

Almost ten years ago, as a relative newcomer to Haskell, I added a line to the masthead of this newspaper.

The line, "Haskell—A good place to visit—A better place to live," was a reply to the saying, "...a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there."

Now, almost ten years later, I feel the same way about Haskell, Texas.

Haskell is the residence of some of the finest people in the world. Newcomers to our city are constantly amazed at the friendly and cooperative attitude of local people.

While this attitude is freely extended to new residents, natives of Haskell and persons who have lived here for several years can't seem to remain objective about local issues.

During the past several months several issues have caused controversy of varying degree in our community.

We now have a new Chamber of Commerce manager who will assume duties September 1, a new head football coach and a new school superintendent.

A reception has been scheduled to introduce Jerry Jennings as the new Chamber of Commerce manager. The reception will be held in the Community Building of Haskell National Bank at 8 p.m. Friday.

The residents of Haskell are urged to attend the reception. Not just the businessmen and civic leaders, but everyone. The black, the brown, the retired, and the youth, because together, we are Haskell.

We have a new head coach. When he loses a game, criticizing his decisions and demeaning his actions will not improve the attitude of our youth.

His team is our team and much as in a marriage, they are our for better or for worse. Our support and understanding is essential to their success.

We have a new school superintendent.

While we are required by law to pay school taxes, how many understand what the law says about how our administrators and school board members are required to spend that money.

By educating ourselves to their problems, we can become an integral part in solving all our problems.

And at this time yet another controversy exists.

A grand jury is investigating our sheriff's office and lines of support and opposition have already been drawn.

Yet we forget due process. Twelve members of the grand jury must decide if there is sufficient evidence to warrant a trial, not guilt or innocence.

If no bill of indictment is returned, let us not criticize their decision because they alone heard the evidence and due process has been served.

If a true bill of indictment is returned then the due process of law will continue and our criticism will not alter the outcome.

This random sample of local issues brings to mind the picture of the two small boys trying to walk, one behind the other, along the railroad tracks.

Progress was slow because they kept falling off.

When they got on separate rails, beside each other, and held hands, they were able to continue without problem.

Together we can go forward, but pulling against each other, our progress is slow.

Colonial Car Wash To Benefit M-D

Muscular Dystrophy research and "Jerry's Kids" will benefit from a car wash sponsored Saturday by Colonial Grocery Store in Haskell.

The car wash will be held from noon to 5 p.m. on the Colonial parking lot.

There will be no set fee for the car wash and further information is available by calling 864-3691.

Many people believe that there are no incurable diseases, only diseases for which cures have not yet been found.

Local Colonial employees hope that the proceeds from this car wash will help find a cure for Muscular Dystrophy and that this year's Jerry Lewis Telethon will be the last.

Jennings will assume duties as Chamber manager September 1.

Chamber President John Wayne McDermott said, "The board of directors felt very fortunate to be able to hire someone of Jerry's caliber to assume duties as manager."

McDermott emphasized the need for all Chamber members to attend the meeting and express their opinions about future Chamber plans.

During the past several years the Chamber has not had a general membership meeting other than the annual banquet.

Directors feel that this meeting will afford members an opportunity to have input in the organization and participate in shaping the future of the organization.

Present plans call for the enlargement of scope of the Chamber to include industry and agriculture and representatives of these groups are also urged to attend.

Life And Death Of A House Spider

BY GINA JENNINGS

He was just an ordinary black house spider. A fuzzy little gentleman with a tidy white dot on his back... The kind of spider most normal people delight in creeping quietly toward and then smashing with a whack of the house slipper.

Yet, since this particular spider found himself a house-guest at the Jennings' (who could be described as anything but "normal") the entire course of his life was changed.

We discovered him one day happily munching on a spot of pie which had been cast carelessly aside by a sticky child. The fuzzy creature won my affection at once. This was because, although he watched us carefully as we approached him, he absolutely refused to leave that pie. It was the first positive reaction I had gotten to my cooking in several years.

The second discovery we made about our unexpected guest was that he also dined on other spiders—of a brown and poisonous sort that have plagued us recently. (Admittedly this second item on his menu took the starch out of my pride in his judgment on my pie.)

Yet it was this second virtue which saved his life and it was unanimously decided that he become a permanent resident. He was forgiven for the sin of being a spider for his redeeming quality of keeping more dangerous pests under control. Thereafter he became somewhat of a live-in Orkin Man.

I am not sure yet whether we simply misjudged the intelligence of this particular eight-legged or whether he was simply testing our sentiments toward him. Whichever the case, the mishaps of our spider soon hurled our house into continual trauma.

Although we gave him the run of the house, he immediately situated himself in the bathroom and rarely ventured from that domain. This suited us quite well as that was the habitat also of his agreed prey.

I always looked for him when I went into the room. This habit was not entirely spawned by affection for him. It simply was not entertaining to me to reach for our tissue and have him leap suddenly from behind the roll as though he were attending a surprise party.

Things went along rather smoothly at first. Until one day my husband came upon him floating limply in the bathtub.

Perhaps to most it would be a peculiar sight to see an ordinary black house spider lifted gently from the water and, with the entire family standing by looking concerned, blow dry the creature with a hair dryer. To us, however, it seemed quite natural.

We kept a more careful eye on him after that. He was really difficult to protect. One afternoon as he was taking a leisurely stroll across the bathroom floor, my son came charging through in his creaked shoes.

"Watch it! Watch out for the spider!" we all cried at him. And with the usual ill luck of the creature, my son stopped abruptly and jumped back...landing squarely on top of our pet.

The entire family stared.

horrified. Then, slowly the spider limped out from between the cleats and we rejoiced.

He was placed on the windowsill to convalesce for a few days after that.

We began to think of him as nearly a member of the family. We rescued him from several more baths and a few nasty falls. We even began to think of ourselves as his noble defenders...prolonging his life out of kindness in a cruel and hard world.

The pale and drawn look on my husband's face one morning told the final story. He emerged soberly from the bathroom, his face partially covered in shaving cream, and motioned me quietly to come.

There I saw, framed in a halo of golden morning sunlight, the still form of our spider. Kneeling beside him in involuntary eulogy, I cried, "He was a brave warrior...he survived the swirling water and the heavy feet of giants...he sought and conquered the poisonous enemy...he defended our safety nobly to the end!"

Looking up at my husband I asked how he met his death.

"I accidentally smashed him when I shut the bathroom drawer," he murmured, chagrined.

Outburst, of course, and later outburst, of course, and later realized I had lost my perspective by getting overly involved in the life of a black house spider.

Still, some sadness remains. I wonder if it is not the same with everyone. Perhaps it is a universal fear. Knowing our human frailty, we are aware that although we may survive and conquer the biggest perils of life, one day we may be done in by something totally insignificant...like the slamming of a bathroom drawer.

Sayles-Centerpoint Reunion Held

The 13th annual Sayles-Centerpoint Reunion was held August 2nd and 3rd at the Haskell National Bank Community Room.

Refreshments were served by local ex-students to 48 visitors Saturday night. The air was filled with "Do you remember?" With answers coming from: Blands, Wisemans, Birds, Davis, Haralsons, Harris, Pattersons, Meltons, Pittmans, Johnsons, Jeters, Ivys, Easterlings and Felkers, to name a few of the families that will remember the days of the Sayles and Centerpoint school days.

Sunday morning the group gathered at 9:30 and were registered by Louise Pittman and Opal Ellis. Coffee, cake and cookies were served by Avis Pennington, Duke Jeter and Keith Carney. The morning was spent with more trips down memory lane and a lot of hugging among old friends.

After the invocation by Jack Harris, lunch was served by Double A Drive In. Seventy-five ex-students and friends were present for lunch with several more coming to visit after noon.

During a brief business session new officers were elected for 1981; President, Bill Pennington; Vice President, Duke Jeter; and Secretary, Avis Pennington. Special recognition was given Woodrow Wiseman of East Longmeadow, Mass. for the greatest distance traveled and the Wiseman family for the largest number (18) present. Mr. Shelby Harris and Mrs. Ethel Bird at 88 were the oldest members present.

Mrs. Opal (Haralson) Ellis presented a very impressive memorial service for the five members deceased since the last August meeting. Mrs. Doris (Folker) Hannsz gave a beautiful account of courting in the days of bashful beaux.

Mrs. Charles Conner gave a beautiful pot plant, which along with a card signed by all present was sent to Buck Bland in the hospital. After the benediction by Albert Hannsz, the group enjoyed more visiting and making plans for the 1981 meeting.

Arrington, Medley Wed In Garland

Penelope Ann Medley and William Patrick Arrington, both of Garland, were united in marriage Saturday, August 2, 1980 at the Axe Memorial United Methodist Church in Garland. Rev. Phil Mercer, First United Methodist Church of Garland, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim L. Medley of Garland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill J. Arrington, also of Garland.

Mike Medley, brother of the bride, sang "Let It Be Me", "Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer". Dr. Bill Flynt was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a dress made of Crepe Back Satin with an overlay of 'Promesse'. The overlay was trimmed with Crepe Back Satin at the cuffs, collar and train. The chapel length veil was made of the 'Promesse' and trimmed with the Crepe Back Satin and attached to the headpiece, which was worn by her mother in her wedding. Daisy appliques trimmed the modified empire waist, cuffs and headpiece. The dress was designed by Jane Smith of Haskell. The bride wore a gold locket given to her maternal grandmother by her maternal grandfather in 1915. She wore a six penny in her shoe from Lyles Jewelry of Haskell. Her bouquet was a cascade of white daisies and ferns atop the Bible used by her mother in her wedding.

Serving as Matron of Honor was Carolyn Medley, cousin of the bride of Lewisville. Bridesmaid was Michell Duncan, sister of the groom of Austin. Junior bridesmaid was Melinda Smith of Haskell. Best Man was Kenny Williamson of Dallas.

Groomsmen were Ed Whitfield and John Michell Jr., both of Garland.

Groomsmen served as ushers.

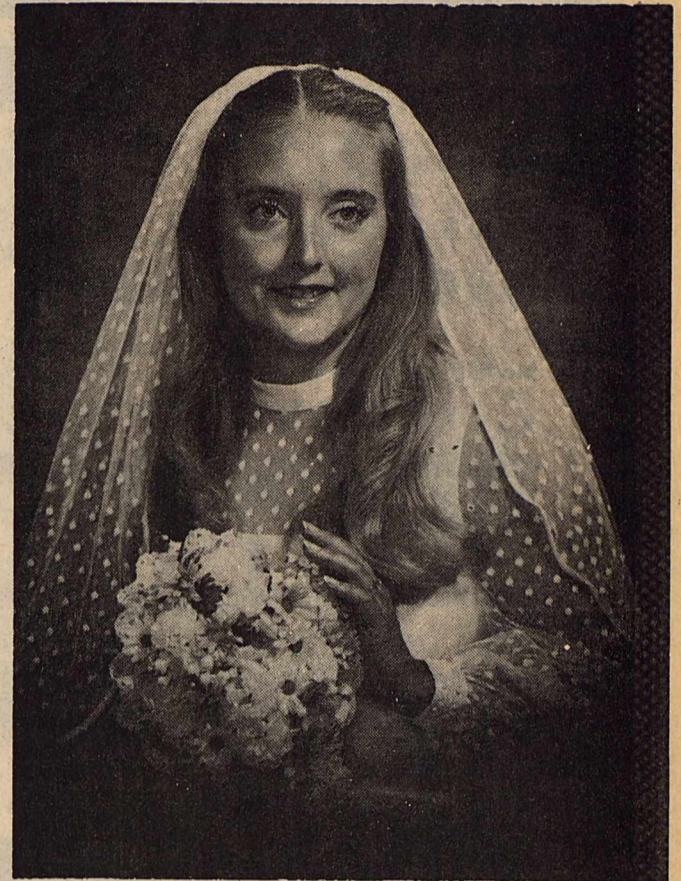

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. The bride's five tier cake was decorated with fresh daisies and her tables were decorated with the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white. The groom's chocolate cake was accented with frosted fruit and the table was decorated in chosen colors of spice and brown with silver appointments.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nevada, the couple will reside in Norman, Oklahoma.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of South Garland High School, has attended the Richland Jr. College of Dallas, and is currently attending the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center—College of Pharmacy from which she will graduate in December 1980.

The groom is a 1973 graduate of South Garland High School, attended Stephen F. Austin University, and served in the U. S. Navy for four years. He is self-employed doing home repair, locksmith and remodeling work.

Local Girl To Compete In State Dress Revue

Lynn Weatherly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Weatherly of Haskell, will participate in the State 4-H Fashion Revue. She was chosen for this honor recently at the District 4-H Fashion Revue in Abilene. There were seventeen participants in Lynn's category. Twenty-five percent of this group qualified for the State Revue.

The State 4-H Fashion Revue will be held in Abilene September 17-19. There will be contestants participating from fourteen districts throughout the state of Texas. The 4-H'ers will be judged in three separate categories: appearance of the garment on the girl, construction techniques, and the record book entered for their clothing project. The winners at the State Revue will advance to the National Revue.

Lynn is 18 years old and a recent graduate of Haskell High School. She has been a 4-H member for 9 years. During these 9 years she has received 31 ribbons, 5 awards on record books and 3 plaques. Lynn has participated in the County Fashion Revue 8 years and has received blue ribbons 7 of those 8 years. She has advanced to the District Fashion Revue the past two years. In the 1979 District Revue she received the cotton award and was the alternate to the State Revue. Five different years she exhibited a garment in the Haskell County Fair.

Not only has she worked on her own clothing projects, but she has also helped other 4-H'ers develop their projects. For two years she has served as a 4-H teen leader with primary responsibilities for a clothing project group. She also served as a judge for the 1980 Shackelford County Fashion Revue.

She served as a member of the 1979 County Fashion Revue Committee helping write the script for the Revue and serving as a narrator. She also had a part on the program for the 1980 County Revue.

Lynn has also been active in other projects. These projects are Foods and Nutrition, Home Management, Recreation, and Child Care.

In her local 4-H Club, Lynn has been an active member attending many meetings and serving as an officer and committee member. She is currently serving as her club's secretary.

Because Lynn has shown scholastic excellence and leadership ability and has exhibited service, responsibility, and good citizenship in her club, school, home, church, and community and had not yet received a high 4-H honor, she was awarded the F. W. Martin Memorial Award for 1979.

Lynn is planning to attend West Texas State University in the fall where she plans to major in elementary education.

USDA Soil Conservation Service

Conservation Viewpoints

A bill extending the Great Plains Conservation Program (GPCP) from December 31, 1981, to September 30, 1991, has become law.

The new legislation, Public Law 96-263, will increase GPCP funding from $300 million to $600 million and will raise yearly cost-share limitations from $25 million to $50 million, nation-wide.

This is a positive step to insure that farmers and ranchers throughout the Great Plains will have added incentive to apply conservation measures on their land.

Under the GPCP, landowners can speed up soil and water conservation work by signing agreements for 3 to 10 years. The contracts guarantee cost-sharing by the government to apply and maintain conservation measures. Contracts have been written for about half of the land eligible in the 10 states.

The Soil Conservation Service has administered GPCP since the program began in 1956. Through the program, working together with conservation districts, SCS has given technical assistance to 55,000 Great Plains farmers and ranchers in treating critically eroded farmland and making appropriate land use changes.

195 landowners have taken advantage of the program in the local Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District. 23 contracts are still in force, with conservation work being carried out each year. The Haskell Field Office of the SCS, currently has 11 applications on hand for assistance on 5108 acres: Elmer Miller of Stamford, Leroy Casey of Rule, M. W. Sedberry and Van Sedberry of Rule, Larry Blackwell of Stamford, G. W. Wedeking of Stamford, Sargent Lowe & Sons of Munday, Mrs. Elizabeth Coffield of Haskell, Harry L. Haynes of Stamford, G. W. LeFevre of Sagerton, A. C. Denson of Stamford and Carl and Jerry Kainer (Kainer Farms) of Sagerton.

We are hoping to secure $40,000 to $60,000 for contract development in the Haskell SWCD for the coming year. Over the next 10 years, SCS and the district hope to help even more Great Plains farmers and ranchers plan for and install the most effective conservation practices on their land.

The hazardous climate and easily eroded soils, not only in the Haskell SWCD, but the 10 Great Plains states require lasting protection of soil and water resources. The droughts of the 1970's, and the summer of 1980, is a reminder that we must adequately protect the Plains from wind and water erosion to reduce the likelihood of another disastrous Dust Bowl.

Despite a good record of success for work done under the GPCP, much work remains in order to combat serious droughts and persistent erosion problems.

Each applicant in the Haskell SWCD will be receiving a letter from me shortly requesting a declaration of your intent and wishes concerning the starting of contract development. Due to limited funds available for the district in 1981, I want to give each applicant the opportunity to take up his option before I pass on to someone else. Please respond immediately after receiving your letter, so we can get everyone that is willing and able and ready to start now.

J. C. Yeary, Jr.
District Conservationist

Relief From Heat Now Available

The Community Action Program on 720 Pine has received funding for the Heat Assistance Program. This program is designed to help low income and elderly households who experience an emergency due to the heat. The program is two-fold, helping with electricity bills and fans.

In order to apply for help with an electric bill, the applicant must provide proof of income in writing for at least the last three months, a statement from their doctor stating it is hazardous to their health not to have air conditioning and the unpaid electric bill. Assistance is one month only up to $100.00.

In order to apply for help with a fan, the applicant must not own any type of cooling device including (but not limited to) evaporative cooling, refrigerated air, air conditioning and fans. The applicant must provide proof of their income in writing for the last three months. Before any fans are issued, an investigation is made of the home, to see if the household is eligible.

All applicants must qualify under the Community Services Administration poverty guidelines. All interested individuals may apply at 720 Pine Street between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. or may call 673-5785 or may contact the Haskell Community Action Program.

Counties included: Taylor, Jones, Haskell, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Knox, Kent, Fisher and Stonewall.

This is the first of my weekly columns. Those columns are being tried on an experimental basis as another method to inform the public concerning your schools. The patrons of a school district must know what is happening at the school. This information includes items such as schedules, curriculum information and innovations, tax and budget information pertinent to the school operation.

It is much easier for a patron of the school to be supportive of the school program if they are informed about the different aspects of the school operation. Schools, of necessity, have become a community function. This fact is very important as we are dealing with the most important commodity of any community, the youth. The community needs to be deeply involved in the education of this commodity. The school must fit into the total process of youth development which consists of the Home, the Church, the Community, and the School. We will endeavor to partially fill the schools role of information-giving with this column.

The teachers will begin their inservice preparation for the coming school year on August 18th at 9:00 a.m. They will be in-session for one week before schools open on Monday, August 25th. This inservice is used for teachers to prepare for the coming year

Rice Springs News

Our week here at the home has gone very smoothly. The residents are still enjoying the early mornings, sitting out on the porches. Every time any of us see a cloud, we hope it means rain, but so far there hasn't been anything much come from them.

Lois Gray has gotten to come home from the Abilene hospital and says that she is doing very well. Mattie Sammons has been a patient in the Haskell hospital this week, but has gotten to come back to the home and seems to be feeling better. Other of our residents have been having summer colds, but that seems to be tapering off some now.

The residents have really enjoyed the Haskell Church of God coming to hold the Sunday morning services for the month of July and are now looking forward to their coming back again. We thank them and all our other volunteer people for the past week. These included the Haskell Church of Christ, Sweet Home Singers, Jo Simpson, William Hodge, and Martin Jacobsen.

Mickey Mantle switched to Natural Light because he prefers the taste. He had no idea that Natural Light's great taste comes from using only the finest natural ingredients. Or that there are no artificial ingredients in Natural Light, unlike some other light beers he had tried. We don't think he even noticed the ingredients listed right on the label: Water, Barley malt, Rice, Hops, Yeast. What counts for Mickey is taste. And on that score, we've both made a hit.

Kickoff Set For 1980 Cattlemen's Round-Up

After 21 years, the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children has seen a few changes, but the objectives remain the same!

When the late Conda H. Wylie donated 20 steers to be sold to defray operational expenses of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, it was the start of a big annual tradition. Now ranchmen from throughout the Southwest cut out a few head of livestock every fall and donate to WTRC. As a result, several hundred head are auctioned off with proceeds going to WTRC.

Cowboy movie star Rex Allen will be on the banks of the Concho River in San Angelo Sept. 6th to officially kickoff the 1980 Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled children.

Focus will draw to Abilene on Sept. 29 for CRCC cattle sale. CRCC Horse Sale will be Oct. 4 in Abilene and CRCC

Livestock Sale in Coleman Oct. 8. CRCC Sheep & Goat Sale will be Oct. 13 in Junction.

"Last year, the cattlemen's round-up sales raised $200,000 for the Rehab Centers of Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder," states Shelly V. Smith, WTRC executive director. "When dollars are converted, the amount provides care for almost 8,000 handicapped people from throughout the Southwest."

No one had any idea what the late Mr. Wylie's idea would spur 21 years ago. He came to Smith with the suggestion that 20 top steers be cut from his Fort Chadbourne ranch near Bronte that autumn of 1960. Other ranchers wanting to donate to WTRC but, broke from a long drought of the 1950's, had to find a way of giving other than money. A few head of cattle they could spare.

The response was deeply gratifying to Smith and other center officials. The gathering of the cattle was almost immediately called the "Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children."

The unique method of funding the center was copyrighted that first year and is now a vital part of the annual funding for WTRC.

Jim Alexander of Abilene is overall roundup chairman. Jim Franklin of San Angelo is roundup chairman in the Rehab Southwest Texas region. They have selected various county and area chairmen in almost every area of the Southwest.

Smith praised the West Texas ranching industry for its tremendous help in raising funds for the WTRC through the Cattlemen's Round-Up program.

"Gifts are the bulk of the WTRC income," he added. "The 1980 budget of more than $2.5 million calls for about 75 percent coming from gifts."

WTRC is a private, non-profit diagnostic and treatment facility for the handicapped in the Southwest. With a goal for treating the whole patient rather than just the handicap, services offered include physical therapy, social services, psychology, orthotics, diagnostic services, education, adaptive equipment shops, audiology, medical clinics, genetics counseling and transportation.

Weinert C/F Chairman Announced

The Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation announced the appointment of Cordie Cunningham, as Chairman of its 1980 Breath of Life Campaign in Weinert.

Cordie will be recruiting volunteers within the community to help plan and carry out a CF Breath of Life Campaign this fall.

The purpose of this Campaign is to provide the community with information about Cystic Fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for CF patients.

The number one genetic killer of children, Cystic Fibrosis is inherited and incurable. An estimated one in 20 Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. One in every 1500 babies born in this country is a victim of CF. Currently, half of all children born with CF will die before they leave their teens.

To volunteer for the Breath of Life Campaign, please contact Cordie Cunningham.

Drought Threatens Pecan Crop

BY MAX STAPLETON
County Extension Agent-Agriculture

Drought conditions in Texas could easily put a serious dent in an already short pecan crop.

Dr. George Ray McEachern, horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, said Texas pecans are currently experiencing serious water shortage problems. He said the predicted harvest is already down about 40 percent in non-irrigated orchards and if the drought continues for three more weeks harvest could be down as much as 80 percent.

Young trees have stopped growing and mature trees will have short crops of smaller-than-usual nuts. McEachern said trees growing in sandy or shallow soil are suffering the most. Young trees need a uniform soil moisture level during the growing season, from April to October.

Without question, irrigation is a must, and large trees that are producing need large volumes of water. He said large trees use over 100 gallons per day in July and August.

Bearing trees should not be drought-stressed. Important irrigation periods are early spring when growth begins, mid-summer when the nut develops and early fall as the kernel develops. A fall drought can reduce the percentage of kernels significantly, McEachern said.

Homeowners should apply two inches of water to lawn trees if over two weeks of drought occurs. Shallow or sandy soil will need more frequent irrigation. To avoid salt burn on leaves, homeowners should not sprinkle foliage, the specialist said.

GONE HOME
By Mrs. J. M. Woolsey
Floresville

Life's sunset comes,
I go to meet my Maker,
Leaving behind
This empty shell of clay.
Gone are the storms
Of night I've had to battle—
Now I have peace

And everlasting day.
Weep not O loved ones,
Weep not for me.
Now with the Lord I love
I live eternally.

Long has He led
And gladly have I followed,
Trusting and sure
That He would give me grace.
Deep in my heart
I've felt His Spirit glowing,
Now blessed day
I see Him face to face.
Weep not O loved ones,
Weep not for me.
Now with the Lord I love
I live eternally.

Funny or Unfunny

The United States has a serious population problem; the vast majority of the hungry nations have an even more serious one. Yet nearly all nations, the United States included, lack any sort of population stabilization program. Most do not see the need for one.

World population is now growing at a terrifying rate—about 90 million more people each year.

The U.S. response to the growing food needs has been massive food aid programs. Food aid allows more people to live on land than that land can feed; it allows the receiving country to postpone measures which might stabilize its population. The inescapable result of such a policy is that by saving lives today, a greater number of lives will be lost tomorrow.

We believe it is morally inexcusable to provide food aid to any nation which has not committed itself to an all-out plan of action to reduce its birth rate. And this does not mean "advocating family planning."
