QUARTERBACK REX PITTMAN gains eight yards against Seymour last Friday. A 17 yard touchdown pass from Pittman to Robert Rodriguez completed the drive on the next play. The score came early in the third period. The Indians beat Seymour 23-0. They will host Stamford this Friday at 8 p.m. in their first home game of the season. (Staff Photo)

Tribe Downs Seymour 23-0

The Indian offense gained a total of 322 yards against the Seymour Panthers last Friday and the Tribe defense held the Panthers to only 129 total yards for their part of the 23-0 victory.

Indian backs, Jimmy Browning and Ronnie Hise both rushed for over 100 yards to lead the offense. Browning carried 22 times for an average of 5 yards per carry and Hise carried 20 times for 104 yards for an average of just over 5 yards per carry. Monnie Hise carried for 30 yards, Rex Pittman for 24 yards, and Robert Rodriguez for 23 yards.

The Indian defense held Seymour to no gain the last quarter. The Panthers lost 4 yards rushing and completed a 4 yard pass to end the quarter even.

Seymour took the opening kick-off and in seven plays moved the ball 23 yards before being forced to punt. The Indian offense couldn't get things in order during their first possession and on a fourth and one situation, Rex Pittman booted a 66 yard punt.

The Tribe made their first threat during a 10 play series during the last part of the first period and the beginning of the second period. The drive halted 13 yards from a score with an Indian fumble.

Five plays later the Tribe recovered a Seymour fumble and lost the ball on the next play on another fumble.

The first score of the game came with 1:55 left in the first half when Ronnie Hise carried for 19 yards and the score. PAT failed.

The Tribe came back for the second half and got off to a good start as Robert Rodriguez took the kick-off on the five yard line and returned it to the 34.

It took only seven plays to cover the 66 yards for the TD. Jimmy Browning picked up 25 in one play and four plays later, Pittman connected with

Kiwanis Club Meeting Set

There will be an orientation meeting next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Haskell Steak House for the purpose of organizing a Kiwanis Club in Haskell.

Approximately 33 individuals have already expressed an interest in the club and representatives from Abilene will attend the meeting to answer any questions.

Charter night for the new club will be October 3.

During the meeting Tuesday, general information will be presented and those who express an interest in joining will decide whether to have breakfast, luncheon, or evening meetings.

All interested persons are urged to attend the meeting.

Cattlemen's Round-Up Set Saturday, September 24

Ted Elliott and James Powell, chairmen of the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children for the Haskell County area, reminded ranchers and farmers that Saturday, Sept. 24, has been designated as the gathering day for the round-up at Haskell Livestock Auction. Anyone wishing to donate, contact either of the chairmen.

Powell can be contacted by phone at 864-2624 or 864-3427 and Elliott can be contacted at 864-3536 or 864-3027.

The chairmen reported that the round-up looks good and they hope that ranchers and farmers of the area will take advantage of bringing the cattle, sheep, horses or any kind of livestock to the pens.

The Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, a private, non-profit organization which now has campuses in San Angelo and Snyder as well as Abilene.

Paint Creek Homecoming Set Nov. 5

The Paint Creek Homecoming has been scheduled for Saturday, November 5, at the Paint Creek High School.

Registration will begin at noon and lunch will be served and prepared by the 1978 senior class. Cost of the lunch will be $3.00 per person. Reservations are not required but would be appreciated by members of the Senior Class. They can be notified at Rt. 2, Box 46, Haskell, Tx. 79521.

The business session and program will begin at 2:30 p.m.

The basketball game will begin at 4 p.m. and Homecoming queen and coming home queen will be crowned during the game.

All ex's are urged to make plans now to attend the event.

Rodriguez for a 17 yard pass and the TD. PAT failed.

Rodriguez halted the next Seymour possession with a pass interception and 18 yard run-back to set up another Indian score.

The scoring drive covered 52 yards in 11 plays and ended with an 11 yard run around left end by Monnie Hise with 2:41 left in the third period. Pass to Bruce Enriquez was good for PAT.

The Indian offense managed 22 plays during the fourth quarter and the Defense allowed Seymour only seven attempts. The longest drive of the game began early in the fourth quarter and constituted 11 plays and covered 73 yards. The score came with 2:37 left in the game and a 23 yard field goal by Ronnie Hise finalizing the scoring at 23-0.

Richard Amaro recovered two fumbles and Rodriguez recovered one fumble and intercepted one pass for the Tribe defense. Members of the coaching staff were pleased with the downfield blocking and stated that key downfield blocks were responsible for several long gains and TD's.

The Tribe will meet

Stamford this Friday night at Indian Field for their first home game of the 77 season.

Stamford has a tough defense with good depth. They substitute a lot and have almost completely different players for the offensive and defensive squads.

Stamford has a 1-2 won-loss record, beating Anson, 15-0, and losing Hamlin, 14-12, and Sweetwater, 27-21.

The 7th and 8th grade teams will travel to Stamford today. The 7th grade game will start at 4:30 and will be followed by the 8th grade game.

The J.V. game with Stamford was cancelled and the Freshmen team is open this week.

The Junior Varsity now has on a won-loss record of 3-0 and the Freshmen team has a record of 1-1.

Homecoming Plans

Final arrangements are being made for the 13th Bi-annual Homecoming activities which will take place on October 7 and 8. For the first time since its inception the Homecoming festivities will include ex-students from Mattson and Irby schools as well as Haskell.

Homecoming, which takes place every two years, will officially kick off this year with the football game on Friday night when the Haskell Indians meet the Rotan Yellowhammers at Indian Field. There will be a luncheon on Saturday followed by the General Meeting Saturday afternoon. The highlight of the General Assembly will be an address by ex-student Ben Brock, Vice President of Western Texas College.

Many class reunions are being scheduled so that there will be ample time for visiting with old friends and ex-classmates.

A program of activities will be printed in a later edition of the Free Press. Class reunions will be announced at the football game and a bulletin board will be provided at the registration center for announcements.

Plans Finalized For 1977 County Fair

The officers and directors of the Haskell County Fair Association met on Monday night of this week in what could be likened to the last huddle of a football team before the kickoff to begin the game. Bud Turnbow, president of the 12th annual edition of the highly popular county fair, presided for the meeting which was a final run down on all departments to see if everything was in readiness and if not, what needed to be done.

The entire Fair plant has undergone a face lifting in the past few weeks and spectators will be impressed with the overall look of the facilities. A new fence bordering the west side of the grounds where the city of Haskell put in a gavelled alley or road and many huge trees were removed, giving more room for the ever growing fair.

New air conditioning has been installed in the exhibit buildings and others have all been reworked with new pads to insure a high degree of comfort to those having exhibits in the building. The rodeo ground is in excellent shape for the big three night Junior rodeo under sponsorship of the Fair and Haskell County Jaycees which will kick off on Thursday night.

Rodeo spectators will be required to enter the fair grounds from the south end as ticket booths for the rodeo will be in that location. Also, as there is a gate entry fee to be paid to get into the Fair grounds, this will prevent people from having to pay to get into the grounds who might be only interested in seeing the rodeo.

The exhibit halls will be completely filled with both commercial booths and handicraft and agricultural products along with a beautiful flower show by the Garden Club.

Free entertainment on the midway each night will be something different with the program streamlined to provide excellent music on Thursday night by Andy Lopez and his band. Friday night will be devoted to exciting boxing matches presented by the Boxing team trained by Lawrence Thomas of Haskell and sponsored by Haskell Merchants. Several bouts will be on the card for the night along with music during intermission between fights. Sponsors want the public to know if they attend the high school football game, they can still come down to the fair and witness a big part of the boxing.

Saturday nights' free entertainment will be the highly popular country and western band of Rochester under the direction of Herman Hearn. Always a popular feature in years past, the old time music will be going on strictly for the enjoyment of the fair goers. An outstanding carnival will be on the midway as usual with many rides and attractions.

Stock for the three night rodeo will be provided by Freddie Cordell of Childress, Texas, and the rodeo action will be announced or narrated by Ted Elliott of Haskell who is much in demand to emcee rodeos over a wide area of Texas. Mike Jordan, experienced rodeo clown will be in the arena to provide comedy in a western style and to fight the Brahma Bulls. He will be assisted by Jim Pace and Charles Thornhill, both of whom are expected to show plenty of heel dust just in case a bull starts in their direction. All in all, the rodeo will be exciting and thrilling for all ages and will include a pig race for the youngsters each night.

At 10 p.m. each night a drawing will be held on the stage for $100 in cash and everyone purchasing a ticket into the grounds will be eligible by holding their ticket stubs.

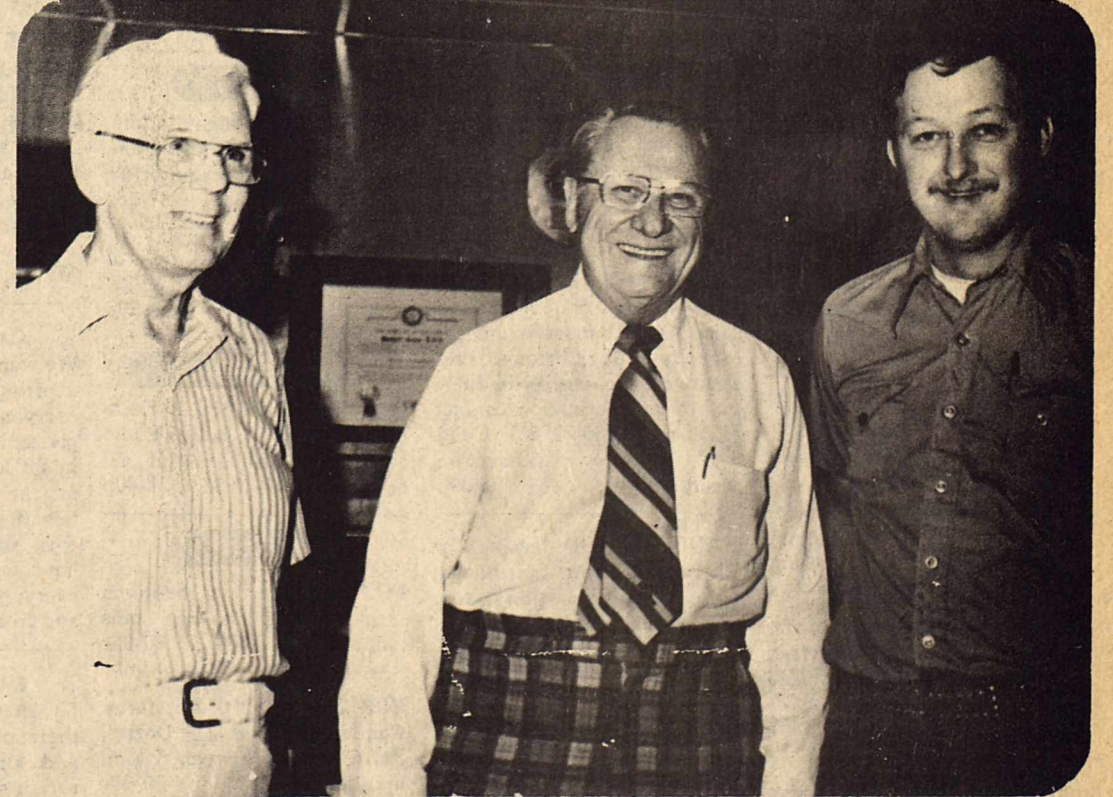

Wayne Dorner is chairman of the Junior Rodeo and Mrs. Jerry Hannsz (Maxine) is rodeo secretary.

It is estimated that at least one hundred persons of Haskell county are directly involved in staging the different phases of the 12th annual fair and they cordially invite everyone to visit the grounds where they may witness the fruit of their labors.

Admission to the Fair Grounds will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under twelve and small tots admitted free of charge.

DAY OF THE PORPOISE
Now that the dolphin has had its day, the porpoise, who is distinguished from the dolphin by its blunt snout, can have its turn. The snout of the dolphin, by the way, is long and sharp.

The day of the porpoise began when captains of the U.S. tuna fleet—who depend on the porpoises to find tuna—succeeded in inventing new porpoise-saving equipment and developing new fishing techniques which permit them to net tuna while releasing practically all of the porpoises. In 1976, according to government reports, nearly 99 percent of all porpoises surrounded by American fishermen were released. The day of the porpoises has arrived indeed.

Day Care Registration And Licensing Information

Persons who are currently caring for unrelated children in their homes are required by the Child Care Licensing Act of 1975 to be registered or licensed with the Dept. of Human Resources. Persons operating child care facilities keeping six or fewer children must be registered and those keeping seven or more must be licensed.

The law greatly simplifies the registration process for those persons caring for six children or less. For a home to become registered, it must meet community fire and sanitation standards. The entire registration process may be completed by mail without ever seeing a licensing representative in person. The licensing representative will mail to the day care provider a page-long explanation of state standards and forms. It is the responsibility of the provider and parents to assure that these standards are maintained.

Larger facilities who care for more than six children are subject to somewhat more extensive standards for state licensing. A licensing representative will visit licensed facilities regularly to lend assistance to providers as well as assure continued safety to children enrolled.

Persons in Haskell, Kent, and Stonewall are asked to contact Connie Moore, Day Care Licensing Division, Dept. of Human Resources, Central Plaza, Suite 102-C, Wichita Falls, Texas 76302; Phone, 766-3371.

Ms. Moore can inform each provider if a registration certificate or a license is needed, and the method of obtaining it.

Progressive Study Club Holds Meeting

"Back to School Fashions and Fabrics" was the theme of the Progressive Study Club Meeting, Thursday, September 15, 1977 in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank. Mrs. Elbert Johnson, president of the club, welcomed members and invited guests to this first meeting of the 1977-78 club year.

Members answered roll call by telling how the member seated to her right spent summer vacation, which became an exercise in very funny confusion. The next order of business was the presentation and review of yearbooks by Mrs. Cleatus Drinnon. Theme of the attractively bound and illustrated book is "Join Hands and Dream of Awareness." Members of the yearbook committee serving with Mrs. Drinnon are Mesdms. R.C. Couch, Jr., Gary Druessedow, Ken Lane, and Abe Turner.

Introduced by Mrs. Drinnon, Mrs. J.B. Gipson, brought a program on fabrics. Mrs. Gipson is the owner of Haskell's new fabric store, Iva Lee's Fabrics. Assisted by Mesdms. Novella Rastetter and Edna Calloway, Mrs. Gipson used material and various finished items to illustrate the use of color and coordination to make even a limited wardrobe exciting. Among extraordinarily intriguing fabrics this year are suede looks, fur-lined leathers and crepe.

Following the program, the social committee served refreshments of home-made ice cream and tea cakes from a table decorated with fabrics and notions. Mrs. Wayne Lehrer, Mrs. Curtis Jennings, Mrs. Charles McCauley, and Jim Hudson served as the social committee.

Special guests were Mrs. Jerry Iley and Mrs. Charles Graff.

4H CLUB

Activities in 4-H are not programs constructed to help youngsters pass the time, but to mold adults, emphasizes Barbara Elliott and Max Stapleton, county extension agents with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

4-H is the youth phase of Extension Service educational programs.

In 4-H, working together for a common goal prepares today's young people for working relationships in the business world. These community efforts also establish the brotherhood that many Americans are striving for all over the world, reminds the agents.

The challenges 4-H youngsters face give them a change to place new ideas into the lives of their families and communities. 4-H'ers also learn through their experiences and gain wisdom that will benefit them in later years.

Whether 4-H members are competing in food or livestock shows, method demonstrations, or county fairs, they are working toward the maturity they find in their adult leaders and county Extension agents.

To start the journey that can lead to fun-filled as well as rewarding experiences, contact the county Extension office to learn all about the 4-H program.

U.M.W.

Members of the Rule United Methodist Women met in the Fellowship Hall of the church on Tuesday, September 12th. Following a short business meeting, Mrs. J.N. Cornelius led in prayer and presented the program entitled, "Beauty-Inner Glow".

Opening the program she read I Corinthians 3: 16-17. She described the word "Beauty" and what it meant to different people and the different phrases of beauty.

Though patterns, living a life to the full and developing potentialities, were some of the ways beauty was described. She suggested taking a persons "Inner Glow" out of mothballs, polishing it up and letting it shine for them. Suggested the clearing out of our minds like dresser drawers, and replacing them with a fresh lining of happy thoughts. To look at ourselves in the mirror at our thoughts and attitudes that create our facial expressions, making or marring our beauty.

She suggests we apply the three T's: Tact, Timing and Tolerance. The ability to offer suggestions, criticism and comment in a diplomatic manner. A tactful person who is never curt, never cruel, never indifferent to the feelings of others and timing to call upon your intuition of saying and doing the right thing at the right time. Tolerance to accept with understanding and interest the people, situations and ideals which differ from our own pattern. "Variety" being the spice of life. I Corinthians 6: 19-20 and Proverbs 31: 30-31 was read.

She asked the group, "What have you done for someone outside your family that makes you feel loving?" "What has someone outside our family done that has made you feel loved?" To conclude the program, she asked that each one in the group turn to the one on their left and give that person an imaginary gift, one they would like for that person to have, if only they could give it.

Mrs. Rex Murray concluded the program with prayer.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—In Texas, we have 70,000 friends, relatives, and fellow citizens residing in the State's 1,000 nursing homes. Many thousands more of us will someday be nursing home residents. Others will be in the position of selecting a nursing home for someone else. So, all of us have a stake in seeing that all nursing homes provide the quality care that some do.

Last summer, I set up a special Nursing Home Task Force to conduct an investigation into the problems of nursing homes in Texas—problems which have become increasingly evident. This Task Force is operating in conjunction with our Economic Crimes Unit under a Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grant.

Our investigation is being conducted with these objectives: to insure that nursing homes are in compliance with the Texas Consumer Protection Act by providing services as advertised; to insure that nursing homes are in compliance with laws relating to the health and safety of nursing home residents; to insure that there is a proper accountability by nursing homes and persons associated with them in the use of public monies; and to insure that the regulatory system is adequate to protect the interests of residents.

The Task Force consists of a coordinator; a group of 25 special advisors, many of whom are senior citizens; consultants with special training, education, and skills in dealing with geriatrics and delivery of health care services; and four teams of attorneys and investigators.

These four teams include a field investigation team which makes unannounced visits to nursing homes to get an accurate picture of the care being provided. Another team, the research and evaluation team, is analyzing existing laws, rules, and regulations to determine if they are adequate to produce quality care for residents; examining model laws of other states to determine their applicability to Texas; and evaluating State agency effectiveness in the regulation of nursing homes.

The public hearings team will be conducting hearings in various parts of the State to give members of the public a chance to express views on nursing home care. At the first such day-long hearing that I chaired recently in Dallas, many citizens provided information about nursing home problems and suggestions about nursing home care.

Our litigation team will prosecute all legal actions arising out of the investigation and has, in fact, already taken a number of cases to court and obtained judgments which should result in better care. In some of these cases, patients' trust fund monies were withdrawn and converted to the use of nursing home administrators. In another case, patient deaths went unreported, resulting in overpayments from the government to the nursing home involved, there were falsified records regarding physician visits to patients, and misapplication of funds.

Our Dallas County investigations have revealed other problem areas also: filthy, malodorous nursing homes; homes with no activities programs; medical care that was life-sustaining at best; homes with no physical therapy program; and homes with no regard for patient privacy. In many cases, even in otherwise good homes, registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses, and activities directors had to spend so much time on paper work that they had little time left to work with patients.

Responsible, dedicated nursing home administrators are just as concerned about such problems as the rest of us, and are providing suggestions to our Task Force about possible ways to correct such inadequacies.

If you have a complaint about a nursing home problem, contact the Attorney General's Nursing Home Task Force in Austin, or call this toll-free number: 1-800-252-9236.

FACTS & FIGURES

The number of radios in America has more than doubled since 1960, and nearly one-quarter of them—100.4 million—are in cars. By 1985, the average household will have more than six radios, including the one used in the car.

Social Security News

Social security student beneficiaries who are working this summer probably know that earnings can affect their checks. But, according to Glyn Hammons, District Manager of the Abilene Social Security Office, they may not know the new earnings limit. For calendar 1977 the limit is $3,000. This means that if earnings for the year are $3,000 or less, the student beneficiary is entitled to all of his/her social security payments for the year.

If annual earnings exceed $3,000 then monthly earnings have to be considered. Generally, if they are fairly consistent, $1.00 in benefits is withheld for each $2.00 in earnings over $3,000. There is an exception to this rule which says that for every month in which earnings do not exceed $250 a social security check is due regardless of how much total earnings are for the year. For self-employed students the test is different in that performance of substantial services is taken into account for the month rather than monthly earnings.

Social security considers both the annual and monthly rules when figuring benefits. For this reason it is important for the student beneficiary earning over $3,000 for the year to know the amount earned each month. Even more important is the student's responsibility to report expected earnings to social security to prevent being overpaid in benefits. Recovery of overpayments is usually accomplished by withholding current checks. This could occur during the following school term when money is needed the most.

More information can be obtained by visiting or calling any social security office. The Abilene office is located at 142 South Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360.

The germ of wheat is routinely eliminated from grain destined for human consumption. Shelf life of flour is longer if it is refined to eliminate the healthful wheat germ. Your family will be better nourished with whole grain cereals than with highly refined and processed cereals.

"As It Looks

From Here"

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman — 17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C.—SOON TO BE DEBATED IN THE CONGRESS is a proposal known as the Cargo Preference bill (Energy Transportation Security Act of 1977). The bill provides that at least 9 1/4% of the eight million barrels of oil imported into the United States per day must be shipped in U.S. flagships. At present, little oil is brought in by U.S. owned ships, simply because it is much cheaper for ships chartered under foreign flags to deliver the oil.

IN PORTS WHERE SHIPS LAND FOREIGN-PRODUCED OIL, the greater majority are flying the flags of Panama, Liberia, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and other maritime nations. The difference in cost is principally the cost of wages paid the seamen. Although the United States subsidizes the building of merchant ships and even their operation, the maritime unions demand wages far beyond that of competing nations. As a result, our merchant marine and tanker fleets have gotten smaller over the years until, at present, there is a real threat of further diminishing our ocean-shipping capability.

THERE IS DISPUTE AS TO THE COST of requiring the use of domestically-owned and operated ships in bringing in at least 9 1/4% of our imported oil. The oil companies say that it will cost the consumers as much as $2 billion a year in higher oil prices. This figure is based upon an estimate that by 1988 our imports will increase to 10.3 million barrels a day. The shipping interests dispute this figure and estimate the cost, based on earlier estimates of the General Accounting Office, at $240 million a year which translates into something over $1.00 per person a year. They contend that increased costs are justified to give more jobs to American seamen.

JUST RELEASED LAST WEEK, the General Accounting Office has new estimates that the cargo preference bill could raise the Nation's fuel costs by $550 to $610 million a year.

OTHER FIGURES, LIKE THOSE ESTIMATED BY THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION, are that the yearly costs to consumers may well be above $290 million. Based on calculations by the Carter Administration, which supports the bill, a gallon of gasoline would go up .02c a gallon in transportation costs. They add, however, that the costs would increase as oil imports go higher, concluding that the American consumer will have to pay costs in addition to those generated by increased oil transportation fees, resulting from the enactment of this legislation. In addition, if domestically-produced oil adjusts to world prices as provided in the energy bill now going through the Congress, proportionately, prices will increase. No doubt, the cost of gasoline and other oil products is going up and this legislation will add to the burden on all who have to pay the price.

THE FACT REMAINS that, is prices of goods of any kind are to be competitive in the world market, the demands for high-priced labor without added efficiency and productivity have to adjust to a realistic situation. No one suggests that wages paid American seamen or any other labor should be the same as that of foreign nations, simply because our standard of living is higher. On the other hand, the demands of the maritime unions are pricing the U.S. out of the market. The losers are the American taxpayer, the consumer and the economy in general.

ASK
Bob Bullock

BOB BULLOCK
Comptroller of Public Accounts

Dear Mr. Bullock:

I am a widow and am considering doing sewing in my home to supplement my social security check. My customers will provide the materials and I will be doing only the sewing. Must I collect sales tax for my work?

Yes. A seamstress is considered a manufacturer or processor and manufacturing and processing labor is taxable under the law. Therefore, you must collect the tax.

Are soft drinks and other snacks dispensed by vending machines subject to the sales tax?

Yes, if the sales price of an individual item exceeds 16 cents. In most cases, the tax is included in the price to the customer. The vending machine owner then rebates the tax to the state.

Mr. Bullock:
What happens to the estate of a person who dies without leaving a will and has no known heirs?

If no heirs are located, the deceased's estate goes to the State of Texas after seven years.

Dear Mr. Comptroller:
How much state and federal taxes do Texans pay on gasoline?

The state tax on gasoline in Texas is five cents per gallon, the lowest in the nation. There is an additional federal tax of four cents per gallon.

Ask Bob Bullock is produced as a public service to the taxpayers of Texas by the State Comptroller's Office. The answers here do not necessarily apply in every similar situation and should be used only as a general guide.

If you have a question, write Ask Bob Bullock, c/o Tax Information, LBJ Building, Austin, Texas 78774 or call toll-free 1-800-252-5555.

4-H Conservationists Take Action

CHICAGO—Our planet's lakes, streams, rivers and oceans provide scenic beauty and recreation. But—more important—they contain the water that is vital to the existence of all life on earth. The quality of this water is of major concern to young people in the national 4-H conservation of natural resources program. 4-H members recognize that the problems of water and air-pollution, careless waste disposal, soil erosion, and endangered species of trees, plants and animals, call for effective citizenship in conserving resources today and for the future. 4-H'ers 9-19 can learn-by-doing to take meaningful action on conservation concerns in projects and activities supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by John Deere. 4-H conservationists work with local officials to help identify community problems and decide what conservation methods are needed. In Cole County, Missouri, for example, 4-H'ers initiated cleanup campaigns, planted trees in reforestation projects, set up wildlife shelters and built bird feeders. Poster contests encouraged other young people to use their talents in conservation efforts. Last year, the county won a $50 award for the best 4-H conservation program in the state.

4-H'er Luke Lind, 17, of Windsor, Colo., cleaned up a stream near his home, stocked irrigation ponds with trout and planted grass in a three-acre wildlife habitat. Lind was one of six national winners in the 4-H conservation program last year. Deere offers a variety of awards to recognize the accomplishments of 4-H members, clubs and counties. Awards are arranged by National 4-H Council and winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service. In addition to six national scholarships of $1,000 each, one 4-H member per state can earn an expense-paid trip to the 56th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 1. And four members per county are eligible for medals of honor. Four clubs per county and ten per state are awarded certificates of recognition. A $50 cash award goes to the one county in each state reporting the most outstanding 4-H conservation program. More information is available from county extension agents.

Microwave Cooking Is HYH Program

Microwave Cooking was the subject studied this month by the Haskell Young Homemakers. The program was held on Monday, September 19, at the Homemaking Cottage and was presented by Becky Ponder of West Texas Utilities in Stamford. Following the program Paula Everett, HYH president presided over the business meeting. Members were reminded of the Area IV YHT Convention to be held at Abilene Christian University on September 24. Paul Everett and Kay Perry were elected to serve as voting delegates at the convention with Sherry Adams as alternate. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by hostesses Paula Everett, Patsy Blakely, Shirley Sloan, Pat Grand, and Mary Murphy. The door prize furnished by the hostesses was won by Jinx Shaver of Rochester.

Help may be on the way for lowering the costs of feeding cattle. Initial research on a new compound called monensin has had positive results at several agricultural colleges and test stations. Classified as an antibiotic, the chemical has produced an increase in feed efficiency as high as 13 percent. Average improvement in tests at the University of Nebraska was 11 percent. On that basis a dollars and cents evaluation means a savings of about twenty dollars a head in the average feeding cost for feedlot beef. Food and Drug Administration officials are expected to react more favorably toward the new compound than toward the still controversial DES since monensin acts only in the rumen of the animal and reportedly leaves no residues in tissue. Researchers say the compound enhances gain efficiency when used in amounts small enough to be comparable to adding one pint to 5,000 gallons of water.

The Scientists Tell Me...
 Poisonous Range Plants
 Cause Livestock Problems

By Robert L. Haney
 TAES Science Writer

In case fickle markets, drouth, diseases, insects and high production costs aren't enough, the livestockman can always worry about poisonous range plants.

There is plenty to fret about. On a national basis, direct losses of cattle and sheep amount to more than $23 million yearly. But, that's looking at the problem in its simplest form. When such factors as lower reproduction, reduced weight gains and cost of managing infested ranges are considered, the losses in Texas alone are estimated at $50 to $100 million per year.

Dr. Joseph L. Schuster, range management researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, says poisonous plants are one of the most significant problems on western and southwestern ranges. More than 1,000 species are known to be toxic to livestock in some way in the U.S. There are at least 80 troublesome kinds in Texas.

The problem wouldn't be as vexing if most or all poisonous plants behaved the same. Some of the bad plants are grazed only when livestock can find nothing else to eat. Others are relished by animals. Still others cause death directly, or strange behavior.

What it all amounts to is a sticky management problem, with overgrazing usually being the root cause, Schuster says. However, what's a stockman to do when his animals seek out such species as locoweed? The weed is not especially palatable, but there are times when it is succulent and livestock become addicted. The only remedy is to move the animals to a locoweed-free range.

Another species readily grazed is wild larkspur. Fortunately, most cattle can eat the plant in small amounts without apparent effect. Sheep are even less susceptible. Much depends on how much the larkspur is diluted or balanced with desirable range plants, which Schuster says goes back to proper grazing management.

Adding to the complexity is the fact that some poisonous plants react in different ways when ranges are sprayed with herbicides. Research has shown that phenoxy herbicides will boost larkspur tastiness and alkaloid content. On the other hand, the toxin in timber milkvetch decreases following treatment with 2,4,5-T or silvex.

Therefore, Schuster says, post treatment grazing is an important consideration in range treatment with herbicides.

And then there are the sneaky forages. Most of the year, they are palatable and nutritious. But under frosty or drouthy conditions, they can be deadly with cyanide. The best known of these in Texas, the Experiment Station researcher said, are the grasses in the sorghum family. Johnsongrass is one.

Other forage species that can suddenly build their cyanide content are arrowgrass, catclaw and chokecherry.

Such species as snakeweed and prince's plume are selenium accumulators and cause livestock problems on high selenium soils. Bitterweed and shinnery oak can bring on poisoning soon after being eaten, but animals must graze jimmyweed and sneezeweed for a while before their cumulative effects show up.

Schuster emphasizes that prevention is still the best "treatment" when a rancher finds plant poisoning evidence in livestock.

"Careful grazing management, which enhances the better forage species, is cited most often as the surest and most economical means of preventing livestock losses," he said.

This is especially true, he added, when the poisonous species are annuals or weak perennials and don't usually hold dominant positions in a climax plant community. When good forage is adequate, animals normally vary their diets and seldom eat enough poisonous plants to cause problems.

M.W. Phemister of Weinert and F.A. Ulmer of Sagerton, appointed district directors for Zones 2 and 4, respectively of the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District, announced this week the schedule of zone elections.

In the form of community conventions, scheduled to be held as follows, a zone director will be chosen by landowners attending the conventions:

- Zone 3—Monday, October 3, 8:00 p.m.—Paint Creek School
- Zone 1—Tuesday, October 4, 8:00 p.m.—Rochester School Cafeteria
- Zone 5—Tuesday, October 4, 8:00 p.m.—Agricultural building Haskell High School
- Zone 4—Thursday, October 6, 8:00 p.m.—Sagerton Community Center.

W.L. Ballard of Rochester currently represents Zone 1. M.W. Phemister represents Zone 2, R.V. Earles—Zone 3, F.A. Ulmer—Zone 4. No existing director represents Zone 5 as this zone was formed from parts of the other four zones in Haskell County.

According to the state laws governing soil and water conservation districts, a landowner and spouse is eligible to cast a vote for district directors. A voter must be 21 years of age, own land in the zone in which he or she is casting their vote, and reside within the district.

Election notices have been posted throughout the District. Each notice has the Zone descriptions listed so landowners will be able to tell which zone election they should attend.

Please do not put this off as just another meeting. It is very important to you as landowners of Haskell County to select the director to represent you that you feel is best qualified. Let's have good turn-outs at each zone election, and don't forget to bring the spouse.

The newly elected directors will meet on Friday, October 7, 9:00 a.m. at the Haskell Chamber of Commerce (Next door to the Soil Conservation Service Office). At this time they will proceed to organize their Board with the selection of a chairman, vice-chairman, and secretary-treasurer. J.C. Yeary, Jr. District Conservationist Medical screening done by the Texas Department of Health of welfare children has turned up a disturbing fact about one-half of the youngsters under six years old are found to be incompletely immunized.

Medical screening of children is done through the Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT) Program of the Department. The screenings are among children on Department of Public Welfare Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) rolls.

The Immunization Division of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services, in cooperation with the EPSDT Program, began a computerized referral program in December, 1974, for children under the age of six in an effort to increase immunization levels. Children six years of age and older aren't referred, since their attendance in Texas schools necessarily requires completion of immunizations. The school immunization level statewide as reported to the Texas Education Agency by the school administrators, is 97 percent for 1976-77.

In areas covered by the screening program, 115,827 children were involved in the June, 1977 report. Of this number, some 46 percent were completely immunized at the time of the first screening, while 54 percent hadn't completed immunizations. For complete immunization a child must have had: three or more polio doses, three or more doses of DTP (diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis) and one dose each of measles and rubella vaccines.

Under the program, referrals are issued to Immunization Service Aides and other health workers headquartered throughout Texas. The referrals are for children under six years of age found to be incompletely or non-immunized at the EPSDT medical screening. Through the computerization of records, the field staff is advised on the progress in bringing the children to clinics for needed immunizations. The field staff also is advised of children who should be dropped from follow-up, or who have moved to new addresses.

As a result of referral and immunization activities, immunization levels of the EPSDT children rose from 46 percent to 63 percent.

Of the 115,827 children included in the referral program, almost 20,000 have been completely immunized since referrals were issued.

Dr. Charles R. Webb Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services with TDH, said, "It is gratifying to all concerned that about 20,000 children have completed their basic immunizations as a result of the EPSDT (Title XIX) medical screening and immunization referral program. However, we are still very concerned about the children where parents did not follow through on these referrals. We know that 37 percent of these disadvantaged children remain unprotected against polio and other diseases that can kill and cripple."

"The field staffs at both the regional and local health unit levels should take pride in this accomplishment," said Dr. Webb, "especially in view of the day-to-day difficulties encountered in locating the parents and guardians of these children and in motivating them to take the necessary action to complete the immunizations for their children."

Home Remodeling Lesson SCHOOL NEWS Revives Old Traditions

Richard Burns is a man who practices what he teaches. His subject is American History and the family room-kitchen addition to his home brought the subject to life. Not only did Burns use Early American decor in the addition, but he completed the work in the true pioneer tradition. He did it all himself.

Three hand-hewn beams in the family room, for example, came from a hundred year old house nearby. The ceiling was fashioned out of tongue-and-groove barn siding. Other nostalgic touches included a 12-foot wide brick fireplace, complete with a built-in wood bin and a bake oven that is used to store paper and kindling. The raised hearth is made up of 200-year-old bricks from Maryland and the mantel fashioned from a beam salvaged from an old barn.

The ample family room addition contains a well-proportioned dining area. Burns continued the Early American theme with a pine trestle table and four Cohasset Shaker ladderback chairs, which he also built himself.

Three casement windows in each of two adjoining walls in the dining area flood the room with natural light and provide a cozy atmosphere for informal dining. The casements are by Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minnesota. Casement windows were a good choice because they open outward at the turn of an easy to reach handle. They provide excellent top-to-bottom ventilation. Rigid vinyl grilles add a traditional look to the casement windows, but they snap in and out for easy window cleaning.

Burns completed the addition by breaking out an exterior wall and thoroughly remodeling the kitchen. He moved the plumbing, made new kitchen cabinets and installed a new countertop, sink and exhaust vent.

He also redid the kitchen ceiling in barn siding to match the family room. The finished project displays the warmth of wood grain from the ceiling to the Andersen windows.

Burns drew up all the plans, did all the construction, planned the interior decor and built most of the furniture — each job his first attempt at do-it-yourself.

The Spanish I class held their first meeting September 1, to elect officers for 1977-78-79. The following officers were elected:

Vice President-Nancy Kimbrough, Secretary-Vickie New Treasurer-Josephy Browning;

Project Chairman-Tommy Croft.

Reddy's helpful tips for your HOME LAUNDRY

PLAN AHEAD

Sort clothes according to type of fabric, color-fastness, degree of soil and garment construction.

You'll save both hot water and electricity by doing similar items together.

Accumulate a full load before running your washer.

BE SELECTIVE

Choose the cycle that is precisely appropriate for the clothes you are washing. Is a "hot" temperature setting really necessary? Except for heavily soiled items, most loads will come clean in either a cold or warm wash. Look into cold wash detergents.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess!

Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment.

Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

FOR SAFETY SAKE

Be sure control is "off" before reaching into your washer.

If one is necessary, use only a heavy duty extension cord.

Be sure your washer is grounded.

Keep dry cleaning agents, color remover and Fiberglas out of your washer. It's a good idea not to wash clothes containing cleaning fluids in your washer.

Think Safety!

'Outdoor Cooking Safety'

A Service of Underwriters Laboratories

Outdoor cooking is as American as the frontier pioneer days. Today we have more sophisticated equipment, but its use should be tempered by knowledge of the rules of safety. Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL), an independent, not-for-profit organization, testing for public safety, offers the following safety tips for cooking outdoors.

While using electric grills or electrical accessories, such as charcoal lighter irons or rotisserie units, electrical safety is important. Three-prong grounded plugs, used to protect against shock, should be connected to a 3-wire grounded receptacle. If only a 2-wire receptacle is available, be sure to use an adapter, fastening the adapter grounding wire securely to the receptacle face plate. CAUTION! UL stresses that the receptacle must be actually grounded when using an adapter — have a qualified electrician determine this. Never cut off the grounding pin on a 3-prong grounding plug.

Use only with heavy-duty extension cords designed for outdoor use. The UL Label on the cord will indicate for outdoor use.

Never route extension cords through doors, gates, etc. where insulation could become pinched or damaged, causing potential shock and fire hazards.

Another way to protect against electric shock, look for the UL Listing Mark on outdoor cooking appliances and accessories. It means the design of the equipment has been tested and found in compliance with nationally recognized safety standards.

In addition to the above suggestions on electrical safety, UL further recommends:

Never start a fire with gasoline, kerosene or a similar flammable liquid. Handle electric charcoal lighter irons with care, and never store them where they may be exposed to weather or dampness.

Follow directions when using charcoal starter fluid, and allow it to soak into charcoal before lighting to reduce the hazard of flash flame. Use long-handled matches, so as to remain out of the reach of the flames. Never add starter fluid to the charcoal once the flame has been ignited, and keep fluid out of the reach of children.

Use charcoal grills and hibachis outdoors only. When used indoors they can cause flammable material to ignite. And burning charcoal will use up oxygen and produce carbon monoxide.

Outdoor cooking units should be stable and well supported to prevent tipping over. Keep children away.

Finally, roll up your sleeves, and keep loose fitting clothes away from fire.

The stars in our galaxy are, on the average, four or five light years apart.
