LONG WAY HOME

Haskell is a long way from both Los Angeles, California and New Zealand no matter how you travel but for (l-r) Jeannette Moore, 23, of L.A., Heather McDonald, 22, and Judy Beresford, 20, both of New Zealand, traveling cross-country by bicycle, it was a very long way home. The girls started their trip from Los Angeles, December 1 coming through Haskell Tuesday, December 30. Jeannette plans to end her trip in Arkansas while the two New Zealanders are traveling on through to Florida. The girls said they had enjoyed the 1300 miles to Haskell and were looking forward to the rest of the trip. Laughing, the bikers had only one wish—a good, strong tailwind.

School Board Changes Policy

School Board members furthered their efforts to help prevent vandalism of school property Tuesday night during their regular meeting.

Members voted 3 to 2 to rewrite the official school vandalism policy, strengthening penalties imposed on vandals.

According to the new policy, "Anytime in the school career of a student that a second offense (of vandalism) occurs, the student shall be expelled for the remainder of that school year."

Members of the board also responded unanimously in favor of a proposal to install a burglar alarm system in the school. The system costs approximately $800 and is an extremely sensitive listening device design.

Also during the meeting, members voted 4 to 1 to open the Jr. High gym to the public for a trial period. "The little gym will be open to the public by request of the key with user being responsible for cleaning and maintaining the gym. It will not be open during church times or after 10 p.m.," said Supt. James Lanier.

The resignation of School Tax-Assessor-Collector Mary Sorrells was accepted by members of the board. Mrs. Sorrells has accepted a position with another school system.

Closing the meeting, Superintendent James Lanier's contract was renewed unanimously with members of the board expressing their appreciation to the Supt. for his contributions to the school district.

Sheriff Sentencing Stirs Controversy

The official sentencing of Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett ended in controversy December 31, after presiding District Judge H. G. 'Pete' Andrews added a special order to the sentence.

At the beginning of the sentencing Judge Andrews said, "I've got some unusual provisions in this, so I'm just going to read it and then explain."

The unusual portion of the sentence read by Judge Andrews contained an order which said, "The Court further finds that the acts for which the defendant was convicted in this cause, and the acts for which the defendant is alleged to have done in Cause No. 5059, 5061, 5068, and 5069, each of which was styled the State of Texas vs. Garth Taylor Garrett, were each and all committed prior to the general election of 1980, to wit: the 4th day of November, 1980; and, that in accordance with Article 5986 of the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, such acts specifically enumerated herein, as well as any other acts committed by the said defendant, Garth Taylor Garrett, prior to said date of November 4, 1980, shall not be used to remove any act committed prior to November 4, 1980."

After reading the order the judge explained that the order was included without consulting either the District Attorney or the defense. Judge Andrews said that the order was included to help the District Attorney and prevent possible pressure in the future.

time to donate at their community sponsored bloodmobiles.

Very few of us actually plan on needing blood except perhaps when elective surgery is scheduled...car accidents as well as other trauma related accidents put immediate demands on our blood supply.

These demands are met by maintaining a well supplied blood center which will distribute processed blood anytime or place it is required in the 31 county area served by Red River Regional Blood Services.

Your presence or absence at today's bloodmobile in Haskell will be felt most by patients in our Regional hospitals, those like Tudy and Emily Hill.

EDITORIAL

BY GINA JENNINGS

I believe the people of Haskell County were cheated last Wednesday.

They were not only robbed of a justice guaranteed by law, they were robbed of a justice they had worked for and grieved over...a justice they had earned.

It has not been easy for anyone involved during the past few months. The indictment of a long-standing public official of the community was bound to cause painful divisions—and it has.

There have been many willing to risk taking a strong stand against what they believed to be corruption in our town. Those people looked to our legal system for the answer, waiting on the courts to provide "justice for all."

Wednesday morning in the Haskell County Courthouse District Judge H. G. 'Pete' Andrews took it upon himself to end the controversy. It was for the good of the people of Haskell County, he said.

He ordered the District Attorney of Haskell County, our advocate in the matter to refuse our complaints, about being under the authority of a sheriff convicted of Official Misconduct in that office.

We, the people of Haskell County, have been silenced. (For our own good, of course.)

It would be understandable perhaps, if the conviction of the sheriff had taken place before the November 4 elections. If the people had elected an official knowing he was guilty, they would need to live with that choice.

However, the man elected as sheriff on November 4 was innocent, since he had not been proven guilty at that time. Yet, the choice as to whether we want a guilty official in power has been taken from us. (For our own good, of course.)

It is here that we have been cheated.

It is beyond my ability to determine the true motives of that Judge. If, indeed, he desired to put the matter to rest for the good of the community, I must still protest.

I believe the citizens of Haskell County are a strong people who want to see justice done. Waiting for justice may tire them but it will not break them—robbing them of it completely just might.

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

by William F. Clements Jr.

It is my prediction that the Texas Legislature in 1981 will direct the most significant changes in our Texas public school system since the Gilmer-Aikin laws were enacted more than 30 years ago.

My recommendations in the area of education hopefully will point the way to making our elementary and secondary schools second to none in the nation.

They are based on the year-long study and report of a blue ribbon group, the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education, made up of 20 outstanding Texans from all parts of the State and headed by Dr. Willis Tate, president emeritus of Southern Methodist University.

Texans are well served by their schools. But the schools must continue to improve to meet the needs of all our students. We must develop an educational program that is right for Texas.

I firmly believe that Texans want a return to basics in the schools, and that is the heart of the proposals I will submit to the Legislature. The current curriculum is an aggregation of elements mandated by state law, State Board of Education policy, school board policy and federal law and regulation. Subjects are added to address perceived social ills or single interest purposes. None are ever deleted. The total curriculum has become fragmented and diluted.

Existing laws that mandate courses to be included in the curriculum should be repealed, and the State Board of Education should be given the authority to establish and implement a state basic curriculum. Reading, writing and arithmetic should be emphasized along with other basic subjects such as the physical and social sciences, the arts, physical education and vocational education.

I will also ask the Legislature to require a state competency test for teachers before they are certified and as a prerequisite for admission to approved teacher education programs. (The bill "grandfathers" present teachers and students enrolled in teaching programs).

Teaching excellence must be encouraged and rewarded. Toward this end, I am recommending an increase of about 22 per cent over a two year period in teacher salaries, plus increases in retirement pay and fringe benefits. I also advocate establishment of the position of master teacher for those who consistently demonstrate a high level of classroom performance. The designation would carry with it a raise in pay grade. It will keep good teachers in the classroom and aid recruiting of future teachers.

Some of the other priority items in my public school improvement program include:

—Establishment of a summer school pilot program to help students who are having learning difficulties and need help in certain areas, as well as to provide enrichment opportunities for the gifted.

—Creation of guidance centers for pupils with behavioral problems or character disorders who are disruptive in the classroom.

—Development of a comprehensive and efficient state vocational-occupational training program, based on actual and projected needs of the job market.

—Elimination of so-called social promotions.

—Encouragement of school district boards to relieve classroom teachers of excessive paperwork which reduces instructional time and effort.

—Cooperation of state and local policymakers to influence federal law and regulations from a Texas position on educational matters. Local control of our public schools must be maintained. Federal decision making is not the key to meaningful school improvement.

I am confident that a big percentage of these recommendations will be acted upon by the Legislature during the 1981 regular session. Toward that end, I have renewed the membership of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education to assure strong, coordinated support of this program before the Legislature.

Retiring After 28 Years

Ora Stovall will conclude 28 years of employment with the City of Haskell when she retires Feb. 1.

In November 1952, there were only two people in the office of the City of Haskell.

The main thing she remembered about her early years with the city was the preparation of water bills with a manual typewriter and then hand posting the accounts to ledgers.

City employees talk of her adjustment to several different procedures as well as several mayors. An example cited was her reluctance to learn to operate a new electronic billing machine. After viewing the machine in operation and asking a few questions, she has been the main operator ever since.

During 28 years of preparing water, sewer and garbage bills she has become a storehouse of information concerning the residents of Haskell. Few people in town can come as near to recognizing the names of all residents of the town.

During her employment, the city offices have been remodeled twice and the staff has increased to a total of four.

She attributes the increase in staff to increased services provided by the city and an increase in government paperwork.

When asked what part of the job she enjoyed most, she replied simply, "I love the work." She did confide that the most uncomfortable portion of the job was during the controversy concerning Miller Creek Lake. She said that she did not publicly support or reject the project but at times found herself in the middle.

She currently has no plans for retirement beyond some yard work when weather permits.

Mandrell, Daniels Wed In Wolfforth

Vickie Mae Daniels and Cecil Dewayne Mandrell were united in marriage Saturday, December 20th at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Wolfforth with Rev. Don Stephenson officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Daniels, Jr. of Wolfforth, formerly of Haskell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mandrell of Lubbock.

Soloist for the ceremony was Vanessa Parker of Canyon who was accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Don Bell of Wolfforth. The songs were "You Light Up My Life", "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Wedding March." Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of sheer silk organza fashioned by Bianchi. The fitted bodice was enhanced with tiny, hand-sewed seed pearls and delicate lace butterflies. The A-line skirt adorned with pearls and butterfly appliques swept to a chapel train of organza and lace. The veil was two tiers of French silk illusion, with pearls and butterfly appliques.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow silk roses tied with matching yellow satin ribbon.

For something old the bride wore a gold wedding band that belonged to her late great aunt, Mrs. Minnie Mae Herren and a cameo necklace that belonged to her late great, great, great grandmother Shaver. The something new was her gown and shoes. Something borrowed was a diamond necklace of her grandmother's, Mrs. Jack Daniels, Sr. of Haskell. Something blue was her garter. She also wore a traditional six-pence in her shoe, given by her father. Matron of honor was Mrs. Blaine Wood of Lubbock and bridesmaids were Miss Dee Ann Webster of New Home and Miss Kim Daniels of Wolfforth, sister of the bride.

The matron of honor wore a yellow organza floor length dress and carried a long stem yellow rose, accented by matching satin streamers. The bridesmaids wore an apricot organza floor length dress and carried a long stem apricot carnation accented by matching satin streamer.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails, accented by a yellow rose boutonniere.

Bestman Shannon Huckabee of Wolfforth wore a deep brown tuxedo with yellow ruffled shirt, accented by a yellow rose boutonniere.

Groomsmen Kevin

Sattewhite of Wolfforth and Donald Mandrell of Lubbock, brother of the groom, wore dark brown tuxedos with an apricot ruffled shirt, accented by an apricot carnation boutonniere.

Ushers were Johnny Daniels of Wolfforth, brother of the bride, and Tim Mandrell of Lubbock, brother of the groom.

The church was lighted by white candles in an arrangement of palm fern and two baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and gladiolus set on each side of the altar.

Presiding at the register table was Patty Webster of New Home.

A reception for the couple was held following the ceremony. The bride's table was draped with white linen cloth.

The three tiered cake was white and covered with yellow rosebuds and roses.

The groom's table was covered with white linen cloth. The chocolate cake was topped with yellow and apricot flowers. Sherbert punch, coffee, mints, nuts and finger sandwiches were served.

The bride's table was served by her attendants and the groom's table was served by Mrs. Donald Mandrell of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the groom and Mrs. R. L. Mandrell of Shallowater, aunt of the groom.

The bride was graduated from Frenship High School and Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute. The groom was graduated from Frenship High School and now attends DeVry Institute of Technology in Dallas.

The couple will live in Irving.

Out-of-town guests from Haskell were: Mr. & Mrs. T. J. Poer, Mr. & Mrs. Jack Daniels Sr., both grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Eula Daniels, great grandmother and Mr. & Mrs. G. W. Roberts, aunt and uncle of the bride.

ROSE ANN CLEVENGER of Stamford and Kevin Ray Swaner of Haskell have announced their engagement to be wed January 16, 1981 at First Baptist Church of Stamford at 8:00 p.m. The couple invites all friends and relatives to attend the ceremony. Parents of the bride-elect are Mr. Donald Clevenger of Merkel and Mrs. Mary Jane Whitworth of Stamford. Parents of the prospective groom are Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ray Swaner of Haskell. ## Cockerell Honored On 21st Birthday

Working at the Haskell Free Press is not a "piece of cake" most days. However, when Free Press employee Floradean Cockerell celebrated her 21st birthday last week her cake took the form of an issue of the paper.

Although the birthday was her 21st, it was the first time she had had a party since her birthday falls so close to Christmas.

Even so, with a family the size of hers (12 brothers and sisters) it is understandable. If her mother, Mrs. Joyce Hawkins, had given parties for all her children's birthdays that would mean 347 birthday parties to date...Now that's a lot of birthday cake!

Tinnin, Wilson Repeat Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Wilson of Rule would like to announce the marriage of their daughter, Fran Wilson, to Roger Tinnin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tinnin of Lubbock.

The couple was married January 3 at 2 p.m. in Lubbock.

Shower To Honor Paul Fischers

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Fischer will honor them Sunday, January 18, with a shower in the H. P. Morrison Memorial Auditorium, Paint Creek School from 2 p.m. until 3:30 p.m.

The Fischers lost their home and many of their belongings in an explosion that completely destroyed the house. They both were in the hospital for a long period of time with injuries suffered from the explosion and recuperated for a while at the home of a daughter in Ericksdahl. They are presently living in Haskell, but are planning to rebuild at their old location in Paint Creek.

Selections for their new home are at Bassings, Perrys and Bynums in Haskell.

Becky Richardson To Be Guest Artist

Real, meaningful arms control and reduction is a dream of all who love peace. But to achieve these ends, we must look realistically at possible courses of action.

Experience has proven that unilateral restraint on our part — such as the cancellation of the B-1 bomber — does not motivate the Soviet Union to take reciprocal action. As one top Carter Administration official said, if we arm, the Soviet Union arms. If we fail to arm the Soviets still arm. In fact, over the past decade, the Soviet Union has outspent us by $240 billion on defense. That means the Soviets already are engaged in an arms race, but it's a one-sided race.

The SALT II treaty actually was neither arms control nor arms reduction, because it would have allowed the Soviets to beef up their strategic forces while following the letter of the treaty.

The Soviets view arms limitations talks as hard bargaining sessions. They will press for the deal that is most advantageous to their interests. During the last stages of the SALT II talks, at least, we were simply out-negotiated.

How do we get back on the road toward real arms control? We will never be successful in negotiating with the Soviets unless they believe we have the national will to have a truly strong national defense system. If we will cut back our own defense programs without demanding reciprocation, we have little left to use as bargaining chips.

But our capacity for increasing our defense system actually is much greater than the Soviet Union's. That nation does not have the slack in its industrial capacity to increase its arms production much above its current level. The United States, on the other hand, could sustain a large increase if it possessed the national will. In short, if we were inclined to enter an all-out arms race, we would win. And the Soviets know that. That knowledge is our best chance at achieving real arms reduction.

When the Soviets become convinced that we have the national resolve to build a national defense system that is at least truly equal to theirs, then they will realize it is in their best interests to enter into serious and meaningful negotiations.

Survey data, my mail, and my own conversations with people indicate that the American people have the necessary national will to rebuild our sadly neglected defenses. I expect the new Administration and the new Congress to work together to meet our most pressing needs.

We must begin immediately. Only a truly strong defense will deter the Soviet Union from global aggression. And only a strong U.S. defense will make the Soviets interested in arms reduction.

When we accomplish this, then we can begin the business of hammering swords into plowshares.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
 Attorney General

Cold weather is upon us at last. Just as winter is sometimes late in arriving in Texas, especially the central and southern parts of our state, many of us are late in restocking our firewood supplies for the months ahead. So, if you are about to purchase this year's supply of firewood, here are a few things to keep in mind.

The most important step to take in acquiring firewood is to select a dependable firewood dealer. If you do not already have an established source, ask around for recommendations before you decide to buy. Although most consumers in the market for firewood never experience any difficulty, there are some who have been "burned" by a few unscrupulous dealers.

The most common complaint our office receives about firewood is that either less wood is delivered than was expected or that the price charged is more than was agreed on. The best way to get the amount of wood you want is to buy by standard measuring amounts. For example, a "cord" of wood, the standard unit by which wood is sold, contains 128 cubic feet and usually measures either 4 x 4 x 8 feet or 2 x 4 x 16 feet. Measure the area where wood will be stored so that when filled it will equal a cord. Then you will know whether all of the wood you ordered is delivered.

When ordering wood that is to be delivered, be sure to inquire into any extra charges for delivery or stacking. The price for the wood may seem extremely reasonable until the added charges are included.

Some dealers advertise wood at very inexpensive prices. Frequently, you will discover that they are selling wood by the pick-up truck load or by some unit other than a cord. Since pick-up truck beds can vary greatly in size, this is a risky way to purchase wood if you plan to do any comparison shopping for prices.

Never pay for wood in advance. Some dealers will deliver a partial load and demand full payment, promising to deliver the remainder later in the day. Pay for the wood only when all of the wood has been delivered as agreed.

The type of wood you buy is as important as the amount and should be determined before you buy. In Texas, oak is the most popular firewood for several reasons. It is a "hard" wood that burns slowly and it has a rough, decorative bark that many people like. Mesquite also is a good firewood. Like oak it is hard and slow burning.

Soft woods such as pine and cedar should be avoided for firewood. They burn fast and hot and are good for little more than kindling. Pine is an especially dangerous wood to use because of the sap which, when ignited, will burn nearly as fast as gasoline.

Also, be careful before using wood from trees in your yard for firewood. Some trees that are decorative and useful in the yard may produce foul smelling odors when burned.

Finally, the age of the wood you buy also is very important. Wood that has dried out over several months or a year is usually preferred even though it is much more expensive. To keep costs down, some people mix a little green wood with the dry.

Amount, price, type and age—if you determine these four things before you purchase firewood, your chances of being satisfied with your purchase are much greater.

If you have any complaints regarding firewood, contact the Consumer Protection office nearest you.

Medicare Enrollment Program Underway

People who failed to sign up for medical insurance under Medicare, or who once had this protection but dropped it, will have a chance to obtain medical insurance during the 1981 general enrollment period, January through March, Glyn Hammons, social security district manager in Abilene, said recently.

Medical insurance is that part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital services, and many other medical items and services not covered under hospital insurance.

Protection for people who sign up during the general enrollment period will start July 1, 1981.

Medical insurance is financed by premiums paid by those enrolled and the Federal Government from general revenues. Presently, the Federal Government pays more than two-thirds of the cost.

People who sign up during a general enrollment period may pay a higher premium, Hammons said. This is because the premium is increased by 10 percent for each full year a person could have had this protection but did not.

More information about the medical insurance general enrollment period can be obtained at the Abilene social security office located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360 for those in Abilene and toll free number, 1-800-392-1603 if you live outside of Abilene.

Texas Department of Agriculture
Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner

NINETEEN-EIGHTY has been a year that many Texas farmers and ranchers would like to forget. But most cannot help but remember the devastating drought and killer heat wave which dominated the farm news in Texas and many other states this summer.

In all, weather problems cost Texas producers over $1.5 billion in lost production, or about 15 percent of the previous year's total cash receipts for crops and livestock. The latest production report reveals that: Cotton production is down 38 percent; grain sorghum, down 28 percent; peanuts, down 48 percent; corn, down 18 percent. When livestock losses and damage to pasture and rangeland are included, it becomes obvious that 1980 was not the best of years for Texas agriculture, and especially for the 3,000 farmers and ranchers who are expected to go out of business this year.

Further bad news for Texas producers came in the form of extremely high interest rates at Spring planting time, and these further contributed to the cost/price squeeze which is a persistent problem of agriculture. Overall farm and ranch production costs increased an average of 10 to 12 percent in 1980, lead by 40 percent higher fuel costs, fertilizers which were 25 percent higher, and an 18-percent rise in other chemical costs.

The sharp increases in production costs, coupled with low farm prices, will cut net farm income by 20 percent or more from last year.

That, as they say, is the bad news. But is there any good news to report? The answer must be yes, because I feel there are a number of bright spots in the Texas farm economy for 1981.

Overall crop prices in 1981 could average 12 to 16 percent higher than in 1980, with corn prices up by more than one-third, soybeans up by almost 40 percent, and wheat prices rising by 5 to 10 percent. Livestock and poultry prices also should register increases in the 16 to 20 percent range. Certainly, the economic impact of a bad year such as 1980 does not disappear overnight, and many producers will enter 1981 deeply in debt. But a good production year in 1981, coupled with stronger crop and livestock prices and moderate production costs, could allow net farm income to rebound substantially.

Strong export demand has been a major factor in the farm economy throughout the past decade, and will continue to play an important role in the 1980's.

Exports of U.S. farm products have risen dramatically from $6.7 billion in 1970, to $40.5 billion in 1980 and a projected $48 billion in 1981. With the signing of the recent U.S. - Mexico agricultural agreements (making Mexico a $2 billion U.S. market), the importance of Texas and the U.S. as agricultural suppliers to the world comes into sharp focus.

I think that 1981 is shaping up as a good year for consumers, too. Unlike many countries, we are blessed with plentiful, safe, and wholesome food supplies, and this will continue to be the case. Consumers will find that food may cost more in 1981, of course. In our inflationary economy, it would be unrealistic to expect otherwise. But food costs should rise only moderately, with few unexpected surprises.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

The Holidays are over and Haskell ISD is again "cranked up" in full force. I hope that it was a very pleasant and restful holiday for each of you and that all of us have "recharged our batteries" and eager to return to the normal routines.

One of the principal co-curricular activities going on now is basketball. If you have not turned out to see the Indians and Maidens in action, you have missed an entertainment treat. The Maidens are carrying a gaudy 16-0 record at the time this column was written. They are a hustling, aggressive bunch who play together as a team. They are an entertaining bunch to watch. They need and would sincerely appreciate your support as they move into district play.

The Indians do not have the record of the Maidens. However, they are a fine bunch of young men who try hard. They play just as well as they can, giving maximum effort all the time. They also need your support and encouragement. Often times, it is easy to support a winner, but the team with the not so impressive record needs your support even more. These student athletes who make up the Indian Basketball team are good students and good kids. I hope each of you remember the procedures we outlined in an earlier column concerning bad weather days. We are certainly within that time of year when bad weather can play a vital role.

Model A Ford Club Sets Antique Car Show And Sale March 21-22

The Abilene Model A Ford Club is sponsoring the Eighteenth Annual Antique Car and Parts Show and Sale on March 21st and 22nd, 1981. Location of the event will be at the Taylor County Fair grounds.

This show and sale is one of the largest in the southwest and there is no charge for admission. The restoration, collection and trading of antique cars has been a fun-filled hobby for a long time, but in recent years, it has proven to be an excellent investment. The value of these cars has increased many times and on today's market, a restored Model A Ford Roadster is valued at $15,000.00 and the big antique classic cars such as Cadillacs, Lincolns and Packards may sell for $50,000.00 to $100,000.00.

The show and sale is family oriented and there will be items of interest for "mom, dad and all the kids." Foods and refreshments will be available on the grounds and camper hook-ups are on site for those who want to stay over night.

Persons interested in displaying or selling antique items may make arrangements by contacting Dan Laughter, (915)698-2235, 1441 Sylvan, Abilene, Texas, 79605.
