LOCAL POLICEMEN Robert Wright, left, and Ricky Russell, right, were on hand Tuesday night to stop a mock robbery of Boggs and Johnson Furniture Store. The robbery was staged for those attending the barbecue

Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes End Year With Awards And Installation Banquet

Awards and rewards were abundant at the Haskell County Jaycee and Jaycee-ettes awards and installation banquet, Thursday May 17. The annual event was attended by approximately 75 persons and was held in the Community Building of Haskell National Bank.

Guest speaker for the night was Elvis Wilson of Lewisville, immediate past president of the Texas Jaycees, who brought a short message on the accomplishments of the Haskell County Jaycees during the past year and the goals which could be achieved during the coming years.

Outgoing Jaycee-ette president Diana Owens presented awards to several Jaycee-ettes and commented about the past year for the local club. Incoming officers, Doris Butler, Vice-president; Elaine Davis, State Director; Nene Comedy, Secretary-treasurer; and Kay Cook, Reporter, were installed by Nancy LaRoux of Snyder and incoming president Laura Andress was installed by incoming Regional Director Cindy Ferguson of Lubbock.

Individual Jaycee-ette awards were presented to Laura Andress, Nene Comedy, Cora Proctor, and Carla Butler.

Laura Andress was named outstanding Jaycee-ette in the State and Cora Proctor was named outstanding project chairman in the State. Laura Andress was named outstanding officer in the State and Doris Butler was named Outstanding Jaycee-ette.

Retiring Jaycee President Charles Thornhill commented on a fine year for the Jaycees and listed some of the accomplishments of the past year. The Jaycees conducted about sixty community projects, seven individual development programs, traveled some 56,000 man miles to Jaycee functions, and were involved in every phase of Jaycee activities. He commented on the recent State Jaycee convention where several awards were presented to the local chapter and to individual members. The Haskell County Jaycees were recognized as a Blue Chip Chapter, first in percent overbase for growth, with 608% (the largest ever in the 51 year history of the Texas Jaycees), were first with Grand Slam (plus 2), third in membership growth, second in sweepstakes, sixth in new chapter extensions and first in retention of members with 100%. Individual awards (Jaycee Jakes) were presented to Gene Butler, outstanding local committee chairman; Thurman Howeth Jr., outstanding local secretary; Jake Dusak, Jr., outstanding local State Director; and Charles Thornhill outstanding local president. The Jaycee Jake awards were presented by population division and chapters of similar populations across the state competed against each other.

Bo Owens was recognized as outstanding District Director and received a Blue Chip award for first in percent over base in his district.

Two special awards were presented during the banquet last week to Wayne Wainscott and J.C. Short of WTU for their assistance to the Jaycees this year and in years past. They were presented with white hats and certificates of appreciation.

Individual certificates were presented to local members for participation in programs and activities of the chapter.

Site Preparation Now Underway

Preparation of the site for the new fire station began recently with the removal of a vacant gas station on the proposed site.

Members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department removed all useable materials from the station and leveled the building.

The bricks should be removed by the end of the week and preparations for the foundation can be started immediately.

Donations to the fund continue to be received and department members are hopeful that necessary materials for the interior of the station can be purchased when the erection of the building is completed.

Members are hopeful that the building will be erected by mid-August and that the station will be completed by the end of the year. Members have agreed to do all interior work themselves.

Persons who have made pledges to the building fund are asked to turn their donations into the fire station, any member of the department, or to any teller at Haskell National Bank, at their convenience. The building should be received in about five weeks and will have to be paid for at the time of receipt and all pledges will be needed at that time.

The recent donation of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nanny was incorrectly reported as $50.00, the donation should have been $100.00.

Donations received this week include:

A SMALL PILE OF BRICKS is all that remains of a vacant gas station which recently occupied the future site of a new fire station in Haskell. Members of the department have almost completed the removal of the gas station and are hopeful that foundation work can be started in the near future. The proposed new station will be a 50x100 metal building which will house all firefighting equipment and include offices and training facilities. Department members are building the new station with donations. (Staff Photo)

Washington, D.C. — In "Wealth of Nations," Adam Smith argued that profits are the legitimate return for risk and effort and that the "Invisible Hand" of market forces would convert private greed into public benefits.

The economic theories of Adam Smith are as applicable to the marketplace of today as they were 200 years ago. The free enterprise system works because it allows a person to reap the benefits of his labor. Profits are the invisible hand that motivates individuals to make a product or perform a service that will benefit the community as a whole. The better an entrepreneur is able to perform this service, the bigger the reward (profits) he receives.

Profits are called by many names these days — obscene, exorbitant, and excessive. Granted, profits can be improper if they are exploitative or the result of price-fixing schemes or monopolies. But we must remember that in a capitalist economy the promise of monetary reward is a prime motivator. Without hope of a reasonable rate of return, no one would start a business, introduce a new product or service, or even continue producing an old one. And without the reality of profits, no business in the long run can keep itself alive — except by government subsidies. Also we must remember that even if profits are excessive in the short run, the market will adjust and force prices downward. Pocket calculators are a good example. Today a good calculator can be bought for as little as $10 from a variety of companies. Just a few years ago only a limited number of firms made calculators at a price many times that of the present rate. The same will happen in our energy industry if only permitted. The profit incentive will attract new firms into the market and production of additional hydrocarbons and alternative sources of fuel will become more feasible. In the long run excess profits will disappear as competition increases and the public will benefit.

The basic principles of free market economics are understood by people everywhere whether they admit it or not. The Russian people understand free market economics. The state takes 90% of the production of collective farms in the Soviet Union, but lets workers keep what they earn by farming their backyards. Soviet state agriculture is perpetually in poor condition and a third of farm output is backyard production. The Soviet leaders have tried everything but increasing the size of backyards.

The hostility towards profits largely rests on the myth that dividends flow mainly to the pockets of wealthy individuals. In terms of dollar value, nearly half of the corporate shares these days are owned by institutions such as pension funds, college endowments, and even churches. The assurance of a retirement income and the availability of a college scholarship, all depend heavily upon the profitability of U.S. corporations. So the next time you hear that somebody's profits are up, remember the invisible hand might be working for you, and rest assured that the competition is looking for a way to cash in if government will only let them.

Spray Pecan Trees From May 28-31

The time to apply an insecticidal application for control of the pecan nut casebearer in Haskell County is during the period of May 28-31. However, to time the application exactly, producers should inspect the nutlets for eggs and damage. After eggs are observed, several hundred nutlets should be inspected each day. The insecticidal application should be made when 1% of the nutlets have been pecan nut casebearer damaged.

The pecan nut casebearer larvae must be killed before they enter the nutlets. Once inside, the larva is safe. After destroying that nutlet, the larva will progressively destroy the remaining nutlets in the cluster.

Backyard pecan trees can be sprayed with either malathion or carbaryl (Sevin®). Commercial producers might use Zolone®, Sevin®, malathion or toxaphene.

Pecan trees should be sprayed until the foliage is completely covered and the insecticide begins to drip from the leaves. A second insecticidal application may be needed. There should be an interval of about 7 days between applications.

Read and follow the instructions on the insecticide label.

Rabies Determination Requires Animals Brain

Rabies is one of the oldest diseases that can spread from animal to man and the one most feared. It is a natural disease of dogs, cats, bats and wild carnivores; however, all warm-blooded animals are susceptible. The disease is transmitted from animal to animal by means of a bite introducing the virus-bearing saliva. It may also be transmitted by virus contamination of fresh, already existing wounds, cuts or breaks in the skin. The virus may be present in the saliva and be transmitted by an infected animal 1 to 3 days before the onset of clinical signs. Since there are no "typical" cases of rabies, animals may exhibit a wide range of symptoms; although some cases in domestic animals (dogs, cats, horses, cattle) are suspected from the time of presentation. In such animals, any unexplained central nervous system disturbance should be regarded as a possible case of rabies until proven otherwise.

Clinical rabies in man and most animals is essentially 100% fatal. There is no specific therapy once the clinical course of rabies has begun. For this reason it is very important that anyone suspecting rabies or receiving a bite or scratch from a domestic or wild animal suspected of being rabid, take the proper precautions to diagnose the disease and prevent it from spreading.

Public awareness of rabies prevention is especially important due to the large increase in confirmed rabies cases from many different areas of Texas during the present year. The first quarter of 1979 has produced twice the number of cases that were reported for the same period in 1978. In the first three weeks of April, 1979, there have been 108 cases in skunks, 2 in foxes, 2 in raccoons, 1 cat, 6 dogs, 2 horses and 7 cattle already confirmed positive for rabies in Texas.

Each possible exposure to rabies infection must be individually evaluated. The following advice is given:
1. A healthy domestic dog or cat that bites a person should be confined and observed by a veterinarian for 10 days.
2. Stray or unwanted dogs or cats that bite a person should be killed immediately and the head submitted for rabies examination by fluorescent microscopy. (Do not kill the animal by shooting or hitting it in the head since the brain is needed for examination.)

3. Signs of rabies in wild animals cannot be interpreted reliably, therefore, any wild animal that bites or scratches a person should be killed at once (without damage to the head) and the brain examined for evidence of rabies.
4. Immediate and thorough first aid treatment of all bite wounds and scratches is perhaps the most effective rabies preventive. The wound should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and water and a physician contacted for further treatment.

5. All pets, both dogs and cats, should be protected by a rabies vaccination administered by a veterinarian.
6. In areas where rabies is prevalent in wildlife (skunks, foxes, etc.) horses and cattle may be protected by vaccination. A veterinarian can be consulted on vaccination of these animals.

7. Rabies clinics to vaccinate all pets can be organized to help prevent the spread of the disease.

8. All stray animals should be promptly picked up and disposed of humanely.
9. Children should be advised on the dangers of approaching stray animals or other wild animals that are near human habitation.

American Agriculture News

By Bettye McBroom
The following is a two part story. It was written by Bud Bitner, on behalf of AAM, and hand delivered to President Carter and all members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives this 30th day of April 1979. It is a reprint from the AMERICAN AGRICULTURE NEWS, May 22, 1979, P.O. Box 100, Iredell, TX 76640.

Movement, delegates from 26 states meeting in Little Rock, Arkansas, hereby unanimously resolve that the President must act to correct the balance of trade deficit and halt inflation by establishing a pricing policy for grain exports equivalent to "A bushel of wheat for a barrel of oil."

Be it further resolved that the Congress of the United States must pass emergency legislation setting a minimum price for grain exports equivalent to "a bushel of wheat for a barrel of oil", thereby recouping for the United States the billions of dollars lost to foreign governments yearly which serves to increase our balance of trade deficit, thereby fueling domestic inflation.

THAT Japan presently resells U.S. grain to its citizens at three times the purchase price, while the European Economic Community resells U.S. grain at over twice the purchase price.

THAT these countries impose levies and tariffs upon U.S. grain at rates in excess of the purchase price, adding to our balance of trade deficit, which in turn increases inflation.

THAT this tax, amounting to billions of dollars annually, is a windfall to these foreign governments and is imposed by these countries in the name of protecting their producers from cheap U.S. grain by the imposition of a tariff.

THAT foreign governments are using levies on low priced U.S. grain to subtly exact a tax from their citizens.

THAT the U.S. should be receiving this additional revenue, and such higher prices charged by the U.S. should not increase the cost to the consumer in foreign countries.

THAT U.S. equity is being transferred to foreign governments in the form of underpriced U.S. grain.

THAT this windfall tax received by foreign governments is paid for by all U.S. citizens through indirect tax of inflation, caused by a trade deficit.

THAT this is the equivalent of a tax on the American people by foreign government-taxation without representation of the highest order.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THEREFORE THAT the President and the Congress, the proper and exclusive representatives of these

United States have the authority, the obligation, and the solemn duty to correct our Nation's balance of trade deficit and halt inflation.

Countries such as Japan and West Germany are purchasing our agricultural products at below the cost of production and placing levies and tariffs on these products at rates in excess of the purchase price thereby increasing the trade deficit with Japan and West Germany at an alarming rate. The U.S. trade deficit with Japan and West Germany increased in 1978 by 3.5 billion and 1.7 billion respectively due to the fact that the U.S. was underpaid for its grain exports. We must not allow this to happen. The United States and particularly the Carter administration has the power, the ability, and the obligation to force a change in the trade relationships between Japan and West Germany so that we will receive the returns from the products that we sell to them rather than allowing these countries to utilize our low priced agricultural products to subtly extort a tax from their citizens in the form of tariffs and levies. The Japanese public probably does not realize that they are being taxed in this manner. They know that they are paying a high price for their bread, but they look upon the U.S. producer as the culprit instead of the Japanese Government.

We are receiving $28 billion for our agricultural exports at approximately 60% of parity and below the cost of production. The American farmer is transferring his equity to foreign governments in the form of underpriced agricultural products. The country is also experiencing the effect of this tremendous trade deficit.

Our international trade assumes a triangular pattern. We are importing almost 50% of our oil at high OPEC prices which is the major factor in our balance of trade deficit. We are selling our agricultural exports for nothing to countries which in turn place high levies upon them and use that money as actual income to their governments, taxing their own people through our products. So if we charge Japan and West Germany the price that their people now pay for wheat or other agricultural products from the U.S., those consumers will not be paying any more for their food and the U.S. will create a favorable balance of trade with those countries that can offset the imbalance of trade with the Arab countries from whom we purchase oil. Pat Hale

Most city folks still don't know the facts of life... facts of life about farming at all. This lack of knowledge is considered by some to be the most serious educational crisis in the United States. According to a report issued last year by a group of Kansas educators researching political and economic aspects of the issue, the country faces possible economic disaster if this situation is not corrected. Central to the problem is the attitude of many of those away from farming that agricultural products are natural resources... same as oil or coal. Little appreciation is shown for the work and costs that go into production of crops or livestock. Put most simply, there's a lack of savvy in the city... they don't understand if the farmer doesn't grow it... nobody's going to eat it. Officials releasing the special report in Kansas urged all agricultural groups to work toward enhancing consumer education.

Little League

BY PAWNEE GRUPE

If there was an award given for the most spectacular play made in Little League it would have to go the Kevin Mitchell of the Bears. Last Tuesday night, Kevin's pants came undone while he was running from third to home, but that did not stop ole Kevin. He made that run holding his pants up. I guess that the award would have to be a pair of suspenders. Good work, Kevin.

The scores on the minor league games were very close this week. You never knew which way the games would go until the very last inning. Those guys are full of surprises. A fly ball caught by Eric Mullen of the Bears, and several great plays made by Tommy Hairgrove, kept the score between the Bears and Crows very close in Friday nights game. We would like to congratulate Stephen Holt for getting a hit each time he was up to bat in this game.

Tommy Hairgrove, of the Bears, made two triples this week. Marc Grupe, of the Crows, made one and turned it into a homerun on errors. Watch out major league - you'll be getting some good batters from the minor league teams next year.

A note of interest - All nine Crows made a hit the first time up at bat in Monday nights game. Congratulations Crows.

The major league games were just as exciting. Joseph Perez of the Lions hit two homeruns Friday night. That brings his total up to 3 so far this year. Ray Villa also hit a homerun in Fridays game. Ray is also on the Lions. Saturday night Todd Harris of the Rams hit a homerun. There were several triples made but I was unable to get the names. Coaches, please be sure to get these names to me.

A special thanks goes to the new JRB manager, Joe Holland, for donating five cases of cokes to the concession stand. Speaking of the concession stand, I, after having worked thru only one game, would like to tell the ladies that have worked the stand just how much they are appreciated. It takes a lot of hard work and these ladies are doing a great job.

The scores this week are:

Liquid Lightening Laments Bulldogging

BY REX FELKER

We all called him "Slim" back in those days on the rodeo circuit, days when the depression was nipping at the seat of our breeches every morning when the sun rose in the East. The name was most appropriate for the tall lanky cowboy as more than likely he never in his life weighed but a few pounds more than a horse jockey who rides the bangtails out of the starting gates at the race tracks. Of course one reason he never had much meat on his bones, could have been the fact that "vittles" were hard to come by in those days. Most of our old time cowhands were lucky if we could tuck one meal a day under our belt buckles. However, it is doubtful whether Slim would have tipped the scales much more heavily had he been financially able to put away three squares a day. Nature had just built him that way and naturally there wasn't much which could have been done to change the pattern she cut out for him.

lack in weight, was a heck of a saddle bronc rider and he could cattle board an old bucking horse to fair you well. Needless to say, if the riding judges weren't hep to what they were doing, he was likely to walk up to the pay window to collect his share of the winnings at any rodeo.

Now this all happened back in the days of the early thirties and I had just been lucky enough to land a fat contract, fifty dollars for a sum total of four shows, to trick rope at Pecos, Texas, the granddaddy of all rodeos. Now before you go to scorning the price of that contract, you must take into consideration that a dollar per day was standard wages for twelve hours of common labor, and sometimes a fellow had to pitch in two or three extra hours just as a bonus to hold his job.

Anyway, time drew close for the big rodeo to kick off in Pecos, so I loaded my trick roping horse in the old ram shackle trailer, fastened same onto the hind end of my nineteenth thirty six model

Plymouth and hit the hot road toward the Judge Roy Bean Country in far west Texas.

Now it just happens to be a fact that ever since I was a little shaver, I have had a strong hankerin for coffee and as I reached the end of the trail in downtown Pecos, I pulled into a handy parking place in front of a restaurant to indulge in a cup of my favorite brew. Old Slim was the first person I saw and he immediately put the bite on me to pay his entry fee in the bulldogging contest of the rodeo. I began to crawlfish as gracefully as I could and told him how much I would like to enter him in the saddle bronc riding for a third of his winnings, which was customary for anyone paying the entry fee. Slim came right back at me with some good sound and sane logic in that argument and informed me that he had already talked the restaurant owner into entering him in the pitchin contest. Well, heck, I had always liked the lanky son of a gun, so I agreed to his request much against my better judgement.

Time rolled by and soon we headed for the rodeo grounds to be there in time for the matinee performance which was due to get underway about two o'clock. I recollect that Old Buck Jackson of Pecos was handling the announcing chores that year as usual and pretty soon I heard him say that the next bronc rider would be Slim. Coming out of chute number three on his draw for the day. The old saddle bronc was big, mean and has as nasty a temper as any Mother in Law ever possessed, and he didn't waste any time letting Slim down in the dirt of the arena. I couldn't help but give a little silent thanks that I had not been lucky enough to pay his entry fee in saddle broncs.

When the evening show was over, we all went back downtown to eat a bowl of chili and get ready for the nights' performance which would end the first go round. As luck would have it that night, only two doggers qualified and Slim was a big fifty percent of the total number. This fact made me think that perhaps I had done a rather smart thing by paying his entry fee.

However, early the next morning my elation turned to chagrin as Slim was the first fellow that I bumped into on the streets of Pecos. Now, even though over thirty five years have rolled off of the calender, I would still hesitate to say in print that Slim had swallowed any liquid poison the night before.

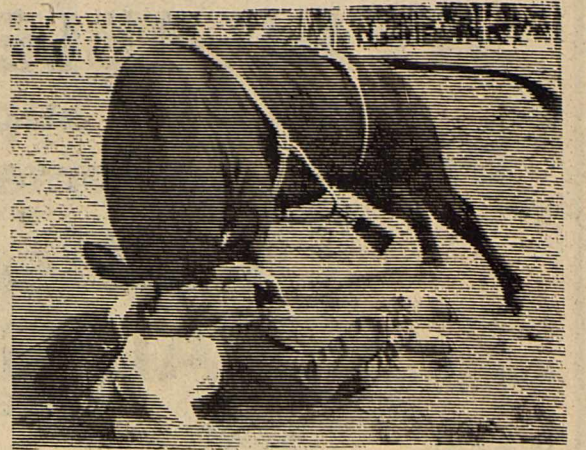

I did know that if he hadn't done such a thing that he was having some of the worst dizzy spells that I ever seen a cowboy suffering with. He couldn't have hit the ground with his hat if he had been given three fair trials. He was not at all improved when it came time to go back to the grounds for the big finals and naturally my morale was in just as sorry a state of affairs as was Slim's stability.

Anyway, the show moved ahead until it was time for the bulldogging contest and I distinctly heard old Buck Jackson say that the next bulldogger would be Slim. I forthwith sneaked a look back into the alley way and saw him sitting all slumped over on his dogging horse. I have wondered ever since that night whether he was seeing two, three or more steers as he patiently waited for the boys to turn him out. My fears were entirely unfounded as Slim jumped for the right one just as the bovines hooves crossed the tape, hung onto the head and horns for dear life, as the steer turned a complete somersault in the air, taking Slim with him on the entire trip. After the dust had kind of settled down a little, you could see a total of six feet, four of the steers and two on Slim, all sticking out in the proper way for time. The total time elapsed on the stop watch couldn't have been over three or four seconds and suddenly there was a new bulldogging champion in Pecos, Texas. I hoped fervently that they would not pay off the winners that night because I had a sneaking idea if they did, that Slim would invest a major portion of his winnings in an ample supply of liquid lightning. I need not to have worried a bit because early the next morning, here he came looking for me, just as sober as any Justice of The Supreme Court ever dared to be. He shelled out my thirty six bucks just like any conscientious banker would do at the tellers' window. That amount, along with my fifty dollar contract, less the eight dollars for Slim's entry fee, left enough money in hand for any depression day cowboy to eat high on the hawg for quite a spell.

so imbibe, especially rodeo cowboys who are competing. However, I will always contend that if old Slim had not invested in a few pints of liquid lightning at six bits a throw, that old dogging steer would still be running with his tail over his back, footloose and fancy free.

'King Of Comedy' Bob Hope To Be In Abilene

Bob Hope, America's "King of Comedy" and ambassador to the world, announced Tuesday (May 15) that he would come to Abilene on August 3rd to headline a $100-a-plate benefit dinner to benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The announcement was made through a telephone conference call between Hope and members of the WTRC Executive Committee, who extended the invitation.

John Hamil, president of WTRC Board of Directors, and A. D. (Dick) Bowen, new chairman of the Joint Venture for Crippled Children, jointly announced that the Hope benefit performance would kick off the second annual Joint Venture project.

The event will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, August 3, at a place to be announced.

The gala evening with Hope will be spearheaded by petroleum industry leaders who conceived and organized the first Joint Venture for Crippled Children last year. Approximately $75,000 was raised to assist the handicapped in the first effort.

Tables at the Hope benefit dinner (accommodating ten persons) will "sell" for $1,000, and individual tickets will be $100 per person.

"The Rehab Center will accept ticket orders immediately," said executive director Shelley V. Smith. Checks must accompany all orders, and receipts will be mailed out to all buyers prior to the printing and availability of tickets. All ticket orders will be filled by mail.

"We are most excited," said Hamil, "and I feel that Mr. Hope will be excited too once he sees our facilities."

Bowen, one of the originators of the Joint Venture project, was elated over Hope's coming. "We've identified a great man, Bob Hope, with our great cause," he said, "and it's got to be a winning combination."

In the entire history of show business, no individual has traveled so far—or so often—to entertain so many, as comedian Bob Hope. Twice, Hope has been honored by the United States Congress, recognized for his role as the "Diplomat of Comedy...whose humor has gladdened the hearts of countless audiences of stage, screen, radio, and television."

Farmer-Owned Wheat Released

Wheat in the farmer-owned reserve was released for redemption, effective immediately, by Ray Fitzgerald, executive vice president of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). Farmers may sell their reserve wheat after repaying their CCC price support loans. Release of the reserve does not require farmers to redeem or sell their grain at this time. Fitzgerald said the national average market price for wheat is $3.31 per bushel. The price level at which the commodity is released from the reserve is 140 percent of the $2.35 national loan rate or $3.29 per bushel. More than 400 million bushels of wheat are in the reserve. Data used by CCC in determining the release level include five-day average prices as reported by the department's Agricultural Marketing Service which show prices received by buyers at selected markets and an month-end report of the department's Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service. This report shows the previous month's average price and the current mid-month price. Chicago, Portland, Kansas City and Minneapolis are the daily markets reviewed by CCC for Wheat. The five-day average of these market prices, adjusted to reflect prices received by farmers, was the basis for today's action. This is the fifth time the department has released a commodity from the farmer-owned reserve since its inception in 1977.

VA News

More than 850,000 Vietnam War era veterans will lose their GI Bill eligibility for schooling in 1979, according to C. H. Herren, Service Officer for Haskell County. This estimate is based on the number of veterans who will reach the 10th anniversary of their separation from military service when, by law, their GI Bill education rights end. Veterans Administration statistics show that 65 percent of the veterans who entered military service between August 5, 1964, and May 7, 1975, have used their GI Bill education benefits in one form or another. These dates are considered the official beginning and ending dates for the Vietnam fighting. Veterans are urged to start their training early enough to complete it before the 10-year deadline. Veterans in the midst of a degree or training objective lose their right to VA payments 10 years after separation date. There are so many ways the GI Bill can be adapted to individual needs and circumstances that no veteran should fail to take advantage of this law to better themselves. Any veteran who desires to enter some type of training, and who still has remaining entitlement to VA benefits, should decide where he wants to train and submit his application without further delays. The appropriate application form may be obtained from most GI Bill-approved schools, and from local Veterans Service Officers.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service

Assisting
 Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

The past severe winter has had a devastating effect on most stands of kleingrass, especially those existing in the northern fringe area of adaptation. Death losses vary from 95 - 100% in the Childress-Wellington area to 30 - 50% as far south as Abilene, according to Joe B. Norris of Abilene. Norris is the Regional Range Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service.

In most all stands examined, emergence of seedlings has been excellent. It is not uncommon to find these new seedlings in the 3-5 leaf stage now. Local examinations were made on the R. C. Couch Farm northeast of Haskell, and on the Swenson Land and Cattle Company's Lynch Pasture, southwest of Sagerton.

One pasture on the Couch Farm had received an application of cotton bur mulch last fall, and the winter kill on this pasture was very low. However it was difficult to find new seedlings in the bur mulch.

For the most part, soil moisture is adequate to excellent with time still left to receive more during the critical part of the spring growth period.

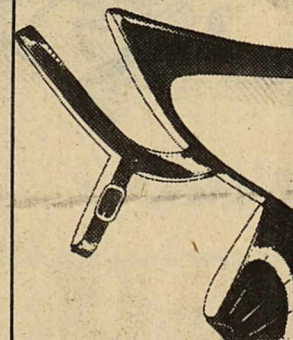

Weed crops are plentiful, both broad leaf plants and annual "Junk" grasses. Reducing moisture consumption by these less desirable plants is of extreme importance. In a matter of a few days following rainfall, control of dense weedy growth can make the difference in whether or not the stand becomes established. Weed control is the secret to stand establishment. Deferrment of use from now until establishment is essential. Old plants need to be protected from grazing until they regain their vigor, while new seedlings need protection until they reach maturity. This is generally indicated by seed heads appearing, and the grass reaching boot-top height.

New Cooperators New SWCD agreements were approved by the Board of Directors last week at their regular monthly meeting: Sargent Lowe & Sons, Munday, 435 acres; Dr. Joe E. Thigpen, Haskell, 95 acres; Mrs. Agnes Rike, John S. Rike, III, Adm, Milton Christian, Operator, Haskell, 86 acres; Duane Gilly, Haskell, 18 acres; and the East O'Brien Group, Mrs. V. S. Bettes and Hershell Tankersley, Agent.

Spending Plan Recommended Before Marriage

Plan money and legal affairs before saying "I do," advises a family resource management specialist, Bonnie Piernot. Also, make a spending plan—to learn how both partners feel about money and to avoid arguments about money problems later, she adds. Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. A spending plan can help couples determine the most effective way to spend their income—in a systematic way. "Although it's not a plan to actually increase income and it does not have to be a rigid budget, it will help a couple relieve pressures and build a sense of sharing and togetherness. "In addition, it will help keep fairness and equality in their relationship," Mrs. Piernot says. Below is her suggested checklist of items to include in basic planning. Notify the credit union, bank or savings-and-loan association of any name and address changes. Consider both joint and separate share-draft or checking accounts. A separate account is helpful in case of death, since it will allow the survivor to continue writing checks.

Joint accounts are often "frozen" immediately following a spouse's death. In any case, think of the money as "ours"—rather than "mine" or "yours." In addition, notify all charge-card companies of address and name changes. A husband and wife may have separate credit card accounts, in their own names, and that will establish credit for both of them. Notify the Social Security Administration of your new name, address and marital status.

Washington, New York 11050. List all magazines you subscribe to and include the old and new addresses. If you want to make a change in your withholding taxes, you may need to check your W-4 form. Also, consider changing beneficiaries on employee or other life insurance policies. In addition, study the company health policy. Decide whether to keep single policies or change to family policies. Study them for the better buy and the best coverage. Review auto insurance, too. Add your spouse to your policy, or if you have two cars, insure both on one policy. For apartment renters, be sure you have some type of tenants insurance policy—to protect personal property. This policy should cover both partners' possessions, including recreational equipment. At the same time, make a list of personal property, including furniture, furnishings, jewelry, appliances, sporting and hobby equipment. Contact a lawyer to have a will drawn up. This will assure both partners that property will be transferred according to each one's wishes, and it may cut down on death taxes. Update your will as the family and the assets change. Finally, ask the County Extension Office for information and publications that will assist with financial planning.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
 Attorney General

AUSTIN—Today's consumers, more than ever before, are looking for ways to save money on purchases without sacrificing quality. And many consumers would jump at the chance to obtain such savings on a regular basis by shopping from the comfort of their own home.

Some of them join mail order buyers' clubs in their effort to cut costs. And, while some of these clubs are able to offer savings because of bulk purchasing and low overhead, others are fraudulent.

Attorneys in our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division caution persons considering membership in such buyers clubs to use caution.

Usually, a buyers' club charges an annual membership fee, after which members receive catalogs they are led to believe will offer name brand products at significant price savings. And, at first glance, it may seem that the products pictured are being offered at low cost. What consumers may not know is that the prices to which the buyers' club prices are compared may not be accurate. The "low, low price to members" may not seem so low if consumers knew that the "suggested selling price" and "dealer's price" used in comparisons are often inflated.

In addition, what consumers may not realize until they join is that they can probably buy the same product at as low or lower a price from stores right in their own community. Then, too, the buyers' club generally adds on a "shipping and handling" charge, which means that the savings is not nearly as great as advertised. And some clubs may not have enough of the product on hand to fill orders.

Our attorneys suggest that you keep the following hints in mind if you're thinking of joining a buyers' club:

-Check local stores and compare their prices with those of the buyers' club.

-Don't join a club on a multi-year contract until you're sure you will like it and that it will provide real savings. You can always renew your membership.

-Get names of persons in your area who are members, then check with them to see if they are satisfied with the savings, benefits, and products supplied by the club.

-Check to see that local stores will honor warranties on buyers' club goods. If not, you'll likely have to ship the merchandise back to the club or to the manufacturer for repairs.

-Be aware that listed prices usually don't include sales tax, shipping, or handling charges.

-Check the club's membership contract very carefully to see that your obligations and benefits are clear.

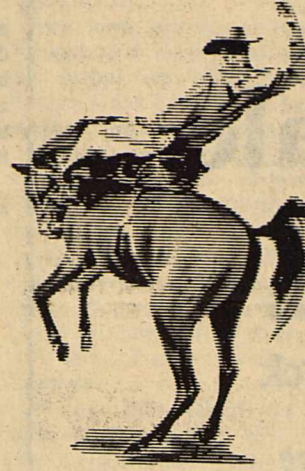

If you have any questions about buyers' clubs or any problems with them, get in touch with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, or McAllen.

Sheila McMeans

Homemaker

Mrs. Sheila McMeans was voted the Outstanding Young Homemaker at the meeting held Monday night, May 21st, 1979. The presentation was made just prior to the installation of officers for the 1979-80 Haskell Chapter. She was surprised, as well as excited, and expressed her appreciation in a very gracious manner. Mrs. McMeans, the 1978-79 President of HYH did a fantastic job of organizing programs and functions in which the club participated the past year. She is not only active in the club, but is also involved in several civic and community organizations. Sheila is a warm, sensitive person, always there with a smile and a helping hand. Her kind ways and pleasing personality have certainly set a fine example of the qualities today's young woman should possess. She is indeed outstanding.

Clothing Project Is Scheduled

Did you know your first impression upon others is highly influenced by your clothing and appearance? Want to learn more about selecting clothes just for you, developing clothing construction skills, and improving your personal appearance?

If you would like to learn more in the area of clothing and are between the ages of 9 and 19, join a 4-H Clothing Project Group. In these groups, youth develop skills in planning, buying, and constructing clothing.

At the completion of the project, you will have an opportunity to model the garment made as a result of the project in the Haskell County 4-H Fashion Revue. It will be held July 12 and 13. Senior winners can advance to the State Revue. Prizes there include an all expense paid trip to National 4-H Club Congress, and a Bernina sewing machine among many others. If you are interested in becoming involved contact the Haskell County Extension Office at 864-2546. Call a friend and get involved!

Hey don't rain on my parade! That's right the RODEO is this week! Nothing like it has been attempted before. We're going to top all other years. Be sure to watch the Rodeo Calendar and don't miss out.

The Jaycee Installation Banquet last Thursday night was highly motivating and impressive. To hear our year summarized; the realization of the state records we set; and to be acknowledged as pace setters in the state is an accomplishment that truly the community can be proud of. The Haskell County Jaycees, Jaycee-ettes are the pace setters for the state; Charles Thornhill and Diane Owens were the Pace setters for the Haskell County

Jaycees - Jaycee-ettes. Thank You for leading the way. But hang on to your hats Haskell, "you ain't seen nothing, yet!"

Upcoming projects include manning the concession stand for all Pony League home games, Jaycee Campus and Garage Sale.

Turn off the tube and get out and enjoy the Rodeo this week. Get turned on to the Jaycees - Jaycee-ettes!

Burson Wins Bass Tourney

The Haskell Bass Club held their monthly tournament at Lake Stamford this past weekend. The weather, which has been a problem in past tournaments, finally cooperated for a change.

There were fifteen fishermen for the one day heavy stringer tournament.

Fishing started at daylight and weigh in was at 3:00 p.m. David Burson proved to be the best fisherman of the day weighing the three fish for 8 lb. 4 oz. and first place, Vernay Andress second place and Randall Graham third.

There were more fish caught and weighed in for the tournament than the past three tournaments together.

The next meeting of the Bass Club will be June 4th. Members will try to set the date for the tournaments for the rest of the year and, for a fish fry at this meeting. All members are urged to attend. Also, anyone that would like to join the club, is invited to attend the meeting. The time will be 8:00 p.m. at the Haskell City Hall.

A KEY TO SAVING ELECTRICAL ENERGY AND MONEY IS INSIDE . . .

... THE WALLS AND CEILING.

The outside walls of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME are insulated to an R-factor of 18, the ceiling to R-30. Both also have a separate positive vapor and/or infiltration barrier.

... THE DOORS AND WINDOWS.

Outside doors on the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME are metal insulating or wood with separate storm doors. Windows are double-paned or single-paned with storm windows. All windows and outside doors are caulked and weatherstripped. We also recommend that the total glass area be 8% or less of the floor space.

... THE FLOORS.

The very foundation of the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME — the floor — is also an important factor in saving energy and money. Slab floors should have either rigid urethane or styrofoam (min. 3/4" thickness) from top of the floor along the outside edge of the slab down to the brick ledge, or poured vermiculite in the cavity. Pier and beam flooring should have R-19 insulation between the floor and crawl space.

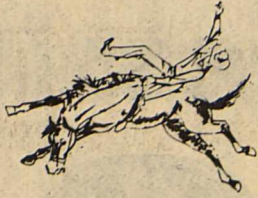

If you're interested in a more energy-efficient home, call WTU today. They'll arrange for an energy efficient consultant to help you, free of charge.

Car Crusher At Work

Car Crusher Aids Recycling

BY GINA JENNINGS

It is a veritable monster. Growling and snorting it gobbles cars, buses and probably anything else one would care to poke into its powerful jaws. It prowls around the countryside, mashing cars at salvage yards from here to Lawton making its way back home to Haskell only twice a year.

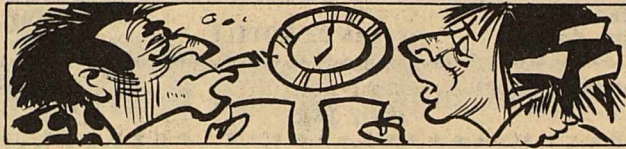

Ervin and Harlyn Unger are the owners of this car crusher which was busily munching at the auto salvage yard this week. Cars and trucks were tossed into the air like Tonka Toys. A loader fed them into the gaping mouth of the crusher which clamped down with 2500 pounds of pressure. Metal curled, glass rained down and then the car was spit back into the waiting arms of the loader in the general shape of a cereal box.

The crusher is one of only 200 of its kind in the U.S. It is a fairly recent invention which has only been in wide use for about five years, according to Unger. And four years ago when the Ungers wagged it to West Texas from Minnesota, folks around here had never seen anything like it. Still pretty much the only one around this part of the country, the 25 ton car-cruncher can't keep up with the great demand and sometimes has turned down as many as 3,000 cars that are rusting in Yards just waiting to be flattened.

Casually watching what was once Bill Holden's Buick being crunched and mangled, Ervin Unger explains the advantages of the machine. Crushed cars can be stacked 22 per truckload compared with an un-crushed load of six. This makes recycling a profitable business since a much greater amount of metal can be hauled to the shredder at one time. At the shredder, the cars are garbled up even more—separating the materials and collecting usable metal to send to steel mills for reprocessing. The man behind the big wheel of the loader is Harlyn Unger who travels with the crusher, feeding the daily quota of doomed cars eight months of the year. He spends the days lugging the equipment from city to city, expertly popping engines and radiators from cars with the metal prongs of the loader and forever shoving fat cars in and taking thin cars out.

A bystander, witnessing the pounding of an old pick-up, commented, "If you ever get mad enough at your car just get it recycled." Who knows? Last year's car may turn into next year's chrome table leg. And this is where it all begins...C-R-U-N-C-H.

PROCLAMATION

GREETINGS:

During the week of May 28-June 3, 1979, the citizens of the United States of America will pay special tribute to those members of its Armed Forces who served honorably in Southeast Asia during the Vietnam conflict.

The American Legion, Department of Texas; Department of Texas, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; the Disabled American Veterans, Department of Texas, Inc.; the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission and various groups and citizens throughout this State are participating in The National Salute to Vietnam Era Veterans.

The Vietnam Era was ended by Presidential Proclamation signed on May 7, 1975. In the fourteen years since the start of the Vietnam Era, the estimated number of veterans in civil life who served during that period has grown to nearly 9 million.

The men and women who served in the uniform of our Country have made a major contribution not only to the preservation of America's freedom but also toward the attainment and preservation of freedom throughout the world.

The Nation and the free world are eternally grateful for the contributions of American veterans to the advancement of the cause of an honorable world peace.

It is most fitting and appropriate that we pay special tribute to all those who have borne the burden in defense of our freedom.

THEREFORE, I, as County Judge of Haskell County, do hereby call upon all citizens of Texas to join in the observance of the week of May 28-June 3, 1979, as VIETNAM VETERANS WEEK. Also, I urge all citizens to take this occasion to express their sincere appreciation and deep gratitude to the Vietnam Era Veterans, as well as all other veterans, for their outstanding contributions to the advancement of the cause of an honorable world peace.

John Wayne McDermott
