City Council Discusses Street Paving Project

Members of the Haskell City Council spent much of their regular meeting Tuesday night discussing the possibilities of a curb and gutter and paving project with residents of North Third East.

About ten property owners from the street meet with Council members to discuss the possibilities.

Council members explained current policy of maintaining streets if property owners will pay the original first time cost.

The group of residents agreed to meet with their neighbors to discuss possibilities.

Mayor Franciene Johnson also state that the cost per square yard of paving would probably be lowered in relationship to the size of the project. She suggested that the project would be more feasible if other groups throughout town would agree to participate at the same time.

Any other group considering the paving of streets are asked to contact Desmond Dulaney at City Hall or Mrs. Larry Gilliam.

Livestock Show Friday-Saturday

Plans for the 1983 edition of the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show are in the final stages and show organizers are confident of a successful weekend of activities which will center around the work of over 100 Haskell County youth.

The show will begin Friday morning at 9 a.m. with judging of poultry and rabbits. Judging will continue at 9:30 with lambs at 1 p.m. with hogs.

Saturday judging will begin at 9 a.m. with steers and heifers and the event will climax with the premium sale beginning at 2 p.m.

David Finley of Jayton will serve as judge of poultry and rabbits and Steve McGuire will serve as chairman. Korky Wise of Vernon will judge lambs and chairman will be Jim Hudson. Joe Berhens of Voca will judge hogs and chairman is Cecil Lewis. Richard Spencer of Roby will judge cattle and chairman is C.A. Thomas. General chairman of the show is Jimmy Cearley. James Powell has again agreed to serve as auctioneer for the premium sale when local buyers will have an opportunity to contribute to exhibitors to help defray expenses of raising and showing their animals.

Individuals are invited to attend the premium sale or contact any member of the sales committee to make donations. Sales committee members include: Larry Beauchamp, chairman, Lewis Thomas, C.A. Thomas, Bailey Toliver, Rick Perry, Joe Cortez, Jim Hudson, Mike Wilcox, Truman Therwhanger, Jerry Carver, R.A. Shaver, Cole Turner, Tommy Matthews, Don Ballard, Tiffin Mayfield, George Mullino, Buddy Mullino, Tom Hairgrove, Tom Kutch, J.R. Perry, Duane Gilley, Max Stapleton, and Jimmy Cearley.

In addition to the premium sale, the exhibitors will compete for total premiums of about $1,500.00. Show organizers expect about 100 hogs, 75 lambs, 40 cattle and 30 pens of poultry and rabbits.

KVRP To Meet Avoca

Members of the KVRP Super Suds basketball team will travel to Avoca tonight, January 27, for an 8 p.m. basketball contest with the Avoca Aces.

The KVRP crew has a 1-3 record for the year and Avoca has a 11-1 record.

KVRP defeated Anson last Thursday in Haskell, 58-41 for their first win of the year.

The public is invited to the game and there is no admission charge.

Haskell County residents will have an opportunity this Friday and Saturday to view the end results of uncountable hours of labor on the part of 4-H and FFA members during the Haskell County Junior Livestock Show.

For many of the more than one hundred youth, the show marks the climax of almost a full year of preparation. While some of the exhibitors will travel to other livestock shows during the coming weeks, the Haskell County Show will be the only stop for many.

With constant reports of juvenile problems from across the country, it is refreshing to witness the youth of Haskell County at their finest during the stock show.

Yes, we have our few troublemakers but they are few and they won't be at the stock show. At least as participants. Caring and preparing for an animal or animals is too much work for the group which causes trouble.

The youth which will display their labors Friday and Saturday are exemplary of the vast majority of Haskell County youth. They are hard working young adults, respectful of the property of others and of authority. They are the majority which never makes the headlines or the 6 p.m. news.

As residents of Haskell County, we have a unique opportunity to express our support to this fine group. Our support by attending the stock show and expressing our personnel thanks to each for the dedication they have shown in preparing their entries. Even more so, our thanks for being what they are—mature young adults which we are all proud of.

We also have an opportunity to express our support of their work with our dollars during the premium sale. Instead of criticizing the very small percentage of our youth which causes problems, take your check book to the show and sale and support and encourage the group which represents the vast majority of our young people.

They will certainly appreciate your support and you will leave with a renewed faith in the youth of today.

Indians Clinch Playoff Berth

BY ALBERT SHERMAN

The Haskell Indians will travel to Rotan tomorrow to play the Yellowhammers in the second game of the second half of district play. In the first meeting of these teams the Tribe won 64-54.

The Indians won the first half of district play and assured themselves of a playoff spot by defeating the Paducah Dragons 58-42 Friday night.

The Tribe led by one point at the end of the first quarter of play and never trailed during the game. The Indians outscored the Dragons in each quarter of play.

The Indians were led by Jamey Davis with 15 followed by Doug Lanier and Shane Hadaway with 13 apiece.

The Tribe blasted the Hamlin Pied Pipers Jan. 18, 74-43. The game didn't live up to its expectation of a close battle. Instead the Indians built up a lead then glided to an easy victory.

The Indians were led by Patrick McCoy with 20 followed by Davis with 14.

"We're happy to win the first half, but we still have five ball games left to play to win the district championship," Davis said.

"I was extremely pleased with defense and overall play in the first half of district. I was also pleased with the bench play of our team."

"There have been many strong points in our last few victories, but the major factor in my mind has been the dominating rebounding by the team," Coach Jim Raughton said.

The Indians are now 19-3 for the season and 5-0 in district play.

Special entertainment will be provided by a Rule singing group, "Faith", including Ronald and Lou Landes and Larry and Susan LeFevre.

The sing along of the past several Chamber banquets has been kept by popular demand and audience participation will be requested in singing songs centered around the banquet theme of "Reach For The Stars".

Burglars Hit Woods Pharmacy In Rule

Burglars took approximately $250.00 worth of narcotics from Woods Pharmacy in Rule Tuesday night. According to Harold Woods, the culprits entered the building through the roof and exited through the back door.

He estimated damages at about $200.00 and stated that a relatively small amount of narcotics was taken for the amount of work expended.

According to Woods, this was the fifteenth time the store has been burglarized in the sixteen years he has been owner.

Brush and Palette

True art strikes deeper than the surface. There is that which we call the subconscious. We do certain things that are influenced by certain things not knowing why. We hear a band play a military selection, and, though we may not be at all martially inclined, we suddenly become conscious of the fact that we have walked in step to the music. And so with a picture. Unconsciously we fall in with the rhythm of its music. We look at a picture, perhaps attaching little importance to it, but it does not have to hit us on the head to make an impression. The influence is all the greater because we did not realize that it was there. Look at a Homer seascape. There is order in it and grand formation. It produces on your mind the whole vastness of the sea, a vastness as impressive and as uncontrollable as the sea itself. You are made to feel the force of the sea, the resistance of the rock; the whole thing is an integrity of nature. We often fail to see nature as God has given it to us.

Q. When I paint a landscape, what colors are basically in the sky?

A. The top of the sky pattern should be cool and the horizon should be warm. Knowing your range of colors, you will have no problem.

Q. Please give me an idea on how to price my pictures for sale.

A. This is an interesting problem. It is difficult to suggest a price for other artist's work. First of all, what do you think your picture is worth? How much time did it require? What are the costs of the materials? A good guideline that I have mentioned to my students is to take for example a 16X20 canvas, add those figures, which is 32. That is a start - so using $1 per inch would be $32. Add the cost of the frame, materials and you will come up with a reasonable figure to start. I calculate it this way:

16X20	= $32.00
Frame	= 25.00
Materials	= 5.00
Canvas	= 4.00
	$66.00

Mom's Work Attitude Affects Children's Views

Mom's attitude about her work away from home has a major effect on her children's views toward it, says Diana Welch, a family life education specialist.

"When mothers feel good about their work outside the home, the effect on their children is more likely to be positive," the specialist says.

Welch is with the Home Economics Program of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

Of course, many factors affect children's social and psychological adjustment to Mom working outside the home, but her attitude is significant, Welch notes.

More Moms Working Today
For the first time in history, a majority of American women are in the labor force, Welch says.

Statistically more than half of all Texas mothers with school age children are employed. Of mothers with children under six the figure is only a bit lower—40 percent are employed outside the home.

"This dramatic social change has created concern among researchers and the general public—many are asking, 'What's happening to the children?'" Welch says.

Research Uncovers Family Needs
Some of "what's happening has been documented by studies that focus on children's thoughts about their mothers working. Findings from these studies provide insight into needs of families in which the mother works outside the home, Welch says.

These family needs also suggest guidelines for parents, she adds.

Here are the guidelines:
1) Mother, share your work with the family.

Children who have some information about their mother's employment are more likely to understand it.

Mother can help children gain understanding by talking over their jobs with the children, taking the children to places of employment when feasible and introducing the children to people "Mom works with."

2) Mother, consider the adjustments your children must make.

When Mom works outside the home, the whole family has to adjust routines, schedules and responsibilities.

Complaints sometimes voiced by children of working mother include these:
"We miss out on all the fun."
"We have too many household responsibilities."
"We miss not having Mom at home when we return from school."

Complaints can be avoided when Mothers communicate with children about routines and responsibilities, Welch says.

As children mature, they recognize the contribution they make to the balance of home and work life, the specialist says.

3) Mother, assure your children of your primary interest in them.

Children of working mothers need to know they still are a primary interest, Welch stresses.

To increase children's sense of security, take time to listen when they talk about the days activities and about "just things." Also, "be around" when possible.

Make sure the job demands are not all consuming of your time. In the work world, naturally, peak periods of job demands do occur. Children can accept these times better when job demands in general are not all-consuming of Mom's time, Welch says.

Mother, Child Affect Each Other

Finally, there is a kind of cycle about Mother's and children's attitudes, Welch says.

"The better a Mom views her work, the better her children will feel about how that work personally affects them—and the more likely they are to think of Mom's job itself in favorable terms.

"The more favorable children are toward the mother's work, the more likely her own attitude will stay positive," she says.

Joyce Carroll Presents Study Club Program

Dr. Joyce Carroll, professor of English and Writing at McMurry College, presented a program highlighting Godey's Lady's Book, a magazine published during the 1800's, to members and guests of the Progressive Study Club, January 20.

Dr. Carroll wrote her Master's thesis about the magazine and remarked that many of the great literary figures of today, such as Edgar Allan Poe, first published in Godey's Lady's Book. The magazine, which was innovative both in style and writing, was the first to print a fold-out page. This forerunner to the centerfold highlighted the current fashions, and was hand colored, making each issue unique. The magazines were often bound by their owners, and Dr. Carroll displayed a bound copy of the 1861 issues. The rare volume contained all the magazines printed that year and has been passed down through her family. To illustrate her talk, Dr. Carroll showed slides, depicting the variety of items and articles featured in the magazine each month.

Following the program, refreshments were served, and a brief business meeting was held. During the meeting, members voted to accept, with regrets, the resignation of Pat Byford, who has moved.

Mary Holden and Peggy Payne served as hostesses for the evening.

McKnight, Medford Wed In Afternoon Ceremony

Amy Lynne Medford and Robert Edward McKnight were united in marriage January 22nd at three o'clock in the afternoon at the First United Methodist Church in Haskell. Reverend Mike Struve officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilda D. Medford of Haskell. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxey D. McKnight of Kress.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was given in marriage by her parents. She wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin, fashioned with high neckline and embroidered with seed pearls. The gown featured a fitted basque waistline embroidered with seed pearls, a full flowing skirt and ending in a chapel length train. For her headpiece, she chose a bando of braided pearls which held a cathedral length veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, freesia and gypsophila.

Something old was the wedding gown. For something new, the bride wore pearls given to her by the groom. For something borrowed, she carried a handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother. For something blue, the bride wore a garter belonging to the groom's mother.

The couple exchanged vows before a background of brass candelabra entwined with lemon leaves and flanked on either side with white roses, starburst pom-poms, spider mums, gerber daisies and freesia on brass pedestals. The aisle was decorated with English ivy, gypsophila, and ribbon. The stained glass windows were complemented with candles and English ivy.

Mrs. Kenneth Lane of Haskell was the organist and Mrs. Richard Rejino of Dallas was the pianist. Together they played traditional wedding preludes. The processional was Trumpet Voluntary by Purcell and Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring by Bach, served as the recessional.

Mrs. Buck Everett of Haskell sang the Wedding Benediction and the Lord Bless You and Keep You.

Mrs. Carroll Bogard of Houston, the bride's aunt, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss DeLane Davis of Lubbock, Miss Regina Blackburn of Mesquite, cousin of the bride and Miss Jana Fite of Lubbock, cousin of the groom.

The bride's attendants wore identical formal length gowns of magenta slipper satin, a Galina original by Jim Hjelm. The fitted bodice fashioned with a sweetheart neckline held the puff sleeves. The A-line skirt, gathered in the back was held with a self belt. The attendants carried gardenias, alstroemeria, with a sprig of gypsophila in their hair.

Best man was Mr. Don Fite of Abilene, cousin of the groom. Groomsmen were Dr. Dell McKnight of Amarillo, brother of the groom, Mr. Eddie Medford of Haskell, brother of the bride, and Mr. Jim Carlisle of Seymour. Ushers were Mr. Carroll Bogard of Houston, uncle of the bride and Mr. Tim Reed of Kress. The groom, his attendants, and the fathers, wore navy tuxedos accented with stephanotis.

Guests were registered at the church by Mrs. Dell McKnight, sister-in-law of the groom.

The reception was hosted by the bride's parents at the Haskell Country Club. Members of the house party were Miss Donna Williams of Lubbock, Miss Kathy McKain of Ada, Oklahoma, Mrs. Alan Blakeley of Carrollton and Mrs. Reggie Blackburn of Mesquite, the bride's aunt.

Others assisting at the reception were Dr. and Mrs. William J. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Adkins, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Thigpen, Mr. Buck Everett, and Mrs. Kay Graham.

Following a wedding trip to Durango, Colorado, the couple will live in Haskell. The bride received a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from West Texas State University and is employed as a public health nurse by the Texas Department of Health.

The groom graduated from Lippert Court Reporting College in Plainview and is employed by the 39th Judicial District of Texas.

Scribblers — They Just Can't Help Themselves

The scribblers. They just can't help themselves, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

They've just got to close their fists around those fat black crayons—and scribble. Around and around they go, in huge arcs, angular zig-zags, blurs, and blobs. Unfortunately, scribblers like to use walls for their canvases.

If you provide an alternative for a scribbler, like a large chalkboard and colored chalk, an easel with newspaper and paint, or lots of plain paper (the back of computer printouts or shelf paper in rolls make marvellous drawing pads) you'll have fewer pictures on your walls.)

Scribbling may look like nonsense to adults, but there is some sense in it for a three-year-old.

When children learn to stop their arm movements in time, those big circles become faces. Tight round scribbles make eyes, looser ones make curly hair.

Sweeping lines stop short for arms, fingers, mouths, spiky hair. Pounding with the point of the crayon, when it becomes less violent, make pretty dots of snow and gentle raindrops. Scribbling is necessary preparation for drawing—and writing, too.

But it's hard to know what to say to a youngster when you're presented with a work of art. "That's very nice" sounds as phony as it is. "What is it?" is embarrassing since the child probably doesn't know either.

"I really like purple scribbles" is probably the most honest, appreciative, and gracious thing you can say!

For more information about the physical and social development of children up to the age of six, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, IN 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

COMPUTER SHOPPING (The Eleven Commandments)

- Peter A. McWilliams' book, "The Personal Computer Book", gives eleven suggestions on how to shop for personal computers, business computers, or word processors. With his permission, we have summarized his "Eleven Commandments" to help you "shop" for your equipment.
1. MAKE AN APPOINTMENT. Call the computer store and make a specific appointment with the person who knows the most about the kind of equipment you're interested in.
 2. DO NOT BE INTIMIDATED BY JARGON. When in doubt about what a word or phrase means, ask.
 3. GET SOME "HANDS-ON" EXPERIENCE. Don't spend a lot of time discussing the philosophy of computing and looking at full-color brochures - sit down at a computer and play with the thing.
 4. ASK A FRIEND WHO KNOWS SOMETHING ABOUT COMPUTERS TO COME ALONG to help you evaluate the information you get.
 5. USE THE COMPUTER FOR WHAT YOU'LL BE USING THE COMPUTER FOR. Different computers are good at different things.
 6. BE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR GOOD SALESPEOPLE AS WELL AS GOOD COMPUTERS. If you become aware that "your" salesperson doesn't really know as much as someone else, maneuver your way into dealing with someone who does.
 7. MAKE NOTES. Write down model numbers, prices, salesperson's names, everything. Otherwise things that are clear upon leaving a store will be hopelessly muddled a few weeks and a dozen computer stores later.
 8. TRUST YOUR INTUITION. It's important that you feel good about the computer you purchase.
 9. WHAT HAPPENS IF IT BREAKS? Investigate what you'll have to do if the computer does not compute either in or out of warranty.
 10. TAKE YOUR TIME. Don't try to look at everything in a week.
 11. ENJOY YOURSELF. Keep in mind that it's hard to lose. Each product will have something worthwhile to recommend it.

Career Schools—A New Step To A New Career

This year, millions of Americans will consider changing careers. Many people, however, seeking a career change will need to learn new skills before successfully switching careers.

Today, many individuals are turning to America's trade and technical schools to learn the necessary skills they need to pursue a new career. Specialized trade and technical schools appeal to people seeking a career change because the training is job-oriented and intensive. In addition, trade and technical schools emphasize "hands-on" training using the same equipment that is used on the job.

"Thousands of people each year use our schools as springboards to new careers," said Henry Herzing, president of the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools (NATTS), an educational association representing over 500 private career schools across the country. "They realize that by learning a skill the odds of changing careers improve dramatically."

Until recently, most Americans were content with one career. Today, however, with rapid advances in technology changing many jobs, it's not too unusual to meet many people who have changed careers.

"We're seeing it all," said Herzing. "The homemaker who wants to become a real estate agent, the engineer who wants to open a sporting goods store, and the math teacher who wants to become a computer service technician are typical of the kinds of career transitions we help people to achieve each year."

Although it's difficult to define what constitutes a career change, most authorities agree it's really the individual's perception that counts. If he or she perceives a job change to be a significant departure, it should be considered a career change.

Reasons For Change

While the specific justifications people give for changing careers vary tremendously, labor experts contend that there are generally three basic reasons why most individuals seek a new career—changes in one's family situation, job changes—plant shutdowns or the introduction of new equipment, or simply internal pressures caused by one's preoccupation with career and life satisfaction.

"Most career changers came to us with a strong sense of commitment," Herzing said. "They know what they want and they know we can help them without taking three or four years in the process."

According to Herzing there are 98 new careers for career changers to consider and most programs enable students to complete their training in two years or less. These schools emphasize specialized training with less training unrelated to the occupational goal, plus a chance to finish quicker. Classes are usually small and start frequently throughout the year.

"Access and time are vital," said Herzing. "A lot of people are facing serious employment and career difficulties in this country that can't wait until September or December for the training to begin. They need to start training today for tomorrow's careers."

For many Americans the ever-changing job market will mean new jobs, new careers and new opportunities. In the years ahead more people will experience different jobs and different careers. To keep workers in touch with new developments and rapid advances in technology, equally rapid training will be crucial.

Texas A&M doctors get top scores on licensing examination

Texas A&M University's second class of graduating physicians has continued the record of outstanding performance on licensing exams, scoring about the same as last year's charter class which turned in the top marks statewide.

Texas A&M was again the only Texas medical school to have every graduate pass all parts of the examinations including jurisprudence, said university officials.

Texas A&M, the state's newest college of medicine, graduated 29 new M.D.s this year; all took the FLEX (Federated Licensing Examination) tests last June.

No specific figures were released because individual scores and university averages are confidential.

"PIK" Only Game In Town

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Texas) called the recently-announced Payment In Kind (PIK) program "the only game in town" and said it offers a chance to reduce surplus commodities while cutting government costs.

"I have, however, several questions about whether or not the program contains sufficient incentive to get the necessary participation," Stenholm, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, commented.

"Farmers themselves will determine the success or failure of the PIK program," Stenholm said. "And that's as it should be. Each individual farmer needs to put pencil to paper and see how PIK fits his operation. But if we do get high participation, I believe the program could be helpful."

Stenholm said a successful PIK program could not only help farmers by reducing the surplus, but also reduce federal outlays for farm price and income support programs.

"We have a problem of oversupply in agriculture," he continued, "and we have a budget problem. Now, how do we deal with those two problems?"

"Our options are limited," he said. "Yes, all of us have somewhat different ideas about what the best course for farm policy should be—I certainly do. But we must do something for the 1983 crop and for the moment, PIK is all that is available. I want to stress that is isn't a long-term answer; it treats a symptom rather than the disease. But if we don't treat those symptoms, I question whether the patient will survive."

Basically, the PIK program provides that farmers who are already participating in the 1983 reduced acreage program (RAP) may set aside up to 30 percent of their base acreage. In return, farmers would be compensated "in kind" with government- or farmer-held stocks of the commodity they raise.

The compensation would be at a certain percentage of the program yield for that farm. This payment rate is 80 percent for corn, sorghum, rice and upland cotton, and 95 percent for wheat. The USDA has said the higher rate for wheat is necessary because of the higher costs already invested in winter wheat.

Farmers who have questions about the PIK program may want to call a toll-free number, 800/368-5942, which USDA has set up to answer producers' inquiries. The number is open for calls between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. CST.

87th Annual Stock Show Set In Ft. Worth

The 87th annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will open its 12-day run Jan. 26 with a flurry of activity at the Will Rogers Memorial Complex on Fort Worth's near West Side. The show will run through Sunday, Feb. 6.

Scheduled in conjunction with the Stock Show is the World's Original Indoor Rodeo, featured in 22 performances with over 700 cowboys contesting for more than $240,000 in prize money with events for bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and the popular wild horse race.

W.R. Watt Jr., Stock Show president-manager, said more than 16,000 head of high quality livestock will be on exhibit during the show with exhibitors seeking a part of the over $200,000 in premiums. He said entries this year are about average with recent years.

Rodeo production manager is Neal Gay of Mesquite, who has contracted with seven rodeo stock contractors to provide the most outstanding bucking stock, calves and steers in the business. World Champion Bull Rider Don Gay will be arena director.

Stock is scheduled to be provided by Gay, Dell Hall of Hulbert, Okla., Bradford Ivy of Fairfield, Matt Dryden of Marianna, Fla., Bernis Johnson of Cleburne, Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., and Harry Vold of Fowler, Colo.

"We believe the rodeo and entertainment planned this year will be the best ever at the Stock Show," Watt said. "The show is planned for the enjoyment of the entire family."

Special entertainer for each rodeo performance will be Jerry Clower, star of the Grand Ole Opry and nine times Country Comic of the Year. Clower tells humorous stories that "happened or almost happened" in a vane that relates to family members.

Other features of the rodeo will be World Champion Trick Roper Gene McLaughlin, performing amazing feats with his rope, and Jerry Olson with his trained buffalo, Chief.

The annual Stock Show Parade is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Friday, Jan. 28, through downtown. The route will begin at Weatherford and Houston, move south on Houston to 6th Street, east to Main, then north to Weatherford.

The parade is unique in that it is all-western. No motorized vehicles are allowed to participate. This year's lineup includes 70 horse-drawn vehicles, many sponsored by area merchants, 22 bands and marching units, and 54 riding clubs.

Always a favorite stop on the show grounds for visitors is the Children's Barnyard, located between the Sheep and Swine Barns. Open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily during the show, the Barnyard features mother animals with their young, hatching chickens and a baby duck slide.

Another popular educational exhibit is the Milking Parlor, between the small exhibits building and Cattle Barn No. 1. The parlor, operated during the dairy show days, is a glass enclosed facility showing two stalls for milking with clear tubes showing how milking is done on a dairy.

Gene Ledel Shows will again provide a wide variety of rides, games and shows for those who want to venture to the Stock Show Midway, more than six acres of fun and excitement on the east side of Will Rogers Coliseum.

In all, the 1983 Fort Worth Stock Show has been planned with entertainment and education as the foremost criteria. Show grounds open from 8 a.m. until 11 p.m.

As convenience to weekend visitors, the show has made arrangements with officials at TCU to utilize a portion of the parking lot north and west of Amon Carter Stadium for parking. The free parking area is west of Stadium Drive, near W. Cantey and Highview. A city bus will transport visitors to the show grounds both Saturdays and Sundays from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

2nd Annual Senior Games Set May 18-21

The second annual Texas Senior Games are on the way. The starter's gun is loaded and will go off on the campus of UT-Arlington, May 18-21.

Any Texas resident 50 years of age or older is eligible to compete in any of the over 40 events being offered. Registration cost is $1 for each event, plus nominal facility fees for certain events such as bowling, golf, tennis, and racquetball.

The success of the first Senior Games held last year has insured a large turnout of the state's older athletes and game players. "Over 600 older Texans competed in our games last year," according to Hal Geldon, executive director of the Texas Senior Games. "We had people from all four corners of the state compete and expect an even greater turnout this year which appropriately enough will coincide with Older American's Month."

Sponsor for the games is a non-profit organization, Texas Senior Games for Fun and Fitness, in cooperation with the Texas Department on Aging and the Governor's Commission on Physical Fitness.

Other supporting organizations include: The American Association of Retired Persons, the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation, Texas Recreation and Parks Society, and the Dallas Morning News.

Among the local groups that will be working with the participants are: Dallas County YMCA, Arlington YMCA, Arlington Bicycle Club, and the Arlington Parks and Recreation Department.

Trophy-sized Bass Being Caught

The trophy-sized largemouth bass are beginning to stir in Texas reservoirs. Reports from three of the state's premier big-bass lakes indicate the late winter-early spring big bass phenomenon is getting underway, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said. Ronald Waits of Longview set the pace last week with a 13-pound, three-ounce bass he caught at Lake Welsh near Mount Pleasant in East Texas. At nearby Lake Monticello, catches of bass in the seven- to nine-pound range are becoming more frequent, with the best fishing expected to start in the next two weeks. At Calaveras Lake near San Antonio, the concessionaire reported that a bass weighing eight and a half pounds was caught Jan. 2, along with two six-pounders. A five-fish sting weighing 26½ pounds also was brought in Jan. 1. Another big bass story came belatedly from Lake Murvaul near Carthage, where it was discovered that two largemouths over 12 pounds were caught during 1982. Department officials received a tip last week that an angler had landed a 12-pound, four-ounce largemouth at Murvaul. Technician Wayne Griffing of Marshall was dispatched to the scene, and he found the already-mounted fish at Stan Ritter's residence near the lake. Ritter had caught the big bass during September on a black plastic worm. The biggest surprise for Griffing, however, came when he visited Stovall's Marine at Murvaul. Proprietor Jim Walker showed Griffing his records on Murvaul-caught bass weighed there since 1980, and among the entries was a 12-pound, eight-ounce bass caught in March, 1980. Other entries included bass of 11-10, 11-15 and 11-1 caught during that period. The Murvaul discovery means there now are seven public reservoirs which produced bass 12 pounds and over during 1982. The others are Monticello, Welsh, Livingston, Fayette Power Project, Houston County and Calaveras. Murvaul is by far the eldest of the seven lakes, making it an exception to the general rule that lakes "peak out" in game fish production in less than a decade. Murvaul has been a big-bass lake virtually throughout its life, yielding eight to 10-pound bass during the 1960s before Florida-strain bass were introduced into Texas. Rich water and other favorable habitat conditions were responsible for the lake's reputation as a home for large bass, biologists believe. Dying 1972, the department stocked 10,000 fingerling-sized Florida bass in Murvaul. Griffing said a scale count on Ritter's fish led him to believe it was one of the original stockings or one of the first offspring of that group.

Maidens Defeat Hamlin and Paducah

BY MELINDA BLAKELY
The Haskell Maidens will travel to Rotan Jan. 28 for the second game of the second half of district play. The Maidens defeated Hamlin 57-55, Jan. 18. The team had to overcome an 18 point deficit to beat the Lady Pipers in the closing seconds of the game. Melinda Blakely led the team with 20, followed by Sheila Randle with 19. "Determination and hustle is the key to winning a game like that," Gena Whitaker, senior guard said. The Dragonettes ran into problems Jan. 22 and fell to the Maidens 38-35. The win put the Maidens in third place for the first half of district play. "Overall team effort won the ballgame," Coach Jim Bob Mickler said. Randle was injured in the final 5 seconds of the game and taken to the hospital for stitches. Randle, a senior starter, isn't expected to miss any games, Coach Mickler said. The team was led by Blakely with 13, Randle and April Turner followed with 9.

BY TODD JENNINGS
The ninth grade Warriors recently completed their regular season with a win over Seymour Monday. The score was a very convincing 57-20. The scoring was led by Kelly Strickland with 17. This week they will be competing in the Knox City Tournament Jan. 27-29. The ninth grade will conclude their season with the Haskell Tournament Feb. 3-5.

Rochester Steer Band In Inaugural Parade

Early last Monday morning while rain continued to fall, the Rochester Steer Band left home bound for the inaugural parade in Austin on a chartered bus.

The first stop on their trip was in Brownwood for a rest and a cup of coffee. They boarded and then their final stop was in Austin where they checked into a motel. First order of business after unpacking was "EATING", then on to the Lyndon B. Johnson Library where all of the students had an educational tour.

library were his presidential limousine, wedding dresses of his wife and daughter, the First Lady's Theater, gifts given to him by leaders of the world, and much more.

Then on to a more adventurous trip to a two story mall, where all of the students, teachers, and chaparones did their own thing for two hours. After their return to the motel, some of the braver students decided to take a dip in the pool Outside! The weather was not what others would swim in. It was 38° and raining.

archives where they saw Travis' letter to the world from the Alamo and many other historical documents. From there, they went to the old land office which is now a museum.

The most interesting exhibit to the students was a pair of dueling pistols that belonged to Santa Anna and were taken Lights were out at 10:30 p.m.

Early Tuesday morning at 7:00 a.m., they all rose for breakfast and then to check out. Dressed in their new ruffled front and bow tie band suits, it was off to the Capitol for them. Everyone had a great tour of the State Capitol. Many of them saw the from him at the Battle of San Jacinto.

After their educational tour of the Capitol, they were honored to be at the Governor's Inauguration. They all stood in the pouring rain to get a glimpse of Governor White, and listen to his Inaugural Address.

After leaving the Capitol, it was on to the parade, where it continued to rain. While the students were drenched by the rain, the Governor and his motorcade came by to tell them welcome to Austin and the parade. The band then marched up Congress Avenue to the front steps of the Capitol. Even though the rain continued, the band also continued to do their finest work, ever. The band was very pleased to see that there was Rochesterites along the parade route.

After the parade, the band went to a cafeteria where they changed into dry clothes for the first time in seven hours. After doing so, the band ate a very delicious and hot meal before leaving Austin to come home to a nice warm bed. They arrived home at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday night.

Band members would like to express their thanks to the many area residents who's donations made the trip possible.

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

The Annual Haskell County Junior Livestock Show is scheduled this weekend. As an "old farm boy", this is one of my favorite events. It is great fun for me to watch the FFA and 4-H boys and girls showing their rabbits, chickens, lambs, swine, and cattle. I especially enjoy the swine show. I am one of those odd ball people who think pigs are pretty.

Our Haskell County Show is one of the best around. This does not happen without reason. We have a group of citizens who work long hours without pay to make this show a success. People like Tommy Matthews, Jim Hudson, and C.A. Thomas just to name a few spend a lot of time as volunteers to make it a success. The vocational agriculture teachers and Max Stapleton spend many extra hours planning the event plus helping their youngsters prepare and groom their animals.

Many merchants donate money for prizes and pay premiums at the auction. Haskell has a new ag teacher this year, James Bevel, who has brought new ideas from the southern part of the state. Mr. Gilly, our other ag teacher, has always worked hard on this show. The ag boys from throughout the county have built new pens for the animals. Their co-operative work on this project alone is worth viewing! I hope each of us can get to the show barn this year to see their animal projects, the new pens, and watch the kids and their animals compete. Watching a cute little girl or boy show a lamb is really a lot of fun. Watching a big high school boy bending over to herd his pig keeping the best side before the judge is a thrill as well as hard work. The grooming of cattle is a thing of beauty.

The 4-H Club will have a concession stand with good hot coffee, soft drinks, etc. Mrs. Lou Gilly is the home demonstration agent and works hard planning this part of the program. We should all make at least part of this show to let our students know we appreciate their efforts. Also please stop by and thank our 4-H leaders and the vo-ag teachers for their extra efforts. Also these volunteers might appreciate a thank-you. That is very cheap wages for a lot of hard work.

Students listed on the A honor roll must have a 4.0 grade point ratio (GPR) on the 4.0 system and be taking a minimum of 12 hours. Students on the B honor roll must have a grade point ratio between 3.00 and 3.99 with no grade lower than B and be taking a minimum of 12 hours. Junior and Senior Distinguished Students have a minimum GPR of 3.50 with no grade lower than C.

Named to the B honor roll from Haskell were Carl Hopkins and Gil Richardson.

Fifty award winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and need for financial aid.

Tonya Murphy To Perform In "Fillie Follies"

Tonya Renee Murphy, the daughter of Basil and Sharon Murphy of Denton, granddaughter of Bill and Marie Marr of Haskell and Dale and Margie Dunlap of Lovington, New Mexico, will be performing in the annual Denton High School "Fillie Follies" on February 10 and 11.

Renee was selected as one of 72 girls to perform precision dance routines at the Denton High School Bronco football games.

The Fillies were also invited to perform for a Dallas Maverick basketball game at Reunion Arena in Dallas.

DPS To Enforce Insurance Law

The Texas Department of Public Safety will continue to enforce the current mandatory liability insurance law as enacted by the last session of the Texas Legislature. A recent Attorney General's opinion stated that failure to carry, produce or provide proof of insurance is not an offense. However, the opinion does not require DPS policy to be changed. The offense contained in the law is "failure to maintain financial responsibility," i.e., failure to maintain liability insurance.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said "the statute requires motorists to furnish information concerning evidence of insurance to a police officer upon request. Failure to provide satisfactory information creates a rebuttable presumption under the statute that the motorist failed to maintain liability insurance. This presumption may be rebutted by presenting evidence to the judge that the motorist did in fact have insurance and the judge may dismiss the charge."

If the officer is not satisfied with the information provided, he can issue a citation. Adams said troopers will continue to issue citations when drivers are unable to furnish satisfactory information.

The Department of Public Safety issued rules when the law went into effect detailing examples of information which would be accepted as evidence of financial responsibility. The items include the insurance policy, insurance identification card, or other information which confirms to the satisfaction of the officer that the operator is in compliance with the law.

In an opinion dated May 14, 1982, the Attorney General upheld these rules as binding on all law enforcement officers of the state.

"If a person is unable to furnish the information requested by the officer, the officer may issue a citation even though the individual claims to have the required insurance," Adams said.

Colonel Adams said the law has produced positive results, and has resulted in an increase in the number of Texans who presently carry liability insurance. "Before the law was passed, 74 per cent of the Texas motorists involved in vehicle accidents did have insurance. However, 1982 accident reports indicate that 91 per cent of the drivers involved in vehicle accidents have obtained and maintained insurance," he said.

Brandon Appears Before Railroad Commission

Robert C. Brandon Jr., Manager of Trammel Bits Inc. in Haskell appeared today in Austin before the Railroad Commission of Texas to testify in hearings on United Parcel Service's application for service rights.

UPS is seeking authority from the Commission to provide full intrastate service—pickup and delivery of packages between all points within Texas. Currently, UPS can only provide interstate service except within the commercial-free zones of Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

Texas is one of just two states that restrict UPS intrastate.

Brandon testified that the lack of UPS service within the state has seriously hampered the operation of his business. Brandon cited no pickup or delivery service, slow delivery time, prohibitive rates, lack of state-wide coverage, and the inconvenience of bills of lading as the major problems being encountered with other delivery services Trammel Bits Inc. currently uses. And, parcel post also does not fill their needs, Brandon added.

These hearings have been underway since last September and are scheduled to continue well into 1983. Hundreds of business people from throughout the state are expected to testify as to their need for having UPS available for shipments on an intrastate basis.

UPS has been seeking this authority from the Commission since 1966.
