HASKELL, TEXAS, 79521, THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1977

NUMBER TWENTY-ONE

Celebration To Begin Tuesday

Literally speaking, the big variety show scheduled to usher in Haskell's annual Frontier Days Celebration and Jaycee Rodeo, will definitely begin with a "bang" at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 31st in the Corral Building at the rodeo grounds.

The show will last approximately one hour and will feature as headline attractions the Buffalo Gals of Buffalo Gap and a quartet. Other specialty acts on the show card will insure that all who are in attendance can expect the unexpected to happen from the moment the action starts on the stage set with a decor of the old west, to the final number.

The Buffalo Gals will provide some hilarious comedy plus a little bit of mellerdrama based on the history of the cow country, as they present their popular show.

A Haskell Quartet, consisting of Hubert Bledsoe, R. C. Couch, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Burgess will sing religious songs as they were sung long ago under the brush arbors. The members have also agreed to sing some old time favorite cowboy ballads, guaranteed to bring a feeling of nostalgia to the listening audience. They will be accompanied by Mona Bledsoe.

The price of admission has been set so that everyone can afford it, one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children. You can't afford to miss a bargain like that.

If you don't have a buck or so left after you pay your grocery bill, just swipe a couple of chickens from your neighbor and they will be accepted as legal tender. Actually you won't be taking any undue chances as bets are seven to one that the Sheriff will also be at the show and perhaps a participant.

Make plans to slop the hogs, feed the chickens and turn the cows and calves together and be present when the show gets under way.

Check your guns at the door and don't have any hard liker on your person, are the only rules you will have to abide by.

WTRC Coffee Project

Restaurants and waitresses throughout the Big Country are joining the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in the Sixth Annual Memorial Day Coffee Project which provides the funds for the Center's Summer Program for almost 100 handicapped youngsters.

Between now and Memorial Day, waitresses in restaurants within a 100 miles radius of Abilene will be selling plastic American Flag pins for $1.00 each to their customers. On Memorial Day, May 30, anyone wearing one of the pins is entitled to a free cup of coffee in any of the almost 100 restaurants which will be participating in the project.

Gift certificates from Luskey's Western Wear of Abilene will be awarded to the top waitress in each of five categories. In addition waitress selling as many as 100 Flag pins will receive a Luskey's gift certificate also.

James Hallmark, Project Coordinator for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, said, "We are very pleased with the fine cooperation of the restaurants in this project." "We were afraid that the spiraling cost of coffee might discourage some of them, but this has not been the case," Hallmark added.

Last year's project raised almost $7,000 and made possible a five weeks program of therapy and recreation for handicapped youngsters at the Center.

VBS Set At Church Of Christ

The theme of this year's Vacation Bible School at the Church of Christ is "God's Way for the Family." Many people have expressed deep concern about the break down of the basic institution of any society: the family. "Children need to be instructed as to what God's word has to say about the family unit," stated Larry Suttle, minister.

This year's Vacation Bible School will be conducted May 30-June 3, 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. each morning. The address of the local Church of Christ is 510 N. Av E. Transportation is available by calling 864-3101 or 864-2772.

Many activities are planned this year in addition to the Bible classes. Everyone will gather in the auditorium each morning for a period of singing and to see a special showing of the well-known "Puppet Players." Refreshments will be served.

The members of the Haskell Church of Christ cordially invite every child or young person of the community to attend this year's Vacation Bible School.

PECAN SPRAYING

County Extension Agent Max Stapleton advises that the first spraying for the Pecan Nut Casebearer should be between May 25 and 28. The second application should be one week to ten days later.

Homecoming Set For Oct. 7 & 8

Officers of the Haskell Homecoming Association met in the Chamber of Commerce Office May 16, 1977. Bud Herren, President presided. The dates were set for October 7 and 8, 1977.

All committee members were present for discussing the upcoming Homecoming for Haskell Schools which now include students and graduates from Irby and Mattson communities, as these schools are now consolidated with the Haskell Independent School District.

Speaker for the 13th biennial homecoming event will be Dr. V. N. (Ben) Brock, currently serving as Vice-President of Western Texas College in Snyder. Dr. Brock, a graduate of the class of 1941, is a distinguished educator, journalist and civic leader, having earned degrees from Hardin Simmons University, The University of Texas at Austin, and Texas Tech. He has received honors throughout the United States for his contributions to the academic community. Ben has been with WTC since its inception in 1970. He played a major role in the establishment of an extension campus in Haskell. Through this work, hundreds of people in Haskell and the surrounding communities have been able to continue adult educational studies at the college level.

Irby and Mattson students are also urged to attend the homecoming celebration since both of these schools have consolidated with Haskell.

Further details about the Homecoming will be given at a later date.

1975 FRONTIER DAY QUEEN was Norma Sherman. The 1977 edition of the pageant is scheduled for May 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the Corral Building. Local businesses will sponsor entries which will be judged for originality and authenticity.

Rule Native Active In NTSU Affairs

Sitting behind her desk, a converted work table, she talks with fluid hand movements, attentive eyes and a quick smile. Above her door, the sign reads, "Services for Women and Returning Students" at North Texas State University. She is the director, Ives June Casey.

With June, it is hard to separate the woman from her work, because she is deeply involved. The quick smile and sweeping gestures are signs of enthusiasm and concern. "We're the only center like this that I know of," she said. Other universities in Texas have some aid and information available, she explained, but not always in one place. Some offer services only because they have some of the information older and returning students need.

"Older than average students" are more than 25 years old, according to June. Many are divorced and some have small children. She estimates that about 20 percent of the undergraduates at NTSU are in this class of students. Some of these students have had a little college education before, she said, but most are in their first or second semester.

"I'm a returning student," she said, "and I faced the same kinds of problems current returning students face." But her interest and awareness of the problems and needs of older and returning students extend beyond her returning to school.

June was raised in Rule, where her father, E. H. Norwood, owns a cotton farm and her mother, Nona, is the city secretary.

When she got married, June moved to El Paso with her husband. He went to school and she went to work...at three jobs. One was in the business office at Texas Western, now the University of Texas at El Paso. Another was with the credit department at Sears. The third was beginning her family.

In 1960, they moved to Dallas, and she became secretary to the dean of nursing at Parkland Hospital. She also managed an apartment complex in Dallas.

Through her associations at Parkland and the apartment complex, she noticed an unmet need of older and returning students, she said. She became aware of some of the needs, such as adequate housing, jobs and child care.

These were some of the problems June faced in 1968, when she returned to school at El Centro Community College in Dallas. Like many of the students she now counsels, June was divorced, had children and had financial troubles because her primary source of income had gone with her husband.

But she found solutions and finished in 1970 with an Associate of Arts degree. She continued her education at NTSU, receiving a B.S. in educational psychology in 1972, and a M.Ed. in counseling and student personnel development in 1973.

This year she will receive her Ph.D. in higher education administration. For the past three years, while working toward her doctorate, she was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

But she is still tuned to the needs of older and returning students. She recalled her first day at El Centro. She said it felt great going back to school; she felt like one of the students.

"I was sitting there, just waiting for class to start. Really I was scared to death. Then this young man came in and asked, 'excuse me, but are you the instructor?' That did it. She said up until that point she felt like she belonged, but that ruined her confidence.

This is one of the problems older students face, she explained. "Many seem uncomfortable, they have doubts about whether they can compete with younger students." Many feel like they don't belong, she pointed out. This is one of the areas the Services tries to help. "It helps them get into the mainstream of campus life, so they don't feel so isolated."

The Services also provides career guidance, assists financial planning and budgeting, and aids with time management.

But aside from work, June likes to spend time with her three daughters, Vicki, 19, LeAnn, 16 and Jennifer 11. And she even finds time for racketball. "I love racketball," she said with a smile.

One of the most noticeable things about June, though, is her interest in her work. She belongs to eight professional and educational organizations and serves as an officer in most of them. She is also the co-sponsor of Students Older Than Average (S.O.T.A.), an organization for older and returning students at NTSU. The other sponsor is Barbara Jungiahon, assistant dean of student affairs.

June is actually the originator of the Services. She said, "I kept pushing for it." She explained that she talked to key people and worked on the funding grant. She was involved in almost every step of the process.

At first, it was the Women's Center, but the men's dean told her that he was talking to a lot of men with some of the same problems the women were bringing to the center. That was all it took for June to organize the Services for both men and women.

Other than the sign above the door, there isn't much in her office that tells about the Services. White plaster walls, modern furniture, red IBM typewriters, and file cabinets are common in the NTSU Union Building.

But then there's her bookcase. There are schedules of classes, course catalogues and counseling guides. There's "The Almanac of Women's Rights," and "Any Woman Can," and "The New Woman's Survival Catalog" and "The Single Parent Family Guide." They aren't just book titles, they are solutions to problems that bring a different class of students to June.

The Red Horses remain undefeated and lead the minor league.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Our continuing energy problem has brought out the native ingenuity of some Texans. In the search for methods of conserving energy and thereby reducing utility bills, a number of our creative consumers have come up with energy-saving ideas or inventions they feel are marketable.

With dreams of "getting rich quick" with their inventions, these amateur inventors could become easy prey for unscrupulous "idea promotion" or invention marketing firm.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys warn all such persons to be cautious when responding to advertisements like the following:

"Attention Amateur Inventors! Have you got an idea to sell? Let us market it for you—we do all the work, you get the big money profits!"

Enticing ads such as this promising that you can make money fast by getting your ideas or inventions marketed can be traps for unwary consumers. Not all idea promotion companies or invention marketing firms are unscrupulous, of course, but our attorneys have received many complaints about the ones that are. One of our Consumer Protection Division lawyers testified at a Federal Trade Commission hearing held in Dallas to probe the extent of deceptive trade practices in this field, which the F.T.C. estimates takes in more than $100 million per year from consumers.

Our investigations have determined that most of the deceptions in the idea promotion and invention marketing field involve the following misrepresentations: an exaggerated claim of how much the inventor can expect to earn by having the idea or invention marketed; false promises of special contacts the marketer has with manufacturers who may buy the invention; exaggerated promises of the legal protection they can offer persons seeking patents.

Also, many of the companies misrepresented their ability to evaluate inventions and conduct feasibility studies for clients, and overstated the qualifications of their personnel. Finally, most of those firms complained of were said to have misrepresented what they had had to pay to provide such services, as justification for their inflated charges to consumers. When you consider that many such firms charge $1,000 or more to market an idea or invention, and that almost all such ideas or inventions submitted by consumers are judged to be "highly marketable" by the firms, the extent of deception in this field becomes apparent. Reputable companies are as concerned as legal and law enforcement authorities about the activities of the unscrupulous firms.

The overwhelming majority of persons who pay such fees in the hopes of seeing their ideas or inventions on the market never receive a return on their investment. In addition, persons who have a truly saleable item could find themselves and their ideas inadequately protected if they rely on such firms to conduct patent searches or to process patent applications.

Experts in our Consumer Protection Division and the U.S. Patent Office suggest that persons who desire patent protection hire a patent attorney or an agent registered to practice before the Patent Office. Otherwise, an inventor may fail to get a patent or may get one that doesn't adequately protect an invention.

Ellen Walling Honored

Ellen Walling was honored with a gift coffee on Saturday morning, May 14th in the Frank Cadenhead home. Miss Walling, her mother, Mrs. J. E. Walling, Jr., and Mrs. Rieger of Waco, the prospective groom's mother, along with the hostess, greeted guests. About seventy-five callers were registered by Mrs. Billy Holmes of Abilene. Coffee and punch were served by Mrs. James Howard and Mrs. Larry Don Mathis of Rule. Guests visited over plates of fruit, pastries, sausage balls, pigs in a blanket, nuts, olives and pickles.

A cloth of light peach, trimmed with white ball fringe covered the table. It was centered with a net coverlet embossed with two fabric hearts bearing the names "Donnie" and "Ellen" written in white yard. White milk glass dishes and silver service pieces accented the white table trims.

A floral arrangement of fresh orange and yellow carnations, orange gladiolas, white daisies, and baby's breath composed the centerpiece. The beauty of a full blooming African violet of Mrs. Walling's added much to the festive occasion.

Welcoming, serving, and visiting with guests were hostesses, Mrs. Joe Holder, Mrs. Carl Bailey, Mrs. Jean Elliott, Mrs. Frank Jircik, Mrs. Charles McCauley, Mrs. Henry Harris, Mrs. George Fouts, and Mrs. Wilbert Klose. Mrs. Bob Colbert, also, helped plan and prepare for the party but was unable to attend.

Early Childhood Program Set

Mullino, Cartwright Repeat Nuptial Vows In Plainview

Roanne Cartwright and George Alvis Mullino, Jr. were united in marriage May 21, at the First United Methodist Church in Plainview with Dr. Marshall Rhew of Abilene officiating the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Drew Cartwright of Plainview and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Alvis Mullino, Sr. of Rochester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza, fashioned with a Victorian neckline of scalloped chantilly lace and long bishop sleeves cuffed with lace. A double band of scalloped lace heavily encrusted with seed pearls and sequins extended down the empire bodice onto the A-line skirt and around the skirt with detachable chapel length train with a row of beaded lace down the center back and accented with a Dior bow of organza at the back waist line. The headpiece was a matching lace edged chapel length mantilla attached to a Juliet Cap of chantilly lace.

For something old the bride carried a handkerchief of Belgium lace that belongs to her grandmother, Mrs. R. S. Zeigler of Plainview. Something new was a diamond drop, a gift from the groom, for something borrowed she carried a mother-of-pearl Bible brought to her mother from the Holy Land by Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Rhew and for something blue, she wore a blue garter, and she added a sixpence in her shoe.

She carried her bouquet on a borrowed Bible and taped with white Jaffee orchids, sweetheart roses and stephanotis, showered with satin love knots.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lonna Miller, sister of the bride and bridesmaids were: Carla Cartwright, sister of the bride; Mrs. Danny Nivens, Riva Hitt, Mrs. Sheryl Stewart, Reida Mullino, sister of the groom; Susan Mullino, sister of the groom; and Mrs. Stan Branam. Flower girls were Faye Mullino, sister of the groom and Felicia Leflar, cousin of the groom.

The attendants wore gowns of yellow Krinkle voile fashioned with a Victorian neckline, edged with Venise lace and full length Juliet sleeves trimmed with lace. The bodice had a sheer tucked yoke, edged with a ruffle of lace, softly flared skirt with a set-in band at the waist. They wore large picture hats trimmed with lace to match the dresses. They carried a single long stem yellow rose.

The flower girls dresses were of yellow embroidered organdy, trimmed in white eyelet lace. They carried baskets filled with daisies and gypsophilia and wore baby breath arrangements in their hair.

The altar table was graced with an arrangement of white mums, kelson daisies and daisy poms. On either side were spiral candelabra garlanded with gypsophilia and holding white tapers. In front of the lectern and pulpit were white wrought iron candelabras with lemon foliage and white tapers. The setting was completed by tropical Ipalmis and candle trees. Pews were marked by gypsophilia.

Candlelighters were Tommy English and Danny Harris.

Best man was Rocky Hill and groomsmen were David Harris, Sans Wilson, Mike Reimer, Kenny Cockerell, Randy Hines, Mac Hearn, and Cole Turner.

Ushers were Drew Cartwright, brother of the bride, Bud Hicks, and Forrest Mayfield.

The reception was held in the Church Parlor. The bride's table was laid with a Normandy lace heirloom cloth made by the bride's grandmother which covered a yellow liner. The table was centered with a nine branch silver candelabra holding white tapers which was flanked by the bride's cake and the punch bowl.

The groom's table was laid with a white cutwork cloth, centered with arrangement of yellow daisies, coffee service and groom's cake. Serving at the groom's table were aunts of the groom, Mrs. Pete Murray, Mrs. Bill Leflar, Mrs. James Reid, and Mrs. Hollis Riggins.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Koy Benefield, Mrs. Howard Hurt, Mrs. Frank Gabriel, Mrs. Robert Voelker, Mrs. Ken Owen, Mrs. J. N. Marks, Mrs. Darvis Foster, Mrs. Troy Fuller, Mrs. J. B. Roberts, Mrs. Ray Brown, Mrs. Thomas Field, Mrs. Ralph Palmer, Mrs. Denzil McMillan, and Mrs. Gayle Thompson. Ida Mae Powers played piano selections during the reception.

Rice bags at the reception were passed out by Ann Owen, Faye Mullino, and Felicia Leflar.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents was held at the Lubbock Club in Lubbock, immediately following the wedding rehearsal. The tables were covered in white cloths and decorated with English Ivy and Hurricane lamps. The centerpiece on the head table was of yellow daisies.

The couple will reside in Rochester where they will be engaged in farming and ranching.

Most of the big manmade lakes in the Southwest offer a variety of water-oriented recreation, and Lake Meredith Recreation Area in West Texas is no exception.

Water activities include boating, water skiing, sailing, swimming and scuba diving. You can also hunt birds or deer in season or camp, picnic or study nature. Birders find Lake Meredith a delightful place to pursue their hobby.

But there are bonuses for Lake Meredith outdoor persons of other persuasions. If your outdoor interest runs toward history or archeology, you can visit Alibates Flint Quarries National Monument near the lake. Like Lake Meredith, Alibates is a National Park Service area and it is the site of one of the most important sources of stone implements in prehistoric North America. There are guided tours at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. in summer months.

If you get your outdoor fun with the help of a powerful motor, try the Rosita Area of Lake Meredith where 65,000 persons a year, from childhood through middle age, pursue their fun in off-road vehicles such as motorcycles and dune buggies.

Local clubs sponsor a variety of competitions including moto-crosses and endurance races. Like most parts of the country, visits to the Lake Meredith Area will be a little nicer this year because of the Bicentennial. The people of Fritch, Texas near the lake, established the Lake Meredith Aquarium and Wildlife Museum in their town. Fishermen who need to be properly motivated before fishing should take a look at the native species of fish on display there.

Lake Meredith is 33 miles north of Amarillo, off State Route 136.

Other attractions you might enjoy in the general area include the Palo Duro Canyon State Scenic Park, south of Amarillo on State Road 217 and Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge, 12 miles southwest of Canyon.

The state park, famous for its sheer cliffs of bright red, features auto tours, hiking, camping, picnicking and horseback rides; the wildlife refuge, open daily, is a wintering ground for Canada geese, ducks and bald and golden eagles.

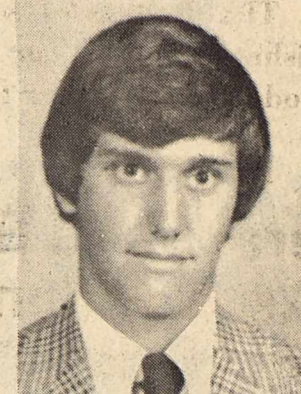

If you are planning a park vacation, write the National Park Service, P. O. Box 728, Room N-3, Santa Fee, N.M. 87501, for a free SUPER 77 trip planner which lists National Park Service areas within an easy drive of your home.

Use your Refrigerator Wisely...

- * Open and close the refrigerator and freezer doors only when necessary. Several items can be removed at once to reduce loss of cold air.
- * Freezers and refrigerators operate most efficiently when filled to the correct capacity. Foods should be placed slightly apart on refrigerator shelves for correct circulation.
- * Cover all liquids stored in the refrigerator (especially frost-free models). Moisture is drawn into the air from uncovered liquids making the refrigerator work harder.
- * Be sure your appliance is standing level so that the door seals properly. By setting a glass of water on the top, you can see if it is level.

HYH Elect Officers

The Haskell Young Homemakers held their Progressive Dinner May 16 at 7 p.m. Everyone gathered at the cottage and then went to Gerre Larned's home. Vegetable, fruit and meat salads were served by the hostess.

Everyone then went to the Christian Church for the main course. The Fellowship Hall was decorated in Mexican Fiesta style with brightly colored table cloths and paper flowers.

After the delicious Mexican food everyone went to Pasty Blakley's home for dessert. Various flavors of sherbert were served. They were decorated with paper flowers to carry out the Mexican theme.

When dessert was over a short business meeting was held. The new officers for the 77-78 year were elected. They are: President—Paula Everett, Vice President—Pasty Blakley, Treasurer—Pat Grand, Reporter—Mary Murphy and Parliamentarian—Debbie Earles.

H.Y.H. then presented Marilyn Holt with a gift and check for $300 which was earned at the Young Homemakers booth at the flea market.

It was voted by the club to contribute $100 for lightning of the Haskell tennis courts.

H.Y.H. also planned a summer social which will be a swimming party to be held sometime in July.

The Y.H. next meeting will be in August. The installation banquet will be held and secret pals will be revealed.

Retiring officers and heads of the various committees acted as hostess for the meeting. The tables were decorated with bright pots of spring flowers. Gay hand made gingham butterflies hovered around each pot of flowers.

President Callie Robison, presided for the business meeting. Committee reports for the year were read and approved. The members discussed projects for the coming year.

The president introduced Mrs. Roxie Parker, who in a most beautiful, and challenging way installed the new officers for the 1977-78 term. Officers installed were: President—Novella Rastetter; First Vice President—Ramia Lee Frazier; Second Vice President—Dora Montgomery; Treasurer—Clara Biard; Secretary—Edna Mae Lyles; Parliamentarian—Callie Robison; Reporter—Madalin Hunt; Scrapbook—Ozelle Frierson.

Catch Hail For Research

"Hail falling? Don't let it melt. We need your hailstones, golfball-size or larger only, individually wrapped and fresh frozen."

Texas Tech University industrial engineers are requesting unmelted, fresh hailstones to be used in a study of hail damage to solar mirrors.

If you have some hailstones the engineers can pick up, Dr. Milton L. Smith of the Industrial Engineering Department urges you to call or write him. Call collect at (806) 742-3404, or write Dr. Smith at the department, College of Engineering, Texas Tech University, 79409.

A part of the Texas Tech solar energy research project at Crosbyton, the hail damage study requires golfball-size or larger hailstones. As Smith said, "the larger the better."

Smith and associates Dr. Joseph E. Minor and Lynn Beason, both in the Civil Engineering Department, will fire the hailstones from an air gun at sample solar mirror glass.

"We can fire the hailstones at the approximate velocity with which they would fall in a hail storm," Smith said.

"For example, a two-and-a-half-inch hailstone would fall at the speed of about 150 miles per hour. Smaller hail of course would fall at slower speeds. We can duplicate these conditions."

The researchers will then assess the damage caused by the artificial hail storm. Later they will try to devise means to reduce hail damage to constantly exposed solar mirrors.

"Glass windows are ordinarily vertical, but solar collectors form a concave dish at times horizontal, or almost so, to the sky, and thus more exposed to hail storms."

Results of the research will be helpful to scientists studying the feasibility of locating a solar-powered electricity plant at Crosbyton or anywhere else. Also, individual solar-energy homes with roof collectors will benefit from the weather-oriented information, Smith said.

The engineer outlined how to collect the hailstones.

"The hailstones must be collected soon after they fall and before they begin to melt. It is desirable to wrap each stone separately, preferably in wax paper, and then place them all in plastic bags and immediately into a freezer."

"We cannot use a block of ice formed from hailstones."

The engineers are seeking hailstones within a 100-mile radius of Lubbock but will travel as far as Amarillo and its immediate vicinity for some of the natural ice.

"The hail season is nearing its end on the South Plains, with its one and a half to three and a half hail days per year averages. We would appreciate any help with this collection of hailstones we can get," Smith said.

Burleson Is Soliciting Applications

Congressman Omar Burleson reminds young persons who are interested in competing for nominations to the service academies, for the class entering July 1978, he uses a competitive method of selection so that all young persons who meet the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. These institutions offer a fine education and a great opportunity for service to their country by young persons who wish to follow a military career.

In order for Congressman Burleson to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: (1) Must be a U. S. citizen; (2) Must be over 17 and a legal resident of the 17th Congressional District; (3) Must be under 22 years of age on July 1, 1978; (4) Must never have been married; (5) Must be physically fit, including excellent eyesight; (6) Must have a good high school record.

Burleson stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nominations to the Academies. The important thing is not who you know but what you are.

Interested young persons who meet the above requirements should write Congressman Omar Burleson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, no later than July 16. Examinations will then be scheduled as a rating device to set up slates for nomination. The competition is keen but Congressman Burleson wants to assure that all young persons who are interested in a military career may have an opportunity to compete for nomination.

Grocery Baskets Soon Hold Bounty of Summer Harvest

AUSTIN—Grocery baskets will soon be "brimming over" with fresh fruits and vegetables, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, as this year's harvest moves into high gear.

"Our good Texas-raised products are among the best buys at the marketplace,"

Brown said, reminding consumers that "miles-fresher foods from Texas are the best food values both economically and nutritionally."

In the Coastal Bend area, Brown said, the cucumber harvest is already underway in a few fields and watermelons are developing well as harvest approaches. Cabbage, carrot, onion and potato harvest continues in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, with the citrus harvest nearing completion. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service shows most vegetables and fruits making good progress throughout the state, with some replanting of melons and squash due to water damage along the Upper Gulf Coast and cool temperatures retarding growth on earlier fields of beans and peas in the East Texas area.

In the San Antonio-Winter Garden area, wet weather slowed field activities in some section, but onions and cucumbers are making good growth.

One of the best peach crops in years is expected. Producers are thinning their crops and, with continued favorable weather, harvest should be underway by the middle of May.

Cancer Center

Cancer Center workers meet each Thursday on the third floor of the Courthouse from 2 until 4 p.m.

Workers for the past two months were Dora Klose, Ethel Thomas, Donna Thomas, Maye Bledsoe, Reba Wheatley, Wilma Wallace, Era Davis, Mae Brock, Laura Overton, Grace Montgomery, Florence Darden, Lucille McCurley, Alice Mayes, Della Corzine, and Hettie Underwood.

"As It Looks"

From Here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman — 17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C.—IN MANY INSTANCES, GOVERNMENT IS THE PROBLEM and not the solution to our problems. The Federal Government knows that much more oil and gas are to be found offshore but the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches have thrown up a string of roadblocks to rapid development of offshore oil and gas.

AS FOR THE ENVIRONMENTALISTS, we remember that they delayed construction of the Alaskan pipeline for five years and caused the price of construction to be almost doubled. The pipeline could have been in operation in the latter part of 1973, the year of the Arab oil embargo.

THE ADMINISTRATION HAS NOW ACCEPTED NOTIONS advanced by the anti-nuclear lobbyists, foes of the automobile, opponents of de-regulation of natural gas and the extremists who want to prevent the speedy development of new coal mines. Serious in the long term is the abandonment of the development of the nuclear breeder reactor which, according to some of the best scientific minds, could be the source of tremendous energy in just a few years. After the expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars, the President has announced the indefinite deferral of the reprocessing and recycling of plutonium produced in the U. S. nuclear power programs. The announced purpose of this action is to reduce the risk of the spread of the process which could be turned into atomic weapons.

THE PROLIFERATION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS CAPABILITY is and should be a legitimate concern of all Nations. The fact is that we are not the only Nation which has the capability of producing such weapons and, according to the scientists, the breeder reactor is not necessary to make bombs. A number of other alternatives already developed are being used in a number of Nations and there is no indication that they will follow the U. S. in limiting any process within their capability. Certainly, we should continue every effort between Nations to do the best possible to stop the spread of nuclear weapons. This, however, should have little to do with developing the breeder reactor, using spent uranium fuel for the generation of electric power. The scientists tell us that the recycling holds the greatest potential of any source of fuel known to man. As explained in layman's terms, the full development of the plutonium breeder reactor could furnish our energy requirements for the next 700 years. It seems to be the perpetual motion of energy—the process lives on itself—hence the term "breeder."

THIS IS FOR THE LONGER RANGE. The short range is to lift Government restrictions on coal mining, the development of oil from shale, offshore drilling and converting coal into synthetic gas to supplement natural gas supplies. Common sense should tell us that we simply have to have more sources of energy regardless of how much conservation we practice. Conservation alone can lead to more unemployment and a lower standard of living. America has become a powerful Nation because it learned to use vast amounts of energy and to do nothing more than conserve could turn back the clock.

THERE WAS AN ENERGY CRISIS IN 1910 when it was predicted by some "experts" that there would be no more petroleum by 1919. In 1919 they said we would be without oil in 20 years. The same thing happened in the 1930's and, again, in 1946.

THIS CRISIS IS NO DOUBT DIFFERENT but our ingenuity to overcome it is much better than it was in those years past—if the Federal Government will just let some things alone.

DISCO 77 to Premiere
In the Longhorn State

DISCO 77, the exciting and fast-paced music show dedicated to the disco craze that has permeated the American music scene over the past year is premiering in Texas June 4. The show will be seen Saturdays at 1:00 a.m. on KXAS-TV, Dallas; KPRC-TV, Houston; KTBC-TV, Austin, and KENS-TV, San Antonio.

The show dispenses with the usual chatter associated with music shows and concentrates on presenting, in a unique way, the biggest names in the music world today. It's a production of pure music and dance. Each half-hour segment is filled with three or four performers, doing a total of five musical numbers, plus an additional number with disco dancers on camera. Each show will have a guest host as well.

The series is taped before a live audience, primarily at Pete and Lenny's Discotheque in Fort Lauderdale, south Florida's leading disco nightspot. One segment in each show is taped on location at various "hotspots" in Florida including the famed Fontainebleau Hotel.

DISCO 77 is produced for Disco-Vision Productions, Inc., by Marcus Productions, directed by award winning Steve Marcus, and is syndicated by Vitt Media International, of New York. A total of 13 shows will be produced, with 13 re-runs, for the 26-week series.

The show is sponsored nationally by Star Brite Distributing, Inc., of Miami, a leading manufacturer of auto, marine and aviation care products.

"Our primary goal is to paint pictures with music," says executive producer

Steve Marcus, pointing out that equipment valued at $2 million is utilized in taping and editing DISCO 77.

"We spent approximately 20 hours in the editing studio to come up with one half-hour segment just the way we wanted it. We believe DISCO 77 is the most highly polished music show ever produced for television."

Farm Bureau Urges Repeal Of OSHA

The Haskell County Farm Bureau has asked Congress- man Omar Burleson of Anson to co-sponsor a bill that would repeal OSHA (Occupational Health and Safety Act).

J. W. Aycock of Haskell, president of the local county Farm Bureau said Rep. Steven Symms of Idaho introduced H.R. 1348 which would repeal OSHA. County Farm Bureau throughout the nation are contacting their respective Congressmen to ask that they co-sponsor the measure.

In his letter to Congressman Burleson, the county president said that Farm Bureau's policy on the matter reads:

"The Occupational Safety and Health Act is detrimental to the American farmer and the American public and is a usurpation by the federal government of state, local, and individual rights. The Act does not fall within the responsibilities assigned by our Constitution to the federal government. We therefore favor the complete repeal of this Act. Farm Bureau should take the lead in an all-out effort to achieve this important objective."

Mr. Aycock said the one-sentence Symms bill was introduced at the request of Farm Bureau "as the only way to put an end to the ever-increasing number of regulations and the arrogant administration by this federal agency."

The county president said OSHA tactics violate the rights guaranteed under the Fourth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution against "un-reasonable searches and seizures." He said that OSHA inspectors now enter private premises without a warrant, without probable cause to secure a warrant, and arbitrarily impose fines administratively without recourse to a trial by jury.

Sunshine Club Has Meeting

The Sunshine Club met in the newly decorated home of Mrs. C. E. Smith on May 10 for a salad luncheon.

This was the 40th anniversary of the club. The club was organized by Maude Lee Jones and she and Wilma Brown are the only charter members. Mrs. Jones was ill and could not attend the luncheon. Beautiful flowers decorated the home. Delia Ashley gave the invocation.

After a bountiful meal was served, a short business meeting was held with the Pres. Bonnie Mason, presiding. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and dues collected. The treasurer was requested to send an offering to the Rehabilitation Center in Abilene.

Hilah Swinson dismissed the meeting. After expressing their thanks to Mrs. Smith the guests departed. Lula Smith was the hostess.

Members of the Council also set dog vaccination day for June 23 at the fair grounds. Cost of the vaccination will be $3.50 and the optional City Tag will be $1.00.

Preston Coomer, representing Triple C Sanitation Service presented a proposal to the Council concerning the present garbage collection system and compared it to a completely containerized system. Members of the Council discussed the proposal and agreed to study it further.

History Lives Again

History lives again in Abilene June 11 and 12, when outdoor cooks from all over the Southwest convene to honor the trail cooks of yesteryear, who helped make it possible for the cattle industry in Texas to develop.

The 5th Annual International Cowboy Campfire Cook-Off will feature competition among professionals, amateurs and young folks, all of whom will be trying to imitate as closely as possible the feats of the old-time chuck wagon cooks. Substantial prize money in each division encourages their best efforts, but the spirit of the event is generated by nostalgia.

Before the railroads came to Texas, cattle had to be herded north for shipment to the markets in the midwest. During that era, the chuck-wagon cook had his heyday, and Abilene's annual celebration of his contribution to history offers many attractions for visitors.

In addition to the cooking contest, there will be such things as a horse show, a bluegrass music festival, a cow-chip tossing contest, and exhibits of arts and crafts, including saddle and boot making.

The scene for the Cook-Off is Old Abilene Town, a reconstruction of an early day Texas city, and the main street is the focal point for many of the activities. Staged "gun-fights" in the middle of town capture the youngsters imagination, and there are many older people who can remember living in a town not unlike the setting for the festivities.

But the main event is the cooking. The amateurs and the youth division kick off on Saturday, followed by professional cooks on Sunday. All will be competing for valuable prizes, with top money in the professional division being $1,000.

The idea is to duplicate as closely as possible the cooking that was done on the cattle trails around a hundred years ago. New-fangled gadgets are strictly forbidden, and all cooks use the dutch ovens, enamel coffee pots and roasting spits that the old-timers used. In addition to the prizes for the quality of food, additional prizes are given for authenticity of the campsite.

For the meal, contestants are required to produce a main dish with a vegetable, some kind of bread, coffee and a dessert. Another dish can be added at the contestant's option. No premixed ingredients are allowed, and the foods are limited to things that were actually available to the trail cooks.

Judging is on the basis of taste, appearance and menu planning. Contestants are judged at twenty-minute intervals throughout the day.

Over 10,000 persons attended last year's Cook-Off, and event planners expect over 15,000 this year. With new events added every year, the Cook-Off has grown to become a true western heritage festival.

The admission price of $1.00 for adults and 50c for children entitled visitors to view all events free of additional charge.

Plastic food has come one step closer with the successful marketing of a new human food protein called "Torutein." This latest step away from natural protein is a derivative of petroleum grown as a yeast from a culture of ethyl alcohol. Most of the buyers will be food processors trying to enhance the flavor of simulated foods now on the market and running into consumer resistance because of taste. Another major market will be bakery products where the oily invader has the extra advantage of a nutritive complement in addition to protein (its only high amino acid, lysine, is desirable in most bakery products). If nothing else, the time and money which went into the research and marketing of an oil-derived protein should illustrate to everyone the critical importance of research to develop and enhance all food-protein sources.

Church in the Fellowship Hall of the church on May 17th.

Mrs. Olis Macon, president called the meeting to order and Mrs. Rex Murray led in prayer. Mrs. Lewis compared the lives of two women of the Bible, Jezebel and Lydia in her program. She told of how Jezebel was a wicked queen, a patroness of idolatry, vain, revengeful, a murderess who incited her husband to evil and how she met a terrible death. In comparison was Lydia, a devout person who worshiped God, welcomed Christian missionaries and held prayer meetings. Lydia was a business woman who sold purple dye but, she put God before her business and always served him first.

A short discussion was held following the interesting program and Mrs. J. N. Cornelius led the closing prayer.

Library News

Summer Reading Program
"Jungle Journey" will be the theme for the 1977 Summer Reading Program at the Haskell County Library. Registration will begin Wednesday, June 1st.

Attractive certificates will be awarded in August for those reading ten books. This year's certificates include space for additional reading. The program is sponsored by the Texas State Library and the Haskell County Library.

School Class Visits
Haskell Elementary third graders walked from school to the library last week. The tour was enjoyed by all. While one group toured the library and checked out a book of their choice, the others enjoyed the beautiful yard, played games and sang songs before returning to school.

Earlier in the month, Glenda Van Horn brought Weinert kindergarden students for a visit. Each of the students checked out a book.

Interloan Library Service
In a recent bulletin from the Abilene Public Library, a report showed that the Haskell County Library was the largest user of the book loan service...using 63 books in the month of April. Haskell was far ahead of other non-member libraries. This is a wonderful asset to a small library. Just ask Mrs. McGee, Librarian for a book or give her the subject and Abilene will send several sources.

This gully actually exists in Haskell county. It is 25 feet deep and has already begun to erode into the field beyond. Previous owners have dumped trash, rubbish, etc. into gully mouth to prevent further erosion. However, this has not halted the march of erosion. $300 to $350 per acre land is being threatened.

A grade stabilization structure is to be constructed on the site with a corrugated metal draw down tube. This structure, when completed, will ease the runoff water down to the bottom of the draw and help prevent further erosion.

Such a structure costs in the neighborhood of $6000. This practice is to be cost-shared with the present producer, Mrs. M. E. Overton of Haskell, under the Great Plains Conservation Program. The Great Plains Program offers a 70% cost-share rate for the cost of pipe and needed earth work. The cost of each structure depends on the amount of materials-earth moving, pipe, etc. necessary for job completion.

5 to 6 acres saved will pay for or offset the cost of this structure, not to mention the loss of crop production from these acres.

All such structures are designed by Soil Conservation Service engineers, and construction and installation is supervised by SCS personnel.

Texas Wins Tornado Title

A spokesman for the U. S. Weather Service says Texas has more tornadoes than any state. Encyclopedia Britannica says Oklahoma and Kansas have more per square mile. But both sources agree that April, May and June are prime time for twisters. May seems to be the worst month of all and the hours between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. are the most dangerous time because that is when it is easiest for thunderstorms to form and create tornadoes.

North Central Texas in the area ranging roughly from Lubbock to Dallas seems to be the heart of the Texas tornado zone, the U. S. Weather Service (USWS) says. Warm, moist air coming up from the Gulf of Mexico collides with concentrations of cool, dry air coming across North Texas from the Rocky Mountains and the northern US. This collision creates thunderstorms that spawn tornadoes and hailstorms, another violent weather pattern that occurs mostly in May.

Scientists have studied tornadoes for years and the one thing they are sure of is their unpredictability. The killer storms can strike anytime anywhere. People need to be alert and prepared to deal with them at all times but especially during tornado season, the Texas Medical Association says.

Tornadoes usually occur in hot, sticky weather with southerly winds and threatening sky with thunderclouds bulging down. In most cases the tornado moves from the west or southwest toward the northeast. Rain and hail often precede the tornado.

Another good weather signal is the USWS bulletin. The USWS issues three types of weather bulletins: a) The severe weather watch bulletin indicates where and when probabilities are highest. b) The severe thunderstorm or tornado warning bulletin means a severe thunderstorm or tornado actually has been sighted in the area or indicated by radar. It is advisable to take cover immediately if the warning is issued in your area. c) The all clear bulletin indicates the storm or the threat of a storm has ended in the area previously included in a severe thunderstorm or tornado bulletin. When a tornado warning is issued, the TMA urges people to get inside as quickly as possible. Open windows on the side of the house away from the storm's approach. If you have a basement, take refuge there near the wall in the most sheltered and deepest part. Stay under a sturdy table or workbench. If there is no basement or cellar, take cover in the smallest room with stout walls. The first floor is safer than higher floors. Lie under a heavy piece of furniture against inside walls near the center of the house. Stay away from windows. Keep listening to a battery-powered radio for emergency bulletins. If away from home, take shelter in a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building. In open country, move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. Tornadoes can travel between 0-70 mph. If unable to escape its path, lie down flat in a low place that is reasonably safe from flash floods, shield your head and cover your face with clothing to prevent suffocation from dust. Do not stay in a car, trailer or mobile home. Stay out of buildings with wide-open roofs, such as theaters and gymnasiums.
