BUMPER STICKERS

The Beautify Haskell Council has received a limited supply of Cultivate Haskell bumper stickers. They were designed by Mrs. Coyt Hix and are available at the Haskell Free Press, Haskell National Bank and Haskell Chamber of Commerce office. The bumper stickers are free, but donations will be accepted to assist in local beautification projects.

Due to lack of interest, Saturday's election has been canceled.

Sound unlikely? Yes, but think of the riots and protests such a statement would provoke.

Thousands would march on government offices throughout the state. Not just the state offices but county courthouses and city halls.

The sudden removal of such a basic freedom would stir to anger even the most timid among us. Yet the present dramatic apathy toward voting is certainly moving toward the likelihood that some means other than free elections will be used to select future officials.

In Haskell city and school elections, only a handful of voters select officials. And although slightly better, the turnout for primary and general elections is nothing to write home about.

In sharp contrast, literally thousands of voters stood hours in long lines to vote in recent elections in El Salvador. The lines failed to diminish as snipers fired shots at the voters attempting to drive them away.

The probability of snipers attempting to drive voters away from elections in Haskell is not likely. However, when you consider that in the May 1, 1982 Democratic Primary only about 30% of the registered voters marked ballots, there is little need to try to keep people from voting.

During the past ten years, an average of about 40 to 50% of the registered voters cast ballots in primary and general elections. The percentages in city and school elections is much lower.

No, Saturday's election has not been canceled, but for the eight or ten people on the ballot (depending on your place of residence) the biggest issue in the election is not planks or platforms or promises, but continuing apathy.

An Attorney General, a Commissioner of the General Land Office, two Judges on the Court of Criminal Appeals and a Haskell County Commissioner will be elected.

The lines probably won't be long and you probably won't get shot at, yet each of the offices is important and the candidates deserve your consideration. Please vote.

Retail Trade Committee of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, says the Vacation For Two includes two nights lodging at DFW Airport Amfac Hotel, plus visits to the Southwestern Wax Museum, White Water, Texas Sport Hall of Fame, International Wildlife Park and Six Flags Over Texas.

Tickets will be distributed beginning the week of June 7.

City Sales Tax Up 18.7% From 1982

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $96.5 million to 966 Texas cities as their share of the one-percent city sales tax for May.

"This fifth monthly rebate for this year brings the total these cities have received to more than $318 million," Bullock said. "That's almost 13 percent ahead of what these cities had received this time last year."

Houston received the biggest check, $20.3 million, which brings the total that city has received to $67.6 million, up 16 percent over last year.

Dallas received $10 million, for a 1982 total of $34.3 million, up nearly 8 percent over 1981. The cities of Fort Worth and Austin each received $3.2 million checks and El Paso received $1.9 million.

Bullock also forwarded May rebates to the state's two Metropolitan Transit Authorities. The Houston MTA received $22.2 million, bringing the total received this year to $74.7 million. The San Antonio MTA got a check for $2.7 million, bringing the 1982 rebate total to $9 million.

The city and MTA sales taxes are collected along with the state sales tax by merchants and rebated monthly to the cities in which they are collected by the Comptroller.

NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

U. S. 380 Seal Coating Set In Haskell County

Work in the Abilene District is included in a major highway rehabilitation and safety program approved by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

District Engineer, Roger G. Welsch, said the work in this area is part of a continuing effort to modernize and increase the safety characteristics of roads and highways which are worn out or inadequate for today's traffic.

The 1983 State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement program will provide improvements to 3,908 miles of highways.

The program included 656 projects in 198 counties in the state.

Approximately 61 percent of the financing included in the program is on US and State numbered highways, 37 percent is for FM and RM roads and two percent is held in reserve.

The program includes work which will upgrade existing highways to handle larger volumes of traffic than present designs can accommodate efficiently. The work also will enhance safety and will reduce the amount and kind of maintenance necessary to protect the public's investment in the highway network.

Included in the program is a seal coat (one course of asphalt and aggregate overlay) on the following Haskell County highway:

US 380 from the East City Limit of Haskell West to the Stonewall County line for total length of 16.7 miles.

Approximately 500 Attend Sagerton Homecoming

Some 500 people attended the Sagerton Homecoming on Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30 in the Sagerton Community Center. People from Arkansas, Iowa, New Mexico, Colorado and California and people from many parts of Texas attended.

Bus tours were given on Saturday for the visitors to see some of the old sites as well as some of the "new" things since they had left the community. The "History of Early Sagerton" that had just been printed were distributed.

On Sunday many of the visitors attended the early church services at the local churches and then the noon meal was served.

A short program was given in the auditorium and several groups of people were recognized. It was announced that the next homecoming will be on May 26 and 27, 1985 and Mrs. J. B. Toney will be the chairperson.

The steering committee that planned the homecoming were complimented for a well planned homecoming.

Clarence Stegemoeller was the chairman, Charles Clark, secretary-treasurer, Delbert LeFevre, program, Allen Meir, parking, Mrs. Paul Banks, publicity and J. B. and Dorothy Toney, food.

Democratic Primary Set Saturday

The second Democratic Primary will be held this Saturday with polls open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The only local race on the ballot is the Precinct Two Commissioners race with Ronnie Chapman and Thelma Edwards competing for the position.

All County voters will select a new Attorney General; Land Commissioner and two members of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Candidates for Attorney General are Jim Mattox and John Hannah.

Gary Mauro and Pete Snelson are candidates for Commissioner of the General Land Office.

In two separate Court of Criminal Appeals races, Chuck Campbell and John Humphreys are candidates for Place One and Chuck Miller and Bill Black are candidates for Place Two.

Winners in these elections will be declared the nominees of the Democratic Party and will earn positions on the November General Election Ballot.

Murrell, Alderman Repeat Vows

MRS. MITCHELL BRUCE MURRELL
...formerly Cynthia Kay Alderman

Cynthia Kay Alderman and Mitchell Bruce Murrell were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church in Weinert on Saturday, May 29 at 6:00 in the evening.

Officiating the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Paris A. Barton, pastor of the church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W.G. Hale Alderman of Ft. Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Murrell of Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

Upon entering the church guests were greeted and registered by Kelly Earp who gave each one a program of the occasion. The registry table included the bride's book, an ivory plume pen and a large flower basket, decorated with silk flowers in the bride's wedding colors—peach and cream, holding numerous tulle bags of bird seed for keepsakes and for throwing.

A prelude of traditional wedding music "Claire de Lune" by Debussy and "Liebestraume" by Liszt was presented by the organist, Keith Whitmore, of Abilene.

Within the sanctuary were three brass candelabra entwined with palm leaf greenery; the center candelabra featured two white doves in flight joined by white satin ribbon.

Six pews were marked by brass standing candlesticks with globes and tied with large ivory bows.

Candlelighters were: Matthew D. Guess and Randolph B. Guess, cousins of the bride of San Antonio.

Alexia Rimmer, cousin of the bride from De Soto sang "Because" by Berlin.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a gown of shimmering ivory organza. The gown featured an exquisite off the shoulder open caped neckline completed with re-embroidered schiffle lace. The chapel length train was enhanced with the beauty of the lace. The bride wore matching lace gauntlets to add a touch of elegance and formality to her gown.

A beautiful ivory spring picture hat embroidered in the schiffle lace and accented by satin ribbon falling down the back and encircling the crown added the finishing touch to this wedding ensemble.

The bride carried a bouquet of assorted spring flowers in peach tones and babies breath set against a circle of ivory lace and long peach and cream satin streamers.

Miss Alderman wore a penny in her ivory pearlized shoe. For something old she wore matching antique pink gold bracelets which belonged to her great great grandmother the late Fannie Von Tress Roberts. Something new was her dress and ivory stockings with tiny seed pearls at the ankle. Something borrowed was a single strand of pearls belonging to her grandmother, Mildred Guess; something blue was the traditional lace and satin garter.

The processional was "God of Our Fathers, Whose Almighty Hand" by Roberts and "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

The bride's attendants wore ankle length chiffon, pale peach and off-white flowered print dresses which featured long shirred sleeves, matching sashes, and flowing handkerchief skirts.

The junior bridesmaids wore peach dotted swiss dresses with cream satin ribbons sashes and matching ribbons in their hair.

Dana Alderman, sister of the bride of Ft. Worth was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Mary Murrell, sister of the groom of Dallas, Jeanyne Alley of Ft. Worth, Teresa Therwhanger, cousin of the bride of Abilene, Cristi Guess, cousin of the bride of Weinert, Denise Caudle of Abilene. Junior bridesmaids were: Tina Herricks of Weinert, Shanna Murphy of Weinert, and Heather Stewart of Haskell.

The bride's attendants carried sprays of long stemmed flowers identical to those in the bride's bouquet - iris, baby carnations, camellias, roses, miniature daisies, poppies and eucalyptus leaves.

The groom wore a black tuxedo and white ruffled shirt. His attendants wore black tuxedos over white pleated shirts. All wore boutonnieres of beige camellias and babies breath.

The groom's best man was Sandy Meador of Abilene. Groomsman were: John Landon of Abilene, Tony Garrett of Abilene, Jon Caudle of Abilene, Tony Bartolowits of Ft. Worth, Bill Bailey Guess, cousin of the bride of San Antonio. Junior groomsman were: Mondy Mayfield and Mitch Mayfield, cousins of the bride of Weinert, and Mart Guess, cousin of the bride of Haskell.

The mother of the bride wore a long sleeved peach ankle length silk chiffon dress trimmed with beige lace at the neck, wrists, and hem. The bride's mother and grandmother wore orchid wrist corsages.

The groom's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Opal Murrell of California also wore white orchid corsages.

During the ceremony Mrs. Rimmer sang "Because" by D'Hardelot and following the Pastoral Prayer she sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

A buffet was held immediately following the recessional for guests while pictures of the wedding party were being completed.

The buffet held in the Fellowship Room of the Church, was hosted by the brides' parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Guess. Tables were covered with white cloths appointed with silver and crystal.

Guests helped themselves to sweet and sour meatballs, sliced ham, hot rolls, meat pie fingers, ham rolls, mustard, pickles and relishes, strawberry and green grape kebabs, fresh apricot halves with pecan filling, assorted fresh vegetables trays of radishes, celery, cauliflower, carrots, yellow squash, zucchini, cucumbers and parsley, cherry tomatoes, assorted finger sandwiches, coffee and tea.

Assisting at the buffet table were: Sarah Guess, Leora Guess, Erlinda Mayfield, Laverne Mayfield, Marilyn Earp, Donna Griffin, and Ann Therwhanger.

The bride and groom and members of the wedding party joined the guests for the reception and the cutting of the cake.

The brides' table was covered with a white cut lace cloth. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with ivory and peach camellias and topped with two lace and net wedding bells set among tiny white flowers centered with pearls. All appointments were silver and crystal. Trays of peach and beige cream mints in a shell design and white napkins imprinted with the couples' names and date, provided the finishing touch.

Serving at the brides' table and punch table were Cindy Lou Guess and Caron Yates. Bouquets from the wedding were used to adorn the reception tables.

The grooms' table was covered with a beige crocheted cloth and spread with a large chocolate cake garnished with green leaves, a silver tray of chocolate candy stars and toasted pecans. Beige napkins also imprinted were used.

Serving at the grooms' table were June Robertson; Mary Robertson, and Betty Robertson, twin cousins of the bride all of Denver, Colorado.

For going away the bride wore a two piece indigo blue silk dress. Following a trip to Houston, the couple will live in Dallas.

The bride attended Canal Zone College, Hardin-Simmons University and is a graduate of the University of Texas at Arlington.

Local Brownies-Dads Treated To Overnight At Camp Boothe Oaks

Seventy Brownie Girl Scouts treated sixty-nine dads to a Special Cookie Overnight May 21-22, 1982 at Camp Boothe Oaks near Sweetwater. The little Girl Scouts earned this privilege by selling seven or more cases of cookies in the 1982 Cookie Sale of the West Texas Girl Scout Council.

The weather provided a spectacular experience of sleeping in canvas tents with raindrops a-falling overhead. The activities of the event were carried out under pleasantly gray skies - weiner roasts, volleyball games, nature hikes, canoeing expeditions to Lake Trammel and archery for the Dads while the Brownies laced coin purses.

Two other Brownie/Dads Specials are scheduled for June 4-5 and June 25-26.

"Today everyone tries to be smart. No one is interested any more in just being good in striving for excellence", said Frederic Whitaker. An over-all look at the current products of the fields of entertainment, advertising and "esthetic" art, makes that complaint plausible. We, as artists, who engage in the idea-dissemination have been persuaded that 'difference', in itself, constitutes improvement. We 'progressive' ones tend to replace artistry with 'artfulness' and for originality, charm, beauty, and ability we substitute eccentricity, shock power, ugliness, artifice, sophistry and craft. Anything for attention, provided it is quick, easy and cheap! We are vulnerable to the implication that noise makes music, advertising slogans represent truth and childish daubs are art - which makes virtuosity unnecessary. We are pleased when we see an artist who avoids the lure of easy time, who acknowledges that anything of value must be earned by effort. But, have you not seen a display that shocked you - with application of unrelated materials - and called it art?

Q. What is your aim as a teacher of painting?

A. As a teacher, I think my chief aim is to develop maturity in the arts; to lead my students to understand that the important thing is not merely to 'copy' procedures or forms, but to rediscover methods and to find those methods creative possibilities.

Q. What is Japan Quick Drier?

A. A powerful compound of manganese and lead drier (Siccatis de Courtray). This preparation should be used very sparingly and with utmost caution as abuse of same tends to cause cracking and darkening of the finished painting. Only a small addition of this drier is necessary to the 'slow' drying colors, such as Cadmiums. Manganese and Cobalt Driers are used today for artist purposes. One brand is Cobalt Siccative - all are for the same purpose - rapid drying.

Q. I like to paint with the Cadmium colors like Cad Yellow. It dries slowly. What kind of yellow should I use?

A. One of the other yellows such as Naples Yellow or Hanza Yellow. You can use the Cadmium yellows and by adding one or two drops of Cobalt Drier to the medium, you will have success with drying.

HINT: One danger to beware of is the advice and opinions of others: friends, relatives and well-wishers.

Local 4-H'ers Heading For State

Haskell County will be well represented at Texas A&M University June 8-10 at the 1982 State 4-H Roundup, Project Show and Congress. The county's 4-H members will be among some 2,000

Rebecca Holt and Jill Jennings from the Haskell 4-H Club will be competing in the Foods and Nutrition, Let's Speak Out Roundup contest.

Their demonstration is entitled "To Market with Metric". They will be accompanied to College Station by their mothers Mrs. W.L. Holt, Jr. and Mrs. Ted Jennings, and by their 4-H leader, Mrs. James Robert Crawford.

Activities will get under way with the State 4-H Food Show on June 8 followed by 39 Roundup contests and the Project Show on June 9. State 4-H Congress also begins June 9 and continues through the next day.

The opening assembly for Roundup will begin at 7 p.m. June 8 with the recognition of 72 outstanding 4-H members who will receive scholarships totaling $350,000. Five long-time supporters of the 4-H program also will be recognized with special awards from the Texas 4-H Foundation.

A special luncheon on June 9 will recognize 29 outstanding 4-H adult volunteer leaders from across the state who will receive special plaques from the Texas 4-H Foundation.

The program for Texas 4-H Congress will feature a look at various career fields and opportunities.

4-H'ers competing in the State Food Show and Roundup contests must qualify by winning in county and district competition. The State Project Show is open to all 4-H youth who are interested in preparing exhibits about particular project areas in which they have excelled. Stephanie Browning and Kelly Wallace also of the Haskell 4-H Club will each have entries in the Project Show. The State Project Show is open to all 4-H youth who are interested in preparing exhibits about particular project areas in which they have excelled. Congress is a leadership event for senior 4-H members (14-19 years of age) that annually addresses certain key issues.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Quietness now reigns in the Halls of HHS as we have sent the students home to their parents and the teachers off to their summer pursuits such as rest, advanced schooling, travel, housework, summer jobs etc. What happens at the school hours during the summer? To destroy another myth, part of the school staff are not off just because the final bell has rung for the 1981-82 school year.

The extension Center of Western Texas College is in full operation in the Elementary School. More students are taking advantage of this opportunity than ever before. Driver Ed is in full swing so if you see either of the two school cars, you might be wary. It could be even a worse driver than me. Also, if you see one of our driving instructors, you certainly should not make any loud noises or quick moves, as they have a tendency to become shell shocked.

The principals are working hard on finishing their records for this past year, preparing budgets and schedules for the coming year revising hand books and policies restudying curriculum, etc. The maintenance staff have already begun their summer projects such as sanding and refinishing two rooms. Mapping and re-varnishing all the other floors, cleaning desks, refinishing the gyms, landscaping, etc. Really the summers are the hardest time of the year, for the maintenance staff.

The Central Administration staff are deeply involved in year end reports, budget preparation, staffing, program planning, evaluation of the results of this past year and planning for the future. We have several major projects in addition to the ordinary ones. One is to bring our inventory eye to date on the computer printout. Two, is the establishment of priorities for our school during the next several years. Three, is the preparation for a monitoring visit from the accreditation Division of TEA this fall. Fourth, we are going to carefully study our reading program searching for ways of improvement.

I think you can see from the above that your school does not become an empty hull during the summer months, and your tax dollar is still at work.

Public Favors Less Spending

Why would a member of Congress facing reelection in 1982 favor an increase in federal taxes?

In simpler times, of course, it would be unthinkable for a candidate facing voters to suggest raising taxes. But proposals to raise taxes, as a way to hold down the size of the federal deficit, are being taken seriously these days in Washington. Why?

It is possible, of course, that the Congressman who insists on higher taxes is not sincere, and that, as the election gets nearer, he or she will have a change of heart.

But what about those brave souls who genuinely support higher taxes? Perhaps they believe they have a mandate from the people. Is that possible?

Hardly. If there is any public clamor for raising taxes, it's barely audible outside Washington. Public opinion polls clearly show the public is opposed to increasing taxes.

According to the most recent poll, a nationwide Consumer Opinion Survey by The Gallup Organization for the Survey Research Center of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, consumers, when given a choice, strongly favor reducing spending as the preferred method of cutting the size of the deficit.

Here is a key question and the responses:

"The Reagan Administration has estimated that the deficit in the federal government budget in the next three years will add to a total of 246 billion dollars. Which of the following would you favor -- raising taxes, reducing spending, both raising taxes and reducing spending or doing neither and leaving the deficit as it is?"

ALL RESPONDENTS
Raising taxes 4%
Reducing spending 47%
Both raising & reducing spending 20%
Neither; leave deficit as is 18%
Don't know 11%

Perhaps, the legislator favoring higher taxes feels beholden to labor unions because he represents an industrialized district, hard hit, say, by the recession?

Responding to the same question, union households (one or both spouses belonging to a labor union) gave these answers:

UNION MEMBERS
Raising taxes 3%
Reducing spending 50%
Both raising & reducing spending 20%
Neither; leave deficit as is 20%
Don't know 7%

Certainly, no mandate for raising taxes there. Unionists favor the spending route even more strongly than the general public.

The survey involved 1,580 face-to-face interviews by the Gallup Organization with a representative sample of the U.S. public, 18 years and older.

The answer to the question of why some legislators favor raising taxes lies in their political philosophy. They believe that the more money that is raised by taxes, even if done stealthily by inflation, the greater role the federal government can play in people's lives and possibly gain them votes for the hand-out kind of social programs these candidates favor.

Raising taxes does not lower or eliminate deficits. In the last decade, government spending has tripled, yet our deficits are growing larger.

Why would Congressmen seeking reelection want to raise taxes? They simply want more money to spend. It's as simple as that, isn't it?

Can Taxpayers Afford This?

According to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, it cost the government an average of $241 in 1979 to insure each employee under the Federal Employee Compensation Act (FECA), which provides cash benefits for workers injured on the job, compared with a cost of $139 in the private sector. No wonder. A study by the General Accounting Office (GAO) showed that under the generous terms of FECA:

--Compensation was granted a worker who was injured while "goofing off" on a tractor.

--Payments were made to a woman who lost the tip of her thumb while closing the car door. She was on her way to work.

--Payments were made to a worker whose knee locked when he arose from a toilet.

A similar investigation by the Veterans Administration disclosed that a worker claimed back injury in July, 1972, from lifting a four-ounce salt shaker -- and the government paid benefits based on 10 percent disability. The worker, a woman, was still receiving benefits in 1981.

Care Urged In Replanting Decisions

Sudden deterioration of a cotton crop due to severe weather or disease problems requires objective as well as rapid decisions as to whether the crop must be replanted or will recover enough for optimum production, cautions a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"During this time of year, young cotton stands are subject to many hazards on the Texas High Plains," noted Dr. James R. Supak, the Extension cotton agronomist.

Sand, wind, hail and various diseases frequently damage or destroy young seedlings and force growers to make some tough decisions about replanting, he said.

Due to the short growing season on the High Plains, decisions about replanting need to be made quickly and objectively. Usually such decisions are determined by: (1) the number of plants per acre that are likely to survive, (2) stand uniformity, (3) the calendar date, and (4) the overall condition of the crop.

STANDS
Studies on the High Plains have demonstrated that near optimum yields can be obtained from plant populations ranging from about 25,000 to 60,000 plants per acre. This corresponds to approximately 2 to 4.5 plants per foot of row. As a general rule, if a stand averages out 2 or more plants per foot and is fairly uniform (without too many long skips) the stand is adequate and in all likelihood should not be destroyed.

Stand uniformity is also an important consideration, Supak said. Studies have shown that cotton plants on either side of two- to three-foot skips can compensate for missing plants and there will be little yield loss if the plant population averages at least 2 plants per foot of drill.

"If longer skips are involved, however, the potential for significant yield losses increases. For example, in studies where skips varying in length from one-half to 9 feet in length were used to reduce stands from about 4.5 to 3.5 and 2.5 plants per foot of drill, yield losses of approximately 15 percent and 25 percent respectively were observed.

DATE
Calendar date is also an important consideration, the agronomist noted. A May-planted cotton crop with damage usually has a better chance of producing a good yield of well-developed seed and fiber than a June-planted crop, he said. June 5 to 10 is normally considered to be the latest practical period for replanting cotton in the High Plains counties north of Lubbock while June 15 to 20 is the latest time frame for counties to the south.

CROP CONDITION
How well a crop recovers from damage will in part be determined by how well the crop came up to a stand, Supak said. Rapid, uniform emergence indicates strong vigorous plants that quickly establish good root systems. Such plants have the strength to overcome a great deal of adversity and still produce a good crop.

"On the other hand, slow stand development indicates that much of the plants' energy reserves were depleted in the germination and emergence process. The late-emerging seedlings are already in a weakened condition and any further stress tends to reduce the production capability of surviving plants."

The relationship between plant emergence and yield was obtained from a study conducted by Dr. Don Wanjura, USDA agriculture engineer, and his associates at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

Hence, should the need arise to make a decision on whether to replant or save the existing stand, keep in mind how the crop came up to a stand, Supak advised. If emergence was rapid and uniform with good early growth, then the crop is apt to recover from moderate sand, wind or hail damage, Ascochyta blight or other hazards and still make a good yield.

On the other hand, a slow emerging, sickly crop is apt to have a higher mortality rate and to sustain more permanent damage that limits its yield potential. Often, it is best to replant in this situation, he said.

"Too often, the sudden deterioration of a cotton crop due to weather or disease problems leads to rapid but often wrong decisions to replant a crop that could have recovered. It is difficult, but essential, to make objective decisions under such circumstances by carefully considering the existing stand and plant conditions," Supak said.

Oyster crop looks promising for second consecutive year

GALVESTON — If Mother Nature continues to regulate rainfall as she has so far this year, fishermen along the Gulf Coast can expect another good crop of oysters, says a marine biologist at Texas A&M University at Galveston.

"If weather and water conditions keep up the way they have, we may very well have another good year," Dr. Sammy Ray said recently. The oyster harvest off the Texas coast was a record this year in terms of fattening, spawning and setting. "So far, the rains have been good for oysters — now if they would just hold off until mid-summer," he said.

Around The Ballpark

Even though rain threatened, a full schedule of games was played at Little League Park last week. In Minor League action the Cats sneaked by the Crows 4-3 but fell to the Red Horses 8-2. After losing to the Red Horses 7-0, the Bears clubbed the Crows 18-0.

In Major League Action, the Hawks beat the Rams 10-0 and the Cubs 8-5. The Eagles squeaked by the Cubs 3-2 and flew past the Tigers 22-7. The Rams also beat the Tigers 2-1. Come to the ball park and watch for that first out-of-the-park home run.

METER TAMPERING NOW A FELONY

The State of Texas has recently adopted an amendment to the State Penal Code making meter tampering a third degree felony. A third degree felony comes with a punishment of confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections for a term of not more than 10 or less than 2 years. In addition to imprisonment, an individual adjudged guilty of a third degree felony may be punished by a fine not to exceed $5,000.

Before the amendment of the new law, it was a class A misdemeanor for meter tampering unless the loss of service was more than $200. Under the new law, any meter tampering regardless of the amount of loss is now a felony of the third degree.

Meter tampering consists of, but is not limited to:

- (1) Diverting electricity from passing through a meter device.
- (2) Preventing electric service from being correctly registered by a meter device.
- (3) Unauthorized activation of electric service.

As a special note to our members, it will also be considered meter tampering if a meter is reset and electrical service is restored by anyone other than a Cooperative employee.

All Cooperative meters are sealed. This seal should not be cut or broken without special authorization. In cases where the seal must be cut for emergencies the Cooperative should be notified as soon as possible so that the meter can be resealed.

To The Voters of Precinct 2 and Haskell County

I am asking for your vote and support in the upcoming run-off election on June 5th.

The record proves that for the past three years the duties of commissioner of Precinct 2 have been carried out in an orderly, efficient, and effective manner for the improvement of our precinct.

The duties of the office of commissioner are two-fold: Road maintenance and county management.

Many have told me that they appreciate the manner in which the roads have been maintained. We have kept the same qualified road employees throughout my terms. Their experience and willingness to work above and beyond the call of duty during times of need have been a benefit to the entire precinct. Our uninterrupted efforts as a team will insure that this high quality of service continues in the area of road maintenance.

Over 30 years experience in dealing with people and finances through business and public service qualify me for the other duties of this office. That is the management of your tax dollars for the best overall good.

As your representative in county government, I have and will continue to demonstrate the strength to stand for what I believe is in the best interest of Haskell County and Precinct 2. I have and will continue to abide by the laws of our county and state and to insure that our county government operates effectively within these laws. When issues come up in commissioners court to be voted on, I have always voted my own convictions and will continue to do so as long as they are within the bounds of the law. I have and will continue to serve you to the best of my ability.

Sincerely,

Thelma Edwards

Restoration Of First House In Haskell Near Completion

BY WANDA DULANEY
Manager, Haskell Chamber of Commerce

Big plans are underway by the Progressive Study Club for the dedication of the restored and refurbished John Labriere Home, built in 1883, and standing today at Rice Springs Park.

The frame building was first located on Lot 6 in Block 1 of the city. An earlier settler, named W.R. Standefer, had built a small pole shack in 1882 and lived in it while hunting buffalo in the area, but the Labriere home was the first actual house built in Haskell.

During the 1976 Bicentennial Celebration, for which Jane McAdoo served as chairman and John Wayne McDermott, treasurer, the Bicentennial Committee purchased the Labriere House with their funds and with permission from the city of Haskell, moved it to the park. The house and the Railroad Museum are the beginning of a historical village. The Committee paid the moving expenses, and for the new foundation.

At the close of the Bicentennial year, the Committee voted to give their remaining funds to an organization that would take over the responsibility of finishing the house. They felt that the Progressive Study Club had the strength, the perseverance and the interest to undertake this important project and were very pleased when the Club graciously accepted their proposal.

Serving with Jane McAdoo and John McDermott were Opal Adkins, Roxie Parker, Mattie Muriel Felker, Odell Bynum, Don Comedy, Charles Thornhill and the late Rex Felker. The Bicentennial Committee also purchased a bronze plaque on which the history of the house is written. It is the hope of the original committee and all who have worked on it since that once the project is completed that it will qualify for a Texas Historical Medallion.

Jerene Couch, current president of the Progressive Study Club, says it would be impossible to list all the individuals who have worked and are working on this meaningful project. Some members - like Mary Holden, for instance, actually did carpenter work on the house; Boy Scouts provided labor in reroofing it.

One committee of the Progressive Study Club is seeking donations of antiques from area residents that relate to Haskell County history. The items will be labeled for permanent display and the donors recognized the Dedication Ceremony. They are asking for such items as a bedside table, quilt, trunk, wooden kitchen table, pictures, wash bowl and pitcher, and are hoping furnishings for the Labriere historical home will be as authentic as possible and best depict the pioneer days.

Persons who have things they would like to contribute are asked to call any of the following club members: Leesa Toliver 864-3650; Julia Harrell 864-8042; Ruby Turner 864-2431; Lois Richardson 864-3852; Pat Byford 864-3009.

After the dedication, the Labriere House will be a tourist attraction in the city and will be especially significant to young people who are able to see a home that was actually built a century ago, remaining a part of our past, a part of the present, and a part of the future.

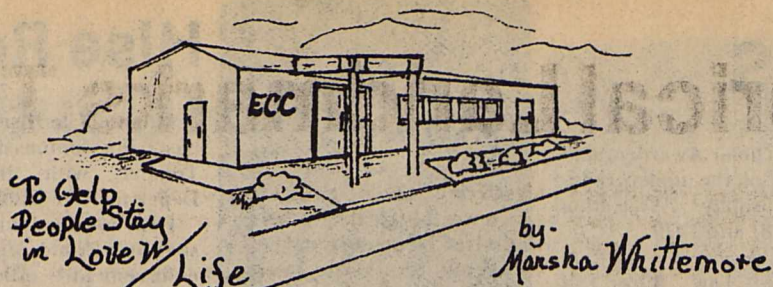

Haskellites and former residents alike appreciate the efforts of the Progressive Study Club and the Bicentennial Committee in preserving this landmark.

John Morgan Yeary graduated from Hardin-Simmons University during the school's annual commencement exercises held May 8 at 10 a.m.

Yeary received a BBA degree with a major in management. He is the son of Mr. J.C. Yeary, Jr. of Haskell.

Hardin-Simmons is a multi-purpose, liberal arts university affiliated with the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Enrollment is approximately 2,000.

The Experienced Citizens Center has grown with thirty-three new members in this past month. Welcome to all our new members.

More are becoming aware of what the center can do for them and what they can do for themselves and others. We invite everyone 60 years or over to attend week days at the center and even if your spouse is under 60, he or she attend with you.

Senior Citizens Centers are for all color and creed. There should be no discrimination within a center. Perhaps, the biggest controversy is over the statement that "the people making use of the program all are capable of preparing their own meal, eating in a restaurant, or possibly should be paying more for their meal to subsidize the program to reach others in more need."

The Older Americans Act states that each participant must be given the opportunity to contribute for a service received, but that his privacy with respect to a contribution must be protected. A report given for the fiscal year 1981 the average contribution for meals in the rural project was 75 cents over the nineteen region. Realizing that some elderly contribute nothing and some only a small amount, this average indicates that many are contributing very generously. Of course all meal contributions go back into the program for food related expenditures to expand the number of meals served.

The Older Americans Act is directed primarily to those in greatest social need and those in greatest economic need. Reports from our sub-contractors show 45 percent of those receiving services to be in greatest economic need and 63 percent in greatest social need.

Older persons living alone frequently do not eat balanced meals and consequently their health begins to deteriorate. Hence, they are soon candidates for institutional care with all its escalating costs. Older Americans Act programs are preventive in nature, providing older people an opportunity to stay healthy, active, involved, and feel needed.

The Congress in the enactment of the Older Americans Act stipulated that there be no means test for participants, that age be the only criterion. The pride of our elderly who survived the depression of the 30's stands out greater than all other reasons. Many would not participate until they were assured that this was not a "welfare program". From the beginning we have combated the image of welfare and food stamp programs and stressed the importance of meal contribution and volunteer hours in sustaining the local programs.

The Older Americans Act programs assist the elderly in stretching their income in order to remain as long as possible in their homes with dignity and independence.

Monday 24th the van began a regular schedule to bring those from Rochester each Monday to the ECC. Plans for delivery to homebound persons in Rochester are being made.

The van has been picking up those of Rule on Wednesday and delivering meals to the homebound since February 15 of this year.

Oleta Cornelius is the volunteer driver of the van for those coming from Rule each Wednesday.

Tommi Threet is the volunteer to deliver meals three times a week for those homebound at Rule.

There are many who have enjoyed the fellowship since 'day one'. Such as Mae and Bud Herren of Haskell.

"I enjoy volunteer work at the center. I feel I'm helping someone else to enjoy it too," said Mrs. Herren. "I'm able to prepare our own meals and eat out if we wish, and we do sometimes. We feel this is a place of fellowship, fun and cheering each other up. It gets people out.

Hise, Wheatley To Attend American Legion Boys State

The Forty-second annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the State of Texas American Legion, and held on the Campus of The University of Texas at Austin got under way today as 942 high school boys from all parts of Texas began registration, State Commander Lee Guy of Breckenridge announced.

Among those registering from Haskell were: Lonnie Alan Hise and John David Wheatley who were sponsored by Haskell Post 221 and co-sponsored by Haskell National Bank and the Kiwanis Club of Haskell.

Following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties - the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party, he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State is one of the most successful youth programs in operation today. Each year, Posts select thousands of students throughout the nation to attend these civic workshops where each boy participates in the practical functioning of local, county, and state government.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship. This program arouses a keen interest in the detailed study of our government. These civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and brings about a better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men throughout the nation who are participating this year.

In Boys State, The American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has an opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Speaker highlights include an address by Governor William P. Clements, Jr. on June 8 at 11:00 a.m. and an address by National Commander Jack W. Flynt on June 9 at 6:30 p.m. both in Hogg Auditorium. Congressional Medal of Honor recipient Sgt. Roy P. Benavidez will speak on June 10 at 8:00 a.m.

Another highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Friday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day.

Texas Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 25,672 high school juniors who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Arsonists Attacking Historical Landmarks Throughout Nation

Arson, the fastest growing crime in America, is consuming the nation's heritage. Insensitive to historical significance and architectural beauty, the arsonist often targets older structures that still have much life left in them. In the face of a growing interest in the preservation and restoration of landmark buildings, the arsonist is becoming a major public enemy.

Arson—defined by the United States Fire Administration as "any intentionally set fire"—is increasing at an annual rate of 25 percent. And, the destruction of historic structures through arson is also growing at an alarming rate. Over 10 historic districts in the U.S. have been victimized by arson in recent years, and in the last two years arson has claimed over fifteen historically significant buildings in Massachusetts alone.

In Texas, officials have investigated the possibility of arson in recent fires that have damaged numerous structures including the 1877 McLendon House in Tyler, the 78-year-old Trinity United Methodist Church in Dallas, two buildings in Dallas' historic Old City Park, the Old Main and Austin College Buildings in Huntsville, and the 1891 Ranald McDonald House in Trinity.

While in U.S. Fire Administration has identified 24 types of arson, the two most frequent forms of destruction of historic structures are juvenile arson and arson for profit. While juvenile arson crimes are usually committed by youngsters suffering from boredom, curiosity, family and personal problems, and peer pressure, arson for profit schemes are carried out for a variety of economic reasons. Building owners may see arson as a way to stop business losses, to remove low-income tenants in order to convert a building to more profitable use, to collect insurance, or to create new construction. Development pressures in some neighborhoods often cause land to be more valuable without the existing buildings, thus making these buildings prime targets for the arsonists.

Individuals can help curb arson in their communities by understanding the reasons behind arson attempts and identifying those structures which run a high risk of being victimized by arsonists. These structures are most vulnerable:

-A building in poor condition, either vacant or with a high vacancy rate,

-A building frequently changing hands,

-A property that has been the site of recent fires,

-A building owned by someone who has been connected with other buildings that have burned,

-A building that cannot be altered, renovated or demolished due to local restrictions such as historic preservation ordinances and

-A property involved in a controversy between a developer and residents or preservationists.

Despite the fact that arson destroys at least $1.7 billion in property annually and takes an estimated 1,000 lives, it is a very difficult crime to prove and prosecute. According to experts, the only way to catch the arsonist is to increase anti-arson concern and activity at the local level.

Community fire and police departments should work together in approaching the arson problem. Arson-training, arson hot lines, stricter state arson laws, arson counseling for juveniles, and public awareness campaigns are but a few of the successful programs resulting from a combined local initiative to curb arson.

Texas law makes arson a crime punishable by imprisonment for a period of two to twenty years. Still, unless alert individuals in communities take part in stopping arsonists, the punishment, often with chance of an early parole, is a weak threat.

To help individuals know how they can help stop arson, the National Trust for Historic Preservation has developed an anti-arson program. This program is designed especially for neighborhood preservation groups, and encourages individuals not only to get involved in stopping arson, but to fight to save and restore buildings even after arson has occurred.

For further information on this program contact the Texas Historical Commission, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, or the National Trust for Historic Preservation, 1785 Massachusetts Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Veterans Administration Seeking Repayment On Old GI & VA Loans

According to C.H. "Bud" Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell County, the U.S. Veterans Administration is now involved in the very serious matter of seeking payment on thousands of debts and overpayments existing in the accounts of veterans and their dependents and survivors. Many of these VA debts were created many years ago when veterans sold their GI loan homes which were later foreclosed due to non-payment of the mortgage.

In many instances, the VA made efforts to collect the debts years ago, and decided they were uncollectable at that time. Until such time as a legitimate debt to the Federal Government is paid in full or otherwise properly disposed of by waiver, etc., there is no statute of limitations. In many cases at this time, veterans have long forgotten about the old educational overpayments or loan default debts. When such veterans now apply and are found eligible for VA disability pension or compensation, the monetary benefits are withheld until the full amount of the overpayment has been recouped.

When a person is advised of any overpayment in VA benefits, the initial action should be to be sure the debt is legitimately owed. If so, and there were any mitigating circumstances, perhaps a waiver of the overpayment should be requested. If the waiver is denied, such decision may be appealed if the claimant desires to go that route. In many instances, debts are incurred administratively due to the lack of information or evidence.

When such a case is encountered, local Service Officers should determine what evidence is required to clear the debt. In no instance should a debt or overpayment be accepted without argument unless the claimant is convinced it was incurred through his or her own fault. All persons involved in these debts and overpayments should discuss their cases with their local Veterans Service Officers.

How's Your Honey?

Is your honey raw or never been heated above 100 degrees F. or strained, says Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a food and nutrition specialist.

Processed honey has been heated and filtered to remove any foreign particles, she adds.

Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The color of honey varies depending on where the bees collect the nectar, the specialist says.

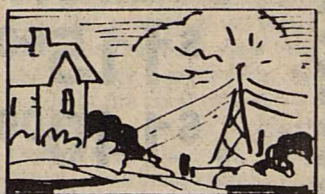

In addition, heating honey can cause it to darken slightly. To store honey, keep it in a tightly covered container in a dark, cool place, she advises.

Freezing or refrigeration will not harm the product, but may cause it to form granules.

If granules do form, place the honey in a bowl of warm water until the crystals melt.

For pure-honey users: remember that the pure product won't ever spoil and needs no preservatives.

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO LONE STAR GAS COMPANY, A DIVISION OF ENSERCH CORPORATION, A CORPORATION, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, A FRANCHISE TO FURNISH AND SUPPLY GAS TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC IN THE CITY OF HASKELL, HASKELL COUNTY, TEXAS, FOR THE TRANSPORTING, DELIVERY, SALE, AND DISTRIBUTION OF GAS IN, OUT OF, AND THROUGH SAID MUNICIPALITY FOR ALL PURPOSES; PROVIDING FOR THE PAYMENT OF A FEE OR CHARGE FOR THE USE OF THE STREETS, ALLEYS, AND PUBLIC WAYS; AND PROVIDING THAT IT SHALL BE IN LIEU OF OTHER FEES AND CHARGES, EXCEPTING AD VALOREM TAXES; AND REPEALING ALL PREVIOUS GAS FRANCHISE ORDINANCES.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF HASKELL, TEXAS:

SECTION 1. That the City of Haskell, Texas, hereinafter called "City," hereby grants to Lone Star Gas Company, a Division of ENSERCH CORPORATION, hereinafter called "Company," its successors and assigns, consent to use and occupy the present and future streets, alleys, highways, public places, public thoroughfares, and grounds of the City for the purpose of laying, maintaining, constructing, operating, and replacing therein and thereon pipelines and all other appurtenant equipment needed and necessary to deliver gas in, out of, and through said City and to sell gas to persons, firms, and corporations, including all the general public, within the City's corporate limits, said consent being granted for a term of twenty-five (25) years from and after the date of the final passage and approval of this ordinance.

SECTION 2. Company shall lay, maintain, construct, operate, and replace its pipes, mains, laterals, and other equipment so as to interfere as little as possible with traffic and shall promptly clean up and restore to an approximate original condition, as its cost, all thoroughfares and other surfaces which it may disturb. The location of all mains, pipes, laterals, and other appurtenant equipment shall be fixed under the supervision of the City Council or an authorized committee or agent appointed by said Council.

SECTION 3. When Company shall make or cause to be made excavations or shall place obstructions in any street, alley, or other public place, the public shall be protected by barriers and lights placed, erected, and maintained by Company; and in the event of injury to any person or damage to any property be reason of the construction, operation, or maintenance of the gas distributing plant or system of Company, Company shall indemnify and keep harmless City from any and all liability in connection herewith. Company shall repair, clean up, and restore to an approximate original condition all streets and alleys disturbed during the construction and repair of its gas distributing system.

SECTION 4. In addition to the rates charged for gas supplied, Company may make and enforce reasonable charges, rules and regulations for service rendered in the conduct of its business including a charge for services rendered in the inauguration of natural gas service, and may require, before furnishing service, the execution of a contract therefor. Company shall have the right to contract with each customer with reference to the installation of, and payment for, any and all of the gas piping from the connection thereof with the Company's main in the streets or alleys to and throughout the consumer's premises. service lines, which are defined as the supply lines extending from the Company's main to the Customer's meter where gas is measured by Company. The consumer shall own, operate, and maintain all yard lines and house piping. Yard lines are defined as the underground supply lines extending from the point of connection with Company's customer meter to the point of connection with consumer's house piping.

SECTION 5. Company shall not be required to extend mains on any street more than fifty (50) feet for any one consumer of gas.
SECTION 6. Company shall be entitled to require from each and every consumer of gas, before gas service is commenced, a deposit of twice the amount of an estimated average monthly bill, which said deposit may be retained by Company until service is discontinued and all bills therefor have been paid. Company shall then return said deposit to the consumer, together with six percent (6%) interest thereon from the date of said deposit up to the date of discontinuance of service. Company shall be entitled to apply said deposit, with accrued interest, to any indebtedness owed Company by the consumer making the deposit.

SECTION 7. The rights, privileges, and franchises granted by this ordinance are not to be considered exclusive, and City hereby expressly reserves the right to grant, at any time, like privileges, rights, and franchises as it may see fit to any other person or corporation for the purpose of furnishing gas for light, heat, and power to and for City and the inhabitants thereof.

SECTION 8. Company shall furnish reasonably adequate service to the public at reasonable rates and charges therefor; and Company shall maintain its property, equipment, and appliances in good order and condition.

SECTION 9. Company, its successors and assigns, agrees to pay and City agrees to accept, on or before the 31st day of March, 1983, and on or before the same day of each succeeding year during the life of this franchise, the last payment being made on the 31st day of March, 2007, a sum of money which shall be equivalent to two percent (2%) of the gross receipts received by Company from the sale of gas to its domestic and commercial consumers within the corporate limits of said City (expressly excluding, however, receipts derived from sales to industrial and governmental users and consumers in said City) for the preceding calendar year, which annual payment shall be for the rights and privileges herein granted to Company, including expressly, without limitation, the right to use the streets, alleys, and public ways of said City. And it is also expressly agreed that the aforesaid annual payment shall be in lieu of any and all other and additional occupation taxes, easement, and franchise taxes or charges (whether levied as an ad valorem, special, or other character of tax or charge), in lieu of municipal license and inspection fees, street taxes, and street or alley rentals or charges, and all other and additional municipal taxes, charges, levies, fees, and rentals of whatsoever kind and character which City may now impose or hereafter levy and collect, excepting only the usual general or special ad valorem taxes which City is authorized to levy and impose upon real and personal property. Should City not have the legal power to agree that the payment of the foregoing sums of money shall be in lieu of taxes, licenses, fees, street or alley rentals or charges, easement or franchise taxes or charges aforesaid, then City agrees that it will apply so much of said sums of money paid as may be necessary to satisfy Company's obligations, if any, to pay any such taxes, licenses, charges, fees, rentals, easement or franchise taxes or charges.

In order to determine the gross receipts received by Company from the sale of gas (expressly excluding the sale of gas to industrial and governmental consumers) within the corporate limits of City, Company agrees that on the same date that payments are made, as provided in the preceding paragraph of this Section 9, it will file with the City Clerk a sworn report showing the gross receipts received from the sale of gas to its domestic and commercial consumers within said corporate limits for the calendar year preceding the date of payment. City may, if it sees fit, have the books and records of Company examined by a representative of said City to ascertain the correctness of the sworn reports agreed to be filed herein.

Receipts from sales to governmental users or consumers shall include all those receipts derived from the sale of gas to federal, state, county or city governments or branches and subdivisions thereof, school districts, or other similar districts, it being the intention to include within the term "governmental users and consumers" all tax-supported institutions owned or operated directly or indirectly by said governments and branches or subdivisions thereof, such as schools, colleges, hospitals, eleemosynary institutions, army or training camps, airports, courthouse, city hall, and other institutions of like or similar kind and character.
"Industrial users or consumers," as herein used, are those generally and commonly classified as such by Company.
The payment herein provided shall be for the period January 1 to December 31 of the respective year that the payment is made.
