

Dallas Man Killed In Hunting Accident

Accidental death was the official ruling in the shooting death of Curtis Wayne Webb, September 2, according to Justice of the Peace Geraldine Hise.

Webb was pronounced dead on arrival at Haskell Memorial Hospital at 7:40 p.m. by Judge Hise.

Webb, 44, was a resident of Lake Dallas and a fireman for the City of Dallas. He was one of six Dallas area residents who were hunting on the R. N. Wilson farm approximately 6 miles north of Rule on Texas Highway 6.

The hunters were from Lake Dallas, Lewisville, and Corinth.

Others in the party told investigators that Webb was apparently shot when another hunter shot at a dove in high weeds and sunflowers.

The other hunters apparently did not know that Webb had been shot until later when they were searching for him. He was transported to Haskell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

District Attorney Joseph Thigpen did not order an autopsy.

Indians Win, 19-6 Over Cisco Lobos

After three quarters of sloshing around on a wet field, the Haskell Indians got their act together to score 19 fourth quarter points and defeat the Cisco Lobos last Friday night.

Both teams were hampered by the wet field and shortly after the opening kickoff, the ball was heavy and wet contributing to the fact that there were almost twenty fumbles during the game.

The Indians lost six fumbles, Cisco lost four and each team fumbled several times but did not lose possession.

A highlight for Tribe fans during the opening game of the season was a super tough defense. The Indian defense held Cisco to a total of 69 yards rushing during the game.

While the Tribe offense was scoring three TD's in the fourth quarter, the defense was holding Cisco to a minus two yards total offense.

Defensively the Tribe also recovered four fumbles and intercepted one pass. Lonnie Hise recovered three of the fumbles and James Davis intercepted a pass.

Cisco's only score came early in the third quarter following a 39 yard pass which moved the ball to the eight yard line. On the next play, Cisco fumbled only to get the ball back on a tribe fumble on the following play. Two plays later Cisco scored and the attempted two point conversion failed.

The Indians moved the ball to the six yard at the end of the first quarter and a field goal attempt on the first play of the second quarter struck the cross bar on the goal and bounced back on the field.

Indian Joe Benavides scored two TD's on runs of two and one yards and Lonnie Hise scored one TD on a five yard run. Mark Bailey kicked the only pat.

The first score came with 8:23 left when the Tribe recovered a Cisco fumble on the 15 yard line. Four plays later Hise scored.

Davis intercepted a pass two plays later and the Tribe marched 39 yards in six plays with 5:12 left for the TD.

The final scoring drive started four plays later when a bad snap on a punt attempt gave the Tribe the ball on the 25 yard line. Eight plays later Benavides carried in from the two with 12 seconds on the clock.

The Tribe will travel to Hamlin this Friday for an 8 p.m. contest and all Indian fans are urged to attend.

Dove Shoot Canceled

Threatening rains was the major factor in the canceling of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce Dove Shoot last weekend.

Hunters who had previously indicated a desire to enter the hunt withdrew when thunderstorms moved into the area Friday afternoon and Saturday.

The shoot was canceled Saturday shortly after noon when it became apparent that sufficient hunters would not be on hand.

Shoot planners are hopeful that a similar project may be conducted later in the year.

Fund Raising Sale Set

A special fund raising sale will be held Friday and Saturday for the Experienced Citizens Center.

The sale will be held from 9 to 5 Friday and 9 to noon Saturday.

Funds from items sold will be used to purchase additional supplies and materials for the center.

Sale items will include arts and crafts as well as items donated for the sale.

Any person who would like to donate items should contact Marsha Whittemore, Director, at 864-3875.

Citations

Local Parks and Wildlife Department Warden Alton Chapman has filed 24 citations in Justice Precinct One in Haskell County according to J. P. Geraldine Hise.

The majority of the violations were for shooting from a public road and for having too many birds. Others included hunting with the aid of a vehicle, no license, and hunting with an unplugged gun.

FAMILIAR SIGHT

Fans at the first game of the 1981 football season in Cisco last Friday viewed this type of reaction a total of ten times during the game. The first game of the year and a heavy, wet football contributed to a total of ten lost fumbles during the Indians 19-6 win over Cisco. The Tribe will travel to Hamlin this Friday. Game time is 8 p.m.

School Board Eliminates Future Social Promotions

Members of the Board of Trustees of Haskell Independent School District met in regular session Tuesday night and adopted a new policy on social promotions.

The policy eliminates social promotions and had been discussed earlier in the year. It was tabled at that time pending the result of legislation which the Texas Legislature was considering. The Legislature did not adopt the bill and Board members passed the new policy.

Members also discussed an interlocal agreement with the Haskell County Appraisal District to bill and collect all taxes for the school and discussed new policies on dismissals.

Kathi Raughton was hired as fourth grade teacher due to an increase in the number of students. Board members also discussed a new bilingual program which will begin soon. The program will include one hour per day of English for all bilingual students not proficient in English speaking.

Council To Close Landfill During Noon

Members of the Haskell City Council agreed to close the gate to the sanitary landfill from noon to 1 p.m. each day to conform to regulations as soon as possible.

The landfill will continue to be open six days per week but new hours will be 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

Council members also agreed to lease space at the airport to Rolling Plains Flying Service.

Discussion on the Park Improvement Project and the possibility of the County Appraisal District billing and collecting taxes was also held.

The Park Project will continue with the renovation of rest rooms and concession stand at the softball park as the next items.

Lot 19 Block 7 of the Parsons Addition was sold to Royce Dean for $1,500.00. Dean was the highest of three bidders on the property.

TOUGH GOING

The helmet and jersey pictured in the center of the photo is an unidentified Indian ball carrier. The offensive line of the Tribe opened holes in the Cisco line repeatedly for consistand short gains last Friday night. The short gains added up to a total offense of over 200 yards in the Tribe's 19-6 win of the season opener.

Celebration Set Sunday At St. George's

Members of St. George Catholic Church will host their annual Jamaica Celebration all day September 13.

The day's events will include games, bingo and other special activities.

Mexican Plates will be served beginning at 11 a.m. and continue through the afternoon.

The celebration will also feature the crowning of a queen at 4:30 p.m.

A hunting fatality in Haskell County last week shocked much of the local community.

The accident apparently occurred when a hunter shot at a dove and hit a hunting companion. Even after the shot was fired the hunter did not know that he had shot someone.

There are many hunters in Haskell County and each of us grieves for the family of Curtis Wayne Webb and for the hunter who must continue living with the thoughts of shooting a friend.

Hunting accidents, like any other category of accident, will never be completely stopped but abiding by safety rules and using common sense will go a long way toward preventing them.

This is the time of year when many youngsters get their first opportunity to hunt.

Prior to the first trip to the field an intensive safety lesson should be taught and the rules should be followed not only by the new shooter but the veterans as well.

Hunter safety courses are available and more information may be obtained by contacting Alton Chapman.

Hunting is a pastime enjoyed by millions of Americans and when proper safety rules are enforced is a most enjoyable sport.

Breaking the rules can result in disaster.

Please be careful.

Double Wedding Units Couples

The weddings of Miss Elizabeth Louise (Les) Sanders and Miss Tina Michelle Sanders, the two youngest daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sanders of Cross Plains were held recently in the spacious yard of their beautiful two story, five bedroom country home.

Guests were seated in a semi-circle on the east end of the front yard and long front porch.

As the brides and their attendants came around the west end of the house, the windmill with its large watering tank, the grape arbor, and the horses grazing just beyond the wood split rail fence furnished a story book setting for the beautiful background of the wedding party as they walked across the carpet of lush Saint Augustine grass. Large pots of palm leaves, hanging baskets of Jew and two tall stands with pots of white Gladiolas formed the backdrop for the nuptial vows.

Elizabeth Louise (Les) Sanders and Tommy D. Lambright were married on Friday the twenty-first of August at seven o'clock in the evening and Tina Michelle Sanders and Ricky F. Thomas were married on Saturday, September 5 at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Both brides escorted by their father and given in marriage by their parents wore the same dress their mother and their older sisters had worn on their wedding day.

The dress, a white long formal gown of mira-mist chiffon plisse, featured a basque bodice with a scalloped lace yoke edged with satin rose buds, long tapered lace sleeves that came to a petal point over the hands, and a bouffant skirt was fashioned with a long sweeping train. The floor length veil of net illusion had a caplet headdress of three satin roses.

Les carried a bouquet of silk flowers of Tiger Lilies, daisies and wild roses in varied shades of blue with long streamers of white and blue ribbons.

Mrs. Lesa Lambright served as matron of honor for her sister Tina Michelle. Bridesmaid was Dea Wheeler of Cisco. They wore long white floral dotted swiss dresses with peach linings. The dresses had a basque bodice with lots of peach ribbon and white lace with full flowing skirts with more peach ribbon and lace. A reception honoring Lesa and Tommy took place following the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a white lace overlay with full floor length pleated lace skirt and accents of blue and white ribbons. On the wall behind the table was an arrangement including a five arm fluted votive sconce with blue candles. The appointments on the table were crystal and silver. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses, a basket of blue roses was between the upper tiers. The cake was topped with a trio of blue satin covered wedding bells filled with frothy white blooms, a seed pearl heart and frilly tulle. Centerpiece was a bouquet of poppies and dogwood in varied shades of blue. Blue punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Elizabeth Scott and Angela Chambers served at the bride's table.

Brush and Palette

A familiar feeling that comes to a painter often is, "I get depressed when I look at my picture and would rather start a new one than to finish it". It is much more attractive to start on a new canvas with its promise of a better painting than the one started. A picture which just needs one more morning's work is quite likely to be one which bears scars of previous struggles. It has gone a little stale, perhaps. It would be better to put it away now and come back to it with a fresh eye, but the thing has become a nuisance—you keep catching sight of it. You are quite likely to find that while the first strokes and patches were put down with a certain vigor and decision, the final ones are just timid dabs. You might go so far as to make a generalisation and say that final touches should be as decisive as the first touch of the brush. We are all inclined to over-paint and it often happens that the painting is better left without those last touches.

Q. I have a commission to paint a dog. Please help me get started.

A. The painting of a dog portrait is in a sense, a specialized field of portraiture, but no reason why a portrait painter should not take to it. You have the complication as with a human sitter—you cannot explain to your canine subject that he needs to be quiet and settle down. Painting a dog or cat requires patience; patience to the utmost. You must paint simply, directly and once decided upon the position you want, keep at it. A dog is usually used to taking orders and it is possible that you or his master can keep the animal in the position required.

It is best to arrange to paint the dog at the owner's house, where the subject feels comfortable and unworried. Select the room where the dog is most comfortable and familiar with the surroundings. Arrange yourself comfortably also, putting down newspapers to protect the floor from any spills of oils, etc. The dog might take an unexpected leap across the room and upset your whole cart! Start with a three-quarter view of the head with the eyes looking at the artist, paws placed before him and body and hind legs to the back and side.

Paint fast, put large bold strokes on while you have the position of the animal. The broad strokes will read at a distance and fall into place when the shape or form has been filled in. Place the eyes, line of the back and paws, suggest markings and patterns. A judicious whistle at intervals can get the attention. If the dog can be induced to lie on the floor near you, the owner can sit near and hold up his head for the best position. Working fast, put in the background with bold shadows to put the animal on the ground and your painting will be complete. You will find that, with a dog picture, it is the spirit that gets into the picture that is of value. Without it, the animal looks stuffed.

HINT: Tell your friends about the "Brush and Palette" column. It is our purpose to generate the enthusiasm of people who are beginning to study and practice. A lifetime of enjoyment is possible—painting is fun!

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Tx. 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

I am probably repeating a column from this time last year. However, football season has begun, (I write this column on Friday before publication on Wednesday) and, I feel, this is a good time to write about the purpose of football or extra curricular activities in a school system.

Football is the Kingpin of the fall in Texas. Families build their recreation around Sunday Cowboy telecasts, Saturday college games and Friday night high school games. A tremendous number of Texas youth spend Friday nights contesting each other on the gridiron. Friday night heroes are often the toast of the town. Much emphasis is placed in many cities, towns and villages on "our" team.

To drive across an area of Texas on Friday night is a thrilling sight. Bright lights perched on tall poles light up the skies in nearly every town. Ribbon bedecked autos flash down the highways loaded with excited fans. Big yellow buses lumber down the highways and byways filled with kids teeming with excitement. The radio channels are filled with excited voices of commentators trying to capture the magic of the scene spreading before them.

But, if you will stop to reflect for just a minute what this represents. In Haskell, we have 73 boys participating in high school football. Approximately 40 boys are prepping in the junior high ranks. But this is only the beginning of the numbers. We have over 70 kids in the band plus cheerleaders, twirlers, etc. The majority of our students are involved in some way. They work hard to perform well and are rewarded by their moment in the spotlight of recognition by their peers and community. It is unbelievable the hours of toil and sweat that go into this preparation.

We as fans should appreciate this effort and support our kids. But we must also remember these are KIDS. They are trying their very hardest, but they are not Tony Dorsetts' or Harvey Martins' or Doc Severinsens' yet. The majority of them are competing for the thrill of the activity. It behooves us, then, as fans to support them and not expect perfection. I know some of the most enjoyable evenings I have spent have been watching two teams of high school boys going after each other with the bands playing and the fans yelling.

So, if you want to be a part of this Texas tradition, we will see you on Friday night at Indian Stadium of wherever we are playing.

Cuban Alien Shoots Pastor's Wife — Changes His Attitude On Immigration

Miami's 87-year-old First Presbyterian Church on Biscayne Bay, pastored by Paul MacVittie, 42, first welcomed the flood of refugees Fidel Castro dumped on our shores. Then, one day, Rev. MacVittie and his wife of one month, Robbin McDonnell, 32, (a niece of the founder of McDonnell Aircraft Corp. in St. Louis), were both at a shopping center. Robbin MacVittie was approached by a Cuban who demanded her money. She resisted and was immediately shot.

"It seems to me," the man replied curtly, "That a fellow who owns a large house, a car and garage should be able to get credit for gas."

Coody Believes In WT Rehab Center

CHARLES COODY with ZACH BRILEY

Fairway Oaks pro Charles Coody is mighty glad that crippled children and adults served at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center will benefit from the LaJet Classic, the major PGA golf tournament to be played here Sept. 17-20.

His reason dates back to 31 summers ago when he was growing up in Stamford. Charles himself was stricken with polio as a teenager and, on reflection, believes the experience was probably an important factor in shaping his career in professional golf.

"I contacted polio in the summer of 1950, during a time when not much was known about the disease."

He recalls his illness vividly: "My chief symptom was a splitting headache. The pain seemed to increase by the minute, and I ran a high fever." He was admitted to Hendrick Hospital in Abilene and remembers "celebrating" his 13th birthday there, not knowing what his future would be.

"Fortunately, my polio was not the paralytic kind and after two weeks in the hospital I was sent home, though obviously in a weakened condition. My doctor (Donald McDonald) told me to avoid contact sports, but try something with plenty of walking—something like golf."

"So I began playing golf regularly during the week with my friends at Stamford Country Club, and we caddied for our dads on weekends."

Golf from that time on became an important part of Charles' life. His first "lessons" came by observing Russell Crownover, a top West Texas amateur for whom Charles caddied in several tournaments. "He taught me a lot."

Charlie's golf steadily improved. With a smile, he recalls one of his hottest rounds as a teenager: "I shot an 8-under 62 as a high school freshman." Then he hastens to add: "Like other West Texas courses without much water, there was little grass on the fairways, plenty of hard surface, and plenty of roll."

He fully recovered from polio and resumed playing other sports as well—a three-sport letterman. He was quarterback on Gordon Wood's football teams, made all-state in basketball (a 6-2 guard), and led Stamford to the state AA golf championship (he was medalist).

But it was his basketball skills that really caught the eye of college scouts. He signed up with TCU with plans to compete in basketball and golf—but with the understanding that his scholarship would be intact even if he dropped one of the sports.

He played basketball his freshman year at TCU but at a high cost. "It overlapped with the golf season, and I played some horrible golf that first year. It convinced me I should concentrate on golf so I dropped out of basketball."

He placed fourth in Southwest Conference medal play during both his junior and senior year, helping restore the Frogs to a competitive position in the conference race.

A three-year stretch as a lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force followed graduation from college—including time spent at Carswell AFB in Fort Worth. He was discharged from service in July, 1963. "I had become a weekend golfer while in service and did not consistently work on my game."

Getting a PGA Card wasn't difficult in those days, and Charles immediately turned pro and, with wife Lynette and baby daughter Caryn, headed for the Denver Open and his first crack at professional golf.

He laughs about the first experience: "I tied for 18th, won $640 prize money and made my first hole in one that week. This is a snap, I thought to myself."

But a technicality (failing to file his commitment sheet) kept him from playing the following week in the Salt Lake City Open, and now he was discouraged.

That first fall season of golf saw Charles win $1,216. By winning the Dallas Open in 1964, his first full rookie year, he gained an exemption through 1965. Then in 1965 he earned $18,608 to place 47th among the top 50 money winners—and continued playing consistent money-winning golf for 13 straight years. He won the Cleveland Open in 1969 and in 1971 captured one of the most coveted championships in all of golf—the Masters. His string of making the top-60 exempt list was finally snapped in 1978 when he earned only $50,906, ranking 64th in money winners.

He came back strong in 1980, winning $73,918 to regain his exempt status, but he faces an uphill climb to make the top-60 this year. ("Very steep climb indeed," Charles chimes in.)

Charles is comfortable with his reputation as a steady, consistent winner on the tour—with only three victories. However, one of the three was a major title, and very few professionals claim victories in either of the four established "major" events—Masters, U.S. Open, British Open, and PGA Championship.

"I'm disappointed, of course, to have only three victories and believe my game has been better than those victories would indicate. On the positive side, I feel fortunate to have achieved a steady, money-winning record and exempt status without more victories."

Charles went over $1 million in golf earnings in 1980 to become a member of the PGA Tour's exclusive "Golf Millionaires Club."

His family, including wife Lynette, 19-year old Caryn, 17-year old Kyle (Cooper High School junior who excels in basketball and golf), and 11-year-old Kristyn, live in the Lytle Lake area of Abilene.

Pharmacy Selection

(Final of a three-part series on buying medicine—nonprescription and prescription.)

Select a pharmacy carefully to save money and avoid potential problems, says Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Some pharmacies charge less than others, so compare prices over the telephone, she says.

When choosing a pharmacy, also consider services and location. Ask about home delivery, for example. This can save you time and travel expense, and it may be more convenient in the long run, even if the prescription costs a bit more, the specialist says.

Rhoades is part of the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Once you select a pharmacy, buy all your prescription drugs there so you will have a complete record of your medications, she advises.

This will enable your pharmacist to caution you about possible drug interactions, too—and it can help you avoid these kinds of problems entirely.

Save receipts for possible health-insurance reimbursement and for medical deductions on your income tax.

Remember, deductions may include both prescription and over-the-counter (OTC) drugs, especially those recommended by your doctor, Rhoades adds.

Inspiration No. 12

There are two types of Revelation:

1. Natural Revelation
 - a. Comes to man through nature.
 - b. The design of the Universe.
 - c. Including the nature of man himself. His intellectual, moral and spiritual self.
2. Special Revelation
 - a. This is through the Bible.
 - b. It is a revelation of word and fact; it is historical.

The Point: If the books of the Bible are of human origin, then it logically follows that the facts and doctrines found in them are only as reliable as human knowledge can be. If on the other hand the Bible is inspired then its facts and doctrines would be free of those imperfections and blemishes. We shall see.

Round-Up Chairman Is Rehab Patient

The chairman of the Cattle-men's Round-up for Crippled Children horse sale says this year's sale will be the biggest ever.

Perhaps it's because this year, he's a patient at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center and has experienced first hand how the money raised at the horse sale will be used.

R.C. Williams, involved in CRCC since Conda Wylie brought in the first pen of calves in 1960, is known to everyone in the Abilene area as the voice of Abilene Auction.

He's worked in the cattle business since 1924 and at Abilene Auction for 32 years. In the 22 years since the first Cattle-men's Round-up, he has spent many hours preparing for sales, talking to donors, handling the sales.

"I have never missed a sale," he said, in an interview right after his daily treatment at WTRC. Williams's therapist, physical therapist Lu Ann Farmer, says he never missed a treatment either.

A portion of Williams' right foot was amputated in May and the treatment that started in July is to promote healing. When the foot heals, he will be fitted with a prosthesis and will be taught to walk on it at WTRC.

"It's sure done me good," he said. "Everybody out here has been good to me."

Williams still goes out to the auction three days a week, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, and he broadcasts the auction report from his home.

He's already getting calls about the horse sale, set for October 3 at Abilene Auction.

"Horses are bringing more money than cattle. It's going to be bigger than it's ever been," Williams said.

How much will a horse bring in?

"Whatever you can get—that's what horse trading's all about," he said. He did say that a horse that once went for $50 now will bring $600 to $700.

He says the cattle market is "pretty good," since he's seen both better and worse over the years. "The cattle business is a good one to go broke in," he said.

He's planning on handling the sale from his wheelchair if necessary and is counting on the best sale ever.

"Tell them to bring us the stock and we'll get the money. We're going to make it a big one."

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — For the last two weeks I have been discussing the problems of the American agricultural industry, particularly the relationship between agricultural prices and the problems we face in international trade.

This week I would like to consider some possible solutions to these problems.

First and foremost, I feel that it is high time that the U.S. government recognize and begin fully to take advantage of the tremendous asset to the American economy, that the Agricultural industry represents. Not only has the high productivity of this industry enabled the U.S. economy to develop into the most powerful in the world (since we no longer have to commit a substantial portion of our resources to feeding our people), but also we have become the largest exporter of agricultural products in the world. This has happened in spite of the fact that, for the most part, we are still operating with a post-World War II trade policy when agricultural trade was essentially a surplus removal operation and was directed mostly toward promoting the economic recovery of Europe and much of Asia. Consequently, the U.S. has not usually been an aggressive trader and the success of our export policies has more often than not been measured by the tonnage exported rather than whether or not those exports have been profitable to U.S. agriculture and the economy as a whole.

It is my opinion that an aggressive export policy is essential to the economic health of the total economy as well as the farm sector. There was some indication of a tougher stance on behalf of agricultural exports during the Tokyo Round of the Multilateral Trade Negotiations during 1978-79. Some favorable trade policies were adopted for this U.S. agriculture during this period. However, this is a continuing battle and I am concerned that, at this time, there is not a high ranking member of the office of the U.S. Trade Representative with direct responsibility for agricultural issues. I have introduced legislation to correct this situation by creating a position of Deputy Trade Representative for Agriculture. This bill would not create the need for additional personnel but would upgrade the status of agricultural issues to the level which they deserve.

Negotiating favorable trade policies is only half the battle; substantial changes in domestic agricultural policy must be made in order that trade will take place on a profitable basis. One of the first things that must happen is that some steps must be taken to correct the periodic over-supply situations that we find ourselves in more often than we should. The "Farmer Owned Reserve" created in the 1977 Farm Bill has been fairly successful in this respect, however, it is not sufficient to correct supply-demand imbalance alone. There are times, and I believe this is one of them, when we need additional measures to correct an adverse situation. I believe that legislation requiring the Secretary of Agriculture to offer a "set-aside" or a diverted acreage program along with realistically higher loan rates would be a step towards solving this problem. This would address two of our major problems: it would be a positive move toward balancing supply and demand and would also establish a floor under farm prices which would move us back toward more profitable levels. Since loans are repaid by producers at the time of sale, this approach would not represent a significant cost to the taxpayer.

I realize that this approach is not universally popular with everyone in the agricultural community and particularly with the current administration. But I feel that we have passed the point that we can continue to rely upon the empty promises of the benefits of free market concepts which never seem to materialize. It has been my observation that in most cases the most fervent advocates of free markets are those who operate in markets which are anything but highly competitive.

The American farmer can compete with anyone in the world, but in order to do so he must at least be given a fair chance to make a profit.

Cattlex Features 29 Locations

"CATTLEX," the computerized cattle marketing system launched by Texas A&M University last fall, is now bigger and better.

The system is a joint project of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Texas and U.S. Departments of Agriculture.

CATTLEX has added 11 more cooperators to its network, making a total of 29 computer terminal locations in the statewide system. Thus CATTLEX now includes 11 feedyards, 13 auction markets, four order buyer firms and one producer marketing corporation.

"With these additional cooperators and the fact that feeder-stocker cattle are starting to move off summer pastures, we expect listings and sales to increase substantially this fall," points out Dr. Ernie Davis, Extension livestock marketing specialist and one of the initiators of the system.

In addition to handling an increased volume of cattle, CATTLEX should also operate more effectively in the future. Graders, the eyes of system, are certified at Texas A&M University. Fifty-five have been certified to list and grade cattle over the CATTLEX network.

"Graders are the most important segment of the system," contends Davis. "It can't run successfully without qualified people to accurately evaluate cattle."

The CATTLEX system has now been operating one year. The accurate description of cattle provided by CATTLEX graders has enhanced the confidence buyers have in the system. In fact, buyers on the CATTLEX network feel they have more information and description than otherwise provided, notes the specialist. There have been no surprises nor dissatisfaction of cattle delivered to buyers.

The grader's role is to list and describe cattle that someone has to sell. The description includes such things as sex of the cattle, age, grade, breed, weight and flesh condition. This information is then fed into the computer and is made available to buyers at all terminals in the system. Buyers can view listings on a cathode ray tube (CRT), a television-like screen which is part of the computer terminal, or they can obtain a printout.

Each day before the sale begins, buyers gather at the terminal site to review the day's listings of lots of cattle offered for auction. When a sale is made, a printout at both the buying and selling terminals will present a confirmation of sale.

Both buyer and seller also receive a copy of the individual description of the lot, notes Davis. Title transfer is at the time of official weighing for ranch cattle and after the sale for delivered cattle.

"With CATTLEX, buyers still bid competitively and sellers still seek the highest possible price," explains Davis. "However, the system expands the scope of trading and reduces transportation and stress through more direct movement. Sellers have the advantage of more purchasers while buyers have more lots of cattle from which to choose without scurrying over the countryside."

Recent trends toward more local auction sales as well as direct selling on farms and ranches have resulted in more dispersed, low-volume markets too small to attract large numbers of buyers. However, CATTLEX centralizes the price negotiation process in marketing livestock without the costs involved in physically centralizing buyers, sellers and livestock, the specialist points out.

An added benefit of CATTLEX is that it provides fast, up-to-date market information. Interested parties can watch the market as it occurs over the state or nation by simply viewing the CRT at the terminal site.

Banvel herbicide can beat any bindweed it tangles with.

When it comes to controlling bindweed and tough perennial weeds, nothing offers the advantages of Banvel® herbicide.

Every year, perennial weed problems such as bindweed, blueweed, lakweed and silverleaf nightshade become more of a problem—proof that past control measures have not been doing their job. Turn to Banvel herbicide to stop spreading perennial weed problems.

An application of Banvel herbicide after harvest kills tough perennial weeds before they can go into winter remission. Banvel tackles bindweed and other perennial weeds on stubble... fallow or other cropland.

You can apply Banvel this season—and still return land to production on schedule. (See the Banvel label for application rates and instructions.)

Bindweed, blueweed, lakweed and silverleaf nightshade need not take over your fields. Check its proven results... check its reasonable cost... And you'll ask for Banvel herbicide.

Thelma Wirges Retires After 34 Years

Thelma Wirges of Vernon, whose educational leadership career with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has spanned 34 years, retired August 31.

as District Extension Director for the Rolling Plains District and has been headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center near here.

with agents to help identify innovative approaches for educational programs in Archer, Baylor, Haskell, Knox, Shackelford, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young Counties. She also supervised and helped evaluate the programs, and with her co-worker Ed Garnett recruited new agents and helped administer the overall Extension program.

Miss Wirges was honored at a public reception from 4 to 6 p.m. August 28 in the Wichita Falls Activity Center by friends and associates.

"Miss Wirges has always done an outstanding job of training new county agents in Extension organization and policy. She makes the work program come alive for these young people, and gives it a unique vitality. Many of these agents were on hand to honor her at the reception," Garnett noted.

He pointed out that Wirges has great expertise in assisting agents to identify new approaches for educational programs.

"For example, she was instrumental in planning with a committee of county agents for an innovative program on young home designs and furnishings, with color coordination, overall design and layout being major features in a district activity that was held this week.

"Additionally, she has given strong leadership to the Rolling Plains Economic Program's Family Living Committee on a number of educational efforts. One of these will take place Oct. 8 at the Vernon Regional College and will feature the use of natural fibers," Garnett said.

At the October meeting, to be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of RPEP, home economists from Cotton, Inc., and other cotton producer organizations and officials of the wool and mohair industry have been invited to present program segments. Another feature will be demonstrations on uses and nutrients of beef, to be presented by the Texas Cowbelles organization.

Before being promoted to District Director, Miss Wirges served as county agent in Baylor, Haskell and Wichita Counties for some 23 years. Prior to joining the Extension Service, she was home economics teacher at Munday High School for two years.

Miss Wirges' educational leadership activities have earned many honors and widespread recognition. She has been awarded the Superior Service Award by the Extension Service and the Distinguished Service Award by the National Association of Extension Home Economists, and is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary fraternity. Recently, she was honored by Epsilon Sigma Phi, national honorary Extension fraternity.

A native of Fort Worth, Miss Wirges is a member of the American and Texas Home Economics Associations and belongs to the order of the Eastern Star.

She holds a B.S. degree in vocational home economics from North Texas State University and has done graduate studies at Texas Woman's University, Midwestern University, Colorado State University and Texas A&M University.

"We appreciate so very much the many effective educational programs conducted by Miss Wirges over the years, and will miss her talents as she retires," said Dr. Judy Sanders, state leader for county Extension programs.

Named to the position that Miss Wirges is vacating has been Mrs. Elaine Houston of Pampa, currently serving as county agent in Gray County. Her appointment is effective Sept. 1.

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 3, 1981

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to authorize cities, towns and other taxing units to grant exemptions from ad valorem taxes on an unproductive, underdeveloped or blighted area in order to encourage its development. The amendment would also allow the legislature to authorize a city or town to issue bonds or notes to finance this development and to pledge future increases in ad valorem tax revenues from the property in such areas to repay these bonds or notes.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize cities, towns, and other taxing units to encourage the improvement, development, or redevelopment of certain areas through property tax relief and the issuance of bonds and notes."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 117 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize a person to receive a patent to land from the Commissioner of the General Land Office under certain conditions. Application for the patent must be made within five years from approval of the amendment. The land must be surveyed, public free school land not previously patentable. The person must have a properly recorded deed to the land, which he acquired without knowledge of the patent defect and which title he and his predecessors in interest have held for at least 50 years. The person and his predecessors in interest must have continuously claimed the land and paid the taxes for at least 50 years.

This amendment does not apply to beach land, submerged land, or islands. An applicant may not use this provision to resolve a boundary dispute. This amendment will not apply to land which has been determined to be state-owned by a court of competent jurisdiction or that has a productive state mineral lease on the effective date of the amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years as of November 15, 1981."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 38 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the authority to manage state funds. Funds constitutionally dedicated to specific purposes would not be subject to committee management. The committee would be composed of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee, and the Chairman of the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the power to manage the expenditure of certain appropriated funds."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would provide that one-half of the surplus tax revenues above the spending limit provided by Article VIII, Section 22, of the Texas Constitution would be placed in a Water Assistance Fund to be used as provided by law, including projects for water development and conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes or any combination of these purposes.

The amendment also provides $500,000,000 of the general credit of the state to guarantee bonds issued in commercial markets by local political subdivisions, including cities, counties, and special districts. The amendment allows amounts to be established to decrease or retire state debt, which is defined as that debt secured by the full faith and credit of the state. The amendment would raise the interest that could be paid on authorized, but unissued, bonds guaranteed by the full faith and credit of the state from 6% to 12%.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the use of a portion of the excess revenues of the state for water development, water conservation, water quality enhancement, and flood control purposes; authorizing the use of the state's credit, not to exceed five hundred million dollars, to guarantee the bonds of cities, counties, towns, and other units of local government in the financing of projects for such purposes; increasing the interest rate that may be paid on previously approved, but unissued, state bonds; and authorizing a program to retire state bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would exempt livestock and poultry from taxation. Currently, farm products in the hands of the producer and family supplies for home and farm use are exempt.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products as exempt from taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 81 authorizes the governing body of a county, city, school district or other political subdivisions to exempt from taxation a portion of the market value of a residence homestead. The portion exempted may be as much as 40% for 1982-1984; 30% for 1985-1987; and 20% for 1988 and after. The amount of an exemption may not be less than $5,000 unless the legislature by general law prescribes other monetary restrictions on the amount of the exemption. An eligible adult is allowed to receive other applicable exemptions provided by law. An exception is made where ad valorem tax has previously been pledged for the payment of debt.

The amendment further directs the legislature to require that notice be given to property owners of a reasonable estimate of tax on their property in certain situations.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Veterans' Land Board to issue and sell an additional $250,000,000 in bonds increasing the Veterans' Land Fund's total bond issuance authorization from $700,000,000 to $950,000,000. The amendment would increase the maximum interest payable by the state on these bonds from 6% to 10%, and permit an even higher rate, if specified by the legislature.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of additional bonds to finance the veterans' land program and to increase the maximum interest rate allowable on veterans' land fund bonds."

Selective Service List Posted

A list of Selective Service registrants born in 1962 and the first part of 1963 has been posted in the Haskell County Courthouse.

According to Colonel Paul Dean Aikin, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, the Military Selective Service Act requires that the names of Selective Service registrants be posted in a public place within each local board area.

Local Board tentative assignments have been made based upon the Zip Code of the registrants permanent home address.

Colonel Aikin says the law (the Military Selective Service Act) still requires all young men to register with Selective Service at age eighteen.

Currently, men born in 1963 are required to register within 30 days before or 30 days after their eighteenth birthday. Registration forms may be completed at any United States Post Office. If any young man failed to register on time, he may clear his record by registering as soon as possible.

Fines Collected

Judge Geraldine Hise, Justice Court, Precinct 1, Haskell County reports a total of 210 convictions for the month of August, 1981. Traffic and Criminal Cases were filed by the following Law Enforcement agencies: Highway Patrol, 196; Game warden, 1; Sheriff's Dept., 13, resulting in a total of $6656.00 in fines.

Begin Plans Now For Spring Lawns

Hot summer weather has taken its toll on home lawns—and homeowners—throughout Texas. But there's still more work to be done to insure a weed-free winter lawn and good recovery of the lawn next spring.

"Lawn insects, including chinch bugs, white grubs and armyworms, must be controlled during late summer and fall," says Dr. Richard L. Doble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Where these insects damage the lawn, winter weeds rapidly invade the weakened turf and spring recovery is often poor. Timely applications of insecticides such as diazinon or chlorpyrifos (Dursban) will control most lawn insect problems."

According to Doble, fall fertilization is another requirement for maintaining green color and promoting early spring green-up of lawns. A dense, vigorous turf produced by proper fertilization also keeps winter weeds from invading lawns.

He recommends applying a complete fertilizer with a 3-1-2, 4-1-2 or similar ratio of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash at a rate of 1 1/2 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn. This would be 12 pounds of 12-4-8 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet.

"Straight nitrogen fertilizers high in phosphorus (the middle number in the fertilizer analysis) should not be used for established lawns," cautions Doble.

"If winter weeds have been a problem in past years, apply a preemergence herbicide (chemical weed killer) for additional protection against weeds," suggests the specialist. "Materials containing atrazine, benfluralin and dacthal provide pre-emergence control of many winter annual weeds. Some pre-emergence herbicides are available in formulations with fertilizers, which simplifies application."

Of course, it's important to follow label instructions in regard to grass species and rates of application when using herbicides. Materials containing atrazine should not be used around trees and shrubs.

As far as disease control is concerned, Doble suggests applying a fungicide on St. Augustine lawns to prevent damage from brownpatch. Not only is brownpatch unsightly, but weeds generally invade the lawn in disease-weakened areas. Also, spring recovery is delayed in areas damaged by brownpatch.

Fungicides containing PCNB (Terraclor, Ortho Lawn Fungicide), benomyl (Benlate, Tersan 1991) or chlorothalonil (Daconil) control brownpatch when applied according to label instructions.

"Another fall task for homeowners is to remove excess accumulations of grass clippings or tree leaves from the lawn," points out Doble. "The excess debris from these sources increases thatch accumulation and creates a favorable habitat for insects and disease organisms."

So, for attractive lawns this fall and to insure good spring recovery, homeowners need to fertilize and use preventative pesticides as well as mow regularly.

Chemists develop high octane fuel from wood residues

COLLEGE STATION—A high octane fuel that may be better than gasoline has been produced from waste products generated in the effort to turn pine and other forest residues into liquid fuel.

Dr. Ed Soltes, a wood chemist and leader of a research team at Texas A&M University's Forest Science Laboratory, said his group has taken the process of making fuel from plants one step further by turning the by-products of the fuel-making process into still more fuel.

The research, sponsored by the Texas A&M Center for Energy and Mineral Resources and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, greatly improves the technological feasibility and possibly the cost-effectiveness of producing liquid engine fuels from plants, Soltes said.

Albany Jail To Be Dedicated

Vaughn Moore, longtime associate of Marshall R. Young, will make the principle remarks at the September 12 dedication of the Old Jail Foundation Sculpture Courtyard to the memory of Marshall R. Young. Mr. Young was an early day oil producer in the Albany area. Mr. Moore and the late Mr. Young's friendship dates back prior to the discovery of the Cook Field oilfield.

A.V. Jones, Jr., a Foundation Founder, will preside over the dedication and James R. Green will read the act of dedication.

Several members of the Young family will attend the dedication.

The dedication is open to the public and is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. on September 12th. The Albany High School Band will perform. Coffee and rolls will be served prior to and after the ceremony.
