Allsup's Employee Hit By Robbers Saturday

Tory Lynn Snyder, 24, of Friona, remains in critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo as a result of an apparent January 11 robbery at the west Allsup's store.

Snyder suffered massive head injuries during the robbery. He was transported to NWTB by Friona EMS ambulance where he underwent a four and one-half hour operation.

Officials said that he suffered at least three blows to the head with a blunt instrument. Snyder was discovered in a store aisle by two customers about 4:35 a.m. Saturday. An undetermined amount of money was taken during the robbery.

Two other local men who entered the store around 4:15 a.m. to make purchases, reported to police seeing at least one Hispanic male customer in the store.

Both men, who were in the store at separate times, came forward to give police a description of the man they observed. Local police, in conjunction with the Clovis Police Department, have released two composite drawings of a possible suspect or suspects.

Police Chief Randy Gerles reported last Wednesday that due to the nature and severity of his injuries, police have been unable to question Snyder.

The composite drawings appear elsewhere in this issue. If you have any information regarding suspects, please call the Friona Police Department at 806-247-2711, or Parmer County Crime Stoppers at 800-774-TIPS, or 481-9178.

Parmer County Crimestoppers will pay a reward of up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible. Snyder moved to Friona from Lubbock and lives with his grandmother, Cora Snyder. He had been employed at Allsup's for about one year.

At press time, his condition was reported as slightly improved, although doctors stated he remains in critical condition, they were able to remove him from a respirator.

A love fund has been established at Friona State Bank to assist the Snyder family with expenses during this lengthy recovery period.

Donations for the Tory Lynn Snyder Love Fund may be made at Friona State Bank.

"The era of big government is over."

Clinton-1996. Did I promise that I would not write about politics this year? I don't think so.

I did promise not to use the words "President" and "Clinton" together for the next four years or as long as Clinton holds the office, whichever comes first.

This is not about Clinton, per se. (Per se means "by itself") Therefore, what I said was that this is not just about Clinton by itself. It is about Clinton only because he is a politician.

This is about politicians, per se, i.e., big government. (i.e. is latin for id est and means "in other words") So, in other words, this is about big government politicians.

Now, see, you have learned two new terms this week, Per se and i.e. One of my goals in 1997 is to try and lift your intellectual level to at least the approximate height of the hood ornament on a Chevy low rider.

People who are employed by the government, like big government. The bigger the better.

After all, from what I can tell, the government pays pretty well, has good medical and retirement benefits, and is so big that it's possible to have a government job and nobody even knows what you do.

No one at government really wants government to shrink, regardless of what they say publicly. If you had a "guy" job where you could retire after 20-30 years with a hefty monthly, would you voluntarily give it up? I don't think so.

Truth is, big government spends a lot of money and keeps getting bigger.

No one ever seems to say, lets not do this, lets save the money. Seems like we do a lot of things at the government that really we could do without and save the money.

Take the inauguration ceremony on Monday, January 20. We went through a long, protracted, expensive presidential campaign to elect the next president, who turned out to be the current president.

So my question is why it is necessary to re-inaugurate Clinton since he has been inaugurated once. Have you checked out (or do you care) how much it will cost in terms of money and personnel to pull off this inaugural?

Actually, the inaugural ceremonial parties (balls, they call them in D. C.) begin on Saturday, January 18. You have to buy an expensive ticket to attend one of the more than a dozen glitzy balls. Ticket sales are supposed to cover the cost of the festivities, but it probably will not even get close.

Consider just the cost of military participation in the "festivities", according to a recent report in USA Today.

Hundreds of military officials are mobilized for this second inauguration, complete with a command post.

There is an inaugural "war room" where five clocks track time zones, 10 TV monitors display network news and The Weather Channel, and military drills are organized to prepare for possible disaster or delay.

It will take at least 2,000 soldiers to pull off the pomp, circumstance and ceremony for the January 20 ceremony, according to USA Today.

Add to that roster some 2,500 civilian planners on the staff of Clinton's inaugural committee; 3,400 Capitol police, D.C. cops and National Guardsmen to keep order; 200 Park Service workers to look after the grass and clean up the sidewalks; 100 volunteer florists to spruce things up.

This inaugural "army" will cost taxpayers plenty:

*$950,000 for the swearing-in ceremony, including construction of a platform on the Capitol steps and a congressional VIP luncheon.

*$400,000 to the Park Service and $600,000 to the Park Police.

*$5.7 million to the D. C. city government for hosting tens of thousands of revelers, including a special round of health-code inspections of the hotels and restaurants nearest the action.

*$4.7 million spent by the Defense Department to set up its Armed Forces Inaugural command center in a former Naval Intelligence building on a suburban Maryland federal campus.

Another 1,200 service personnel will line Pennsylvania Avenue during the parade.

All of these military costs total over $12,350,000.

Speaking of the parade, I read somewhere that there will be one band from each state marching along Pennsylvania Avenue. It did not say who paid to get them there but you can bet a lot of people sacrificed at car washes and bake sales.

Last weekend I saw a TV report where a lot of people were rehearsing the inaugural event. One young man was standing there with a sign around his neck that said "vice-president" as they showed him where to stand.

I am not sure exactly how long the actual oath of office lasts since I don't ever remember watching one. Seems to me it is only a couple of minutes or so.

What bothers me about all this is why it is necessary. Do we still need pomp and circumstance when there are many other human problems to deal with?

All those millions of dollars and hours of time wasted just to administer an oath. Looks like they could just have Billy Jeff drop by an office for a second, take the oath, then get back to work.

I checked with the folks over in Farwell to see if Parmer County has an inauguration budget. They said, "Huh?"

I think those folks in Washington should do like Parmer County and most other small counties around the USA. Here we just had Rex, Doris, Johnny, and Jerry stop by the courthouse and we swore the whole bunch in at the same time.

Took five minutes and probably cost somewhere under $10 for the whole dang event.

There were no reviewing stands and no parades afterwards. Sheriff Williams did offer to deliver an inaugural address, but everybody said they were really busy. "Besides," Bonnie Warren said, "we've been listening to you talk all year Rex."

I just can't find any positive reasons to spend those millions for something as simple as an inauguration. Surely someone somewhere could use those funds to feed or educate needy people.

It just seems like a waste of time and money. Maybe it is just me. Maybe I am just getting old and crusty because I find myself not liking all those TV and Movie Award shows any more either.

The era of big government is not over, per se, i.e. you ain't seen nothing yet and there is nothing you can do about it.

Raise your right hand, please. Excuse me sir, your right hand, please, not your left. Thank you.

Do you, Bill Clinton, solemnly swear.....!!!!

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

This is a dramatized version of facts taken from the Book of Genesis intending to show some of the customs of these ancient and traditional times

ABRAM IN EGYPT

THE LAND TO WHICH ABRAM HAS COME IS STRICKEN WITH SEVERE FAMINE, SO NOW HE TURNS SOUTHWARD IN THE DIRECTION OF EGYPT....

...AND SO HE TRAVELS RESOLUTELY TO THE SOUTH....

...FOR HE HAS BEEN TOLD THAT THERE IS PLENTY OF FOOD FOR BOTH MAN AND BEAST IN THE LAND OF THE PHAROAHS....

...AND, SURE ENOUGH, ON REACHING THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE COUNTRY OF THE NILE, HE CAN SEE THE EVIDENCE OF ABUNDANT FOOD ALL AROUND....

...BUT NOW HE BEGINS TO THINK WITH CAUTION....

...FOR HE HAS HEARD THAT THE RULERS OF THIS LAND ARE ALL-POWERFUL! THEY CAN BE GRACIOUS HOSTS OR, IF IT SUITS THEIR PURPOSE, THEY CAN BE CRUEL AND VICIOUS TO ALL THOSE LIVING IN THEIR COUNTRY!
