remain available from the San Antonio-Winter Garden area into May.

To add a really fresh taste to it all, consider the spring onion crop for Texas. A record crop is expected, 41 per cent above last year. The April 1 forecast, however, is down five per cent from a month earlier.

Onion supplies will be available in May and June from the later varieties planted in the Valley. In the San Antonio-Winter Garden area, supplies should remain available through June and possibly on into July.

NOW IS ALSO THE TIME to make application in the Family Land Heritage Program. The Program honors those Texas families who through the generations have continuously owned and operated the same farm or ranch for 100 years or more.

Almost 950 farm families in Texas have been honored during the past two years.

Complete information may be obtained by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts

This past week, Jim Hudson and I participated in a Biology-Range Workshop held at Aspermont. This workshop was conducted by Gary L. Valentine, Biologist; Joe B. Norris, Range Conservationist; and Joe J. McEntire, Area Conservationist, Abilene. Valentine and Norris are members of the Texas Soil Conservation Service Technical Support Staff, Temple.

Coordinating biology and range conservation practices was emphasized on both small and large farms and ranches. It was brought out in the workshop that both disciplines can, and often do, function satisfactorily in the same pasture or field.

Many farmers, livestockmen, and ranchers in the Haskell County portions of the California Creek and Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation Districts are successfully managing cropland, pastureland, and rangeland for the production of beef, quail and dove. Several even have sizeable flocks of wild turkey and herds of deer. Northern Haskell County is also well populated each fall and winter by Canadian geese. Many of our small farm ponds as well as Lake Stamford are stopping places for migratory water fowl.

With just a little extra effort, and a small outlay of money, any farmer or rancher can establish wildlife habitats for the species he is most interested in propagating on

Cox To Attend Nuclear Science Symposium

John Wallace Cox, a student at Haskell High School, has been selected to attend the 16th Annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin June 1-4.

Gerald McCoy, Science Teacher will accompany him to the symposium.

West Texas Utilities Company, a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, will sponsor them.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers from throughout the state are selected by their schools to attend the four-day meeting. Scientists and engineers from universities, government laboratories and from industry will discuss nuclear physics, nuclear engineering and related topics.

The symposium is an annual event supported by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University.

Two afternoons will be spent touring the science laboratories at the university, including those where experiments in thermonuclear (fusion) research sponsored by the foundation are being carried out.

"We are pleased to be able to provide the opportunity for these participants to attend the symposium," Bob Beauchamp, Local Manager of West Texas Utilities Company, said. "Hearing such notable authorities in the nuclear field and seeing the facilities at the university should be a most interesting and educational experience for them."

Included in the list of speakers during the symposium are Dr. Louis Rosen of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, Los Alamos, N. M.; Dr. John Rust, recently retired as professor of pharmacology and radiology at the University of Chicago; and Dr. Richard E. Wainerdi, associate vice president for academic affairs and professor of chemical engineering at Texas his lands.

Fishpond Management, as well as wildlife habitats and food plantings, was discussed. There is a great need in our territory for proper management of farm ponds that have been stocked for fish production.

Wherever your interests lie—quail, dove, turkey, deer or fish, or a combination of any or all—there is a real profit in managing your lands for the wildlife species that make your lands their homes.

Hunting and fishing leases by the year, season, or day-to-day rentals, can bring in extra cash. Your own table can be well supplied from wildlife resources that are "just out the back door".

Hudson and Koehler, as well as myself, are available to assist you in planning the needed wildlife measures that will fit your farm.

J. C. Yeary, Jr., District Conservationist

A&M University.

Also, Dr. Knox Broom Jr., manager of power service for Brown & Root Inc. of Houston) and M. W. Zengerle, research biologist for Texas Electric Service Co. of Fort Worth.

Speakers from the University of Texas on the program include Dr. H. H. Woodson, chairman of the Center for Energy Studies; Dr. W. E. Drummond, director of the Fusion Research Center; Dr. Linn Draper, director of the Nuclear Reactor Laboratory; and Dr. R. H. Bing, chairman of the mathematics department.

Dr. Earnest F. Gloyna, dean of engineering at the university, is chairman of the steering committee for the symposium.

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation is made up of ten investor-owned electric utility companies in Texas including West Texas Utilities Company. The foundation was created in 1957 for the advancement of knowledge of energy, particularly nuclear energy, through scientific and educational activities. Its research efforts are presently directed towards controlling fusion reactions through programs being carried out at the University of Texas at Austin laboratories, with the ultimate goal of using energy from nuclear fusion for the generation of electricity.

Grain-fed vs. grass-fed continues to be a subject of no little discussion throughout the beef business. Among the questions that still pop up about grass-fed beef . . . does it taste different than grain-fed? . . . smell different? . . . take more or less time to cook? In an attempt to answer these and a variety of other questions about the meat, the University of Nebraska at Lincoln is conducting an intensive study on chemical properties, aroma and taste of grass-fed beef. Nebraska University meat specialist, Dr. Roger Mandigo, says the results of the study should provide several important answers about the palatability of grass-fed meat. Other results of the study should be recommendations for processing the meat and suggestions for cooking methods. Final reports from the research should be in sometime this summer.

Accent ON HEALTH

Texas Department of Health Resources
Fratris L. Duff M.D., Director

Choking on food causes more accidental deaths in the United States each year than are caused by airplane crashes or firearms. In fact, according to the Texas Department of Health Resources, choking is the sixth most common cause of accidental death.

Health officials say that at least 3,900 Americans die each year because food gets stuck in their throats. The actual number may be considerably higher, however, since the cause of death may be incorrectly identified. It has just been in recent years that health authorities discovered that many so-called heart attack victims actually were victims of choking. Incorrect identification of choking victims is especially tragic since the proper treatment must be given immediately.

There are three things you need to know about choking: what causes it, how to recognize it, and what to do about it. In spite of the high death toll in the past, choking can be easily prevented, and treatment for choking victims can be administered by almost anyone—including the victim, if he just knows what to do.

Choking occurs when a piece of food lodges in the windpipe, blocking off a small valve at the base of the throat. The valve controls the flow of air to and from the lungs; ordinarily, the valve opens only when a person inhales or exhales, and it closes when food is being swallowed. If a piece of food lodges against the valve, the victim can't breathe.

Obviously, the best way to prevent choking is to chew all food so thoroughly that no large pieces of solid matter are swallowed. As might be expected, the most frequent victims of choking are children; elderly people, especially those with poor-fitting dentures; and people who are drinking, laughing, or talking while they are eating.

It is particularly important not to confuse a choking victim with a heart attack victim. In both cases, the victim may grasp with apparent pain and double over; also, many heart attack victims do experience difficulty in breathing. The most important difference is that the choking victim can't breathe at all, and therefore cannot speak. Heart attack victims ordinarily remain conscious and can speak, although with some difficulty. Choking victims can't speak and often lose consciousness in as little as two or three minutes. Death is almost certain to follow in as little as four minutes unless prompt, appropriate treatment is given.

There is one technique for treating victims of choking that has been shown to be almost fool-proof. It's called the "Heimlich Maneuver," after its inventor, Dr. Henry J. Heimlich of Cincinnati. Dr. Heimlich found that there is ordinarily a reserve of air in the lungs that can be used to expel the dislodged food particle from the throat.

Using the Heimlich Maneuver is relatively simple. If the victim is standing or sitting, stand behind the victim and put your arms around his or her waist, a couple of inches above the belt line. Grasp your hands, just below the victim's rib cage. Squeeze sharply with an upward motion. This compresses the victim's diaphragm, forcing air out of the lungs. The maneuver can be repeated, if necessary, until the piece of food pops out of the victim's mouth. Recovery is almost immediate, although medical attention is recommended in case there are complications.

If the victim has fallen to the floor, or if for some other reason the standard maneuver can't be performed, anything that provides a sharp blow just below the diaphragm, will force residual air from the lungs. It's important to understand that a great deal of force is not necessary, and could result in unnecessary internal damage.

Does this technique work? According to health authorities, the Heimlich Maneuver has saved hundreds of choking victims from almost certain death, and has never resulted in serious injury. The technique has been endorsed by the American Medical Association and is being taught to emergency medical personnel, and in first aid courses, all over the country.

No segment of the economy has ever changed so fast and so completely as has agriculture during the past 60 years. When these changes have required capital, your Federal Land Bank has been a primary source of funds. There will be more changes. But we believe that a free agriculture—based on the family-operated farm or ranch—will continue to flourish in any new environment.

We are banking on the farm family and on the family farm.
