The Haskell Swimming Pool opened Monday and the kids were having a ball.

The City has had the pool sandblasted this year and it is in good shape. It will be open from 2 til 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday other than Friday. The pool will be closed on Fridays. Sunday time will be from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Gerald and James McCoy will be running the pool again this year.

Anyone interested in taking swimming lessons are asked to come to the pool for more information. The lessons will be for all ages from five years up. The lessons will be held in the mornings.

Haskell County Goes With Newton

The June 5th turn out for the second primary was extremely light state wide as well as in Haskell County where only 259 voters out of a registered 4,640 went to the poles.

Despite the light turn out Haskell County gave Newton their support with 215 votes over Sadlers 44. This also followed the state wide trend which gave Newton over 87% of the vote to make him the next Railroad Commissioner of Texas.

In the Court of Criminal Appeals race Haskell County supported Dally over Phillips by a vote of 150 to 98 in reverse of the state outcome.

Training Session For Firemen June 23

Members of the Fire Departments of Haskell and the surrounding towns will practice skills they hopefully will never have to use in fighting propane fires at a demonstration on Wednesday, June 23 at 8 p.m. at the City Park Parking lot.

Citizens are invited to witness the demonstration which is being held for the firemen by Ranger/Pan American Insurance Companies of Houston, Texas, and sponsored by: The Haskell Volunteer Fire Department.

This training session will be an actual exercise in dealing with a propane gas fire. The propane industry is relatively new; suppliers and dealers have already had special training in handling the fuel and the safety record has been sufficiently good that few firemen have had occasion to gain experience in combating this kind of fire.

Ranger's Fire Safety Instructors will provide a 500-gallon LP-Gas tank and a multi-pronged "Christmas tree", each of which will be ignited and then extinguished by the participating firemen, who will be using their regular fire-fighting equipment. About 500 gallons of propane are expected to be burned during the two-hour session. The purpose is to give local firemen, under the close supervision of Ranger Instructors, an opportunity to gain experience and confidence in their own ability to control an LP-Gas fire.

The firemen will experience the noise and heat they would face in such an emergency situation and at the same time practice the techniques of approaching the fire, maintaining a protective cover of water from fog nozzles, and shutting off the fuel source.

Ranger is the leading insurer of propane dealers.

Scout Camp Begins June 13

Summer Camp for the Chisholm Trail Council will be leaving Sunday, June 13, for Camp Tonkawa located 17 miles south of Abilene.

Approximately 150 scouts and adult leaders from eleven troops are expected to attend the first week of camp. The staff is making final preparations for the arrival of the scouts this week.

Roy Williams, District Executive for the Southern District is serving as Camp Director and has announced that all camp staff positions have been assigned.

Pre-registration indicates a substantial increase in camp attendance this year over last, with an estimated total of around 500 scouts and leaders.

Sorrells And Barnett Resign Tuesday Night

In checking with Mr. Desmond Dulaney, we found that things were a pop'n at Tuesday's City Council meeting with two resignations.

Councilman Jerry Sorrells submitted his resignation to the council in order that he may take a job as ambulance driver. Jerry resigned to avoid any possibility of conflict of interest arising from the city's indirect involvement in the ambulance service. His resignation was accepted by the council to become effective as of this meeting.

Mr. Bob Philpot was appointed to serve out the remainder of Jerry's term which runs through April 1977.

Another resignation was submitted by Police Chief Tom Paul (Bull) Barnett to become effective June 15. Chief Barnett has resigned to take a job as Deputy Sheriff for Sheriff Garth Garrett. No successor to Chief Barnett has been announced at this time.

Other business before the Council included reports from Guy Kennedy concerning the need for repair of several city streets. E. J. Stewart reported that he had arranged for the repair of sanitation equipment and Loraine Johnson brought to the Councils attention that the Bicentennial Committee wanted some work done on the Amphitheater.

Present at the Council meeting were: Mayor Belton Duncan, E. J. Stewart, Guy Kennedy, Loraine Johnson, Jerry Sorrells, Desmond Dulaney and Tom Paul Barnett.

The next meeting is scheduled for June 22.

Big Country Outstanding Students

The third annual Big Country Outstanding Student Awards dinner, a project of the education committee of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, was held at 7:00 p.m., May 25th in the main room of the student center on the campus of Abilene Christian University. Sub-committee chairman Gary McCaleb was master of ceremonies for the program.

The invocation was given by Don Garrett, president of Abilene Christian University Student Association, and entertainment was provided by "Harmony", a group from the choral music department of Abilene High School.

Featured speaker was Dr. John C. Stevens, ACU president. The award certificates were presented by H. C. Zachry, divisional vice-president and E. G. Rose, chairman of the education committee of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

The awards dinner is an effort on the part of the education committee to recognize outstanding graduates in the Big Country area. Nominations for the awards are submitted by the principals and superintendents of the area high schools.

Students who receive the awards are selected on the basis of their scholastic achievement, leadership and character.

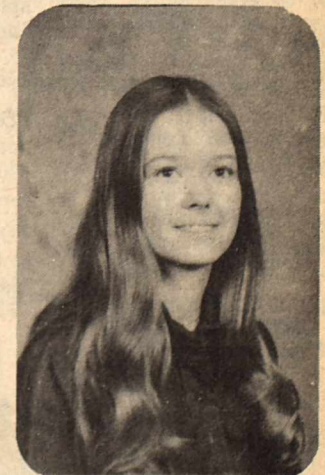

Fourteen area schools were represented this year, and a certificate was presented to each student.

Students selected from Haskell High School for this award were Linda Hilliard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hilliard, and Craig Childress, son of Mrs. Norma Childress. Craig is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gipson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Childress, all of Haskell.

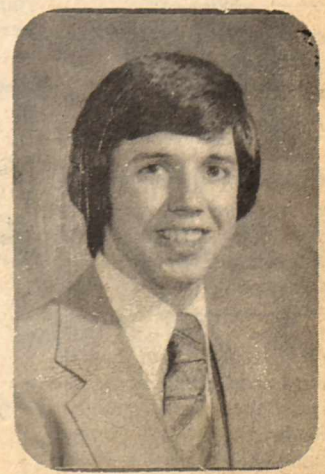

Linda was valedictorian of her graduating class this year, and Craig was chosen to appear in Who's Who in American High Schools for 1976. He also has been awarded an Honor Scholarship to Hardin-Simmons University this fall.

This annual event is rotated among the campuses of Abilene's three colleges.

Last year's program was hosted by McMurry College, and the 1977 dinner will be held at Hardin-Simmons University.

Commissioners Court To Raise Property Value

The tax payers of Haskell County will receive a notice this week from the County Board of Equalization stating their intent to raise the value of taxable property value.

Due to the rise in cost over the last several years and added services as required by law, it has become necessary to raise additional revenue. The Workman Compensation Law affects our county this July. Emergency Ambulance Service must be paid for, increased insurance rates, increased cost for materials and supplies, taking all these things into consideration in preparing the 1977 budget, the increase in property value has become a necessity instead of choice.

In order to pay these increased costs that have accumulated over the past several years and to keep your county on a pay-as-you-go basis, approximately $54,000.00 is needed and the Commissioner's Court sitting as a Board of Equalization, proposes to increase all real property by 30% and go from 20% to 25% assessment of total value of all property.

The Board of Equalization meets June 22, 1976 in the Commissioner's Courtroom starting at 2:00 p.m.

What's invisible, usually doesn't hurt a bit, affects millions of Americans, is controllable, yet when left untreated can cause stroke, heart failure or kidney disease?

The answer, says the Texas Department of Health Resources is high blood pressure—or hypertension. The State Health Department is helping call attention to this problem in May, designated as High Blood Pressure Month.

Uncontrolled high blood pressure is a major national public health problem. It is the primary cause of 60,000 deaths in the United States each year. And, says the National Institutes of Health, it is a contributing factor in 1,500,000 heart attacks and strokes that occur each year in this country.

An estimated 23 million Americans, or about 15 percent of the adult population, have high blood pressure. That's one in seven adults, not only in Texas but throughout the land.

The prevalence rates of high blood pressure rise steadily with advancing age, and in every age group the prevalence is higher for blacks than for whites.

Among American blacks, not only is the prevalence about twice as high as that among whites, but it is more severe and occurs at an earlier age. High blood pressure afflicts not only the elderly but also young and middle-aged adults in the most productive years.

Although detection is simple and painless—and drug therapy is practical and effective—the great majority of hypertensive people are not receiving satisfactory treatment.

Half of the estimated 23 million hypertensive Americans don't even know they have it, according to the National Institutes of Health. Of those who do know, less than three million of those with high blood pressure are receiving adequate treatment—treatment to reduce their blood pressure within normal limits.

The Texas Dept. of Health Resources its local health units and regional offices are detecting high blood pressure in people throughout the state through the simple taking of blood pressure at clinics and in medical screening programs. In addition, they are cooperating with other agencies in health fairs and some open houses of local health departments to provide special screening.

How does high blood pressure affect your body?

Blood pressure varies among people, and in the same person at different times. It decreases during sleep and increases during exertion or excitement. There is a considerable range of normal pressure, which can be explained to you by your doctor.

An important thing to know—and something your physician checks—is that when pressure goes above so-called normal limits and remains elevated, patients have high blood pressure or hypertension.

With high pressure in the arteries, the heart must pump harder. When high blood pressure is present for long periods, the heart enlarges. Eventually, under the continued extra burden, the heart weakens, loses efficiency and pumps less blood with each beat. The kidneys, unable to function effectively because of reduced blood flow, fail to excrete enough fluids, and tissues become waterlogged, adding still more to the burden of the heart.

Hardening of the blood vessels—or arteriosclerosis—is the major cause of high blood pressure. The blood vessel changes may be a factor in stroke, kidney failure or heart failure.

Proper treatment reduces the danger. In most people, high blood pressure can be lowered and kept under control with continuing treatment. This greatly reduces the risk of serious complications.

Remember, the way to know whether your blood pressure is high is to go to your doctor and have the pressure taken. The fact that you feel fine is no assurance your blood pressure is okay.

It is important to have regular checkups to discover if you have high blood pressure. And there's one other point: carefully follow the instructions of your doctor. So have regular physical checkups and do your friends and family a favor by telling them of the dangers of high blood pressure.

A new strain of influenza virus appeared in February at Fort Dix, New Jersey. This newly identified virus has antigenic properties (or antibody producing characteristics) similar to a flu virus that occurs in swine. This small outbreak in New Jersey was the first instance of the swine-like influenza virus being transmitted from man to man.

Because of the implications of this new flu outbreak, health officials in Texas are now gearing up for the largest mass immunization campaign in the state's history. Part of a nationwide effort to protect the American people from an expected epidemic of New Jersey. A flu (sometimes called "swine flu"), the Texas campaign will attempt to provide the protective vaccine to at least 10 million Texans.

The goal is to immunize the population in a three-month period running from September through November of 1976. The nation has never attempted an immunization program of such scope and intensity. It will require a major effort by both the public and private sectors of health care.

Essentially, the plan relies on the Federal government for its purchasing power to obtain the quantities of vaccine necessary, and for technical leadership and coordination through the national Center for Disease Control. State health agencies will be called on to translate the plans into action, using their manpower, and experience in conducting systematic immunization programs. The private health care sector has joined in to offer its support and its extensive medical and other health related sources. The Texas Medical Association unanimously passed a resolution supporting the mass flu immunization campaign at their recent state meeting.

The strategy is to tailor the approach to the opportunity and the need—using mass immunization techniques where appropriate, but also using delivery points already in place, such as physicians' offices, health department clinics, and community health centers. The use of volunteers and volunteer organizations will also be a very important part of the campaign.

Actually, the first stages of the mass immunization campaign will begin about mid-July. A special vaccine for older people and people with chronic illness will be made available at that time. A "bivalent" vaccine providing protection from both the New Jersey A influenza virus (Swine Flu) and the recent Victoria A strain of last year will be available to this target population considered to be at risk. The immunization of the general population against the New Jersey A virus will begin about the first of September.

One can imagine the complexity of trying to immunize almost the entire population of the nation in such a short period of time. Fortunately, public health authorities and private medicine in Texas have had a recent experience in mass immunization. Since the passage of the mandatory "school immunization law" in 1972, several million Texas school children have been immunized against certain diseases. It was accomplished by the Texas Department of Health Resources' public health regions, by local health departments across the state, and by physicians in private practice.

The mass flu immunization campaign will, of course, be a voluntary participation campaign. But state health officials emphasize that to prevent an epidemic, it is necessary that practically all of the people be vaccinated.

The swine influenza virus has been implicated in the 1918 epidemic of influenza that killed 20 million people all over the world, with over 500 thousand deaths in the United States. The 1918 "pandemic" (or world-wide epidemic) was unique because of its high mortality and the fact that so many of the fatalities occurred among apparently healthy young men and women. By comparison, the Asian flu of 1957—the most severe influenza pandemic since—caused an estimated 70,000 deaths, primarily among the elderly or individuals with chronic illness.

Influenza is a respiratory disease caused by a virus. There are two main types of influenza virus—A and B. Each type includes various strains. Type A epidemics are generally more frequent and severe.

From time to time, new virus strains develop. When this happens, and if the strains are quite different from previous ones, they may cause epidemics because people have not had any previous exposure to them. Consequently, the population has not built up any specific immunity against them.

Once every 10 years or so the change is more dramatic, and this is when we have extensive outbreaks such as the pandemic of Asian flu of 1957 and the Hong Kong flu of 1968.

When a new virus appears, it's normally followed by an epidemic. Public health officials want to keep history from repeating itself in the form of another flu that could take thousands of lives.

Karan Annette Sharp and Jeffrey Alan McClure exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening, June 5, 1976, at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Rule. Mr. Donald Hindsley, uncle of the bride, missionary and minister of the Church of Christ, 9th and Main in San Angelo, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sharp of Rule and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McClure of Roby.

Vows were exchanged in a candlelight ceremony that was finalized by lighting the Unity Candle. Music was provided by Reida Mullino of Rochester. Vocalist was Gayle Tankersley of Abilene. Selections were, 'We've Only Just Begun, Forever Lovers and Sunrise, Sunset.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white formal gown, fashioned with an empire waist and was overlaid with mira mist organza and nylon acetate. Chantilly lace trimmed and accented the gown. Her headpiece was a crown of seed pearls which held the floor length chapel train of sequins and chantilly lace. The bride carried a bouquet of apricot carnations surrounded with white daisies and baby's breath.

The bride followed the old tradition of something old, wearing a pair of pearl earrings; something new, her wedding dress; something borrowed, the headpiece of pearls and something blue, the garter which belonged to her deceased girlfriend, Mrs. Becky Sloan Gilliam.

Maid of honor was Riva Hitt of Lubbock and matron of honor was Mrs. Ronnie Rippey of Waxahatchie. Bridesmaids were Fran Wilson of Lubbock and Mrs. Jessie Ledesma of Stamford. They wore halter gowns of apricot gaberdine with sheer floral collar capes and apricot lace hats. Their nosegays were patterned after the brides bouquet with apricot carnations surrounded with daisies and baby's breath.

The brides table was laid with a white cloth and centered on the table was a three tiered wedding cake decorated with a bride and groom. Topping the cake was cupid of love and peace doves. The brides bouquet and bridesmaids nosegays were used as decorations. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

The grooms table was decorated western style with a fringe burlap tablecloth. A chocolate horseshoe cake with Karan and Jeff printed on top. Horses and finger sandwiches accented the table. Coffee was served from a silver serving set.

Serving the cake was Mrs. Roger Sharp, aunt of the bride, Janis Carmack, Pam

CONSERVATION VIEWPOINTS USDA Soil Conservation Service

Assisting
California Creek and Wichita-Brazos
Soil and Water Conservation Districts

Service is our motto. Conservation is our business. Satisfied producers are our pleasure and reward.

A new service to producers of Haskell County is being added to our growing list of available assistance to producers.

At the last regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District, a new grass seeder was purchased to be placed at Haskell. The Haskell Chapter of Future Farmers of America under the advisement of Mr. Duane Gilly will serve as custodians of the seeder for the District.

The new grass drill will have a variety of uses besides seeding grasses. It is my understanding that the seeder can also be used for seeding alfalfa and other legumes.

It is hoped that the new grass drill will be available in the near future, or at least before school starts this fall. Rental rates, transportation arrangements and other details for securing its use have not been completed with Gilly and the Board of Directors. These items will be announced at a later date as soon as all details have been completed.

Jimlee Baucum of Anson, Chairman of the California Creek SWCD Board stated that the grass seeder was for use in Haskell County, and he hoped that producers needing the seeder for seeding waterways and converted cropland would take advantage of this new service.

Grass seeders are now located at Anson Vocational Agricultural Department and soon to be at Haskell by the California Creek SWCD. Producers in the northern areas of the Haskell Field Office, Haskell County, work area may continue to secure the grass seeder from the Wichita-Brazos SWCD located at the District's headquarters in Knox City.

Little League News

The Haskell Little League continued its season last week with several games being very exciting. The minor league Cats were defeated for the first time this season. However, they are still in the lead in their league. The Tigers moved closer to clinching their title. On Saturday, they were involved in a protest game with the Cubs concerning the ending time of the game. If the protest is allowed the Tigers will have suffered their second defeat of the season. If the protest is disallowed, the Tigers will have clinched the Championship. Even if the protest is allowed, the Tigers need only one victory to clinch. They have three remaining games.

Mental Retardation

Editor—This is one of a series of articles about Mental Retardation prepared by Mrs. Eugene Cochran and the Public Education Committee of the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens.

The behavior of hyperactive children who were placed on a diet without artificial flavors and colors improved significantly in the eyes of their teachers. These children were included in a study funded by the National Institute of Education (NIE).

Teachers who observed the children for 12 weeks noted about a 15 percent reduction in the symptoms of hyperactivity. The teachers did not know when a child began a new diet or whether the child was on the control or experimental diet. The study by Dr. C. Keith Conners of the University of Pittsburgh is the first controlled study of the effect of food additives on hyperactive children and tends to confirm the controversial findings of Dr. Benjamin Feingold.

However, a NIE staff review suggests that because of methodological problems, the Conner's study is not conclusive. Feingold, a leading California allergist, charged last year that food additives cause a hyperactivity, but he was widely criticized for the quality and objectivity of his research.

Hyperactive children are characterized by their constant, unorganized activity, short attention spans, and unusually aggressive behavior. An estimated five million children in the United States are hyperactive.

Both diets used in the Conners study—the control and the experimental—were similarly high in nutrition. The experimental diet eliminated fruits with natural salicylates and all foods with artificial coloring, flavors, preservatives, or other additives. For example, soda pop, frankfurters, cake mixes, many breakfast cereals and aspirin were among the foods eliminated. Natural salicylates (medicine to relieve pain, fever, etc.) contained in fruits such as apples, berries and peaches, were also eliminated because of a suspected reaction with food additives.

NIE urges caution in interpreting the results of this study. Conner's research was small; only 15 children completed the study. In addition, parents noted only slight differences in the children's behavior.

The study also does not isolate a culprit. As Conners admits, "We cannot say whether the natural salicylates, food colors, food flavors—or indeed some unsuspected nutritional factors—might not be responsible for the results."

Nevertheless, the changes in behavior observed by the teachers are significant, Conners states, because the differences in behavior ratings could only occur by chance 5 times in one thousand.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has requested the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to conduct further research into the relationship between food additives and hyperactivity.

FORT WORTH—A few weeks ago our farmer friends were very much discouraged with the prospect of the wheat. Now the harvest is nearly ended, and the cheering news is that the crop will be larger than expected. It will certainly be two thirds of a full yield, and, with the immensely increased acreage, we expect Texas to have raised one fourth more wheat than she has ever done before. In a few years we will be able to supply the world with bread.

SAN ANTONIO—Now is the season when none should take less than two baths a week. Men of business or laborers, if they would retire every night with a clean body, washed in the pure waters of the San Antonio River, would awake of a morning in a much better condition to prosecute their duties.

SAN ANTONIO—Wm. Smith was arraigned Monday in the District Court, charged with the theft of a watch. He plead guilty, which plea opened the hearts of the jury, which gave him the lowest penalty, two years.

SAN ANTONIO—A party of nine health seekers now in the city, styling themselves "The Invalids" will challenge the Milam Baseball Club to play a match game on Saturday night.

ELGIN—The unknown men that were hanged near this place a few days ago are supposed to be the men that attempted to murder Sheriff Brown of Lee County.

GALVESTON—Complaints are made of the unclean condition of alleys in various parts of the city, which is probably due to the carelessness of the scavenger carts. A "News" reporter observed one of the drivers removing garbage yesterday; and it was evident that he was inclined to leave particles of filth, instead of taking special pains to remove everything in the shape of perishable refuse.

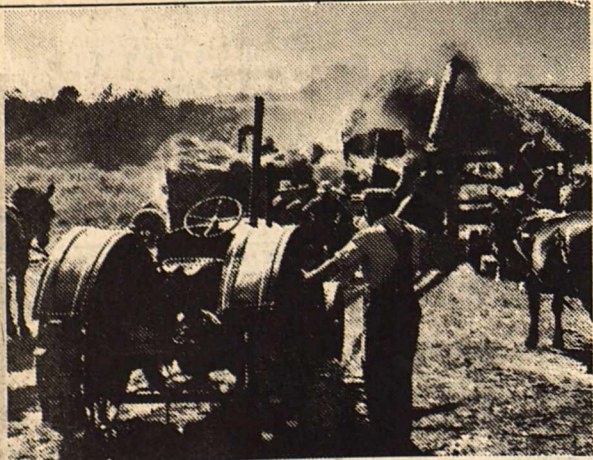

AUSTIN—The Court of Appeals is dispatching business very rapidly, and the bar generally is better pleased with the new court than expected. It is now thought that it will work practically to much greater advantage than the theorists would admit.

BELLEVILLE—The Belleville "Beacon" learns of the sale of 70 acres of land in the vicinity of that town at $30 an acre, three fourths of it in cash. Also, that another parcel is about to change hands at $35 an acre. Large prices in this section since the war.

BURNET—Thirty dollars fine is now the tariff regularly enforced for carrying six-shooters in this county.

ADVERTISEMENTS—Teeth only $15—Drs. Snyder & Adams have removed to the Grand Southern Hotel, where they have pleasant rooms. Gold Fillings that will last a lifetime and all Dental Operations first-class and cheap.

ALIBATES—AN ANCIENT ARSENAL ON THE TEXAS PANHANDLE

There are nearly 300 units in the National Park System, but none has a longer name than—are you ready for this?—Alibates Flint Quarries and Texas Panhandle Pueblo Culture National Monument.

Whew! That's a mouthful—even for bureaucrats.

What Alibates preserves, in a nutshell, is a 12,000-year old arsenal. The brightly colored flint from the quarry was used by the earliest Americans to slay mammoths. Archeologists have found weapons made from Alibates flint in many places in the Great Plains and Southwest. Even as far away as Oregon.

Today you can walk over the quarry that once supplied nomadic hunters with projectile points and other tools.

Although there are no facilities at Alibates, the monument has more to offer than a 10-word title. If you combine your Alibates tour with a visit to nearby Lake Meredith Recreation Area, you have the makings of an enjoyable vacation in the Texas Panhandle.

The monument is some 32 miles north of Amarillo and 18 miles from Borger just off Texas highway 136.

Begin your visit at Bates Canyon Information Station at Lake Meredith. Guided tours through the quarry pits are conducted by park rangers daily at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. from Memorial Day through Labor Day. Off-season tours are arranged upon request by writing the superintendent at Lake Meredith.

If your trip is overnight, the closest accommodations are in Fritch, six miles north of the Alibates Road on Texas 136. A wider variety of accommodations are found in Amarillo and Borger.

Lake Meredith offers semi-developed camping areas. But back to the quarry. Most signs of North America's earliest people have disappeared forever. The simple questions about the foods they ate, the homes they lived in and the languages they spoke are still unanswered. In most cases their own remains have vanished, too. Often the only traces of human existence thousands of years ago are the tools and weapons there early people fashioned from stone.

Of all the different kinds of stone used in making tools, one of the most distinctive is Alibates flint. Normally flint has one characteristic shade, but Alibates flint has a multitude of bright colors in endless variations and patterns.

Alibates flint is a hard rock that holds a sharp edge when shaped properly. Early tool-makers were able to chip and flake it into an astonishing variety of everyday tools of survival. Archeologists have found knives, hammers, chisels, drills, axes, awls, fish-hooks, buttons, hoes, scrapers, dartpoints and arrowheads—all made of Alibates flint.

Most people who used the flint were nomads—hunters who followed game trails and never built permanent homes. But for a relatively short period, from about 1200 to 1450, some people settled near the quarries to farm and bartered the flint for such items as pottery and seashells. These people are referred to by archeologists as the Panhandle Pueblo Culture—hence the last half of that 10-word title.

The Panhandle Pueblo Culture was so named because its people were Plains Village Indians whose houses show the influence of pueblo style houses of the Southwest.

BIG BEND—IT'S NOT YOUR AVERAGE NATIONAL PARK

Big Bend is not the kind of park where you wheel into the visitor center, quick step to the restroom, buy a bottle of pop, watch a slide show and head back to the freeway.

Nor is it a place you casually pass through on the way to somewhere else. It's a destination. And you can't get a good look at it in an hour, or a day. Maybe not even in a week.

Big Bend National Park is bigger than a lot of countries. In fact, you could set Liechtenstein and Malta and Monaco and Singapore inside the park and still have room for half of Luxembourg.

Put another way, it's only slightly smaller than the combined size of the 32 other areas in the National Park

Service's Southwest Region.

And the region includes such behemoths as Carlsbad Caverns, Padre Island, White Sands, Amistad, Lake Meredith, Guadalupe Mountains and the Buffalo National River.

More than 1,100 square miles of the Chihuahuan Desert is preserved within the great curve of the Rio Grande. And this stark, rugged, eerie and strangely beautiful land of tarantulas and rattlesnakes and javelinas and deep canyons containing very little water might be slightly forbidding to the visitor from the east.

But for those of us comfortable with the open space and big sky of the Southwest as the result of having lived here, Big Bend is an ideal place to go for a few days of relaxation—hiking, horsebacking, camping, communing with nature.

If Big Bend is one of those right around home places that you've been intending to see for years, the Bicentennial year might be a good time to go. Before you do, let me tell you a little about the heart of the big park—Panther Junction and Chisos Basin. (We'll pick up some other parts of Big Bend in a later article—it's simply too big for one story).

Panther Junction is park headquarters, an orientation center where you can get information about such things as road conditions and special programs and pick up special use permits.

Ten miles from headquarters is the Basin—a bowl-shaped depression in the heart of the Chisos Mountains. As you drive into the mountains the shrubby desert plants give way to shady juniper, oak and pinon trees. At 5,400 feet elevation, the Basin offers a lofty woodland retreat, much cooler than the surrounding countryside, where you can hike, camp, ride horseback, picnic, take pictures or drink in the mountain scenery.

Chisos Mountains Lodge in the Basin is the only place inside the park where overnight lodging is available and reservations should be made in advance. Because of the lack of water, the capacity of the park to accommodate visitors is extremely limited.

The lodge's main dining room is open for breakfast, lunch and dinner with the hours varying with the season. Box lunches and sandwiches are also available.

You can also purchase groceries, cold drinks, camping supplies, film and gasoline in the Basin.

The Basin campground, which includes water and comfort stations, but not electricity or fuel, is open on a first-come-first-served basis. At Panther Junction there is limited recreation vehicle parking. Trailers of more than 20 feet are not recommended in the Basin because of sharp turns in the road.

The Basin also has concessioner-operated guided horseback trips to the South Rim and the Window. The 14-mile South Rim trip will take you in and out of the rocky bed of a trickling stream. At the top is an incredible panorama of Texas and Mexico, with the Rio Grande marking the boundary.

There are also foot trails and one of the most popular in the Basin is the Lost Mine Trail, a round trip of four miles. There is a self-guiding leaflet at the trailhead and a spectacular view atop Lost Mine Ridge.

Of the more than 6 million mentally retarded persons in America, 75 to 85 percent are capable of becoming self-supporting, both economically and socially—if they receive adequate services in special education and vocational preparation. Another 10 percent are capable of becoming partially self-supporting, and only a small proportion remain essentially dependent.

A Treat For Every Meal

Lemon Nut Bread just sounds like something good and it's even better. This delightful bread fits into every meal and is one everyone will love. If you or your family skip breakfast or eat on the run, try making this the night before and toasting slices for breakfast. Let buttery Parkay margarine melt into this new kind of toast for a treat that will make breakfast a popular meal. Try spreading it with jelly or Philadelphia brand cream cheese for another treat.

This sweet, lemony bread fits in perfectly for luncheon with a variety of salads — just the perfect touch. For a special treat, make an extra loaf to take to work for coffee break. Anyone's co-workers would delight in a special surprise with morning coffee. Wherever you serve it, Lemon Nut Bread will become a favorite.

 3 eggs
 2 1/2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 cup milk

 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
 3/4 cup chopped pecans

Cream margarine and sugar until light and fluffy; blend in eggs. Add combined dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk and juice, mixing well after each addition. Stir in rind and nuts. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350°, 1 hour and 20 minutes. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan.

Six Flags Now Open Daily

Arlington, Texas—Six Flags Over Texas has begun daily operation following the most successful spring season in the theme park's sixteen year history.

During the spring season more than 399,000 persons visited the entertainment center. The figure represents an increase of some nine per cent over 1975's record pace.

General Manager Dan Howells said, "The introduction of our new parachute ride, the Texas Chute Out, was undoubtedly a major factor in the attendance boost."

"In addition," he said, "the public seems to be in a traveling mood this year. Perhaps it's a result of the bicentennial atmosphere, but, whatever the reason, people are definitely out on the road."

The park will be on a daily schedule through Labor Day, when weekend-only operation will resume for the fall season. During the summer months Six Flags will extend its nighttime operating hours and add evening entertainment features, details of which will be announced shortly.

An estimated 3 percent of the population of the United States, or more than 6 million children and adults, are mentally retarded. One out of ten Americans has a mentally retarded person in his family.

Approximately 75 percent of the nation's mentally retarded persons live in isolated or impoverished urban and rural areas. Research strongly suggests that malnutrition, disease-producing surroundings and restricted opportunities for learning are contributing factors to mental retardation.

Men In Service

BILLY C. MATTHEWS

Haskell High School graduate Billy C. Matthews has been promoted to the rank of Captain in the U.S. Navy and named prospective commanding officer for the Naval Reserve Support Command. In his new assignment, he will be the first commanding officer of a new command established to provide resources and functional support to the Naval Reserve headquarters in New Orleans.

He first entered the Navy in October 1953 and was commissioned an Ensign and designated a Naval Aviator in the U.S. Naval Reserve through the Naval Aviation Cadet program. His assignments have included Antisubmarine Warfare Squadron TWENTY THREE, Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron ELEVEN, Naval Air Station Glenview (Ill.), and the Naval Air Reserve Detachment in Seattle, Wash.

tation training, veterans receiving GI Bill training, and the eligible dependents of veterans who are in training under a VA approved program. Also exempted from income taxes are the grants made to certain severely disabled veterans who are eligible for specially adapted housing to accommodate the use of wheelchairs or other devices or appliances which must be used. In addition, veterans whose service-connected disabilities caused them to suffer the loss or loss of use of one or both arms or one or both legs, or are blind, are provided with a financial grant of up to $3,300 toward the purchase of an automobile or other private conveyance, and such payments are not subject to the federal income tax laws.

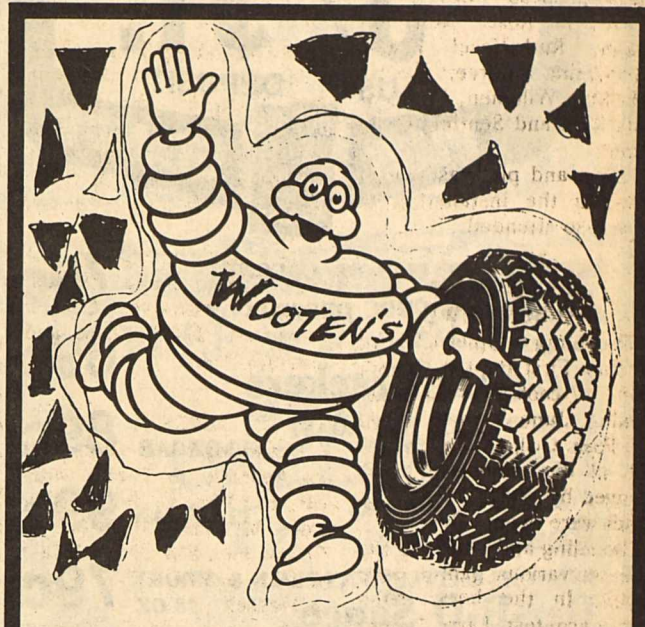

Interest which is accrued on government life insurance dividends left on deposits or credit with the VA is not exempt, however, and must be reported on annual income tax returns.

The dividends themselves which are paid on certain government life insurance policies each year are not taxable, and they should not be included on income tax returns, which must be filed by each citizen by April 15. It must be pointed out, however, that the proceeds from government insurance policies, when paid to a beneficiary following death of the insured, are subject to the Federal Estate Tax laws.

Wanda (Tibbets) Madina is Haskell National Bank's Proof Machine Operator—and that title indicates the heavy responsibility placed upon her. The Proof-Operator is the necessary "spoke" that keeps the wheels turning between the loan officers and tellers operations, and the bookkeeping department. Every item that enters the bank, whether by night deposit, bank-by-mail, at tellers windows, drive-in or note teller window, or loan officer's desks, or savings or trust department—must be proved before being distributed to the bookkeeping department, or listed in transit. This means that each credit item must balance with the exact amount of debit items, or the proof machine locks, and the error must be corrected before proceeding to the next deposit. All personnel in bank depend upon the proof operator to help locate any errors made in original transaction. On days when the work load is extra heavy, another person—usually from bookkeeping department—is called upon to operate a second proof machine, in trying to keep up with the flow of work.

Wanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tibbets of Rochester. Upon graduation from Rochester High School, she began work at the Home State Bank in Rochester. Later, she worked for six years with the Gas Co. in Knox City, then worked at Mesquite State Bank in Mesquite, Texas, before starting work in bookkeeping department in H.N.B. in July of 1974. Her previous experience has helped greatly, as a proof operator must be fast and accurate, and possess very even temper—as the pressure is tremendous toward end of day. Her two children, Kevin and Kami, are students in Haskell Elementary School, and they reside at 505 N. Ave. G, in Haskell.

Ace Reid To Go On Trail Drive

Nationally-known cowboy cartoonist Ace Reid will be putting on his act, and it's a great one, daily as he helps ramrod the Texas Tech Bicentennial Trail Drive and its herd of 70 Texas Longhorns from San Antonio to Lubbock. Six hard days on the trail. The herd leaves San Antonio on June 27, with stops in Kerrville, San Angelo, Stamford and Midland, arriving at the Ranching Heritage Center, Texas Tech University, July 2, just in time for opening ceremonies.

Reid is no newcomer to trail drives, having played a big part in the drive from San Antonio to Dodge City, Kansas, in 1966.

And he's certainly no newcomer to readers of several hundred newspapers publishing his renowned "Cowpokes" cartoons. Nor to the millions of fans who purchase his books. His first "Cowpokes" sold more than a Real farm production doesn't stop with providing food and fiber but has gone beyond that to be the number one industry for providing new off-the-farm jobs. Now a key word here is "new." New jobs because of the production increases during the past few years. Number one because of the rate of the increase. According to the people who do the counting, 53,000 jobs are created for every billion dollars worth of agricultural products exported. In 1969 these exports were under 6 billion... accounting for 318 thousand jobs off the farm. Not too bad. Last year's tally made the big difference... 22 billion in farm exports. In case you don't have a calculator handy, that works out to 1,166,000 jobs... new jobs... created in 1975. It is not too surprising the economy just "happened" to make a recovery at about the same time. Seems the admonition, "keep on truckin'" ought to be "keep on plowin'".

Attends Science Symposium

Nineteen outstanding students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 16th annual Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The conference got underway Tuesday, June 1st, and ended Friday, June 4th.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the sponsoring companies. The 500 selected high school science students and teachers who attended the session were offered the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists. The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and The University are sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power. Fusion is the energy process of the sun and the stars. The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but to also assist in the advancement of the knowledge of nuclear science in Texas schools. Of special interest to the sponsors is bringing to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities, and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of nuclear energy presents.

WTU paid all expenses for the 19 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company. Lecturers at the Symposium were chosen from top men in their field. There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas. Haskell can be justly proud of its high school for having been chosen as one of the 150 high schools in the state invited to send students and teachers to the Symposium.

Haskell Bicentennial Happenings

By Roxie Parker

There'll be big doings June 25 and 26 when the Wild West Show comes to the Haskell Fair Grounds Rodeo Arena. Jointly sponsored by the Haskell Jaycees and the City-County Bicentennial Committee, the show will be dedicated to the memory of Sam Graves and the horse, "Old Hub", famous in the annals of rodeo history.

Rex Felker, Chamber of Commerce manager, is producer and announcer of the show which will feature 15 events. "Old Hub" was the winner in 1898 of the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Haskell, held July 27-29 that year. The horse was 22 years old and brought out of retirement for his winning performance. It has been 100 years since "Old Hub" was born and it seems fitting to dedicate the show to him and his rider.

A book written by Robert H. Williams of Bandera and published this year by Nortex Press is entitled "Hub, Champion Cutting Horse". It is illustrated by Robert Gartland of Lawton, Oklahoma. Mr. Gartland and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eakin will be among the visitors to Haskell for the show; Mr. Eakin is owner of Nortex Press.

Several descendants of Sam Graves are also making plans to come to the celebration, Rex said. The book is "dedicated to the memory of Hub and Sam and all those who appreciate good cutting horses", and it is a delight to read. It is written as though "Hub" himself is telling his story and I could just see him making the moves he describes; I felt like urging him on when he was making his comeback! The illustrations are absolutely inspired and picture perfectly the tale as it is told.

There will be Calf Roping, Cutting Horses, Bronc Riding, a Greased Pig Race for the youngsters and something for all ages during the two-day show. Roping competition will be divided into two groups: those ages 45 to 55 and those age 55 and over.

Making an appearance at the show will be Hardin-Simmons' Six White Horses Drill Team.

A Western band will play pre-show music and there will also be a stage for the Haskell Square Dancers with caller Leon Ivey on hand to entertain.

A Western street gun fight will be waged between Black Bart and Brazos Bill; I know what they'll be fighting about, but I'm sworn to secrecy so I can't tell!

I also learned from Rex

what a snubbing horse does and am anxious to see this work: The snubbing horse and rider come out into the arena; the bucking bronc is led out and snubbed by the snubbing horse by having his head tied down across the neck of the other horse to make him stand still while the bronc rider saddles the bronc. I called it unworkable, and Rex said sometimes you have to bite his ear real hard to make him stand still!

To tell you the truth, I never heard of snubbing in this fashion; at our house my mother-in-law used that word to describe the way my children sounded when they had cried a long time!

Another group involved in the show will be the young people who are members of the Haskell—Stamford Junior Sheriff's Posse.

Rex said the old shows were held where the Fieldan Motel is now located.

Publicity has gone out far and near and I think this will be something the whole family will enjoy. So make your plans to be ready for that last weekend in June for the Wild West Show.

Trapshooting Tournament In Houston

Trapshooters from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, and other states will gather in Houston, Texas, beginning Wednesday, June 9, and continuing through Sunday, June 13. The tournament, hosted by the Greater Houston Gun Club, and The Texas Trapshooters Assoc., 2300 members strong, will consist of a total of 1200 clay targets for the field; 400 16 yd. targets, in 5 classes, 150 pair of doubles targets in classes, and 500 handicap targets, with the end result being the crowning of the Texas State Trapshooting Champions.

Tony Wakin, president, and Ray Williams, manager of the Club, are expecting some 300 to 400 shooters to shoot approximately 1/2 million (500,000) clay targets and shotshells, in competing for the $5400.00 in added money, 161 trophies, plus several thousands of dollars (roughly $30,000.00) in option money put up by the shooters in the 5 day event.

Trapshooting today is one of the fastest growing participator sports in the world, with shooters from 12 to 80 years of age competing for the awards to be given. The game has something for everyone who likes the thrill of competing and shooting a shotgun: men, women, children, husband and wife, parent and child, veterans, juniors, sub-juniors, plus competition from and by the five zones in which the state organization is divided.

Although highly competitive in all areas, the real challenge of the game is one on one as in tennis or boxing, one against the field as in bowling, or one against the course as in golf, the end result being each trapshooter taking the field with the dream of becoming the Texas State Trapshooting Champion, in singles, doubles, handicap, hi-overall, hi-all around, and if not these, for their own personal satisfaction, plus the very great possibility of winning very substantial cash awards, and other rewards.

Planning to attend from Haskell are Charles Thornhill and Wallace Wooten.

Use your Room Air-Conditioner Wisely...

AND SAVE

REDDY'S HELPFUL TIPS

- ★ Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.
- ★ Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.
- ★ Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

4-H CLUB

The Paint Creek 4-H Club met with Mrs. Barbara Elliott on Thursday, May 20, to discuss plans for 4-H activities for the summer, and to set meeting dates. Members present were Becky Medford, Tauniya White, Debra and Gena Fischer, Michelle Frith, and Luann Cockerell. Mothers present were Mrs. Gene Fischer, Mrs. Wayne Wells, and Mrs. Kirby White.

The Paint Creek 4-H Club met with Mrs. Elliott on Friday, May 28, to discuss current fashions in shoes, materials, and designs of clothes. The club plans to meet June 14, 15, and 16, for their lessons.

Members present were Becky Medford, Tauniya White, Debra Wells, and Gena and Linda Fischer.

The second meeting of the 4-H Club was held last week. They learned to wax and shine dirty shoes. A pattern was cut out and the meeting was dismissed at five o'clock.
