

Livestock Show This Weekend

Last Thursday started out just like any other but before ending there were certainly some unplanned events.

Unplanned is probably not a good term since the Comedy household had been planning for the arrival of a new edition since early summer.

But it seems that no matter how well you plan, there are always a few unexpected events.

In the arrival of Jessica Diane Comedy the unexpected event was a lack of time which had certainly been planned on.

From a "I think I'm in labor" comment at about 7:10 p.m. to the arrival of a new daughter was only about 30 minutes.

During that time it's unbelievable how calm things were. No one got excited, no shouting, no panic and I even remembered to get both the wife and the suitcase.

After the arrival of a 6 pound

13½ once daughter at 7:35 p.m., the thought suddenly struck home about what might have happened.

Then everything started to happen.

All the folks who were supposed to be notified when we left for the hospital were surprised to receive a call that said not that we're going, but one that said we're here and have a daughter.

Jennifer was immediately ready to take her sister home and only after a lot of explaining did she accept the necessary delay of a few days.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Milton Christian had a son and Jennifer had trouble understanding why we couldn't take both of the babies home.

Throughout the event it was comforting to both Nene and I that this was happening in Haskell and not halfway across the state.

Radio Station To Open Soon

Present plans call for a new 100,000 watt FM radio station to begin operation in Haskell on March 15.

The station will play modern country music and will have an estimated range of about 100 miles.

Ken Lane, president of the corporation, and Gary Barrett, station manager, told the Free Press that the station will have a staff of six full-time employees and several part-time.

General offices will be located at 1406 N. First St. and the tower will be located 4½ miles west of Haskell on the Jud Miller farm. The tower will be 512 feet high.

Present plans call for the station to be on the air from 5 a.m. to midnight.

Preliminary work to locate the station in Haskell was started in February 1978.

ECC Donations

Donations of $235.00 to the building fund of the Experienced Citizens Center were received this week.

These donations bring the total of the fund to $6,321.00.

Donations to the fund may be given at the center or at Haskell National Bank.

Donations received this week were from: Mrs. Charlie Conner, Mrs. Lucille McCurley, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis P. Ratliff, and O. V. Kreger.

Maidens Extend Wins To 18 Consecutive

The Haskell High School Maidens won two games last week and extended their winning streak to 18 games.

The Maidens defeated Roby 54-47, January 6, and defeated Stamford January 9.

In the Roby game, high point honors were shared by Jana Hunt and Lorie Johnson with 11 each. Cindy Everett was selected Miss Hustle for eight assists and two steals. Sara Starr was selected Miss Defense for ten rebounds.

According to Head Coach Bobby Busby, the crowd at the Stamford game was one of the best of the season.

Busby said, "I'd like to express our thanks for all of the support from the parents and townspeople this year. We could not be 18-0, without the support of the people of Haskell."

High point against Stamford was

Plans for the 1981 Haskell County Junior Livestock Show and premium sale have been completed and the event is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Friday with the judging of poultry and rabbits.

Other judging scheduled Friday includes: sheep, 10 a.m.; and barrows at 1 p.m.

Judging of beef steers will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and will be followed by judging of heifers.

The premium sale will begin at 2 p.m. in the show barn and James Powell will be auctioneer.

Entries currently indicate that about 85 barrows, 50 lambs, and 50 steers and heifers will compete in the show in addition to poultry and rabbits.

General chairman of the show is Duane Gilly and superintendents include: C.A. Thomas, beef; Cecil Lewis, swine; Calvin Powers, poultry and rabbits; and Jim Hudson, sheep.

Judges for the show will be: Randy Jordon of Breckenridge, hogs; Leon Burkham of Knox City, poultry, rabbits, and sheep; and Laverance Winkler of Albany, beef.

The Junior Livestock association will pay premiums of about $1,250.00 to the exhibitors.

During the premium sale, a total of 16 steers, 25 lambs, 30 barrows, and five pens of rabbits and poultry will be sold.

The sale will enable buyers to pay a premium on animals that will be received by the exhibitors to help defray expenses in showing animals.

Persons who wish to participate in the sale are invited to attend or to contact any of the following who will accept donations for the sale.

Sale Chairman is Larry

Beauchamp of Rochester. Others on the sale committee include: Truman Therwhanger, C.A. Thomas, Max Stapleton, Duane Gilly, Tommy Matthews, Tom Kutch, Mike Wilcox, and Tiffen Mayfield.

Mrs. Conner Honored By Surprise Birthday Party

BY GINA JENNINGS
1912.

She had to wait 86 years but she finally got one. When Mrs. Charlie Conner walked into the Community Building Saturday afternoon she was surprised by her friends and neighbors who treated her to the first birthday party of her life. About 75 people attended the celebration and many who couldn't make the party stopped by her house later to wish her a happy 86th birthday.

Hosting the party were friends of Mrs. Conner's who's ties go back many, many years. They included: Billie Cadenhead, Mrs. Willie Berryhill, Crystella Raines of Weinert, Margaret Ratliff, Claudie Mae Bland, Emma Bland, Estelle Burson, Nita Herren, Gerry Cox, Eral Bevel, Helen Owens and Mary Eleanor McCollum.

Mrs. Conner is, by her own admittance, an "old-timer" in these parts, coming here in 1912. She has her roots deep in Haskell soil in a number of ways. From 1912 until 1918, she taught in Haskell County schools. She married Charlie Conner immediately after W.W. I in 1919 and together they started Conner's nursery in 1928.

Mr. Conner served as County Judge, Tax Collector and State Representative, continuing to be active in the community until his death in 1975.

Still active and involved, Mrs. Conner is a member of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce and the First Baptist Church, which she joined in 1916. She also lends her support to two other area churches.

Mrs. Conner has two daughters, Mrs. Raybon (Geraldine) Lamb, Durango, Colo., and Mrs. Brad (Jean) Buford of Weatherford; six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Although she may not have had many birthday parties, Mrs. Conner has had quite a few birthdays. People ask her frequently of her secret for such a long and active life.

"Lead a good clean life, love people, make friends," she responds. "The millions you have in dollars aren't worth near as much as the millions you have in friends," she adds.

It appears then, if friends are worth their weight in gold, Mrs. Charlie Conner is a very wealthy woman.

MR. AND MRS. HOYT GRAY

Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary

On January 8, 1911 Hoyt Gray and Lois Smith were married at the First Baptist Church parsonage in Munday by the pastor, Brother Brendell. The couple was married in a buggy out in front of the parsonage.

The first year they were married they lived one mile West of Munday then moved to the J.J. Gray farm northwest of Munday. They spent two years in Young County then moved back to Munday. After spending four years on the plains, they lived in and around Munday, living in Munday the last 32 years.

Born to this union were three boys and three girls.

The Grays were honored on Thursday, Jan. 11, in the home of their son, Bob Gray.

Included in the centerpiece was their wedding picture. Music for the occasion was "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" which was one of their favorite songs as a young couple.

Also helping with the celebration were their daughters, Frances Warren of Tahoka and Louise Rice of Lubbock.

They enjoyed listening to recordings of four of their grandchildren singing and playing guitars.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray now reside at Rice Springs Care Home, Rt 1, Box 640, Haskell, Tx. 79521.

Class Of 1952 Holds 28th Reunion Recently

The 1952 class of Haskell High School recently had its 28th reunion in the home of Don and Nanette Weaver Perry of Haskell. Guests of Honor were Arlos and Hazel Weaver. Mrs. Weaver, a former English teacher at Haskell High School, was the group's Senior Class Sponsor.

Former classmates and other guests attending the reunion were Eldon and Brenda Ammonett, Denver City; Felipe and Mary Arredondo, Haskell; Clinton and Brenda Baccus, and daughter Gina, Mansfield; Jo Ann Bryan Reagan, daughters Tami and Carla, Roswell, New Mexico; Wayne and Mary Von Cobb Latimer, Tulsa, Oklahoma; James Fowler, Canyon Lake; Jane King Thompson,

Hurst; Williard Mullins, Haskell; Betty Joy Redwine LaDu, Richardson; Robert Brice and Janice Reynolds, Houston; Bobby Wilson, Denton; Sid and Nancy Woodson, Derby, Kansas; Joe and Doris Faye Johnston McReynolds, daughters Glenda and Diane, nephew Gene Johnston, granddaughter Amberly, Fort Smith, Arkansas; Host and Hostess Don and Nanette Weaver Perry, daughter

Salad Luncheon Set Jan. 21 By Booster Club

The Indian Booster Club is having a Salad Luncheon January 21, 1981 at the Corral Building from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tickets are $3.50 and can be purchased from the Hayloft, Joan Baldwin at Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, Geraldine Hise at the Courthouse or many athlete's parents.

The telephone committee will be contacting athlete's parents to ask them to bring two items for salads, meat dishes or deserts to the Corral Building between 10 and 10:30 Wednesday morning. Dishes should be picked up by 1:30 p.m. If you have more than one child participating please bring three items. If you are not called or if you are a Booster member and would like to help contact Nelda Lane or Mary Rike, co-chairpersons for the luncheon.

A successful luncheon will help make a better All Sports Banquet. Interested persons are asked to attend a planning meeting for the All Sports Banquet to be held April 4. The meeting will be held Jan. 22 at the Reading Building across from the Elementary School at 7 p.m. and will serve to organize plans for the decorations, theme, and programming for the banquet. Any person with ideas or time to help is welcome. The Booster Club sponsors the event and senior parents organize and plan the banquet but anyone may help. The banquet is held annually to honor all students involved in UIL Athletics in Haskell High School. All teams are introduced and each player receives recognition. Special awards and honors are also announced. Much work goes into the preparation of the banquet. Keep the date in mind, April 4th, and if called upon help when you can. These students work hard all year long so let's make plans to give them special recognition they can enjoy.

Matron's Club Holds First 1981 Meeting

The Weinert Matron's Club held their first meeting of the year on Thursday, Jan. 8, in the home of Mrs. Vern Derr. Minutes were read and approved and reports were given by standing committees.

Roll call was answered by each member telling of some creative activity she is engaged in.

Mrs. Ramon Liles was director for the afternoon. She started the program with a history of the Myers School where she attended school in her youth, and later taught. The last building of the school is now a part of the Weinert School.

Mrs. Floyd McGuire discussed "The Battle For the Little Red School House," telling of weaknesses in our schools and plans for improvement, especially "a return to the basics" in teaching.

Mrs. Derr told about stress in the school and home. Many of these things can hinder the child's progress.

Mrs. Clovis Winchester gave an account of the life of some outstanding teachers, telling about their teaching experiences and lasting contributions to education.

Mrs. Liles closed the program by directing the group in singing some "old" songs from copies of an old songbook we used in our own school days.

Mrs. Derr served refreshments to twelve members.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Although the twin problems of inflation and unemployment loom large before us, the minimum wage rose from $3.10 to $3.35 an hour Jan. 1.

That increase, though nobly intended, will only make both problems worse.

The latest of the increases mandated by legislation passed in 1977 means that the minimum wage has increased by 46 percent since that year. A U.S. Chamber of Commerce study concluded that for every 20 percent increase in the minimum wage, 880,000 job opportunities are lost — either existing jobs abolished or the failure of new job opportunities to present themselves.

Common sense tells us that if business costs increase, only two things can happen: Ways can be sought to cut those costs, or prices must be increased to compensate. Either way, Americans on the lower end of the income spectrum lose. They lose job opportunities, and they feel more keenly the ravages of inflation than people who have more discretionary income.

Especially hard hit are teenagers. With the unemployment rate in the 16-to-19-year-old age bracket running between 15 and 20 percent — and over 50 percent among minority youths in some cities — we must find a way to put these willing workers into jobs.

Yet, it is unrealistic to expect businesses to hire untrained, even immature, workers if we require them to pay wages at a higher level than their productivity justifies. Young people find themselves in the treadmill of not being able to find work because they have no experience, and not being able to gain experience because they can't find jobs.

The best way out of this quagmire is to institute a "Youth Opportunity Wage." This youth differential in the minimum wage would allow businesses to pay teenage workers a slightly lower amount, making it economically possible to create new jobs or place these less productive workers into existing jobs.

When they have gained maturity and skills, they will be able to work at the higher adult minimum wage, or, more likely, move above that level.

Would the youth differential throw older workers out of jobs? No. Mature workers are more productive and well worth the difference in pay. Further, most of the jobs in our economy require some measure of skill or experience and thus could not be filled by the young workers who would be covered by the differential. In fact, the number of workers above the age of 20 employed in minimum wage jobs is a minimal percentage of the workforce.

If we are serious about helping our fellow citizens, we must look for workable solutions. Is it better to be unemployed, or to have the satisfaction, and income, that comes from working? The question before us is that simple. Congress must realize it does not work in a vacuum. Every action we take affects the lives of every American and the economic well-being of our nation. We have a sacred obligation to remember that and act accordingly, rather than to legislate through wishful thinking.

Weinert Native Receives Award From Dallas PD

Evelyn L. Mayfield, formerly of Weinert, recently received a Certificate of Merit award from the Dallas Police Department where she is an investigator, assigned to Vice Control Division, Drug Abuse Section.

She and investigator Ron Hale were cited for the recognition of their supervision of a three months narcotic operation in the Bryan Adams High School in Dallas, the city's largest high school. The Dallas Police Department has been praised by the major newspapers of the metropolis, concerned parents, Dallas Independent School District authorities and many other police agencies.

Miss Mayfield in a 1966 graduate of Weinert High School and graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1971. After receiving her degree, she was a caseworker through Buckners Children Home, taught at Bowden's Private School in Abilene and Happiness House, a Dallas private school.

Entering the Dallas Police Academy in June 1976, she served in the Patrol Division for approximately four years before being assigned to the Vice Control Division. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Mayfield of Weinert.

A new machine

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The first new type of rotating electrical machine to be invented in the 20th Century is credited to the Center for Electromechanics at The University of Texas.

The invention — a compulsated pulsed alternator (compulsator, for short) — can store large amounts of kinetic energy and deliver it in high-powered bursts of electrical energy.

It can be used to replace large and expensive capacitor systems in supplying the energy needed for laser fusion research where energy requirements call for millions of watts of power in pulses of less than a thousandth of a second.

Grand jury indictments were returned against 22 persons, and eight juvenile warrants were issued by juvenile judges for the unlawful deliver of a controlled substance. Defendants' ages ranged from 14 to 39. Among those taken into custody was a 35-year-old woman and her 14-year-old son and 15-year-old daughter, both students at the high school.

Before the undercover officers entered the school, the success of the operation was being paved by the extensive indoctrination and training given them by their contact officers Hal and Mayfield, who were instrumental in the selection of the undercover officer, fully briefed them on the aspects of working undercover, the Controlled Substance laws, buying drugs, and made them aware of the potential for controversy when it comes to undercover officers buying drugs from students.

Mayfield and Hale spent a great deal of time with the undercover officers during their off-duty hours, planning strategy and future targets.

Sgt. Thomas G. Sherman, of the Vic Control Division, stated in his nomination of the certificate of merit to Chief of Police Glen D. King, that the undercover operation was a success due to the combined efforts of the contact officers going to the extremes to ensure that the undercover officers were fully prepared to cope with any situation that

Texas Department of Agriculture
Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner

AUSTIN—In retrospect, 1980 is a year many Texas farmers and ranchers would like to forget. But most cannot help but remember the devastating drought and killer heat wave which dominated the farm news in Texas and other states during the summer.

According to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, weather problems cost Texas agricultural producers over $1.5 billion in lost production, or about 15 percent of the previous year's total cash receipts for crops and livestock. The latest production report reveals that: Cotton production is down 38 percent; grain sorghum, down 28 percent; peanuts, down 48 percent; corn, down 18 percent, to name a few of the major Texas crops damaged by drought and heat. When livestock and poultry losses are included, as well as damage to pasture and rangeland, it becomes obvious that 1980 was not the best of years for Texas agriculture.

Further bad news for Texas producers came in the form of extremely high interest rates at spring planting time, which contributed to the cost/price squeeze that is a persistent problem of agriculture. Overall farm and ranch production costs increased an average of 10 to 12 percent in 1980, led by 40 percent higher fuel costs, fertilizer costs which were up 25 percent, and an 18-percent increase in other farm chemical costs.

Brown noted that despite a good Texas wheat crop and a few other bright spots, high costs and low prices should drop 1980 net farm income 20 percent below last year.

"That," Brown said, "is the bad news. But there is also some good news to report."

Due to decreased production and continued strong domestic and export demand, Brown said, farm prices have strengthened in recent months, and the outlook is that they will continue to do so. "Certainly, the economic impact of a bad year such as 1980 does not disappear overnight, and many producers will enter 1981 deeply in debt," he said. "But a good production year in 1981, coupled with stronger crop and livestock prices and only moderate increases in production costs, could allow net farm income to rebound substantially."

Brown added that 1981 is shaping up as a good year for consumers, also. "Unlike many countries, we are blessed with plentiful, safe, wholesome food supplies, and this will continue to be the case," he said. "Consumers will find that food may cost more in 1981, but since 60 cents out of every food dollar goes for marketing costs, it would be unreasonable to expect otherwise. Retail food costs should rise only moderately, and there should be few unexpected surprises."

This economical mounted stripper has field-proved features to make quick work of your harvest

This 283 Stripper comes equipped with rolls fitted with nylon brushes and rubber flaps, wide row unit arches, flexible fingers to hold cotton in the row units, automatic height-sensing, a patented air system that's adjustable for maximum green boll separation, and a basket with 2500 pound capacity.

The cotton harvesting pros at John Deere offer the only mounted stripper designed for John Deere Tractors with Sound-Gard® body. And that means full-season stripper comfort for you. For an economical mounted stripper, see us soon about a 283.

Now you can strip 30- and 32-inch solid-plant rows with a 484 Stripper

Convert your present 484 4-row Stripper with wide or skip-row head to a narrow-row head with this new narrow-row cross auger attachment. This attachment makes the 484 the only 4-row self-propelled stripper capable of harvesting four 30- or 32-inch solid plant rows every pass.

A 114-hp John Deere diesel supplies the power to maintain a speed of 7.4 mph in high-yielding cotton. Hydrostatic drive lets operators adjust speed on the go. Automatic height sensing adjusts row units to varying contours on the go. The 484 comes equipped with a 608-cubic-foot basket that can be increased to 758 cubic feet with optional extension. See your local cotton harvesting pro dealer for a new narrow-row cross auger.

Colonial Removes Rolling Papers

Six Colonial Food Stores in the Haskell area have taken cigarette rolling papers off the shelves.

The action followed local community support in several Colonial markets of a recommendation by the Texans' War On Drugs Committee. The committee, formed by Governor Bill Clements, urged retailers to remove rolling papers from their inventory because of their function in the illegal use of marijuana.

"The Board of Directors and top management of Colonial made the decision to respond in a positive fashion to the issue of illegal drugs in our society," said Ray Hawkins, president of the San Angelo-based convenience store chain.

All 88 Colonial stores in Texas and Missouri have taken the merchandise off the shelves. Major Texas markets include Abilene, San Angelo, Kerrville, Brownwood, Odessa, Midland, Monahans, Sweetwater and Graham.

"We are enthusiastic about Colonial's support of our efforts," said Nancy Voith, the committee's state education coordinator. "We encourage other retailers to take this positive action in eliminating easy access to a product which aids in the illegal use of marijuana."

The committee, headed by H. Ross Perot, chairman of the board of Dallas-based Electronic Data Systems, Corp., was formed "to achieve a drug-free environment for children and to stop importation of drugs into Texas."

"We hope all of our customers will support our stand on this issue," said Hawkins, founder of the 13-year-old chain.

Haskell Residents Attend Farmers Union Convention

Exemption of small royalty owners from the federal Windfall Profits Tax, removal of state taxes on fuel-alcohol, and an automatic trigger of 100% of parity support prices whenever a commodity is embargoed were all adopted as officials policies of the Texas Farmers Union which met in Dallas for its seventy-seventh annual convention.

Attending from Haskell County were Charles and Louise Thornhill, agent for National Farmers Union Insurance Companies.

Delegates to the statewide organizations meet renewed policy positions advocating family farmers and urging laws to prohibit invasion of prime farm lands by alien and corporate investors of huge capital. They called for, at the minimum, a tightening of language defining beneficiaries of property tax valuations based upon the agricultural productivity of land, a new law being widely abused by land speculators holding prime real estate near cities.

The 67th Texas Legislature was also urged by the farm group to find alternate revenue sources such as a severance tax on oil and gas. A panel of state lawmakers confirmed the group that many Texans are now funding Montana and Wyoming schools because of those states' tax on coal. But adoption of such a tax on Texas' mostly exported natural resources is unlikely in the upcoming session because it would be a tax on the oil and gas industry, the bread and butter of Governor Clements.

Addressing national farm programs, the Texas Farmers Union renewed its stand favoring a farmer-held reserve program to both isolate price-suppressing surpluses when necessary as well as provide the country security in the event of food shortages or crop failures. The group, however denounced the reserve program administered by President Carter because price levels that released reserves to flow back into the markets were set low to intentionally cap prices rather than protect them.

An economist and Reagan Agricultural Transition Team member, Dr. Ron Knutson of Texas A&M, had earlier told the farmers that neither Carter's low trigger levels nor their desired income protection levels would be a consideration of the new administration because the reserve on grain would be eliminated entirely. Knutson agreed that such policies will mean that "farm prices will fluctuate more and risk will increase."

Knutson said that although the Reagan Administration would depart from farm program structures, the incoming Secretary of Agriculture, John Block of Illinois, would be "Producer-oriented." Visiting Illinois Farmers Union President Harold Dodd said he agreed that Block would likely be a friend to farmers expressing his pleasure that his background was not with giant agribusiness interests as was the case with previous Republican agriculture officials whom the Farmers Union had so vocally opposed.

Members of the organization witnessed a significant turnover in their own administration as their president for the past nineteen years, Jay Naman of Waco, chose not to seek a new term. Mike Moeller from rural Hayes County captured the top spot in a heated but friendly race with Wayne Richardson from Wolfforth near Lubbock. Joe Rankin, a cotton farmer from Ralls was reelected as Vice President. Moeller said his top priority was "to continue the essential goals held by Jay Naman to focus resources on membership growth, increase farmer involvement through education to critical issues, and to remain outspoken in defense of the family farm."

Farabee Introduces Inheritance Tax Bill

State Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and State Representative Gerald Geistweidt of Mason have pre-filed a bill that would abolish the Texas inheritance tax while retaining the right of the state to receive revenues that would otherwise be paid to the federal government.

Senate Bill 117 and House Bill 325 would enable administrators of estates to use only the federal estate tax form in settlements by eliminating the necessity of filing a separate inheritance tax form for state taxes.

Use of the federal form means that the state would receive tax credit money which would otherwise go to the federal government. By using this federal credit as a means of computing the inheritance tax, the job of the state comptroller's office and others charged with administration would be simplified. This would result in a substantial reduction in the increasing cost of settling an estate. Savings in the state's administration costs have been estimated at over $300,000 in 1983, with very little negative impact on the state's revenues derived from the current tax foreseen.

"The purpose of this bill is to eliminate the Texas inheritance tax as well as maximize the amount of money to the state that now goes to the federal government," said Farabee.

Both legislators point out that the current state inheritance tax is not in the best interest of the state, with Geistweidt stating, "Passage of the bill should save Texas citizens untold millions of dollars in attorneys' and accountants' fees, as well as accomplish the abolition of a confiscatory and unfair tax which our people have suffered under for almost 60 years."

The impact of the Farabee-Geistweidt bill holds particular importance for senior citizens, owners of small estates, farms and ranches. This bill has been endorsed by the State Bar of Texas and has wide support among members of the agricultural and business communities.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

BY JAMES LANIER
I would like to devote this column to a devoted employee of Haskell ISD, Mrs. Mary Sorrells. Mrs. Sorrells has resigned to accept a position with the Stephens County Appraisal District in Breckenridge. Mrs. Sorrells has been working for the School for 23 years. She has been a devoted, dedicated employee who has often gone beyond the call of duty for the benefit of the school and community. Her efficiency and knowledge has been a tremendous asset to four different Superintendents. Her cheerfulness and efficient manner has been a blessing to many people as Mary greeted people at the school office. Her reputation as a school secretary has spread far and wide in West Texas.

A few years ago, she assumed the position of Tax Assessor-Collector. Mary worked long hours until our tax office is surely by far one of the most efficient and complete school tax offices in the state. She has strived to become extremely knowledgeable in the area of taxation.

In truth, we may be losing only one person, but Mrs. Sorrells wore many hats. She was familiar with the entire school operation, especially the business facet. The resignation of this delightful person will be a tremendous loss to our school district, but we certainly wish her well in her new position. The school and community owe Mary a big debt of gratitude for her many years of devoted service.

If I could change "gears" to a personal note for just a few lines, I would like to thank the School Board and the community for the support they have given me in my new role as Superintendent. As was announced in the Free Press last week, my contract was extended for another year. I will continue to strive to my maximum ability to keep the operation of Haskell ISD an efficient program, dedicated to educating our youth to the maximum of their ability. I believe, that by working together and your support, we can make Haskell ISD into a source of pride for the entire community.

Jehovah's Witnesses Schedule Assembly

Area Jehovah's Witnesses are completing arrangements to be present at their regular scheduled circuit assembly. It will be held in their own assembly hall at 224 N. Center St. in Arlington on January 17th and 18th.

The theme of the weekend program will be: "Christians Set Apart from the World," stated Mr. Hoisington, local spokesman for Jehovah's Witnesses. He said the theme will be woven throughout the seventeen different titled parts of this enriching spiritual instruction centered on the Bible. He mentioned that over eight and a half hours of practical teaching from God's Word will be presented on the speaking agenda.

"Beginning with an in depth discussion of our assembly theme, the program will advance to a presentation of benefits we will gain from a special series of Bible educational talks held in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in months ahead. Meaningful explanation will tell us how to remain under Jehovah's protective care and put implicit confidence in him. Real life experiences will relate how the Creator's protection is felt today. Accomplishments as disciples of Jesus Christ will be told by youth. Evidence to prove that the Almighty God safeguards young ones will be heard. Stress will be put on our great need to fight to keep separate from the ungodly practices of society now. Examples will show results in speaking God's Word boldly to others. Encouraging scriptural words will move us to maintain oneness in faith and christian works. One Bible discussion will define our rewarding friendship with God. Water Baptism will be experienced by qualified disciples of Jesus Christ at our assembly also. Then the featured highlight on Sunday afternoon will be the public address entitled: "Our Refuge Amid Increasing Dangers." Many hundreds from northcentral Texas will hear our district supervisor, E.R. Brandt, deliver the Bible discourses," concluded Mr. Hoisington.

Twelve Students Named To All District Band

Twelve students recently traveled to Anson for the All-District Band tryouts. Those who made the All-District Band are Kristi Alves, alto clarinet; Elliott Cox, trumpet; Paul Cox, tenor saxophone; Sharla Drinnon, flute; Kim Lane, clarinet; Shannon Lane, clarinet; Shelly Long, trombone; Sheila Moeller, contra-bass clarinet; Phillip Parker, tuba and trumpet; Janet Wallace, flute and Julie Wallace, bassoon alternate.

These students will participate in rehearsal sessions Jan. 23 and 24. The All-District Band will perform a concert Saturday, Jan. 24 at 7 p.m. Earlier this month four students attended the Region Band tryouts. Kristi Alves, alto clarinet; Cindy Everett, clarinet and Sheila Moeller, contra-bass clarinet made the Region Band. Because of their high ranking in their section at the contest, Cindy Everett and Sheila Moeller will proceed to the All-Area Band tryouts. The Region Band concert will be in Vernon February 2, 1981.

College News

More than 700 students at West Texas State University are listed on the honor roll for the 1980 fall semester.

The Dean's List names 651 students. To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must have been enrolled in at least 12 semester credit hours and ended the semester with a grade point average of 3.25 and higher on a 4.0 scale.

The President's List includes 140 students who have maintained grade point averages between 3.85 and a perfect 4.0 for 12 semester credit hours at WTSU.

WTSU's fall enrollment totaled 6,559 students. Listed on the President's honor roll from Haskell is Mona C. Bledsoe.

Excise Tax Continues

The nation's telephone customers will not get a one percent federal excise tax reduction on telephone service during 1981 as expected.

President Jimmy Carter signed the Fiscal Year 1981 Budget Reconciliation Bill Dec. 5 which contained a provision maintaining the excise tax on telephone and typewriter service at the two percent level in effect during 1980.

The tax, originally 10 percent, was enacted as a "temporary" measure during World War II. Congress voted in 1970 to gradually eliminate the tax, reducing it one percent per year beginning in 1973 until completely eliminated in 1982.

The continuation of the 1979 two percent tax level during 1981 delays elimination of the tax, and is the first time the reduction has not been made on an annual basis since 1972.

General Telephone Company of the Southwest estimates continuation of the two percent level means its customers will pay $4.5 million more in excise taxes during 1981 than if the one percent reduction had occurred.

Cerebral Palsy Drive Set This Weekend

Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc. will be sponsoring a neighborhood drive in support of United Cerebral Palsy. All area youngsters are encouraged to visit their local Allsup's store Saturday, January 17 and Sunday, January 18 to pick up a collection envelope. After collecting donations for Cerebral Palsy and turning it back into the store, Allsup's will give them a free fountain drink of their choice.

"We hope all the children of the area will help us make this telethon more successful than ever before," said Kurt Verlei, Director of Public Relations for Allsup's Convenience Stores. "Cerebral Palsy is an injury to the brain that can never be cured. We feel that money raised will go a long way in helping the Cerebral Palsied lead a more normal life."

Jr. Varsity Girls To Play In Tourney

The HHS Jr. Varsity girls basketball team is scheduled to play in the third annual Jr. High Basketball Tournament at McMurry College in Abilene. The games will be played in the Hunt P.E. Center January 15-16-17.

The Haskell girls' first games will begin Thursday at 7 p.m. as they meet Jefferson.

Other teams in the tournament include Abilene Jr. High, Brownwood and Wiley ninth grade teams.

In case of a win, the Haskell girls will play again on Saturday at noon. With a loss, the second game will be played at 9 a.m. Saturday.

WTC Sets Spring Registration Jan. 19-20

Western Texas College will hold spring semester registration on Jan. 19 and 20, with classes beginning Jan. 21.

Sophomore registration is scheduled from 1-5 p.m. on Monday (Jan. 19), and evening students may register between 6:30-9 p.m. on that day. Freshman registration is set for 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Tuesday (Jan. 20), and registration for all students will continue throughout that afternoon.

WTC will be offering extension center classes at Crosbyton, Colorado City, Haskell, Hamlin and Sweetwater in the spring semester and classes will also begin on Jan. 21 at those locations.

Persons wishing further information about the spring schedule and registration are invited to contact the Student Services office at AC 915 573-8511, extension 204.

Church Of Christ Sets Film Series

A new film series featuring family expert James C. Dobson, Ph.D. will be shown at the Haskell Church of Christ beginning on February 4 and each Wednesday evening at 7:00 p.m. Entitled "Focus on the Family," the series presents seven of Dobson's most popular presentations, all of which were filmed live at family life seminars. Titles of the films are: "The Strong-Willed Child," "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit," "Christian Fathering," "Preparing For Adolescence" Part I: The Origins of Self-Doubt, Part 2: Peer Pressure and Sexuality, "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women"—Part 1: The Lonely Housewife, Part 2: Money, Sex and Children.

James C. Dobson, Ph.D. is Associate Clinical Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Southern California School of Medicine. He is a licensed psychologist in the State of California, a husband, father, and author of several best-selling books including: "Dare To Discipline" (over one million copies sold), "Hide Or Seek," "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women," "The Strong-Willed Child," and his latest book entitled "Preparing for Adolescence." He also speaks on a radio series "Focus On The Family," which is syndicated to 134 stations.

It is with great pleasure that Nelda and I announce the arrival of STEREO 95 to the Rolling Plains. It is our sincere hope that STEREO 95 will bring great pleasure to the listening audience and enhance the economic community of the area.

We will be bringing new families to Haskell. Please welcome them to the fellowship and brotherhood of the community.

Thank You,
Ken Lane

Haskell Resident Wins Third Place

Rick Lindsey of Haskell won the third place trophy during the Third Annual World of Wheels held at Taylor County Coliseum in Abilene Jan. 2-4.

Lindsey's 1955 Chevrolet 2-door hardtop entered in the Early Conservative Hardtop category won the third place honors making him a second-time winner. In the 1980 show Lindsey's 1968 Ford convertible took first place honors.

Lindsey is the owner of Lindsey Auto Sales in Stamford.

The World of Wheels is one of 200 similar events held throughout the United States and Canada each year.

Entries are divided into such classes as hot rods, customs, street machines, pickups, vans, motorcycles, racing vehicles, boats, antiques, classics, sports cars, off road and special interest.

The next show scheduled is the Seventh Annual Rod and Custom Show to be held in the Abilene Civic Center January 17-18. The event will be sponsored by the Big Country Pacers with proceeds going to benefit the Abilene Boys Club.

Entry blanks for the show must be in Abilene no later than Friday, Jan. 16.

General information may be obtained from Lindsey Auto Sales, 1101 North Swenson, Stamford or phone 773-2134.

Cotton Classing

The 1980-81 cotton harvest was almost completed before being delayed by light rain on Thursday. B.B. Manly reported that cotton producers made substantial progress with the harvest during the past two weeks, but several thousand bales of seed cotton remain on gin yards waiting to be ginned. About 37,000 cotton samples were classed at the USDA Cotton Marketing Services Office in Abilene during the week ending Jan. 8, which brought the seasonal total to 156,000. An additional 9600 samples were classed at Munday, which brought the seasonal total to 29,000 at that office. The combined total of 185,000 compares to about 809,000 samples classed at the two offices by this time last season.

Local cotton prices were weak to one cent per pound lower during the past week. Staple 31 or longer cotton sold at 33 to 37 cents per pound over loan values, and staple 30 or shorter cotton sold at 38 to 33 cents over the loan. Grade 42, staple 31 cotton miking 35 to 49 sold at 76 to 78 1/2 cents per pound. Demand was mostly moderate, and trading was also moderate. Cottonseed prices paid producers ranged from $110 to $125 per ton.

The quality of cotton classed in Abilene was slightly lower than that of the previous week. Grades were 1% white, 30% light-spotted, 66% spotted, and about 3% tinged. Grade 53 continued as the predominant grade classed at 35 percent. Grade 43 comprised 26%, grade 52 comprised 17%, and grade 42 comprised 10% of the samples classed. About 6% were below grade, as compared to 9% the previous week. Fiber length was 38% staple 31, 31% staple 32, and 17% staple 30; with the average staple length again 31.3 this week. Micronaire readings were 87% within the 35 to 49 range and 12% low mike, with the average being 40. About 42% of the samples classed were reduced in grade for bark or grass. Fiber strength tests averaged 85,000 pounds per square inch breaking strength for the week and also for the season.

The quality of cotton classed at the Munday Marketing Services Office was comparable to that of the previous week. Grade 42 was the predominant grade classed at 48 percent. Grade 52 comprised 25% and grade 43 comprised 14% of the samples classed. Fiber length was 47% staple 32, 25% staple 31, and 20% staple 33. Micronaire readings were 86% within the 35 to 49 range. About 20% was reduced in grade because of bark or grass content.

Stenholm Sets Summer Internship

Students and teachers interested in participating in the second summer internship program sponsored by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm can pick up applications at the Congressman's Abilene District Office in the Federal Building.

Applications for the program, which will include two Omar Burleson Congressional Interns and two Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional Interns, must be postmarked by midnight, February 14, and mailed to the Abilene office.

The interns selected will receive full Congressional Office experience at Stenholm's Washington office, with one intern from each program to serve during June or July of this year.

"After the overwhelming success evidenced by our first internships last year, I had no hesitation in sponsoring the program again," Stenholm said. "The four young people who served during the initial program were truly outstanding workers and I feel that the experience they received will serve them well in the future, whether in a government-related field or as private citizens."

Selection for the internships is made by a District-wide seven-person selection committee, chaired by former Congressman Omar Burleson.

Applicants for the Burleson internships must be 18 years of age at the time he or she is in Washington, allowing high school seniors who have enrolled in an institute of higher learning to be eligible. Others eligible include any student or graduate student who was enrolled during the preceding academic year at any of the District colleges, universities or technical institutes, or any other school, if the person's home of record is within the District.

Also eligible are teachers, counselors or administrators in any District elementary, middle school, junior high or high school or any instructor, any grade of professorship or administrator of any institution of higher learning within the District. The only requirement is that the person be involved actively in working with students.

Requirements for the LBJ interns are similar, but teachers must be involved in government or social studies at a secondary or post secondary school in the District.

"The program is designed to provide the intern (either student or teacher) with a full Congressional legislative experience in the Washington office," Stenholm said. Formal applications and further details may be obtained from the Abilene District Congressional Office, P.O. Box 1101, Abilene, Texas 79604, or by calling AC 915 673-7221.

Social Security Payments Explained

If you're wondering whether you'll get your money's worth from today's Social Security System, the answer is, in most cases, "yes."

On January 1, 1981, Social Security payroll-tax rates rose from 6.13 percent of earnings to 6.65 percent, and the earnings base upon which workers and employers pay the payroll tax also rose from $25,900 to $29,700. These tax increases were legislated in 1977, in an effort by Congress to strengthen the financing of Social Security.

The rising tax rates have led many people to ask: Will I get back in Social Security benefits the higher amounts that I will pay in taxes? Will Social Security continue to be a good value? The answer, for the most part, is yes!

Let us explain why this is so. Employers and employees each contribute to Social Security in equal amounts. The combined payroll tax really finances four different kinds of social insurance benefits: retirement benefits, survivors and disability benefits, and hospital insurance for those age 65 and over and for the long-term disabled.

As under any insurance plan, people who suffer the insured risks will receive more than those who do not. For example, if your automobile is never damaged in an accident, or if your house or apartment never catches fire, obviously you will receive less of a return from your automobile and fire insurance than someone who did experience those things. But we buy insurance precisely because we can't predict the future. We don't know if we will live to a very old age, or if the inflation rate will further escalate to erode our savings, or if our paychecks will stop due to disability or death. For example, 42 percent of today's young men will die or become disabled before age 65. For young women the figure is 28 percent. Therefore, we protect ourselves against these risks in an affordable way.

That's what Social Security does: it protects you throughout your life against a number of different risks that you could not foresee as a young man or woman. At the present time about 45% of all Social Security payments are to those disabled, survivors of deceased workers and for Medicare benefits. Most of the remaining 55% is used to pay retirement benefits since the cost of administering the program is only 1.5%.

A person who had high earnings has usually had opportunities to add to Social Security retirement benefits with private pensions or savings to maintain a certain standard of living in the retirement years. But people who have had low earnings during their work career, usually have not been able to afford to do the same. Many look to Social Security as all or a major part of their income. Therefore, benefits are calculated to take this into account. The benefits for lower paid workers represent a higher rate of replacement of their earnings. This is one of the main differences between social insurance and individually purchased private insurance. Similarly, if you marry and have children to support, you would need relatively higher benefits; and Social Security pays more if workers have eligible dependents than to single individuals.

In other words, different workers, depending upon their circumstances, will receive different benefits from Social Security because it is a social insurance program. Even those workers who, upon reaching retirement age, have always earned the maximum and have never married or become disabled, were potentially protected in ways other than their own retirement benefits, because of the provisions in Social Security that would have benefited them if they had married, earned less, or become disabled.

With relatively few exceptions, workers, including those who just entered the work force, can expect to receive benefits equal to or greater than the taxes they themselves can expect to pay. Some people, such as highly paid workers who never marry, may expect benefits that are not worth as much as the taxes they can expect to pay.

Let's focus for the moment solely on the cash benefits payable to retired workers. A worker who retired at the end of 1979 at age 65 paid over his or her working career no more than $11,203 in Social Security taxes. That same person would recoup those tax payments in a little over 17 months as a Social Security beneficiary. If you consider that the average man age 65 can expect to live until age 79, and the average woman age 65 can expect to live until age 83, then it is easy for you to see that the average worker retiring now can expect to receive far more in lifetime Social Security benefits than he or she ever paid in taxes, even if you adjust the payments for interest.

But what about average young workers, you may ask? Will they get back what they paid into Social Security? Given the present system, the answer is in general, "yes." In fact, the average young working man with dependents can expect to receive benefits with a value more than three times the value of what he can expect to pay in taxes under a reasonable set of actuarial assumptions. A working woman who never marries, and who has average earnings, can expect to receive benefits worth more than two times the value of her expected taxes.

The issue becomes slightly more complicated, however, if you consider what employers contribute in Social Security taxes. On average, young workers as a group still can expect to receive benefits from Social Security that are worth more than the taxes they and their employers can expect to pay. For example, if we take those in the age group 20-24, they and their dependents can, on average, expect to receive benefits with value roughly 15 percent greater than their payroll taxes and their employers' payroll taxes combined. This calculation includes appropriate adjustment for interest that could be earned elsewhere. And if you consider only the taxes the young workers themselves would pay, then they would get back 130 percent more in benefits. Again these figures are projections based on a reasonable set of assumptions as to the mortality experience of the group, interest rates applicable to their funds and other actuarial assumptions.

I hope that these numbers will put to rest any concerns that you have about getting your money's worth from Social Security. But I also hope you will remember that your Social Security taxes pay for a lot more than retirement benefits, that the benefits you or your family will receive from Social Security are indexed to rise with the cost-of living, and the Social Security benefits are tax-free.

Energy Assistance Now Available

The Home Energy Assistance Act of 1980, Public Law 96-223, Title III, establishes the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP). The program is designed to assist low income households in meeting the increased cost of energy for heating and cooling their homes. It is federally funded through the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). In Texas, the program is administered by the Department of Human Resources (TDHR).

There are two primary eligibility requirements for the heating assistance element of the program:

1. the household must have energy costs that are subject to increases; and
2. the household must have both low income and low resources.

In Texas, several hundred thousand households meet these requirements. The Department expects to make payments to approximately 600,000 households.

Once an applicant household has been certified for a HEAP payment, the local eligibility determination office will notify TDHR in Austin, where the household will be checked to assure that no duplicate payments are made. If the certified household has not received an earlier HEAP payment, a state warrant will be prepared and mailed directly to the certified household. The household should receive its payment within 20-30 days from the date of certification.

All applicants have the right to: a timely determination of eligibility (within 30 days of application); courteous service; reasonable assistance in completing the application; a review of any decision and, if necessary, a formal hearing; and confidential treatment of all information required for eligibility determination.

For more information contact the Texas Department of Human Resources 864-2694 before February 28, 1981.
