Heart Ass'n. Programs Available

A special program for early childhood, kindergarten and first grade students of Haskell Elementary School was held Wednesday morning.

The program was presented by Anita Thigpen, R.N., Program Chairman for the Haskell County Chapter of the American Heart Association.

A film, "Adventure of a Man in Search of a Heart", was shown and each student was given a special coloring book which should teach the students better heart-health. Dorothy's friend the Tin Woodsman is depicted in the film. He is no longer in Oz but is still searching for a heart.

The program is one of many available to the public sponsored by the local chapter.

The focus of 1982 is education toward the youth and Miss Thigpen invites any interested person to contact her for further information concerning programs. She can be reached by calling 864-2081.

broadcast are KRBC, KEAN, KWKC, and KFMN-FM; Abilene; WBAP, Fort Worth; KRIG, Odessa; KOXE-FM, Brownwood; KEND, Lubbock; KTEO, San Angelo; KGKL, San Angelo; and KEMN, Portales, N.M.

Because the Westar II satellite will be used to provide service to KDBC-TV in El Paso, more than 250 cable systems with earth receiving stations will be invited to carry the program as a public service.

The telethon will again feature an auction board with donated items open to telephone bids during the show. Among the items to be sold include a Rolex watch valued at $5,000; a pair of crocodile boots valued at $2,500; diamonds valued at $17,000; horse and farm trailers; Tony Lama boots; and Bailey felt hats.

Handmade quilts have also been donated to be auctioned. The Colonial Rehab Ranger program, a cooperative program between the Texas Rangers Baseball Team and Colonial Convenience Stores, is another featured event of the telethon, raising money for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

The Rehab '82 telethon marks the beginning of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's year-long funding program. The 1982 budget will be near the $4 million mark in order to provide services without charge to more than 10,000 handicapped children and adults. WTRC campuses are in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder and outreach services extend to 43 counties.

Services offered by the West Texas Rehabilitation Center include physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech and language pathology, audiology, education, adaptive equipment and bracing, psychology, social services, work evaluation and recreation.

Trice, Fischer United In Marriage

MRS. JOHN MARK TRICE
...formerly Gena Lynn Fischer

Gena Lynn Fischer and John Mark Trice were united in marriage on Tuesday, December 29, 1981 in the Paint Creek Baptist Church.

Rev. W.L. Trice, father of the groom, performed the candle light ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Fischer of Paint Creek, and the groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. W.L. Trice of O'Brien.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore an original gown by Bridallure, designed by Michelle. The white gown was created in Sheerganza, Wedgewood lace, and English net. The basque waist was fashioned in Wedgewood lace, with a flounced Victorian-yoked neckline. It was embroidered with silk floss and embellished with seed pearls, and sequins on Venise lace medallions. The full sleeves graced with medallions are lined and held with deep cuffs of English net and finished with lace ruffle overlays. Her five tiered skirt of Wedgewood lace flowed to a Cathedral length train. Each tier was bordered with deep Venise lace.

Her camelot cap of lace, embroidered with silk floss and sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins, held the Cathedral length veil of silk illusion. The veil was circled with Venise lace.

The bridal bouquet was of emillion and white roses. She carried a white Bible given to her by her maternal Grandmother. For something new she wore diamond drop necklace given to her by the groom, and pearl ear drops given her by her paternal Grandmother. For something blue she wore the traditional blue garter and her Father placed a six pence in her shoe. In her bouquet the bride carried a handkerchief made of lace from her Mother's wedding dress. Something borrowed was her sister's ankle chain.

Maid of honor was Linda Fischer, sister of the bride, and Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Roach, cousin of the bride, of Roanoke. The bridesmaid were Kay Fischer, sister of the bride, Anita Bryant of Littlefield, Ruthie Trice, sister of the groom, of O'Brien.

They were matching dresses of Emillion Ala Creme in the same Victorian style neckline as the brides dress with full sleeves and standing lace collars and yokes. The full skirts were ruffled at the bottom and caught at the waist with sashes. They carried tear drop bouquets with contrasting emillion and dusty rose flowers.

Flower girl was Jodi Carlton of Lawn, neice of the groom. She wore a dress made in the same fashion as the bride's dress with white Ala Creme and Venise lace ruffles. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

Ring bearer, Casey Thompson, carried a white satin pillow with lace and appliques, seed pearls and the names of the bride and groom embroidered. The pillow, bridesmaids and flowergirl dresses were all fashioned by the bride's Mother.

Serving the groom as Best man was Daryl Peel, Groomsman and ushers were Keith Clifton of Brownwood, Kenny Thompson, Larry Armentrout of Stamford and Mike Simpson of Giddings. They wore silver grey tux's with burgundy roses in the lapels.

Candlelighters for the ceremony were Denise Stuart of Richardson, and Alan Morris of Hereford. Miss Stuart's dress was identical to the brides maids in a dusty rose color. All the girls wore tiny flowers in their hair.

Soloist were Doug McQueen and Larry Armentrout both of Stamford.

Debra Wells played traditional wedding music at the piano prior to the ceremony and during the candle lighting. Becky Buerger of Lubbock registered the guests at the wedding and reception and also accompanied the soloist. Mrs. Phil Coleman played the Wedding Marches on the organ.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will reside in the Paint Creek community.

The bride is a graduate of Paint Creek High School and is a Science Education major at Hardin Simmons University. A graduate of Lueders-Avoca High School the bridegroom is a SR. Ministerial student at Hardin Simmons and is pastor of P.C. Baptist Church.

Brush and Palette

Happy New Year! We have been expressing our delight and appreciation to be able to live in this beautiful Big Country area. Having spent years in cities, it is gratifying to be able to see nature again - the glowing sun rise and sun sets daily. This is a wonderful area to live in and come home to.

Being a hardy soul, I look forward to painting on location and have found a perfect spot not many miles away. There is no better way to understand values, composition and color than to consult nature herself. We should all be appreciative of our heritage and the beauty in our local surroundings. Some will ask "Where is it so beautiful?" Just look - have you learned to see?

Q. How can I help myself to see more?

A. Since you are painting, you are aware of the world around you. It is said, "If you can see, you can paint." This means that an artist must see analytically and relate what he sees to the canvas. Pick out the darkest shadow you can see, then pick out the lightest. Next, determine the gradation from dark to light in the many half tones. Check the proportion and you will determine how rapidly an object diminishes in size as you look farther into the distance. A good book to read is Jack Clifton's "The Eye of the Artist".

Study color. This is a good time of the year to do this. Colors now are the warm earth colors so experiment with them and don't forget to use your color wheel for the complementary colors.

Q. Since this is the beginning of a new year, I would like to study some books. What do you suggest for a beginner?

A. There are so many. My library has many that I could share with you (but they are in storage right now) but perhaps the local library has art books. One of my favorite books for a beginner is "The Artists' Handbook" by Ralph Mayer. It is the artists' dictionary and should be in each art library. "Creative Color" by Wendon Blake is excellent and easily understood for those wanting to learn color. Taubes' book on "Landscape Painting for the Beginner", John Carlson's "Guide to Landscape Painting" is a classic and has been out of print but is now available in paper back. "How to Draw and Paint Trees" is another. John Robinson's "Marine Painting in Oil" and many others. There are good books on acrylics - Mr. Taubes has one "Acrylic Painting for the Beginner". There are many good books on water color painting. Join one of the book clubs and save on your purchases.

HINT: "Ask God's blessings on your work but do not also ask Him to do it." - Waggerl
Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Documentary Started On Louisiana Hayride

Buckboard Productions, headed by Ron Dilulio and David Pinkston of Fort Worth has begun taping a television documentary on the Louisiana Hayride.

Supported by a 15-man crew, the pair has spent the past year researching a negotiating for television and film rights.

The Hayride special is the pilot for a planned series on American Music and its origins. Each week the producers plan to highlight a different aspect of American Music. Their subjects will range from Cajun Waltzes to German-Texas Polkas.

The Louisiana Hayride was selected for the pilot because it was - and continues to be - "the birthplace of the stars". During its colorful 35-year history Slim Whitman, Johnny Horton, The Wilburn Brothers, Johnny Cash, Roy Clark, Hank Williams, Elvis Presley, Faron Young, Jim Reeves, Floyd Cramer, and many others found the Hayride and made it their springboard to fame.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses issued during the month of Dec., included:

Robert L. Williams and Rita D. Jackson, Rochester.
Gary J. Thomas and Reda G. Campbell, Haskell.

Jerry W. Nicholson, Rochester and Leslie C. Jones, Lubbock.

Zeke Becker and Pamela Becker, Haskell.

WE HAVE Cross pens and pencils and Cross soft tip pens. Available in gold and silver finishes. Haskell Free Press

Although there is a great difference in philosophy, the Louisiana Hayride and The Grand Old Opry are the two country music shows that are known throughout the world. The Hayride is known for creating the stars, while the Opry showcases the stars. There are quite a few people that remember the many Friday nights that Elvis appeared on the Hayride before he was a household name.

The pilot, which goes into production on December 12 at the Hayride auditorium in Bossier City, Louisiana, will introduce the world to some exciting new talent that is being showcased at the Hayride each Saturday night. In addition, there will be interviews and historical features on past Hayride regulars who have since become "stars".

Some of the talent featured on the pilot will include Shauna Smith, a talented 11 year old singer who has already appeared this past summer at Loretta Lynn's dude ranch, and performed with Willy Nelson.

Tumblin' Creek, a versatile trio out of Fort Worth, will also appear, along with Zenida Doran, a charming discovery from the Philippines. The Pickin' Hicks, Bubba Talbert, Trudy Sands, and "Fast" Eddie Sims round out the talent for this introductory segment.

Funny or Unfunny

OUT IN BEDFORD, INDIANA, the federal government—which is to say you and I—is paying $700,000 to build a 96-foot-high version of the Egyptian pyramid of Cheops and an 850-foot-long replica of the Great Wall of China. This would-be tourist attraction is the gift of the Economic Development Administration. The project is the dream of Merle Edington, head of the local Chamber of Commerce who for a decade has wanted a memorial to the dying limestone industry. In awarding this preposterous project his monthly "Golden Fleece Award," an exasperated Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) declared: "Perhaps the EDA will next pay for a scale model of the Eiffel Tower made out of steel to be placed in Pittsburgh."

Hints For Proper Use Of Fireplace And Woodstoves

Many people find cool, crisp fall evenings perfect for snuggling up in a comfortable couch or chair while a fire blazes cheerily in the fireplace.

Your dream evening in front of the fireplace could turn into a night of frustration, however, if you haven't properly cared for your fireplace.

A fireplace needs to be cleaned regularly, particularly the chimney and flues. Accumulations of soot, a by-product of incomplete combustion, will restrict air flow, and poor air draft can make starting a fire difficult. This accumulation can even cause chimney fires under some conditions. Poor draft can also cause smoke to spread through the house instead of out through the chimney — hardly a dream situation.

The best way to eliminate potentially troublesome soot deposits is with a wire brush and "elbow grease." A less strenuous, but more expensive, way to clean your chimney is to hire a professional chimney sweep, if one is in the area.

Once the soot is cleaned from your chimney, and assuming your fireplace has no basic design flaws, you should be set for your dream evening... provided, of course, you remember to open the damper.

There's one more item to consider — firewood! What you burn as fuel significantly affects the pleasure, and safety you derive from your fireplace.

For best results, always buy wood that has been seasoned for at least three months; six to nine months is much better, say Texas Forest Service forest products specialists. Properly seasoned wood burns more completely than unseasoned wood, thereby minimizing soot and creosote deposition in chimneys and flues. Dry wood also produces more heat per unit of volume.

Dense hardwoods such as oak, hickory and pecan make good fireplace fuel; these are long-burning woods with high heat output. Fruit woods burn with a pleasant aroma. These woods can add a special touch to your evening's enjoyment.

Softwoods, such as pine and cedar, tend to burn more quickly than hardwoods, due to the resins in the wood. These resins also cause pine to pop and crack when burning; a cheery sound, perhaps, but one with potential danger. The pops can send burning embers out onto nearby carpets, with disastrous results. Always use a screen in front of your fires, particularly if you have to leave it unattended for any time at all.

Softwoods such as pine are often used as kindling. In fact, some folks scour the woods for pine knots — pine heartwood very rich in resin — which ignite readily. Many a campfire has been successfully kindled with pine knots when all other methods have failed.

Buying firewood can be confusing. Firewood is sold in many different quantities — the standard cord, face cord and truckload, to name but a few.

A standard cord is generally a stack of wood four feet high, four feet wide and eight feet long; or 128 cubic feet of wood, bark and air. A face cord usually contains about one-half to one-third of a standard cord.

The amount of wood in a truckload can vary considerably, but a good rule of thumb is that a 1/2-ton pickup without heavy duty springs can carry about one-third of a cord.

A good way to figure out the comparable prices of different grades is to convert all volumes to cords. Multiply the length by the width and by the height and divide by 128. This will give you the relative volume, in cords, of the respective volumes and will enable you to compare prices.

Those who have a good saw and a truck in which to haul firewood can often get free firewood. The federal government allows firewood cutting on national forests; however, a permit must be obtained from the appropriate ranger district.

Many private companies also allow individuals to cut firewood on cutover lands, but again prior permission is required. Always ask permission before cutting or collecting firewood on anyone else's property.

Make it a point to measure your fireplace or woodstove before buying or cutting firewood. Unless you know what size fuel your fireplace or stove can handle, you could end up with wood too long or too big to use without additional cutting or splitting.

One additional hint. Save the wood ashes and spread them on your garden. They contain potash, a major fertilizer nutrient.

These hints from the Texas Forest Service should help you get more enjoyment from your fireplaces this fall and winter. Happy snuggling.

Farm Bureau Convention Set

Texas is sending 19 voting delegates to the 63rd annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation Jan. 10-14 in San Diego.

Voting delegates from across the nation, representing the AFBF's 3.1 million member families, will adopt policies to guide the nation's largest general farm organization in 1982.

Heading the Texas Farm Bureau delegation will be TFB President Carrol Chaloupka, cattle and grain producer from Dalhart. The rest of the delegates will be comprised of members of the 13-member TFB board of directors, plus five former state directors.

Main convention speakers will include Robert Delano, Warsaw, Va., grain farmer and president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Secretary of Interior James Watt; and Senator Walter Huddleston of Kentucky, ranking minority member of Senate Agriculture Committee.

Conferences are scheduled for cotton, dairy, livestock, horticultural crops, grains, natural and environmental resources, and poultry and aquaculture.

The business session where policies for 1982 will be adopted will be the final two days of the meeting. Election of directors and officers will be on the final day, Jan. 14.

Steve and Pat Bearden of Santa Rosa, Cameron County, TFB's "Outstanding Young Farm Couple," will compete with other state finalists for the national title in Farm Bureau. Mr. and Mrs. Bearden are members of a family corporation which farms approximately 4,300 acres in the Rio Grande Valley.

Marcy Langridge of San Patricio County, chosen as TFB Queen at the organization's recent state meeting in Corpus Christi, will be introduced at a general session of the San Diego meeting along with other state queens. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby G. Langridge Sr. of

Representing Texas in the national talent find program will be Pianist John Dujka of Fort Bend County. John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dujka of Rosenberg, won the state talent find competition in Corpus Christi Nov. 30.

Voting delegates from Texas, in addition to Chaloupka, include 13 members of the TFB Board of Directors. They are: Paul T. Macina, Shamrock; S.M. True, Jr., Plainview; Leonard Schaffner, Henrietta; Joe F. Fisher, McKinney; A. Wayne Cranfill, Hooks; Vester Smith, Loop; and Roy Johnson, Desdemona.

Also, Calvin Rueter, Clifton; Henry Burton, Lufkin;

J.R. "Bubba" Day, Uvalde; David Foeheer, Boling; George O. White, Harwood; and James R. Adams, Odem.

The five former Board members who are serving as voting delegates are: Bill Guidry, Nacogdoches; Jack Osborne, Pampa; Marvin Phemister, Weinert; Donald Hebert, Waller; and Doyle Condra, Talpa.

Serving as alternate delegates are past state directors John A. Smith, Cameron and T.L. Roberts, Wills Point.

Bingo Confusion To End With Passage Of Law

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that voters in at least 12 Texas counties and five cities will decide January 16 whether non-profit groups can legally operate bingo games in their communities.

"This is going to end the confusion about bingo in Texas. From now on, bingo is going to be approved by the voters and licensed by the state or it's to be illegal," Bullock said.

Cities, counties and justice precincts that approve bingo can also levy a 2 percent gross receipts tax on the games. The Comptroller's office will handle licensing of the games, collect the tax and return it to the communities where the games are held.

Where voters approve bingo, non-profit groups must get licenses from the Comptroller's Bingo Regulation Division and can't legally operate games until 10 days after the local option election, according to Division Director George Garland.

"We are urging non-profit groups in these counties and cities to apply in advance for their licenses by contacting us right away," Garland said.

Organizations should contact the division by writing to 111 E. 17th, Austin, Texas 78774 or calling 1-800-252-5555.

According to the new bingo law, cities, counties and justice precincts that don't vote to approve bingo in January must wait until the next constitutional election date of April 3.

To call a bingo election, a local governing body must receive a petition with the signatures of 10 percent of the number of voters who cast ballots in the last governor's election.

The Comptroller's first enforcement priority following the January voting will be to protect those groups who have obtained licenses.

"Especially where the local government has levied the 2 percent tax," Garland said, "we will be checking to make sure every bingo game is licensed. Those that don't have licenses will be urged to get them. If they don't become licensed and keep playing bingo, we will file complaints with local authorities and the Attorney General."

Counties due to vote first on the bingo question include Guadalupe, Comal, Kerr, Maverick, Kleberg, Victoria, Fayette, Milam, Wharton, Nueces, Lavaca, Jim Wells and Webb.

Cities holding January 16 elections include White Settlement, Schertz, Selma, Gregory and Reno.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor;
I was born in Haskell but, my family moved away when I was 2 years old. My parents were killed in an auto accident when I was 5. I lived in and out of foster homes until I was 15 years old because, I didn't know any relatives to turn to for help or a home. Now I'm in a state work camp and I've never been so sad and lonely in my life.

I do not write anyone and don't know of any way to contact any of my relatives by mail. I thought that if you could find the time and kindness in your heart to publish this letter in your newspaper and some relative or friend of a relative might see it and contact me.

I would like very much to write anyone in or around Haskell as a penpal. I am a white male but, loneliness picks no certain age or color to fall upon. So if anyone cares to share a smile from time to time with a lonely person, please write me. If you could please write me, please enclose a stamp because, I can't get any unless they are sent in by mail to me. Thank you for your time and kindness in my behalf.

Smoke Detectors Save Lives

Most fires happen when everyone is asleep. According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, every home needs at least one smoke detector close to where you sleep—to wake everyone up in case of fire. Many deaths and injuries are actually caused not by the fire itself, but by smoke and gas.

A helpful booklet, Home Fire Safety, gives vital information on preventing a disaster in your home. To get a copy, send $1.50 to the Consumer Information Center, Dept.

201K, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Each year, more than 6,000 deaths and nearly 30,000 injuries happen as a result of home fires. These fires start from many ignition sources, like gasoline, flammable fabrics in clothes, cigarettes, space heaters, and so on. But, if you follow these tips, you can minimize the possibility of a fire loss in your home:

Flammable Liquids
1. Store gasoline outside the house, and well away from ignition sources.

2. Store gasoline only in containers designed specifically for this purpose.

3. Never use gasoline for cleaning clothing, machine parts, or anything else.

4. Use charcoal starter for lighting outdoor grills. Never throw any flammable liquid, like gasoline, on burning or smoldering fires.

Flammable Fabrics
1. Follow the washing instructions for flame-resistant clothing to preserve their protective quality.

2. Teach everyone in your household to "drop and roll" on the floor or ground in case clothing should catch fire.

3. Don't wear loose robes or other loose night clothing when you're cooking.

Upholstered Furniture
1. Keep upholstered furniture away from wood stoves, ranges, space heaters and fireplaces.

2. Caution smokers against placing ashtrays on the arms of upholstered furniture, or smoking when drowsy, when drinking alcohol, or taking medication.

Space Heaters
1. Every gas or fuel-burning space heater must be properly vented.

2. All electric space heaters should have a shutoff switch that activates if the heater tips over, and heaters should have protective grilles around the heating elements.

3. Extension cords used with space heaters must match the electrical requirements of the space heater.

4. Never use a portable electric heater in a bathroom or near a sink.

Smoke Detectors
1. Every home should have at least one, located near sleeping rooms.

2. Test the smoke detector to see if it's working at least once a month.

When you order a copy of Home Fire Safety ($1.50), you'll also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Catalog list over 200 booklets of consumer interest at low or no-cost.

Assisting In Young Child's Early Development

To a child who has just learned to walk, each new day brings fresh opportunities for discovery. And now that the feet are travelling, the child shows a growing desire for independence.

One of the ways a child learns independence is by imitating her parents and siblings, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter. The child toddles around the house, "helping." And she begins to explore her clothing-imitating others by pulling off her cap, tugging on shoe laces, pulling off shoes. Every mother who has tied a toddler's shoe laces in a double knot knows that even this is scant protection from the prying, pulling and poking fingers of a persistent child.

Don't let your youngster's apparent determination to join the nearest nudist colony worry you. She is just as interested in exploring her clothes and herself as she is in exploring the rest of her world. So take advantage of her interest to start her on the road to independence.

As you get her ready for her bath, encourage her to help. Untie shoe laces and loosen them as you say, "Now we'll take off Erin's shoe! We untie them, we pull the laces and off it comes!" Let the child pull the laces out. Pulling these strings through the little holes is great fun and good hand-eye training too.

Soon she can unlace the shoe all by herself. What an accomplishment! Look out, though—as she kicks her feet in excitement that shoe might really fly! Before that happens, show her how to pull it off, and then say, "Now give the shoe to Mommy, please." Get a grip on it before she throws it to see if shoes will fly or drops it on the floor to find out what kind of noise it makes! And don't forget to say "Thank you!" when she lets go of it.

Socks must come off, too. Push the top down over the child's heel, and pull the toe loose. Twitch it and pull it a little, saying, "You pull it off!" When she pulls it off with a flourish, be ready with, "Give the sock to Mommy? Thank you!" As you and your toddler go about getting the rest of her clothes off, follow the same procedure. Get the garment part way off and let her finish pulling it off. And talk about what you and she are doing together.

Does all this sound like just play and pretty time-consuming for a busy mother? It is play, granted, but your child is learning important lessons about her clothes and herself, about on and off, about how to balance herself while she pulls off a shoe or sock! She also learns about the characteristics and textures of shoes, shoe laces, socks, shirts, etc. And how about the lesson on neatness ("Give the shoe to Mommy"), and the lesson on politeness (please and thank-you)? All this, plus taking some early steps toward independence.

P.S.: A word to the wise: When you buy your toddler a pair of shoes, always buy at least one extra pair of shoe laces, and keep some white glue on hand. Eager little hands are hard on shoe lace tips, and there's nothing more frustrating than trying to push a bushy-tailed shoe lace through a small eyelet when the shoe is on a wriggling foot.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

USDA Soil Conservation Service

Conservation Viewpoints

Conservation tillage appears to be the most cost effective method of controlling erosion of the nation's cropland, Norm Berg, Chief of the USDA Soil Conservation Service, said in an editorial in the January issue of Soil and Water Conservation News.

"Conservation tillage alone is not the total solution to erosion problems, but leaving adequate amounts of crop residue on the surface year round can reduce sheet and rill erosion by as much as 90 percent," Berg said. "Under some conditions, conservation tillage must be applied as part of a complete conservation system. It must complement a system of terraces, grass waterways, diversions, and other needed practices in some areas."

The Chief speculated that some form of conservation tillage can be applied to every acre of cropland in the United States. He said there is a definite trend away from using the moleboard plow, and U.S. farmers seem to be increasingly aware of the benefits of reduced tillage systems. Conservation tillage has grown from 26.7 million acres in 1972 to an estimated 98.8 million acres in 1981. The SCS has spearheaded technical assistance in many areas to get this practice started.

Jim Hudson, district conservationist for SCS at Haskell said farmers in the local Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District who use conservation tillage can eliminate as many as three tractor trips to produce a crop.

Hudson also said more research is needed to learn how to use conservation tillage under all soil and climatic conditions.

There are several conservation tillage systems available to farmers regardless of their crop. The foundation for the practice, however, is to leave crop residues on the surface, and eliminate plowing and other soil preparation steps. Growers interested in conservation tillage systems are advised to consult with their local SCS office and with other farmers in the area who have adopted the practice.

Don Welch Promoted To Executive Assistant

Don Welch, district manager for West Texas Utilities Company, has been promoted to the position of Executive Assistant, effective February 1, and will be relocated at the Company's General Office Building in Abilene.

Welch, a native of Stamford, said he does not plan to move his family to Abilene until the end of the current school year.

Replacing Welch as manager of the WTU's Stamford District will be James Elam, who has been district manager of the Big Bend District, with headquarters in Marfa. Elam, like Welch, has children in public school, and probably will not move his family to Stamford until the end of the spring term.

In Abilene, Welch will be executive assistant to Dick Brooks, vice president and director of Customer Services. Among his responsibilities will be legislative activities and various duties dealing with customer relations. The Customer Services Division encompasses all operations within WTU's six divisions.

Welch graduated from Stamford High School in 1957. He attended North Texas State University for two years, then joined WTU as a groundman in a distribution line crew at Stamford in 1959.

He served in the Army from 1961-63, and was discharged as a sergeant. He worked as a clerk-draftsman for WTU in Stamford until 1964, as a serviceman in Aspermont from 1964-67 and as local manager at Aspermont from 1967-70. He moved to Wellington as local manager from 1970-73, then to Alpine as local manager from 1973-76.

While at Alpine, Welch earned a degree in business administration and pursued graduate studies at Sul Ross State University. He returned to Stamford as assistant district manager in 1976 and was promoted to district manager in 1977, succeeding the late Russell Crowover.

Welch currently is a vice president and director of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Texas Cowboy Reunion and the Industrial Foundation, and vice chairman of the Parks Board. He also is a director and past-president of the Stamford Country Club and past-director of the Rotary Club.

He and his wife, Merina, have two children. They are Lynette, 16, a sophomore at Stamford High School, and Matt, 10, a fifth grader. The Welchs are Baptists.

We would like to bring this program to your community. If you are interested or know of an organization that would like to help families, please let us know. A workshop to familiarize you with the "As Parents Grow Older" program will be held from 2-4 p.m. in the conference room at West Texas Rehabilitation Center on January 14, 1982. In February a special training series will be held for those

T.H.E.™ Heat Pump by Coleman.

T.H.E.™ Heat Pump uses free solar energy to slash your electric heating bills... even fossil fuel bills in some cases... thanks to Coleman's "Dual Fuel Control." And that's only half the savings story.

The other half is in T.H.E.™ Heat Pump's high energy efficiency rating as an air conditioner. That's right T.H.E.™ Heat Pump both cools your home in the summer and warms it in the winter... efficiently and dependably.

Let us show you all the differences between T.H.E.™ Heat Pump and the competition. Once you compare purchase price, operating efficiencies and overall quality, we think you'll agree: Few, if any, competitive units even come close to matching T.H.E.™ Heat Pump's year-round performance.

Superintendent's Family Farms Is Views Convention Topic

BY JAMES LANIER

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

The Christmas holidays are over; teachers and students have returned, (hopefully rested and recharged) and business as usual has returned to Haskell ISD. The second semester started Monday and district basketball games will start on Tuesday, January 12th at Indian Gym. The opponent will be Seymour. The time for our annual Jr. High Tournament lurks in the near future. Little Dribblers basketball will be under way shortly. Also, it is time to begin planning for the coming school year (1982-1983) in this office. In other words, it is time to begin thinking budget, curriculum, and assignments. Probably the busiest time of the year for a central office is January through August.

What can a school administrator do in the way of resolutions? One, he can resolve to be more efficient. Two, he can resolve to do everything within his power to educate the students of Haskell ISD to the maximum of their ability. Three, he can resolve to keep the public better informed concerning their schools. However, all these resolutions are part of my basic philosophy; therefore, I can only resolve to keep in harmony with my philosophy throughout the entire year.

Just a reminder from the tax office. January 31 is the last date to pay taxes without a penalty and interest. Also, it is time to sign up for the homestead exemptions. You will now sign up in these areas at the County Appraisal Office across the street from the bank.

"Family Farms for the Future" will be the theme and the topic of concern when members of the Texas Farmers Union gather for their 1982 convention in Fort Worth on January 7-9. Delegates and members of the 10,000 member family farm organization will gather for the 78th annual convention of the Texas Farmers Union at the Kahler Green Oaks Inn for setting the annual policy and listening to important speakers.

TFU President Mike Moeller said "At a time when a real economic crisis is facing American agriculture, it is essential that the problems and needs of family farmers be recognized. Because of the passage of the 1981 Farm Bill in December, we feel this will be an excellent time for legitimate farmers and ranchers to air their complaints and plan a course of action for 1982."

In addition to confronting problems on the national level, state issues will also be addressed by the TFU convention delegates and members. Scheduled to speak are Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown and his challenger for the position, Jim Hightower. Both men are well known statewide and their remarks to the convention will kick off the 1982 campaign year for the agriculture commissioner's seat.

National Farmers Union President George Stone will deliver the banquet address on Saturday to the convention. Stone has been outspoken in his opposition to the 1981 Farm Bill and other moves by the Reagan Administration to weaken the family farm system in the U.S.

Delegates will also hear remarks on the growing impact of foreign investment in the U.S. and the rights of landowners with mineral rights and leases.

The convention opens Thursday, January 7 at 8:00 p.m. at the Green Oaks Inn. The final gavel will fall Saturday at the conclusion of the banquet.

Nuclear firefighters get hands-on training at Texas A&M
COLLEGE STATION — Because fires in nuclear power plants can range from simple trashbasket blazes to electrical infernos that threaten vital radiation safety systems, fire brigades at such facilities need special training.
In one of the few programs nationwide, the Texas Engineering Extension Service, part of the Texas A&M University System, offers the kind of classroom and hands-on experience needed, says one instructor coordinator.
Firefighters from nuclear power plants are taught basic control and prevention skills. In addition, they receive special emphasis on radiation detection, fighting fires in the presence of radioactive contamination and setting up control areas for firemen leaving the scene, said David Cox of TEXAS Fire Protection Training Division.
