

Bull Town Bulletins

by Bill Ellis

IF THE CLAIM being filed by New Mexico authorities to over 600,000 acres of land that the "Land of Enchantment" lost to the Lone Star State in 1859 due to what is termed a "bungled survey," then our county-seat town of Farwell may turn out to be a part of Curry County, N.M., after all these years.

Maybe you heard the news item last week, or saw a headline about the movement.

At any rate, the New Mexico Senate last week voted unanimously to try to regain from Texas the 603,485 acres of land that it alleges their state lost to Texas in the boundary blunder of 132 years ago.

New Mexico State Senator John Morrow sponsored a memorial that asks the state's attorney general to negotiate a re-establishment of the state line, or payment by the state of Texas for the land.

Farwell is the only city in the Texas Panhandle that would be affected by the proposed new boundary, which would move the north-south New Mexico-Texas state line about three miles east into Texas.

"What would they do, knock down the courthouse?" Parmer County Commissioner Robert White of Farwell was quoted as saying.

A lot of folks over in this part of the county probably feel that a re-drawing of the boundary would be "just retribution," since folks in the middle to eastern part of the county have to drive several miles to the south-westernmost edge of the county to conduct their county business.

Why, we could re-establish the townsite of Parmerton and build a brand-spanking new courthouse there. I'm sure the Commissioner's Court would have enough money for that in their "slush fund," or whatever.

Apparently, the resolution is an outgrowth of a current battle between the two states over water rights from the Pecos River.

The New Mexicans say that return of the disputed land area would be repayment for "80 years of property taxes collected by Texas (instead of New Mexico) for the land in question."

Farwell mayor Chris Gikas said that Texas could retaliate with "Well, then, you owe use for 130 years of highway maintenance and improvements."

Probably the boundary furor will turn out to be mainly a "tempest in a teapot," but it does allow one to speculate on what could happen if the powers that be should decide to award New Mexico the land in question.

But New Mexico authorities perhaps should let well enough alone. They may be forgetting the fact that Texas once held title to all of the land laying north and east of the Rio Grande, from its mouth on the Gulf of Mexico to its source in southern Colorado.

This included well over half of present-day New Mexico, everything east of Albuquerque including the state capital of Santa Fe, in addition to certain portions of Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Five years after entering the union, the federal government paid the state of Texas $10,000,000 for the land in question with the Compromise of 1850, and the state gave up its claim to almost as much acreage as is contained in today's state boundary.

Perhaps the state of Texas could file a proposal to buy back this "lost acreage," since after all, that was the shape of the state when it entered the union. This would possibly allow Texas to regain its status as the largest state in the union (although it still can boast of being the largest non-frozen state).

And, as State Sen. Teel Bivins says, "I think it is a good idea to have a ski area in Senate District 31."

Makes for some good fireside chatter at any rate, and a change of pace from the situation in the Persian Gulf.

Tickets On Sale For Chamber Banquet

Tickets for the 1991 Chamber of Commerce Banquet are now on sale and can be purchased from any Chamber director or at First Bank for $10.

Tickets will not be sold at the door, which will make preparation for the number of people attending easier. If you are unable to get a ticket, call the Bank for reservations and tickets will be held at the door.

The banquet will be held at the high school cafeteria on March 21 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Entertainers will be the Cowpoke Troubadours, which include Clay Lindley, Tim Peterson, Randy Egan and Les Morrow.

Clay is from Spur, Texas and works for the USDA; Tim Peterson is from Clovis and works as a fireman; and Randy is from Clovis and works for Phillips Music.

Les Morrow will serve as the master of ceremonies and has been into cowboy poetry for two years.

The Chamber is busy now preparing for the 1991 banquet. At this time, they will present the Man, Woman, Educator, Outstanding Boy and Outstanding Girl of the Year awards.

They expressed appreciation to the community for the support that makes various community projects possible. During the year, the Chamber sponsors with the Lions Club, the Bovina Stock Show, where they furnished the ribbons, trophies and judges' pay.

They sponsor a ribbon cutting ceremony for new businesses or those that are expanding.

They also recognize a Bovina "business of the month" and the business receives an advertisement in the local newspaper at the Chamber's expense. They sponsor a $500 scholarship award to a deserving Bovina High School graduate. This year's recipient was Amanda Trotter.

The Chamber officers and directors have worked diligently, without pay, for twelve months in the year to make Bovina a more enjoyable place in which to live.

Tickets can be purchased at the Bank or from any of the directors: Esther Steelman, Tami Kunselman, Mike Beauchamp, Pam Bell, Kim Black, Dickie Clayton, Charolette Cockerham, Richard Grisham, Susan Hughes, Sandra Johnson, Linda Kelley, Larry Mitchell, Jerry Roach, Sonny Roach, Scooter Russell, Ken Sherbon, Bob Stafford, Coleman Young, Mike Jansen and Galen Hromas.

New directors will be notified and recognized at the annual banquet.

Local Blood Drive Slated Here Thurs.

The Coffee Memorial Blood Center will hold a blood drive in Bovina next Thursday, February 14 from 3-6 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Adults and students who donate blood between now and October 1, 1991 are reminded to bring their donor registration cards with them each time they give blood, so as to remain in the running for the 1991 Blood Donor Sweepstakes.

Grand prize for adults is an all-expense paid trip for two to Puerto Vallarta for five days and six nights.

Grand prize for students is a new car compliments of Ron Clark Ford.

The more time you give blood, the more chances you have to win.

Residents also are reminded that the Coffee center is one of 40 civilian blood centers who are available for emergency blood service to the United States Armed Forces in Saudi Arabia, should they be called on to do so.

"Your donation on Thursday will aid tremendously in meeting the present blood needs of the 20 hospitals the center serves throughout the Panhandle, as well as be available should some additional needs arise due to the outbreak overseas," said a spokesman for the center.

Specialist To Speak To Parents

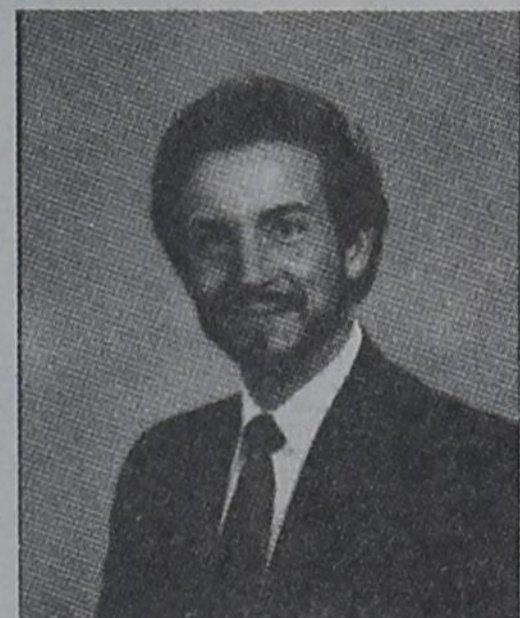

Dr. Terry M. Urnosky will be at the school cafeteria on Tuesday, February 12 at 7 p.m. He will speak on "Firm Family Structures," care and motivation and the art of discipline.

The parents will learn how to effectively learn how to train their child by providing the proper physical and psychological support they so desperately need during the formative years.

"Hereditry does not equip a child with proper attitudes nor does it insure proper conduct. However, discipline administered and a proper way does," Dr. Urnosky says.

This segment will encourage parents to take the responsibility of shaping their child's will while providing them the "how to's" to do so.

SERVICEMAN'S WIFE....Belinda Hardin, a Bovina native, has her husband in Saudi Arabia. She has lived in England for the past three years.

KING AND QUEEN....BHS' Basketball King and Queen for 1990-91 were crowned at halftime during the basketball game Friday night. Crowned king and queen were Jose Silva, a junior student and son of Jose and Marie Silva; and Mona Martinez, a junior student and daughter of Johnny and Ellice Martinez.

Ex-Resident Has Husband In Gulf

"I carry his pictures all the time-they help some," said Belinda Hardin. Her husband, Markeith, is a sergeant in the Air Force and was sent to Saudi Arabia in August.

Belinda has been in Bovina for about a month with her family. Her parents are Bennie Lee and Beulah Shelby. Her dad, Bennie Lee, underwent brain surgery for a tumor recently, and is getting along real well.

Belinda talked about how scary the surgery was for her family and said one day her dad told her mother that it was just too big for them to handle and they would just have to turn it over to God to take care of.

Things turned out real well. Bennie only had to have three shots for pain, very little medication and the tumor, a little larger than a lemon, was not malignant.

Belinda graduated from Bovina High School in 1980 and was a very popular and well-liked youngster. She was good in athletics and was also a high school cheerleader. Following graduation, she moved to Abilene and worked for five years at the Abilene State School for mentally retarded. She said she dearly loved this kind of work and hoped to do it again some day.

While in Abilene, she met her husband, Markeith, and the couple dated for almost a year and were married in Abilene. Markeith has been in the Air Force for over six years now and his family lives in St. Louis, Missouri.

The couple was transferred to Lakenheath, England, where they have lived for three years. Belinda said the winters are cold and dreary and they are looking forward to being in Carlswell Air Force Base, which is near Fort Worth, when the war is over. She said Markeith thought he would be in Saudi and not be sent elsewhere.

While in England, Belinda began working at the Military Exchange as front cashier checker and moved up to be cashier leader, and later was promoted to assistant supervisor of the cashier's cage.

In November 1989, she came home for a visit and stayed until January 1990. She returned to England and was working as a warehouse worker and runs a forklift that carries crates of merchandise and beverages. She said there are two women that run the forklifts and six men. She loves her job.

were flown to Amarillo. The airlines chartered two buses and took the passengers back to Lubbock. There she was met by members of her family and went to the hospital to be with her dad and family.

When asked what she was going to do now, she said she was flying back to England and getting on with her life. She will leave Bovina February 1.

Belinda is a delightful, energetic person with a positive attitude, as many of you know because you watched her grow up in our town. After visiting with her, we have the feeling there is nothing this young lady can't handle. She said, "We are praying the war will end and Markeith and I can be together again soon."

Reception To Honor Workers

Workers throughout the county who assist with health care and emergency work will be honored at a reception on Sunday, February 10 at the Friona Junior High Cafeteria at 2:30 p.m.

"We want to show these workers our appreciation. We hope that the citizens of Parmer County will come and help us salute these people," said John Mars, president of Parmer County American Heart Assn. chapter, which is sponsoring the event.

BOVINA PUMP COMPANY, located at 1100 West Highway 86, is featured as the Bovina Chamber of Commerce's "Business of the Month." Services offered by the company include pump sales, repair, house well repair, machine work, welding and parts departments. The owners are Durward Bell, Tom Caldwell, Troy Christian, Wendol Christian, Leon Grissom, Erra Jamerson, Kirkpatrick Farms, Grady Sorley and Vernon Willard. Employees are Truman Trim, Andy Serna, Mickey Ramon, Eleazar Lara, Manuel DeLeon, Luis Franco, Susie Teague, Ronnie Cary and Virgie Cary.

New Stamps Available At P.O.

With the new postage rates that became effective February 3, two new non-denominated postage stamps are on sale today at the U.S. Postal Service to make it more convenient to apply first-class postage, said Laura Bartlett, postmaster.

The use of non-denominated stamps is intended to ensure a more manageable transition to the new rate structure.

"Our new flower stamp is valued at 29 cents and is valid, full-rate first-class postage anywhere within the United States Postal System," Mrs. Bartlett said.

And, for the first time, we're issuing a second non-denominated make-up stamp, bearing text describing its value, worth four cents. It can be used in combination with any 25-cent stamp to make up the difference in the old and new full first-class domestic rates. This single, widely available stamp will make it much more convenient for the American people to make up the price difference and use their existing supplies of 25-cent stamps."

The 29-cent flower stamp, available in booklets, coils, sheets and embossed envelopes, and its running mate, the four-cent make-up stamp, are available now at post offices across the nation. Customers can also order these stamps by phone (1-800-STAMP24) or through the stamps by mail program locally.

Book Fair Scheduled At School

A Book Fair is scheduled for February 11-15 at the Bovina School Learning Resource Center and Library. The Book Fair will be held from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Parents and anyone interested are invited to come and make selections. Students will be permitted to make their selections during some classes, at lunch time or after school.

A variety of books and other items will be available for children kindergarten through twelfth grades.

This is an excellent time to shop for inexpensive gifts.

Proceeds from the Book Fair will be used to purchase school equipment.

Farmers Increase Sprinkler Useage

The use of center pivot sprinkler systems continues to increase within Parmer County, according to a recent center pivot system inventory update conducted by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in Lubbock.

In the portion of Parmer County within the Water District service area, approximately 371 additional center pivot systems have been installed between 1986 and 1990, according to the Water District's inventory. This brings the total number of center pivot systems in use within Parmer County to 1,061. The previous 1986 center pivot inventory indicated 690 center pivots in operation within the county.

The 371 additional center pivot systems represent an $11,130,000 investment in water conservation by Parmer County irrigators during the past four years, at an average cost of $30,000 per system.

Approximately 1,383 center pivot systems were installed between 1986 and 1990 within the Water District, according to the recent inventory totals. This brings the total number of center pivot systems in operation within the District to 4,474.

"Center pivots, and especially low energy precision application (LEPA) systems are the wave of the future," says Ken Carver, assistant manager of the High Plains Water District. "Center pivot systems continue to be installed because increased crop production, significant water savings, and reduced fuels and labor costs makes investment in these irrigation systems cost-effective."

Most center pivot systems currently in use within the Water District are partial dropline systems which operate at about 80 per center water use efficiency. However, the number of LEPA systems in use increases each year as a result of the improved irrigation application efficiency as compared to conventional furrow irrigation. LEPA systems can achieve irrigation application efficiencies of about 95 percent, while conventional furrow irrigation has an irrigation application efficiency of about 60 percent.

LEPA center pivot systems can help reduce the amount of ground-water pumped for irrigation by as much as 25 percent by allowing smaller and more frequent water applications. LEPA systems have also helped reduce labor costs by as much as 75 percent and irrigation fuel savings by 35 to 50 percent.

"Since pumping water from the Ogallala Aquifer and applying it to crops is a major input cost in High Plains farming operations, an important way to reduce cost is to apply irrigation water as efficiently as possible. Therefore, as research continues to improve the efficiency of the center pivot irrigation system, irrigators will continue to adopt the best available technology. We salute our area producers for their use of this water conservation tool," says Carver.

Additional information regarding center pivot irrigation systems is available by contacting the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Randall, Texas 79405, or by calling (806) 762-0181.

AAM Urges '90 Farm Bill Adjustments, Changes

A resolution requiring vital adjustments in the 1990 Farm Bill that are necessary to maintain and restore farm income was overwhelmingly approved at the 12th annual American Agricultural Movement, Inc. national convention ending Sunday, January 13.

AAM delegates maintain the resolution is necessary because the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) negotiations, the driving force behind the 1990 Farm Bill, failed to reach an agreement.

"The 1990 Farm Bill was projected to reduce net farm income by as much as 30 percent," Harvey Joe Sanner, outgoing AAM national president, said Sunday. "Congress promised this reduction in income would be nullified by a GATT agreement, which would have expanded trade."

"Since no agreement was reached, it is necessary to re-open the Farm Bill to restore farm income," said Sanner, a Des Arc, Arkansas, rice and soybean farmer who served three years as AAM president.

AAM is not alone in its demand to re-open the bill. In a recent poll conducted by the National Association of Farm Broadcasters, 89 per cent of the more than 4,000 participants voted to re-open the farm legislation.

Several hundred AAM delegates attending the four-day convention at the Excelsior Hotel also approved resolutions that:

--Call on Congress to implement more aggressive enforcement of the commodity exchanges to prohibit insider and dual trading.

--Give producers the opportunity to accept or reject farm programs through producer referendums.

--Oppose any legislative attempt that prevents farmers from participating in farm programs because of gross income.

Incoming AAM national president, Johnny Porch, a Brownsville, Tennessee cotton farmer, said he was pleased with the upbeat tone of the convention.

"The passage of the Farm Bill is estimated to push a half million more farmers off the land," Porch said. "But once again the determination of the American family farmer was evident at our convention."

"Our people do not plan to lie down and take it. We plan to work within the system to change legislation that is devastating to rural America. Our efforts will become more evident in March as farmers across America converge on Washington, D.C., to show our solidarity."

AAM, along with more than 20 other farm organizations, plan to reconvene the Rural Summit in Washington the first week in March. The loose coalition of rural farm, educational, small businesses, and labor groups seeks to ensure the economic survival of rural America.

Mike Blackburn, Texas District I delegate, said that the convention was also addressed by Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton; Dan Meador of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers Association; Ron Hayes, president of the National Farm Broadcasters; and Larry Jones, president of Feed the Children.

John Arens, lead attorney for AAM's pending class-action lawsuit against the Chicago Board of Trade, also gave an update on the litigation on behalf of 430,000 soybean growers across America.

National AAM Director, David Sentor of Washington, D.C., updated convention participants on the 1990 Farm Bill.

Managing For Pheasants In Parmer Co.

By STEVE SHRODE, SCS

The ring-necked pheasant was first introduced to the Texas Panhandle in 1939 and later re-established in Parmer County in 1963. Since that time it has established itself in croplands where grain crops such as corn, grain sorghum and small grains make up a large part of the cropping system.

It has shown a preference for irrigated croplands over dryland croplands with identical cropping systems.

The ring-neck will roam widely to fulfill its needs, however, if adequate food and cover are available throughout the year, it will spend most of it on a square mile or less.

The most critical needs of Panhandle pheasants are: secure nesting cover, overwinter cover and winter and spring travel lanes. Although they must have cover all year long, the two most critical times in the Panhandle area are during the nesting period and the winter months of January, February, March and sometimes April.

Nesting cover is needed from mid-March until about July 1 in the High Plains area. Nesting cover needs to be tall enough to conceal the eggs and the hen when she is incubating. Texas pheasants have shown a preference for wheat stubble, alfalfa haylands, grassed waterways and roadside barrow ditches for nesting cover.

Land in the Conservation Reserve Program that borders cropland fields is also seeing increased use as nesting cover. Nesting cover should be at least one acre or more in size for optimum success.

Overwinter cover is also important. Suitable areas of winter cover should occur about every two miles. Winter cover needs to be dense enough to provide protection from high winds, cold, snow and ice.

Wintering pheasants prefer to roost in dense low cover. Windbreaks, weedy fence rows, overgrown tool yards, abandoned farmsteads and playa lake basins with dense stands of vegetation are examples of good winter cover.

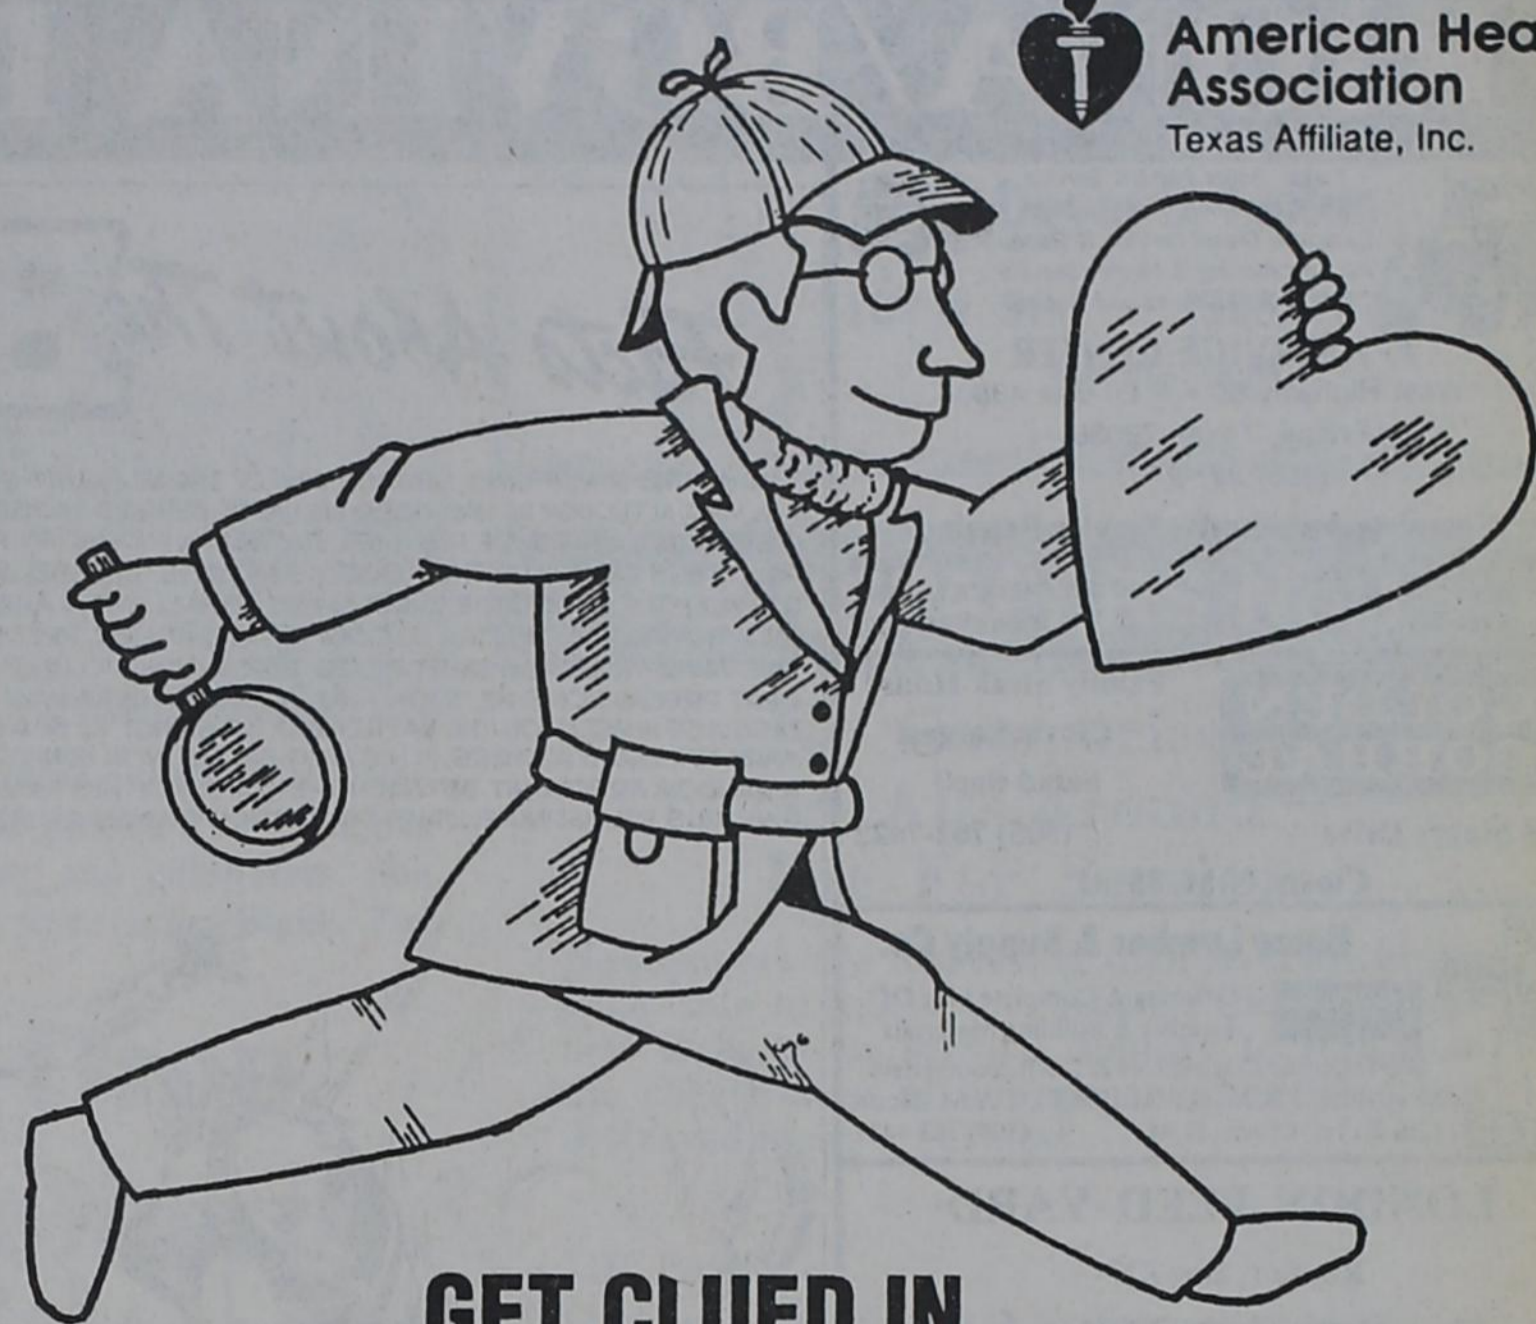

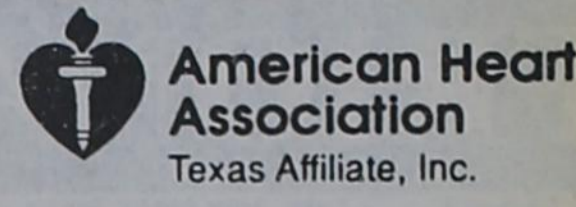

The third type of cover needed is travel lanes. Travel lanes are needed for pheasants to travel to and from feeding grounds. Grain lost during harvest supplies more than enough food for Panhandle pheasant population, but these grains often go unused because there is no nearby travel and escape cover. The most critical time is in March, April and May when hens double their food intake in preparation for egg laying.

The quality of pheasant habitat is directly related to the cropland management practices that affect the pheasant's food supply and cover. Following harvest of grain crops such as grain sorghum, corn, soybeans and sunflowers, there is enough waste grain on the land to sustain a pheasant population through the winter, provided the waste grains are left on or near the soil surface and accessible to the birds. Corn and sorghum residues provide excellent winter cover.

Leaving fence rows, tool yards, odd field corners, tailwater pits, and playa lake areas in weedy cover provides excellent winter cover. Establishment of low-growing evergreen windbreaks and shelter belts also provides excellent winter cover.

Leaving waterways ungrazed and haylands unmowed during the peak nesting period provides excellent nesting cover.

Proper crop residue management following grain crops, whereby residues and waste grains are left on or near the soil surface, is the single most important agronomic practice that would be beneficial to the Texas pheasant population. Coupled with conservation tillage, these practices would provide ample food and cover through the winter months.

Student Council Has Busy Month

The Bovina Student Council has been very busy for the month of January. The council has had four meetings this month.

Some of the activities the council has done for this month include the nominations of the basketball homecoming candidates and the high school voting for king and queen. Basketball homecoming was held January 25. The homecoming king and queen for 1991 are Mona Lisa Martinez and Jose Silva, both junior students at BHS.

The "I Caught You Being Good" program has done very well in the secondary school. This program boasts positive citizenship throughout the school.

Students who are "caught" being good, are given slips of paper which are to be taken to their parents and signed. The slips are supposed to be returned to the school for a drawing. Just recently a drawing was held. Winners were Genaro Ruvacaba, who won a calculator; Richard Beauchamp who won a six-pack of Cokes; and Tammy Dalton who also won a six-pack of Cokes.

This program will be continuing for another six weeks. Members of the council have also been working on a scrapbook which has been constructed with the theme, "Sands of Time." The scrapbook will be taken to district and state competitions.

Those activities planned for the month of February include NEED and recycling projects. NEED is a national and state energy awareness program. Coloring contests for the elementary school have been planned for these programs.

Members of the SASH (Save A Sweetheart) committee have been planning a booth that will be set up for smoking awareness.

Also, programs for drug and alcohol abuse awareness will be done for the month of February. Plans for a Valentine's Day dance have also been made. The dance will be February 15 and will be open to the Bovina Junior High and Bovina High School students. The D.J. that will provide the music for the dance will be Perry Jager.

A blood drive has also been scheduled for February 14. We would like to urge students as well as people in the community to donate blood. Especially during these times of war that we are faced with. Please take into consideration that the blood will be used to aid soldiers in their need for blood due to injury in the war.

Plans have also been made for a campaign for improving grades in high school. This has been set for a week in February and will be a surprise for students.

The Student Council has also been planning a program for the soldiers in the Persian Gulf. Yellow ribbons will be placed on trees around the school at a special ceremony with the help of the Bovina Mustang Band. Photo buttons will also be sold for Valentine's Day for anyone who is interested.

These buttons will be great as gifts from the smaller children to their parents or to your sweetheart. A special background will be used for the buttons. The price of the photo buttons will be $2.50 each. Forms for the buttons will be sent out to students at a later date.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK...Janie Sudderth has been chosen Teacher of the Week by the Bovina PTA. She has taught 30 years and teaches typing and computers. She and her husband, Glenden, have three sons, Blake, Del Ray and Scott.

Mustangs Drop Pair Of Contests

Bovina High School's Mustangs dropped games to Farwell and Nazareth last week, as the basketball season began to wind down.

The Mustangs fell to Farwell, 95-55, on Tuesday, and then dropped a 65-56 decision to Nazareth on Friday.

Kory Mitchell and Cain Neal scored a pair of baskets each, as the Mustangs trailed the Steers, 21-14 after the first quarter.

Corey Kirkpatrick came up with eight points for Bovina in the second quarter as the Mustangs played almost even, but the Steers held a 43-31 halftime lead.

Farwell got its high-powered offense in gear in the second half, outsourcing the locals, 24-9 in the third quarter and 28-15 in the fourth.

Kirkpatrick scored 12 and Mitchell and Neal ten apiece to pace Bovina's scoring.

On Friday the Mustangs played a good game against potent Nazareth, finally losing by nine, 65-56.

The Swifts jumped out to a 19-7 first-quarter lead, but Bovina buckled down to play them on more than even terms the rest of the way, and outsourced Nazareth, 32-26 in the second half.

Corey Kirkpatrick sparked the Mustangs comeback with five second-half baskets, including two from three-point range, plus a free throw. He was Bovina's high-point man in the game with 22 points.

MUSTANGS 55, Farwell 95

Juan Reyna 1-4-6; Jamie Graves 1-2-4; Jose Silva 1-1*-1-6; Kory Mitchell 4-2-10; Corey Kirkpatrick 6-0-12; Cain Neal 5-1-11; Rusty Venable 3-0-6.

MUSTANGS 56, Nazareth 65

Reyna 4-1*-0-11; Mitchell 2-1-5; Kirkpatrick 6-2*-2-22; Hromas 3-0-6; Neal 4-2-10; Venable 1-0-2.

NEWSPAPERS No. 1

No Comparison In All-Around Use For Service

Newspapers are increasing their overwhelming leadership in media . . . because they have the best formula for service. Failure to recognize the effectiveness of newspaper advertising has destroyed many a business.

THE FACTS:

- 1) 8 out of 10 adults read a newspaper on an average weekday
 - 2) Newspaper readership increases with income
 - 3) Newspapers are read page-by-page
 - 4) Newspaper ads are rated by the public as the "most helpful and most trustworthy"
 - 5) People "look forward" to newspaper ads more than they do all others combined
 - 6) Newspapers outperform broadcast media 2-to-1 in influencing sales
 - 7) Most leading retailers carry their main messages in the newspaper
 - 8) Newspapers are alone in delivering massive coverage and having something important to say to-and-about all income groups, all education groups, all occupational groups and all age groups.
- . . . and each of these facts has been documented over-and-over by an endless variety of surveys.

Scooter's Scoops

By Scooter Russell

Sunday was a nice warm day, but our temperatures have been in the 60s and if you live in Texas, you have wind, so it's not bad for winter-time.

NEWS AROUND TOWN....

Lester Rhinehart was honored on his birthday February 1 with a party at Marie and Elton's. Homemade chili and beans, also birthday cake and ice cream were served to several guests. They were: Earl Whitten, Erra Jamerson, Jean Wiseman, Lucille Thomas, Alleen Russell, Norma Whitten, H.J. Charles, R.L. Hopingardner, Pat Sherrill, Jay Sherrill, Carrie Melear, Anita Guest, Elton and Marie Venable and Lester and Flossie Rhinehart. The group had a good time together.

Lloyd Gober is a patient at the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock suffering from heart problems. He and his wife, Frances, were visiting their daughter, Kim, in Lubbock when he became ill. On Monday of this week, he was in CCU.

Tom and Janie Beauchamp are staying together in the Lubbock Methodist Hospital. Tom has suffered double pneumonia and has been in the hospital over a week. His condition has improved some. Janie is having to take chemo treatments so she is just staying with Tom and they are together at Methodist. Our thoughts are with them, and hopefully they will be home soon.

Ann Lee Englant is home from the Muleshoe hospital where she was for a time suffering with problems from high blood pressure and kidney problems. Her condition has improved.

Arlene Smith of El Paso and her fiance were in Bovina over the weekend visiting with Arlene's parents, Billy and Suezey Smith, and also Arlene's brother and sister, Kevin and Darlene.

Robert Calaway suffered a heart attack two weeks ago Thursday and today (Monday) he is still in intensive care but hopefully he will be in a room about the middle of the week. He is a patient at the High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Joe Black was gored twice by a bull and broke several ribs. He was hospitalized in the Friona hospital and hopefully he'll be released early in the week. His wife, Laverne, was with him at the time of the accident, which was a week ago Thursday.

Lillian Rogers and daughter, Vickie Dutton, were in Bovina in recent days from Lockney where they now live. They visited family here and also attended funeral services for George Trimble.

F.O. Turner, a resident of Prairie Acres Nursing Home is now in the Friona hospital with congestion.

Congratulations to Scott and Clara Gober on the birth of a grandson, Rio Justin Johnson, son of Bret and Ginger Johnson. He is the couple's third child and the Gobers' seventh grandchild. He was born January 26.

Ona and Jack Patterson have returned home recently from visiting family in Georgia. They were gone ten days. Ona's and Glen Ritchie's brother died December 22 but road conditions were bad so they didn't go for the services.

Their brother was Lelon Ritchie, 74, who died with a fatal heart attack. His wife had died a year ago. He was survived by two children. Ona and Glen had another brother who died with cancer last April.

Dottie Neal entered the Muleshoe hospital for surgery. The surgery was Wednesday of this week and she said she'd probably be home three days following surgery.

Jana Barrett celebrated her "big 30th" birthday with a surprise "come as you are" breakfast at Denise Christian's house with about six other women. I was unable to get Jana but would wager they had a giggly good time.

Coleman Young took a group of youngsters to the Lubbock Civic Center Saturday and they heard Dawson McAllister speak. The young boys were Darren and Matt Hromas, Mark Jansen and Jay Grisham. Jo Linda Hodnett was also there from Bovina and went with someone from Farwell. Coleman said the Youth Seminar was really great and they thoroughly enjoyed it. Said McAllister was a dynamic speaker.

Bob and June Gay McMeans have returned home from three weeks visiting at Zapata and also visited with Bob's sister.

Coach Rock Stanley is in the Reserves and received his orders to report for duty on Sunday in Oklahoma City. Our best wishes go with him.

Laura Ellis, Bill's daughter, is recuperating at home following surgery in Amarillo. She had an appendectomy at the Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo and was hospitalized several days.

SMILE: Just when you get to the point that menu prices don't matter--calories do.

Have a great week and thanks for helping with the news and Scoops and pray daily for our troops and their families.... Scooter.

Angler's Corner

By M.D. McCALLUM
Sooner or later every angler faces a new lake, river or stream with little or no prior knowledge of its forage base, structure and relevant lures and presentations.

Trial and error along with local information can put a few fish in the livewell, but it can also lead to frustration, and the ruin of a long-awaited trip.

To avoid this common pitfall, hire a professional licensed guide for a day or even a half day. While a guide fee might seem expensive, the details and instructions received can benefit you for the rest of your trip as well as on future outings to the same body of water. Many of these tips can be applied to other waters as well.

In mid-October while on a trip to Lake Fork, Wayne Thatcher and myself hired a guide for a half-day during a cold front. In the most adverse of conditions, we were still able to boat about 25 bass before lunch. The locations and presentations we learned served us well for the remainder of the trip.

We were fortunate enough to get Mr. Bill Welborn, a licensed guide operating out of Lake Fork Marina. Mr. Welborn was extremely patient, offered numerous tips and put us on fish from the very first spot we tried.

As I stated earlier, the conditions were less than favorable. The overnight lows dropped into the 40s with a stiff 15 to 20 mile-per-hour wind. The day we went out with the guide held the worst weather of the week but bass could still be caught with the right presentations.

While I have not fished with a great number of guides, Mr. Welborn ranks as the best I have hired. He is more interested in getting his customers on fish that they can catch instead of concentrating on locations that require a higher level of skill.

Upon our return to the marina, Welborn showed us numerous hot spots on a map that we didn't have time to get to. If you ever contemplate going to Lake Fork (and every serious largemouth angler should) I highly recommend Bill Welborn as well as the top-notch facilities offered by Lake Fork Marina.

The marina owners are former Clovis-area residents who try their best to see that you get what you came for. They offer a motel, cafe and full-service marina with RV hook-ups that include electricity, water and sewer.

Should you decide to hire Mr. Welborn, he can be contacted at the marina, (214) 765-2764 or at his residence, (214) 765-2750. It is recommended that you contact him well in advance of your trip to line out the details.

Try a professional guide at least once. Their knowledge of the water is invaluable and a mediocre trip can turn into the adventure of a lifetime.

Fillies Lose Pair Of District Games

The BHS Fillies lost both of their district games last week, falling to Farwell on Tuesday, 78-49, and to strong Nazareth on Friday, 108-17.

At Farwell, the Fillies got good scoring from Donna Griggs in the first half, but still trailed the Steerettes, 40-27.

Farwell then outscored the Fillies, 16-12 in the third quarter and trailed, 56-39 after three quarters.

Miss Griggs led the scoring with 22 points, and Miss Jones added 11.

At Nazareth on Friday, the Fillies were ambushed, 108-17. It marked the second time this season that the Nazareth girls had scored 100 points against Bovina.

Nazareth scored less than 25 points only in the third quarter (21), but made up for that with 33 in the final eight minutes.

Donna Griggs scored 11 of Bovina's points and was the only bright spot.
