

The realization of how handy mothers and wives are occurred this weekend when I had an opportunity to play those rolls in addition to a more familiar father roll.

About July when I agreed to take Jennifer for a weekend at the deer lease, I falsely assumed that by deer season she would forget about the whole idea. That was mistake number one.

As the time drew closer her plans grew more lengthy and increased from a simple trip to the deer lease to include such side excursions as a stop to see Santa and tours of almost every town between Haskell and Ozona to look at Christmas lights.

Another problem in the schedule occurred because of the joy for a three year-old to use the bathroom beside the road instead of service station restrooms. The logic soon became apparent that service stations are where you buy a Coke so you can stop more often beside the road.

The entire weekend was very educational and enjoyable but during the nine hour trip home I made a silent promise to carry a sign in the next ERA march to keep from having to be a full-time keeper of the kids.

Christmas Activities Set In Rule

The Rule homes will be judged for their outside Christmas decorations tonight, December 18.

Boys and girls entering the Pet Parade will be outside the bank no later than 2:45 on Saturday.

The Pet Parade will begin at 3:00 p.m. and will be followed by Santa's entry on a fire truck and the Christmas Program. The drawing will be held between 4:00 and 4:15 p.m.

Winners in the home decoration and Pet Parade will be announced at the drawing.

Christmas Edition

The Haskell Free Press will be printed Tuesday of next week and deadlines for all news and advertising has been set for noon Monday.

Haskell Sheriff Pleads Guilty

Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett pled guilty to Official Misconduct in District Court Monday.

According to State law, official misconduct is defined as a public official refraining from performing a duty that is imposed on him by law or that is clearly inherent in the nature of his office or employment.

Sheriff Garrett pled guilty to an indictment returned by a Haskell County Grand Jury in August for failure to arrest a fugitive on an Arizona warrant.

According to attorneys Will Flowers and Dan Mills of the Texas Attorney General's Office, who assisted in the State's presentation of the case, Garrett will be removed from office at the time of official sentencing.

DPS Urges Safe Holiday Travel

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, warned that many lives may be lost to traffic accidents during the Christmas and New Year's holiday periods.

Major Bell noted that the Christmas-New Year's season is traditionally one of the most dangerous driving periods. The problem is increased by the large number of people taking holiday trips and driving to "seasonal" parties. The majority of these traffic deaths will be caused by the drinking driver or from excessive speed. Major Bell said, "In order to spare the Texas people all this grief and misery, all motorists should stay within the 55 speed limit and above all don't drink and drive."

"All available troopers will be on duty to try and cut down on the high death toll," Major Bell stated, "But most of the responsibility is in the hands of the motorists." One mistake can lead to an accident and any accident can lead to death.

Major Bell concluded by saying "It is the sincere wish of the Texas Department of Public Safety that all citizens enjoy a safe and happy holiday season."

Haskell Schools To Close For Holidays

Haskell Schools will be closed for the Christmas holidays on Friday, December 19th at 2:15 p.m. Classes will resume on January 5th at the regular time.

The tax office will be closed from December 19th to December 29th. It will be open from December 29th through December 31st. The office will then close from January 1st to January 5th. Hours will be from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

term Nov. 4 in a close write-in contest.

The plea to the official misconduct charge came Monday morning about one hour before a jury was to be selected to hear another case against the sheriff.

The plea was entered after a plea bargain agreement was reached which stipulated that Garrett be fined $250.00. Other agreements in the plea bargain were that the sheriff make restitution of $165.27 with a letter of explanation to Haskell County. The money will be submitted at the next Commissioner's Court meeting scheduled December 23. The money and letter will be submitted to the County in connection with another indictment against the sheriff concerning misuse of County credit cards.

Other agreements in the plea bargain were that four other indictments against the sheriff would be dismissed following official sentencing.

When asked if the sheriff could continue to serve, District Attorney Joseph Thigpen said, "That is a question that can only be answered upon a proper request, in proper form, to a proper court for its determination and should not be decided in hallways, upon street corners or in local coffee shops."

Garrett was represented by Davis Scarborough.

ECC Fund Continues

Donations to the building fund of the Experienced Citizens Center continue to be received.

Donations of $75.00 were received this week bringing the total of the fund to $4,496.00.

Donations received this week were from:

Mr. and Mrs. O.E. Linton; Mrs. T.E. Tibbets; Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Speer; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dean and Lendy Dendy.

SANTA LETTERS

Letters to Santa Claus will again be published in the Free Press in the edition prior to Christmas.

Letters should be in the office by noon December 18. Following their preparation for printing, the letters will be forwarded to the North Pole.

Firemen Honored At Annual Banquet

Active and retired members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and their wives were honored Monday night at the annual Christmas Party.

Chief Tom Watson served as master of ceremonies and presented service badges to four members of the department. The service badges are presented to members after each five years of service in the department. Receiving badges Monday were: Bill Comedy, 10 years; Wayne Wainscott, 20 years; E.J. Stewart, 30 years; and Dugan Starr, 40 years.

During the annual report, supervisor Satch Lusk told those attending that the department had answered 91 calls during the year. 50 of the calls were outside the city limits and seven of the total were general alarms.

He also stated that because of a low fire loss this year, the city should receive an additional 5% credit on fire insurance rates.

Lusk also recognized various members of the department for outstanding records of attendance during the year.

Special music was provided by Carolyn Everett and Delight Jones who were accompanied by Ellen Reiger.

The Rev. Mike McKinney, pastor of the First Baptist Church, provided the program.

Goodfellow Donations Needed

Persons who wish to donate new or repairable toys to the goodfellow fund should leave them at the Haskell Fire Station as soon as possible.

Project coordinators need to have ample time to compare what toys have been donated with those needed.

Donations to the fund continue to be received with the total now at $442.50. Donations received this week amounted to $272.50.

Donations received this week were from:
 Haskell IOOF Lodge $25.00

Choose Gifts With Safety In Mind

Keep safety in mind when shopping for Christmas gifts this season.

Choosing the right gift means giving close attention to its safe design as well as selecting the right product for a person's needs, points out Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Many injuries result from use of defective, poorly designed or unsafe products as well as from using products for other than their intended design. So, before making a purchase, check a product for any potential hazards and make sure you get the right product for the right use, cautions Nelson.

Inform yourself about products by checking information brochures, catalogs and consumer product rating publications. Inspect the product for quality of workmanship and proper shielding of hazardous parts, advises the engineer. Read the warranty and look for labels stating that the equipment meets certain standards.

Since the advent of the Consumer Product Safety Act, product safety has generally improved, contends Nelson. The Act basically states that consumer products must be free of hazards encountered during normal intended use as well as during reasonable foreseeable misuse. This means that a product must not only be free of sharp edges, electrical shorts, pinch points and other hazards encountered during normal use, but manufacturers must also anticipate common abuses of their products and design them accordingly or warn consumers of misuse hazards.

By being an informed consumer and shopping for products wisely, you will protect those on your Christmas gift list and make their holiday season even more joyous.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

While I had written that I would conclude the report on our Title I program in this column, I think I need to postpone that to deal with a more pertinent issue. Vandalism has again raised its ugly head to injure the image of our school.

All of us know that we definitely have a "class" group of students in Haskell. Those of us who have lived and taught in other areas particularly appreciate this fact. However, we have a few who, for some unknown reason, think it is great fun or revenge or whatever to break into the school and do damage such as breaking glass, throwing books on the floor or damaging equipment.

I might better understand this if things of value were stolen. However, very few items have been taken in the past and none have been taken this year. In my opinion, people who do these acts of vandalism have a serious problem. They are in need of help. One of the principal methods of help is discipline from parents and authorities.

As best that we can determine, each of these acts of vandalism have occurred in the early hours of the morning while most people are replenishing their energy level by sleep. The old television line that used to flash across screens at night might be appropriate. "Parents, do you know where your children are?"

The school is forced to protect itself from these attacks of vandalism. We have a well defined vandalism policy which is in each student's handbook. In addition, we are pledged to file a complaint in the court system. Also, the school is still offering a reward of $500 for information leading to the conviction of anyone guilty of vandalism of school property.

These measures may seem extreme, but one must remember that it is nearly impossible to secure a building as large as a school building from entry. The best method of prevention, of course, is education and pride.

We are working diligently at this. Hopefully, we will never have to invoke the extreme measures mentioned above. Remember, as I stated in the first of this column, most of our students are great kids with tremendous pride. Hopefully, with the cooperation of the parents, the school, and local law enforcement the shadow of doubt placed on the whole by a few can be removed.

In another vein, I would like to place accolades on another group this week, our Spanish-American population. Under the law, we are forced to survey all Spanish families to find out the primary language spoken in the home. This is not a local policy but a state law. The Spanish-American parents have responded beautifully. We do appreciate you and your support. Hopefully, something good will come out of this to help students.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish each of you a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year!

Scientists fear that poor nutrition may hinder vaccine

COLLEGE STATION — Medical researchers at Texas A&M University have begun a new round of tests which may prove the world's only vaccine for tuberculosis loses its punch in poor countries where the disease kills millions of young children and infants each year.

Texas A&M immunologist Dr. David McMurray said previous tests indicate deficiencies in protein, zinc and calorie intake — alone and in combination — greatly hinder the body's defense against infection from TB.

Two Attend ATPE Convention

Two educators and one paraprofessional from Haskell attended the state convention of the Association of Texas Professional Educators in Austin recently.

A full day of in-service programs was provided on Friday, Dec. 12, ranging in scope from a workshop entitled "My Students Can't Read; What Can I do?" to a session on practical help for teachers who have gifted students in their classes.

Dr. Willis Tate, president emeritus of Southern Methodist University and currently the chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Public Education, delivered the keynote address to more than 800 delegates from across the state.

In his remarks Dr. Tate emphasized the need for the return to more local control of public education in Texas. He also called for an end to social promotion but pointed out that if this practice is terminated then the remedial programs will have to be expanded.

Beverly Joyce Bimes, who was selected National Teacher of the Year in a program sponsored by Encyclopedia Britannica, Good Housekeeping Magazine, and the Council of Chief State School Officers, presented workshops on dealing with stress as it relates to the teaching profession. Bimes is a high school English teacher from St. Louis, Mo.

Other highlights of the two-day meeting included the election of new state officers and the discussion of legislative goals pertinent to education.

ATPE represents nearly 30,000 educators and is led by President Alafair Hammett. Hammett, who teaches junior high math in Santa Rosa, began her thirtieth year in the classroom this fall.

Delegates who attended from Haskell were Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Hot and Wayne Phemister.

Extra Care Urged During Winter Driving

Winter driving on wet, icy, or snow covered roads is different and drivers should prepare themselves by "cold proofing" their vehicles and adjusting driving habits, according to Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety. "Batteries, tires, windshield wiper blades, and anti-freeze are items that need to be checked. Weak batteries should be replaced, tires should have good deep treads, and good wiper blades are vital in winter when visibility is poor," he said.

Safe driving in winter requires more patience, so Major Bell advises the motorist to start early, adjust their speed for road and traffic conditions and avoid sudden driving maneuvers. Major Bell said, "Skidding on slick roads is a major accident factor and is usually caused by driving too fast for conditions or from locking wheels when drivers slow down."

Bell stated that if a skid occurs, the driver needs to ease off the accelerator, then turn into the skid. If your car's rear end slides left, turn your steering wheel to the left; for right skids, turn right. Pump your brakes if necessary; don't lock them.

He emphasized that impatience won't get you to your destination any faster. Patience won't get you there any faster either, but he said, "It'll sure make the trip more pleasant and safe."

DRIVELINE

Now that winter weather is coming, think about these foul weather driving tips:

1. Use low beams when driving in fog.
2. Slow down in the rain. The road surface is slippery. At certain speeds your car's tires actually ride on a film of water and lose contact with the surface of the road. This is called hydroplaning and can produce an uncontrollable skid.
3. Avoid sudden moves, swerves or turns on wet roads. Ditto for sudden stops. Slow and steady is the way to do it.

Maintenance Tip: During cold weather, many cars have starting problems. Often it's not the battery that's at fault. The problem may be somewhere in the ignition system or carburetor. A simple tune-up can help considerably.

How many passengers does the average auto carry? The answer — 1.5 people. According to one estimate, if the average rush hour commuter could car pool with just one other person, America would save 250,000 barrels of oil a day.

NIGHT VISION . . . It takes your eyes about twenty minutes to readjust to night driving conditions after you've left a brightly lit house or restaurant.

Understanding Your Child

TV Time—A Problem In Your Home?

It's easy to unplug your kids from the TV with a simple new device.

If you're having a problem ungluing your children from the television set, you're not alone. According to a recent Nielsen Report, children two through five average over 31 hours a week watching television; children six through 11 average about 27 hours.

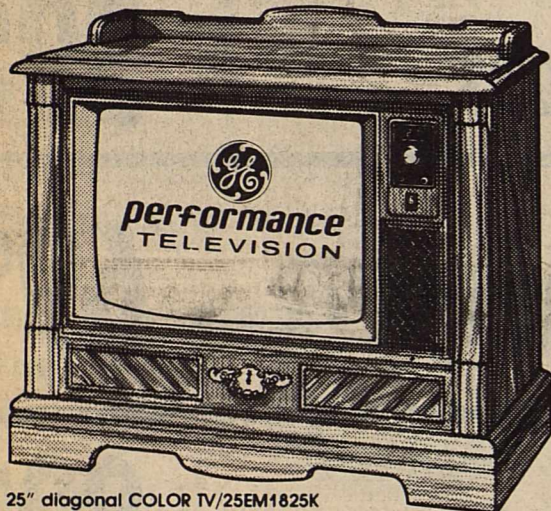

When children watch too much TV, the experts say, their creative ability diminishes and they don't play as much with their friends. Happily, an innovative idea that will help limit the time some kids watch TV has recently been devised. It's a small plastic, inexpensive device that encases the plug so it cannot be inserted into an outlet. A key is needed to release the mechanism. The unique device, called Plug-Lok, gives you control of your youngster's television time and gives your youngster more time to play games, have conversations, discover books, do homework, listen to music and help with chores. It can also be used to lock up dangerous appliances and power tools.

Parents who've used the device say there's less resentment from their children than was expected and after the first day or two they found plenty of fun projects to occupy their time. Kids even learn to be more selective about the programs they watch. The Plug-Lok is available only in sets of two for $5.95 from the Kenny Company, P.O. Box 9132-A, St. Louis, MO 63117. The price includes postage and tax.

Scholarships Offered To Foreign Exchange Students

Youth for Understanding (YFU) is offering scholarship opportunities for American high school students interested in spending next summer in Japan.

Youth for Understanding, one of the largest teenage student exchange organizations in the world, will award more than $60,000 in partial scholarships to qualified high school students between the ages of 14 and 18. A total of 315 American high school students will be going to Japan through the YFU program, leaving home in mid June and returning in mid August. Youth for Understanding has exchanged more than 80,000 high school students since its establishment in 1951.

The scholarships will be awarded primarily on the basis of merit, although need may be taken into account. Among those providing funding for the scholarships are the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and many well-known Japanese companies including: Toyota, Datsun, Mitsubishi Motors, Seiko, Hitachi, Nippon Steel, Toshiba, SONY, Sanyo, Honda, Pioneer, Kikkoman and Minolta.

According to YFU President John Richardson, Jr., former U.S. Assistant Secretary of State for Educational and Cultural Affairs, the sponsors of the scholarships believe that greater understanding between Japan and the U.S. will result from affording young Americans the unique opportunity to live with Japanese host families and to experience Japanese culture firsthand.

Before leaving for Japan, the students will attend a three day orientation which will introduce them to Japanese culture and tradition. The program also includes expense-paid Fall seminars for most participants for three years following the summer exchange experience. This enables students to continue to develop their understanding and appreciation of Japanese life.

Youth for Understanding is a non-profit educational organization dedicated to promoting greater international understanding by making it possible for young people to have an overseas family-living experience. Each year the organization exchanges about 7,500 students with 25 countries.

Interested students should apply immediately in order to be considered for this special scholarship opportunity prior to the February 15, 1981 deadline.

For more information on this or other YFU exchange opportunities, including programs in Europe, Australia, South America and the Far East, write to the following address: Youth for Understanding Student Exchange Program, Japan Scholarship Program, 3501 Newark Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20016. Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

More than a year and a half ago, I became the first Senator to call for a tax cut, a carefully-targeted tax cut to help get this country back on the road to prosperity. Since that time, the ranks around me have swelled.

Today President Carter, President-elect Reagan, members of the Senate Finance Committee, and countless other members of Congress have joined with me in calling for a tax cut effective 1981.

They have united behind the need for a dramatically new kind of tax cut which stresses savings and investment. From the outset, I've been advocating this so-called "supply-side" tax cut that will boost production instead of consumption.

It is a turnaround from the traditional kind of tax cuts we've seen since World War Two—the kind that merely encourages people to spend.

It would have been far preferable for Congress to approve a tax cut this year, rather than deciding to wait till next year. But there's nothing to be done about it now, except to push for enactment at the earliest possible time in 1981. We did succeed in making provision for a 1981 tax cut in the second budget resolution, which has now been approved by Congress.

Even though we didn't pass a tax reduction this year, we have made enormous progress over the past several months in convincing Doubting Thomases not only of the need to cut taxes, but to do it in a different way than has been done in the past. Along the way, we also have managed to pass a bill here and there.

We took an important step in encouraging Americans to save and invest, for example, with the signing into law of the Bentsen Small Savers Tax Exemption. Starting in 1981, it excludes from income taxes the first $200 a person earns in savings account interest or dividends, or the first $400 for a married couple filing a joint return.

Increased savings and investment is vital if America is to rebuild its productive capacity and create more jobs.

Earlier this year, a number of Senators joined me in co-sponsoring a resolution supporting the need for a tax cut. They endorsed the workable kind of tax policy long advocated by the Joint Economic Committee, of which I'm Chairman.

During my Chairmanship the Committee has shown remarkable unity, with all of its members signing the four major reports of the past two years. Prior to that time, the Joint Economic Committee hadn't issued a unified report in 20 years.

Over the past two years, Committee members have cast aside partisan differences and joined in explaining the need to completely revamp this country's tax policy if we expect to stabilize our economy, reduce inflation and create the jobs required to keep Americans at work.

In our most recent report, the Committee stressed the need for a tax policy that will spur savings and investment so we can put new tools in the hands of American workers. We must do this to gain a competitive edge on our trading partners in the world marketplace.

The Senate Finance Committee made a good start in this direction by including in its tax legislation my bill to spur investment by allowing accelerated depreciation on equipment and machinery and on commercial structures.

The tax bill also offered $22 billion in cuts to individual taxpayers, much of it along lines I proposed. For example, it would reduce the so-called marriage tax "penalty" and would help compensate people whose Social Security taxes will go up next month.

As a member of the Senate Finance Committee, I'm going to continue working to enact such tax policies when Congress returns next month. I intend to work closely with incoming Chairman Robert Dole and other Committee members, in a bipartisan effort, to forge the kind of tax policy that is in the best interests of our nation.

Farabee To Sponsor Bill For Teacher Certification

Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls pre-filed legislation requiring testing prior to teacher certification and entrance into an approved teaching program. The bill is a result of findings by the Commission on Standards for the Teaching Profession which was created by the last Session of the Legislature.

"Senate Bill 50 is an effort to improve the quality of education by upgrading the standards for teacher certification," Farabee said. "In providing for tests on two levels, the bill helps to insure qualified, competent teachers for our public school children. Past test scores in public schools have indicated a need for improvement, and I feel that efforts such as SB 50 will help meet those needs," Farabee continued.

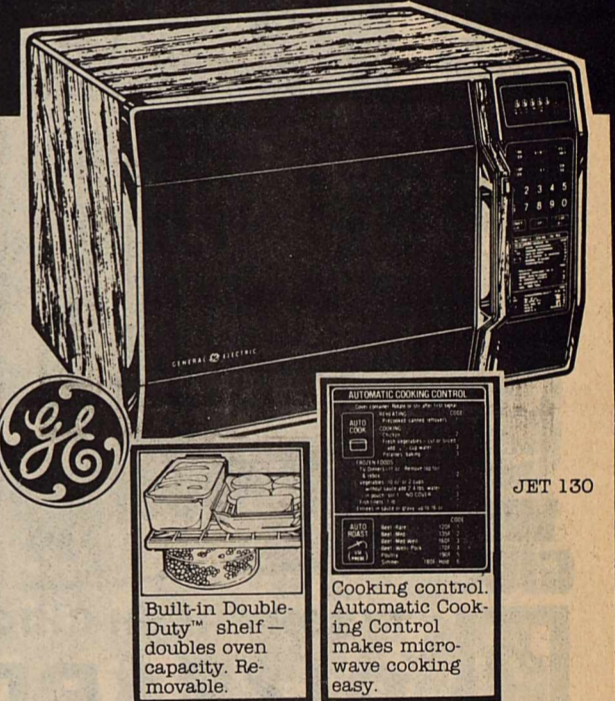

The 67th Legislature convening in January, 1981 will appropriate additional funds to improve teacher salaries and assistance to local school districts to alleviate burdens on the property tax. "Teacher testing alone will not insure quality education. Other resources such as improved salaries and increased parent participation must be utilized to insure quality education for our children," Farabee emphasized.

Farabee's proposal charges the State Board of Education with prescribing classes of teaching certificates to be issued, determining the time period for issuance of an initial certificate or the renewal of an existing certificate, and requiring satisfactory performance on a competency test prescribed by the Board as a condition to admission into an approved teacher education program as well as requiring satisfactory performance after graduation on a competency test as a condition to full teacher certification. The bill "grandfathers" existing teachers and those already enrolled in teaching programs.

WTU Granted Local Utility Rate Increase

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has approved a settlement agreement which authorizes West Texas Utilities Company to raise its rates, effective December 15.

The agreement was reached by WTU and a number of intervenors, including 15 cities in its service area, after several days of negotiations. Stipulations in the settlement were based almost entirely on recommendations of the PUC staff.

The compromise agreement will amount to an average increase of 6.2 per cent in WTU's rates, compared to the 8.27 per cent requested in an application filed by WTU September 30. The amount allowed is almost the same as the company's only previous rate increase which was implemented in 1973.

The increase in annual revenue will amount to $9,547,192, compared to the $12,729,691 the Company had requested.

The new rates will go into effect automatically in unincorporated areas and in 26 cities which had denied the increase and had their cases appealed to the PUC. The other 55 incorporated cities in the WTU service area had suspended action on the rates and are expected to approve the PUC's decision.

Haskell is one of the towns which suspended action.

The new rates will vary for different customer classifications, based on cost of operations for each class. Residential customers will pay 6.6 per cent more, commercial customers 1.1 percent more, industrial customers 9.4 per cent more and municipals 20.8 per cent more.

The new residential rate is 4.54 cents per kilowatt hour, compared to the present average of 4.26 cents. This means the average residential customer, who presently uses 702 kilowatt hours per month, will see his bill increase from $29.94 to $31.90.

Sue Pate local manager said the Company is generally satisfied with the outcome of the rate case, although the settlement is for considerably less than has been sought.

"We are pleased that WTU and our customers were able to settle on a friendly basis without getting involved in a lengthy and costly hearing," she said.

Computers take to the fields

COLLEGE STATION — Engineers and scientists at Texas A&M are beating computers into plowshares, devising ways for a computer to describe a living plant.

They believe the capability will lead to higher food and fiber yields at lower cost, said Dr. Guy L. Curry. One result has been BUGNET, a computer-based antipest system used by county agricultural extension agents in advising farmers.

Trap Skunks For Safe Removal

In rural areas where skunks find plenty of food and shelter away from man, they do little harm and in fact, are very beneficial to farmers and ranchers because of the harmful animals that they do consume. The diet of skunks consists of 50% insects and grubs, 25% mice and other small rodents, 10% vegetable matter, and 15% a mixture of spiders, millipedes, centipedes, reptiles, amphibians, birds and eggs.

However, when these animals den in areas close to man, their foul-smelling musk (a clear, golden yellow sulfide fluid known as n-butyl mercaptan) is a disturbing nuisance. Another problem stemming from population of skunks is that they, along with foxes, are a major rabies reservoir and can infect domestic animals as well as people. Skunks that are out in the daytime or that are aggressive should be treated with caution for they could be suffering from a transmissible disease.

In many Texas cities and towns, skunks sometimes live under houses or outbuildings. The safest means of removing the animal is to trap it, and the common garbage can may be used as the trap. The garbage can is placed in an area frequented by the skunks. Then, the lid is removed, and bait such as pork tallow, old hamburger, or sardines is placed inside with a wide board propped on the can to form a ramp which will allow the skunk to walk up to the rim of the can.

After he jumps down to eat the bait, he will not be able to get back out of the can so the lid can be replaced and the animal transported to a safe place or destroyed. Normally, skunks will not release their scent in a dark, enclosed space so there is less chance of scent contamination when the garbage can trap is used.

For further information on the habits and the control of skunks, contact your local Wildlife Damage Control Specialist at 767-4981 at Wichita Falls.

Stenholm Names New Aid

Winston L. Wilson, Quannah native and former Deputy Undersecretary of Agriculture for Commodity Programs, has been named to the top administrative position on Congressman Charles W. Stenholm's staff, it was announced here today.

Wilson will replace James E. Morgan as Administrative Assistant in Stenholm's Washington office. Morgan, who began work with Stenholm at the beginning of the Congressman's service in Washington, will return to DeLeon to reenter private law practice.

"Replacing a top Administrative Assistant is no easy chore," Stenholm said, "but I really feel the entire 17th Congressional District is fortunate that someone of Winston's capabilities will be working with us."

Wilson is a graduate of Quannah High School and received his B.S. and M.S. in agricultural economics from Texas A&M University. While at A&M, he was a member of the Alpha Zeta Honorary Fraternity and chairman of the Graduate Student Department Committee. In high school, he was State Farmer in the Future Farmers of America and winner of the Texas State Fair Youth Award.

While in Quannah, Wilson was president of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the board of the First United Methodist Church and a director of 4-Winds Industrial Foundation.

He is a past member of the board of the Texas Wheat Producers Assn., past president of the Texas Wheat Producers Board and past president of the National Assn. of Wheat Growers.

Wilson is a partner with his father in operation of a 5,500-acre wheat, cotton and pasture cattle operation, a partner in the F.B. Wrinkle Grain Co. of Goodlett, Tx., and a director of the First National Bank of Quannah.

"Needless to say, Winston's wide agricultural experience makes him a tremendous asset to me with my work on the House Agriculture Committee," Stenholm said. "We'll be hitting the ground running, with work starting immediately on formulating the 1981 Farm Bill, as well as other legislative priorities."

Shortage Pushes Up Price Of Peanuts

AUSTIN—Texas peanuts are bringing record high prices because of severe crop shortages and other problems in major producing states, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

SEVERE CROP SHORTAGES and other problems are driving peanut prices up this year, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported. The Texas peanut crop is expected to be 48 percent below 1979.

The government price support is $455 per ton, and buyers are paying bonuses of $450 and up just to get peanuts to satisfy contracts. Texas growers have never seen $700 to $900 a ton peanuts," Brown said. "In a few cases, the price has reached $1100 a ton."

The Texas harvest is expected to be 48 percent below last year with 275 million pounds. The total U. S. crop is projected to be 42 percent below the 1979 crop at 2.3 billion pounds.

"There just aren't enough peanuts around to satisfy the demand. Storage peanuts have all been committed. So farmers with peanuts to sell can just about set their price," Brown said.

The Commissioner alerted consumers that now is the time to stock up on peanut butter. Texas peanuts are used mainly in peanut butter, candies, and baked goods.

The drought is mainly responsible for the short crop in Texas. Poor growing conditions in the Southeast, coupled with unusually high aflatoxin problems there, have created the shortage.

Texas has had a very low rate of aflatoxin in graded peanuts, currently averaging only 1.2 percent of the harvested crop. Southeastern states have had rates ranging from 10 to 35 percent. Aflatoxin is a mold which can make the commodity unfit for human consumption.

Consumer OD's On Late Night TV

BY GINA JENNINGS

I had a project going the other night and I stayed up late to finish it.

Since everyone else in the house had long been asleep I, typical American that I am, left the t.v. on to keep me company.

A very old movie was showing, a movie of the type only shown after midnight. It was the story of a man progressively driving his wife (played by a very young Ingrid Bergman) insane.

I tend to be rather schizoid late at night anyway however, I thought I was doing rather well until they started interrupting the movie every four minutes or so with Romco commercials.

Now the movie was supposed to be a thrilling horror picture but it was not nearly as horrifying as those commercials.

Every four minutes the announcer breathlessly hawked all kinds of gismos and whatchamacallits in a distressingly urgent fashion.

Sociologist finds that Texas women outnumber the men

COLLEGE STATION — Texans can expect to see more of the state's wealth controlled by women who survive their husbands, says a Texas A&M University sociologist.

"Between 1960 and 1970, the number of widows in Texas increased by about 100,000, and the number of widowers declined by more than 2,000, notes Dr. R. L. Skrabanek, "Texas had 540,000 widows and only 80,000 widowers in 1976, and the number of widows appears likely to increase."

Skrabanek also found that single females outnumbered single males, and that has implications for marriage and voting patterns as well.

"The fact that females outnumbered males in Texas indicates that the state's population is maturing in composition and that industrialization is rapidly modifying what was a predominantly rural state," he said.

He offered, for example, a mold for "Ornamental Ice" in vocal tones suggesting people the world over had been clamoring for such an invention.

In the whole of my 27 years I have never had a need for a block of ice shaped like a giant fish or a 45-lb swan. Nor had I ever anticipated the need for such until that announcer urged me to rush to the phone and call a toll-free number so my order would not be delayed.

For the next four minutes, I watched Ingrid Bergman get crazier and worried about my next party. I could just hear all the whispering and tittering of my guests as they noticed the glaring absence of any "Ornamental Ice."

My party worries were increased during the next commercial when a balding gentleman in a plaid tie lispily informed me that "no holiday celebration would be complete without Chateau Something-or-other" which just happened to be Dinkie's Wine of the Week.

It was hard to believe that one could get a quality wine for 75 cents a gallon but then I know nothing about wine. Apparently this man had good taste in wines. Hopefully he had better taste in wines than he did in ties.

As Ingrid Bergman flickered across the screen in black and white, clawing at the walls like a maniac, I worried that the only pieces of ice in the house were just ordinary cube shapes and about not having at least 4 gallons of Chateau Whatever and about that poor man's lip.

As if I didn't have enough problems, the Romco announcer then returned with another absolute necessity. It was a musical wrist-watch alarm. For just $14.98 I could choose a watch that played "Happy Birthday," "The Blue Danube Waltz," or "Won't You Come Home Bill Bailey."

For the next four minutes, I watched as Ingrid Bergman screamed and tore at her hair and wondered how I was ever satisfied with a watch that just went tick-tick-tick...

After two or three more Dinkie's commercials, I began to be obsessed with getting that man to a speech therapist.

As the men in the white coats came for Ingrid Bergman I must have OD'ed on American Consumerism and blacked out.

I remember nothing after that.

My husband says he found me in front of the t.v., staring at the test pattern with glazed eyes, an ice cube tray in my lap, a plaid tie around my neck, babbling about a "dumb writh watch that jutht goth tick...tick...tick..."

IRS Packets To Be Sent

Taxpayers will receive their Federal income tax packages within the next two weeks, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS sends taxpayers either a 1040 or 1040A package, depending on the form the taxpayer filed last year. Taxpayers who need to file a different form this year, because of a change in tax status, can pick up the proper form and schedules from their local IRS office, or from one of the many post offices that stock them. Extra forms are also available by using the order blank in the back of the tax package.

Whether taxpayers use the form the IRS sends them or order a different one, the IRS encourages use of both the peel-off address label and pre-addressed, coded return envelope provided in the originally mailed tax package. The label and envelope speed up the processing of the return, lessen the chance of making mistakes, and produce a faster refund for the taxpayer.

If there is a mistake on the label's information—the taxpayer's name, address, and social security number—or if the envelope is marked with the incorrect form number, the IRS said the taxpayer should make the necessary changes in ink.

The tax package contains complete instructions for filling out the tax return and any schedules which the taxpayer needs to use. If additional information is needed before deciding what credits, exemptions, or deductions should be claimed, there are over 90 free special publications that can be ordered by mail using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, they can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Haskell Sales Tax Receipts Up 12%

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday said December city sales tax payments to Texas cities will bring 1980 totals to more than $560 million.

Bullock said his office is sending $33.5 million in payments to cities who levy the one-percent optional city sales tax this month.

The rebates to Texas cities is $93.5 million more than was distributed among Texas cities during 1979, an average increase of more than 20 percent.

Haskell received a check for $5,360.88 bringing the year total to $124,995.93 up 18% from last year.

Houston's final check this year will be for $7.8 million, bringing that city's total this year to $116.1 million, a 19 percent increase over 1979.

Dallas will get $4 million, boosting that city's 1980 total to $65.1 million, a $10 million increase over the previous year.

Fort Worth will receive $1.1 million this month, for a 1980 total of $21.6 million, up 16 percent over 1979.

San Antonio will get a $1.8 million check this month, bringing that city's yearly total to $31.1 million, a $5.2 million increase over last year.

City sales taxes are collected along with the state's four percent sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly by the Comptroller to the cities where the tax is levied.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

While contemplating the sad death of musician John Lennon, Americans should realize that no "gun control" law, no amount of restrictive firearms legislation, could have prevented this tragic act.

Gun laws simply cannot stop someone who is intent upon committing murder. The suspect charged with Mr. Lennon's murder purchased the murder weapon in Hawaii, a state which requires that all firearms and ammunition be registered with local and state authorities. The crime took place in New York City which has perhaps the most stringent gun laws in the country. New York not only requires registration and permits for handguns, but also requires the licensing of firearms owners. These restrictive gun laws did not stop Mr. Lennon's murder. Additional gun laws would not have stopped it, either.

The act, for whatever reason it was committed, was premeditated. Once he is bent upon such a crime, a person cannot be thwarted by an existing gun law, nor by the passage of any additional legislation. Murder is already against the law.

There will be those who call for more "gun control" laws. Such laws, however, only restrict the law-abiding citizen's use of firearms and will not affect the criminal or reduce crime. Such laws merely open the door for civil rights violations which have occurred many times under the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968. These violations have already resulted in 63 United States Senators calling for reform of that gun law.

To stop crime, laws must be directed at the violent criminal. The National Rifle Association has long been in favor of prompt and adequate punishment for anyone convicted of a crime of violence. Take the criminal off the streets. Force the criminal justice system to be as severe as necessary to compel the criminal to realize that he will suffer the consequences of his actions. This is the way to stop such deplorable tragedies.

Sincerely yours,
Harlon B. Carter

Cotton Classing

B.B. Manly reported that 16,400 cotton samples were classed at the USDA Cotton Marketing Services Office in Abilene during the week ending December 12. This brought the seasonal total to about 63,000 samples classed, which compares to 503,000 samples classed in Abilene by the same time last season.

Local cotton prices ranged from 30 to 38 cents per pound over CCC loan values during the past week. Prices were firm to steady early in the week, declined by 3 to 4 1/2 cents per pound during the middle of the week, then advanced slightly late in the week to close about four cents per pound lower. The higher quality cotton declined in price the most, but staple 31 and longer cotton continued in greater demand. Grade 42, staple 31 cotton miking 35 to 49 sold at 76 to 80 cents per pound. The supply continued light because of the recent interruptions of harvesting, and trading was inactive to mostly slow.

Cottonseed prices paid producers ranged from 110 to 130 dollars per ton, at mostly around 120 dollars per ton.

Cotton classed during the past week was about 4% white, 58% light spotted, and about 38% spotted grades. Grade 42 comprised 28%, grade 52 comprised 24%, grade 43 comprised 20%, and grade 53 accounted for 15% of the samples classed. Fiber length was 23% staple 30, 37% staple 31, 24% staple 32, and 7% staple 33. The average staple length was 31.1. Micronaire readings were 92% within the 35 to 49 range, with the average miking 43. About 25% of the samples classed were reduced in grade because of bark or grass content. Fiber strength tests averaged 83,000 pounds per square inch breaking strength during the past week, and have averaged 85,000 for the season.

THIS CHRISTMAS, GET A HOLD ON LIFE... WEAR YOUR SEATBELT!

When a traffic accident occurs, there are TWO collisions. The initial crash and the second collision happens when the driver and passengers strike something inside their car or truck. Wearing your seatbelts can prevent the second and most deadly collision. The Troopers of the Department of Public Safety ask you to wear your seatbelt this Christmas and always.

Accent On Health

Care Urged In Placement Of Christmas Decorations

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Stockings should be hung by the chimney with care, in the hope that Saint Nick will soon be there — and with some thought to Christmas safety.

"Christmas trees, lights, candles, mantel trimmings, your fireplace and even excess wrapping paper can be a source for holiday accidents," according to Harold Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health.

In selecting a natural tree, Ray suggests getting one with a good green color. The needles of a fresh tree should be hard to pull from the branches, and they shouldn't break when bent. "Bounce the tree hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh," he says.

Christmas trees should be placed in a base which holds water, and this should be checked regularly. Before mounting the tree, cut about two inches off the trunk to allow it to better absorb the water.

Trees should be kept away from stoves, fireplaces and radiators which could cause them to dry out quickly and perhaps catch fire.

In selecting lights, check for the Underwriters' Laboratories "UL" label. On strings of lights, make certain all the connections are tight and that there are no frayed or bare wires. These could cause short circuits and perhaps a fire. Outdoor lights should be waterproof. They are especially made for the out of doors.

Lighted candles should never be used on a Christmas tree or in an arrangement bringing them close to a wreath, ribbons or other materials that can easily catch fire. "Candles shouldn't be used on surfaces that are within the reach of small children, say, by a slight tug on the tablecloth, warns Ray.

When away from home, or when you go to bed, turn off all the Christmas lights. And, never use ordinary Christmas lights on a metal tree, because they increase the danger of a shock.

If you have little children who pop things in their mouths, avoid trimming the tree with small or shiny ornaments like tinsel, icicles or tiny lights that may look good enough to eat.

"Tinsel is now supposed to be free of lead, but old stock may still be available in some stores," Ray said. "Buy only boxes labeled non-toxic."

When disposing of their trees, many people burn the trimmings from their branches in the fireplace. If burned a piece at a time, this shouldn't cause any problem. But piling up a big mound of branches could cause popping and crackling and a large number of sparks.

"So be careful, and always use a screen before the fireplace," Ray said. "Don't hang decorations of tinsel, Christmas cards or tree branches from the mantel where they could become ignited."

Always make sure the damper is open before lighting a fire and have the flue checked periodically to be sure it's free of accumulations of tar. Adequate ventilation is important to prevent the build-up of carbon monoxide from home fires.

"And once those presents under the tree are opened, gather up all the wrappings from the tree and fireplace area and remove them from the home," Ray says.

Many colored gift wrapping papers contain large amounts of lead and sometimes chromium, copper and zinc that can be harmful to children who chew or swallow them. These papers can also cause toxic fumes if burned in the fireplace.

Some traditional Christmas plants shouldn't be kept in homes with very small children.

Mistletoe, holly berries, Jerusalem cherry, amaryllis and poinsettia can cause severe gastrointestinal illness, and even death, if ingested.

"Creativity is at its finest at Christmas time as homes are made beautiful both within and without," says Ray. "But planning for safety should also be part of the holiday season."

When buying a natural tree, bounce it hard against the ground and you won't get a shower of needles if the tree is fresh.

Farmers Union Convention Set

Gaining insight into the approach the Republican administration will take toward a multi-year farm law due for congressional action in 1981 is the central issue of discussion for members of the Texas Farmers Union who will gather in Dallas January 8-10.

The 320 delegates to the 77th annual convention will be equally concerned, however, with the internal question of choosing a successor to TFU President Jay Naman of Waco who, after leading the organization for nineteen years, has stated he will not be a candidate for reelection.

With two announced candidates actively campaigning for the top post, combined with the usual surge of interest that precedes a national farm program debate, Texas Farmers Union officials predict heavy turnout for the January convention.

"Jay Naman has been a dynamic, outspoken and oftentimes controversial figure in our organization," said TFU Secretary Ron Butler. "He has built a solid structure and legitimate power base, and there are some activist factions, not just individuals, that want control in order to maintain our traditional, unabashed challenge of the status quo to respect and act on the critical needs of family farmers and ranchers."

Dr. Ronald Knutson, a policy economist from Texas A&M who was tapped by the Reagan agricultural transition team to serve as a chief adviser, will likely encounter some "demanding questions" when he addresses the TFU meet, according to Butler.

"All of the anger and frustration of farmers over the Carter Administration's disappointing farm policies have translated into a restless impatience in the farm sector," Butler commented. "There's a great expectancy that Reagan will bring about significant change, and there'll be a big uproar if he turns the USDA over to white-collar agribusinessmen and big-dollar commodity tradesmen."

The Farmers Union in Texas has a membership of almost ten thousand family members and is one of twenty-two states in the National Farmers Union which has around 350,000 members. Their policies center around a populist philosophy of protecting the family farm structure, a theme that decries the influence that big banks, energy conglomerates, land speculators and multinational commodity traders have in creating ruinous inflation and cheap farm prices.

In addition to electing state officers, delegates to the Dallas convention will adopt a 1981 policy statement that addresses both national and state issues and will elect national delegates to a March convention in Orlando, Florida.

Other speakers on the agenda include State Senators E.L. Short and Lloyd Doggett and Representatives Dan Kubiak and Bill Haley who will sit on a panel to discuss agriculture, school finance and consumer affairs in the upcoming Texas legislative session.

Congressman Martin Frost from Texas' 24th District will provide his views of the 97th Congress. NFU President George Stone addresses the final banquet on Saturday. And Illinois Farmers Union President Harold Dodd will be the special visiting state president.

The Frigidaire Laundry Pair

Washer offers dependable cleaning power — even lets you conserve hot water and detergent

- No need to waste hot water. This Frigidaire Washer features a Water Level selector that lets you match the amount of water to the size of your washload.
- Depend on Frigidaire to keep lint from settling back on your clothes with the Lint Filter which snaps in and out for easy cleaning.
- New horizontal cleaning action passes clothes under the recirculating filter 8 to 14 times each cycle. The new system is equally effective for small, average or large loads.

Dryer puts big drying capacity within easy reach

- For easy loading and unloading, the big oversize door opening — one of the largest in the industry — is positioned a comfortable 18 inches off the floor.
- For efficient drying, without hot spots that can damage fabrics, Frigidaire gently pulls air through your clothes.
- For big-family wash loads this Frigidaire dryer provides gentle fabric care for up to 18 pounds of laundry.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—The Christmas gift-buying season inevitably is followed by the post-Christmas gift-returning season, and most consumers expect to be able to return or exchange gifts with little or no trouble beyond, perhaps, the inconvenience.

The fact is that stores are not legally required to refund money, exchange merchandise, or accept goods for store credit unless the item is defective or is not as represented.

Most merchants, though, are very agreeable about adjustments since this is a form of customer service which encourages repeat business.

However, sometimes, certain stores may be unable to cooperate fully with the post-Christmas gift returner because they operate under more restrictive adjustment policies than other establishments. Some stores will not accept merchandise back for a full refund but will issue a credit or allow an exchange for other merchandise. They may rightfully do this, so it is important for shoppers to check on store policy before buying gifts that may need to be returned or exchanged.

There are certain instances in which a store is legally required to make adjustments, however. For example, if a store advertised car coats with sheepskin linings, but you discover the lining is actually acrylic pile, you have the right to return the coat for an adjustment.

Or perhaps you ordered a size 12 dress, but the store sent a size 14. Or you specified a green table lamp, but got a blue floor lamp. The store must correct its error or make some satisfactory adjustment in such cases.

It's important to remember that if a store has advertised goods for a special sale, there may be a "no return" policy on that particular merchandise. Other items, such as pierced earrings, swim suits, undergarments, and other intimate apparel, may always be sold on an "all sales final" basis for the customer's protection. Once again, the shopper should inquire about the store's return policy on such merchandise.

Just as most stores try to cooperate in making adjustments when possible, most consumers are careful to ask for an adjustment only when it is needed. A few individuals, however, may attempt to return merchandise that is worn or used, that they damaged themselves, or that they purchased months earlier. In such cases, merchants may rightfully refuse to make an adjustment.

If you find you must return merchandise to a store, you should:

- Take all tags, price labels, and all sales or charge receipts with you. A store that might otherwise give a full refund may only offer a credit or exchange or refuse any adjustment without proof of purchase.

- Return goods in their original containers, including all packing materials and papers, such as warranties and instructions.
- Return goods in their original condition.
- Return goods to the department where they were purchased or to the adjustment desk if there is one.

- Explain the reasons for the return.
- If you have a problem with an adjustment you think is deserved, try to settle it with the manager of the store. If that doesn't work, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, El Paso, Lubbock, McAllen, or San Antonio.

Town Names Subject Of Book

Long ago in Wichita County, Texas, a man established a blacksmith shop, and his helper put up a sign showing a picture of a pumpkin with the name "Pumpkin Center Blacksmith shop."

When asked why he had chosen that particular name, the helper replied that he needed a name, he had only yellow paint and he couldn't draw a horse. Thus did the town of Pumpkin Center, population 70, get its name.

That story and others are related in "1001 Texas Place Names," published recently by The University of Texas Press. Written by Fred Tarpley, professor and head of the department of languages and literatures at East Texas State University, the book is illustrated by Sally Blakemore.

Although Texas has approximately 75,000 place names, only the most unusual and interesting have been included in Mr. Tarpley's book.

Each entry gives the official spelling of the name, phonetic pronunciation where necessary, dates of post office operation, and a short narrative about the origin of the name and the history of the place.

Texas place names fall into several categories, the author says. Those include names derived from people, such as Tyler and Daingerfield; geographic features, such as Grand Prairie and Antelope Creek; multiple categories such as Potters Point (a local name and geographic feature), and names taken from other places, such as New Waverly and Abilene.

Names also have been derived from cultural sources such as the Bible and other literature, with Pisgah and Tarzan falling into those categories.

Other modes of selection may include whim, an arbitrary selection by the U.S.

Post Office, language alteration, company names and brand names.

"Serious research into place names requires the skill, persistence and inductive powers of the shrewdest detective," the author says.

"Playing a guessing game and deciding that Cologne must have been named for the town in Germany" led to the embarrassing revelation that the name Cologne was given ironically to a town that was a "sweet-smelling" cattle-shipping station, Mr. Tarpley explains.

Each of Texas' 254 counties is represented by at least two entries in "1001 Texas Place Names."

The author used many different printed sources in his research, as well as interviews with local residents, postal officials and others familiar with place names.

In desperation, researchers sometimes visited the scene of the name-giving, looking for clues to the name's origin. However, in at least one case, researchers found many people in agreement on the origin of a town's name. Cut and Shoot, a town of 791 people in Montgomery County, came into being when a preacher became too popular with the ladies of the town. When charges were made at a church meeting, the men of the town ran to wagons and buggies to get knives and rifles to cut and shoot.

Other Texas place names listed in the book include Notress, Scotland, Moscow, Buck Naked, Balk Prairie, Snap, Snook, Nameless, Mutt and Jeff, Heckville and Hashknife.

"1001 Texas Place Names" is available in paperback from the University of Texas Press, Box 7819, Austin, Texas 78712 for $5.95 plus five percent tax.

Funny or Unfunny

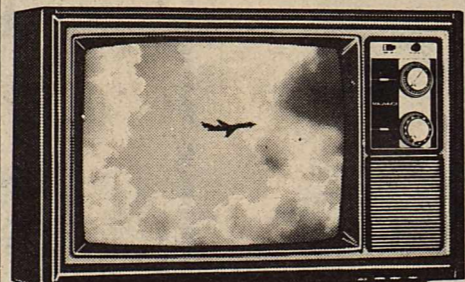

Another area that Reagan budget-cutters will be examining closely is the federal pension system. "There is nothing as good in this land as a federal pension," says an angry Rep. Robert Giaino, (D.-Conn.), retiring chairman of the House Budget Committee. "The only reason the pressure is on us is because the retirees are so well-organized. They have been crawling all over this chamber, hitting every member here and back home, putting the heat on them. And they are politically organized. But I say to the members that it is wrong."

Few members of Congress have had the courage to call for drastic reform of the pension set-up. One reason is the luxuriant pensions that they themselves receive. The Washington Star reported last week that former House Speaker Carl Albert, who retired in 1976 at a salary of $65,000, is eligible for a pension of $75,000. And veteran Rep. Wilbur Mills (D.-Ark.), who retired the same year, may be receiving nearly $65,000, or far more than he ever made as a lawmaker.
