HASKELL, TEXAS, 79521, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1976

NUMBER FORTY-SEVEN

For the first time in our history in Haskell there was a disappointing crowd representing the Haskell Indians at a football game.

It was a long way to Crowell and it was terribly cold, but the few Indian fans attending witnessed one of the best performances of the year by the Tribe.

Eleven seniors played their last football game for Haskell High School and each performed admirably.

The team did not finish as predicted but it can not be said that any team member, manager or coach did not put forth all his effort to win every game.

Our hats are off to a fine group who represented us so

Just a note to urge everyone who has not already received a swine flu shot to attend the free clinic November 23 at the Corral Building between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Speaking of swine flu, the computer used to set type for the Free Press developed some sort of illness this week. Several years ago a similar ailment in a Linotype machine might have been credited to 'Type Lice' but such animals would not be caught dead in the electronic mass of our overgrown typewriter.

Probably the best description of the illness would be something similar to a human speaking in tongues and following is a small sample of what came out of the computer Monday morning as we began preparing for this edition....

County Farmers

"HASKELL-A GOOD PLACE TO VISIT; A BETTER PLACE TO LIVE"

have begun a drive to raise money for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abi-

Rehab officials announced last week that the center would need approximately $60,000.00 in additional funds to complete the year.

The local drive is being conducted by farmers who are donating one bale of cotton to the Center. Pat Hale is chairman of the County Committee and State Representative Elmer Martin of Colorado City is chairman of the project in the complete area served by the Center.

A goal of 60 bales has been set for Haskell County.

Hale states, "We are fortunate that we do not have children who need the services of the Rehab Center, but the fact that it is there in the event we should ever need it should make us want to support it that much more."

Farmers are asked to donate either the ticket and grade card from the bale or a check for what the bale was sold for to Hale.

It would be to the Center's advantage if the bale was donated because several cotton buyers have agreed to give a better than usual price and not charge any commission when selling the cotton for the Center. It will not be possible to contact every cotton grower in the County but attempts will be made to contact as many as is possible. Anyone who would like to donate a bale is asked to contact Hale at 864-2692.

Each week for the next several weeks a full page will be published in the Free Press listing the names of donors and the percentage of the 60 bale goal which has been reached.

The average price of a bale is $335.00 and if the 60 bale goal can be reached approximately $20,000.00 will be given to the Center.

Community Thanksgiving Set Nov. 24

The Haskell Ministerial Alliance has announced that the Annual Community Thanksgiving Service will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 24 at the East Side Baptist Church. Rev. J. W. Davis, pastor of the Church of God, will preach at this service.

The offering taken at this service is used to aid needy transients.

This fund is kept by the treasurer and is dispersed with care by the pastors to buy gas, food, or lodging.

The Ministerial Alliance must have your generous support if this fund is to be continued.

If you are unable to attend this service, you may help with this fund by sending your offering to the Haskell Ministerial Alliance, %Rev. Charles Kardokus, 504 North Avenue F.

The Ministerial Alliance would like to thank you for your support of this fund in the past and requests your continued support.

TribeEndsSeason OnWinningNote

The Haskell Indians ended the 1976 football season on a winning note by defeating the Crowell Wildcats 22 to 0. It was a cold, blustery night. The Indians probably played their best game of the season as they completely dominated Crowell, especially in the first half. In this first half, the Wildcats made 3 first downs. one of them on a penalty. The Indians moved the ball consistently on the ground; the only pass thrown was complete for a touchdown. The Indians had 8 fumbles of which they lost 6, but overcame these turnovers with tenacious defense.

On second possession in the game, Vonnie Hise broke for 51 yards, his longest run this season, and a touchdown; Haskell ran the PAT special with Kelvin Marshall dancing in for 2 points. The Indians played defense the rest of the 1st quarter and the middle of the second quarter. The offense was hampered by fumbles and penalties. Late in the 2nd quarter, Gary Mc-Adams connected to Archie Crim for a 47 yard touchdown run; the PAT failed.

Crowell returned from the half with fire in their eyes. The Wildcats had only to defeat Haskell to win district; but the night belonged to the Indians. Haskell could not move into the end zone, but braced on defense to stop Crowell on offense. Twice the Indians stopped Crowell inside their own 25 yard line. In the last quarter Kelvin Marshall dashed 31 yards down the sideline for the insurance touchdown and the PAT special was good

Paint Creek To Host Supper November 20

A special invitation has been extended to all former residents, ex-students, teachers and friends of the Paint Creek Community to a Thanksgiving Community Supper on Saturday, Nov. 20th at 7:00 p.m. It will be in the H. P. Morrison Auditorium at the Paint Creek School.

Everyone bring a covered dish and enjoy a Thanksgiving program and singing. Tea and coffee will be furnished.

The supper was originally scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed due to bad weather.

for 2 points with McAdams passing to Crim. The Indians then flooded the field with reserves and Crowell kept possession to the final gun.

This was the last game for 11 Haskell Indians; Haskell faces a major rebuilding season next year. However, a solid nucleus is returning with the likes of Vonnie Hise, Jimmy Browning, Rex Pittman, Dwayne Weise, Nathan Frierson, and Nati Escobedo, plus the undefeated Junior

HYH To Sponsor Four Families

The Haskell Chapter of Young Homemakers held their monthly meeting Monday November 15 at 7:00 p.m. in the Homemaking Cottage.

President Debbie Earles called the meeting to order and a short business meeting followed. It was decided to purchase a china cabinet for the Homemaking Cottage to display silver trays and crystal. They also decided to help sponsor four needy families at Christmas in the Haskell area.

They agreed upon one family from Rochester, Weinert, and two from Haskell. $300.00 will be distributed among each family for food and clothing. They will also bring canned goods, toys, and clothing for each family.

Haskell Young Home-makers voted to help with the swine flu shot clinic which will be held Tuesday Nov. 23 at the Corral Building.

A Christmas party was planned which will be held Monday night Dec. 20 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Wallace. The party will be for members and their guest. They will have a salad supper and gifts will be exchanged with secret

Martha Harmon from Lone Star Gas in Abilene will give the program.

After the business meeting Vice-Pres. Laura Alsabrook introduced Anita Herren who presented the program. She showed how to do "Scotchkins Print Art" which is done with watercolors and two brushes. All members present enjoyed creating their own floral bouquet.

Following the program, the Young Homemakers held their annual club auction. Shirley Sloan dressed in her Southern Auctioneer's hat presided as our auctioneer for the evening. Homemade items made and donated by club members were auctioned to the highest bidder. This was enjoyed by all. The money that was made will be used to help with Christmas Projects.

Refreshments of dips, chips and spiced tea were served by hostesses Jean Jeter, Elizabeth Hairgrove, Maria Pia Cullins, Janet Strickland, Mollie Moeller, Marsha Guess Pat Quattlebaum, and Laura Andress.

The next club meeting will e Monday Dec. 20 Homemaking Cottage.

Insure Your Retarded Child? One Protection Plan.

As stated previously, the parents of retarded persons need extra amounts of life insurance. NARC (National Asosciation for Retarded Citizens) Protection Plan is a group life insurance program devised to give these parents an opportunity to purchase the needed extra amounts of life insurance at the lowest possible cost, and is available to ANY MEMBER of a local or state Association for Retarded Citizens whose age is between 19 and 65.

A retarded person of higher level who will be responsible for the financial support of others does need life insurance. His ability to support himself and others and the cause of his retardation will determine the premium which must be charged in his case. Since company practices vary, applications in such cases should be submitted to several companies to obtain the most favorable rate. Since the NARC Protection Plan is open to all members whose age is

FHA Hears Lee Barnett

The Haskell Chapter of Future Homemakers of America met in the Homemaking Cottage, Nov. 8.

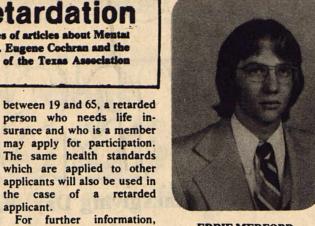

Floradean Hawkins, president, opened the meeting as the officers and members read the opening rituals.

Mrs. Lee Barnett, introduced by vice president, Debbie Stubblefield, gave a talk on home life in Germany. Mrs. Barnett explained to the club about how she grew up in Germany during the war.

After Mrs. Barnett's talk various crafts were shown and talked about. Each member brought a craft so the members would have a few new ideas for Christmas gifts.

Immediately after the program the business of the club was discussed. Refreshments of dips and chips and a special cake brought by Mrs. Barnett were served in the living room after the closing rituals were read. Mrs. Gilly sponsored the meeting since Mrs. Jeter was unable to attend. The December meeting will be the annual Children's Christmas Party for needy children.

EDDIE MEDFORD

Eddie Medford Named 76-77 FHA Beau

Eddie Medford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilda Medford of Haskell, was elected FHA Beau at the November meeting of the Haskell Chapter of Future Homemakers of Amer-

Eddie is a senior at Haskell High School where he is active in many school functions. He played football his freshman, sophomore, and junior year on the "B" team. Eddie has been a member of FFA for the past four years. He has been on the Farm Skill Team, the Chapter Conducting team and the Radio team in FFA. This year he participated in Ag Mechanics under instructor Mr. Howell. Eddie was chosen Lone Star Farmer, one of the highest awards that can be earned. Eddie has shown lambs at the Haskell County Livestock Show and the Abilene Livestock shows where he has won various awards. He is currently a member of FHA. In his spare time Eddie likes to hunt and work at his father's shop, Medford-Buick Pontiac. Eddie has one sister, Amy, who he likes to visit at Canyon where she is attending college. He is a member of the Methodist Church in Haskell. The Haskell Chapter of FHA is very proud to have Eddie to represent them for the 1976-77 school year.

150 Expected To Attend Conference

More than 150 cattle producers are expected to attend. a conference at Texas Tech University, Dec. 9, to learn, among other things, proposed revisions to the U. standards for grades of feeder cattle.

Frame size and degree of muscling are likely to be included in the revised standards, and Ned Tyler of the livestock division marketing service, United States Department of Agriculture, will discuss the changes and their effect on the producer.

'Beef Production-Tools for the Future" is the theme of this second annual Beef Business Conference, which will also feature talks by a leading beef producer and several animal scientists. Most of 150 delegates are expected from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Tyler will only discuss the changes under consideration by the USDA. Final draft of the revised standards will be announced later.

How ranchers can use wind and solar energy will be discussed by Dr. James H. Strickland, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Texas Tech.

Rob Brown, cattle producer from Throckmorton, Texas will make a joint presentation with Dr. Leif H. Thompson on artificial insemination.

want ad will find you a breds, has been using artificial insemination techniques for almost eight years. Thompson, assistant professor of animal science at Texas Tech, has as his current research interest reproductive physiology.

Genetics in improved beef production efficiency will be the subject of Dr. Robert A. Long's discussion. Long, professor of animal science at Texas Tech, is conference coordinator.

Dr. Billie E. Dahl, professor of range and wildlife management at the host university, will talk on brush control. Following will be a discussion on feed processing by Dr. Reed C. Richardson, ruminant nutrition specialist and assistant professor of animal science at Texas Tech.

The chairperson of the Animal Science Department, Dr. Max A. Lennon, will review current beef cattle research at Texas Tech.

Registration for the conference begins at 9 a.m. with individual sessions beginning an hour later. The conference will end at 4 p.m.

Proceedings of the conference will be published by the Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences. Copies will be available on the day of the conference.

Report SSI Changes

When you get supplemental security checks from Social Security, there are certain kinds of things that have to be reported, according to Glyn Hammons manager Abilene, Texas.

'We want to be sure that vour check is mailed to the right address," Hammons said, "and that we are paying you the right amount.'

'Be sure to let us know if you move or change your mailing address. It's equally as important that you inform us of any change in your income (up or down)."

Where you live, your marital status, your income and resources all affect your SSI check," according to Hammons. "It's up to you to let us know of any changes. If you don't, you could be penalized for failure to do so." If you have any changes to report, visit the office at 142 S.

Sagerton News

Sagerton farmers had a few days last week to strip cotton and sow wheat before the snow on Friday night. The Spitzer Gin east of town on the Stamford Highway began ginning last week, and both gins would have been busy if the bad weather had not hit.

The Golden Age meeting will be Monday, November 22, at the Community Center, and will begin with a luncheon. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish for the luncheon and arrive about 11:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Druesedow of Stamford were in Sagerton last week on their way to their farm near Old Glory. Carl recently had major eye surgery in Abilene. Friends are happy to hear that he is doing well and his doctor is pleased with his progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stegemoeller and family of DeSoto were here last weekend visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stegemoeller on his birthday which was Saturday.

Congratulations to two of our Sagerton girls who were nominated by the Rule High Football team as two of the three candidates for Football Sweetheart. They are Jill LeFevre, Junior, and Mary Macias, Sophomore. Wynette Williams, a Senior at Rule High, was crowned Friday night at halftime, just as the snow began to fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Tullie Herring of Amarillo visited with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer last weekend. Guests in the home of the Alvin Bredthauers on Tuesday night were Erna and Walter Schaake, Mrs. Emma Raphelt, Mrs. Emma Lammert and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nauert all of Stamford, Miss Lillian Neinast Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stegemoeller, C. F. Stegemoeller, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schaake, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nierdieck and Melissa. The occasion was Mrs. Bredthauer's birthday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nierdieck and Melissa Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bredthauer and Benny of Weinert, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bredthauer of Stamford and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bredthauer of Sagerton. The occasion was the regular monthly Bredthauer family

Community Christmas program is being planned for December 12, at 7:00 p.m., with all the youth in the community taking part. A committee of Mrs. Bill Hertel, Mrs. J. B. Toney, Mrs. B. P. DeBusk, Mrs. F. A. Ulmer, Mrs. Don Bivins and Mrs. Delbert LeFevre are in charge of the program. An adult choir of all in the community who would like to take part, will provide music. Practice will begin the Wednesday night after Thanksgiving. For more information, please contact one of the committee members. Mr. and Mrs. Oates Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verdie Oates were named honorees at a reception in Haskell Community Room Sunday November 7th in commemoration of their fiftieth marriage anniversary.

Their children, Mr. and Mrs. Wayburn Oates, Susie and Sam of Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Oates, Andria and Kristen of New Orleans, La. hosted the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Oates were married November 7, 1926 in the home of the late Rev. and Mrs. C. Jones in Haskell. Both are members of pioneer farm families of this area, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Oates of Rochester and the late Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sego of Haskell. Mrs. Oates, nee Nerva Lee Sego grew up in the Midway Community and attended school at Midway and in Haskell. Mr. Oates grew up in the Foster Community and attended Foster and Rochester schools. The Oates entire married life was spent farming northwest of Haskell until 1972 when the moved to 1107 N. Ave. F in Haskell. January 1st of this year they retired from active farming to a pursuit of hobbies which include fishing, camping, hunting, reading, writing, people, just whatever the mood calls for. They own an Airstream Camper trailer, Cabover Camper, Jeep, courtesy of son Wayburn and spend fullest. Both are grateful indeed for excellent health. They have been members of First Baptist Church in Haskell since 1928, Mr. Oates is a deacon and each has served in many capacities in their church and feels that, outside the home, their church has been the greatest single contributing factor to their life and the lives of their children.

Several varieties of flu besides swine (A/New Jersey) flu may be stalking the scene this winter. A/Victoria and B/Hong Kong are expected to appear but no one can predict if they will be as bad as in past years, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says.

When the Hong Kong flu first appeared in 1968, it caused approximately 33,800 deaths. Since the virus has been around several years now, many people have built up some immunity to the virus so it should not be as dangerous as in 1968. The Victoria flu caused about 11,000 deaths last year. Federal Center for Disease Control officials say increased immunity may cut down on its severe effects this year. In 1975 this flu affected mainly the elderly and the chronically ill so Victoria vaccine is included with swine flu vaccine for those two high risk

A physician may advise that high risk persons also get a Hong Kong vaccine shot. Flu shots need to be taken at least two weeks apart in case a person has a reaction to a shot. Most reactions involve a sore arm and/or a mild fever and minor aches and pains for not more than two days.

mixed together. Of course most types of flu have similar symptoms so it makes little difference to the victim what type has got him. Symptoms may include headache, cough, sore throat, runny nose, fever, muscle aches and a general feeling of sickness. The most uncomfortable symptoms usually end in a few days but the patient may not recover full strength for a week or more. There has been so much about New Jersey flu because people may have no natural immunity to it and symptoms might be worse. There is no cure for flu. TMA advises people to stay home, rest, drink enough fluids and eat a light diet. If fever is high or persists, a doctor should be consulted since other diseases may have symptoms similar to flu. A physician also can treat any flu

Responsibilities Small farms were exempted by Congress from complying with OSHA regulations during funding year 1977 in an overall Labor-HEW appropriations measure passed September 30. The law prohibits funds for inspecting and citing farms employing 10 or fewer emoyees (excluding members the immediate family) except when fatalities or multiple injury accidents are involved. By OSHA estimates, 87.5 percent of all farms in the U.S. will be included under this exemption. Joe Smetana, Vice President of the Farm & Ranch Section of the Texas Safety Association, applauded this move by the legislature to relieve small farmers from the economic and recordkeeping burdens of complying with the OSHA act.

'However," noted Smetana, "this does not exempt small farmers from the responsibility of insuring their employees and farm family members a safe and healthful place in which to work. Voluntary compliance wth OSHA standards for proper machine guarding, employee training, and using roll over protective devices is still in

New farming techniques such as minimum tillage sometimes take a while to catch on, but more and more row crop farmers are trying it and saving soil and money.

"In Texas, a switch from conventional tillage to minimum tillage saves an average of about five gallons of tractor fuel per acre per year," says T. V. Jamieson, regional agronomist for the Soil Conservation Service in Fort "Since some 1.5 Worth. million acres were farmed with minimum tillage last year, this amounted to a savings of some 7.5 million gallons of tractor fuel."

Farmers are using several methods of minimum tillage but none involves traditional plowing and cultivating. Some minimum tillage farmers plant a winter cover crop after fall harvest. In the spring, he kills the cover crop with chemicals, then seeds the main crop into the stubble of mulch with a special planter. He doesn't even turn a furrow.

Most minimum tillage systems require only one or two trips across a field from harvest to harvest. Conventional methods require six to 20 trips.

Since this farming system leaves the surface largely undisturbed, according to Jamieson, residues from the previous crop protect the soil. Rain falling on bare land dislodges the soil particles and they are carried away by runoff water. Crop residues left on the surface catch the raindrops and let them trickle gently onto the soil surface.

Jamieson said that minimum tillage methods have caused light run and attendsome disadvantages. Insects ance. tend to thrive in undisturbed soil and mulch. They can be held in check, however, if the Farmer anticipates the problem and selects the proper insecticide.

In a minimum tillage cystem, herbicides take the place of cultivation in controlling weeds and application must be timed precisely. Soil temperatures are tended to be lowered, thus affecting germination. Most of these problems will be solved in time by science according to Jamieson. Long term benefits though, may well lie not in farm economics but in conser-

Minimum tillage farming makes soil erosion a much less limiting factor. When soil is left unturned and protected by a layer of mulch, it can retain 50 percent more moisture than a plowed field. Minimum tillage farming can reduce soil losses on sloping land subject to severe erosion from 75 to 95 percent.

Jamieson listed some of the advantages of a minimum or no-tillage system:

-Wind erosion is a big problem in the Southwest. Stubble left on the field is especially effective in preventing wind erosion. Minimum tillage also cuts the amount of polluting sediment entering water supplies, streams, lakes, bays, harbors, and estuaries.

-An unfurrowed field with protective mulch cover keeps the soil cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

-Bare soils offer nothing for wildlife, but stalks, leaves, and scattered seed from a previous crop offers food and cover for game birds, deer, and other wildlife.

-Fewer tillage operations mean less soil compaction with heavy farm equipment. In a carefully managed minimum tillage system, row crops can be grown in narrow strips that are never touched by tractor wheels.

Special equipment that prepares a seedbed; plants; applies insecticides, herbicides, and fertilizers are available but not always necessary.

Help may be on the way for lowering the costs of feeding cattle. Initial research on a new compound called monensin has had positive re-sults at several agricultural colleges and test stations. Classified as an antibiotic, the chemical has produced an increase in feed efficiency as high as 13 percent. Average improvement in tests at the University of Nebraska was percent. On that basis a dollars and cents evaluation means a savings of about twenty dollars a head in the average feeding cost for feed-lot beef. Food and Drug Administration officials are expected to react more favorably toward the new compound than toward the still controversial DES since monensin acts only in the rumen of the animal and reportedly leaves no residues in tissue. Researchers say the compound enhances gain efficiency when used in amounts small enough to be comparable to adding one pint to 5,000 gallons of water.

Apply Now For SS Card For Holidays

With Christmas just around the corner its again time to remind young people who don't already have a social security card to apply for one now if they expect to work during the holidays. Many employers are reluctant to hire person without a social security card.

Despite the reminder, many young people will probably wait until the last minute because they think that getting a social security card is still just a matter of dropping into the nearest social security office and picking one up. But it doesn't work that way anymore.

Now when you apply for a social security card you are required to submit proof that you are who you say you are-documents that show your age or date of birth and citizenship, and a document which shows either your signature or photograph to prove identity. Your application is then sent to Social Security Headquarters in Baltimore, Maryland. There it is screened against existing records to make sure nobody else has the number that is to be assigned to you and that you haven't been issued a number before. The card is then mailed directly to you.

The same procedure is followed in getting a duplicate card when you've lost your old one. If you have the stub that accompanied your original card you may get a duplicate on the spot. If not, your application is sent to Social Security Headquarters, checked, then mailed back to the local office where you applied and the duplicate is issued from there. This takes almost as long as the original request for a social security number. The reason it is important for social security to be sure each person is assigned only one number is that multiple numbers may result in your earnings being credited to different records. This could mean lower benefits for you and your family when you retire, or if you become disabled or die, since the amount of your social security check is based on your average earnings over a period of years.

So don't delay if you need a social security number. Call us today at 698-1360 or come by our office at 142 S. Pioneer at Abilene.

Pack Parcels For Mailing

After you've picked out gifts for the people you play Santa Claus to, there are probably some presents you'll have to

How to wrap what-that is the nitty gritty the Postal Service talks about in its free booklet, "How to Pack and Wrap Parcels for Mailing." For your free copy, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 557E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Corrugated fiberboard boxes are recommended as the best general containers for mailing parcels. They can be cut to fit the size of the gift. And if you don't have a box with a top, two boxes fitted one over the other make a very strong package.

To hold the package together, one of the safest and strongest tapes available is self-sticking tape wth fibers running along the length. Cloth pressure sensitive tape is also good. Gummed paper tape reinforced with fibers is excellent, but probably not too easy to get for home use. No matter what tape you use, make sure you put enough on to hold the box from opening under pressure. Be particularly careful of the ends and

It's okay to use envelopes as containers for stationery and publications up to a pound in weight and one inch in thickness. But, don't put that special pen or humorous bottle cap in an envelope because it could burst out.

And, if you're packing several items in one box, you need to protect them from each other. Heavy items shouldn't be packed with fragile things unless you separate them well from each other with cushioning materials such as shredded newspaper, foamed plastic or corrugated fiberboard.

Finally, on one side of the package clearly print the name and address of the recipient including his zip code, and your name and return address. Be sure to put these addresses on the inside of the package too, so it will get there even if the outside address is damaged.

'How to Pack and Wrap Parcels for Mailing" (free) is one of over 200 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the current edition of the catalog, Consumer Information. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free catalog is available from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Family Week Accents Thanksgiving Tradition

The first Thanksgiving week of America's third century has appropriately been designated by President Ford and the U. Congress as "National

Signed by President Ford on April 19, 1976, the congressional joint resolution authorized the chief executive to 'issue a proclamation designating the week beginning on November 21, 1976, as 'National Family Week" and invites "the Governors of the several states, the chief officials of local governments, and the people of the United States to observe such day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.'

The popular measure passed the Senate with a voice vote, and met five objections in the House.

Thanksgiving and family are two words that have become inseparably linked ever since this rich tradition began with the Pilgrims 355 homes later, but for a while years ago in December 1621. 'Thanksgiving is the oldest something larger than themand most truly American of selves.' our national holidays," contended Ralph Linton, renowned American anthropologist. "It has changed less in its intention and in manner of its celebration than any other of our holidays, national or international. The founders of America had never heard of most of the things we now do at Christmas or Easter, but Thanksgiving is still very much what the Pilgrims made it: A giving of thanks for divine bounty coupled with a practical demonstration of that al tradition. Mrs. Hale, widowed mother of five children, sustained her family by serving as editor of Ladies' Magazine, the first periodical exclusively written for women. For twenty years she continued her campaign for a national Thanksgiving Day in her editorial pages and through correspondence to governors and other leaders in the nation. In the midst of the Civil War, while some members of families were brutally killing one another, she finally persuaded President Abraham

Lincoln that a national day of Thanksgiving would bring the American family together again. Lincoln issued the longsought proclamation on October 3, 1863, just one week after his famous Gettysburg address. Since that proclamation, presidents have continued the custom of proclaiming a national day of Thanksgiving, which in 1941 became clearly established as the fourth Thursday in November. Over the years, Thanksgiving time has come to mean family time more than any other American holiday. Writing for the Saturday Evening Post in November 1948, Roger Butterfield noted the remarkable influence that a now famous Courier and Ives lithographic print, "Home to Thanksgiving", had in building Thanksgiving as a traditional time for families together.

Stimulated by this picture of several generations of family gathering at a snow-covered New England farmhouse, and similar pictures, some 50,000 New York City residents journeyed home each year to their New England homes and families.

Massachusetts born Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, living in ieval times, even through the New York, added inmeasurably to the family spirit of Thanksgiving (and may have able lines:

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Comedy: I just wanted to write to you to tell you how proud I am for the Haskell Indian Band and its director, Mr. Wendell Gideon. I was at the marching contest this past Wednesday in Abilene and watched the band's performance and observed them in the stands before and after they marched. The whole town of Haskell should be and, I am sure, is quite proud of the Haskell Band. The band students did a beautiful job in their performance at the contest, and they were extremely well behaved before and after the contest. I happened to be with Mr.

Gideon and saw him being paged by one of the twirling judges. I went with him while he talked with the judge who told him that the Haskell twirlers were the best he had seen in two days of competition, and she bragged on them and Mr. Gideon for their excellent work. I know that Mr. Gideon is the humble type person who would not blow his own horn so I would like to help blow it for him and tell vou that you are quite lucky to have a man of his caliber directing the band in Haskell. I wish my own children had the opportunity of playing in his band. He is the type man that is truly interested in the kids and does a great job teaching them as well as all the other factors involved in becoming a good American citizen. I really am impressed with Mr. Gideon and the students in his band.

Personally, Dr. Charles Travler Director of Bands Abilene Christian University

Bentson Says People Demand Better Gov't.

Washington, D. C .- Senator Lloyd Bentsen Monday said in his travels across Texas during the recent campaign he found that more and more people feel they are not getting their money's worth from government.

'The people I talked with as I travelled around our state said a government that takes a dollar from them-whether through taxes or higher prices-and then gives back less than a dollar in services or benefits doesn't deserve their support," Bentsen said at a news conference in Washington Monday morn-

Senator Bentsen said one of the first orders of business for the new Congress and the new President next January must be to reorganize the Federal government, "to cut out some of the deadwood and weed out unnecessary regulations."

The Senator listed two legislative items he will be pushing: the "Sunset" bill and a bill that would require Federal agencies to cite specific legal authority for regulations they issue.

'I cosponsored the 'Sunset' bill in the last Congress and I regret that it was not passed into law. It means the sun will set on wasteful and outmoded government programs and I'm going to push for early approval of it in the new Congress," Bentsen said.

'I also want to take away some of the latitude that government regulators have. Right now they have sweeping power to issue regulations without specifying exactly where they get their authority; all they have to say is which law is involved. That's pretty vague. And it is far too broad. I think they should be required to specify what section of what law grants which authority when that regulation is printed in the Federal Register," Bentsen said.

'The people don't want more government but they are demanding better government. They are demanding value received from government for value given to government. And the Congress had better pay atten-

Mrs. Betty Tate Named Aging Services Coordinator

Betty (Mrs. Leroy) Tate has been named coordinator of services for the aging in Haskell County.

She is employed in cooperation with the West Central Texas Council of Governments and their goal in the program is to help the elderly people remain independent and in their own living environment as long as is possible and to help them maintain their role as contributing citizens. Her office is located in the Tri-County Clinic. Phone 864-

INTRODUCING ...

TO SERVE YOU BETTER

Inez Mobley came to Haskell National Bank on January 1, 1969, in effect, transfering her employment from First National Bank in Santa Rosa, New Mexico. People in charge of securing competent personnel for H.N.B. are ever alert to the prospective employee who has had previous bank employment. It is usually very rare when an "opening", and such an applicant appear simultaneously, but such was the case when Inez arrived for work. She began, where extra help always seems to be needed, in the bookkeeping department. Her previous experience served H.N.B. very well. She advanced to a teller's window, where she has remained for the past several years. The obvious things that tellers are responsible for, helping customers with deposits and withdrawals, and keeping an accurate accounting of these transactions, is only a portion of their daily tasks. Inez is responsible for all incoming and outgoing collections, assembling and mailing overdraft charge notices, and reconciling the outstanding Cashiers' Checks with the one's paid. In addition, twice each month a report of all Series E Bonds redeemed at H.N.B. must be prepared, checked and re-checked, then mailed to Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas. When her cash is in balance each day after the doors close, Inez checks the names against the account numbers of each Savings Account transaction for the day, to positively verify their accuracy. The general ledger debits are then proved, and merged with the credits, arranging these in accordance with the general ledger for posting purposes. Inez has put forth great effort to learn all she can concerning her work, and in assisting H.N.B.'s customers with courtesy and prompt service.

Inez is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Medley of Weinert, Texas, and is the widow of the late Bob Mobley of Haskell. She was reared near Weinert, and graduated from Weinert High School. She moved to Santa Rosa, New Mexico, and operated a cleaning establishment there for about eight years, before her employment with First National Bank in Santa Rosa. Ever mindful of improving herself, during her three years employment there, she completed two courses offered by the American Institute of Banking.

Inez has two children, a son, Joe Ellis Jackson, a graduate of New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, and is employed there now as Herdsman in the Animal section, and a daughter, Pamela, (Mrs. Joe) Josselet. Pam and Joe live in Plainview where Joe is a Loan Officer with Plainview Savings and Loan Association. "Far be it" from Inez to mention, but word has reached Haskell that a son was born to Joe Ellis and his wife in Las Cruces this past Sunday. Joe and Pam have a daughter, age 3, so that gives Inez a pair, a granddaughter and a grandson, and that's nice!

Inez resides at 1206 North Avenue G in Haskell, and is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, and the United Methodist Church.
