1981 Sales Tax Shows Increase

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday made payments totaling $33.1 million to nearly a thousand cities levying the optional one percent city sales tax.

The payments represent the first rebates to cities this year who collect city sales tax and about $10 million more than the cities received in January of last year.

The City of Haskell received a check for $5,724.60, a 77% increase over the $3,217.79 received for the same time last year.

The biggest check--$6.6 million--went to Houston, a 31 percent increase over last January's check.

Dallas received a check for $3.7 million, a 42 percent increase over the $2.6 million received last year.

Fort Worth will receive a check for $1.2 million compared to $971,920 for the same period last year.

San Antonio will receive a check for $1.7 million this month compared to $1.3 million for January of 1980.

The city sales tax is collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and businesses and rebated monthly to the cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller.

With the completion of another successful Haskell County Junior Livestock Show, a large group of people deserve some recognition for their efforts.

While the efforts of the superintendents, judges, and committee members is necessary to the show two groups are often left out.

The parents of the exhibitors through their support of their children provide one ingredient which is vital to the success of the show.

Visiting people who have viewed many such events repeatedly express their amazement at an almost undecipherable bond between parents and children at the Haskell show. A bond which outsiders say is not as apparent as other shows.

Another group vital to the success of the show is the buyers at the premium sale.

Recognizing the hard work and benefits to the exhibitors, buyers at the premium sale last week paid approximately $23,000.00.

Final totals of the sale were not available at press time but will be published next week.

The sale was only slightly down from the 1980 record sale of $27,482.50. During a year of economic uncertainty and crop failure, this year's sale was much larger than expected and exhibits the support of the Haskell area toward young people who will put forth effort in performing a worthy task.

Funds Available For Fluoridation Projects

That often heard of ounce of prevention—in the form of fluoridation—can frequently accomplish more than the proverbial pound of cure by reducing dental bills and suffering.

"No other public health measure offers so much for so little," says Linda Crossett, R.D.H., administrator of the Texas Department of Health's Texas Fluoridation Project. "At a yearly cost of 25 cents a person, tooth decay in a community can be reduced by 65 percent among children from birth to 12 years of age."

"Conservative estimates show that 20 percent of the children growing up in communities with fluoridated water can reduce decay 50 percent among teenagers through age 16," she said. Benefits do not stop with the young. Fluoridated water continues to benefit the teeth into adulthood, reducing tooth loss and the need for dentures.

"Fluoridation even helps the elderly by strengthening bones and reducing osteoporosis, in which bones become abnormally porous," says Crossett.

Texas has several areas where the natural fluoridation levels are high enough to protect teeth from decay. If fluoride levels are excessive, no disease results, but the enamel may become stained or "mottled," a term first used by Colorado dentist Frederick McKay in 1902. Some of his patients had mottled tooth enamel, but had little or no decay.

The first controlled studies on fluoridation began in 1945. Marshall, Texas was one of the first cities in the nation to implement controlled fluoridation. Thousands of communities have followed suit in instituting controlled fluoridation. Close to 60 percent of all Texans benefit from fluoridated water, either controlled or natural. A dozen major Texas cities have controlled fluoridation, and nearly 600 Texas cities have naturally fluoridated water.

Texas communities can now receive financial and technical assistance in fluoridating their water systems from the Texas Department of Health. Under a grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, communities installing fluoridation systems for the first time may be reimbursed for the cost of the equipment, installation, engineering fees and chemicals for two years. The Texas Fluoridation Project also helps to establish a monitoring and surveillance system to provide daily checks on fluoride levels. Training for water system operators is also provided as part of the grant.

The Department's Bureau of Dental Health administers the project. "We're available to assist in the promotion and education of the public on fluoridation when needed," states Helen Hill, the information specialist for the project.

All work is coordinated closely with the Department's Division of Water Hygiene which provides the engineering and the technical assistance to local communities participating in the project.

Major health organizations in the world have endorsed the concept of fluoridation, including the P.T.A., the World Health Organization, the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service, and many more. Corresponding agencies in Texas, including the Texas Medical Association, the Texas Dental Association, and the Texas Public Health Association have similarly endorsed fluoridation.

Numerous public opinion surveys show 10-12 percent of the people oppose fluoridation, 50-70 percent favor it; and the remainder are undecided. Research shows that century-old communities with naturally fluoridated water supplies experience no greater incidence of disease than areas without fluoridated water.

Numerous, repeated studies by medical and research groups, including the National Cancer Institute, the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute, and the Center for Disease Control have continuously refuted claims that fluoridation is harmful. The Surgeon General calls the fluoridation of water supplies, "the single most important step a community can take to improve its dental health."

Optimum fluoride levels vary depending on average water consumption in a region, but recommendations for Texas are just below one part per million. Any community or private water system serving 1,000 or more people can receive assistance from the Texas Fluoridation Project. An estimated 430 such community systems are eligible. Each community must file an application to begin the process of obtaining assistance with fluoridation. Write to Linda S. Crossett, R.D.H., Texas Department of Health, Bureau of Dental Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.

Farabee Appointed Chairman

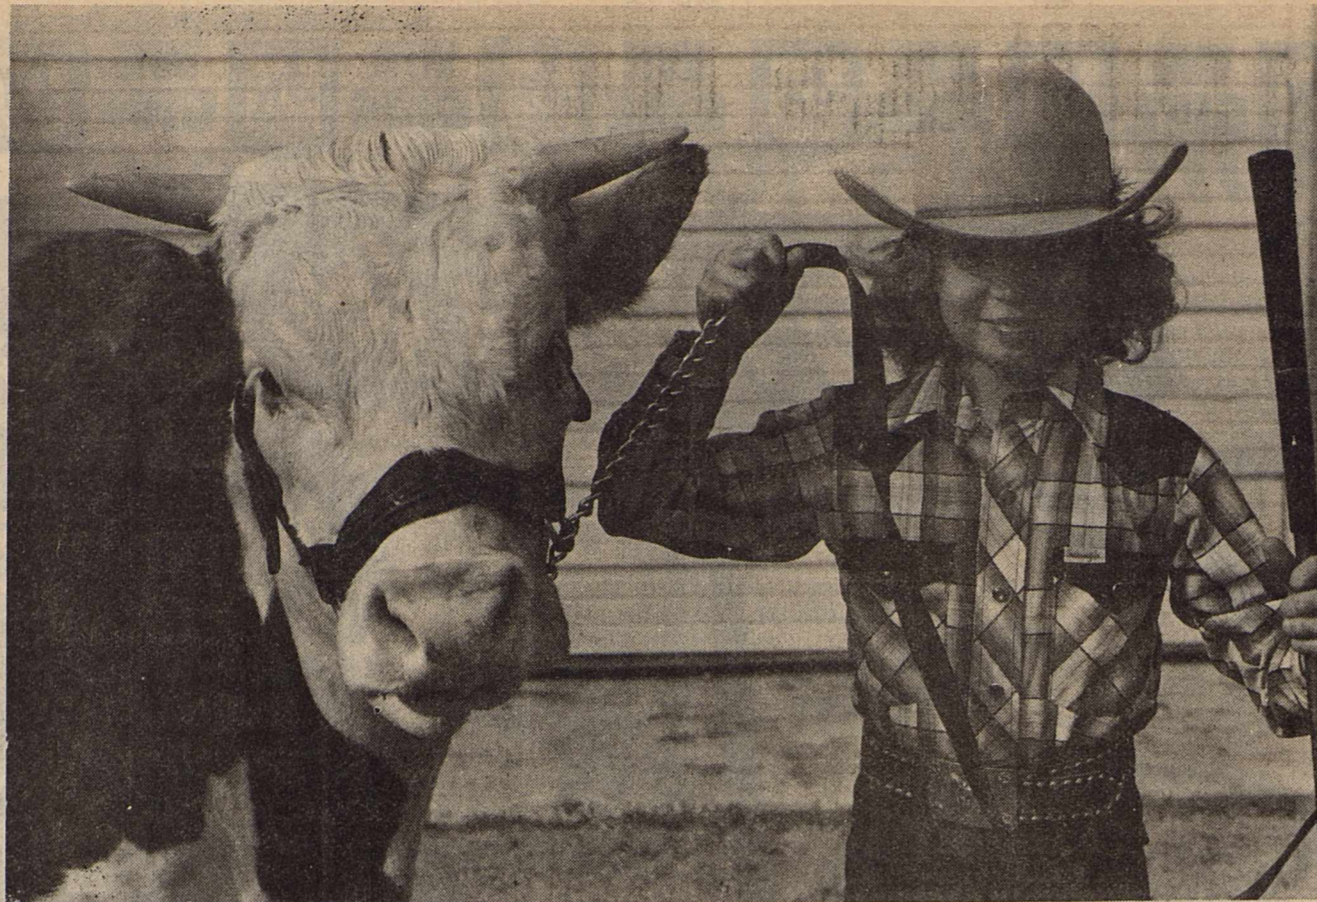

Senator Ray Farabee was appointed today to serve as Chairman of the powerful Senate State Affairs Committee as the Sixty-Seventh Texas Legislature convened for its biennial 140-day session.

Farabee expressed pleasure at the appointment which provides a major responsibility and a greater opportunity for service to the State and to the people of Haskell County and the 28 other counties in the 30th Senatorial District, representing over 370,000 people.

"The State Affairs and Finance Committees, with 13 members each, are the largest Senate Committees. State Affairs has traditionally handled more legislation than any other Senate Committee. It is particularly an honor to succeed the former senior member of the Senate, Bill Moore, as Chairman," Farabee said.

"I appreciate the confidence Lt. Governor Bill Hobby has shown in making this appointment to a broad-based Committee dealing with matters of state-wide importance," Farabee continued. "I have enjoyed the opportunity to serve as Chairman of the Senate Jurisprudence Committee and will continue pursuing my interest in improving our system of justice," the Senator continued.

Senator Farabee will continue to be a member of the Legislative Budget Board, the Senate Finance Committee, and the Senate Jurisprudence Committee. He has previously served on the Natural Resources Committee and will remain active in vital issues concerning energy and agricultural matters.

VALUE FORUM realizing the worth of your possessions

By Dexter D. MacBride, ASA
Executive Vice President
American Society of Appraisers

The comments in this column are directed to the owners/operators of the nation's "small businesses."

One of the principal problems facing this numerous (and very important) group is that of continuity. Briefly stated, small businesses must not only "survive" in the daily competitive sense of "doing business," the continuation of a small business is often in peril when retirement or death of the principal forces an ownership change. How can the business be continued by persons who may not be thoroughly acquainted with the operation (perhaps by a surviving spouse)? What about the tax burden which confronts the new owner; a burden which often forces sale or dissolution of the business?

The U. S. Small Business Administration is especially concerned with the problem of "Continuity." The October 28, 1980 Federal Register carried this notice:

"The Office of the Chief Counsel for Advocacy will continue its study of the question of what changes are needed in laws, regulations or institutions in order to enhance the financing of a change of ownership on the exit or retirement of owners, or the death or disability of founders or family members."

During consultation with a Special Task Force Group of Small Business representatives who met in Washington, D.C. in November to discuss the factors involved in "continuity," I suggested:

(1) The most important steps in assuring continuity in a small, closely-held business must be taken by the principal(s);

(2) These steps must be taken well in advance of "exit," retirement, disposition situations;

(3) Every small business principal should know the value of the total business... the "going enterprise" valuation. This value should be determined and documented in a written appraisal report prepared by a tested/certified professional appraiser. It should be much more than a "real estate appraisal;" it should be a total valuation representing real estate, equipment, intangibles such as patents/copyrights, stock, goodwill, etc. In appraisal terminology, "the basic components of a business enterprise are (a) working capital, (b) fixed assets, and in most instances, but not in every case, (c) intangible assets."

(4) With the value of the business thus determined, the principal(s) should then adopt a program for estate and tax purposes. Professional tax counsel and legal counsel, working with the value base provided by the appraiser, will assist in creating the kind of planning that will assure optimum conditions for continuing the Small Business.

(5) If government (the SBA in this case) wants to help the small business principal: publicize the need for advance planning; emphasize the need for professionally-prepared appraisal reports; stress the equal need for tax and legal counsel. Advise all small business principals: know the worth of your Going Enterprise; document that worth with an Appraisal Report; share that report with tax and legal counsel.

For further information on valuation and appraisal aspects, write American Society of Appraisers, Dept. A, Dulles Int'l. Airport, P.O. Box 17265, Washington, D.C. 20041.

14-3 1/2 Pound Bass Sets New Record

The 37-year-old state record for largemouth bass, broken only last year, has been shattered again in less than 12 months.

John Alexander Jr. of Richardson caught a 14-pound, 3 1/2-ounce largemouth at Echo Lake near Athens Saturday (Jan. 10), beating the old record of 14 1/2 set by Jim Kimball of Pittsburg at Lake Monticello last Feb. 2.

Alexander was using a black jig with a rubber skirt and pork eel when he caught the record fish from the 175-acre private club lake. He was using 20-pound-test line.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Alan Forshage of Tyler examined the fish and found it to be a pure Florida strain bass of the type stocked in the lake by Tyler State Fish Hatchery crews in 1972. The fish was 26 inches long and 21 1/2 inches in girth.

Bilogists were not surprised the lake produced a new record, since catches of numerous bass over 12 pounds had been reported there. In fact, Gary Martin of Grand Prairie caught a 13-pound, two-ounce bass there just a week before Alexander's catch.

Forshage said he believes it likely that the state record could easily fall again in the next two months. This could happen at Lakes Echo, Monticello or any of several small East Texas impoundments which have received stockings of Florida bass. Lake Calaveras near San Antonio also is in the running as it produced a 13-pounder a year ago.

Rice Springs News

The new year is well on the way now without too many problems I guess. About my biggest problem is remembering to put 1981 on things instead of 1980.

Things here at the home are going along about normal. We have welcomed two new residents since my last writing. They are Trudie Wheeler of Haskell and Lelia Nanny of Paint Creek. We hope these ladies will like being a part of the Rice Springs family.

We also lost another resident in death and at this time we would like to extend our sympathy to the family of Maggie Martin. She will be missed by all.

January is a big month for residents' birthdays and we've had three ladies to celebrate theirs since I last reported. They are June Smith who celebrated hers on the 8th, Beulah Persons on the 9th, and Alma Cole on the 10th. We hope all of these had enjoyable birthdays. We've also had two of our couples to celebrate their anniversaries in the past two weeks. They are Manley and Hazel Branch who celebrated their 44th on the 2nd of January and Hoyt and Lois Gray who celebrated their 70th on January the 8th.

At a time when the divorce rate is so high, it is really good to see these large numbers of years for marriages. We hope both these couples enjoyed their anniversaries very much.

Manley Branch was a hospital patient for a few days, but has gotten to return to the home and seems to be feeling much better.

Again we want to thank all our volunteer people for the last two weeks and just to tell them what a good job they continue to do month after month and some year after year. We just couldn't make it here if we didn't have people like all our volunteers who don't mind giving just a little extra of themselves to help others and that sure makes a lot of people in this home happy. Just keep up the good work.

Our volunteers for the past couple of weeks were the Haskell Assembly of God Church for our Sunday morning services during the month of January, Haskell Church of Christ for the Sunday afternoon services, the Haskell and Paint Creek First United Methodist UMW, Martin Jacobsen, Jo Simpson, the Sweet Home Singers, Darrell and Connie Feemster, and Mae Holcomb.

James Hiberd of Sherman visited in the home.

Visiting A.C. Boggs, were Thomas Long and Carla Randolph of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Suttle of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. C.E. Brasher of Seymour.

have any old plastic flowers, pieces of yarn or pieces of calico print, we would appreciate your donation of these to the home for our craft time. Also we could use volunteers to help call our bingo games on Thursday afternoon and some one-to-one visitors.

Our out-of-county visitors for the past two weeks were: Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bevil of Stamford visited her mother, Dovie Gregory.

Jay, Fayma, Jason, and Alice Humphreys of Elysian, New Mexico visited Emma Humphreys.

James Hiberd of Sherman visited in the home.

Visiting A.C. Boggs, were Thomas Long and Carla Randolph of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Suttle of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. C.E. Brasher of Seymour.

Chester Jones of Houston and Lelia and Doug Hix of Wichita Falls came to see Annie Jones.

Golden Globe Awards Predict Oscars And Emmys

Everyone knows the importance of an Academy Award. To win an Oscar could consolidate an actor's career or elevate a film's royalties by millions of dollars.

Not everyone knows that next to the Oscars in importance and longevity are the Golden Globe Awards, given by the Hollywood Foreign Press Association (HFPA).

Presented in January, these awards have an astounding track record in predicting the winners of the Academy's ceremonies in April. The Globes have marked the route the Oscars have followed for 37 years. Last year, for example, "Kramer vs. Kramer" was presented with a Golden Globe in the category of Best Motion Picture-Drama, while Dustin Hoffman carried away the honor of Best Motion Picture Actor-Drama.

The Golden Globes also attract more stars in its ceremony with sixteen categories in film and nine in television. As a precursor to the Emmys, last year the Golden Globes honored the "Lou Grant," "Alice," and "Taxi" television series.

This year "The 38th Annual Golden Globe Awards" can be seen Saturday, January 31, from 9-11 p.m. ET on the CBS Television Network. This Special is sponsored in part by Kraft, Inc. and will be presented live from the Beverly Hilton in Los Angeles.

"Our ceremony is often considered a fun gathering of celebrities in the entertainment world. Minus the inherent tensions of other the members of the Hollywood Foreign Press Association. This group consists of 76 film and television critics who write for approximately 200 million readers of newspapers and magazines published in more than 30 countries around the world. The HFPA was born in 1943, when various foreign correspondents casually met on a movie studio set and decided to unify in order to form a more effective means to gather information. Today, the HFPA formally meets with stars of television and film on an average of once a week.

"It's fun to give awards and to acknowledge those people who work so hard in the arts," says Ms. Ruuth. "Our readers are very familiar with these awards, perhaps more so than the Oscars or the Emmys."

In addition to the 25 awards given in television and film, the Golden Globe ceremonies include a special award for lifetime achievement named after Cecil B. DeMille which is selected exclusively by the association's Board of Directors. Personalities who have won this award in the past include Walt Disney, Bing Crosby, Judy Garland, James Stewart, John Wayne, Bette Davis, Alfred Hitchcock, Lucille Ball, and most recently, Henry Fonda.

more formal award ceremonies, the Golden Globes aim for an intimate and friendly approach," says Marianne Ruuth, president of the HFPA and Swedish correspondent.

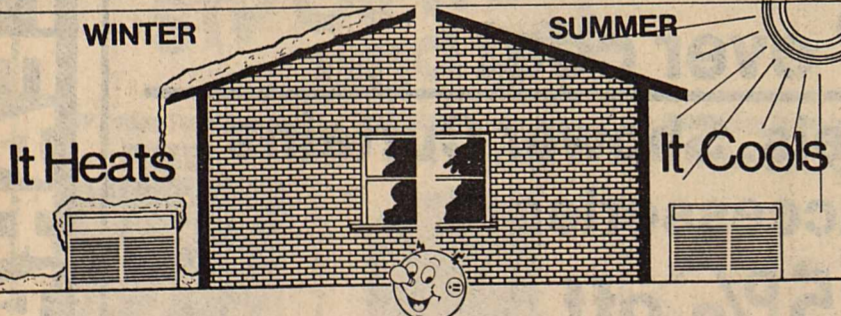

Many of the stars know, and are comfortable with,

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

As our nation begins to grapple with its economic problems, and as the new Congress and Administration start work, the federal budget will be the subject of a great deal of concern and discussion.

That is as it should be, for controlling the size of the budget is an essential step toward solving all of the problems facing our economy. But adopting the budget is a long and complex process. It involves all quarters of the legislative and executive branches of government. Each step is important, and a roadblock in one phase affects every subsequent step. So I would like to take a moment to outline the basic actions involved in determining what the federal government will spend.

We are currently in "fiscal year" 1981, which began Oct. 1. There probably will be modifications to that year's budget in the coming months, but the wheels already are in motion for the budget for fiscal year 1982, which will begin next October.

The first official action is the presentation to the Congress of the President's budget recommendation, based on consultation with the various agencies and arms of the executive branch. President Carter already has sent Congress his budget, and President Reagan will send his recommendations as soon as he and his Cabinet make decisions on priorities.

The Congress can approve, modify or reject any of the President's recommendations.

In Congress, the budget is determined through three different processes. The first step is called authorization. The various committees of the House and Senate look at the needs in areas under their jurisdiction and "authorize" programs and spending levels to meet those needs. The Armed Services Committee, for instance, is responsible for defense budget authorization.

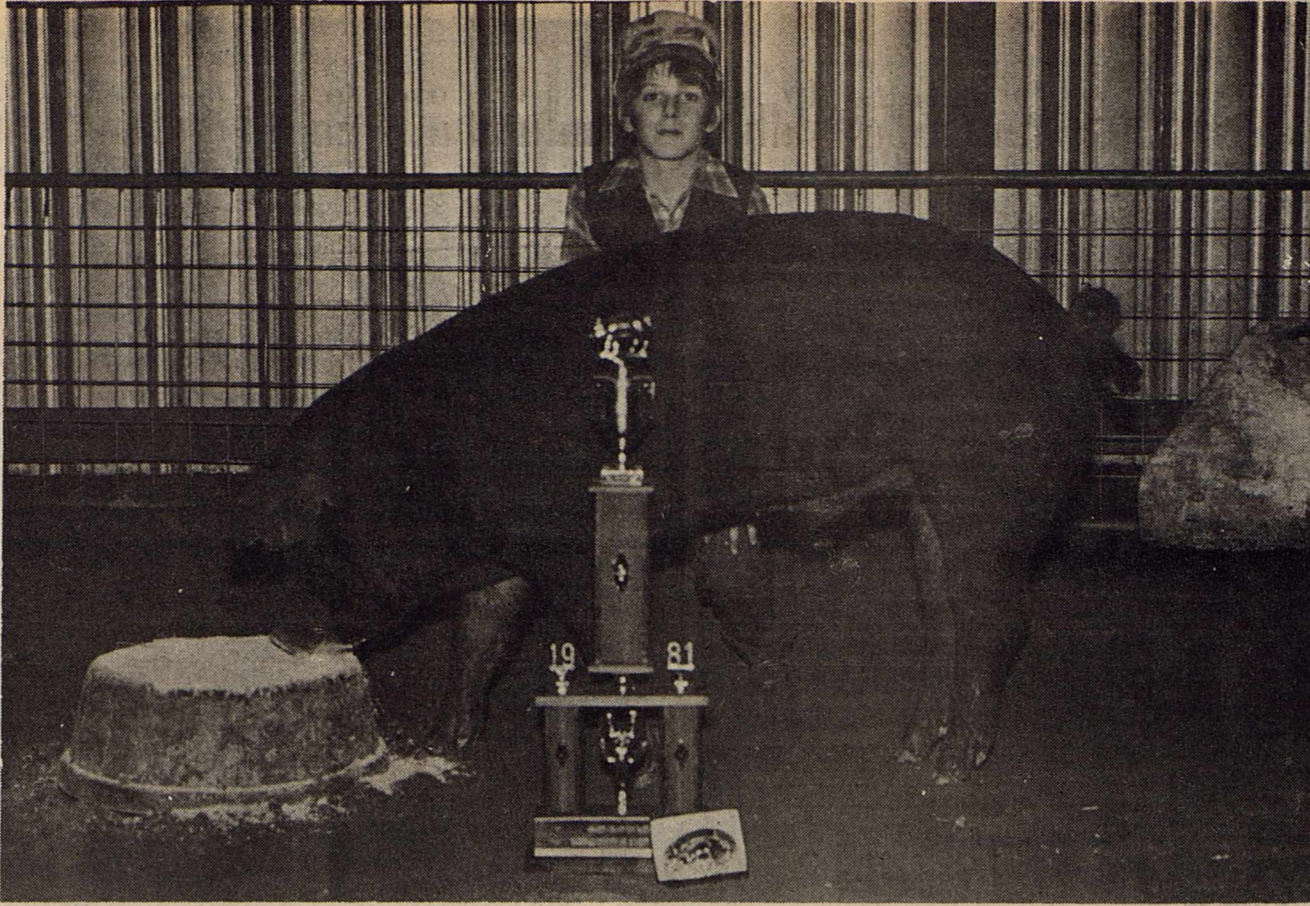

Each of the committees reports its budget estimates to the Budget Committee, which then compiles a recommended overall budget. This first "Concurrent Budget Resolution," passed by the House and Senate, becomes the blueprint for all future action. That step allows Congress to look at the budget as a whole.

With the Budget resolution in hand, the Congress is ready to move to the appropriations process. The appropriations bills set out what actually is to be spent during the year for each program in the budget. The authorization bill sets the ceiling for the appropriation. Simultaneously, any tax legislation is considered, also in light of the Budget Resolution.

When action is completed on all money bills, the Congress adopts a Second Concurrent Budget resolution, which firmly sets spending limits. It also relates these figures to projected revenues, and calculates the resulting deficit or surplus.

Each of these steps involves both the Senate and the House. In most cases, the two bodies will adopt bills that differ in their provisions. Then a Conference Committee ironed out the differences and presents the compromise bill to the two houses. Before a bill is sent to the President, both houses must approve identical versions.

In recent years, Congress has had problems meeting its budget deadlines. It is my hope that this year, we can act in timely fashion so that the budget can be in place when the new fiscal year begins.

Cotton Classing

B.B. Manly of the Abilene USDA Cotton Marketing Services Office reported that the 1980-81 cotton harvest has been practically completed, and that a few ginners have completed ginning operations. About 33,600 cotton samples were classed at Abilene during the week ending January 15. An additional 8700 samples were classed at Munday. This brought the combined seasonal total for the two offices to 227,000 samples classed.

Local cotton prices declined by about 1½ cents per pound during the past week. Prices were mostly 28 to 34 cents per pound over CCC loan values. Grade 43, staple 32 cotton miking 35 to 49 sold at 69½ to 71 cents per pound. Demand was mostly light, and trading was slow to inactive. Cottonseed prices paid producers ranged from $105 to $125 per ton, at mostly around $115 per ton.

The quality of cotton classed in Abilene last week was about the same as during the previous week. Grades were 1% white, 27% light-spotted, 68% spotted, and 4% tinged. Grade 53 continued as the predominant grade at 36 percent. Grade 43 comprised 17 percent. About 6% of the cotton classed was below grade. Fiber length was 35% staple 31, 32% staple 32, 17% staple 30, and 11% staple 33; with the average staple length being 31.3. Micronaire readings were 87% within the 35 to 49 range. The average mike reading was 40. About 47% of the samples classed were reduced in grade because of bark or grass. Fiber strength tests averaged 83,000 pounds per square inch breaking strength during the past week, and have averaged 84,000 for the season.

Cotton classed at the Munday Marketing Services Office was 38% grade 42, 27% grade 43, 20% grade 52, and 10% grade 53. Fiber length was 41% staple 32, 38% staple 31, and 12% staple 33. Micronaire readings were 88% within the 35 to 49 range. About 22% of the cotton classed at Munday was reduced in grade because of bark or grass content.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—With inflation pushing the price of a new car out of the reach of many pocketbooks, consumers are searching for lower-costing transportation. Many, for the first time, are considering buying a used car.

If you are one of the many who decide to purchase a used car, take a few precautions when shopping so you will end up with one you can be satisfied with, one that won't cause any unpleasant surprises when you get it home.

Why should the purchase of a used car so often lead to misunderstandings? Well, primarily, because the typical consumer doesn't enter the market often enough to know what to look for, and what to avoid. If the consumer does his "homework," he will know how to shop for an automobile.

Our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division attorneys recommend the following steps when buying a car.

—Select several established dealers and shop carefully. Reputable dealers will not object to comparisons with competitors.

—Remember that every used car you look at has a history, but it's your job to find out what it is. One step is to copy the Vehicle Identification Number from the engine block or dashboard, the license plate number, the number from the inspection sticker, and the mileage.

—Then call the Motor Vehicle Division of the Department of Public Safety in Austin (512/475-7611) and give them the V.I.N. and license plate number, and ask for the name and address of the title owner of the car. (Usually the used car dealer won't have the title in his name.)

—Call or write the owner and ask for information about the car: the mileage when sold, the selling price, and any problems he might have had with the car. Then compare what he tells you with the information given by the used car dealer.

—Check the odometer of the car. Examine the tires, the grease and oil stickers, the brake pedal and the interior of the model you choose. A low odometer reading won't mean much if other indicators point to heavier use.

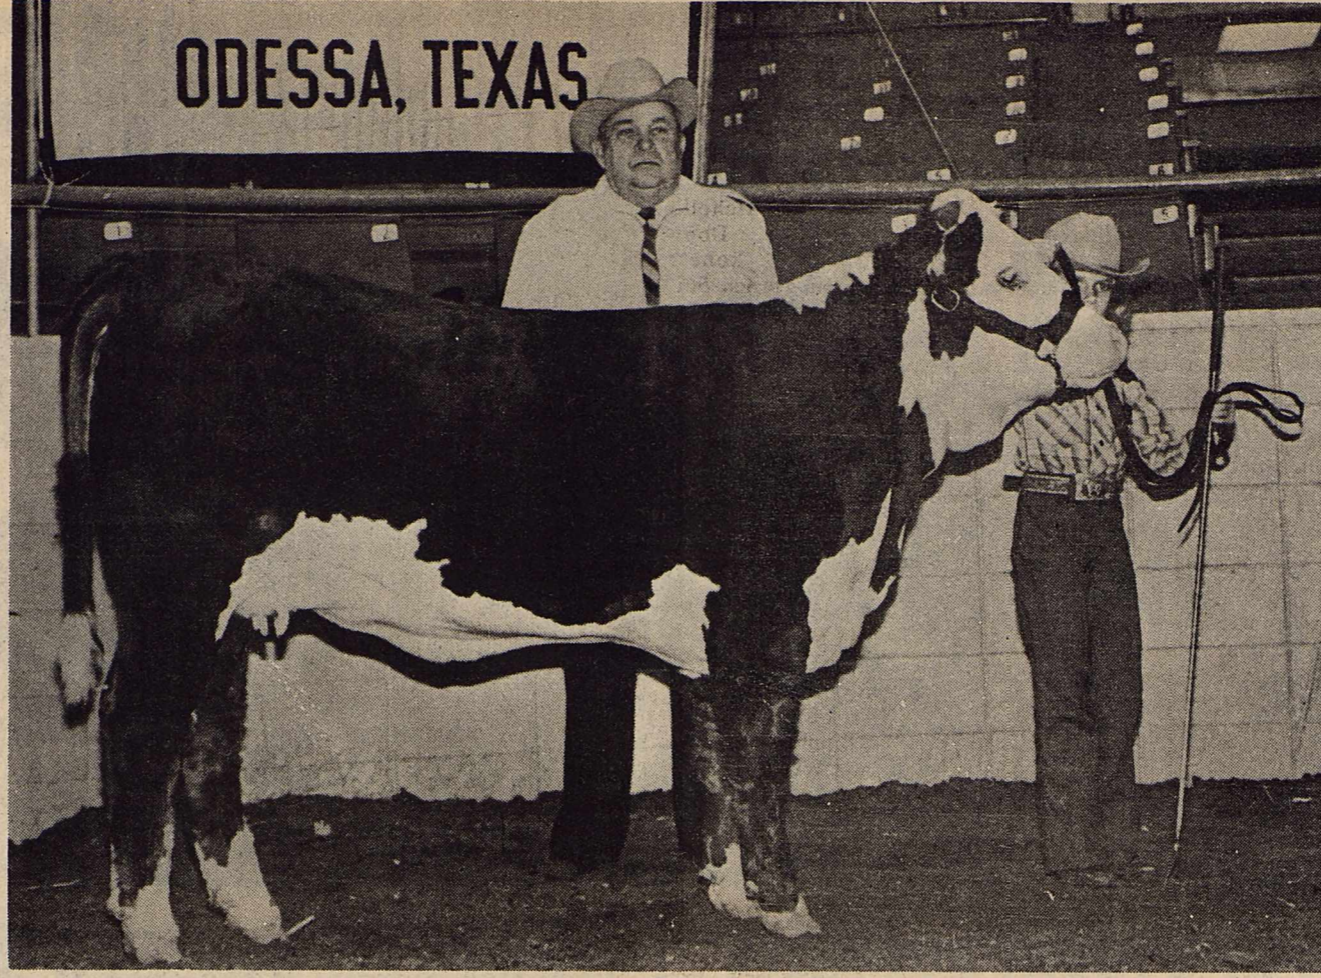

—While some recon-ditioned used cars will have a limited warranty, most are sold "as is," so you should be very careful to check for any potential problems. This means thoroughly test driving the car, being on the lookout for odd noises, oil burning, "mushy" brakes, or unusual shakes. Try all equipment, testing heater, air conditioner, windshield wipers and radio. Also check the tires. If anything needs repair or replacement, you can bargain to have the price of the car reduced by the amount you'll have to pay to fix it.

—If you're seriously interested in the car, take it to a trustworthy mechanic for an expert's opinion of its condition.

—Then think over the car and price for at least a day before making up your mind. It's a good idea to check at least three dealers, too, before making your final decision. —Demand a detailed written receipt describing all of the promises and representations the salesman makes to you.

—Be sure that a warranty is in writing and that it spells out the services that will be offered. —And when you do decide, shop around for the best financing. Banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations, and finance companies all make car loans. When you shop for financing, remember that you should compare the annual percentage rate you would have to pay.

If you have any questions or complaints about buying a used car, contact our Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division in Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Lubbock, El Paso or McAllen or call your district or county attorney.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Several weeks ago, I began a series on the Title I program. After one column, the press of more urgent topics caused me to discontinue the series. I would like to return this week to this area of our school curriculum.

As you remember, this is a federally funded program for remedial students which employs four teachers and seven aides. These teachers are divided between elementary math and elementary language arts. Mrs. Rhonda Lisle works with the remedial math grades 4-6. She works with approximately 29 students. Mrs. Judy Lanier works with math grades 1-3. She works with approximately 43 students. Mrs. Elizabeth Hairgrove works with approximately 50 students in grades 1-3. Mrs. Janice Browning works with approximately 42 students in grades 4-6. The last two teachers work with language arts.

The program is based on a flexible curriculum to meet each individual student's need. If a student is showing some problems in the regular classroom, his group test results are checked by the classroom teacher and principal. If these test results reveal there might be a problem, then an individual test is administered. From these tests, the problem areas can be identified and intensive small group and individual attention can be focused on the particular area. Hopefully, this direct attention will result in better understanding so that the student can return to the regular program. Our test results reflect that certain progress has been made on the majority of our students served in this program.

The Jr. High students are served by an aide in language arts, Mrs. Nelda Jetton, who serves as a tutor under the guidance of a regular classroom teacher.

The key point to this program is realizing that all students do not learn at the same rate or in the same manner. A flexible program like this allows individuals with unique learning styles to develop their abilities to their maximum level.

America has become so tense and nervous it has been years since I've seen anyone sleep in church—and that is a sad situation.

NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A company is known by the people it employs.

There are few, if any, jobs in which ability alone is sufficient. Needed also are loyalty, sincerity, enthusiasm, and cooperation.

Nothing is quite so annoying as to have someone go right on talking when you're interrupting.

The most valuable gift you can give another is a good example.

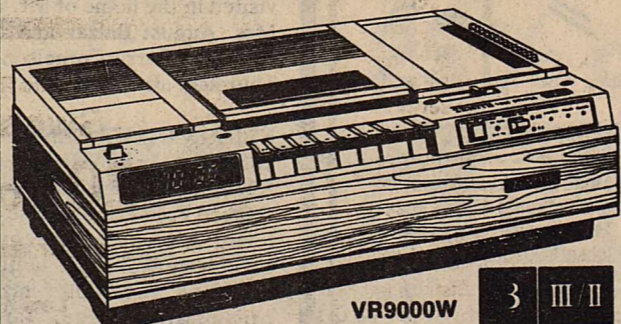

A good supervisor, they say, is someone who can step on your toes without messing up your shine.

Add To Leftover For Variety

No matter how well you may be left as they were first served, such as cut-up or whole, or you may want to puree them in food processor or blender. For instance, puree asparagus but leave corn kernels and cut green beans as they were.
Some leftovers need a bit of extra seasoning to make them palatable. Mashed potatoes, for example, taste better if you add some grated onion to them and then form into patties and saute in butter to brown them lightly.
Limit the use of leftovers the second time around, adding one new food so the dish is different. If you use yesterday's cake, sponge, angel food or butter, can be cut into strips to line a dessert dish. Cover with a soft-cooked custard sauce and top with whipped cream, fruit and/or preserves.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hold Seminar

Local area Jehovah's Witnesses concluded their semi-annual Circuit Assembly this past weekend at their Arlington Assembly Hall.

Robert E. Hoisington, local congregation spokesman, reported "The program highlighted in a very practical way the meaning of Jesus' words recorded at John 17:16 that his followers would be no part of the world. We were especially encouraged by the many young ones on the program and their expressions as to how following the Bible's counsel has helped them to resist the pressure to become involved in unscriptural practices, such as drug abuse, premarital sex and so on. Our young ones are put under a great deal of pressure and its certainly faith-strengthening to see them faring so well. Also of encouragement was the concluding talk Saturday "Fight to Keep Separate From the World", based on Jude 3. And, as always a high point in our Saturday activity was seeing the new ones among us symbolize their dedication by water baptism. This assembly we saw seventeen take this step."

The peak attendance was reached for the Public Address entitled, "Our Refuge Amid Increasing Dangers," when 1094 listened eagerly to E.R. Brandt, district overseer, give a verse-by-verse analysis of the ninety-first Psalm and its meaning for Christians today.

James Powell, longtime auctioneer for the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show, was again in attendance last Saturday. The complete results of the premium sale were not available at press time Wednesday, but estimates of the sale were announced at approximately $23,000.00. The premium sale was slightly lower than last year's total of $27,482.50, but much larger than sale officials expected.

FACTS & FIGURES

To hold oil imports to 1978's 8.5 million barrels a day means holding domestic conventional oil and gas production at current or higher levels—which will cost about $40 billion per year by 1990.

of $60 to $70 billion is needed for synfuel plants capable of producing a million barrels a day by 1990, say experts at Gulf Oil Corporation. The need for capital is intensified by inflation: drilling rigs, offshore leases, etc., have gone up more rapidly than the Consumer Price Index.

Enhanced recovery techniques designed to squeeze more oil out of older fields have added about 385,000 barrels a day to U.S. oil production.

District Attorney Comments

BY JOSEPH THIGPEN
District Attorney, 39th Judicial District

Last Monday evening a news report was carried by a local T.V. station in Abilene which reported that Colonial Food Stores were removing cigarette papers from their stores.

VA News

A number of persons who have been receiving disability and death benefits from the Veterans Administration will not get their checks at the regular time on February 1, 1981. According to C.H. Herren, Service Officer for Haskell County, these people failed to return to the VA the annual income card which was sent to them on November 1, 1980.

Under the law, the VA must discontinue benefit payments to these people if they failed to return the annual income report by January 1, 1981. Those affected are veterans in receipt of disability pension benefits, widows and children of veterans who receive death pension benefits, and dependent parents of veterans whose deaths were caused by service-connected disabilities. The only persons not required to furnish the annual income report are those over 72 years of age who have been in receipt of VA payments for two years or longer and whose income did not change during 1980.

Those people who are terminated due to failure to return the income card may reestablish their entitlement by furnishing the VA with a full accounting of their 1980 income, and their anticipated income from all sources during 1981. Assistance can be obtained by contacting your local Veterans Service Officer.

College News

Jonathan E. Godsey of Route 1, O'Brien, and Beth Ann Pumphrey of Old Glory have been named to the President's List at Western Texas College for the 1980 fall semester.

To be eligible for the President's List, students must have a grade point average of 4.0 (A), the highest which can be attained, while carrying at least 15 hours of college credit work exclusive of physical education. Thirty-one students were named to the latest President's List.

Jo Ellen Jenkins and Joyce E. Saffell of Rule have been named to the Western Texas College Merit List for the 1980 fall semester.

Merit List students must be enrolled for at least eight but fewer than 12 hours of college credit work and must have a grade point average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 grade scale. A total of 22 students qualified for the list during the fall semester.

Safety Training For New Air Gun Owners

More than 500,000 youths received air guns for Christmas this year. To help assure these youngsters maximum enjoyment and safety, more than 20,000 local shooting education programs are offered throughout the United States.

The largest is the U.S. Jaycee Shooting Education Program, now in its 16th year. More than 250,000 youngsters ages eight to 14 participate annually in local Jaycee programs. The National Safety Council recently honored the Jaycees with a "Youth Commendation Award" for conducting the most outstanding youth safety program in the United States in 1980. The effort also earned the Jaycee International Award for the best youth program.

Shooting Education Programs also are conducted by the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Explorer posts, YMCAs, 4-H clubs, youth and church camps and many other youth-oriented, adult-supervised organizations.

Each year these programs train more than three million boys and girls, ages eight to 14. First-time shooters learn the basics of marksmanship and safety using BB-gun equipment suited for them. More advanced shooters, ages 15 and up, participate in programs using air pellet rifles and pistols.

Air gun enthusiasts also are involved in match competition, including national and international events. Top marksmen from the education programs frequently advance to U.S. air gun teams competing in the Pan-American Games, World Air Gun Championships and the Confederation of Americas Games. Many are training for the 1984 Olympics, which will include air pistol competition for the first time. "Interest in air guns also has grown rapidly as a part of the athletic curriculum in public and private schools," says Richard I. Daniel, president of Daisy Manufacturing Company, which has been producing BB and pellet guns since 1886. "More than 9,000 elementary, junior and senior high schools in 40 states conduct outdoor education activities as part of their physical education curriculums."

Daisy supports the Shooting Education Program by providing equipment, training literature and films. The company, in cooperation with participating youth organizations, has involved millions of youngsters in safe handling of air guns since the education program began in 1948.

For information on how to get involved in a Jaycee shooting education program near you, write to: Program Manager, Shooting Education, U.S. Jaycee Headquarters, P.O. Box 7, Tulsa, Oklahoma, 74121.

For information on other participating youth programs, write to: Air Gun Shooting Programs, Daisy Manufacturing Co., P.O. Box 220, Rogers, Arkansas 72756.

Nuclear Liability Insurance

Declining energy resources have plagued Americans for almost a decade. That's why nuclear power has played and will continue to play a significant role in meeting the increasing energy needs of this country and the world in the coming years. Nuclear power already has the potential to supply half the nation's electrical energy needs by the turn of the century. Because of the nature of nuclear power, extreme precautionary measures have been taken in its use as an energy alternative. However, in spite of these measures, recent events, such as what happened at the reactor at Three Mile Island, have shown that use of nuclear power is not without its risks. And where risks are involved, there are needs for insurance. Special nuclear energy "pools" were created by property and liability insurance companies to provide insurance for nuclear reactor operators, related facilities and their suppliers. A pool is a group of companies that together underwrite risks that are too large for a single insurer, according to an Allstate spokesperson. American Nuclear Insurers (ANI) is the largest pool, with approximately 130 stockholder-owned property and liability insurers participating. The other two are the Mutual Atomic Energy Liability Underwriters (MAELU) and the Mutual Atomic Energy Reinsurance Pool (MAERP). The three separate pools work closely together and combine their resources into single liability and property pools. The pools provide two kinds of insurance. According to ANI, one covers the operators of nuclear facilities and their suppliers for liability as a result of bodily injury or property damage from a nuclear accident. For example, if you live near a nuclear energy facility, this liability insurance covers you for bodily injury and property damage from nuclear hazards. The other kind of insurance covers the damage to the property of nuclear facility operators on an "all risk" basis. This protects nuclear facility property from damage caused by nuclear hazards as well as fire, windstorms and explosions. The three pools have the capacity to provide up to $460 million insurance coverage as of 1979, for both liability and property damage for a single risk. In the event of a serious accident, emergency plans developed by the nuclear insurance pools would operate to provide immediate relief to victims. For example, within 24 hours after the governor's evacuation recommendation at the reactor at Three Mile Island, the insurance pools had established a field office to dispense extra living expenses to the evacuees, according to ANI. According to the Allstate spokesperson, homeowners' insurance policies do not cover loss or property damage resulting from nuclear action. Nuclear action means nuclear reaction, discharge, radiation or radioactive contamination, or any consequence of any of these. Protection for the public is provided through the liability policies purchased by the operators or suppliers of nuclear facilities. However, direct loss by fire resulting from nuclear action is covered in most homeowners' policies.

Dewey Pennington

Funeral services for Dewey David Pennington, 76, of McLean, were held Saturday, Jan. 17, at the First United Methodist Church in McLean with Rev. Joe Walker, pastor, officiating. Interment was in the Shamrock Cemetery under the direction of Lamb Funeral Home of McLean. Mr. Pennington died Thursday, Jan. 15, in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo following a lengthy illness. Born May 28, 1904 in Grand Saline, he came with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Pennington, to Haskell County as a child. He married Ruth Malcolm July 17 1937 in Munday and the couple moved to Wheeler County in 1944 and lived west of Lela until 1959 when they moved to Gray County. In 1970 they moved to their present address in McLean. Mr. Pennington farmed for 50 years prior to retiring approximately five years ago. He continued to work in the dirt with a large garden in the back yard and a small watermelon patch. He delighted in selling watermelons during the summer. He was a member of the McLean First United Methodist Church, Wheeler County Farm Bureau and had served a number of years as a member of the board of directors of Greenbelt Cotton Grading Association. One son and two daughters preceded him in death.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Maybe you're familiar with recent news stories touting the "miracle" economies of countries like West Germany or Japan. But get ready for another success story that's a bit closer to home. As outgoing Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, I recently released a Report on the Texas Economy. Simply put, its underlying message is that the Texas state economy is a pretty tough act to follow. The Committee staff, in preparing this report, gathered some impressive figures to chart the economic boom our state has undergone over the past decade. The bottom line is that we were providing more jobs at higher pay for Texans during the '70s. The number of manufacturing jobs, for example, increased more in Texas than in any other state. At the same time, per capita income in our state went from below the national average to above it. Texas ranks high on the American economic scale in a number of areas. For example, we're first in the value of mineral production, second in construction contracts and third in gross farm income. The word must be out that the Texas climate is great in more ways than sunshine. New businesses are sprouting up here at an incredible rate. In 1975, 16,726 businesses were newly incorporated here. By 1979 the number had risen to 41,130. Indeed, during the last five years, the average annual increase in the number of new incorporations in Texas was 25.3 percent. The JEC report notes this is double the national average and more than one-third greater than the Sunbelt average. We especially can be proud of the economic headway our state has made on its record of capital investment. This is an area where most of the nation sadly has been lagging. In recent years Texas has led the nation in the amount of capital invested in plants and factories here. Meanwhile, our booming economy has had to keep pace with an expanding population rate. Back in 1970, Texas ranked fourth among the 50 states in population. Today, after a decade of growth more than twice as fast as the rest of the nation, we rank third, with a population of 14.1 million. The JEC report forecasts that Texas population growth will continue to exceed the national average for the rest of this century. Texans justifiably can take pride that our economy, compared with other states, has remained so strong during some very rough times. Policymakers in Washington can learn much from what we've been able to accomplish. But this does not mean that we're free of problems. At a time when double-digit inflation continues to whittle paychecks, we can't afford an air of smugness and just rest on our laurels. Ultimately, the JEC report shows that we're in a better position than other states to do the tough job that will be demanded to put our country's economy back in full gear during the years ahead. It's a tall order, but based on our proven economic track record here, I think Texas can lead the pack in responding to this challenge.

Survivors include: his wife, of the home; one son, Thomas "Bub" Pennington of McAllen; one daughter, Priscilla Vermillion of Shamrock; five brothers, John and Jess, both of Shamrock, Curt of Alamogordo, New Mexico, Bill of Haskell, J.T. of McLean; four sisters, Ouidea Murphy of Borger, Ray McDonald of Lamesa, Winnie Anderson of Abilene, Opal Hadaway of Haskell; six grandchildren; nine great grandchildren; and a host of nieces, nephews and cousins. Pallbearers were nephews.
