Munday Open This Week

District Title On Line For Haskell-Knox City

BY DON COMEDY

The Haskell Indians rolled to another impressive victory last Friday night by smashing the Quanah Indians, 50-0.

The Tribe defense again turned in a spectacular performance, holding Quanah to eight first downs and forcing six turnovers.

In the scoring column, Mark Wallace, Vonnie Hise and Monnie Hise each scored two TD's and Jim Harris scored one. Vonnie Hise added six of seven PAT's and Thomas McAdams nabbed a Quanah runner behind the goal line for a safety.

In other action last Friday, Munday won their final game of the regular season and Knox City was open.

In the likely event that Haskell and Knox City each win their final game this Friday, the district will end in a three way tie.

Representatives of the three schools have already agreed that the winning team will play Hamlin, November 24, at 7:30 p.m. in Stamford. Hamlin has already clinched their district title.

Following Friday's games, representatives of the three schools will meet in Munday on Saturday to draw lots to decide the team which will represent the district.

Last Friday, the Tribe received the opening kick-off and on the fourth play of the game, Mark Wallace raced 63 yards for the first score. Early in the second period, Wallace ran 20 yards for another score. The TD was set up when Kirk Flippin recovered a Quanah fumble.

Vonnie Hise scored twice in the second quarter on runs of ten and two yards to give the Tribe a half-time lead of 27-0.

Monnie Hise and Steve Livingston also recovered fumbles for the Tribe and Jeff Hatfield, Monnie Hise, and Robert Browning all intercepted passes for the Tribe.

On the second play of the second half, Jim Harris and Jeff Hatfield captured a Quanah runner behind the goal line for the safety and three plays later Jim Harris scored from the 11.

In the final period, Monnie Hise scored on runs of 27 and 71 yards to complete the Tribe scoring.

Three Indians rushed for over 100 yards. They were: Monnie Hise, 126, Mark Wallace, 147, and Vonnie Hise, 147.

The Indians will travel to Paducah this Friday for their final regular season game. The Tribe must win the contest to clinch a tie for the district.

Seventh And Eight Grade Teams Finish Undefeated

The Haskell Warriors successfully completed the 1978 football season with two rousing victories over the Stamford Bullpups. Both the 7th and 8th grade teams finished their seasons undefeated. The 7th graders defeated their counterparts from Stamford to the tune of 14-6. This makes their season record 9 wins and 0 defeats.

The 8th grade prevailed over the Bullpups to the tune of 24-6. Their season record is also 9 victories and no defeats. In fact, their 2-year record is 15 victories and one tie. This was compiled over their 7th and 8th grade years.

The Frosh were defeated at Stamford by a score of 24-6. This concludes their season with a record of 4 wins and 3 losses.

The Junior Maidens and

Warriors will open their basketball season on November 20th against Albany. This season a new method of scheduling was used. The girls will play a 7, 8 and 9th grade game at home, while the 7th, 8th and 9th grade boys will play away from home. Then they will reverse sites, at a later date. This change was made in order for more student athletes to have the opportunity to participate in competition. More games will allow younger athletes to develop their skills more fully, particularly the 9th grade.

their 17th birthday and will receive the Armed Forces may test immediately after withdrawing from school.

To receive a certificate of high school equivalency, the examinee must:

- complete the examination with a minimum standard score of 40 on each of the five tests OR an average standard score of 45 on all five tests.

A certificate of high school equivalency may be issued to adults who successfully complete the GED examination, verifying that the holder has demonstrated a level of competence on the examination which is equivalent to that of a high school senior.

Farm-City Week Set

Agriculture is one of the most efficient and productive industries in the United States. Thanks to that fact, Americans continue to enjoy a bountiful food supply at reasonable prices.

The contribution of agriculture and its role in the total economy of Texas and the nation should be recognized during Farm-City Week Nov. 17-23, contends Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Farm-City Week, sponsored annually by the National Farm-City Council, Inc. and Kiwanis International, is designed to promote better understanding between farm and city residents.

"Americans should be thankful for a strong and efficient agricultural industry, one in which output per manhour of farm work has increased 30 percent from 1970 to 1976. At the same time output per manhour for non-farm business rose about 10 percent. Along with the increased output, crop and livestock production rose 16 percent during those six years," points out Anderson.

"Our nation's farmers account for only 3.6 percent of the total population—a far cry from the Soviet Union, for example, where one-third of the people are engaged in farming," notes the economist. "With most Americans freed from producing food, they can devote their efforts to producing goods and providing services that enhance the overall standard of living."

Americans reap the benefits of our efficient agricultural industry as they typically spend only about 17 percent of their disposable incomes for food. This reflects a decrease of 15 percent in 15 years. During the same period, per capita food consumption increased 10 percent. While food costs have risen some in recent years due to increased marketing, processing and related costs, the actual farm value of food costs amounts to only 40 cents of every food dollar.

"Agriculture also carries the load as far as our foreign trade is concerned," emphasizes Anderson. "It is the only sector of the U.S. economy with a trade surplus, which should total about $13 billion for 1977-78. This surplus has been a tremendous factor in partially offsetting the huge trade deficit brought on by imported oil costs."

In Texas agriculture is a mainstay of the state's economy. The total agri-business industry is expected to add some $30 billion to the economic activity of Texas in 1978. This is based on cash receipts of farm and ranch marketings of about $8 billion and the result of a 3.7 multiplier effect. Further depicting the immensity of Texas agriculture is the fact that the value of farm assets—land, buildings, livestock, machinery, crops and related inventory—totals more than $50 billion.

"While agriculture is strong and vibrant both in Texas and the U.S., farm folks must depend on their urban neighbors to consume their products while at the same time needing products and services provided by people in the city. This makes it all the more important that both farm and city people understand and recognize the contributions of each to a unified and prosperous America," contends Anderson.

Paint Creek ISD Is JETS Test Center

Paint Creek ISD has been designated as a test center for the National Engineering Aptitude Search test sponsored by Junior Engineering Technical Society.

This test is for students in grades nine through twelve. The test's purpose is to provide an opportunity to find out about a student's abilities in the engineering-technical field, estimate and perhaps improve their chances for college scholarship aid and learn more about a challenging, exciting field, vital to the United States' progress.

Two test dates have been scheduled. The first is January 20, 1979, and the second is February 17, 1979.

Each test will begin at 9:00 a.m. in room 5 of the high school building at Paint Creek.

Students applications must be returned by November 17, 1978, for the January test and by December 15, 1978, for the February test. Students must send applications and fees directly to the JETS State Coordinating Office, 204 Zachry Engineering Center, College Station, Texas 77843.

Area students can obtain application forms and further information from Howard Brass, Department of Mathematics, Paint Creek ISD, Haskell, Texas, telephone 817-864-2471 or by writing to Howard Brass, Box 60, Rt. 1, Rule, Texas 79547.

GRANIVEL PRICHARD, 52 of Aspermont, received minor injuries last Friday morning when he lost control of his 1968 Lincoln. He was traveling east on U.S. 380, just west of Haskell City limits when the car left the right side of the road on a curve and overturned. Members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department were called to the scene and Prichard was treated and transported to Haskell Memorial Hospital by the Haskell Emergency Ambulance Service. He was treated and released at the Hospital. DPS Trooper, James Davis investigated the accident. (Staff Photo)

CMS Holds Salad Supper

The Christian Missionary Society met Monday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church for a salad supper. All enjoyed the many different delicious salads.

After the supper there was a regular meeting. Many spiritual thoughts were expressed, and old and new business items were discussed and passed upon.

Marjorie Pace brought the devotion calling attention to the many little things of everyday life that we take for granted and to which we pay such little attention. She stressed the fact that we should take more note of them, thanking God that he has provided them for our pleasure.

Ruby Holt brought a most inspiring lesson on the many women of the Bible and expressing the thought that it doesn't take long for God to answer our prayer providing we go to God confessing our sins as we are told to do in I John 1:9. Having done this, we are qualified for effectual prayers.

The meeting closed with many offering prayer.

Girl Scout Workshop Well Attended

The 1978 Fall Junior Badge Workshop at Camp Boothe Oaks the weekend of Oct. 27-29 registered 114 Junior level Girl Scouts (age 9-10-11), 22 adult leaders, and 10 consultants. Event Director, Peggy Vernon, of Snyder reported the girls earned a total of 278 badges, having a choice of one from Outdoor Cook, Rambler, My Camera, or Gypsy. All girls earned the Troop Camper.

Troop Camper and Outdoor Cook consultants were Jackie Hancock, Big Spring; Lynn Dickinson, Big Spring; Senior Scout JoAnne Henry of Hermleigh; Cadette Scouts Margaret and Jean Anderson, and Kim Baldwin of Snyder.

Gypsy group went on an all day hike around the campsite with lunch packs on their backs. Their consultant was Billie Teague, who was assisted by June and Dennis Meurer.

Rambler group went on two nature walks to observe wildlife and to identify plants and trees. Judy Barkowsky, Snyder and Louise Ward, Abilene were consultants for the 23 girls working on this badge.

My Camera Juniors were aided by Dr. Ed Barkowsky, Snyder, who shared his expertise in the field of photography. Fall colors, flag ceremonies, cook fires, and 300 visiting Brownies afforded good subject matter for his two dozen shutter-bugs.

Mrs. Vernon presented the event patch and the Junior badges earned at the Scouts' Own ceremony, Sunday morning. The troops participating in the workshop included Hamlin Troop #316, Haskell Troop #464, Big Spring Troop #80, Lamesa Troop #425, Snyder Troop #62, Abilene Troop #136, Sweetwater Troop

#268, Abilene Troop # 148, Snyder Troop #89, and Abilene Troop #37.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Residential burglaries are increasing across the State, and Texas consumers have been purchasing various kinds of burglary prevention devices to protect their homes and personal property.

Possibly the most popular burglary prevention device that is used on homes is the burglar bar. Attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division say, however, that homeowners should be wary of certain unscrupulous burglar bar businesses. Our attorneys have recently received several consumer complaints regarding alleged deceptive practices in the burglar bar business.

Unscrupulous operators often advertise in local newspapers and distribute promotional fliers offering to sell and install burglar bars at a very low price. Consumers are also urged by the advertisements to contact the company for free estimates.

If a consumer inquires about the low-cost burglar bars, one of the company's sales representatives will induce the customer to purchase a better quality bar at a much higher price. This is a typical "bait and switch" tactic.

These unscrupulous sales people fail to mention that the bars are small and flexible and have only limited usefulness against intruders. They may also represent that the bars are guaranteed for 30 years and won't rust or need to be painted for five years, when in truth the window guards are often improperly installed and show rust within a year. Defective burglar bars have even been known to cause damage to some homes after being installed improperly.

Our Consumer Protection Division lawyers offer these tips to consumers when purchasing burglary prevention equipment:

*Do not fall for "bait and switch" tactics. If an advertisement offers burglar bars at an incredibly low price, be very wary. If you do decide to purchase the bars, make sure you get a written guarantee or warranty.

*Be sure to check the bars for durability and check with your local police department to see if they recommend the company's product.

*Talk to your friends and neighbors who have installed burglary equipment and see if they recommend the company.

*Also, check with your local Better Business Bureau to determine the company's reputation.

If you are the victim of an unscrupulous burglary prevention equipment company or salesperson, contact our Consumer Protection Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso, or McAllen. If you live outside these areas, call toll-free: 1-800-252-9236.

A new low-cost, complete microcomputer system designed for the home could be just the ticket to turn your boy or girl back on to studying and improving his or her grades in school. No more holding up cards, or calling out spelling words or questions if you're a concerned parent who wants to help.

Following the computer's easy-to-understand instruction/programming manual, you can program drills and subject-related activities for your student. Then, he can devise his own questions and test himself, or store vital background material on a tape cassette recorder that plugs right into the computer. And you can be sure he'll use it because using the microcomputer is fun!

A HOME COMPUTER is like having a private tutor for your child.

Made by Radio Shack, a nationwide electronics store chain that's a leading supplier of top-quality micro-computers, the new portable instrument is called the TRS-80 Microcomputer. It's compatible with the ordinary household current.

When you give this handy instructional aid, with pre-recorded instructional programs like elementary math, algebra and computer programming itself, you'll probably find the interest was there. Until now, you just didn't know how to tap it.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Fratris L. Duff, M.D., Commissioner

If there's a new baby in your home, you'll be hearing from the Texas Department of Health. But don't worry, because it's part of the Pre-school Immunization Program conducted by the Department and your city or county health department. Last year, more than a quarter-million contacts were made with new parents. Every month, the State Health Department's Records and Statistics Section reports the name, parents' names, and home address of every child born in the state. The Pre-school Immunization Program receives a copy of this report at its headquarters in Austin.

When a child reaches the age of three months, the State Health Department sends a printed card to the parents, asking whether the child has received the first series of immunizations against preventable disease. Cards are not sent to the city of Houston residents because of the special pre-school immunization program there.

Normally, every child should be given a series of vaccinations against diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, and polio, beginning at two months of age.

If the parents fail to return the postage-free reply card within three months, the Department sends a reminder letter. If there is still no response from the parents within two more months, a referral is made to one of the 98 community service aides located in every part of the state. It is the aides' job to contact the parents either by phone or personal visits, and to encourage them to have their children immunized.

For the 1977 calendar year, a total of 254,079 contacts were made by community service aides, and 186,765 of these were personal visits. These resulted in 178,157 immunization starts and completions.

Another card is mailed when children are 15 months old, encouraging parents to complete their children's basic immunizations for DTP, polio, measles, mumps and rubella, and to indicate on a return card the number of doses received. A reminder is sent 60 days later if the 15-month card is not returned, and referrals are issued if there is no response to the reminder.

The State Health Department receives a lot of the cards back with the notation, "thank you for caring about our children," says Euel A. Smith, Director of the Immunization Division.

A letter that Smith received recently from Robert and Janet Hoefakker of Fort Worth in response to one of the Department's cards, emphasizes the importance of the Pre-school Immunization Program.

Mrs. Hoefakker explained the status of her little daughter's immunizations and then wrote, "Now I would like to share something with you. I hope you will have time to read it. When Robert, Jerri's daddy, was 13 months old, some 31 years ago, he got measles and rubella one right after another. He ran such a high temperature with these and with complications, that when he got over them and started to toddle around, his parents noticed a frightening thing, he was dragging his right side around.

Robert had developed cerebral palsy from burned up motor cells due to measles complications. He was very lucky however, being just right-side motor involved, not speech, mental ability or anything else. Still, 13 operations followed from then 'till he was 19."

Mrs. Hoefakker went on to explain some more physical problems her husband had to contend with as a result of having measles as a child. She closed her letter by saying, "What happened to Bob can happen anytime to anyone's child and change their lives forever. I guess what hurts so much is that it's preventable.

"It doesn't have to happen anymore. Please make people see this! Bob's overcome a lot and we both work hard to do everything we can to make our lives whole and productive. I hope no child will ever have to do this kind of hard work again."

Parents are encouraged to immunize their children early in life, and to return immunization cards issued by the State Health Department as soon as possible after receipt. This will assure that children are protected at a young age, and prevent the issuance of unnecessary reminder letters and referrals for immunized children.

Beta Chi Chapter Holds Meeting In Munday

The Beta Chi Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma met in the library of the Munday High School, November 4.

Place cards written in various colors directed the members to attractively arranged tables decorated in the matching colors where chapter committees were seated together as a convenience for beginning their committee work for the year. Later in the meeting, pictures for the chapter scrapbook were made of each committee group working at their respective tables.

President LaRue Reeves called the meeting to order and brought a timely message from the fall issue of the Delta Kappa Gamma bulletin and then directed the group in the reading of the Beta Chi Collect.

Music chairman Virginia Casey introduced Dottie Lowrey who introduced and accompanied Connie Verhalen and her son, Bradley, as they sang "I'm Just a Flag Waving American," "America The Beautiful," "God Made Me Special and The Only One of My Kind," and "Jesus Loves Me."

The president announced that this year plans are, at each meeting, to honor some member who had made some special contribution to Delta Kappa Gamma and its meetings. Mabel Derr, chairman of achievement awards committee, stated that Virginia Casey was recommended for the honor at the first meeting.

Members praised Virginia as a charming, dependable person who has made each monthly meeting more enjoyable by securing and presenting talented, outstanding, local musicians that everyone enjoys. Her numbers are always surprises to the group and are always enjoyable. Mabel presented Virginia a long stemmed red rose as a token of appreciation from the chapter.

Program committee chairman Leona Partridge gave a program review of Beta Chi history, discussed the chapter's seven purposes, and gave past program instances and contributions of various chapter members. Mrs. Partridge said, "Honor the past and celebrated the future in committee togetherness."

Mary Jo Lankford, Mary Martin and Virginia Casey directed a sing-song, "Golden Gift Fund" (to the tune of "Shortening Bread"), "It Carries Me Along," and "The Delta Kappa Gamma Song."

Door prizes of antique snuff bottles filled with "Joseph's Coat" were presented to each of the 31 members present. The next meeting of the Beta Chi Chapter will be December 2 at 2:30 p.m. in the Knox City Community Center. Knox City members will serve as hostesses with Mary Jo Lankford and the scholarship committee in charge of the program.

A Note of Thanksgiving

If ever a people had a reason to give thanks it is those of us in Haskell and surrounding counties, for the good rains that came almost too late but just in time to save thousands of acres of cotton and milo and a good season to plant our wheat and the prospect of good grazing for our cattle. I believe God answered the prayers of His People who agreed to gather for the great need, 2 Chronicles 7:13-14. I know there were some disastrous effects but the benefit far out weighed the bad. The filling of lakes and stock tanks was a great blessing.

I want to say thanks to all the agencies, groups and individuals that helped those who suffered losses.

A Call to Praise The Lord, Psalm 100.

The typical home kitchen can be a noisy environment, warns officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation, who point out such a kitchen can contain as many as 20 labor-saving but noise producing appliances. A good rule of thumb is to use no more than two of the noisiest at the same time the crusade officials add.

American Ag News

BY BETTYE McBROOM

There will be a meeting of all interested persons in agriculture November 18, 1978, at the Villa Inn in Irving. A meal will be served at 7:00 p.m. Following the meal AAM Jenkins, Gerald McCathern, Tommy Kersey and others will speak. These speakers are very good and it would be worth your time to drive down to Irving and hear them.

Gerald McCathern has been one of the main speakers from Texas ever since American Agriculture began last fall. He has written a book, "From the WHITE HOUSE to the HOOSEGOW," which is now on sale in some of the offices, including Haskell's office. The price is $3.00, and the pictures in the book are worth that much.

"From the WHITE HOUSE to the HOOSEGOW" covers only an infinitesimal amount of the activities which took place during the winter and spring of 1977-1978 involving the farm strike. Basically, it portrays events in which the author was directly involved, but also tries to piece together the many diverse actions and acts across the country which made the American Agriculture Movement, the massive, graphic protest of agriculture producers in the history of this great nation.

The book is a story of embattled farmers for justice in the marketplace. It is the

Engagement

Announced

Tommy Ray Leek and Laura Franklin Coleman announce their engagement and approaching marriage on November 22, 1978 at 5:00 in the afternoon in the home of the bride's mother at 703 West Bowie in Munday.

Laura, a graduate of Munday High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Zane Franklin and the late Mr. Franklin. She is employed by Family Planning in Stamford.

Leek, a graduate of Haskell High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leek of Haskell, and is self employed as an electrician in the Haskell area.

has been to be published as a never-ending battle of America's farmers and ranchers for equality and justice by an AAM supporter.

By God, we're going to picket you if you'll just tell us now. And so began one of the strangest strikes in history, by people who had never carried a picket sign in their lives. Their effort to save their farms led them from the fertile fields of the plains, the cotton patches of the South and the corn fields of the North, to the hallowed halls of Congress.

They walked and talked with state-men, they carried their protest into the White House, and they spent time in crowded jail cells, all the time proudly wearing their blue jeans and strike caps as a symbol of their determination.

The Haskell American Agriculture Movement has donated a book to the Haskell County Library and also one to the Haskell High School Library. They will be sending a copy to each of the following school libraries in the county: Paint Creek, Weinert, Rochester and Rule.

Facts On Strokes

Q. Can I do anything to reduce the likelihood of my having a stroke?

A. There are no guarantees — but there are some sensible precautions. To understand why these are suggested, it helps to understand what we mean by a stroke.

When a stroke occurs, part of the brain suddenly ceases to function because it is deprived of its blood supply. This can result in impairment of vision, speech, or hearing; loss of motor control; change in personality; and even death.

Ninety per cent of all strokes are a result of an obstruction in the vessels carrying blood to the brain. This is often associated with arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). Sometimes there is thrombosis — formation of a clot in one of the brain's arteries. Sometimes an embolus (a clot from some other part of the body) gets stuck in a brain vessel. Some strokes result from stenosis — constrictions in the vessels. About ten per cent of strokes are caused by hemorrhage — due to congenital weakness, high blood pressure, brain tumor or leukemia.

Strokes account for over twenty per cent of the deaths traced to vascular diseases. It is estimated that some 364,000 Americans who are not in hospitals and nursing homes have some degree of paralysis or impairment due to strokes. There is no sure way to prevent strokes. At present we don't know enough about underlying causes. But certain hopeful clues are emerging from studying decades-long medical histories of "well" people. Certain findings (risk factors) appear more frequently among people who eventually suffer a stroke. Perhaps, by avoiding or controlling these risk factors, it may be possible to reduce the chance of having a stroke.

The risk factors include: high blood pressure, diabetes, enlarged heart, elevated blood cholesterol, elevated levels of red blood cells, and cigarette smoking. Perhaps emotional stress, obesity, gout and oral contraceptives also may have an impact. Little strokes are common forerunners of a major stroke. Signs of a little stroke may be: sudden temporary weakness or numbness; speech difficulty which quickly passes; dimming or loss of vision, particularly if only one eye is involved; double vision; brief dizziness; loss of memory; unexplained change in personality or mental ability.

On the average, one third of the victims of a little stroke will have a major stroke in five to seven years. If you think you have had a little stroke, see your doctor — and start taking the steps to modify any risk factors you may have.

Your doctor may recommend that you stop smoking, correct obesity and readjust your diet — away from saturated fats, cholesterol-containing foods and salt — toward leaner, lighter meats, fish and poultry, more fruits, vegetables, cereals and breads, and more polyunsaturated fats like Mazola corn oil. It's worth a try!

For more about a lower saturated fat diet, write for "A Diet for Today," Dept. DT-GN, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

Dyer Promoted To Major At Fort Sam Houston

A native Texan and protocol officer for the headquarters of the U.S. Army Health Services Command at Fort Sam Houston has been promoted to the rank of major.

Maj. Charles E. Dyer II pinned on the gold oak leaf of his new rank during a special ceremony Nov. 1. More than 200 friends and well-wishers attended the ceremony, including Dyer's wife, Becky, his parents, Mr. & Mrs. C. Ed Dyer of Temple, and his parents-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Kenneth Parker of Haskell.

Dyer, a native of Waco, began his military career as an Army reservist in 1964. Upon completion of basic training, he returned to Waco and resumed studies at Baylor University where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1966.

Entering on active duty again in 1967, he completed Officer Candidate School at Ft. Benning, Ga., and was commissioned in the infantry.

While serving in Vietnam as an infantry company commander, he was wounded twice. In addition to two Purple Heart decorations, Dyer holds three Bronze Stars, two of which were presented for valor in Vietnam, three Army Commendation Medals, and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry Unit Citation with Palm.

Prior to being assigned to the HSC headquarters in 1976 as a personnel officer, Dyer served in a similar capacity in Atlanta, Ga., and at William Beaumont Army Medical Center in El Paso. He became the HSC protocol officer in December, 1977.

Reddy's tips on electric safety

★ When disconnecting an appliance, don't pull cord; pull plug.

★ Be sure each appliance has the type of cord suited to the job it does — heavy duty extension cords for power tools; moisture resistant cords and plugs for outdoor equipment.

★ Have frayed cords replaced promptly.
★ Water conducts electricity; never handle electric appliances or switches with wet hands or when standing on a wet surface.

★ If an appliance has a separate cord, attach cord to appliance before plugging it into an outlet; disconnect cord from outlet before disconnecting it from appliance. Store cords away from cutlery, heat and dampness.

★ Don't place cords where they'll be tripped over or be subject to wear (under a well-travelled rug, through doorways).

★ Teach children not to play with or around electric sockets or equipment.

★ Don't use an electric lawn mower or hedge clippers when barefoot, or on wet grass or hedges.

Remember, Reddy supplies the electricity—only you can use it safely!

FOURTEEN YARDS...Indian Steve Escobedo captured this Jim Harris pass for a gain of 14 yards last Friday night. The Tribe passed for a total of 46 yards and rushed for 460 yards in defeating the Quannah Indians, 50-0. This play set up an early second quarter score. The Tribe will travel to Paducah this Friday for the final game of the regular season. At present, Haskell, Munday and Knox City are in a three-way tie for the district title. Munday is open this Friday and Knox City will meet Crowell. Assuming that Haskell and Knox City both win their games, there will be a meeting Saturday morning at 8 a.m. in Munday to draw the name of the team to represent the district.

Demand For Furs Increasing

Increased demands for Texas furs have boosted the furbearer harvest and the 1978-79 season should show a continued increase in the number of pelts harvested across the state.

Included in this rich variety designated by law as furbearers are badgers, beavers, foxes (gray, red, kit and swift), minks, muskrats, opossums, river otters, raccoons, ringtails and skunks (stripped, spotted, hog-nosed and hooded).

Although not presently classified as furbearers, coyotes, bobcats, weasels and nutria also are marketed for their furs. The new bobcat season is Nov. 15-Feb. 15.

Open season for the taking of furbearers for sale include mink, Nov. 15 through Jan. 15; muskrat, Nov. 15 through Mar. 15; and all other fur-bearing animals, Dec. 1 through Jan. 31.

A $5 resident trapping license is required of those who take for the purpose of barter or sale, and those who sell or offer for trade the pelts of any fur-bearing animals of the state.

A $200 non-resident trapping license entitles non-residents to take for the purpose of barter or sale the pelts of any fur-bearing animal in Texas.

A $50 Beaver-Otter license is required of any resident of Texas to trap or take beaver or otter outside the county of his residence.

Total furbearing animal populations is unknown, but based on recent harvest estimates, it could number several million. This, coupled with a reproductive capacity averaging four young per litter, reveals the tremendous economic and recreational potential involved.

Soaring prices since 1975, brought about by an increased demand for wild furs in Europe and the Orient, have focused national attention on the resource.

Trapping licenses in Texas increased from approximately 5,000 during the 1972-73 season to more than 32,900 during the 1977-78 season. The estimated number of furbearing animals harvested increased from 277,535 in 1972-73 to 1,026,800 in 1977-78. The value of these furs rocketed from $1,205,809 to more than $16 million during these six years.

Wholesale and retail fur dealers increased from 34 to 106 respectively in 1972-73 to 191 and 448 in 1977-78.

In addition to the growing army of trappers, there are about 25,000 coon and cat hunters and 30,000 fox and coyote hunters who enjoy pursuing these furbearing predators with packs of baying hounds entirely for sport alone. Their expenditure along could be in the realm of $75 million annually for their sport.

Even though hound men and trappers are the primary users of the furbearing resource, they are not the only Texans whose recreational needs are Most good farmers don't wait until planting time to buy Pioneer-brand seed. . . not anymore.

The best farmers seem to think that having the seed with the greatest potential is too important to leave to chance. So ordering next year's seed as soon as they've seen this year's results is becoming a habit . . . practically a tradition.

Why? Because, when you compare Pioneer performance to brands that are always available and compare the advantages of ordering early to the disadvantages, you've got to pick up the phone and call a Pioneer dealer.

AND TO CAP IT OFF — Pioneer will acknowledge your early order by sending you a sprightly green, foam-lined gabardine cap.

While we feasted our eyes on the scenery, the mosquitoes feasted on me.

Paradise Found.

The only vacation trip Marge and I ever took was our honeymoon. Money was in short supply, so we figured it'd be terrific fun to camp out on the Appalachian Trail. Start our life together in a veritable Garden of Eden.

Well, while we feasted our eyes on the scenery, the mosquitoes feasted on me. I was riddled with bites. Marge came off second best in an encounter with poison ivy. After that, we swore we'd never go anywhere again until we could do it in the grand manner.

That was the start of our vacation kitty. Every chance we got, we'd buy U. S. Savings Bonds and stack them away. As soon as the kids were grown and on their own, we were going to take off. We kept dreaming and the Bonds kept growing.

About six months ago, I called the family together and announced that Marge and I would finally take our vacation. In Hawaii. We were gonna shoot the works. Tour the Islands. Laze in the sun. Nibble on pineapples and lychee nuts. And do exactly what we wanted.

Well, we finally found paradise. It's been a great vacation. And two people never deserved it more. I did go down to the airline ticket office the other day to book our return flight. But, instead, I just turned in the tickets.

As they say in the Islands—"Aloha."

U. S. Savings Bonds can help pay for that dream vacation. So join the Payroll Savings Plan at work or buy Bonds where you bank. A little planning can go a long way.

Take stock in America.

Cotton competition continues to develop new markets as evidenced by two recent happenings. One has been the successful development of flame-retardant cottons as highlighted last year when New York City Fire Commissioner John T. O'Hagan announced that all New York firemen will start wearing "Fire Stop" uniforms (100% cotton). That decision came after nearly a year of testing the cotton material against synthetic products. Second development involves current research at the Southern Regional Research Lab in New Orleans where scientists have produced glass from cotton. Cotton glass has a good chance for extensive use since it has the unique ability to bond together other glasses of different composition. Although product possibilities include nearly everything made from glass, most immediate use will probably be scientific glassware.

Tag Deer Right

Texas deer hunters should be aware that Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens issue numerous tickets each hunting season for improperly tagged deer.

Tagging should be the first step taken upon possession of the deer—even before field dressing. Tags must be completely filled out, and department officials recommend attaching them, along with permits when required, to the animal's antler or foreleg with string, wire or clear cellophane tape.

If the hunter plans to have the deer's head mounted, he must obtain a receipt from the taxidermist and attach this receipt to the remainder of the deer. A deer given to a person other than the one who killed it must have the properly completed and signed tags and permits attached. A document signed by the hunter stating his name, address, date of kill, hunting license number and county and ranch where kill was made must accompany any portion of the deer given to another person.

Finally, the antlers from a buck or the antlerless permit attached to an antlerless deer must remain attached to the carcass until it is processed at a commercial facility or at the residence of the person possessing the animal.

JIM HARRIS AND JEFF HATFIELD captured this Quanah Indian behind the goal line last Friday night for a safety. The Tribe defense again played outstanding and held Quanah to a total of 122 yards and only eight first downs. The Tribe will travel to Paducah this Friday night for their last regular season game. Assuming that the Indians win and that Knox City wins, the District will end in a three way tie. Representatives of Haskell, Munday and Knox City will meet Saturday morning and draw to decide who will represent the district in the playoff game, November 24, against Hamlin. The game will be played at 7:30 p.m. in Stamford. (Staff Photo)

Respect Rights Of Property Owners

Hunting on someone else's land is a privilege and should be regarded as such.

It takes time and effort to get permission to hunt and much less time to close gates that you have opened. A display of thoughtfulness of the rights of the one on whose land you hunt will insure future hunts.

Problems between landowners and hunters affect all of the sportsmen and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. More often, the problems are left with the landowner and excellent hunting areas are posted by the owner who has had enough of policing up trash, chasing livestock that have wandered through open gates and examining damage caused by a very small minority of hunters each season.

The majority of hunting in Texas is on private lands and continued violations of the landowners' rights can only reduce the total prime hunting areas this fall for you and your children.

Let's show our good manners as the hunting seasons continue this fall.

Texas Ag Producers Receiving Share of Booming Exports

AUSTIN--The export market for Texas agricultural products is booming, and the state's producers are continuing to work to receive their share. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

"Texas exports increased an estimated 16 per cent last year over the 1976 figure," Brown said, "with the value of 16 selected major commodities totaling nearly $1.2 billion."

Brown said that currently the export market is even stronger than last year, with total U.S. agricultural exports likely to reach around $26.6 billion, according to USDA forecasts. "Texas' share of that record market is increasingly important to our farmers and ranchers, who now harvest one of every three acres for the export market," he commented.

"Increasing exports are important to all of us, not just those in the agricultural industry, however," Brown continued. "Agricultural commodities are our only products being sold in quantities large enough to lessen the gap in world trade. When America buys more than it sells overseas, it leaves a surplus of dollars abroad, forcing the value of the dollar to fall."

Cotton led the list of 1977 exports for the state, totaling an estimated $559 million. "Strong cotton demand will probably continue," Brown said, "especially in light of this year's smaller crop, which will reduce carryover supplies." Texas' cotton production is expected to drop to 3.7 million bales, compared to 5.5 million bales in 1977.

The second highest money-maker was grain sorghum, with estimated value of $191 million, followed by: Wheat, $165 million; rice, $164 million; and soybeans, $48 million.

CowBelles Participate

Haskell: The subject of agricultural economics needs much more understanding on the part of the American public. That's why the Haskell CowBelles are participating in the Farm-City Week, Nov. 17-23.

According to Mrs. Bob Free, Farm-City Week Chairman, the CowBelles will join in the national event with women of the American National CowBelles, the women's auxiliary of the National Cattlemen's Association. Coordinating organization for the annual observance, which began twenty-three years ago, is Kiwanis International.

"This year's theme for Farm-City Week is Partners in Economic Progress", Mrs. Free said. "The theme was developed after a survey by the United States Chamber of Commerce revealed an urgent need for basic economic understanding of the economy in America. The survey found, for example, that value conflicts among young people combine an adherence of 'money grubbing' on the one hand with a desire for good salaries on the other. It appears from this survey and other indicators that understanding of the economic system is fragmentary, at best."

According to Mrs. Free, one of the economic concepts most misunderstood about the agricultural sector of our economy is that farming and ranching is not a margin-added business where margins are added to costs of materials, like conventional manufacturing and merchandising businesses.

"The prices we receive for our cattle," said Mrs. Free, "are determined strictly by supply and demand at the time of sale. That's why cattle prices have fluctuated so much over the past few years. We are currently nearing the end of a cyclical over-supply situation in which the numbers of basic producing cows have been two large for demand to hold prices at a profitable level. It has taken us several years to reverse the build up pattern in cow numbers. Because of the nature of our product and the large number of cattlemen, each making independent decisions, we are not able to stop production one day, place our product on the shelf and resume production when the price improves," added Mrs. Free.

"It is our hope," say the CowBelles, "that Farm-City Week will help develop a basic understanding among all people of the roles of land, labor and capital in the scheme of things. We need each other. We clothe and feed each other."

Cattlemen from all across the nation will participate in Farm-City Week activities. Plans for the Haskell CowBelles include the signing of a Farm-City Proclamation by Mayor Royce Williams for November 17-23.

The back yard farm of Mrs. R.L. Morales will be toured by Haskell Kindergarten classes in the near future. The children will be introduced to a variety of farm animals and the importance of beef in their diet now; and how their future will depend on American beef will be explained to these future leaders and members of our community.

To finish up Farm-City Week, Mrs. Bob Free, President of Haskell CowBelles, will present members of Haskell Civic Clubs with decals reminding them to serve only "American Produced Beef."

The Farm-City committee, working with Mrs. Free, include Mrs. R.L. Morales, Mrs. Buford Cox and Mrs. Bill Walters.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

from DOYLE HIGH

Young people who abuse the use of drugs frequently are frustrated because poverty and prejudice do exist - they see nations at war, automation taking over - they see adults setting one standard for youth and another for themselves. Everyone would like to turn off frustration and turn on contentment at will. Drug abusers think they can. The trouble is that the facts of life cannot be changed with injection or a swallow. The troubles only increase, due to the bodily and mental injury from drug abuse and the financial burden of drug dependence. Contentment comes not from escape, but only by working to correct the problems of society, as each of us sees them.

Rural responders

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Before an ambulance can reach the scene of a medical emergency in a rural area, a nearby person with special training can often save a life until professional help arrives.

In 1978-79, The University of Texas will offer six courses to train 240 Travis County residents in how to respond to dire emergencies such as heart stoppage or severe bleeding, when every second counts.

Those completing the 42-hour course will be designated as Emergency Care Attendants. Dr. Demetri Vacalis of the UT Physical and Health Education Department devised the course in cooperation with the Travis County Emergency Medical Service.

AAM Meeting Slated

BY KEN LANE
As we begin our second year at Haskell, we would like you to meet and hear some of the men behind our Washington effort.

Marvin Meeks, one of the largest farmers in the American Agriculture Movement, was very active in Washington. Another key man is Sam White. While no one person can relate all that was done in Washington by all the farmers during the past year, Sam can come closer than anyone else. He was there during the complete session of the Legislature.

These two men will be in Haskell at the Elementary School Cafeteria for a chili supper Monday, November 20, at 6:30 p.m.

Everyone who is interested in what has happened and what is going to happen in Washington should come to hear these two men. This is an open meeting. Everyone is invited.

One year ago farmers and ranchers were faced with the lowest prices since the depression year 1933. Out of their depression the people of rural America began to try to do something about the situation. Not really knowing what the problems were, the farmers and ranchers tried lots of things.

At first they believed no one understood the problems. They tried to tell their story by having eye-catching rallies and all types of publicity stunts. These long tractorcades, heated rallies, farm animals on the Capitol steps, and other demonstrations were staged to help point out the injustices.

While all this was going on a group of well-informed hard-working farmers (wise to the working of the government) were knocking themselves out trying to get to the source of the problem. Said problem being very simple: the 1978 Farm Bill was written without a parity formula. Thus inflation put the farmer and rancher down to 55% of parity, or below the cost of production.

This group of farmers and ranchers trying to work with the government did a marvelous job. They entered 1183 pages of testimony into the Congressional Record. This prompted Congressman Tom Foley (chairman of the House Agriculture Committee) to comment that they entered more new information, presented it better, and in a more orderly fashion than any other group of people had ever done on any subject.

The Senate side of the Congress was handled equally as successfully. Out of this came a cascade of bills entered into the hopper on both sides of the Congress. From this pile of proposed legislation came some junk and some well-constructed bills. Two pieces of this legislation recently made the news.

The Counter Cycle Beef Bill was some of the best legislation that has been conceived in the cattle industry. This Beef Bill would not cost any tax money for administration. It would take the import quotas out of the hands of one man (the President) and put them into a formula that would allow more imports when supplies are low and less when supplies are high. Thus we would have a better balanced meat supply for consumers and more stable prices for the cattle industry with less Gov. control.

President Carter vetoed this bill Friday, November 10, saying it took power from the President. The cowmen are well aware of the last two times this power was used (1973 and 1978). Both times the market was broken. In 1973 the industry was badly damaged. The other bill (1978) hurt the cotton farmers. It limited the President's power to manipulate the tariffs on imported cotton and cotton goods. The tariff is a large factor in the price of cotton. President Carter also vetoed this bill.

These two bills were the results of many long hard hours of work by legislators, farmers and ranchers. The two bills are both good ones. They would help the balance of payment and keep the dollar sound. It's too bad the President did not see fit to study them more closely and thereby sign them.

After attempting to influence the government for one year, it seems we have won some and lost the others. One thing that stands out very clearly "Washington does not understand how to fix anything except with money." If it doesn't cost an arm and a leg, it won't work. Congress is still clinging to the out-dated idea that subsidy is the way to solve the farm problem.

In order to write good workable farm legislation that will be fair to farmers, taxpayers, and consumers alike it will take more hard work.
