All Sports Banquet Set February 12

The annual All Sports Banquet will be held on Saturday, February 12, 1977, in the Elementary School Cafeteria. The charge of admission this year will be $3.50 per person. This is the banquet where the various awards are presented. This year the committee in charge of arrangements have chosen not to have a speaker because of the length of the program.

The purpose of this banquet is to honor the High School athletes for all the hard work and dedication they have shown throughout the year. All Indian fans are encouraged to come out, enjoy a good meal, and pay tribute to a fine group of young men and women.

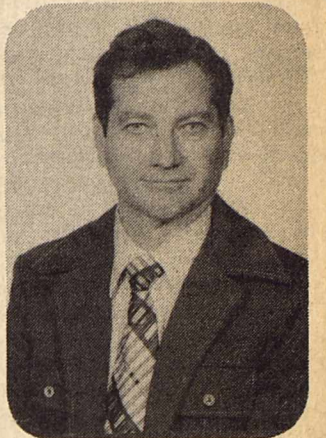

Lone Star Seeks Increase In Rule

Rule, Texas—Lone Star Gas Company's local manager, C. D. Jennings, today filed an application for a rate increase to provide the company an 8% rate of return.

Jennings said Lone Star's distribution system serving Rule earned a 2.15% rate of return in 1975 and that $13,248.00 is required to correct the utility's revenue deficiency. He explained that Lone Star has experienced increased costs of operation due to the current inflation, and unrecovered costs of purchased gas which substantially eroded utility earnings.

In June of last year, the Railroad Commission authorized Lone Star to recover 85% of its increase in the average cost of gas (above a base of .72 cents) from residential and commercial deliveries at the city gate. During the fourteen months ended August, 1976, Lone Star had unrecovered gas costs of $14.2 million for gas delivered at the city gate for residential and commercial customers.

The company's application would raise the average residential customer's bill about $2.32 per month, based of 8 Mcf (thousand cubic feet) consumption.

DR. RICHARD THOMAS

Short Course Set In Beef Production

A beef production short course for young and adult farmers will be held Jan. 24-27 under the sponsorship of the Haskell County Young Farmers Assn. Department according to Duane Gilly Haskell Vo Ag Instructor, Haskell and Tom Kutch, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture, Rule.

Dr. Richard C. Thomas, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Thomas has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Texas A&M University and his Ph.D. degree from Iowa State University. His graduate thesis was a detailed study of growth and size of cow and their affect on weaning weight of the calf.

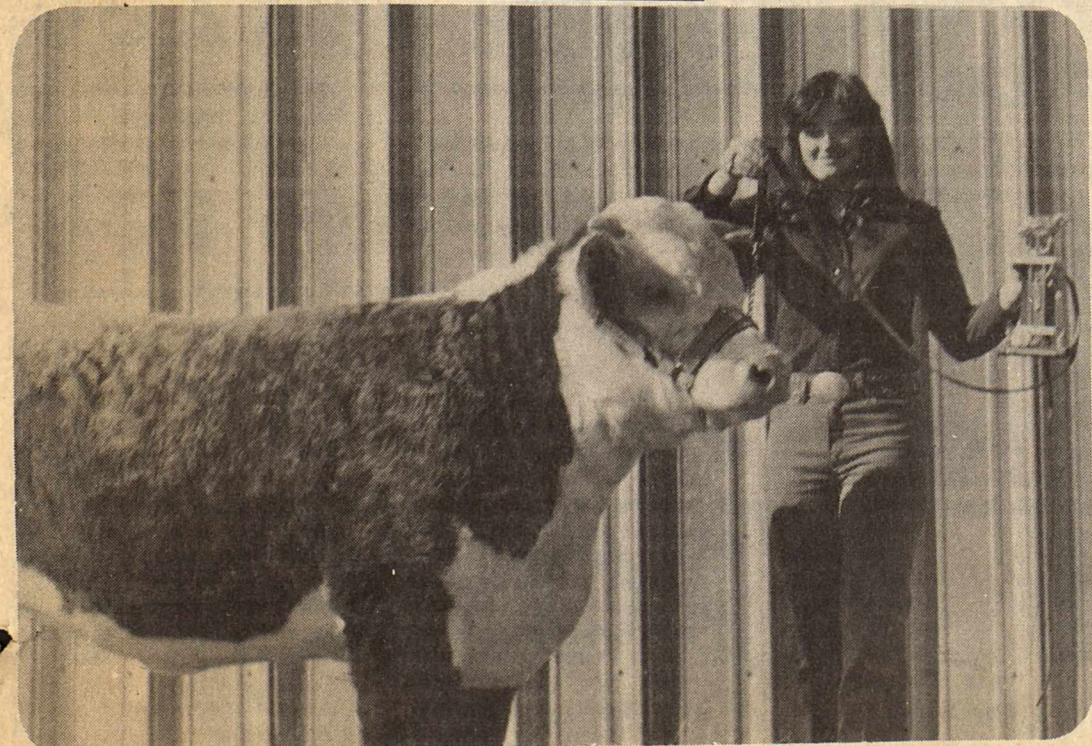

For the past seven years Dr. Thomas was in charge of the Beef Cattle Research at the Experiment Station at McGregor. His responsibilities there included the direction of record keeping and management of an 850-cow herd that was bred totally by A.I. and of a 500-head feed lot. This entailed direct supervision of the nutrition, health and reproduction programs employed there.

The short course at Rule is scheduled to begin Jan. 24 at 7:00 in the Vocational Agriculture Building. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Thomas will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Tom Kutch.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call Duane Gilly or Tom Kutch. An entry fee of $5 will be charged. Beef Production Short Course certificates will be presented to each cattlemen who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Thomas states that the beef cattle producers of today must take a close look at efficiency of production. Production costs such as land, feed, labor and taxes are rising without a relative increase in market values. The specialist also states that in order to deal with this type of situation, the producer must look at the costs and returns of the different types of production systems. Dr. Thomas states that considerable time will be spent during the short course looking at the potential costs and returns of some of the production systems. Selection of important characteristics such as fertility, ease of calving, size and growth will be discussed along with topics such as pregnancy diagnosis, range management, supplemental feeding and herd health. The course can be changed to meet the needs of the producers enrolled.

CONSERVATION VIEWPOINTS
USDA Soil Conservation Service

Assisting
California Creek and Wichita-Brazos
Soil and Water Conservation Districts

The benefits of the Soil Conservation Service programs are available to all people in conservation districts without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

This policy was the subject of an editorial in the December issue of "Soil Conservation" magazine. The editorial was authored by R. M. Davis, administrator of the USDA's Soil Conservation Service.

Davis was explicit in his assertion. "SCS employees are charged with actively encouraging minority land users to become cooperators with their local districts, to attend conservation meetings, and to participate fully in conservation programs."

One of the ways in which this policy has been carried out in Texas is the use of a public information campaign to help make minority land users aware of SCS technical assistance. Efforts have included production of Spanish-language radio and TV announcements and publications geared to minority land users.

The California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District in Haskell County currently has one Mexican-American cooperator. Gregory Pedroza of Haskell has been a district cooperator since 1954. There are others of this minority group in the district that act as agents and tenants of landowners under district agreement.

Bush and Burnett Ranch in northern Haskell County and southern Knox County, within the Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District is under district agreement with Ray Escobar as foreman. Escobar is of Mexican-American origin, and has done a good job in cooperating with the district program.

SCS has also recruited Negro, female, and Mexican-American employees who have helped extend the benefits of soil and water conservation to more people. The agency has also been successful, in cooperation with the Small Business Administration, in helping minority contractors qualify for small construction contracts awarded by SCS.

Davis said the Soil Conservation Service expects to see conservation aid extended even more to minority groups in the months and years ahead.

At one time the SCS office in Haskell employed Ray Torres of Rule. Ray is of Mexican-American origin. Ray left the employment of SCS to attend college. Charles Franklin, of Haskell High School football fame, a Black, also was employed at the Haskell SCS office until graduating from high school. Franklin attended San Angelo State University. He is currently on the coaching staff of the University.

New Math Program At Haskell Jr. High

In order to develop a better understanding of mathematical concepts, Haskell Junior High has developed an individualized math program under the guidance of Wayne Phemister. Mr. Phemister adapted the Conceptually Oriented Mathematics Program to fit local needs and abilities.

The COMP provides a comprehensive program designed to meet individual needs in mathematics through small group instruction. This program is a management program that is both diagnostic and prescriptive. Students are tested to determine their individual strengths and weaknesses and are grouped accordingly. The program provides continuous progress until the student is ready for algebra. COMP is designed to adhere to the learning needs of the individual.

In order to meet the philosophy, the students were roughly grouped by achievement levels and teacher recommendations. They were then diagnostically and individually tested to determine a starting level. The program starts on level 10 and goes through level 25 on the junior high age group.

None of the Haskell students in the groups selected for the program were below level 13. A few students started as high as level 17. Once the starting level is determined, the student begins working on an individual basis. As the student feels he has developed his knowledge of one concept, he is again diagnostically tested. If he does not show a score of 80 percent or better, he returns for more drill and instruction. Upon making a score of 80 percent or better, the student moves on to the next concept or level. Hence, a student can move as fast as his ability and motivation will allow him. Students with high math aptitude and interest level can broaden their knowledge at a rapid pace. The student on the other end of the learning spectrum can move slower and gain a more complete and concrete knowledge. Since math builds on the previous knowledge, the slower student can build strong conceptual understanding and make quite satisfactory even if somewhat at a slower pace.

In order to initiate this program the junior high developed a student aide program where high school students out of study halls help with filing, giving tests, and in some cases providing assistance on a one to one basis. These students are given a short orientation on their role as student aides in the program. Their assistance is proving completely satisfactory and helpful. The high school students involved are Giles Kemp, Cindy Thomas, Chris Colbert, Camin Kennedy, Teresa Jenkins and Pace O'Neal.

In evaluation of the program to this stage, two methods have been used. Each student has been checked as to his progress by level and matched with his achievement test math levels. No student in the program has regressed. In fact, all students have advanced at least to a degree. Several students have advanced several levels. The other method is in the form of student evaluation. The group who has been working in the program longer have been asked to write a short paragraph explaining their opinion of the program, especially in the areas they felt could be improved. Of the 25 students consulted, 23 were well pleased with the program and its concept. The primary suggested improvement was in the area of the instructor having more time for personal aid. The principal has also conducted a verbal personal poll of the majority of the students in the program. He has found the results to be very close to the written evaluations.

A file is kept on each student and is available for any interested parent. A letter will be provided to the parents to inform them of the progress of their child and what level he has achieved.

Mark White Appointed To Advisory Panel

Secretary of State Mark White has been appointed to the Federal Elections Commission's Advisory Panel on Voter Registration, it was announced today.

The appointment follows a meeting of state and federal elections officials in Washington in December. White was in the nation's capital to discuss Texas voter registration efforts which added some 1.4 million citizens to the voter rolls during a nine-month period.

The State's Chief Elections Officer said the appointment to the 8-member panel will allow Texas—already a recognized leader in voter registration programs—to have more input at the federal level.

White said he will push for one-way mailer applications which can be picked up at grocery and convenience stores, completed and returned, postage free, to registrars.

The one-way mailer program, administered by the states, will be more realistic than the federal proposal which called for the mailing of applications to every household in the nation, regardless of whether a person is registered or not. The federal bill would cover federal elections only and applications were to be available in post offices," White said.

White does not agree with these approaches as they would be wasteful of taxpayers' monies.

In Texas, an estimated 8.5 million citizens were eligible to register on November 2. The Texas registration effort signed up a record number 1.4 million Texans, increasing the number of registered voters from 4.9 million in January to 6.3 million in November, 1976.

"Almost 75% of our citizens are already registered and they don't need applications," White contends.

"In Texas alone, mailing a 13-cent post card application to 5.3 million registered voters would cost $819,000. At nine cents a post card, it would waste $567,000.00," White said.

White said the federal approach would create a dual registration system, one for federal elections and one for state and local elections. This would lead to voter confusion and disfranchise many citizens who would be unaware of the dual system.

Under White's approach, each state would attempt to locate its unregistered citizens through personal contact by various organizations and with the cooperation of the media.

Timely Tips For Gardeners

By Bernardine Wyche

Now is the time to start planning for beauty and bloom this spring and summer—remember the April Flower Show is just around the corner. Why not use these long winter days for designing dried flower arrangements? There are some good books in our Haskell Library to help you.

Here are some pointers and guiding principles for enhancing your landscape design: Take advantage of natural beauty, well placed tree, an interesting view etc. Use a garden bench, arbor or a well placed and colorful spot for a focal or center of interest. When placing a bird bath put it near a tree or large shrubs so birds can use it with safety. Dramatize and accent your entrance but do not "frame" your windows with plants.

Different levels, steps, retaining walls, planters, small pools and outdoor lighting add drama and beauty to the landscape.

Give leading roles to iris, daisies, perennial phlox, chrysanthemums and annuals (you can still plant poppies and larkspur if you hurry).

Design wide borders. Emphasize and repeat. Consider foliage plants as well as flowers. Arrange color in a front to rear wave.

Ways to take the back ache out of gardening. The once over well with spading fork or plow is essential. Add as much humus to soil as you can. Humus is the priceless ingredient.

Water ahead of an expected freeze. Firm the soil after a thaw. Water during a drought. Sulphur, an acidifier (good for our alkaline soil) use at the rate of 3 lbs. to an area 10 ft. by 10 ft. Imbed at least 6 in. below surface to become part of soil structure.

The big secret of getting a good start is watering ahead of planting. Open up a furrow run it full of water. Repeat three times cover furrow. Next day reopen furrow to planting depth, cover seed (not too deep) and firm soil, sealing in moisture. Now you have enough moisture below the seed for germination.

Pruning Tips
Always prune above a strong bud on outside of branch. Moderate pruning is preferable in this area of strong sunlight. Plants need leaves to protect their bark and to nourish the plant. Fruit trees, prune now cutting out bad crotches and limbs that interfere with each other. Grapes, prune very early spring before growth starts. Cut out all old wood. The same is true of berries. Pyracantha, prune when berries drop, after a branch has borne 1 crop of berries remove it to six or eight inches of base. Pyracantha make immediate growth below a major cut. Spring flowering shrubs, bridal wreath, spirea japonica, flowering quince are pruned within 2 weeks after bloom. Summer flowering shrubs, crepe myrtle, althea etc. Nandine are pruned Feb. to March. These bloom on new wood.

Farmers Union To Propose Tax Bill

Representatives of a group of almost ten thousand farm families today expressed dissatisfaction and an inability to agree totally with any legislation currently pending in the 65th legislature which would attempt to alleviate the inequitable burden of property taxes. A Panel of a dozen members of the Texas Farmers Union has worked for months researching and gaining public input into the problem of ad valorem taxes.

"We have found some good points to several bills," said chairman of the group and TFU Vice President Joe Rankin of Ralls. "We can support uniform assessment procedures, taxation of agricultural land by its productive value, and the state picking up the Minimum Foundation Program. But there are also portions of many of the pending bills which do less than they would have you think, and many of the proposals just don't scratch the surface of what must be done to lower ad valorem property taxes," continued Rankin.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman expressed his pleasure with the panel's findings and revealed that the group would present its own plan during a formal press conference at the State Capitol January 31, at 9:30 a.m. "At that time, the Texas Farmers Union will release a plan which could cut property taxes by 75% or more while equalizing and increasing the quality of education in Texas. The plan leaves additional local enrichment in the hands of the districts.

"It's not the perfect plan", says Naman, "but it will make us the only group in the State which has presented action which could cut property taxes by a significant amount and send $1.25 billion to the state's coffers to make up the difference."

The Texas Farmers Union panel will meet one more time prior to the January 31 press conference when it gathers along with hundreds of delegates and members of the organization for their annual state convention in Amarillo January 21-22. During that convention the 1977 policy statement for Texas Farmers Union will be adopted, a policy that contains the organizational stand on not only property taxes but also on matters of agricultural prices, energy, government regulation, world food policy, and many other issues.

"We think it will be our biggest and best state convention ever," said Naman. "It is an important year with a farm bill being written in Washington and the 65th legislature meeting in Austin. It's time that farmers have a voice and our presentation on property taxes is only one of many crucial issues that lawmakers must act on if they wish to keep the food on their tables."

Rep. Burleson Named To Budget Com.

The Democratic Caucus of the U. S. House of Representatives today voted Congressman Omar Burleson (D) of Texas to a second term on the Budget Committee. Burleson was elected to serve on the Budget Committee as a representative of the House Ways and Means Committee. Terms to the House Budget Committee are normally limited to one session of Congress. Although Burleson has already served for one Congress (the 94th Congress, 1975-76) he was one of seven Members of Congress designated for consideration to serve on the Committee for four years to maintain continuity.

Under the system of assigning Members of Congress to the Budget Committee, Ways and Means and Appropriations have three designated Members by reason of the importance of these committees. Even though the Committees may recommend the election of their Members to represent them in the budget process, they must be elected by the Caucus.

... Ever grow a gallon of gasoline? Lots of folks are taking a hard look at that very thing. Well, not gasoline... but fuels distilled from grain. Not unlike the legendary white lightning... a 200 proof product that will give nearly anything a start. There's no secret about the ability of alcohol to power combustion engines (the four cycle engine was invented for it) but the cost spread between alcohol and gasoline has made such uses obsolete for several years. Lately that spread has been noticeably thinner. Thin enough for a serious experiment with a product called gasohol carried out around Holdrege, Nebraska to get national attention. Use of gasohol (90% gasoline - 10% alcohol) in the Holdrege tests resulted in reports of 7% better mileage, better starts in cold weather, and exhaust emissions no worse than regular gasoline. Looks like the choice could come down to taking a drink or a drive.

More Earnings Available For SS In 1977

People under 72 can work and earn more and still get their social security benefits starting this year, according to M. Glyn Hammons, social security district manager in Abilene.

"In 1977 people can earn as much as $3,000 and get their full social security retirement or survivors benefit," Hammons said. "The yearly earnings limit for 1976 was $2,760. The increase keeps the amount in line with increases in general average wages."

For earnings over $3,000 in 1977, social security benefits will be reduced by $1 for every $2 earned. "But no matter how much people earn for the year," Hammons said, "they can get their full social security benefit for any month in which they neither earn over $250 nor do substantial work in their own business."

The 1976 monthly earnings limit was $230. Different rules apply to disabled people who are getting social security disability benefits. "And people 72 and over will continue to get their full social security benefits regardless of earnings," Hammons noted.

People who earn over $2,760 and get benefits in 1976 must send a report on 1976 earnings to social security by April 15, 1977. The social security tax rate remains the same in 1977—5.85 percent of covered wages paid by employees and employers; 7.9 percent of covered self-employed income.

The earnings and contributions base—the amount on which social security contributions are made—will be the first $16,500 of covered earnings for the year, starting in January. The 1976 base was $15,300.

Since benefit amounts are based on average earnings covered by social security, the increase in the wage base means that while some people may pay more in social security taxes, they will be entitled to higher payments later.

Social security pays over $6.2 billion a month in retirement, disability, and survivors benefits to over 32 million people.

Sen. Farabee Is Appointed To Committees

State Senator Ray Farabee joined other Senators and Representatives in Austin this past week as work began in the 65th Session of the Texas Legislature. First week activities included assignment of legislators' committee posts and the Governor's State of the State address.

Senator Farabee's committee appointments included his reappointment to the all-important Senate Finance Committee. Farabee expressed his pleasure at that assignment saying that "membership on the Finance Committee affords me the opportunity to take an active role in seeing that we keep a lid on state spending."

Farabee was also pleased that he was reappointed to the Natural Resources and Jurisprudence Committees. Farabee noted that the Natural Resources Committee would monitor legislation dealing with agriculture and energy, both of which are vital to the economy of the 30th Senatorial District. Farabee is also a member of the Natural Resources Sub-committee on Energy. "This appointment", Farabee stated, "will provide us in North and West Texas with a real voice in the shaping of policies which affect the vast energy resources in our area."

Committee assignments and committee organization were a big part of the activity of the first week but the initial days of the 65th Session were also highlighted by the Governor's proposals dealing with the reduction of violent and organized crime. Also to Farabee's liking was the Governor's promise to avoid any new taxes.

The Senator said he was particularly pleased with the attention the Governor gave to the medical malpractice problem. Farabee said that the malpractice insurance problem is one which affects every citizen and he indicated that the dilemma particularly affects areas of West Texas where the shortage of health care providers is critical. Senator Farabee has already introduced comprehensive legislation dealing with the malpractice issue.

Farabee acknowledged his support for many other issues touched on in the speech including the Governor's commitment to vocational education and maintenance of Texas' highway system.

Rep. Head Proposes New Amendment

State Representative Fred Head said he wanted to "send them a message" in Washington as he introduced H.C.R. 10 calling for an amendment to the United States Constitution requiring a balanced federal budget. "People in Texas have long known that to get any work out of a mule you have to first get his attention. I believe this amendment is just the 2 x 4 we've been needing to get Congressional attention focused on wasteful spending in the Federal government."

Head urged.

"The Texas Constitution has for many years required pay-as-you-go spending in the Lone Star State," Head continued. "Texas is clearly the most solvent state in the union and has become so as the result of this pay-as-you-go provision in our Constitution. I don't think it is too much to ask that the federal government join us in this type of financing, the wisdom of which has been proven time and time again. We can set an example for other states to follow by passing this Resolution."

"With the forecasted conservative attitude of President Carter to help lead the way, I see no reason why we cannot adopt an amendment to the United States Constitution requiring a balanced federal budget, and I am writing him today asking for his active assistance."

"Several legislatures have passed similar measures. If this Session of the Texas Legislature can pass H.C.R.

10, it will help leave a legacy of fiscal responsibility for future generations to enjoy."

Josselet HDC Holds Meeting
