Flood Losses Affect Many Area Lives

Victims of floods which turned creeks and streams into torrents in five north Texas counties August 3-4 suffered extensive losses affecting many aspects of their lives.

That is the conclusion of Jack Simpson, individual assistance coordinator, disaster aid program.

He said most of the 1618 applicants who visited Disaster Assistance Centers requested several types of aid—emergency supplies, temporary housing, unemployment benefits, loans and/or grants.

"This was a disaster which cost flooded citizens dearly," he said.

"More than half of applicants needed clothing, bedding, food, or other supplies necessary immediately for day-to-day existence. These victims were referred to the American Red Cross or other volunteer agencies," he said.

One of four individual in families applied for temporary housing, indicating their homes had been destroyed or severely damaged.

One in five was temporarily unemployed due to the flood and requested unemployment benefits.

One in three applied for a grant through the Texas Department of Human Resources. These victims usually asked for food stamps also.

Centers were set up in Albany, Haskell, Graham, and Breckenridge to serve citizens of Shackelford, Haskell, Young, Stephens, and Throckmorton Counties. Victims in any county could apply for assistance at the center most convenient to them.

Both emergency and long-term recovery plans are reflected in applications for two types of assistance he said.

Applications came from 802 persons for home or personal property loans through the Small Business Administration. The SBA also received 233 requests for business loans.

Farmers and ranchers, who can borrow from either the SBA or Farmers Home Administration, applied for 256 FmHA loans. Other types of agricultural assistance requests totaled 380.

Some 448 inquiries about income tax relief were tallied, 125 asked about insurance, 39, consumer problems, 32, social security questions, 11, veterans, and seven, legal assistance referrals.

Simpson said types of help requested varied considerably from county to county.

Agricultural assistance requests dominated reports from Haskell. A low percentage of applications for housing and emergency aid showed up in the 544 center registrations.

At Graham, 291 of 699 applications requested temporary housing, 376 asked for emergency supplies, 285 grants, 294 food stamps, 199 unemployment benefits.

Simpson said early Federal Disaster Assistance Administration estimates matched applications closely in almost every instance.

"From a helicopter survey of the Graham area, I estimated 300 homes were flooded. Another estimate of 250 was made. Temporary housing applications at Graham actually retailed 270."

"We were low on estimates of applications for farm and ranch damage. We could see the damage was there, but we could not estimate immediately how many landowners or ranch operators were involved."

"We think the reasons farmers and ranchers responded so promptly was because they were familiar with the disaster programs because so much of the area had already received an emergency drought designation."

Victims can still apply for aid through federal, state, and volunteer agencies. Most agencies will consider requests for help through Oct. 1. Farm and ranch aid will be available for longer periods.

As a rule of thumb, agricultural aid applications and requests for grants, food stamps, and unemployment benefits can be made in established offices in county seat towns.

Internal Revenue Service answers questions over toll free number 1-800-492-4830.

Temporary housing questions can be directed, collect, to the HUD office, 1-817-559-8232. The HUD office is located at 116 West Walker, Breckenridge.

Loans, which are available to residents of counties touching the disaster-declared counties as well as citizens in those counties, can be requested at SBA offices in Graham at 616 Third Street; the Railroad Depot, Albany; and the Court House, Haskell.

Joe Winkle, regional director, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, Dallas, acted as federal coordinating officer for the north and hill country Texas aid programs. Jess Ward served as representative of Gov. Dolph Briscoe in the effort.

Booster Club Sets Ice Cream Supper

Attention all fans, past booster members, football parents and interested public: You are invited to attend the scrimmage and ice cream party to be held Friday, Sept. 1, 1978 at the Indian Stadium. Following the pre-season game the Indian Booster Club will introduce the players and coaches and serve free ice cream.

The Indian Booster Club is an organization actively supporting the Haskell School sports programs. You need not be a parent of an athlete to be a member. The organization is open to anyone for a membership fee of $5.00 per year. The money made by the club from membership dues, advertising and sales promotions (bumper stickers, caps, programs, etc.) has been and will continue to be used for the athletic program through the sponsorship of the All-Sports Banquet and additional equipment or repairs. Last spring the banquet was planned for one hundred twenty-five individual students participating in all sports Haskell Schools offer and many of those students participate in more than one sport. In years past the Booster Club has helped with the purchase of the Weight machine, camera and projector, and carpet for the Field House.

ASCS Requests Flood Funds

The Haskell County ASCS Office is currently taking applications from producers who have suffered damages during the recent flood. Funds have been requested for the following practices; EC-2, Grading, Shaping and releveling, EC-3, Restoring permanent fences and EC-4, Restoring structures (ponds, terraces, waterways, etc.). At the present time no funds are available at the National level, but ASCS is hoping funds do become available soon.

Library Program Set Saturday

The Haskell County Library will be the scene of the Summer Reading Program, to be held on Saturday, August 26th, at 2:00 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Harlan Weinert, Haskell Fourth Grade teacher, will speak to the children.

Following her talk, Mrs. McGee, Librarian, will award the certificates to the children who have read 10 books or more on their level. After receiving their certificates, the children and guests will be served refreshments.

Mrs. McGee wishes to thank all the parents and grandparents for helping the boys and girls get their books.

Visitors will be most welcome.

PAINT CREEK REGISTRATION

Superintendent Grady Avants announced that all Paint Creek students will register Friday, Aug. 25, at 8:30 a.m. Buses will run on that day. Classes will begin Aug. 28, at 8:20 a.m. and dismiss at 3:30 p.m.

BAND PARENTS MEETING

A meeting for all Haskell Band parents will be held Tuesday, Aug. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the band hall. Following the meeting, parents will clean the concession stand.

SBA Loan Program Set Aug. 24

A meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 24 at 8:00 at the Haskell National Bank Community Room to explain the rules and regulations of the SBA disaster loan program. They urge all flood victims to attend this meeting so the SBA can be of help.

The SBA has passed out 200 applications in Haskell County. Over 800 applications have been distributed in the 5 county disaster area. As of August 17, 67 applications have been completed totaling $1,680,000.00. They are expecting over 1000 loans as a result of flood.

SBA has an office on the 3rd floor of the courthouse. The office will be open from 8-6 til Friday, August 25. They will be in Haskell through Oct. 3rd.

Indians To Meet Spur Friday In Scrimmage

Over 120 junior high and high school athletes began two-a-day work outs August 14, and are currently down to one practice per day with only three weeks before the season opener Sept. 8, against Anson.

The Indians will have scrimmages the next two Friday nights. This Friday, Aug. 25, the Tribe will travel to Spur. The JV's will begin the scrimmage at 6 p.m. and the varsity will follow at about 7:30 or 8. Sept. 1, local grid fans can spend the afternoon and evening at Indian Stadium watching scrimmages. The JV's will meet the Rochester varsity beginning at 4 p.m., the Fresh will meet the Archer City freshmen at 5:30 and the varsity will scrimmage Archer City at 7:30.

The Archer City scrimmage will be followed by the Indian Booster Club annual ice cream supper.

Head coach Don Flippin said Tuesday that the coaches were very pleased with the condition of the players when they reported this year. He said that most were in very good shape and that the coaches had emphasized conditioning more than anything else thus far in practices. Flippin said that one reason that this was possible was that the team would use basically the same types of offense and defense and that most of the players were familiar with the basic plays.

Coach Flippin said that the coaches still were not sure what to think of the recent poll which picked the Indians to win the State Class A title. He said that it felt good to be picked #1, but at the same time the ranking placed a lot of pressure on the players and served as an aid for opponents to try harder to beat Haskell.

At the same time Flippin would not sell the team short and described them as a pretty good, scrappy team that enjoys playing. He said that they would play the games one at a time.

Rev. and Mrs. Juergenson of Humbolt, Kansas and her sister were here last weekend for the wedding of Kara Jones and Billy Lamb, and they also visited with old friends at a sandwich supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark Monday night. Rev. Jergenson was pastor of the Zion Lutheran Church here in 1927, and has now retired from the ministry.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Galloway of Big Lake visited with the David Letzes last weekend.

The Fellowship Room at

Faith Lutheran Church was the scene of a shower Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Ricky Lehmann and Mrs. Randy Lehmann, both of them recent brides, and they married brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Norvell Lehmann.

The registry table was laid with white net over yellow and held both the brides' books. Mrs. Dorothy Toney registered the guests.

The serving table was covered with white lace over a yellow cloth. The centerpiece held five candles in frosted cups surrounded by tiny white flowers. Miss Carol Dudensing poured punch and served cookies to the guests.

In the receiving line were the brides, Carla Sue Lehmann and her mother, Mrs. Sue Worley of Brownwood, and Carla Joy Lehmann and her mother, Mrs. Bobby Peirson of Sweetwater, and the grooms' mother, Mrs. Norvell Lehmann of Rule, and their grandmothers, Mrs. Otto Lehmann and Mrs. Leo Monse, Sr., both of Sagerton.

The hostesses were: the Mmes. J.B. Toney, Ronnie Landes, Alvin Bredthauer, Cleo Gann, Bill Hertel, Kenneth Hertel, Odene Dudensing, Delbert LeFevre, Carl Hertel, J.L. Brooks, Sonny Denson and Eugene Rhoades.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Laughlin from California and their two children visited here with Mrs. Cliff LeFevre last week. Mr. and Mrs. Van Laughlin of Burkburnett and Mrs. Ladain Anderson of Houston were also guests. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. LeFevre went up to Matador Sunday to visit with their niece, Mrs. Skeets Jamison and her husband and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Tredemeyer of Sweetwater visited with Mr. and Mrs. Buster Tredemeyer last Sunday.

Among his other talents, Benjamin Franklin was an accomplished performer on the guitar and harp.

Washington - "As It Looks From Here"

Omar Burleson
Congressman — 17th District

PEOPLE ARE ASKING IF WASHINGTON HAS received the "message" from California's adoption of Proposition 13. The answer is definitely yes.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, FOR THE LAST SEVERAL MONTHS, momentum has been gathering for the reduction of taxes at all levels of Government. The California action is spurring efforts in many States, including our own State of Texas, to reduce taxes. On the Federal level there is reasonable certainty that when a tax bill is enacted by the Congress, there will be a reduction of approximately $15 billion-$10 billion for individual taxpayers and $5 billion for business.

THERE IS ALSO GREAT MOMENTUM TO REDUCE TAX ON CAPITAL GAINS from its present rate of about 49% to at least 35% or possibly to 25%, which was the rate before the tax act of 1969.

WHEN A TAX BILL IS BROUGHT UP FOR CONSIDERATION BEFORE THE year is out, there will be a proposal to cut income taxes by as much as one-third. This is known as the Kemp-Roth Amendment which we will, in the meantime, be hearing a great deal about. There is no question that people are fed up with big Government, big spending, and big taxes. The weakness in these proposals for tax reductions is the usual failure to relate it to spending.

In the case of California, the State is already looking to Washington for money to make up revenues lost by the property tax decrease recently voted. New York City has led the Nation in asking the Federal Government to bail them out of their bankrupt situation. Aside from taxes, the only way a State or municipality can raise money is through the sale of bonds voted by the people; the Federal Government can either turn the crank at the Federal reserve and issue more paper money or go out into the money market and borrow it.

THROUGH REVENUE SHARING AND GRANTS OF VARIOUS KINDS, the Federal Government is already contributing a substantial part in support of State and local governments. As taxes are reduced by local governments, Washington will be looked to more and more to make up the difference in the cost of various programs. Forty-four States have a surplus in their treasuries at this time, five States have a balanced budget, and one State is in deficit. But, the Federal Government with its huge National debt and a deficit hovering between $50 and $60 billion will be called to make up the difference to finance programs at levels before tax cuts were made.

THE POINT HERE IS THAT IT IS MORE POPULAR

TO TALK OF reducing taxes, than reducing expenditures.

EVERYONE HAS THEIR IDEAS ABOUT WHERE CUTS IN SPENDING should be made. Some want to cut back on defense preparedness by eliminating some of the most modern weapons. We know that Social Security is not going to be trimmed and no one really believes that our expensive unemployment compensation system, costing $20 billion, is going to be appreciatively cut back.

THOSE FROM THE CITIES THINK THAT A CRACK-DOWN SHOULD BE made on agricultural supports, other believe that our interstate highway system, the finest in the world, should be practically eliminated, while some feel that more money instead of less should go into environmental protection, industrial safety, and public health.

NO ONE BELIEVES THAT VETERANS BENEFITS ARE

GOING TO BE tampered with and so on and on it goes with not very much said about how all these obligations, authorized for four or five years in advance, are really going to be shrunk to the point of real savings.

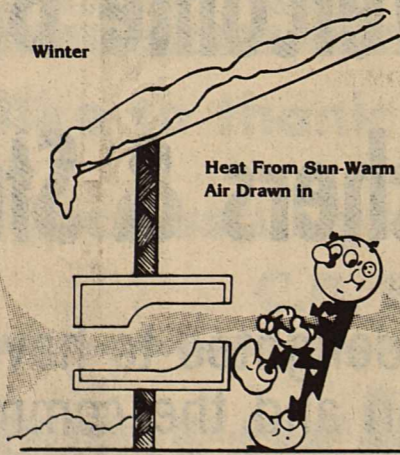

JUSTICE OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES ONCE SAID THAT HE WAS glad to pay taxes. They were, he said, his "investment in civilization". Most people probably feel this way too, but as we have said in this space time and again, the real complaint should be how our hard earned tax money is spent. So, firing one barrel at tax reductions is half the answer; the other has to shoot down high spending.

Stretch your energy dollars—Install an energy-efficient electric heat pump

A heating system that's more than 200% efficient may seem like something out of the future. But it isn't. It's yours today, with the electric heat pump. Because when correctly installed in a properly insulated home, the heat pump produces two units of heat for each single unit of electricity it uses. It transfers heat that's always present in sun-warmed outside air into your home during the winter. And reverses the process, pumping heat outdoors during the summer.

If you have plans to buy, build, or remodel, or are looking for a new heating and cooling system for your home, call a local FACTORY CERTIFIED heat pump dealer or talk with WTU. A special feature of this year's conference will be "PCAs Meet the Press." The media forum will present a panel of agricultural editors and broadcasters to discuss some of agriculture's major problems and their solutions.

Motion Sickness Destroys Plans

A disturbance in the tiny canals of the inner ear can destroy the best-laid travel plans. When the body's balance mechanism, contained in the inner ear, is bothered by motion, suddenly the traveler may be concentrating more on the nausea, vomiting or dizziness of motion sickness than on the pleasures of a long-planned vacation.

To help prevent motion sickness, which is much easier than controlling it once it starts, the Texas Medical Association offers these suggestions:

Try to ride in the front seat of a car, midship in a boat and in the middle, usually over the wing, in an airplane;

Avoid heavy meals, excess alcohol and other substances that might cause an upset stomach under normal conditions. During prolonged periods of motion, simple foods and small amounts of liquids can be taken. For short trips, avoid eating anything;

Proper head position also can be helpful. Try tilting your head back, keeping the line of sight at about a 45 degree angle. Also try to steady the head against a pillow or other solid object;

Focusing on a distant, stable object instead of concentrating on pitching, swaying nearby surroundings aids some people. But make sure the object looks very stable. Some authorities say a moving horizon and emotional factors such as fear are two of the main causes of motion sickness;

Over-the-counter drugs such as dimenhydrinate, meclizine and cyclizine can be useful. These are not the trade names so read the labels to find the ingredients. Ideally these drugs should be taken before traveling, but if motion sickness starts to sneak up unexpectedly, taking a pill immediately may help. Many airlines carry the drugs onboard for just such occasions. Since these drugs make some people drowsy, do not operate a vehicle if you use them;

Sitting still and avoiding reading helps many people avoid motion sickness.

If motion sickness does occur, the victim may eventually get used to the motion and recover. One pilot would eat a load of pancakes, take his plane up and do acrobatics until he began to get sick. He would land, vomit and then eat another stack of pancakes. He repeated the process until he got used to the motion. If you are not up to such heroics, sip simple fluids to keep from becoming dehydrated if the problem continues for quite awhile and take a motion sickness drug at recommended intervals.

Assistance Now Available

A large number of American citizens would like to obtain a college degree or some other type of higher education, but are unable to afford the constantly increasing costs of training. According to C.H. Herren, Service Officer for Haskell County, some of these people are eligible for educational assistance from the U.S. Veterans Administration. Many of these people, potentially eligible for monetary assistance from the VA, have never made an inquiry or applied for benefits.

When a member of the Armed Forces dies or is killed while on active duty, his widow and children may be eligible for educational assistance from the VA. The same benefits are available to the widows and children of a veteran whose death occurred following discharge or release from service, and was caused by some disability which was incurred during service, and to the wife and children of a living veteran who is 100% disabled from service-connected conditions.

An eligible person who is entitled to benefits may receive $311 per month when enrolled in a full time course of education at any approved school. A smaller monthly payment can be made when an eligible person is attending school at less than the full time rate. An eligible wife or widow has a ten-year period of entitlement, beginning on the date the veteran died or became totally disabled. Children of such servicemen or veterans are eligible for educational assistance between the ages of 18 and 26 years.

Any person herein described who might wish to determine if he or she is entitled to these educational benefits, should contact the local Veterans Service Office or nearest office of the Veterans Administration.

Human Resources Aid Flood Victims

The land is brushed with green. Grass grows deep and lush by the side of the road. Flowers bloom in the fields and water lies cupped in every hollow of the land. But this is West Texas in August and the unaccustomed green follows on the heels of torrential rains which has spelled disaster for this part of the state.

The picturesque village of Albany, thirty miles northeast of Abilene was hit hard the night August 3. A wall of water, fueled by rains which some say were measured up to 30 inches, descended to the sleeping town. People fled, saving only the clothes they stood in.

The Department of Human Resources was there as soon as roads were passable. Financial Services worker, Merle Stevens, was one of the first to arrive and set up her desk in the Senior Citizens Center. "Most of these people have never received food stamps before...or any kind of help. But they just suddenly lost everything." She sat thinking. "It's sad when they lose their home, but when they lose part of their family...You know the people you read about in the paper...the ones who lost their baby in the flood? Well, it just happened that they came to my desk to get help with their paperwork, and I asked them if they'd had any unusual expenses, like funeral expenses and they said yes, for their baby. And I looked up at them. They were so young."

Lying cradled in the arms of the Brazos and its tributaries, Haskell also felt the fury of the flood. John Mills, of the Abilene office, was there interviewing and giving applications to those who had been left destitute. He was impressed by the courage and spirit displayed by the citizens. "One elderly couple told me that before they were rescued, they were standing on the fireplace, trying to keep out of the water. He was a great big, tall man, but she was a little bitty thing. The old man said, 'The water just kept on rising and rising. Finally it was up to my chest, but her, gesturing toward his wife, 'she had it up to her chin and was standing on her tiptoes to keep it out of her mouth. Then somebody came in a canoe and got us out.'" One elderly client, in his seventies, said jokingly to Mills, "It's taken mama and me fifty-two years to get back to where we started. When we was married fifty-two years ago, we didn't have anything, and here we are again—with nothing." North of Albany the roadsides attest to the velocity of the waters, great chunks of highway are chewed away, thick clumps of grass festoon the reeling fences, mesquite roots rear like threatening monsters where they have been thrown aside to clear the road. Six and eight feet off the ground, grass and shrubs drip from three branches.

In Albany, people are already hard at work, clearing and sweeping, trying to put things back together. In Graham, however, much of the area still lies under three to four feet of foul, stinking water.

Here, the department's program was still in full operation and numbers of people still wait in the American Legion Hall for the help we can give.

It appears that this is the largest area of need, with more applications for help having been received than at any of the other centers.

Beverly Jones, Regional Director of Financial Services, has had the responsibility for coordinating the Department's Disaster Emergency Servicing efforts in all these areas with Bill McKinney of Wichita Falls, Regional Disaster Coordinator. It was McKinney who notified her on Saturday evening that Shackelford County and Haskell had been declared federal disaster areas. (Under federal law, the states administer federal disaster funds as the need arises.) Even as Mrs. Jones and McKinney put their disaster plan into action, they listened to the weather reports and planned ahead, anticipating that Young County, too, would become another disaster area. Although the region had a previously-prepared disaster plan, no one, says Mrs. Jones, anticipated such wide-spread havoc. "An isolated tornado, maybe. But this...She shook her head still disbelieving.

Those people within the Department who had been designated disaster workers gathered in the Abilene office early Monday morning, to receive last-minute information and instructions. A financial supervisor was given responsibility in each area: Myra Emfinger in Haskell, Robert Lowry in Graham, and Mary Ellen Johnson in Albany.

They, each with six workers, had the job of giving out application for the Individual and Family Grant Program, which allows $5000 for each case of serious need.

"Challenging," is how Mrs. Jones characterized the experience, her first with such a large-scale operation. "I can only say I appreciate the attitudes of the staff who have had to be away from their homes on short notice and travel through these conditions. They have never complained." Even as she spoke, her phone rang with the news that two new disaster centers had been declared—Stephens and Throckmorton.

Carol Sedanko, Program Manager for the Refugee Repatriation and Disaster Section of the Department of Human Resources, who was on-site in Graham, pointed out that the Department program is not an emergency program, but rather, a recovery program. The maximum grant clients may receive under this program is $5,000 and is for serious need after all other sources of help have been exhausted.

She too, praised the cooperation which has been evidenced. Staff members from all over Region 04 were in Graham, aiding local Department people, who had been on the job since the flooding began on Sunday. Other regions had offered help, said Mrs. Sedanko, but "in the early days of this type of operation, local people are needed because out-of-town people don't know their way around. Street signs are down, local landmarks are missing. Outside people can't help find Tom if you tell them his house used to be on the third hill past where the Gulf station was." But, once the early verification work is done, offers from other areas will be accepted.

"Reconstruction will be the major portion of our work. This is when we can use help."

Louise Wood, financial worker, who has lived all her life in Graham, used a little precaution when the water began to rise on Sunday afternoon. She and other workers began moving their offices from the courthouse basement to the third floor. Fortunately, the water never rose quite that far, but as Bob Lowry, financial supervisor and disaster director for the county, said, "It was knocking at the door." The people sat quietly in the waiting area there in Graham. They were mudstained, many of them, tired-looking, all of them. But when spoken to, they still could smile. One lady holding a ten-month-old baby, sleeping in her lap, was asked about her clean-up plans when the water recedes from her home. "Well, I guess we'll, all of us, just get in there and do it."

Assistance facilities remain open in Graham. One stop centers in Haskell, Albany and Breckenridge are closed, but many agencies have opened offices in the various courthouses and local Federal office buildings to offer assistance.

Ever see a 15-million dollar cattle truck? It looks as though that's where things are headed with the announcement by major air carriers that 747's are going to be converted to livestock haulers for international markets. Officials say live cattle transportation to countries outside North America is already 80 percent by air with both the volume and the percentage expected to increase during the coming years. For the animals themselves it's all first class. Interiors are redesigned and structured to resemble a barn with separate pens or stalls. Special temperature control and ventilation systems are being designed and separate studies are underway to determine other ways to increase animal comfort. No one has yet decided whether to include in-flight movies but it sounds as if they may not be far away.

Waterway Prevents Erosion

Which are the most productive acres on a farm? Usually, the most productive acreage on a farm will be those that are being used for Grassed Waterways. There is a logical reason for this. Waterways get more than their share of rainfall. Waterways provide for the safe disposal of excess rainfall runoff from diversions, terraces, or from natural concentrations. "Safe" means without damage by erosion or flooding. So, by their very nature and purpose, they receive additional water and produced more.

Waterways may have perennial or annual vegetation, depending upon the grade, or slope in the direction of flow, to control erosion. Annual vegetation waterways require more area, more land preparation, more seeding and more careful management. Therefore, the perennial grassed waterway produced "the most for the least". Furthermore, perennial vegetation usually provides the best protection from erosion with continuous cover on the surface.

Proper vegetation is essential to maintaining the waterway and preventing erosion. Sod-forming or runner-type grasses provide the best surface cover for protection against erosion. Bermudagrass and Buffalograss furnish excellent protection. Bunch grasses do not provide the desired protection, unless managed carefully, because there are bare areas between the plants. A solid ground cover provides the best protection.

With proper maintenance and careful management, annuals may provide adequate protection to waterways on gentle slopes. These should be double-drilled, across the slope or perpendicular to the direction of flow. Small grains and sorghums are commonly used. Wheat, oats, sudan and sorghum-sudan provide excellent yields. After harvesting, as much residue as possible should be left on the surface until preparations are begun for planting the new crop or cover.

The Soil Conservation Service at Haskell are ready and willing to help anyone desiring to construct, vegetate or maintain a waterway. Experience and qualified assistance has been given on many acres of waterways in the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District. The SCS can also give advice as to where cost-sharing assistance may be obtained for installing conservation practices.

American Ag News

By Bettye McBroom

This quote is an excerpt from Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland's speech at the Conference on Rural America in Washington, DC, December 6, 1977, and used by written permission from FOOD MONITOR, March/April 1978:

"We need money invested by people who are going to live on the land, who are going to work it and going to make it produce. That's the strength of agriculture in the United States. It's not the large farm."

Mr. Bergland made his speech on December 6, and yet on December 14 of the same year he had done an about face as far as the family farms are concerned. Of course December 14 is when the American Agriculture Strike was brought to the attention of some, but not all of the American people, because we were not given national coverage as other strikers are. We began to wonder on December 14 why our Secretary of Agriculture was turning against us. We had always read in the news and heard that he was fighting for us, but when it came right down to the nitty gritty he turned on us. There has to be something wrong when the head of a department refuses to meet and talk and listen to the people he represents. We began to do some investigating of Mr. Bergland. We found out he too was a person who is very controlled in our government.

Mr. Bergland talked about the family farms as being the strength of agriculture in the United States. He is right! How many other people in a business would take as much abuse as the family farmer in America has taken? The family farmer has held the rest of America together for a long time, and now our backs are sagging and almost to the breaking point. When the backbone of agriculture is broken, we will no longer have a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, because agriculture is the only industry in America today that is not totally controlled by the government. With below the cost of production prices, more and more small farmers are being forced out of their trade, and more and more large corporate farms are coming into being. Some of these corporate farms are owned by foreigners who could care less whether America remains a free nation or not.

It is time all Americans band together and clean house in the government. We can make a start this November at the polls. Do some research on the person you plan to vote for. Write that person and tell him what you expect out of him if he is elected, or if the case is re-election then let him know if he does not do as the majority of the people want you will help to bring him home.

It is time we Americans begin to think of the future of the United States and not just of today!

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Don:
On behalf of myself and the City Council, we want to express our appreciation to you and the Haskell Free Press for your cooperation concerning reporting of the Haskell Emergency Fund established at Haskell National Bank for flood victims.

Everything possible is being done to determine that the most needy receive these funds.

We also want to express our deepest appreciation to each and every contributor to this fund, and may God bless each and everyone of you for your kindness and consideration during this time of need.

Sincerely,
Royce L. Williams
Mayor, City of Haskell

Dear Editor:
Enclosed is my check for $7.50 to cover subscription to The Haskell Free Press for one year.

I have always had a good feeling toward Haskell. I worked at the Railway station there in 1924 and a number of times thereafter through 1938.

I first met Dr. Gaston B. Foote when he was pastor of First Methodist Church at Haskell about 1930. Dr. Foote was still pastor of First United Methodist Church in downtown Fort Worth when Mrs. Lowder and I joined there in 1969. She sings in the choir and I am presently a member of the official board.

Also Fort Worth Attorney Mr. Earnest Sanders, who grew up in Haskell and graduated there, is on the official board with me. There also is a member of the church named Flowers who is descended from a pioneer Knox County family that moved from Munday to Haskell soon after 1900 or possibly 1910. All of us visit quite a bit when our trails cross in the church.

When I was working in Haskell in 1924 I purchased a railroad pocket watch that still keeps good time. It has but one face but a thousand reflections. It has been my constant companion except when I took it off to be cleaned. I wore it each time I met with Senator Lyndon Johnson or Speaker Sam Raborn. And the night in November 1956 at Wichita Falls when I had a pleasant conversation with Lady Bird Johnson and Mrs. Gore of Tennessee. I also had a nice visit with Congressman Omar Burleson whom I had known when he was County Judge at Anson.

Have been away from Haskell so long there probably is no one who remembers me but I have my cherished memories. So I wish to read your paper for a while.

Sincerely,
J.H. Lowder

Dear Editor:
We wish to express our appreciation to the Haskell Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes for their help during the recent flood clean up work in Vedas Camp at Lake Stamford.

Their hard work was greatly appreciated and will always be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jones

Congressman Krueger To Be In Haskell Today

Congressman Bob Krueger, Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate, will be in Haskell Thursday (August 24) to attend a 9 a.m. coffee reception at the Haskell National Bank Community Room, 601 North 1st.

Krueger will tour the business district after the reception.

The second-term congressman began meeting with people in both large and small communities across the state soon after his May 6 primary victory, in preparation for his November confrontation with Republican John Tower.

Krueger kicked-off his fall campaign drive against Tower at an "Old-Fashioned Picnic and Rally" at his home in New Braunfels July 4. More than 4,500 friends and supporters turned out for his "re-announcement speech there.

"It will take the combined efforts of all Democrats, Republicans and Independents dissatisfied with the representation we now have in Washington to replace our silent senator," Krueger said. "I want to make sure people know they have a real choice—they can have more than just a vote in the United States Senate; they can have a voice."

Krueger won the primary when he captured 55 percent of the vote, carrying 210 of Texas' 254 counties.

The 21st District representative first entered politics in 1974, after he resigned from Duke University where he taught Elizabethan literature and served as associate professor, vice provost and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. He returned to his hometown to assume business responsibilities after the death of his father and late chose to run for the U.S. House of Representatives.

Defeating five other candidates in the primary and two in the general election in 1974, Krueger won election to his first term in the House. He was re-elected with 72 percent of the vote in 1976.

Krueger quickly became known in Washington as well as at home in Texas for his intelligence, speaking abilities and reputation for deciding the issues on their own merits.

From the time he first announced for Congress in 1973, Krueger has called himself an "independent Democrat."

"I am independent of power politics and party factions. I listen to different points of view on a particular issue and then vote in a way which I feel will benefit all Texans and all Americans," Krueger said. "I believe this is what most Texans expect from their representatives."

During his first term, the 42-year-old was voted "Most Effective Freshman Democrat" by the offices of his colleagues in Washington.

A member of the House's Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee and the Science and Technology Committee Krueger was named 1975's "Rookie of the Year" by Texas Monthly.

During his tenure in Washington Krueger has worked actively and effectively on a wide range of issues.

He took the floor of the House with Rep. Barbara Jordan to speak for extension of the Voting Rights Act to Texas, and led fights to deregulate the price of natural gas and oil.

As a result of his efforts to establish a national energy policy, Krueger became nationally known as a leading energy expert. He is a strong advocate of developing new, alternative sources of energy, including tidal and solar energy.

During the last weeks of the primary campaign, the senatorial candidate released eight different position papers, outlining his views on a wide range of important national issues "so that the people of Texas can cast informed votes." Krueger made his stand known on taxes, defense, education health care and other issues facing not only Texas but the entire nation.

Krueger believes that trust is the basis of a democracy and when he first announced for public office, he made available to the media his complete income tax statements. While a congressman, he has continued to mail complete lists of his financial holdings to all constituents who requested them and to annually release his latest income tax returns.

Krueger has appeared on numerous television shows, including "The Today Show," "Good Morning America," "Ask Congress" and Mutual Radio's "What's the Issue?" He debated Arizona Rep. Morris Udall in a Public Broadcasting Service telecast, taking the position that Congress should not ratify Carter's energy plan and according to viewer responses won that debate.

Krueger has supported legislation aiding the American farm family co-sponsoring the Flexible Parity Act and sponsoring a Meat Import Bill requiring specific labeling and stricter inspection of imported beef. As a rancher, Krueger is sympathetic to the needs of today's farmers and ranchers.

The congressman has also been an outspoken advocate for the rights of all Americans, consistently speaking for equality in business and hiring practices and equal access to financial credit in stores and banks.

"I believe each individual should have the opportunity to develop his or her fullest potential, and I have worked, and will continue to work, through our political process to see that this can occur," Krueger said.

"To represent Texas is to represent the richness that is America. I believe that the dream of a better nation for all people still lives all across America, and I want to ensure that dream never dies."

KRUEGER'S ATTENTION FOCUSED ON FLOOD—U.S. Congressman Bob Krueger listens as Bandera County Judge W. O. Hatfield recounts the tremendous losses in lives, property and livestock suffered by flood victims in the Texas Hill Country and West Texas. Krueger, whose home on the banks of the Guadalupe was for a time threatened by floodwaters below Canyon Dam, canceled his campaign schedule so that his full attention could be placed on helping flood-stricken areas. Krueger staff members from San Antonio, San Angelo and Washington were dispatched to fill the gap before federal assistance could be guaranteed. Besides Bandera, Krueger also visited Kerrville, Comfort, Albany, Graham and Abilene.
