Mrs. Sue Miller of Haskell has accepted the chairmanship of the Annual Spring Special Event on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. She will be recruiting volunteers within the Community to plan an entertaining activity to take place this Spring. Grant Approved

Congressman Omar Burleson announces the approval of a $37,298 Community Services Administration grant to the Aspermont Small Business Development Center, Incorporated. The grant is effective March 1, 1977, and will run for twelve months.

The areas served are communities within 17 counties including Knox, Haskell, Jones, Fisher, Kent, Stone-wall, Taylor, Nolan, Floyd, Crosby, Garza and Scurry.

The funds will be used for a program that will assist in establishing or expanding business and services operated by local individuals and groups; encouraging the location of outside industry for the communities; and promoting tourism projects and the development of natural resources.

Seven Area Youths Win At Stock Show

Area young people were named winners at the 81st annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show which closed its ten-day run Feb. 6. Winners from our area include Joe Wilfong and Cindy Thomas of Haskell; Mark Lewis, Kraig Kupatt and Russ Lewis, of Rule; Kim Hager and Stan Hager of Weinert. Premiums available in the Junior Livestock Division this year were over $52,000, reported W. R. Watt Jr., Stock Show general manager. He said the show staff is busy this week verifying judges scores and mailing out premiums to winners. "Our youth show this year totaled more than 4,000 entries," Watt said. "We are encouraged by the number of young people who exhibited their animals. It gives us a brighter outlook for the future of the agricultural and livestock industry."

"We are glad to be able to provide an exposition where producers of tomorrow can exhibit in competition with each other, share ideas and gain knowledge to help with their education," he added. A record $15,000 was paid by Fort Worth businessman Don Hansen for the grand champion steer of the show. The Limousin-Angus was shown by Neil Scott, 14 of Rising Star and a member of Eastland County FFA Chapter.

The sales of champion steers, barrows and lambs this year grossed over $174,000, a new high. Youngsters showing prize winning animals earned additional money through participation in the auctions.

Steer entries totaled a record 1,129, while beef breeding heifers had 919 entries. Dairy entries were at 216, breeding sheep at 225, lambs at 872, and barrows at 868.

Dates for the 1978 Stock Show have been scheduled for Jan. 27 through Feb. 5.

NOTICE

R. K. Sams, Supt of HISD received a letter from the Texas Education Agency this week that the school would not have to make up the day it was closed due to lack of fuel to adequately heat the classrooms.

Sams stated that the last day of classes would still be May 27, with the teachers having a workday on May 28. He stated that this would clear up some of the questions being asked about the day they were closed.

TIME DOES NOT CHANGE

The time will stay the same. That is until the last Saturday in April. For the past few days there has been a lot of rumors going around town as well as elsewhere that the daylight savings time would change this Saturday, Feb. 26. After checking from Abilene to Austin, we finally found out for sure that it does NOT. So you can sleep that one hour later for two more months.

McAdams, whose father played football at McMurry, was voted the top footballer of 1976 by the Haskell Booster Club. An all around athlete, McAdams was honorable mention all-district as a basketball player in his junior year. He is also the president of the senior class at Haskell High.

Little Dribblers

The Haskell Little Dribblers moved into their second week of play with another overtime game. This time it was in the younger league as the Braves defeated the Redmen 16-14. Also, in the younger league last week the Sioux defeated the Chiefs 26-16, the Braves defeated the Sioux 27-15, and the Redmen defeated the Chiefs 33-21. Last year's championship team, the Braves, coached by Conrad Roewe, continue to lead their league.

In the older league, the Mohawks in their only action of the week swamped the Warriors 40-14, the Apaches destroyed the Kiowas 38-20, the Apaches defeated the Blackhaws 30-18 while the Kiowas beat the Warriors 15-10. The league races are beginning to shape up in a very competitive fashion in both leagues. The Braves and the Mohawks are leading but both have already been played very tightly.

Choking on food causes more accidental deaths in the United States each year than are caused by airplane crashes or firearms. In fact, according to the Texas Department of Health Resources, choking is the sixth most common cause of accidental death.

Health officials say that at least 3,900 Americans die each year because food gets stuck in their throats. The actual number may be considerably higher, however, since the cause of death may be incorrectly identified. It has just been in recent years that health authorities discovered that many so-called heart attack victims actually were victims of choking. Incorrect identification of choking victims is especially tragic since the proper treatment must be given immediately.

There are three things you need to know about choking: what causes it, how to recognize it, and what to do about it. In spite of the high death toll in the past, choking can be easily prevented, and treatment for choking victims can be administered by almost anyone—including the victim, if he just knows what to do.

Choking occurs when a piece of food lodges in the windpipe, blocking off a small valve at the base of the throat. The valve controls the flow of air to and from the lungs; ordinarily, the valve opens only when a person inhales or exhales, and it closes when food is being swallowed. If a piece of food lodges against the valve, the victim can't breathe.

Obviously, the best way to prevent choking is to chew all food so thoroughly that no large pieces of solid matter are swallowed. As might be expected, the most frequent victims of choking are children; elderly people, especially those with poor-fitting dentures; and people who are drinking, laughing, or talking while they are eating.

It is particularly important not to confuse a choking victim with a heart attack victim. In both cases, the victim may gasp with apparent pain and double over; also, many heart attack victims do experience difficulty in breathing. The most important difference is that the choking victim can't breathe at all, and therefore cannot speak. Heart attack victims ordinarily remain conscious and can speak, although with some difficulty. Choking victims can't speak and often lose consciousness in as little as two or three minutes. Death is almost certain to follow in as little as four minutes unless prompt, appropriate treatment is given.

There is one technique for treating victims of choking that has been shown to be almost fool-proof. It's called the "Heimlich Maneuver," after its inventor, Dr. Henry J. Heimlich of Cincinnati. Dr. Heimlich found that there is ordinarily a reserve of air in the lungs that can be used to expel the dislodged food particle from the throat.

Using the Heimlich Maneuver is relatively simple. If the victim is standing or sitting, stand behind the victim and put your arms around his or her waist, a couple of inches above the belt line. Grasp your hands, just below the victim's rib cage. Squeeze sharply with an upward motion. This compresses the victim's diaphragm, forcing air out of the lungs. The maneuver can be repeated, if necessary, until the piece of food pops out of the victim's mouth. Recovery is almost immediate, although medical attention is recommended in case there are complications.

If the victim has fallen to the floor, or if for some other reason the standard maneuver can't be performed, anything that provides a sharp blow just below the diaphragm, will force residual air from the lungs. It's important to understand that a great deal of force is not necessary, and could result in unnecessary internal damage. Does this technique work? According to health authorities, the Heimlich Maneuver has saved hundreds of choking victims from almost certain death, and has never resulted in serious injury. The technique has been endorsed by the American Medical Association and is being taught to emergency medical personnel, and in first aid courses, all over the country.

The Texas Department of Health Resources also endorses the Heimlich Maneuver as a life-saving technique, and encourages you to learn and to practice this technique. You never know when it could mean the difference between life and death for someone in your family.

Washington

"As It Looks From Here"

OMAR BURLESON Congressman—17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C.—THIS COUNTRY DOES NOT HAVE AN ENERGY POLICY but it does have environmental policy. If there were such a thing as an energy policy, the environmentalists would not let it work.

LAST WEEK A FEDERAL JUDGE in Brooklyn, New York rescinded the sale of $1.1 billion in U.S. oil leases for off-shore drilling rights in the Atlantic ocean shelf, stretching from Long Island to Delaware. The suit was brought by the environmentalists who fear pollution.

THE EAST AND THE NORTH want oil and gas from our supplies in Texas at a price more cheaply than that which our own people pay. They are willing for us to take whatever risk may be involved in pollution but are unwilling to develop their own resources. This is what the so-called Emergency Natural Gas Act of 1977 was about when it passed the Congress two weeks ago.

THE GEOLOGISTS ESTIMATE that the leased area, extended off Long Island, New York to Delaware, can produce as much as 1 1/2 billion barrels of oil and more than 9 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. Forty oil companies went together to develop this resource but now they are blocked from doing so. In the meantime, the Interior Department has just ordered an investigation of all natural gas fields leased from the Federal Government in the Gulf of Mexico to find out if gas is being held back, waiting for higher prices.

THERE HAS NEVER BEEN A NUCLEAR GENERATING PLANT ACCIDENT but nine large generating plants, able to produce electricity, are shut down until they can prove there never will be any. All this at a time when there is an energy "crisis."

SUPPOSEDLY, EVERYONE is for a healthy environment but there is no such thing as perfection on this earth.

OUR FRIEND AND NEIGHBORING CONGRESSMAN, BOB POAGE, pointed out a few days ago what has happened to a proposed electric generating plant known as the Tellico Dam on the Little Tennessee River. A U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has stopped construction on this project at a time when it is nearing completion and after the expenditure of around $100 million.

THE SUIT WAS BROUGHT BY THE ENVIRONMENTALISTS to save a three-inch fish called the "Snail darter" which inhabits a 17-mile section of the river which is to be converted into a lake. The environmentalists say that the snail darter is an "endangered species" and contend they would be destroyed if the development were completed. No proof of this effect was presented and no contention was made that the snail darter was of any economic or ecological importance but, nevertheless, this source of electricity to be generated is denied the public. Efforts to transplant the fish to other streams in the area was denied in spite of the lack of proof that it would not survive or, as to that matter, any proof that there are not other snail darters in other places than these 17 miles of the Little Tennessee River.

IF THE ENVIRONMENTALISTS HAD BEEN AROUND at the turn of the century mastodons and dinosaurs could still be roaming around in the Los Angeles area. Compared to what is there now that might be good, but the story is that, because they were so dumb, they stomped themselves into great holes and couldn't get out. These places are called the tar pits at La Brea.

CERTAINLY, THERE IS REASON to be concerned about our environment, the preservation of wild life and the conservation of natural areas. At the same time, surely there should be common sense to balancing the benefits of maintaining our existing ecology against the benefits to be derived for people's necessity. Otherwise, as Congressman Poage said the other day, we head towards the extreme of the Hindus of India who let people starve rather than kill the rats that eat their grain.

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated five accidents on rural highways in Haskell County during the month of January 1977 according to Sergeant Frank Jircik, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and one person injured.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

Every year many people are electrocuted in their bathtub by electrical appliances falling into the tub. This includes electric heaters, hair dryers, razors and radios. Using a portable hair dryer while doing the laundry or dishes is also dangerous. If a 'ground', such as faucets or water in the sink or tub is touched, a fatal surge of electrical current can result. Keep electrical appliances away from bathtubs, showers and sinks.

Texas Nearing No. 1 In Agriculture

Texas agriculture continues to show its muscle, and Texas is making steady progress toward becoming the leading state in agricultural income.

With the conviction that "we can do it," Texas agricultural leaders in 1974 set their sights on becoming the No. 1 state in agricultural income by 1980. And a current look at the situation indicates that progress is steady toward that goal.

The goal of reaching for the top spot in agricultural income, with the slogan "On Our Way to No. 1," was projected by Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe. Because of the success of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in mapping out an earlier campaign which achieved the projected goal of increasing the state's agricultural income by $1 billion four years ahead of schedule, Gov. Briscoe requested that the Extension Service assume leadership for this second thrust.

"Looking at current figures, we are making excellent progress toward reaching the potential goal of Texas being the No. 1 state in agricultural income by 1980," says Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, who took over the reins of the Extension Service last June following the retirement of Dr. John E. Hutchison. "This process is based on income projections through 1980 made by our economists."

Pfannstiel emphasizes that while the effort is pointed to increasing gross income, the truly important thing is increasing the net income of Texas farmers and ranchers. Of course, this hinges on more efficient use of all resources.

"Agricultural income in Texas for 1976 is expected to total $6.618 billion when the final figures are in," notes Pfannstiel. "This is second only to 1973 and almost $600 million above 1975 figures. Looking ahead, our goal for 1980 is $8.436 billion. Assuming the normal rate of growth for the states currently leading Texas, we feel that reaching our 1980 goal should put us in the No. 1 position."

Actually, the base period for gauging the rate of progress toward the Extension Service goal goes back to 1968 when an initial program was launched called "3.76 in '76." However, that goal of $3.76 billion was surpassed in 1972, thus causing need for a new goal to be set.

A breakdown of Texas agricultural income as estimated for 1976 looks like this (compared with 1975 figures):

- Meat animals, $2.492 billion ($2.466 billion); Texas is now the leading state in the total number of cattle and calves, beef cows, cattle feeding and cattle slaughter.
- Dairy products, $326 million ($299).
- Poultry and eggs, $367 million ($354 million).
- Other livestock products, $48 million ($37 million) major commodities in this category include wool and mohair.
- Food grains, $530 million

($714 million); the big decrease was due to poor markets for wheat and rice.

—Feed crops, $992 million ($998 million) income was down slightly due to somewhat softer prices.

—Cotton, $1.087 billion ($516 million); this gigantic jump came on the heels of a strong market.

—Oil crops, $164 million ($160 million); peanuts are the leading cash crop in this group, which also includes soybeans, sunflowers and flax.

—Vegetables, $203 million ($257 million); most crops suffered from lower prices, especially onions, cabbage, cantaloupes, potatoes and carrots.

—Fruits and nuts, $42 million ($46 million); a poor pecan crop was a big factor in this drop in income.

—All other crops, $107 million ($79 million); this includes such crops as sugar beets and sugar cane, nursery plants and legumes.

—Related income, $261 million ($217 million); income from farm-based timber, fish farming, horses and recreation continues to show a marked increase.

What does this $6.618 billion agricultural income mean to the Texas economy?

"The effects of the agricultural industry on the Texas economy is tremendous," notes Pfannstiel. "We call it 'agribusiness', and it added more than $23 billion to the Texas economy in 1976."

BIG THICKET NATIONAL PRESERVE IS SLOWLY TAKING SHAPE

Slowly and carefully—a step at a time—the new Big Thicket National Preserve in East Texas is taking shape.

It still isn't ready for visitors, and won't be for some time. But planning—with your help—is continuing.

You may remember that last April an environmental workbook that discussed alternatives for interpretation, development and use of the preserve was distributed to citizens and workshops were held to get the public's views on those questions.

Superintendent Tom Lubbert said 200 persons attended the workshops and more than 125 written responses were received.

Lubbert said that as a result of the comments, the National Park Service has prepared a "proposal/assessment" of the plans for visitor use and general development of the preserve.

The document describes those developments considered necessary for visitors to understand and enjoy the preserve. It also described the environmental impacts of the visitor use and development proposals and it makes an analysis of the public opinions received.

The problem facing Big Thicket planners is about the same as it is in other units of the National Park System—to find ways to make the area available for public use and at the same time to save the values for which the park was established for your children and grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Lubbert emphasized that the planning process is slow because, when dealing with environmental values, it's best not to make mistakes. Once made they are hard, or impossible to correct.

If you would like to participate in the next step of the planning process, write Lubbert at 6725 Eastex Freeway, Post Office Box 7408, Beaumont, Texas 77706. He'll send you a proposal/assessment and you can make written comments about your feelings until March 31, 1977.

At present, much of the land is in private ownership and there are no existing facilities for the public.

But when the park, located in several different units 75 miles northeast of Houston, is completed, this unique "biological crossroads" will be open for nature study, scientific research and recreational pursuits such as boating, hiking and horsebacking.

In the meantime, why not try out another park in the area. If you are planning a vacation Right Around Home, write the National Park Service, P. O. Box 728, Room N-3, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501 for a trip planning guide to those parks within an easy drive of your home.

The Big Thicket National Preserve, when land acquisition is completed, will be a sprawling park containing 12 units. They are: (1) Beaumont Unit (2) Pine Island Bayou Unit (3) Lance Rosier Unit (4) Loblolly Unit (5) Menard Creek Corridor Unit (6) Big Sandy Creek Unit (7) Hickory Creek Savannah Unit (8) Turkey Creek Unit (9) Beech River Corridor Unit (10) Upper Neches River Corridor Unit (11) Neches Bottom and Jack Gore Baygall Unit and (12) Lower Neches River Corridor Unit.

Reddy's helpful tips for your HOME LAUNDRY

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.

Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess! Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

The fitted bodice was decorated with lace flowers appliqued with seed pearls. The full length organza sleeves were puffed. The headpiece held a floor length veil of bridal illusion which was edged with lace appliqued with seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of red and white carnations.

Mrs. W. A. King spoke on "School Taxes." She told something about how they are raised, how they are used, and how they are increased from time to time.

Mrs. M. W. Phemister spoke on "Title IX in Education" and explained that Title IX had to do with equal opportunities in education for all races and sexes through federal assistance.

B&PW Club Holds Meeting

Haskell Business & Professional Women's Club met Tuesday, February 15 in the City Cafe. The Public Relations and Civic Participation Committee was hostess. The tables were centered with red, white and blue stripes and clusters of small flags. The head table was centered with a world globe flanked by flags.

Callie Robison presided, Leone Pearsey read the Collect and Ozelle Frierson read the Emblem Benediction.

The program was directed by Fadwa Hassen, who told of some of her experiences after coming to the United States as a bride from Lebanon. She stated that she felt it a great privilege to have become an American citizen and that America was the greatest of all countries. After her talk, Roberta High sang "God Bless America" accompanied by Mona Bledsoe.

The hostesses served pie and coffee.

Due to extenuating circumstances, the club's meeting on Jan. 4 with the Social Security representative was postponed. The meeting has been reset for March 1 at 7:00 p.m. in the City Cafe with Kenneth D. Hargis as speaker.

Hargis, assistant district manager, has been employed by Social Security since July 1965 and has worked in Corpus Christi, Texarkana, Dallas, Ruston, Louisiana, and is now in Abilene for the second time. He first worked in the Abilene office in 1967-1969 as a claims representative. He graduated from Texas Wesleyan College in his hometown of Fort Worth. He is married, has three children, and lives southeast of Abilene in Potosi.

After Mr. Hargis' talk, he will hold a question and answer session. As there have been many changes in social security requirements, the club feels that a number of people in Haskell would benefit by attending. Therefore, the meeting is open to the public and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

IRS News

Taxpayers should double-check their tax returns before filing since errors can slow processing and delay any refund that might be due, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Some of the most common taxpayer mistakes on tax returns include mathematical errors, use of the wrong tax table or schedules, and failure to sign the return or to attach all necessary documents.

The IRS also urged taxpayers to use the peel-off label that comes with the tax package on their returns in order to avoid possible social security number errors. Taxpayers can also save time and speed up processing by mailing their returns in the coded, preaddressed envelope found in their tax packages, according to the IRS.

Cardboard chewing cattle may become more common during the next few years. Researchers say cellulose in cardboard provides a much better diet for cattle than newsprint materials which were experimented with for several years. Giving the new product the title, "Rumose", promoters are pushing for acceptance of treated corrugated boxes as a viable feed supplement in the feedlot for commercial feeders. Developers advocate grinding or pelleting of the boxes, then mixing with whey (waste material from cheese making) or other materials to make the boxes more palatable. One of the key researchers for this project is Dr. John Campbell of the University of Missouri. Dr. Campbell says the process of manufacturing the boxes may increase their digestibility which "approaches or even exceeds the digestibility of common forages". For cattle, "box" lunch may take on a whole new meaning.

Pressures Pose Greater Threat

Pressures today pose a greater threat to youth than at any time in recent decades, conflicting with their need to develop emotional stability. Mrs. Barbara Elliott, County Extension Agent, says.

There are increasing technological demands, social and economic demands, and personal demands on each young individual to achieve maximal potential.

This is the scientific age and pressure is thrust on youth to understand higher and higher levels of technology. But these scientific facts may conflict with basic family beliefs the youth learned as a child and still upholds.

The constant push for change allows no time for meditation, thought, or for living with an established fact for a period of time. Because nothing is ever at rest, it is difficult for young people to develop a sense of stability.

Social and economic demands necessitate more years in school—technical training, college, graduate school and post graduate school are becoming the rule rather than the exception. These pressures operate a silent, but never ending, threat to young people today.

In society that values people for what they can do, pressure is inevitable. Family pressures, psychological pressures, economic pressures, political pressures and peer pressures all exist for youth.

Some pressure can increase motivation. For example, a student with a high grade in a subject will probably feel enough motivation in the fact of an exam to study hard to keep his high grade. This pressure is good.

However, there is a point in which the youngster is adversely affected and achieves

$3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

The test, personal observations and interviews are all prepared and conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago.

Too much pressure can lead to stress and anxiety.

Warning signs are clear when this occurs—parents need only observe their youngster. Has his general attitude changed—is he depressed, extremely nervous, or turning to alcohol or drugs for relief? And physical symptoms—is he wakeful and restless at night when he ordinarily slept well, does he urinate more frequently, does he twist his hair or even unravel socks? All these signs point to a youngster under too much stress.

All of us are aware of the advantages of certain kinds of pressures and deliberately apply them. However, pressures may hurt and even destroy. When pressure continues beyond a youth's capacity, he becomes distressed.

The dangers of going too far in applying pressure are very real in our society today. Recognizing the warning signs helps parents know when to draw the line and ease up on a young person. Best, rather than most, pressure must become the goal of all. Some pressure is appropriate, too much is devastating.
