

Fire Station Work Progressing Rapidly

Wiring and plumbing on the new fire station are nearing completion and when these two portions of the project are completed, insulation will be applied.

After the insulation is applied, workers will complete the interior of the office and meeting room and rest room.

All work on the interior of the building has progressed at a much faster rate than anticipated and department members wish to express special thanks to several individuals for their assistance.

Individuals donating either time or materials for the building include: Arvil McFadden, John Leek, Ervin Frierson, A. B. McDonald, Willie Peiser, Marvin Letz, Bob Philpot, Walter Kretschmer, Cleo Merchant, and Darold Roberson.

Donations to the fund this week totaled $465.00, bringing the total of donations and pledges to $50,327.80. This total is about $5,500.00 short of the goal to complete the new facility.

In last week's list of donations, the donation of the B&PW Club should have been listed in memory of Mrs. Artie May Burkett and the donation of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bean should have been in memory of E. E. Welch.

COUNTY CLERKS, PRESENT AND FUTURE...Haskell County Clerk Sue Fincher, right, offered her resignation Tuesday during the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court. She stated the reason for the resignation was her future marriage and move to Hico. The wedding is planned for Sept. 14 and the resignation is effective Oct. 1. Following the resignation, she recommended the appointment of Chief Deputy Rhonda Moeller, left, to fill the vacancy. Members of the court appointed Mrs. Moeller to serve until the next general election. (Staff Photo)

Special Programs Set At Community Building

John Clayton, science teacher from South Bend, Indiana, will speak on the subject "Does God Exist?" Saturday, September 8 at the Haskell National Bank Community Building. The main lectures will be presented at 7:00 and 8:15 p.m. He will conduct a seminar on evolution for high school and college students in the afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. Parents and teachers are urged to support this means of informing young people and adults of the scientific evidence concerning the existence of God. Ample time will be devoted to a question and answer period. Mr. Clayton will deal openly and honestly with any question relative to the subject. The lectures will also include slide presentations and various displays.

A former atheist, Clayton presently is a science instructor in South Bend, Indiana. Prior to his becoming a Christian, he participated actively in the advancement of atheistic thought. He began a study, however, of the design of the universe and came to the realization that such design demands a designer. Upon further study of the Bible he became a Christian and now devotes much of his time delivering lectures on the existence of God and the reliability of the Bible to colleges and universities as well as numerous churches throughout the United States and Canada.

Clayton is well qualified to speak on such subjects. He has served as an instructor of physics, chemistry, mathematics and earth science on both the high school and university level. He has served on the faculties of Montana State and Notre Dame Universities. He holds degrees from Indiana State University and Notre Dame. In 1972 he was given the "Teacher of the Year" award by the National Association of Geology Teachers. At the present time he is an instructor of physics, earth science and chemistry at Riley High School, South Bend, Indiana, where he was recently selected by the students as "Best Teacher".

All residents of Haskell and surrounding communities are invited to attend. The "Does God Exist?" seminar is presented as a public educational service of the Haskell Church of Christ. Admission is free.

Golf Tourney Set Saturday

A Florida Scramble golf tournament has been scheduled for Labor Day at Haskell Country Club.

The tournament will begin Sept. 3, at 1 p.m. and entry fee is $5.00 per person. 20% of the total entry fee will be presented to the heart fund.

Teams will be composed of four members and each team will consist of one each, A, B, C, and D golfers with hopes of having a lady golfer on each team.

Entries can be placed now by calling 864-3400. Andy Anderson will also take entries at 864-2900 between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. or at 864-2427 after 6 p.m.

Dove Outlook Good For Season Opening

September 1 marks the beginning of Dove Season in Haskell County and local dove populations are impressive according to local game warden Alton Chapman.

According to Chapman, the dove are scattered throughout the county and concentrations of birds are common in most parts of the county.

According to Chapman, the season will run from Sept. 1 to Oct. 21 and Jan. 5-13. Both segments of the split season will feature all day hunting.

Hunters do not need a hunting license to hunt dove in their county of residence.

Chapman serves as warden in Haskell and Stonewall counties.

He has been with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in these two counties for the past year and has been a warden for the past seven years.

Plans Now Underway For Haskell-Mattson Homecoming

Registration forms are being mailed to Ex-students for the 14th bi-annual meeting of the Haskell and Mattson Homecoming Association. The meeting is scheduled for October 12 and 13, and many interesting plans are being formulated for those who attend.

It has been announced by the Executive Committee that the classes of 1928 and 1929 will be recognized this year. These two classes have always had good attendance for the Homecoming, but it is expected that alumni of those classes will make added efforts to attend this year, as it will be the 50th anniversary of their graduation from Haskell High School.

Other events which are an integral part of the Homecoming are the class meetings and reunions, the Haskell Indian Football game on Friday night preceded by Pre-Game Pancake supper sponsored by the Haskell Lions Club and the noon luncheon followed by the General Assembly, and a general get-together party on Saturday night at the Haskell County Country Club.

Scrimmage Site Changed

The Haskell Indian scrimmage with Archer City was originally scheduled to be played in Archer City but has been changed to Haskell according to Indian Head Coach Don Flippin.

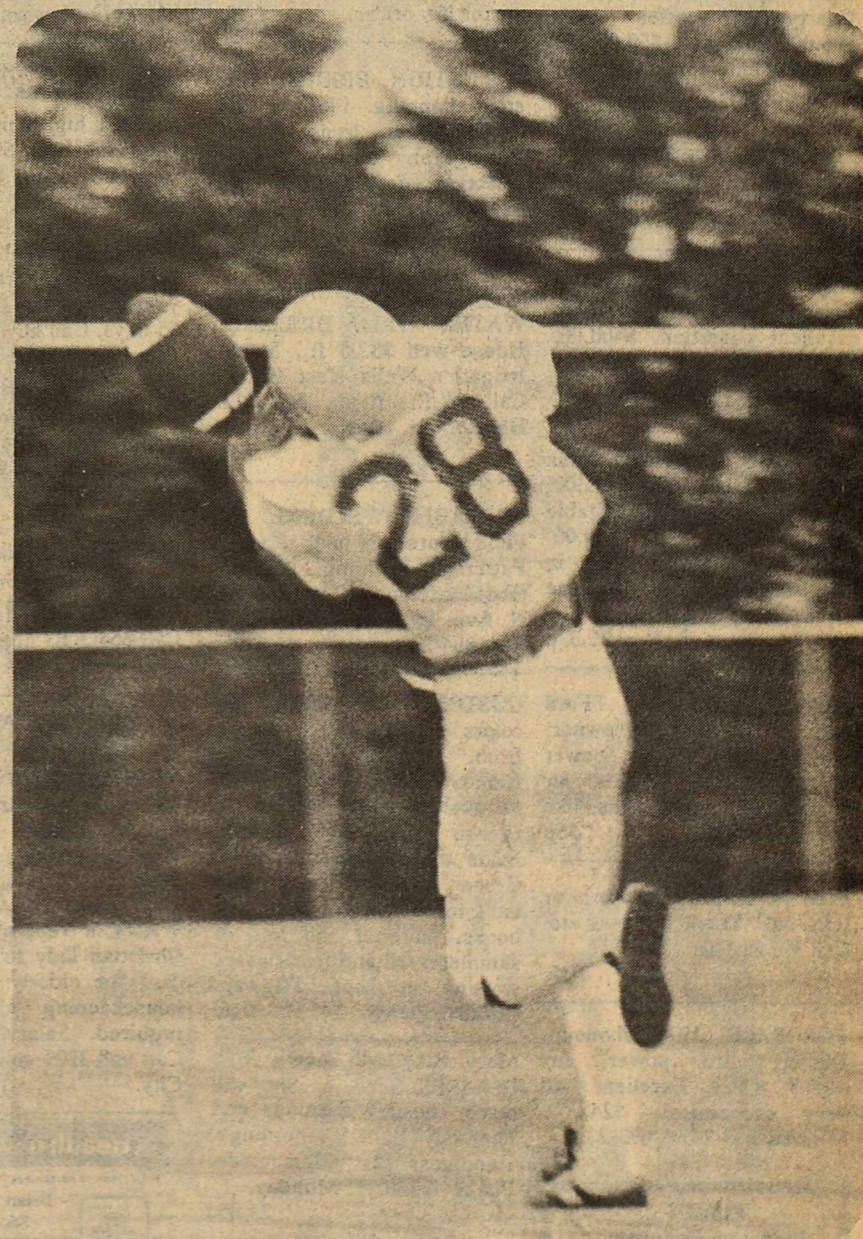

Coach Flippin said Monday that the scrimmage had been changed because the playing field at Archer City had been re-seeded and was not yet ready.

The Junior Varsity will begin play at 6 p.m. and the varsity scrimmage will begin about 7 p.m.

The Varsity scrimmage will consist of both teams running 40 offensive and defensive plays and 10 goal line plays.

and the drive covered 80 yards. The Tribe will meet Archer City this Friday at Indian Field with the JV Scrimmage beginning at 6 p.m. and the varsity at about 7 p.m. (Staff Photo)

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — American lawmakers rule by the consent of the governed, and are limited in their power by what the people are willing to accept. The Congress can pass laws but unless the majority of citizens are willing to obey them, they will not be effective.

With this in mind, four months ago I voted against a gas rationing plan. At that time, the vast majority of Americans did not believe there was an energy shortage. Without the support of the people, it is my belief that the plan would not have worked. It is also my view that had we approved that plan we would now be under a rationing program.

The situation has changed drastically. The reduction in imports from Iran and the sagging domestic production, together with large price increases by OPEC, has caused many Americans to reevaluate their energy position. The ruler of Libya has threatened to shut off exports of oil. And Nigeria could use the oil weapon against us if they object to our African foreign policy, particularly in regard to the lifting of economic sanctions in Indonesia. Some OPEC countries such as Algeria, Iraq, and Oman are radically anti-American and could cut off exports at any time. The political situation in the more moderate Arab states is potentially unstable. One of my colleagues in Congress recently said that "a couple of well aimed bullets in less stable oil-producing countries could radically change their now favorable posture towards the United States."

Since the Arab oil embargo of 1973, our situation has become increasingly vulnerable. Six years ago we imported 30 percent of our oil needs, now the figure is near 50 percent. If we have another embargo, there could be a tremendous fuel shortage. Our domestic production capacity would be unable to react in the short term and we would be faced with the choice of tremendous price increases or rationing.

In light of the current circumstances, I believe that a standby gas rationing plan is now advisable. There will always be a major debate on how to distribute gas equitably should rationing become necessary. We proved that in 22 hours on the House floor. Whatever plan is finally approved, it will be expensive and inefficient. Therefore a gas rationing plan should go into effect only when there is truly a national emergency. We have an effective trigger mechanism in the House-passed version. Congressman Phil Gramm of Texas was successful in including a provision which would require that the President find a 20 percent shortfall for 30 days or more, or evidence that such a shortfall is imminent. We only experienced a 7 percent shortage in our recent experience with the gasoline situation. Rationing then could be used only during a catastrophic shortage where our Nation has no viable alternatives.

Sometimes we must prepare for the worst in order that major disruptions in our society will not occur. Gas rationing at its best will have major defects. But in view of our highly vulnerable situation, we should have a plan available in case circumstances conspire to our disadvantage and our national defense is threatened.

Tasting Often Causes Problems For Children

Small children seem to think, "Oh, this looks interesting. I think I'll taste it". As a result, about 100,000 children will swallow substances that will poison them this year.

Those "poisons" include medicines, household cleaners, perfumes and cosmetics, rat killers, liquid polishes and waxes, fertilizers, paint, and plants.

So what can you do to protect your children? The Food and Drug Administration has a new factsheet that offers suggestions for Keeping Poisons and Children Apart. For your free copy, send a postcard with your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 661G, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Poisonings from plants have increased dramatically in the last few years with the rise in use of house plants for decorating. Some of the poisonous plants found around the house are philodendron, yew, dieffenbachia, poinsetta, African violet, and begonia. If you have small children, keep these plants as far out of reach as possible. And let them know from an early age that plants are not food.

Keep other potentially poisonous substances locked up. If your medicine or cleaning cabinets won't lock, store these products in a place you can lock.

Keep hazardous substances in their original containers. There have been instances where poisonous substances put in cups or soda bottles were swallowed by a small child who did not realize what was in them.

Make sure both prescription and over-the-counter medicines have safety caps. They work. Deaths from aspirin, very common ten years ago, have dropped substantially since the introduction of child-proof caps.

Get rid of any unused medicines or household products by pouring them down the drain or toilet. Rinse the container before you discard it.

Never tell a child medicine is candy or tastes like candy. Don't take medications in front of a child. Your son or daughter might try to imitate you by taking the medicine when you aren't there.

Keep a one-ounce bottle of syrup of ipecac handy, but don't use it unless your doctor or the poison control center.

Finally, keep the number of your local poison control center near the telephone in case of emergencies.

When you order a copy of Keeping Poisons and Children Apart (free), you'll also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. It lists more than 200 selected from or low-cost publications from the federal government. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Use Caution When Driving Near Schools

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety at Lubbock, said today, "There are hundreds of thousands of good reasons why Texas motorists should use extra caution while driving near schools.

"Many of our youngsters will be going to school for the first time and will not be aware of the many hazards existing on Texas' busy streets and highways.

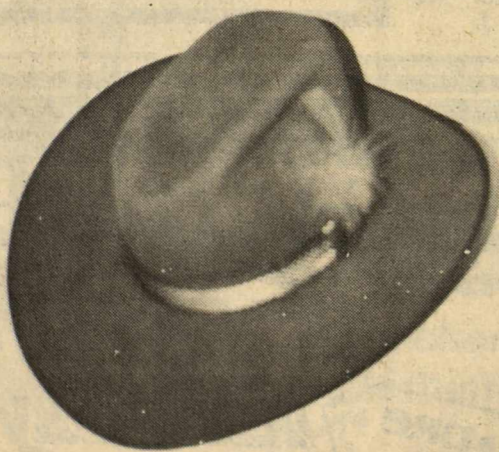

"Precautionary measures, such as traffic signs and signals, safety zones and pedestrian crosswalks, are virtually useless if your children have not acquired good pedestrian safety habits."

Children's responsibilities to and from school include: observing all traffic signs and signals, walking against the flow of traffic when no sidewalk is present, crossing streets at designated crosswalks, and maintaining orderly conduct while enroute to and from school.

"As parents, we must be absolutely sure our children have a clear understanding of traffic dangers. In addition, as drivers, we must always be on the lookout for school children. It is our responsibility—as a parent—as a motorist—as a citizen," said Major Bell.

Cotton crop contracting is the total subject of a study now being distributed by one of the research organizations of Texas A&M. Dr. Robert Branson, director of the Texas Agricultural Market Research and Development Center, recently summarized the report by specifying three actions which could improve cotton contracting. Since one of the major shortcomings of crop contracting has been the refusal to honor some contracts, Dr. Branson suggested formation of a central reporting agency... one which would provide financial information on buyers and delivery information on producers. Other suggestions called for a crop disaster clause in every contract and development of low-cost Government crop contracting insurance. Complete information on the report is available from Texas A&M.

Veterans-Check On New Pension Law

A number of veterans and widows of veterans must soon decide whether they should change to the new Veterans Administration pension law which went into effect January 1, 1979. According to C. H. Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell County, a veteran or widow who can receive greater benefits under the new law can have the increased amounts paid back to January 1, 1979, if they submit their election before October 1, 1979. Any elections made on or after that date will provide the added benefits only from the time it is received by the VA.

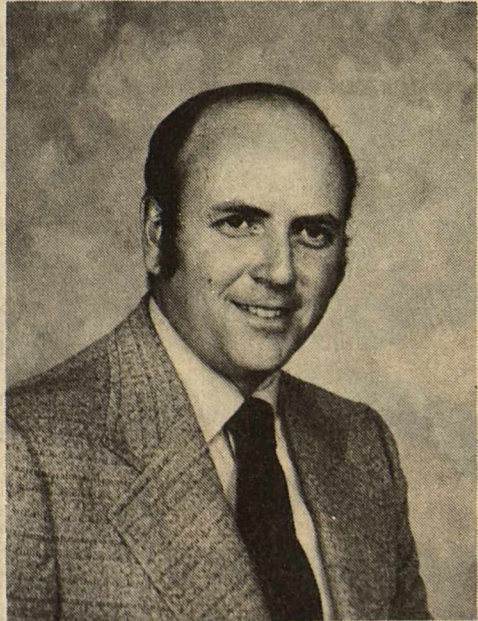

The new pension law provides for automatic increases each June 1 based on the cost of living index. Effective June 1, 1979, a veteran with no dependents is guaranteed an annual income of $3,902. Subtracted from that figure would be any other income which he might have. If he has a dependent wife or child, he is entitled to $5,112 per year. A widow with no children has entitlement to $2,615 per year, less any other income she might have. If she has a dependent child, the annual amount is now $3,425.

Any veteran or widow who is interested may visit their local Veterans Service Officer and discuss their individual entitlement under the new pension law. If a change to the new law will be to their advantage, assistance will be provided to prepare the proper request to the VA. Pensioners already receiving VA benefits under previous laws may change to the new law or remain under their present eligibility, whichever is to their advantage. For additional information, contact your local Veterans Service Officer.

Drive Carefully Near Schools

Calling children "our greatest natural resource," Governor Clements has asked all drivers to become "especially aware of the need for increased safety and vigilance, particularly around our school zones."

Clements proclaimed Back to School Safety Week, from August 25 through September 1, to "call attention to this need for added caution during the start of school." Clements cited the nearly 4,000 traffic deaths in Texas last year and the 389 children killed because of traffic accidents in setting aside this week for particular driver awareness.

"Increased traffic safety awareness and careful driving can help preserve the lives of our children and save them from harm," said Clements.

Fertilization Necessary After Bumper Wheat Crop

This past season's bumper crop of wheat may have depleted plant nutrient levels to the point where proper fertilization for the 1979-80 season deserves special attention.

"Greater yields of high quality forage and grain are a major concern of producers looking forward to the next crop," says Max Stapleton, County Extension Agent. To get those yields, producers will need an accurate inventory of their soil's nutrient levels in order to apply the right kinds and amounts of fertilizers.

A soil nitrogen analysis following a 60 bushel-per-acre wheat yield indicated the nitrogen level had dropped from 124 pounds per acre to 13 pounds per acre.

"Soil tests from the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center near Lubbock provide a guide for making decisions on what, when and how much is needed," Stapleton adds.

"Nitrogen is the element likely to be in shortest supply. The soil's nitrate nitrogen content, which is determined by soil test, provides an excellent criteria for evaluating the nitrogen need," he explains.

The rate of application should be based on nitrogen present in the soil, grazing practices, and on yield potential which is determined by water availability and cultural practices.

Stapleton says, "On hardlands all or part of the nitrogen can be applied before planting. On sandy soils where leaching may cause nitrogen loss, part of the nitrogen should be applied preplant with one or more applications made later in the season."

"Insufficient phosphorus may or may not be a limiting factor and here again, the soil test can serve well," he explains.

"Phosphorus, second only to nitrogen in importance, is a major contributor to the vigorous early growth that supplies first-quality forage for the beef industry."

Information on sample collection, information sheets, fees, and mailing instructions are available from the county Extension agent's office.

Plan Now For 1979 Tax Bill

It's not too early to think about your federal tax bill, especially if you're among the millions of couples in which both spouses bring home a paycheck.

"Last filing period, many married couples who expected refund checks were surprised to find out that they instead had to write a check to cover a balance due on their tax bill," noted A. W. McCanless, Director for the Dallas District of the Internal Revenue Service. "The problem lies in the fact that the withholding rates are designed around the individual's wages do not take a spouse's wages into

Crausby Wins High Overall

Neal Crausby of Sweetwater won the High Overall title at the Haskell Trap Club shoot last weekend with a 280x300 total.

Crausby also won the class A Doubles title with a 93x100 and won the AA Singles title over Larry Rush of Paducah after a coin flip. Both Rush and Crausby broke 99's in AA.

Charles Thornhill of Haskell took top honors in Class A Singles with a 99x100 and in Class B Doubles with a 87. Thornhill also won the runner-up title in the handicap event with a 90.

Robert Jett won the handicap title with a 91.

For example, the highest tax rate applicable to a couple filing a joint return with only one wage earner making $26,000 is up to 32 percent. The withholding would be adequate. But for a couple with one spouse earning $10,000 and the other $16,000, the likelihood that an insufficient amount would be withheld is very great.

Mr. McCanless offers several alternatives for the two-paycheck couple. One possibility is to pay additional tax by means of estimated taxes. In this system, the amount is paid in quarterly installments directly to the IRS using vouchers that come with Form 1040-ES. "Declaration of Estimated Tax for Individuals."

Another choice is to file a revised Form W-4. Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, with the employee claiming fewer or no allowances or requesting additional withholding. Also, married taxpayers may choose to have taxes withheld as if they were single. Both Form 1040-ES and W-4 are available by calling the IRS taxpayer assistance telephone operation.

Additional information may be found in IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Tax," available free from the IRS.

Feeding Value Of Hay Varies Greatly

Stockmen planning to feed their herds only hay this winter should be aware of differences in feeding value.

As long as hay is green and weed-free, many people think it's good. However, these are not the main factors influencing feeding value, points out Max Stapleton, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Protein content, digestibility and acceptability by the animal determine a hay's feeding value, explains Stapleton. Feeding value varies considerably from cutting to cutting and due to hay types.

Examination of hay for leafiness, plant maturity, texture and color give an educated guess, but only laboratory analysis or animal performance provide accurate estimates. A producer must estimate a hay's feeding value to adequately feed his livestock instead of furnishing one bale for every three or four cows, stresses Stapleton. Furthermore, underfeeding often results because producer over-estimate the feeding value of their hay.

As hay protein and total digestible nutrients decrease, the need for supplemental protein and energy for livestock increases. However, the need for salt and steamed bone meal (phosphorus) remain relatively constant.

Minerals are the only supplement needed with excellent quality hay.

Because of slower digestion, livestock can't physically eat enough poor quality hay to meet their requirements.

DRIVELINE

No wonder you had to wait in line . . . There are 800,000 mechanics in America. Sounds good, until you realize there are over 140 million vehicles . . .

Q: When the oil light starts glowing on my dashboard, how long can I continue driving before getting more oil? — O.A., El Paso

A: Stop immediately. Don't drive another minute, unless you want to risk buying a new engine. If the warning light is working correctly, your car has lost oil pressure and is probably out of oil. Turn your engine off and check the oil level with the dipstick. If no level shows, don't drive until you've added oil. A good precaution on long trips is to keep a quart of oil in your trunk. And check your oil regularly, everytime you buy gas.

Notable quotes from insurance company accident reports:

"I was thrown from my car as it left the road. I was later found in a ditch by some cows."

"I thought my window was down, but I found out it was up when I put my hand through it."

Think the 55 mph speed limit isn't safer? When the new limit was enacted in 1974, Texas traffic fatalities promptly began to fall — 18 percent in the first year alone. It was the first decrease since 1967. The total number of deaths has gradually increased since then — because of population growth — but the highway death rate (accidents per miles driven) remain far lower than in the pre-55 years.

Sometimes the fact that a car works at all seems like a minor miracle. For instance . . . at 55 mph, each piston in your engine moves up and down inside its cylinder about 35 times per second. Piston temperatures reach 400 degrees, and bearing pressures exceed 1,000 pounds a square inch. What keeps the engine from grinding itself to pieces? A film of motor oil thinner than this page.

But you didn't know . . . Almost one-sixth of the fatal traffic accidents in Texas involve vehicles striking pedestrians. Most frequent victims are the very young, the elderly, and persons who have been drinking.

Good Hunters Use Respect

There are many things a good hunter does to uphold his ideas of what a true sportsman is according to the National Shooting Sports Foundation and it all boils down into one word—RESPECT.

A true sportsman respects the rights of landowners by always asking for permission to hunt. He also keeps safely away from livestock and buildings. The instructions obtained from the landowner are followed to the letter as to where, when and what to hunt.

This outdoorsman also respects the rights of other hunters. If he sees hunters already in the field, he will not crowd in or "hog" the shooting opportunities. He will also respect the rights of hunters in his own party by letting them get a majority of the shots and game.

This sportsman knows the challenge of the hunt and he can have a great day afield without taking the limit. The pleasures of life in the open with companionship of good friends and the simple rewards of trying to do a thing well are his to take home. He also enjoys the hunt because he knows the game laws and reports anyone violating them. This sportsman uses a dog whenever possible to find downed or wounded game. This avoids wasting a valuable resource and increases the enjoyment of the hunt.

This hunter knows his firearms and ammunition and what it can do whether he is hunting birds or animals. This knowledge and experience is acquired by practice on the rifle or skeet range, in hunter safety classes, and, afield.

The sportsman handles his firearms safely at all times and shoots only when he is absolutely certain of his target. This will eliminate all chances of an accident and will cut down on poor shooting and loss of wounded game.

The sportsman picks up spent shells and litter because leaving an area better than the way he found it is a sign of thanks for the privilege of hunting.

The sportsman properly cleans and cares for his bagged game and takes only what he can use. This hunter also treats the game birds and animals with the respect they deserve.

This true sportsman, then, is a person with respect for himself, other hunters, the landowner, the firearms, the outdoors, and the wildlife.

Law Changes Right of Way On Ramps And Frontage Roads

AUSTIN—Texas drivers need to know about an important new law which will seriously affect how they drive on freeway frontage roads.

The change is so important that ignoring it could literally become a matter of life or death.

The law, passed in the recent session of the Texas Legislature, gives traffic entering or leaving freeway ramps the right of way over frontage road traffic.

It was signed by the governor on June 11, and becomes effective August 27.

It reads in part: "The driver of a vehicle proceeding on an access or feeder road of a controlled access highway shall yield the right of way to a vehicle entering or about to enter or leaving or about to leave the road to enter the highway."

Many ramps on Texas highways already are arranged that way, and YIELD and other signs are in place on the frontage roads for this kind of operation.

Other places where ramps and frontage roads meet, however, are not. There, the signs presently are arranged to require the ramp traffic to yield.

The situation is especially critical where the frontage road carries traffic in both directions. Ramp traffic both entering and leaving the freeway crosses opposing streams of traffic on the frontage road.

The wise motorist should be alert for any changes in signs on the frontage road he may drive regularly and should be aware that all ramp traffic will legally have the right of way over frontage road traffic later this summer.

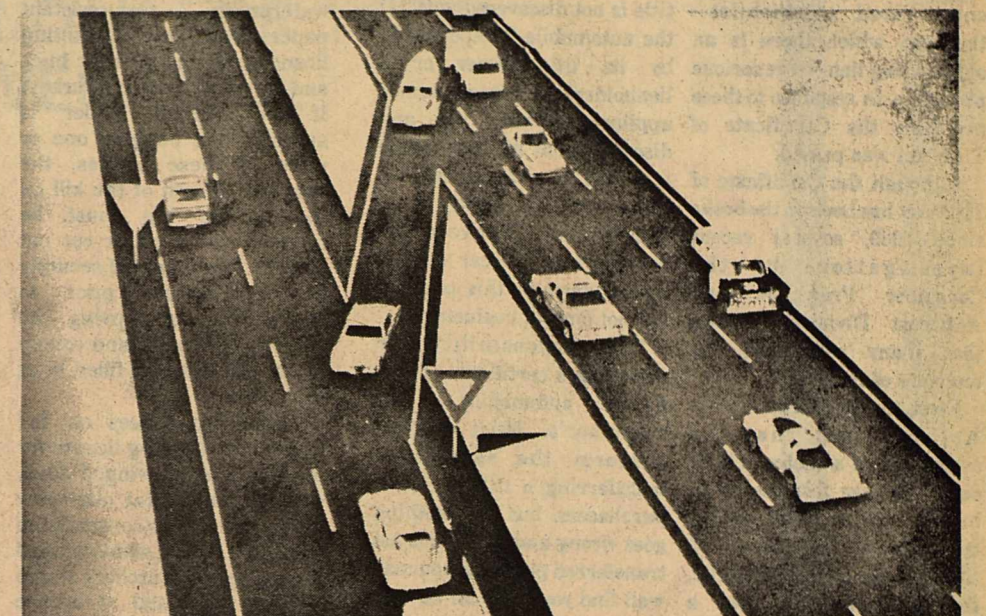

He should also be aware when using freeway ramps that other drivers may not be aware of this law change and may overlook the new signs.

Signs are being changed now. Drivers should heed new sign arrangements as they encounter them.

Frontage road traffic must yield to vehicles entering the freeway.

On two-way roads, both lanes of traffic yield to vehicles using the exit ramp.

MBA degree increases job potential

COLLEGE STATION — The MBA (master of business administration) degree is one of the hottest college credentials going today, probably second only to an engineering diploma in its ability to attract a job, said Dr. Carlton Stolle, assistant dean of the College of Business Administration at Texas A&M University.

Entering students in business at Texas A&M are up 28 percent over last year. The university's next largest increase is in engineering which expects a 14 percent increase.

"I don't see anything to slow the demand," said Stolle. "In some firms now it is a necessity to have an MBA just to get an entry level position."

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Do you "own" and the ownership of your automobile? Most of us would answer this question the same as if someone asked, "Do you own your house" or "Do you own the furniture and appliances in your house." It is quite normal for us to consider ourselves the owner of goods for which we have paid and of which we have taken possession. And, although this is true of most consumer goods, it is not true of automobiles, whether they are new or used.

Many years ago the Texas Legislature found that theft of automobiles and the sale of encumbered automobiles—those on which there is an outstanding lien—were serious problems. In response to these problems the Certificate of Title Act was passed.

Although the Certificate of Title Act has been on the books since 1939, several recent investigations by the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division indicate that many consumers are unaware of its effect.

First, the Certificate of Title Act provides that the ownership of a motor vehicle does not pass from seller to buyer unless the seller transfers a "certificate of title" to the buyer. Secondly, the Act provides that a certificate of title must contain certain information including the name of the owner, a description of the vehicle and the name of any person or company claiming a lien on the vehicle. These two provisions make it very difficult to sell a stolen vehicle. They also insure that anyone who has loaned money for the purchase of a vehicle will be paid back before the vehicle changes hands.

The "title" owner of a motor vehicle, in the absence of fraud, is entitled to reclaim possession of an automobile even though someone else has paid for it.

Problems involving titles and the ownership of automobiles most frequently arise in the sale of used cars. The Division's investigations indicate that a typical scenario for such problems goes something like this: A consumer purchases a used car from a dealer or individual. The seller promises to transfer the title within a few days or weeks. (Transferring a title from the previous owner does take some time.) Since the consumer has possession and use of the automobile, the fact that the title never arrives goes unnoticed. And, the lack of a title is not discovered until (1) the automobile is repossessed by its title owner or a lienholder, or (2) the consumer applies for new tags and discovers that his automobile is owned by someone else. At this point it frequently is too late to take effective action because the few car dealers who engage in this practice are not long in business.

The responsibility for obtaining a certificate of title for an automobile is the consumer's. Most dealers perform the service of transferring a title for their purchasers, but if something goes wrong and the title is not transferred properly, you may well find your new car back in someone else's garage.

To protect yourself from being victimized by this practice, demand to see the title to the vehicle before you pay for it. And, once the transaction is completed, particularly when buying a used car, make sure that you obtain the title to the automobile immediately.

If you have any questions about certificates of title, call the State Highway Department office nearest you. And, if you have a complaint to report regarding the sale of automobiles without certificates of title, contact the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division.

Hunting & Fishing Licenses Available

The new 1979-1980 Texas hunting and fishing license are now available at license vendors and Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices and the licenses will become valid on September 1, 1979.

All these 79-80 licenses will be valid for one year ending August 31, 1980, including the resident hunting license for $5.25; resident fishing license for $4.50; or, the combination hunting/fishing license for $8.75.

Non-resident/small game license is $37.75 and is required of out-of-state hunters after small game such as quail, prairie chicken, pheasant, dove, and similar species. These out-of-state hunters after bigger game such as deer, antelope, aoudad, and turkey, will be required to purchase the non-resident/general hunting license for $100.75. This general license ($100.75) will allow these hunters to hunt all legal Texas species during the regular open seasons.

All licenses are printed on waterproof, tear-resistant paper and each hunting license contains tags for buck and antlerless deer and turkey. If the license holder is successful at bagging one or more of these species, the date and month of the kill on the correct tag must be marked out in ink or cut out and the tags attached securely to the carcass prior to transporting or moving the carcass. The place and county of harvest must be filled in at this time.

There are spaces on the back of the hunting license for affixing a white-winged dove, archery, or federal migratory game bird/conservation stamp. The white-winged dove stamp and archery stamp can be purchased at license vendors. The federal migratory game bird stamp is available at U.S. Post offices for $7.50 each.

A resident hunting license is required of every Texas citizen hunting outside of the county of residence between the ages of 17 through 65 years old. Persons hunting on land where they reside or persons hunting deer and turkey in their county of residence must have an exempt hunting license available for $1.25. Certain disabled veterans may hunt deer or turkey while in possession of a valid exempt hunting license.

A legal citizen of Texas is any person except an alien who has been a bonafide resident of Texas for more than six (6) months immediately preceding application for a license. Members of the Armed Forces with proof of assignment on active duty at any federal installation within the state for a period of more than 30 days may purchase a resident hunting license.

A special archery stamp for $3.25 will be required of all persons who hunt wild deer, turkey, and javelina during any open archery season in which only long bows and arrows are used. This archery stamp will be required in addition to the regular hunting license for both non-resident and resident hunters.

More information is available in the new 1979-80 TEXAS HUNTING AND SPORT FISHING GUIDE available at license vendors and P&WD offices. For specific questions about your county, call your nearest Texas game warden.
