

Sometimes it's hard to be motivated.

After several weeks of hearing daily poll reports that all said the 1980 presidential election was to close to call, I had mentally prepared myself for a long election night vigil.

It was with a virtual disappointment that I left the house Tuesday night to report on vote tabulations at the Haskell County Courthouse.

The disappointment came not from winning or losing, but from the fact that a national news network had already declared Ronald Reagan the next president.

That fact alone was not too startling considering that Reagan had lead most polls during the final days of campaigning.

What was almost impossible to understand was how the electronic media could predict that Reagan had carried the entire state of Texas only seven minutes after the polls closed.

The election results were almost exactly as predicted by the electronic media which adds to the frustration of the many hours of hard work by election judges and vote tabulators who were still working several hours after the winners were announced.

The Tuesday issue of the Wall Street Journal carried a cartoon which showed a man leaving the house for work. His wife seated at the breakfast table told him on the way out the door that he didn't need to vote because the winner had already been announced on television.

It seems that the concept of the cartoon is almost a probability within the next decade if advances continue to be made.

An interesting sidelight to the concern voiced by many over polls and projections and the futility in voting was witnessed Tuesday when record numbers of voters went to the polls.

As early as nine a.m. some Texas cities had run out of ballots and in one Arizona city voters were allowed to vote on Wednesday because of a shortage of ballots.

It restores faith in the system.

Indians Fall To Munday, 7-10

The Haskell Indians lost a tough defensive battle to the Munday Moguls last Friday night, 7-0.

Key defensive plays on the part of both teams almost completely halted offensive attempts.

The Tribe got their first opportunity to score late in the first quarter following a pass interception. The Tribe moved the ball within eleven yards of the score before a fumble halted the drive.

Neither team moved the ball in the second quarter and first of half of the third quarter. Midway in the third quarter, the Moguls moved the ball 72 yards for the only score of the game.

On their next possession, the Tribe moved the ball to within inches of the goal but were stopped on three consecutive plays inside the five by a tough Munday defense.

The Tribe threatened once more late in the final period but the drive stalled on the 11 yard line.

The Tribe will host Paducah Friday for the last home game of the season.

Barbecue Set Friday 5-7 P.M.

A barbecue dinner will be served by the Jaycees and the Haskell Chamber of Commerce on Friday, November 7, from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the high school cafeteria.

Tickets will be $3.25 for adults and 10c per year for children.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or from members of the Jaycees or Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

EXTRA BALLOTS

Haskell County was like many other cities in the state and nation Tuesday when an exceptionally high voter turnout created a shortage of ballots. The turnout was much higher than expected across the country and in some instances voters were running out of ballots as early as 9 a.m. in Haskell County a turnout of just over 70% was the highest in the past ten years. Extra ballots were prepared by photostatic copying and delivered to polling places. About 100 extra ballots were made but not all were needed. Shown preparing extra ballots are Frances Macias and John Wayne McDermott.

Hearing Test Set For Haskell

Free Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Fieldan Motel, 115 S. Avenue E, Haskell, Friday, November 7, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Factory-trained hearing aid specialists will be at the Beltone office to perform the test.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out if they are one of the many hearing aid can help.

The free hearing test will be given at the Fieldan Motel, 115 S. Avenue E, Haskell. If you can't come in on Friday, call 864-2251 for in-home test.

All hearing aid users are welcome to our service-batteries for all makes.

Mrs. Grace McKelvin was honored by families of the Haskell Clinic at a salad supper on Thursday night, October 30, at a retirement party.

Having worked as a nurse in the Haskell Clinic since January 12, 1948, Mrs. McKelvin has one of the longest tenures of any clinic employee since its inception in 1939. She spent 32 1/2 years serving the people of this area through her work in the clinic.

After the meal, Mrs. McKelvin received a new, gold, quartz wristwatch in love and appreciation for her outstanding years of faithful service. In return, her expressions of thanks gave evidence of the closeness and camaraderie shared with fellow workers through the years.

Other than the honoree, those attending were Beunis and Dr. Joe Thigpen, Golda and Dr. Bob Colbert, Yuvi and Dr. Wayne Cadenhead, Pauline Dick, Helen and Jean Elliott, Evelyn Mercer, Mary Nell and Gerald McCoy, Frances and Snowy Land, Loretta and Bob Gray, Thelma and W.A. Dutton, Dean and Victor Lowery and the host and hostess, Dr. Frank and Billie Cadenhead.

HONEY PECAN BREAD

The accompanying recipe for Honey Pecan Bread looks and smells good, but more than that it tastes good and packs a nutritional wallop to boot. Ingredients like whole wheat flour, oatmeal, cottage cheese, eggs and pecans boost the nutrients in this loaf. Sweetened with honey it has an affinity for more honey when served with butter and honey for a late evening snack or when toasted for breakfast. One slice of Honey Pecan bread contains 5 grams of protein, 160 calories, plus minerals and vitamins, making a substantial contribution to the day's food needs.

HONEY PECAN BREAD

Makes 2 loaves

- 3-1/2 cups unsifted white flour
- 2 cups unsifted whole wheat flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's Margarine
- 1 cup cream style cottage cheese
- 2 eggs (at room temperature)
- 3/4 cup quick oats, uncooked
- 3/4 cup chopped Planters Pecans

Combine 3 cups white flour and whole wheat flour. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1-1/2 cup flour mixture, salt and yeast. Combine water, honey, margarine, and cottage cheese in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120° F.-130° F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1/2 cup flour mixture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in quick oats, remaining flour mixture, and enough additional white flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover bowl, let rise in warm place free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch dough down. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead in pecans. Divide dough in half. Shape each into a loaf and place in two greased 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2-inch loaf pans or into 8-inch layer cake pans. Lightly grease tops of loaves. Let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 375° F. for 35 to 40 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

Proofreaders Spoil Fun

BY GINA JENNINGS
The unsung hero, the unheralded savior of every newspaper is the proofreader. One just has to read a couple of stories fresh from the typesetter's desk to agree.

Being a typesetter myself, I am not belittling the efforts of those pounding out the copy however, regardless of the care taken, an unruly finger will now and again fly up and strike an unsuspecting and erroneous letter.

At times, this may cause a few unsightly spellings and grammatical errors, which are irritating enough. Yet, they are only noisy gnats compared to the ghastly phrases which are sometimes born of such innocent error.

With the switch of a single letter, it would be possible to inform an interested public that, "Mr. Conway went to Abilene to visit his brothel last weekend."

Except for the gracious intervention of the proofreader, poor Mr. Conway might quickly develop a rather unsavory reputation. And since the sentence following would read, "He reported his brother and family were doing well," the reader must assume that Mr. Conway bumped into his brother at the brothel. As you can see, we are quickly bringing an entire family to ruin.

By the same method, a typesetter can turn a rather dry headline into a real attention-getter by the addition of a solitary letter. By such an insignificant change, a recent headline could have read, "Seattle Museum Obtains African Wart Collection."

This little bit of creativity has turned a rather bland event into something special. Every museum has dozens of art collections but how many have wart collections--and African wart collections at that?

Of course, a few art critics would be alarmed and angry at the misprint but the majority would find it pleasantly unique. At any rate, the proofreader won't let me get away with it.

Any number of things can happen to a hapless setter when whirling rapidly through a list of similar lines. For example, by glancing away from the copy for a moment, even a good typesetter may lose his place and thereby change the course of lives.

A simple birth announcement may read (or misread) as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith announce the birth of their son, Rod Jones Jr., born Oct. 21, 1980..." etc.

This simple announcement will cause both the Smiths and Mr. and Mrs. Rod Jones Sr. (whose birth announcement was listed below that of the Smith's on the original copy) great grief. It totally precludes the plans of parents to send clippings to the grandparents since they would be puzzled and very upset to find out that a total stranger gave birth to their grandchild.

Many years hence, the error might put a pretty little kink in the family tree, as a descendant dredges up the facts of his ancestry.

To save us from certain doom, here again comes the proofreader, admonishing us to give Rod Jr. back to his parents. Thus spoiling many hours of fun and libel.

Adding new characters to a story is often easily done with very pleasing results. When Mrs. Adair stumbled against the bed and broke her hip, it was not nearly as exciting as the time Mrs. Adair stumbled against the bear and broke her hip. Now THAT was a story! Anyone, whether they knew Mrs. Adair or not will be interested enough to read on to find out why she had a bear in her house to stumble against.

In the case of such a typographical error, the unfortunate reader will never learn why she was entertaining a bear. The story will continue with the facts of her hospitalization and never again mention the bear. It will read as though a person stumbling over a bear is an ordinary occurrence requiring no further explanation.

Once we get the ailing Mrs. Adair in the hospital we can do all kinds of things to her. We can give her a hippo rather than a hypo--which is much more fun to imagine. We can place her in a private doom (#235) and ask friends to mail cards and lettuce to keep her spirits up.

All this and more could be done except for the all-seeing eye of the proofreader.

Still, it is not enough for the assiduous proofreader to catch the alphabetical adulteration of a story by the typesetter. He or she must also account for the abuse of form and order by the reporter.

It is not the same thing to say, for instance that, "Until Mrs. Brown married a scientist, she thought of them as raving lunatics," and that "Mrs. Brown thought all scientists were raving lunatics until she married one." In the one case Mrs. Brown is married to a scientist while in the other, we have wed the unfortunate lady forever to a raving lunatic.

Breaking a quotation can also be rather tricky business. In an interview with a cheerleader it would be better not to break a quotation thusly:

"The girls will be wearing nothing at the game," insisted the pretty redhead, "Which could be considered indecent by anyone."

An imaginative reader can make all kinds of inferences from this statement. The virtuous proofreader will insist however, that the sentence be rearranged, cutting short this indecent exposure.

Yes, the proofreader takes away from you, the reader, all the brothels and bears and hippos; the wart collections and the birthday-suited cheerleaders... All you get is the plain fact.

Ain't it a shame?

These Pioneer® brand grain sorghum hybrids do well in our area.

846 — We still get many requests for this hybrid. And it still sets the standard in many operations. Dependable year after year with exceptional drought tolerance.

Let's get together soon.

Cancer Memorials Increasing

Cancer memorials for loved ones increased during the month of October. Memorial Chairman, Mrs. Virgil (Evelyn) Cobb would like to express appreciation to those who contributed and advise the public of this service.

Memorials can be given by mailing to P.O. Box 761, Haskell, Texas or coming by Heren Insurance Agency, 115 N. Ave. E. Make your check payable to American Cancer Society and a card will be sent to the family of the honoree. This contribution is a living memorial for a deceased loved one. These funds are not only used for research but provide many local services such as educational materials and wheel chairs, walkers, etc. for cancer patients.

Our schools will shortly be receiving cancer educational material which will be distributed with the assistance of Mrs. Wallace (Jo) Cox. Civic organizations are also encouraged to use the available films to educate their members.

Cohabitation

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—Men and women living together outside of marriage are deeply committed to their partners, but there is an element of "tenuousness" in such a relationship.

That's the finding of a University of Texas doctoral study on 15 cohabiting couples, whose ages range from 28 to 40.

While the couples indicated reasons of stability as the basis for cohabitation, the study found they generally kept separate financial accounts, did not own common property and did not have children together.

Where disagreements arose was in equal division of household chores. Sometimes the women reported doing the chores themselves, "just for peace," the study said.

Area Cotton Classing

B.B. Manly, Jr., Area Director of the USDA Marketing Services Office in Abilene reported that 3500 cotton samples had been classed from the 1980-81 cotton harvest by October 31. About one-third of the area gins have started ginning operations, but the cotton harvest is relatively late this season. Many producers have waited for frost to kill cotton rather than applying desiccants. A killing freeze occurred throughout most of the cotton producing area Tuesday night, October 28, so wide-spread harvesting is expected around November 10.

Cotton production will be extremely low this season, in drastic contrast to the record high yields of the previous season. Mr. Manly estimated total cotton production of the Abilene-Munday area at about 280,000 bales, which compares to 1,141,000 bales of cotton produced last season.

Mr. Manly reported that the Automatic Data Processing (ADP) system has been installed and is currently operational as was planned for this season. Classing data is being sent to cotton producers in the Abilene classing territory on machine-readable punch cards rather than the original class card (green card). A computer printout of weekly classing results is being provided to each gin.

Manly explained that the cotton is still being classed manually, but the reporting of quality information on punch cards is intended to hasten marketing. There have been several questions concerning the numerical codes in the "remarks" column on the punch card. These codes have been changed this season, and an explanation is printed on the reverse side of each card.

Local cotton prices ranged from 31 to 36 cents per pound over CCC loan values. Most cotton sold at 70 to 80 cents per pound, depending mostly upon staple length. The supply of new-crop cotton was light, and trading was slow to inactive. Demand was moderate for most qualities, but was good for staple 32 or longer cotton.

Some farmers have received 110 dollars per ton for cottonseed, but seed prices have not yet been established at most gins.

The quality of early harvested cotton has been relatively low this season. Grades have been much duller than usual, and fiber length has been relatively short; but micronaire readings have been mostly within the desirable 35 to 49 range. During the past week, grades were 4% white, 66% lt. spotted, and 30% spotted. Grade 52 comprised 40%, grade 42 comprised 23%, grade 43 comprised 17%, and grade 53 accounted for 11% of the samples classed. Fiber length was 41% staple 30, 31% staple 31, and 18% staple 29. The average staple length for the week was 30.17. Micronaire readings were 97% within the 35 to 49 range, with the average mike being 42. About 11% of the samples were reduced in grade because of bark or grass content.

The Munday Marketing Services Office is scheduled to be opened on November 10, with Mr. John Waters in charge this season. (Telephone Number: AC 817 422-4252.)

Clark papers

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—The U.S. Supreme Court papers of the late Associate Justice Tom C. Clark have become the property of The University of Texas Law Library.

Justice Clark, who served on the Court from 1949 to 1967, held two degrees from UT Austin (B.A., 1921, and LL.B., 1922). He was the only Texan and UT graduate ever to have served on the U.S. Supreme Court.

His Court papers will be of value to legal scholars because his tenure on the bench came at a time of social upheaval in the U.S. Many of his papers reflect the issues with which the Court was faced.

These Pioneer® brand grain sorghum hybrids do well in our area.

846 — We still get many requests for this hybrid. And it still sets the standard in many operations. Dependable year after year with exceptional drought tolerance.

Let's get together soon.

Joint Venture Auction Provides $363,395 To Rehab

The Joint Venture for Crippled Children auction for 1980 was an outstanding success, announced Dick Bowen, JVCC chairman. Two oil wells were the focus at the second annual Joint Venture for Crippled Children oilfield equipment sale Wednesday, October 29th. The first was the "Black Gold Prospect," one-eighth interest in an oil well to be drilled this year in Nolan County, donated and auctioned by Abilene geologist John Chalmers, which sold for $42,000 to Wayne Moore-Guy McCarty and Associates. The second was a model of a gold-plated pumping unit complete with production derrick, heater treater and stock tanks. The model, donated to the sale in 1979 by Grady

Roberts of Triange Supply, has been designated as an "Annual Special." Purchaser, West Texas Marketing Corporation of Abilene, will keep the model for a year and return it to be sold in the 1981 JVCC sale. In 1979, the model was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Taylor, re-donated, and sold to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Brown. Purchase price this year was $25,000. Beneficiary in the sale of oilfield equipment, supplies, services and products is the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, a non-profit treatment facility for handicapped children and adults. More than 8,000 patients will receive treatment in 1980 without charge at WTRC's three campuses in Abilene, San Angelo, and Snyder. Proceeds from Wednesday's Sale will add $363,395 to the 1980 Joint Venture. The JVCC kick-off event, the Bob Hope and Friends Benefit Dinner, brought more than $119,000. The LaJet Golf Classic and cash donations, totaling more than $294,255 will help WTRC to meet its $2.7 million budget. Donating their services and staff for the auction were auctioneers Col. Rocky Ash of Clyde and Col. Stiles Belcher of Albany. One of the highest selling groups of items was 176,000 gallons of diesel fuel sold for an average of 88c per gallon. This fuel was donated by refineries throughout the nation for a total of $154,880.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

We will conclude our series of columns on the budget this week with the revenue portion of our budget. These figures are estimates just as the expenditures were estimates. The revenues to finance our schools comes from two sources—local and state. We will cover the local sources first. We estimated that our local ad valorem taxes would bring in $422,450 in the general operating fund and $26,350 in the interest and sinking fund (bonded indebtedness). This estimate is based on a district evaluation of $55,000,000, a tax rate of 0.85c, and a collection percentage of 95%. We estimated tuition revenues at $1500, earnings from investments at $5000 and rent (on two school owned houses) $1000. These figures make the estimated revenues from local sources $456,500. The state sources are monies we receive from the state foundation program. Generally, they are based on A.D.A. (average daily attendance). These sources include per capita (based strictly on ADA) $217,415. These monies come from revenue off the Texas Permanent School Fund. The salary and operation is based on ADA also. It is part of the Minimum Foundation Program. We estimate the revenues from this source at $417,405. The Compensatory Education is a program for special services and estimated at $13,200. The Driver Education will bring in $875 in revenues. Equalization aid (based on the local district's ability to pay in comparison with other districts of the state) is estimated at $24,894. Vocational agriculture and Homemaking is estimated at $1400. The state payment for sick leave is estimated $2000. The regular transportation revenue is estimated at $17,980 with vocational transportation at $3921. Vocational travel is estimated at $4200. E.S.E.A.—Title IV is estimated at $2394 (primarily library books).

We estimated our share of the tax relief reimbursement at $33,910. This figure represents about 45% of our exemptions for homestead and ag useage. This brings a total estimate of state revenues to $739,594. The estimated revenues from both state and local sources comes to $1,196,094. We do receive a larger percent of our revenues from state sources than from local sources.

Our cost per student of the total budget (not including bonded indebtedness) comes to $1,618,910. This figure is based on an estimated A.D.A. of 710. The total cost per student for instruction and instruction related categories is estimated at $1213.10.

This concludes our series of columns on the budget. We hope you have gained a better insight on how our schools are financed and how our monies are expended.

These Pioneer® brand cotton varieties do well in our area. To be sure you're getting genetically pure seed, buy only certified LX571 from Pioneer. Cotton growers in our area have come to know this variety for its dependability and excellent yield record. It produces fairly long, very uniform fiber with good strength and very good micronaire. And since it's a certified variety from a well-respected source like Pioneer, you can be sure the seed is pure and true-to-variety. No cocklebur problems. No worrying about low germination or other problems associated with select or caught seed. Certified PR75* — This outstanding newcomer will be in short supply, so don't wait and expect to get some later. PR75 is slightly less determinant and earlier maturing than LX571. And its performance record tells us it'll out-yield the old stand-by varieties in our area. It showed good seedling disease resistance and drought tolerance with outstanding resistance to bacterial blight. We're excited about this one!

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN — As price-conscious consumers, all of us are looking for bargains these days. However, as wary consumers, we don't want to get more than we bargained for.

For example—a newspaper ad might read: "One Day Only! Factory Direct Sale of Stereo Equipment! Saturday, 9 - 6. Hotel Blank, Room 100." The savings seem to be impressive, the equipment appears to be of good quality, and the company appears to be legitimate. But attorneys in my Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division urge caution before purchasing such a "bargain."

We have received reports that unscrupulous dealers of such merchandise may be travelling throughout the state misleading unsuspecting consumers. Indications are that these sales carry the elements necessary for potential consumer problems. The sponsors are often itinerant and have no local business address. However, they may provide a Texas address as a home office, and may or may not be operating under their correct name or the correct name of their business. To increase their air of respectability, they may issue warranty cards to be mailed to their home office address. After the sale, the sellers pack up and move to another location, where they may or may not operate under the same name.

The fact that they move on immediately after a sale could spell disaster for consumers. The address given for the home office may be fictitious, and the consumer may not find this out until the warranty card is returned by the post office marked "Undeliverable, return to sender." By that time, the seller is long gone and is untraceable. In that event, if the consumer finds the merchandise has been misrepresented or that it needs service, he may have a hard time obtaining any satisfaction.

My Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division attorneys are currently looking into complaints about these types of companies and urge you to contact the Austin office if you should have any questions about similar operations conducted in your area.

However, to avoid potential dissatisfaction with purchases made at all types of "itinerant" sales, we suggest the following tips:

—Compare the merchandise with the same type that can be bought locally.

—Check local, reputable dealers to see if they are familiar with the brand being sold.

—If possible, compare prices with identical or similar brands to be sure that you really are getting a bargain.

—Inquire about service under warranty. Can it be repaired locally? If so, what is their local service facility? Call them and verify this. If there is no local representative and the unit must be mailed to another city, the savings may be lost in postage expense and inconvenience.

—If the seller indicates that there is a home office, ask for a telephone number and call it to see if it is a working number.

—Remember most of these sales take place on the weekends so that you will not be able to contact the nearest Attorney General's Office or Better Business Bureau. It is also a convenient reason for the "home office" to be closed. Most of these fly-by-night operators rely on your inability to verify that they are not a legitimate business.

—Pay by check or charge card if possible. Paying by cash makes it almost impossible to trace the seller, but most banks require some form of identification to cash a check or to utilize bank charge cards.

—It is wise to assume that the sale is likely to be final and that you will have little recourse later. Be sure to examine very carefully the actual item you are purchasing. This way you can at least make sure the product is not damaged when you buy it and that there are no parts missing.

Remember, if you have information about a company such as the one that has been described, please contact the Attorney General's Office nearest you.

Funny or Unfunny

KEEP THOSE CARDS AND LETTERS COMING IN. The June issue of "FDA Consumer" contained a letter from 12-year-old Terry Jacobs to the FDA stating that he normally drinks at least two cans of diet soda a day. Terry had heard that saccharin used as a sweetener in soda could cause bladder cancer within 10 years, so in his letter he asked: "I don't particularly want to drop dead on my 22nd birthday. Could you please send me some information about recent rumors" regarding saccharin? The young man's inquiry received special attention. FDA Commissioner Jere Goyan personally responded with a long letter explaining that, despite some disagreement, the FDA believes saccharin might cause cancer and that Terry may be "flirting with trouble" by drinking two cans daily. The commissioner then assured Terry that taking his personal time to answer the boy's letter "was worth it because we were talking about you and the millions of young people like you." Well, not quite. According to Charles Sieb of the "Wall Street Journal," Terry never wrote the FDA. His letter was a fake, fabricated by the agency as a means of making their case against saccharin. Seib said. Edward Frantel, president of Seven-Up Co., a manufacturer of diet drinks, said: "I was under the impression that the events of the '70s had resulted in an upgrading of our political appointees. It appears I was mistaken."

USDA Soli Conservation Service

Conservation Viewpoints

Our New Home

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) and the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) are now situated in our new quarters. ASCS is 506 South 2nd St. and SCS is 510 South 2nd St. The building is located at the corner of South Avenue E (US 277) and South 2nd Street. There is plenty of parking in front of the offices off South 2nd Street. ASCS is the first door from the east end of the building and SCS is the second door from the east.

Wind Erosion Season

The count-down has begun. Officially, the annual wind erosion season started November 1. From now until the last of May, 1981, SCS personnel will be monitoring all wind storms that create soil movement.

The previous "blow season" resulted in approximately 127,500 acres of land being damaged. Twenty-one days from November, 1979 through May, 1980, the wind blew sufficiently strong enough to cause soil movement. The average length of each storm was seven hours. SCS has no way of determining the intensity of a wind storm, nor can we actually determine the amount of soil loss.

One-thirtieth (1/32) of an inch of sandy top soil from one acre of land is estimated to weigh 5 tons. This is less than the human eye can discern. When row middles begin to show an accumulation of soil particles, wind erosion has already surpassed most tolerable limits. When soil particles become suspended in the air, soil loss tolerances have been exceeded.

None of Haskell County soils have a soil loss tolerance of over 5 tons per acre. Many of our sandy soils will suffer a loss of from 15 to 20 tons per acre with each major wind storm.

A growing cover crop during the winter months is the best known protection from wind erosion. This can be any of the small grains that are normally grown in the Haskell area. Drilled winter legumes such as winter peas on the heavier soils or vetch on the sandy or lighter soils, furnishes excellent protection from wind erosion, and at the same time supplies nitrogen to the soil for the next crop.

Good to excellent protection can also be had by managing maize residues to leave all stalks standing after harvest or by shredding and lightly tucking material into the top inch or two of the soil surface.

Leaving soil bare during the winter and early spring months is inviting disaster.

Deep plowing or moldboard- ing does not help unless clod-forming material can be brought to and left on the soil surface.

Let me urge each farmer in the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District (All of Haskell County) to make every effort possible to protect your fields for the next seven months against soil loss and damage due to wind erosion. SCS personnel will be glad to discuss possible wind and water erosion control methods with you.

'Mexican Masks'

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—The definitive work on what is a dying art in Mexico—mask-making—has been published by The University of Texas Press.

The colorful new "Mexican Masks" is the work of the late Donald Cordry, artist, designer and ethnographer of Mexican Indians who over a 40-year period acquired a collections of the masks used in ancient ritual dances.

As a record of Mexico's peoples, cultures, religions and history, the masks reflect both the Christian face of the European tradition in Mexico and the older face of the Indian world.

MONSTROUS MUSICIAN

Among the many other spooks and ghouls seen at the HHS pep rally Friday was one rather hairy fellow with a talent for playing the tuba. Students appeared at the rally costumed for Halloween as a spirit-building device for their game against Monday Friday night.

UT To Research Fusion

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.)—A major signal that The University of Texas is destined to become one of the world's leading centers for basic fusion research has come in the form of a $5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Energy.

That sum, to be paid over five years and matched by UT Austin, will establish a new Institute for Fusion Studies.

The institute will engage in theoretical studies of nuclear fusion, the understanding and mastery of which can provide the basis for extracting energy from an almost inexhaustible source—water. One pitcher of water would contain enough "fuel" (from a deuterium found in sea water) to provide an average household with electricity for a year.

Reduced Dosage Of Strain 19 Now Used

Recent major changes in the Texas brucellosis program include a reduced dosage of Strain 19 vaccine and a change in vaccination ages for heifer calves, explains Max Stapleton, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The reduced dosage is believed to be as effective as the larger dose formerly given, say officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission. They point out that the larger dosage has been credited with causing some animals to be diagnosed as having brucellosis, when it may have been reaction to the vaccine itself.

"The reduced dose will help eliminate the confusion over levels of antibodies in the blood of the vaccinated animal," notes Stapleton.

Some animals have developed persisting residual blood titers after vaccination with the larger dose.

Titers, the agent explains, are measurements of antibodies resulting from vaccination or brucellosis infection. Titers induced by the vaccination using the reduced dose are lower and recede rapidly, although the degree of immunity is not different from that produced by the higher dosage.

With the reduced dosage comes a change in vaccination age. Previously official calfhood vaccination ages were 3 to 6 months for dairy heifers and 3 to 10 months for beef heifers. Now, the vaccination ages 4 to 12 months for all heifer calves. The state will provide funds for the vaccination of eligible calves.

Additionally, the use of whole herd vaccination is available for producers raising cattle in areas where there is a high risk of brucellosis. More details on this program are available from practicing veterinarians or the Texas Animal Health Commission.

These Pioneer® brand cotton varieties do well in our area. Certified LX571* — To be sure you're getting genetically pure seed, buy only certified LX571 from Pioneer. Cotton growers in our area have come to know this variety for its dependability and excellent yield record. It produces fairly long, very uniform fiber with good strength and very good micronaire. And since it's a certified variety from a well-respected source like Pioneer, you can be sure the seed is pure and true-to-variety. No cocklebur problems. No worrying about low germination or other problems associated with select or caught seed. Certified PR75* — This outstanding newcomer will be in short supply so don't wait and expect to get some later. PR75 is slightly less determinant and earlier maturing than LX571. And its performance record tells us it'll out-yield the old stand-by varieties in our area. It showed good seedling disease resistance and drought tolerance with outstanding resistance to bacterial blight. We're excited about this one!

Let's get together.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
The front-page editorial laced in black in the 10-30-80 edition of the Free Press deserves to be characterized. The presumptuousness and the officiousness of its tone is exceeded only by the unmitigated gall with which it is presented in the name of editorial integrity.

Sorry, sir; I suspect that every editorial integrity known to the human spirit is offended.

MIKANA WILCOX—THELMA WIRGES
F. W. Martin Memorial Award

Mikeana Wilcox Receives Award

Mikeana Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wilcox of Rule, was awarded the F. W. Martin Memorial Award at the Haskell County 4-H Awards Banquet October 6 in Haskell.

The F. W. Martin Memorial Award was established in 1977 by Mrs. Mary H. Martin in memory of her late husband, F. W. Martin. Mr. Martin was an employee of the Haskell County Extension Service for 22 years and was very devoted to 4-H club work. After his death, it was Mrs. Martin's desire to keep his devotion and love for 4-H alive in Haskell County; thus she began this annual award.

This award is given to a 4-H member who has shown scholastic excellence and leadership ability and has exhibited service, responsibility and good citizenship in club, school, home, church, and community but who has not yet received a high 4-H honor. The presentation of this award is one of the highlights of the County 4-H Awards Banquet, and all 4-H'ers look forward to the revealing of this special honor.

This year at the banquet, Miss Thelma Wirges, District Extension Director from Vernon, presented the award to Mikeana for her outstanding work in her 4-H club, in her school and in her church and community. Miss Wirges worked with Mr. Martin when she was in Haskell County.

Mikeana is 15 years old and a Sophomore at Rule High School. She has been a 4-H member since she was 9 years old.

Mikeana has carried projects in foods and nutrition, clothing, sheep, beef cattle, and public speaking. She has placed 2nd at both the District Fashion Revue and Food Show. She has shown steers at almost every major livestock show in Texas, recently winning Grand Champion honors at the Haskell County Fair. She has won the District Public Speaking Contest for 4 years, going on to the State Contest twice. In 1979 she placed 9th at State. This year she was unable to participate in the State Contest because of illness. Mikeana has shared her 4-H knowledge with younger 4-H'ers by serving as a junior leader in both foods and clothing.

Mikeana is very active in her school's activities. She is a member of the drill team, Beta Club, and F.H.A. where she is serving as an officer. She has participated in U.I.L. oral reading, number sense, and calculated contests.

She is an active member of the Rule Church of Christ.

Mikeana has shown great achievement in her 4-H work, school work, and community and church activities, which entitled her to receive the F. W. Martin Memorial Award.

HOW WE'RE HELPING YOU HOLD DOWN YOUR UTILITY BILLS.

Again in 1979, for the fourth straight year, Lone Star Gas did a better job of controlling distribution expenses than any of the other major intrastate gas utilities in Texas.*

These expenses include maintenance and repairs, leases on offices and facilities, supplies and many other items.

Controlling our expenses is one way we can save you money. And we'll be working just as hard in 1980 to hold down the price you pay for natural gas service.

*Annual reports filed with the Texas Railroad Commission, 1976-1977-1978-1979, based on the operating expenses of the total Texas distribution system.

Rice Springs News

As I'm writing this, we are making big preparations for our big Halloween Party which will contain a tacky contest for both the residents and staff and also a carnival with all kinds of booths. We are all really looking forward to it and hope both the residents and staff will have a good, fun evening. The next column that I write, I will give you details on everything that went on.

Mary Bradley was a patient in the Haskell Hospital for a week for some tests, but she has got to return to the home.

We are happy to welcome another new resident to the home. She is Thelma Gore of Stamford. We hope she enjoys being a part of our home.

We have had several to celebrate their birthdays since I last reported the news. They were Bonnie Buntyn who celebrated hers on the 17th, A.C. Boggs and Lena Stiewert on the 22nd, and Maggie Martin on the 25th.

We are happy to welcome some more new volunteers to our home. They are the UMW from the First United Methodist Church in Rule. They did a fine job singing and Rev. David gave a real good devotional, and we really did enjoy the good french harp playing by Lena Rose. We are looking forward to their coming each month. The GA's of the Rule First Baptist Church also came and presented a good musical program for our residents and visitors. We are looking forward to their coming back at some future time.

We have also really enjoyed Laura Overton coming out the past couple of weeks and playing the piano for the enjoyment of the residents and staff. We've even had some to get up and dance to her good music. We don't want to forget our regular volunteers and to say how much we appreciate them. They were the Haskell Church of Christ, Trinity Baptist Church, First Baptist of Haskell WMU, William Hodge, Martin Jacobsen, Jo Simpson, and the Sweet Home Singers. We thank all our volunteers for their continued help in making our residents time so much more pleasant and we always welcome any new volunteers that would like to come out.

We were glad to have a good many visitors the past couple of weeks. Our out-of-county visitors were:

Visiting Babe Lewis were Jean Baugh of Old Glory, Margaret and Lisa Coker of Fort Worth, and Jenny DeWitt of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Jones of Abilene and Mildred Jones of Plains visited in the home.

Training Session Held For Parent Advisory Councils

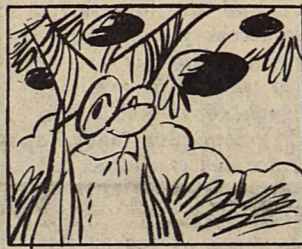

A training session for Parent Advisory Councils of Title I and migrant programs was held in the Rule High School Cafeteria, October 28, 1980.

Councils from Rule, Weinert, Knox City, Aspermont and Haskell attended. The Haskell PAC members attending were: Mrs. Irene Segura, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Anguiano, Mrs. Jeanie Stout, Mrs. Billie Reynolds, Mrs. Deane Owens, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, Mrs. Brenda Bynum, Mrs. Janice Browning, Bill Blakley and James Lanier.

The meeting was conducted by the Region XIV Education

Service center as a training session for parents and school personnel elected to Parent Advisory Councils. Joe Lopez, from the Texas Education Agency, informed the PAC members of the purposes of the Council and their responsibilities. He also explained the many services available through the Federally funded programs. Procedures by which complaints can be processed were discussed. The program concluded with a question and answer session.

These Pioneer® brand cotton varieties do well in our area.

Certified LX571* — To be sure you're getting genetically pure seed, buy only certified LX571 from Pioneer. Cotton growers in our area have come to know this variety for its dependability and excellent yield record. It produces fairly long, very uniform fiber with good strength and very good micronaire. And since it's a certified variety from a well-respected source like Pioneer, you can be sure the seed is pure and true-to-variety. No cocklebur problems. No worrying about low germination or other problems associated with select or caught seed.

Certified PR75* — This outstanding newcomer will be in short supply, so don't wait and expect to get some later. PR75 is slightly less determinant and earlier maturing than LX571. And its performance record tells us it'll out-yield the old stand-by varieties in our area. It showed good seedling disease resistance and drought tolerance with outstanding resistance to bacterial blight. We're excited about this one!
