300 Attend Sports Banquet

"Happiness Is...an Indian or Maiden," the theme for the 1977-78 All Sports Banquet, seemed to be true to approximately 300 athletes, parents, and friends, who attended the annual banquet, Sat. night, April 15th, in the Haskell Elementary Cafeteria.

The banquet is sponsored each year by the Indian Booster Club. The Booster president, Dudley Bragg, welcomed each one present and asked Chris Colbert to give the invocation. Tom Watson led the audience in the pledge of allegiance to our flag. Then the President expressed the clubs thanks to all who had a part in the success of the banquet. Mrs. Golda Colbert and Mrs. Janice Browning were co-chairpersons of the event. Next on the program was the introduction of the new slate of officers for the 1978-79 season. They are: Pres. four months of 1977. This is a 15 percent increase.

In addition to these rebates, the recently created San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority received a rebate check---its first---totaling $1.4 million.

The rebate check represents collections of an additional one-half cent sales tax authorized by voters in San Antonio and seven neighboring cities, effective last January 1, for financing mass transit systems for the participating cities.

The residents of those cities are the first to take advantage of the special sales tax levy authorized by the legislature for certain large cities to finance mass transportation systems.

As usual, the City of Houston received the largest city sales tax rebate check---$4.9 million. City sales tax collections there are running 18 percent ahead of last year. The City of Dallas was sent a check for $2.6 million; San Antonio, $1.2 million; Fort Worth, $852,356; and Austin, $628,355.

One-Act Play Advances

"I Never Saw Another Butterfly," the One-Act Play from Haskell High School, was chosen as a winner along with Seagraves to advance to the Regional Contest in Odessa, April 20. The play went to Big Spring April 14 to compete in the Area Contest.

Individual honors received were Connie Frierson, Best Actress; Jackie Mayfield, All-Star Cast; Gil Richardson and Johnny Yeary, Honorable Mention.

Other cast members include Dwain Weise, Debra Chilton, Kay Campbell, Vicki Bledsoe, Tammy Roberts, and Katie Wooten. Tim Lacey and Eddie Klose are the lighting and stage crewmen.

Kerry Kemp, Kelly Croft, Vicky Hill, Giles Kemp, Kim Lane, Joseph Browning, Alice Acosta, Nancy Kimbrough, Sonja Tidrow, Lisa New, and Betsy Opitz. The students were accompanied by Mrs. Terry Diggs, Mrs. Susan Pope and Mr. Bill Blakely.

Students who place in the top three at the district level advance to the Regional Met in Odessa this weekend. Eight Haskell High students qualified for Regional this year. They are: Connie Frierson first in Prose Reading, Eddie Klose third in Informative Speaking, Giles Kemp and Kim Lane second and third in Number Sense, Kerry Kemp first in Spelling, Betsy Opitz and Lisa New first and second in Shorthand. Johnny Yeary qualified in Feature Writing in a Journalism contest held earlier in Haskell.

units are in 10's. For example, in the metric system, length is measured in meters. A meter is a little longer than a yard. A centimeter is one hundreth of a meter, a millimeter is one thousandth of a meter, a hectometer is one hundred meters, and a kilometer is one thousand meters. You may have already seen athletic competitons, like swimming and olympic track and field events using meters, rather than yards and feet. So next time, instead of saying, "Give 'em an inch and they'll take a mile," try "Give 'em 2.5 centimeters and they'll take almost 2 kilometers.'

Now, when it comes to shopping to food, you'll be seeing greater use of grams, and kilograms. One kilogram is equal to 2.2 pounds. And, there are 1000 grams in one kilogram. So, when you buy a steak, you might buy one weighing one kilogram. When you buy a wedge of cheese, it might weigh 250 grams, or 8.8 ounces. And eventually when you buy a can of coffee, it most likely will be 500 grams, or 1.1 pounds.

Many alcholic beverages have already been converted to liters, the liquid metric measurement. A liter is equal to 1.06 quarts. So it's a little more than one quart. You may have bought bottles labeled 1.75 liters, which have replaced the half-gallon size, or bottles labeled one liter, instead of one quart.

Finally, there's temperature and it's measured in degrees Celsius. So, now it's correct to say water freezes at 0° C and boils at 100° C. And, by the way, you're normal body temperature is 37° C., rather than 98.6° F.

Although metric is not a difficult system to learn, it will take a little getting used to. This chart tells the approximate size of a common metric units. You may want to clip it out and put it where you can refer to it easily.

When you order a copy of What About Metric? (35c) you'll also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. It lists more than 200 selected free or low-cost publications from the federal government. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Dependable even in dry country!

You can't control the weather. So, you need a hedge against drouth. . . . and that's where the Lankart variety LX571 fits in. It consistently produces top yields of high quality cotton . . . even under tough, dry conditions. And you don't have to give up anything to get this outstanding drouth tolerance, either.

LX571 produces fairly long, strong fiber . . . with micronaire normally in the premium range. And storm resistant bolls strip well in one pass through the field. Add up all the good things about LX571 . . . then it's easy to see why this is one of the most planted cotton varieties in the Rolling Plains, Central Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma.

*LX571 is a U.S. protected variety (Plant Variety Protection Certificate No. 7200018). Unauthorized propagation and unauthorized seed multiplication prohibited by law. LX571 cotton planting seed can be sold by variety name only as a class of certified seed. It is unlawful to sell non-certified seed of this variety.

Long-time favorite.

Cotton growers in Texas, Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico have relied on certified Lankart 57 for consistently high yields for years. This variety has vigorous plants with short main stems and short fruiting branches. Leaves are large and dense. And this medium-early maturity cotton has storm-proof bolls. Lankart 57 is a good stripper cotton, too, bolls. Lankart 57 is a good stripper cotton, too, ... well-adapted to Texas and Oklahoma dryland production. 57

CowBelles Hold Ag Day

By Nancy Morales

Last Friday, April 14, 1978, Haskell CowBelles sponsored a kids day animal petting session at the home of Nancy Morales. Some 53 kidergarten children attended with their teachers and teachers aids: Mrs. Dicky Sloan, Mrs. Kenneth Jarred, Mrs. Robert Geilhausen and Mrs. Joe Cortez. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served first, after which the children were introduced to Sam, Leiaz's playmate and ranch horse. As each child came by and had his or her chance to pet the horse. Jean Free, Haskell's President of our CowBelles explained that horses are still used for work in ranching opertions and are an important part of each life in todays world just as they were in the past. Not only is the horse of today a pleasure animal but he still does serve a very practical purpose.

Labor Regs Set For Ag Producers

Agricultural producers who rely on hand harvesting of short season crops should know about a proposed federal regulation that would allow the hiring of 10- and 11-year old youth for this work, announced Dr. Gary S. Nelson a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Presently, as a result of a 1974 amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act, minors under 12 years of age may only be employed for non-hazardous work with written parental consent and only on farms where the employees do not come under federal minimum wage provisions. This means a farm having less than 500 mandays of agricultural labor during any quarter during the preceding calendar

The proposed regulation provides for a waiver to permit the employment of 10-and 11-year-old youth in agriculture as hand-harvesters of short season crops on larger farms under certain conditions points out Nelson. Youth hired under the waiver must be employed during non-school hours and must commute daily years now. from their permanent residence.

Any employer or group of employers may apply for a waiver to cover not more than an eight-week period between June 1 and Octobder 15 of any calendar year, notes the engineer.

Each waiver application must include signed statements by the employer, employees, county Extension agents, officials to the state employment service, and other knowledgeable individuals regarding substantiation of the following provisions of the waiver application:

1. Such agricultural operation "is customarily and generally recognized as being paid on a piece rate basis in the region in which such individuals would be employed.

2. The "industry of such employer has (prior to the 1974 restrictions) traditionally and substantially employed individuals under 12 years of age without displacing substantial job opportunities for individuals over 16 years of age.

3. The crop to be harvested is one with a "particularly short harvesting season,' normally within a four-week period, in the particular region in which the waiver will be applicable.

4. The 12-year minimum age prescribed since 1974 has and would cause "severe

At no time in the history of farming in the Southwest has there been more need for emphasis on the importance of diversification in a farming operation than in the past four years. Farmers have seen prices for cattle and wheat, two of the most important commodities grown in the Rolling Plains, drop out of sight and then make a long struggle back to believability. Now there is great concern

Representatives of guar about the future for cotton bean buyers in Vernon say they will be buying guar growers in the area with a beans at the contracted price record crop, both in quality of $10 per hundred weight this and quantity, having been year. The representatives are harvested only six months ago. Apparently, farmers in-Dwight Holley for Stein, Hall tend to plant another large & Co., a division of Celanese Polymer Specialities Co., and crop of the white fiber and a Herb Partridge, representalot of informed people are worried about the future effect on cotton prices this year. Maybe the real answer lies in the other crops that grow well in this area and have the built-in advantage of a price already contracted for by the farmer to a buyer at harvest. One of the possibilities farmers are taking a good look at is guar, a summer annual legume grown successfully in the Rolling Plains for several Dr. Roy Stafford, USDA plant breeder at the Texas A&M University Chillicothe-Vernon Research Center here, says he now has seven years of solid yield data on two varieties of guar developed cooperatively by the USDA and the Texas and Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Stations. They are Kinman and Esser. Both varieties have proven their capability to outyield the old standard variety, Brooks, by a large percentage, Dr. Stafford says. In 52 tests in the Texas-Oklahoma area, Kinman has outyielded Brooks by 13.8 percent and Esser has produced 10.7 percent more yield than the standard, Dr. Staffords' records show. Kinman and Esser have also averaged 3 pounds per bushel heavier test weight than the standard.

Interestingly enough, guar is grown for both food and industrial purposes, Dr. Stafford says. After the guar beans are processed, the guar gum is used in oil well drilling muds, paper sizing, for ore flotation and in pharmaceuticals. On the edible side of the situation, guar gum is processed for use as stablizing

cals, Corp. The price quoted by both buyers will be for the

Holley says there will be Partridge says, depending on the current state of flux with farm programs, there will probably be 100,000 acres of
