Band Awards Presented At Concert

Two band students were recognized this year at the annual Spring Concert. Connie Frierson, who finished her junior year received the Arion Award which is presented to an outstanding Junior bandman every year.

Connie made first division ratings on her solos in 9th, 10th, and 11th grades. She received a first division at the Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo last year. For the past two years she has been a member of the All-District Band, and she was a member of the All-Region and All-Area Bands this year. She has also entered a solo at the State Solo and Ensemble Contest in Austin for the past two years.

Mona Bledsoe was recipient of the Distinguished Musicians Certificate sponsored by the United States Marines Youth Foundation and the National Band Association. Mona represented Haskell in All-District, All-Regional, and All-Area Bands this year. She received a first division rating on her piano and clarinet solos at the district UIL Contest this year. She also participated in the State UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest at Austin this year with a piano and clarinet solo.

ganizations are invited to have entries in the parade and are requested to notify the chamber office as soon as possible to aid in organizing the parade.

The Jaycees will also sponsor a rodeo Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. each night.

The events will be bareback, calf roping, ribbon roping, saddle bronc, barrel racing, bull riding and wild mare riding.

Entry fee will be $10.00 in the Wild Mare Race, $15.00 for Barrels, $25.00 for bulls and $20.00 for all others.

The books will open at 8 a.m. Thursday. Entrants may call 864-2444.

Gary Huffman of Waco will produce the show and Ted Elliott of Haskell will announce.

Admission for the rodeo will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children.

12 Participate In State UIL Meet

Twelve band students represented Haskell in the State UIL Solo and Ensemble Contest at Austin on May 30th. The following people performed instrument solos: Connie Frierson received a II on a bass clarinet solo, Sarah Cortez received a III on a flute solo, Kem Kemp made a II on her piccolo solo, Clark Richardson made a III on his trumpet solo, and Mona Bledsoe received a I on her piano and clarinet solos. The following people performed twirling solos and ensembles: Vicki Bledsoe, Sonja Tidrow, and Karon Gray, received a III on their ensemble, Jill Adkins, Patricia Arredondo, Cindy Ivey, and Kim Drinnon made a II on their ensemble, Cindy Patricia, Sarah Cortez, and Kim received a II rating on their solos, and Jill Adkins received a I rating on her solo.

Each of these students should be commended for attending this contest, because every judge is a professional performer on the instrument he judges, thus making the competition very stiff.

BULL RIDING is one of the favorite rodeo attractions and pictured is a sample of the action which can be seen at the Jaycees Rodeo this Friday and Saturday nights. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children. All other standard rodeo attractions and several specialty acts will also be presented.

Hot Summer Will Cause Higher Utility Bills

A long hot summer could produce some of the highest electric bills in years, West Texas Utilities Co. officials warned this week.

And according to some weather observers, official and otherwise, a hot summer is long overdue. West Texas, like much of the nation, has enjoyed five relatively cool summers in a row. The law of averages, therefore, would indicate a change.

One of the consequences would be more use of air-conditioning, requiring more electric energy. This could run bills up sharply.

There already are indications that customers may soon be jolted out of their summer lull. During the first 21 days of May, temperatures in Abilene averaged 5.81 degrees above normal and electric usage went up accordingly.

A change back to even the normal weather pattern could bring the impact of higher usage and higher costs, a company spokesman said.

Historically, the four peak months for electric usage in the WTU territory are June-through-September. The peak day usually comes in August. Last year, the system's electric load peaked at 5 p.m. on August 11.

Weather records for Abilene and San Angelo show that June-through-September temperatures have averaged below normal for the past five years. The result, WTU officials say, has been that the customers have grown accustomed to relatively lower summer electric usage.

WTU officials are not worried about meeting the energy demand. The company's generating system is adequate to supply all the electricity needed even on an extremely hot day. But they are urging customers to practice conservation in order to hold their usage and bills down.

The key to lower bills this summer will be efficient handling of home cooling. Proper ceiling insulation and

PLAY DAY

Members of the Knox County Riding Club will host an open play day this Saturday at the Riding Club arena in Benjamin. Books open at 7:30 p.m. and the playday starts at 8. Trophies will be awarded to first and second place winners in barrels, flags, and poles, in three age divisions with trophies to the all-around and runner-up in each age division.

adequate attic ventilation are two of the most important factors. WTU engineers also suggest that thermostats be set at 78 degrees, that houses be opened up to take advantage of nature's cooling when the outside temperature is less than 75 degrees, and that shades be kept pulled on the sunny side of the house.

They also urge that air-conditioners be checked to see if they are in good working order, and that air-conditioners not be left running if everyone leaves the house for a substantial length of time.

Defensive Driving Course Set

The Haskell Rotary Club will sponsor a Defensive Driving Course at the Community Building of the Haskell National Bank June 6 and 7.

The classes will begin at 7 p.m. each night and will be taught by representatives of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Cost of the course will be $5.00.

The principal driver of a vehicle who completes the course will receive a 10% discount on auto insurance for three years.

Interested persons may register at the start of the first class. The class will be completed during the two nights and all materials are included in the cost of registration.

The Scientists Tell Me...

We Can Grow Fuel for Vehicles

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

The feasibility of supplementing our fuel supplies with alcohol is being investigated by scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES), in cooperation with Louisiana, Florida and USDA.

An automobile engine can be adjusted to run on fuel that's partly alcohol. And alcohol can be made from many of the crops we raise as food or feed.

Already many countries are having to cope with shortages and fuel prices that make our situation in the U. S. look desirable.

Brazil, for example, has gasoline prices three times as high as ours, in the range of $1.80 to $2.00 per gallon. At present, Brazil is using an estimated 500 million liters of alcohol per year in their gasoline (a 5 percent alcohol-gasoline mixture). Plans call for an increase of alcohol production to 3,000 million liters per year by 1980 to allow for a 20 percent alcohol-gasoline mixture.

Sugar cane and cassava are used in Brazil for manufacturing alcohol, according to Dr. Fred Miller, an Experiment Station grain sorghum breeder.

Miller recently returned from Brazil where he conferred with agricultural officials. Acting on his recommendation that they consider TAES improved sweet sorghums as an additional resource, Brazilians have ordered tons of seed from here.

Estimates are that Brazil's present production of about 66 million metric tons of sugar cane will have to be increased to 100 million metric tons to provide the additional alcohol.

Though no more sugar will be produced, Brazil will still benefit in two ways: 1) it will reduce the drain of money for imported fuel, and 2) it will increase employment in sugar agriculture.

In the cooperative research being conducted by Texas Experiment Station scientists and those in Louisiana, Florida and USDA, "total biomass" are key words. This means all of the plant material that can be produced per acre, according to Dr. Sim Reeves, a TAES agronomist specialist.

Wooten Wins HOA Title

W. E. Wooten of Haskell won the high-overall title, scoring 494x500 for the two-day Big Country Championships which concluded Sunday at the Haskell Trap Club.

W. V. Blankenship of Guthrie won Class A singles with 196x200 and Olney's Bill Womack won Class B with 198x200. Gainesville's Leroy Hay won Class C with 189x200.

In Doubles Saturday, Gainesville's Church Hay won B division with 184x200 and Paducah's Sherry May won C with 183x200.

In the Handicap championship, Blankenship and Womack had 97x100s, Blankenship shooting from the 24 yd line and Womack from the 22. Womack won the shoot-off with a perfect 25x25.

HIGHEST QUALITY VITAMINS AND FOOD SUPPLEMENTS

BETTER NUTRITION...IS THE KEY TO GOOD HEALTH!

Dear Friends: This catalogue displays the full line of VITAMIN POWER'S products, ranging from vitamins and minerals and multiple vitamins to food supplements. They are all derived from only the finest sources; no finer quality products are made anywhere.

Recognition for the need for vitamin supplementation is made evident by the Minimum Daily Adult Requirement measures set forth by the U.S. Government Agencies. In today's world, where many of the foods available to us have lost much of their nutrition through processing, storage or cooking, it is important for healthy physical and mental functioning that we make up for these deficiencies.

Irregular eating habits are another obstacle to good nutrition. The pace of living sometimes causes children, as well as adults, to skip meals, eat the wrong foods and neglect proper diet. And the problem of nutrition becomes even more important. Government surveys show that only 50% of all Americans take in the proper nutrition every day!

In view of this, it is doubly important that the vitamins we take (to compensate for these deficiencies) be the best possible - pure, potent and proper in strength.

For these reasons, I believe that VITAMIN POWER Products provide a better brand for optimum nutrition...the key to good health.

VITAMIN POWER Minerals

CHELATED MULTI MINERALS

(AMINO ACID CHELATE)
 Chelated minerals are more easily and efficiently utilized and assimilated by the body. When you eat foods containing minerals, the body must first, through a series of complex chemical reactions, bind the free element minerals to amino acids before the minerals can be absorbed in the bloodstream and used by it. This process of "converting" minerals into a usable form is known as chelating.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Habla español? Many Texans do, and for a large number of these citizens, Spanish is the preferred language for business dealings.

That makes it especially unfortunate that some merchants use their own facility in Spanish, or the fact that some consumers are less comfortable speaking, reading, or writing in English to operate unscrupulously.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys recently obtained a court judgment against a West Texas real estate firm that was placing bait-and-switch ads in Spanish in Spanish-language newspapers. When contacted by an interested party, the firm refused or was unable to sell homes at the advertised low price and flexible terms. In addition, the firm failed to deposit earnest money at title companies or banks as represented, failed to return the money, and failed to apply it to the real estate purchase.

In another case, a firm operating mainly in the Valley, and aiming much of its sales efforts toward Spanish-speaking migrant workers, has been ordered by a court to stop misrepresenting their services. The firm was selling door-to-door what it called "aseguranza," or insurance, which salespersons assured purchasers would cover costs involved if they had an automobile wreck in any state in the country. In reality, what the consumers were sold amounted to membership in an auto club, for which they paid highly inflated fees and received very few services.

Since that company sold its services door-to-door, by law its sales representatives should have told consumers of their right to cancel any contract for more than $25 within three days by notifying the firm or its salespersons in writing.

In addition, since the sales pitches were made in Spanish, any contract or receipt of sale should have provided such information in Spanish. The law requires that contracts or receipts must be in the same language used in the sales transactions.

Our attorneys have received reports of magazine sales crews decending on barrios and using hard sell appeals in Spanish to get subscribers. They, too, must follow the provisions of the law by informing consumers of their right to cancel, and right to have the information in Spanish.

Our office has taken several steps to assure our Spanish-speaking citizens that they will be able to get consumer protection assistance and information in whichever language they prefer.

First, and foremost, our six regional offices in San Antonio, El Paso, McAllen, Houston, Dallas, and Lubbock, as well as our main office in Austin, have bilingual staff members and attorneys who can help with consumer complaints.

In addition, we provide bilingual consumer complaint forms in all of our offices, and have available a "Guia Practica para el Consumidor de Texas," a brochure describing common consumer frauds, as well as an English edition of the publication.

So, for assistance with a consumer complaint, in English or Spanish, consult the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division in one of the above cities. If you live outside those areas, call this toll-free number: 1-800-252-9236.

Social Security Information

Persons applying for disability benefits can help the social security office process their claims if they will bring with them the following information, according to Glyn Hammons, Manager of the Abilene Social Security Office.

Since the Social Security Administration secures the medical reports directly from your doctors, bring with you the names, addresses, telephone numbers and approximate dates of visits to your doctors. If you have been in a hospital, you will be asked the name and address of the hospital and the dates you were a patient in the hospital. Also, you will need your birth certificate, military discharge papers and workmen's compensation papers. If you have children who may be paid benefits, we will need their birth certificates and their social security numbers.

Information about the work you have done is needed. Bring your income tax return if you were self-employed and your Statement of Earnings Form W-2 from your employer if you worked for wages. You will also be asked for the names and addresses of previous employers.

Bring as much of this information with you when you contact the social security office to file your claim as you can since it is needed to complete your claim for disability benefits.

If you have questions about the social security disability benefits or information needed to file a claim, contact your social security office at 142 South Pioneer, Abilene.

That OLE CRANK UP THE STREET Says:

"BULGING BLUES"

Being a member of a local society called the Bulging Blues, I can relate to you some of my problems that I have on my "FAT" and "SKINNY" days.

The other day I told my spouse that I needed approximately $10.00 to buy a sauna belt or a tummy tuck as it may be called to take care of my bulging midriff. My spouse's reaction was that I could take care of the bulge by doing exercise and pushing away from the table, and that poor "ole" tired spouse said, "I don't know but I would say you are somewhere between Baby Fat and Midriff Bulge." Such INSULTS that I get from that person that I live with!!!

The other day as I was waiting in line to have my groceries checked out at a local Grocery Store, the cashier asked if I had lost some weight, but no I hadn't but I sure did suck in two or three inches!!!

I went into a local clothing store and asked for a large jumpsuit and the clerk said I needed an extra-extra large size!!! Such insults!!!

I tried on some clothes that I had not worn in a year and they still fit. OH for more skinny days like this!!! I know I save money in the winter time because I use less energy in heating the house, because of that extra layer of insulation around my middle!!! But what am I going to do this summer, make up the difference in the bills!!! And there is that sick friend that will always say, "My you sure look healthy and have a nice glow about you." I know that "GLOW" is my blood pressure acting up or is it always up!!! I know that I'm healthy with a few exceptions. My gut is acting up, I don't have an excessive amount of energy, my blood pressure is up, my heart takes a "SKIP" now and then, my knees are killing me, my hands are swollen from too much fluid and I am getting indigestion from telling about my exceptions!!!

But one thing I do know is that I will die fat and happy!!! Who said Blondes and fat people have more fun!!! This "Ole" crank is still turning the handle!!! (What to, the ice cream Machine). This FAT "Ole" crank is still anamouse!!!

Many of the thousands of tragic accidents suffered each year by children could be averted by clear, demonstrative parental warnings, says Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

"It is very important," Dr. Domm asserts, "that in teaching youngsters proper safety habits, the parents associate the danger with the warning or admonishment." All too often this is not the case.

As an example, he points out the hypothetical case of the tot who was told by his mother that he would be spanked if he went into the street. Thus, the next time the tot crossed the street, instead of looking for traffic, he glanced back over his shoulder to see if his mother was watching and was struck by a car.

"You see," says Dr. Domm, "the child was fearful only of a spanking and was not aware of the real danger — the automobile."

He reminds parents that in addition to making the danger clear to their young ones, they must protect and teach them through action. "It is tiring and troublesome for parents, but a child must be removed from danger again and again with the action supplemented by a clear, forceful 'no'," says Dr. Domm.

Ben Moffett's Right Around Home

To help solve the energy crisis, "non-fuelish" vacations will be in style this summer.

The President, in his energy message, set a goal for 1985 that, if reached, would reduce gasoline consumption by 10 percent below its current level. "Conservation is the quickest, cheapest, most practical source of energy," the President said. "We waste more energy than we import."

If every automobile were driven just 10 miles less per week, the nation's gasoline supply would be increased by 3.5 billion gallons per year. That's nearly 5 percent of the total demand for gasoline for passenger cars.

If you are planning a park vacation this year, there are some ways that you can contribute to energy savings:

—Don't pick a far away park to visit just because it's famous. Investigate the parks right around your home. You might be surprised how many are located within an easy drive and how much they have to offer. Free Super 77 vacation brochures are available that show the location and facilities of national park service areas within an easy drive of your home. To get a copy write the NPS, P. O. Box 728, Room N-3, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501.

—When you get to a park, park your car. You won't burn any fuel if you're walking down a nature trail. A truly rewarding park trip comes from close inspection. Instead of trying to get to two or three parks in a single day, inspect the wonders of the park you have already arrived at.

—Many parks can be reached by public transportation. Whenever possible, leave the driving to someone else. You'll be more refreshed when you arrive and can spend your energy enjoying yourself rather than leaving it along the road.

—If you do drive, remember that the air conditioner in your car will reduce your mileage 2 to 6 miles per gallon. Keep the car windows open and the air conditioner off until it gets uncomfortable. And if you haven't already, remove your snow tires because they reduce fuel economy. You won't be needing them in the parks this summer.

—You know what driving above the speed limit does to gasoline mileage. If you visit a nearby park, you won't need to travel above 55 mph. And at a lower speed, you won't feel "wring out" when you get back home.

Have a SUPER trip. That is, Safely. Use. Preserve and Enjoy the Resources in your national parks.

Social Security Information

A widower or a husband can get monthly benefits on his wife's social security record without proving dependence on her under a recent decision by the United States Supreme Court.

Previously a man had to prove he was dependent on his wife to get benefits on her record if she retired, became disabled, or died after working long enough in jobs covered by social security. A woman did not have to prove she was dependent on her husband to get benefits on his record.

Starting with payments for March 1977, neither men nor women have to prove dependency. Husbands and wives can get reduced social security payments starting at 62 or full payments starting at 65.

Widowers and widows can get payments starting at 60—or starting at 50 if they're disabled.

Men who think they may be eligible under the court ruling can get information about applying for benefits by calling or writing any social security office, according to Glyn Hammons, social security district manager in Abilene.

"Social security payments may be affected by earnings," Hammons noted. "You can earn as much as $3,000 in 1977 and still get your full social security payment. But over $3,000, social security payments are reduced by $1 for each $2 earned."

"But no matter how much you earn for the year," he said, "you can get your full social security payment for any month you neither earn over $250 nor do substantial work in your own business."

A man already getting a small social security benefit could be eligible for an additional payment on his wife's record under the Court ruling, according to Hammons. "But he can only be paid an amount of equal to the higher benefit—not both benefits," he said.

The Abilene social security office is at 142 South Pioneer. The phone number is 698-1360.

Election Day Voter Registration

WASHINGTON—Administration proposals under consideration now in Congress to permit election day voter registration have been billed simply as a way to bring more voters to the polls. While the goal may be worthwhile, the plan involves much more—federalization of the entire election process and an open invitation to election fraud.

Elections in recent years have drawn declining percentages of eligible American voters to the polls, renewing old predictions that the first signs of a crumbling democracy are evident in statistics on voter participation. Concern about the dwindling numbers who show up on election day has inspired all manner of reforms to simplify the requirements to vote.

The popular assumption—and one the Carter Administration has been quick to advance—is that by easing registration requirements those with the right to exercise their democratic privilege naturally will choose to do so.

Unfortunately, like a lot of ill-conceived schemes the Federal government has endorsed in the name of reform, there is more to this one than meets the eye. Nationwide election day voter registration has the potential to make a mockery of free elections, increasing in no small measure the likelihood of massive voter fraud. And there are legitimate questions about these methods as a true means to enhance voter participation.

How would the President's proposals improve on the present system and increase turnout? Very simply—the Federal government would impose uniform registration procedures over those currently administered by the various sovereign states. All that would be required to vote would be an individual's signature on an affidavit attesting to residency, and the presentation of some type of identification, or someone to vouch for the person standing at the voting booth.

And the cost? The Federal government would assume the administrative expenses states would encounter—projected minimally at some $48 million every two years from taxpayer revenue.

It doesn't require a keen imagination to realize the result: the wholesale manufacture of false identification by persons bent on abusing the free election system. Recent investigations of fraud in other states underscore the need for more election safeguards—not relaxed requirements that strip away statutory checks on abuse.

As proposed, uniform registration procedures would supersede the rights of states to authenticate registration locally and to maintain the integrity of local balloting. Currently, most states utilize a pre-registration system, allowing local officials 30 days to verify identification. Pertinent information about the individual can be ascertained at pre-registration, and a sample signature obtained serves as a double check on election day that the individual voting and the one registered are one and the same.

Removing these pre-registration procedures, as the President's plan would, eliminates very practical measures states can rely on to minimize fraud.

The Administration and liberals in Congress dismiss these concerns as unfounded, and insist that stiff new penalties for violation contained in the election registration package would be adequate deterrence to fraud.

Yet lawyers in the Administration's own Justice Department, responsible for prosecuting election fraud, have taken strong issue with the legislation. In no uncertain terms they debunked uniform registration in a memorandum to the Attorney General as a "dangerous relaxation of what precious few safeguards presently exist against abuse of the franchise." They concluded that criminal penalties contained in the legislation would be "of little foreseeable help" in deterring abuse of the franchise almost certain to occur under relaxed registration requirements.

But those advocating election day registration have missed the most critical point. Merely simplifying procedures, they argue, will stimulate voting participation and reverse the disturbing trend of recent years.

This assumption is not borne out by statistics. In fact, figures from the past three Presidential elections indicate that large percentages of Americans do register; it's the percentage of these who actually vote which is declining—and this is the statistic that should concern us. Registered voter apathy, not registration as such, is responsible for poor election day turnouts.

Increasing public involvement in the elective process begins with a restoration of faith that government can work for the interests of people. Unfortunately, government has done precious little recently to earn that confidence. Cutting red tape and the ever-increasing costs to taxpayers of bloated government can go a long way toward reshaping public opinion. It can lead to a more informed, interested voting public.

Without that faith in the worth of the political system, all the gimmicks government can dream up to bring out the vote won't contribute a whit to a more involved citizenry, or to more responsibly chosen public officials. And after all, this should be the purpose of elections in a democracy.

Blood Pressure Monitoring At Home

Hypertension has often been called "The Silent Killer." An accurate description when one considers high blood pressure is one of the chief causes of heart attacks and strokes. A blood pressure check is a major element of a comprehensive medical examination. However, a doctor's office, far from being a comfortable and familiar setting, can produce an increase in a person's pressure.

It is now possible to maintain a frequent and accurate check on individual blood pressure at home by use of a new, compact, high precision instrument called I Health-Mini. Using sound and LED Flash, it can be used anywhere and only takes seconds to operate. Initial cost outlay is more than offset by repeated visits to the doctor and, more important, the "peace-of-mind" of knowing what's going on inside of the vessels.

Tan Slowly Not Painfully

Want to get a good, painful, blistering sunburn?

It's easy. Just stay out in the sun in your shorts or swim suit all day on the first truly hot, sunny day of the summer season. You'll get your burn.

Or, do you want to begin picking up a summer tan without burning?

That's easy, too. Just follow the simple rules of the American Medical Association: 15 to 20 minutes exposure the first day; 20 to 25 minutes the second day; 25 to 30 minutes the third day; 30 to 35 minutes the fourth day. Thereafter base exposure time on the degree of redness and tenderness of your skin. The shorter exposures are for those with light skin; the longer times are for darker skin.

Remember this about tanning—it can't be rushed. Trying to rush it will only result in a burn. The burned skin will peel, leaving you pale and pink again.

Of course, the AMA also points out that there is no health value in tanning. In fact, it contributes to early aging, and wrinkling of the skin, and to proliferation of skin cancer. But, if you insist on a tan, start slow and build up gradually.

Consider the time of day for your suntanning. The sun's rays are most potent between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.; standard time. You won't get much tan before 8 a.m., or after 4 p.m., standard time. Don't forget that you can burn on cloudy days, on the water, and at high altitudes.

Suntan lotion can be helpful in preventing a burn and promoting a tan. The lotions contain a chemical sun screen that absorbs some of the rays, while letting others through. They also contain a lubricant to keep the skin from drying out too quickly. Suntan lotions must be reapplied at least once every two hours, and whenever the film may have worn off or washed off.

If you burn—ointments, wet compresses and soothing lotions will help the discomfort. A bland cold cream or a lightweight mineral oil may be applied to the skin. If the pain is excessive or if extensive blistering is present, consult your physician.

MR. SKETCH—Instant water colors. Each color has a different fragrance, non-toxic, safe for children. For coloring books, murals, maps, hand-crafts, many uses, nothing to mix or spill. No clean up. $3.90 set of 8 or 49c ea. Haskell Free Press.

McBroom, Watson United In Marriage

De Lisanne McBroom and Tommy Burnell Watson, Jr. were united in marriage May 28, 1977 in the First Presbyterian Church in Haskell with the Reverend Harvey Friedel officiating the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McBroom of Haskell and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy B. Watson, Sr. of Haskell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight gown of Qiana. The Empire bodice, high collar, and cap sleeves were patterned Venice lace. The full bias skirt fell into a chapel length train and the lace was repeated around the hem. Her mini cap of matching fabric, designed by the bride's mother and the groom, had self flowers in the back that held her fingertip veil of imported English illusion. Bias fabric enhanced the edge of the illusion. Her bouquet was an arrangement of spring flowers and had satin love knots draping the front.

For something old the bride wore her mother's blue garter. Something new was an opal drop, a gift from the groom, for something borrowed she wore here sister's anklet bracelet, and for something blue was the garter. She added a sixpence in her shoe. She carried a new handkerchief which was presented to her by Melisa McCauley, Emily Thigpen and Christie McAdams. It is to be used by each of these girls as a significance of their lasting friendship.

Rena McBroom, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Emily Thigpen and Sandra Watson, sister of the groom, they wore floor length, fitted sun dresses of Qiana in the spring colors of powder blue, candy pink and lime green and fashioned with a criss-cross at the neck. They carried smaller bouquets of spring flowers.

Jessica Owens was flower girl. Her dress was of jonquil yellow Qiana, trimmed in white lace. She carried a white basket filled with all colors of spring flowers.

Ever see a 15-million dollar cattle truck? It looks as though that's where things are headed with the announcement by major air carriers that 747's are going to be converted to livestock haulers for international markets. Officials say live cattle transportation to countries outside North America is already 80 percent by air with both the volume and the percentage expected to increase during the coming years. For the animals themselves it's all first class. Interiors are redesigned and structured to resemble a barn with separate pens or stalls. Special temperature control and ventilation systems are being designed and separate studies are underway to determine other ways to increase animal comfort. No one has yet decided whether to include in-flight movies but it sounds as if they may not be far away.

Washington "As It Looks"

From Here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman — 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—IF PRESIDENT CARTER'S PROPOSAL to adopt "instant" registration for voting in Federal elections is approved, it is a good guess it would not be long until it applies to primaries.

THE CONDUCT OF ELECTIONS in the States is not the business of the Federal Government. The President's proposal would eliminate any pre-registration to vote. A person would simply need to walk into a polling place on election day and present some form of identification to be able to vote. What this form of identification is, no one yet knows, but it certainly could not be made foolproof. At this very time, false identification used in various forms of fraud is a serious problem. It is estimated that the use of false identification costs the American taxpayers $10 billion annually in cases ranging from welfare fraud to illegal immigration. There seems to be no problem at all in producing any kind of required identification. There would be no problem in producing the same to vote although such an elaborate effort would probably not be necessary.

THE THEORY BEHIND THE NO PRE-REGISTRATION PROPOSAL is that many citizens are prevented or discouraged from voting by restrictive registration laws. The concern of low voter turnout is understandable. Only 53% of the electorate bothered to vote last November.

IT DOES NOT FOLLOW, HOWEVER, THAT UNIVERSAL REGISTRATION means universal voting. According to surveys, only 2% of last November's non-voters listed registration as the reason they failed to vote. It hardly seems that such a small number who say they were affected, would justify the spending of $24 million every year which the proposal is estimated to cost.

THE AMERICAN POLITICAL REPORT shows that last November the farm belt and the Rocky Mountain States had the highest turnout of any region. These States are mostly rural, and voting is not as easy where distances are involved as it would be in the cities. Fraud is frequently mentioned as an argument against no registration. No doubt, this method of voting would invite all sorts of cheating. The real fraud, however, probably lies in the fact that an "instant" voter who had not registered and who had not intended to vote could be herded to the polls by political machines and special interest groups.

VOTER APATHY IS A PROBLEM but a walk-in voter with no other qualification than his bodily presence hardly appears to be the solution. Participatory Government is meaningless unless citizens carefully weigh their votes. As the Dallas Morning News recently pointed out, "It is questionable whether the elimination of registration will spur many apathetic voters to go to the polls. But it should step up considerably the number of individuals voting more than once a voting day. The plan would thus produce more votes even if it didn't turn out more voters." The editorial went on to say, "If President Carter and his fellow electees in Washington really want to get Americans out and vote in great numbers in future elections, we believe that the best way would be for them to keep the faith with those who elect them."

THIS IS REALLY THE CRUX OF THE MATTER. Voting is a right and a privilege and people need to feel that their vote will once again have effect and meaning. Taming the bureaucrats and cutting Federal spending, hence restoring public confidence, would do more to spur voters to the polls than universal registration gimmicks. Such would demonstrate the recognition of the privilege, the right and the responsibility of having a real voice in choosing public officials.

Wardens Note Increases In Violations

During the months of March and April Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens along the lower Texas Coast made spot checks of boaters and fishermen to see if they were complying with fish and water safety laws.

Of the 3,171 fishermen checked in March, wardens found an average of 10 percent of them lacked a valid fishing license. And of the 1,022 boaters checked three percent were found to be in violation of the Texas Water Safety Act in some fashion.

An even greater number of fishermen in the same area were stopped by wardens in April—5,234—but the number who did not have a license had dropped to six percent of the total.

But water safety violations started climbing in April and six percent of the 1,461 boaters visited by the wardens were cited.

Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement division director Henry Burkett said he has ordered reports of such checks on a statewide basis starting in May.

P&WD sales of both fishing and combination hunting and fishing licenses still are running behind last year's figures for the same period.

From September 1976 through April 1977, 518,844 of the $4.25 fishing licenses had been sold, down 51,932 for the period September 1975 through April 1976.

Resident combination hunting and fishing licenses are down by 12,163.

Texas Department of Health Resources
Fratris L. Duff M.D., Director

Some of mankind's oldest enemies are gaining on us.

One of the great success stories in public health has been the reduction of communicable diseases, due to the availability and widespread distribution of potent vaccines. Some ancient enemies have been all but eliminated and many others have been significantly reduced. Smallpox, for example, is now confined to one small corner of the world and may disappear altogether before the end of this year. Polio, tetanus, diphtheria, and whooping cough, measles, and rubella have been well controlled.

But now some of these diseases are resurging. Health authorities say that too many people are simply neglecting to obtain the essential immunizations for themselves and their children.

Paul Turner, Senior Public Health Advisor in the Immunizations Division of the Texas Department of Health Resources, said that measles and rubella have rebounded dramatically this year. For example, he said, last year there were only 105 cases of measles during the first three months of the year; this year, in the same period of time, there were 896 cases, or nearly a nine-fold increase. Similarly, there were 316 cases of rubella this year compared to 81 cases for the same period last year.

According to Turner, there has been no change in the disease itself to account for resurgence. "Health scientists feel that the problem is not one that involves a change in the measles," Turner said.

Rather, children who were immunized against measles before their first birthday have only limited protection unless they receive a booster vaccination-and too many parents have neglected the boosters. In these cases, Turner explained, "when challenged significantly by measles, they have broken down with the infection." Usually, he added, the symptoms of the disease are less severe than they would be otherwise.

Apathy and, in some cases, downright ignorance are to blame for the lack of vigilance on the part of parents, Turner believes. Many young parents, he says, are too young to remember the days of epidemic polio and other childhood diseases: "they don't remember the child up the street" who fell victim to these diseases. Thus, they are not as concerned about protection their children now.

Children should be vaccinated against diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, and polio as early as two months of age, with additional vaccinations at four and six months, followed by boosters between 12 and 18 months of age and again between ages four and six. Thereafter, the child should have a booster for diphtheria and tetanus every ten years, according to health authorities.

Vaccination for measles, rubella, and mumps is now recommended for children at about fifteen months of age.

Adults also need booster vaccinations against diphtheria and tetanus every ten years throughout their lives, since these diseases can be as devastating to an adult as to a child. Tetanus, or "lockjaw," is frequently fatal.

Rubella is another disease which can be dangerous to some adults, specifically pregnant women. Although the mother usually recovers, the fetus can be severely affected; major birth defects are common. A blood test is available to determine whether a woman of child-bearing age is susceptible to measles and should be vaccinated before pregnancy occurs.

All of these vaccinations are available, free of charge, from public health clinics operated by local health departments and Texas Public Health Regions. Immunizations also can be obtained from most private physicians, for a fee determined by the individual practitioner.

Social Security Information

Frequently someone comes in asking questions about the "Welfare program you operate." So much confusion exists about the role played by the Social Security Administration, that some direct information about what we do should help those who do not understand.

Congress placed upon the Social Security Administration the full responsibility for administering the Aged, Blind, and Disabled portions of the programs which previously were administered by the State Department of Public Welfare.

Since January 1974 these programs the State operated have been run by the Social Security Administration as the Supplemental Security Income program.

Another area of confusion that developed when the Supplemental Security Income Program started was with the Texas Medicaid Program. The Social Security Administration does not administer the Medicaid program. It is still a State program administered under the direction of the State Department of Public Welfare. Through an agreement between the Social Security Administration and the State of Texas, anyone eligible for SSI is automatically eligible for Medicaid. For this reason many people mistakenly think that the Social Security Administration administers the Medicaid program.

The Medicare program, however, is administered by the Social Security Administration. This means that all regular social security questions, all Supplemental Security Income questions and all Medicare questions should be directed to the Social Security Administration. The Abilene Office is located at 142 South Pioneer. The phone number is 698-1360.

Texas Is Number One In Deer Harvest

Total value of deer meat harvested in Texas during the 1975 hunting season amounted to $12,055,050.

Arizona State University professor Sidney Wilcox recently has completed figures on the value of such wild game taken in the United States and according to his figures Texas far and away leads the nation in dollar value of deer as table meat.

Wilcox based his work on questionnaires submitted to game agencies such as the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. P&WD big game program director Charles Winkler reported back to Wilcox on the number of whitetails and mule deer harvested—349,000 and 11,000 respectively—and surveyed the local market on the value of premium ground beef in November 1975—89 cents per pound.

Value of mule deer meat killed in the 1975 season came to $440,550 based on the local price of ground beef. White-tail harvest was valued at $11,614,500.

Trailing Texas was the State of New York with a total value of more than $10.6 million. New York reported ground beef prices at $1.29 per pound during 1975.

Michigan tallied some $9.7 million, with beef prices at $1.40 a pound.

Things YOU Should Know ...

Home Workshop Safety

Home workshop tools are efficient and economical means of building or repairing things around the house. However, according to Barbara Tiekner, CNA Insurance's loss control department, some of the same features that make these tools useful also can make them dangerous if they are ineffective, in poor repair or misused.

Tiekner recommends that whenever any tool is being used these steps for safe use should be followed:

- Read instructions carefully before using power tools.
- Wait until motor is off, all parts stopped, and tools unplugged before repairing or cleaning power tools.
- Avoid loose clothing, ties or jewelry that may catch in moving parts of tools. Roll up loose shirt sleeves.
- Dress appropriately: wear closed, sturdy shoes and safety glasses to protect against flying particles.
- Use only the tool designed for the job you are doing. Misuse of equipment is a frequent cause of accidents.
- Always buy power tools equipped with double-insulation or a three-prong grounded plug. A Ground Fault Circuit Interrupter installed in the housing circuit also prevents potential shocks from power tools or any other electrical appliance.
- Check electrical cords regularly for cuts, cracks, or breaks in insulation; repairing electrical cord with tape.
- Look for comfortable, securely attached handles when purchasing tools.
- Disconnect tools by holding the plug, not by pulling on the cord.
- Store tools on pegboard in a high or locked place, away from children.
- Finally, Tiekner recommends, keep the work area clear of loose material. To avoid slipping, use rubber or other non-skid matting on the floor around a well-lighted work area.

Start Slowly Build Gradually When Jogging

Do you marvel at the high energy level of some of your friends, especially when you've been kind of dragging around? Ask them their secret. You might find a lot of their bounce springs from jogging. If you decide to run too, you don't have to match your friend's mileage in the beginning. The idea is to start out slowly and build gradually.

There are things you should know about before you jog, and they are spelled out for you in a new publication from the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Health and the National Jogging Association. It explains what fitness really means, how to estimate your target heart rate, when and where it's best to jog, and how to adjust for injury and illness. And it also includes a general schedule for a basic 12-week jogging program. For your free copy of Successful Jogging, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 641E, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

One of the attractive things about jogging is that it's easy to get into. All you need is a good pair of shoes and a willing spirit. You start slowly and build easily. But, being easy isn't the only good thing about it. It's also the most effective way to train the cardiovascular system—the heart and blood vessels—because it uses the largest muscles in the body, the leg muscles. This makes the heart work harder and become stronger and more efficient.

If you're over 30, check with your doctor before you jog. If you're over 40, have an exercise-stress-test to make sure you aren't one of the 10-15% of the adult American population with hidden heart disease.

Since the most important equipment you'll need is a pair of jogging shoes, make your selection carefully. When you shop for jogging shoes, keep in mind that they should feel good from the start without any "breaking in" period. You'll want a shoe with good support and adequate cushioning. And make sure the clothing you choose is not tight in any way. You'll find jogging a lot easier if you're dressed comfortably.

If you have trouble getting yourself in the proper frame of mind to jog talk to a few friends who are already joggers. They will probably be eager to share their experiences about how hard it was to get themselves started, but how good it feels once your body gets good exercise. Then you can take the first steps to becoming a jogger yourself. Successful Jogging (free) is one of over 200 selected

Texans' Traditional Boots Are 'Must' in any Wardrobe

AUSTIN--Whether battered and worn and slipped neatly into a dusty stirrup, or shiny and new, propped on an executive's desk, the legendary cowboy boot is a "must" in any truly up-to-date Texan's wardrobe. There's no doubt that in recent years, the once-singularly utilitarian cowboy boot has risen meteorically from the ranks of what some may call "hicksville," according to Reagan V. Brown, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture.

While originally attributed to the first true cowboy, the Mexican vacquero, it took the Texas trail driver of the middle and late 1800's to refine the style now recognized around the world. It wasn't long before bootmakers, often emigrants who adapted their skills from a cobbler's craft learned in the Old County, had set up shop along the meandering cattle "highways" to ply their trade among those charter-member boot aficionados who made the long, dusty trip.

As much as 90 per cent of all boots sold in Texas were handmade as late as the early 1940's. Today, however, the majority of bootshod individuals sport pairs which, unlike the completely handmade boot, have been hand-crafted utilizing varying degrees of machinery aid.

There is little argument that the highest quality hand-crafted boots in the world boast a Texas birthplace, with two of the leading brandname plants located in the North Central Texas area alone.

"Because the majority of boots are made at least in part from calfskin, boots comprise a major outlet for our country's leather production and add just one more item to the long list of valuable by-products available through the cattle industry," Brown said.

The old-time cowpuncher wore one patched pair most of his adult life and yes, was buried in them. But the modern boot wearer, whether real cowboy or drugstore type, has a different pair on hand for just about every occasion.

TEXAS TRADITION—The highest quality hand-crafted boots in the world boast a Texas birthplace. While a few craftsmen still make the boots entirely by hand, most utilize varying degrees of mechanical aid.

Miss Thelia Gribby, of Nocona, bride elect of Mr. Mike Lisle was introduced at a tea Sunday, May 29th, between the hours of 3 to 4 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Jack Wilcox.

Men-In-Service

Marine Corporal Andrew Bagley, son of Benson Bagley of P. O. Box 454, Rule, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Dawn Patrol '77" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as a member of Logistics Support Unit-32, homebased at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

His unit is the support element of the 32nd Marine Amphibious Unit (32nd MAU) which is the force-in-readiness for the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

"Dawn Patrol '77" was a two-week exercise designed to test the ability of NATO forces to provide rapid reinforcement of southern Europe. U. S. Sixth Fleet units joined with naval, air and land forces from Italy, Turkey, the United Kingdom, the Netherlands, Belgium and West Germany for the exercise.

"Dawn Patrol '77" provided training in tactical air operations, electronic warfare tactics, antisurface operations and reconnaissance, and included a major amphibious landing on Sardinia.

The 32nd MAU was joined by Netherlands Marines and Italian soldiers for the assault landing. The combined landing force was commanded by Brigadier General D. E. Bjorklund, U. S. Marine Corps.

A 1974 graduate of Rule High School, Bagley joined the Marine Corps in June 1974.

BOB BULLOCK
Comptroller of Public Accounts

DEAR MR. BULLOCK:

A friend recently told me that I could automatically save five per cent on my purchases by buying mail order through magazine advertisements. This sounds kind of fishy. Is there a catch?

You bet there's a catch—and it's called the Use Tax. Many sellers who solely operate through advertisements in magazines are not authorized to collect the sales tax. But that doesn't let the buyer off the hook.

Indeed, some use this as an inducement to the buyer.

However, the law authorizing the sales tax also levies what is called a use tax, at the same rate as the sales tax.

The use tax is due on items purchased without payment of the sales tax which are delivered into this state for use by the purchaser.

The law requires the purchaser to report and pay to the Comptroller the appropriate amount of tax—which is five percent of the purchase price, the same as the sales tax.

So be leery of any advertiser who suggests there is a way to get around payment of the sales tax. It's going to cost you in the long run.

DEAR SIR:

Our church recently sponsored a spaghetti supper to help raise money for a new parish hall. Do we have to pay sales tax on the money collected from the dinner?

No. Meals and food products, including soft drinks and candy, sold by a church or at a church function are not subject to the state and local sales taxes. MR. COMPTROLLER:

The small restaurant where I eat frequently has started "rounding off" sales tax to the nearest nickel. For example, they charge ten cents tax on the $1.50 blue plate special, instead of the eight cents set by law. They say they do this because of a shortage of pennies. Is that practice legal?

No, it's not. And I thought we had gotten that word to all restaurant owners last year. But I guess we haven't. The Sales Tax law prohibits such rounding off and requires that the tax be collected according to the schedule prescribed by the legislature.

Those merchants and restaurant owners who

Shopping Sense That Saves Cents

Always read the label —

SkYROCKETING prices have brought more and more consumers down to earth in considering how to spend their money. Whether budgets are large or limited, working at becoming wise shoppers seems to be the norm these days.

When you consider that grocery shopping is the largest single outlay of money that many families have each week, it's important to know how much you're getting for your money for each item placed in the shopping cart.

Reminders for concerned consumers that make a lot of sense are provided from the Scott Paper Company Home Service Center. Start with a basic, yet often overlooked rule: be prepared.

Remember to make a shopping list — not only to prevent forgetting something, but as a means of controlling what you buy and as a deterrent from purchasing unnecessary items.

Remember those coupons — you can't use a coupon that you left at home.

Make an extra effort to check unit prices. Those are the little price per pound tags on the shelves under specified items. By using that helpful device, you'll know exactly what you are getting for your money.

Concentrate on good buys for non-food items in the same way you look for best values in the foods you buy. After a trip up and down the aisles of a supermarket, it's easy to see that shopping baskets are filled not only with food, but with a variety of non-food items as well.

It's not unusual to see people checking produce to make sure it's fresh, and not wilted or bruised. Just as much attention should be given to non-edibles.

an everyday necessity — is bought on a frequent basis, choose wisely with value in mind. Although one package may appear the same as another, careful checking might reveal that one selection is a better buy than another. One with more sheets on a roll, such as Scott Tissue, constitutes a true value because it lasts longer.

Just think about the essential, disposable paper products used frequently — towels, napkins — take time to find good buys. For instance, if you use paper napkins for most meals as well as for lunch boxes and snacks, then look for ones, such as Scott Family Napkins, that are both economical and attractive. By keeping a more watchful eye on all non-perishable items that you buy, many dollars can be saved each year.

for toothpaste, cleaning supplies, and other non-perishables — just as carefully as the label on a can of string beans. A plain bottle of shampoo at 12 ounces can give you more shampoo than a fancy bottle that weighs 8 ounces — you have a choice, so exercise that right by choosing well. Since bathroom tissue
