Six Performances Set For Ft. Griffin Fandangle

For 45 years the people of Albany have been reliving the settling of the western frontier with the production of the Fort Griffin Fandangle. Performances this year are scheduled for June 16-18 and 23-25.

Tickets for the two-hour outdoor extravaganza went on sale to the general public June 1, and range in price from $3.00 to $7.00. Tickets can be reserved by calling 915-762-2525 or 762-3642. Written ticket orders can be sent to Fandangle, P.O. Box 185, Albany, Texas 76430.

This year's show will be told through newspaper accounts of frontier publications about colorful events that happened in the area. The production will also salute the centennials of the building of the Shackelford County Courthouse and the founding of The First National Bank of Albany.

Visitors are urged to come early and enjoy several other activities planned during Fandangle.

Barbecue will be served on the courthouse square from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. nightly. Adult meals will be $5.00 plus tax, and children, $3.00. Joe Allen's Barbecue of Abilene is the caterer.

The Old Jail Foundation, an art museum located in Shackelford

County's first permanent jail building, will be displaying a collection of paintings, drawings and photographs of the 100-year-old Shackelford County Courthouse. The museum is located one block east of the courthouse, and admission is free.

The First National Bank will be host to two western art exhibits in celebration of its centennial, including 15 pieces from the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. Visitors must make arrangements to enter the bank after regular closing hours.

The Albany Art Association will hold an art show at the Pioneer Store located across the street from the courthouse.

The Matthews Memorial Presbyterian Church will be open to the public, and concerts will be given on the hand made pipe organ from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. daily.

Tours of the Jacobs House and Ledbetter Picket House will be conducted, and downtown store windows will be decorated with memorabilia from the 1880 period.

The Fandangle performances begin at 8:45 p.m. at the Prairie Theater northwest of the city limits. A calliope concert precedes the show.

The Fandangle is entirely produced with local Albany talent with citizens from all walks of life singing, dancing and acting out the stories of their ancestor's lives.

Almost 250 cast and crew members, along with a herd of Longhorns, buffalo and many horses and wagons are needed to make the Fandangle a reality.

Several large sets, including the recreation of a western town, are used in the production.

Paint Creek Plant Supt. To Transfer

J.A. (Aubrey) Carroll, plant superintendent at the Paint Creek Power Station since 1975, is transferring to the Rio Pecos Power Station effective June 1.

Replacing Carroll is Kenneth H. Patton, superintendent of the Lake Pauline Power Station.

The announcement was made recently by W.M. Anderson, manager of Plant Operations for West Texas Utilities Company.

Carroll, a 45-year veteran with WTU, was stationed at Rio Pecos prior to his coming to the Haskell plant. He began working for the company as a repairman at Lake Pauline Plant, and served in many capacities from fireman and switchboard operator to shift supervisor and assistant superintendent. In 1951, he was promoted to assistant plant superintendent at the Abilene Plant, and served there until he was named superintendent at Rio Pecos.

Carroll was born in Quanah, and graduated from Quanah High School in 1937. He completed a two-year course in Steam Electric Engineering from I.C.S. during his early years with WTU.

He and his wife, Jean, are the parents of two children, James Aubrey II of Lagos, Nigeria, and Patricia Jean, of Kermit, and six grandchildren.

He is a member of the First Methodist Church.

Patton joined WTU in August, 1969, as a summer results engineer trainee at the company's Oak Creek Power Station near Bronte. He later was transferred to the San Angelo Power Station, and in 1976 was named superintendent at Lake Pauline.

He was born in Winters, and graduated from high school there in 1966. In 1971, he received a BS degree in Mechanical Engineering from Texas Tech University.

Patton, a member of the First Methodist Church in Chillicothe, is active in the Quanah Rotary Club, where he is a past president, and in the Masonic Lodge.

He and his wife, Judy, have one son, Kevin Michael.

Summer Driving Tips Offered By DPS

Motorists should prepare themselves for summer driving, according to Major Vernon Cawthon, Commander of Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety. With summer approaching many people are planning vacations and he warned drivers that accidents can spoil vacation trips.

"Summer driving is different because the motorist is trying to get away from it all, and this means getting into an unfamiliar environment," he said. "A good rule is to plan your trip before leaving and know highway numbers and streets that you will travel," Cawthon said.

"For the urban driver the expressway can become a bore, luring the weary into a false sense of security. Drivers who normally drive on quiet country roads can panic in the confusion of the multilane mix of car and pedestrian city traffic," he said.

Cawthon said, "Fatigue and lack of alertness is a serious problem on long freeway trips." He advised the motorist to stop every two hours to rest or change drivers and to never drive more than 10 hours each day.

The Major suggested that motorists check all hoses, fan belts, tires and to make sure the vehicle is in good mechanical condition before making any trip. He also advised motorists to get plenty of rest each night. Motorists entering large cities should plan their trips to avoid rush hour traffic, obey speed limits, avoid the use of alcohol when driving and be patient. Drivers who think ahead, stay alert and drive defensively can have a safe trip and a great vacation.

Creek At Floodstage

Changes Sought For Creek Flood Project

An engineering study on flood control in Haskell has revealed that a flood retarding structure northwest of town is not feasible according to Ken Martin of Abilene.

Martin, of Jacob and Martin, Inc. told the Free Press Wednesday that when the Department of Housing and Urban Development approved a $500,000.00 grant for flood control in Haskell the application included a flood retarding structure.

According to Martin when surveyors made their study, the elevations would allow the structure to be built but high underground water table would increase the size of the structure to the point of flooding area homes.

Martin added that after the structure was eliminated, "we started looking at the money available and what could be done to address the problem".

It was determined that the same benefit could be received by shaping and cleaning the creek channel from Av. L to the railroad tracks and installing six low water crossings and four box culverts.

According to Martin, the location of the low water crossings will depend on citizen input, traffic safety and traffic demands since the crossings would be impassable during times when the creek is running.

Randy Randolph, of Abilene, is in charge of compliance with HUD regulations and has submitted the proposed changes in their proper form.

According to Randolph, HUD officials have indicated that there should be no problem in changing the project and Randolph is currently continuing with the environmental clearance which is the next step in the process.

Both Martin and Randolph agree that the project should be completed before next spring.

Randolph told the Free Press, "This project will require long term maintenance on the part of the City. Following completion it will be short lived if it is not maintained."

One step in the project will be obtaining easements from property owners. According to Randolph, much of the shaping and cleaning work will be done on private property. Randolph added that property owners are encouraged to ask questions concerning what work will be done.

He indicated that the purpose of the project is to prevent flooding, but at the same time consideration would be given to make all work attractive.

Both Martin and Randolph added that a map would be available showing proposed work and that citizens were urged to offer suggestions.

Brush and Palette

Whether it's an elm, mesquite or hackberry - or the entire forest, painting trees well is the problem of the landscape painter. The color of the subject (trees) offers no more of a problem than the colors of skies, mountains and streams. Color mixing can be conquered best by understanding basic color principles - the color of trees must be mixed to represent the lighting conditions. The color cannot be the tree's color, only the color the tree looks to be. Often a picture is ruined by rendering a preconceived idea of a tree or a too literal interpretation in relation to the rest of the picture. When painting a single tree the silhouette of its shape is initial and important. Every tree has an undeniable identity that can be recognized by its silhouette. The tree's general tone in relation to its surroundings has to be included in the initial consideration. From this fundamental start an artist can go to the extent of painting every leaf if he wants to. A tree cannot be constructed with leaves - only embellished by them. Study the tree, paint what you see and NOT what you think you see!

outlines. Two light coats is better than one heavy coat.

HINT: After acrylic painting, wash your brushes with soap and warm water. If some paint is left to dry in the brush, it can be removed with denatured alcohol.

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 124, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Q. Please explain the difference between opaque painting and wash?

A. The difference between a wash and opaque painting is a matter of transparency and thickness. A wash is an application of transparent paint. The paint is thin and has no white in it. The tone value of the color depends on the value it is being applied to. An opaque application refers to thicker paint. An opaque mixture usually covers the surface it is applied to; and transparent color becomes opaque when white is added to it. Water colors are applied in washes to utilize the whiteness of the paper. To control the values in oil painting the applications are usually opaque, because white is imparted to most mixtures to control the color values.

Q. I want to paint a design on vinyl. What medium do I use?

A. First clean the vinyl with a 1/2 to 3/4 vinegar and water. Then proceed to use acrylic paints. Unless you free-hand your drawing, be sure to get a good transfer and make your paint thick enough to cover the

Melton, Burris Repeat Vows In Candlelight Ceremony

Lynda D'Anne Burris became the bride of Gregory Alan Melton on Friday, June 3, in a candlelight ceremony in the Haskell Church of Christ. Royce Clay of Big Spring officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Burris of Haskell. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Don Melton of Big Spring.

Vows were exchanged before palm leaf greenery accenting the unity candle. Tree candles and spirals decorated either side of the altar. Pews were marked with brass hurricane lamps with mauve bows.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white luster sheer polyester over taffeta, a Bridallure Original designed by Michele. The fitted bodice, designed with a yoke of sheer illusion, was outlined with two deep lace ruffles falling softly from the yoke over the shoulders. The high neckline was fashioned with Venise lace and silk floss. Small lace medallions on the sheer yoke were sprinkled with sequins and seed pearls. The bodice was closed from the neckline down the back to the waist with small white satin buttons. The long, slim, sheer sleeves were cuffed with Venise lace and closed with small, white satin buttons. The full circular skirt, with hem line bordered in multi-ruffles of matching lace, had lace ruffles cascading up on each side of the skirt to give a godet effect and were topped with small satin ribbon bows. The skirt flowed to a cathedral train. A small wreath of white silk flowers held the veil of silk illusion and flowed to a cathedral length. She carried a long cascade of white roses, dusty pink carnations, white button poms, and gypsophilia tied with white ribbon. She also carried a friendship handkerchief from former classmates and a lace handkerchief from Belgium which belonged to her cousin, Mrs. Cliff Murley.

Miss Denise Burris of Haskell was her sister's maid of honor, and Mrs. Cliff Murley of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Renea Biehl of Early and Mika Robinson of Brady. They wore identical full length gowns of mauve chiffon over taffeta. The fitted bodice, fashioned with puffed sleeves and a double ruffle of soft chiffon forming a V-neckline, was attached to a gathered skirt and accented with a wide, pleated cummerbund. They carried nosegays of white daisies, button poms, and pink carnations, which were accented with pink satin ribbon.

The flower girl, Misty McMeans of Haskell, wore a long dress of mauve taffeta with a wide ruffle. Her dress was trimmed in white lace and waisted with a wide white satin sash. She carried a white basket of silk petals.

Best man to the groom was Jerry Marrow of Big Spring, brother-in-law of the groom. Groomsman were Max McMeans and Terry Blanks of Haskell, and Kevin Wade of Stamford.

Candles were lighted by Scott Burris of Haskell, brother of the bride, and Seth Pace of Haskell.

Ringbearer was Matt Marrow of Big Spring, nephew of the groom. Groomsman, candlelighters, fathers, and the ringbearer wore silver tuxedos with white ruffled shirts and silver bow ties. The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and a white bow tie.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length dress of mauve georgette over taffeta. The fitted bodice, fashioned with a V-neckline, was sleeveless. The slim skirt flowed softly with an overskirt in front that draped to the side in tulip fashion. The double spaghetti self-belt held the waist. The chanel jacket swung to the hips with long slim sleeves and was completely circled with wide matching Venise lace.

The mother of the groom wore a mauve, full-length dress with a softly pleated skirt of polyester knit, a lace bodice, and full-length chiffon sleeves ending with lace cuffs. A sleeveless lace jacket completed the ensemble.

Jennie Hess of Abilene registered guests.

Wedding music was provided by the church chorus, and

David Falys of Early sang "I Pledge All My Love" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Attending the wedding were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Moore of Goree and Mrs. Ellen Burris of Irving, and grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Fay Jackson of Brownsboro.

The bride's parents hosted a reception honoring the couple in the church annex. The table was draped in white and had an overcloth of tulle and a gathered lace ruffle. The cake was a five-tiered cake, decorated with fresh and silk flowers. Complimenting the table was a centerpiece of mauve and white carnations, roses, and apple blossoms placed upon a mirrored pedestal. Punch was served from a silver punch bowl. Appointments were silver and crystal. Serving at the bride's table were Miss Emily Cox of Haskell, Mrs. Jerry Coker of Rule, and Mrs. Tim Gross of Stamford.

The groom's table was mauve with a white overcloth and an arrangement in the bride's chosen colors and silver appointments. The groom's cake was a two-tiered chocolate macaroon cake with slivered almonds and the couple's last initial inscribed on top. A chocolate mocha punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Serving at the groom's table were Mrs. Jerry Marrow of Big Spring, sister of the groom, and Miss Julie Coleman of Paint Creek. Coffee was served on a separate table with a white cloth that had a silver runner which draped the table. A silver candleabra complimented the coffee service table.

Guest tables were draped in white with white lace runners. Each table featured individual floral arrangements.

Parents of the bridegroom hosted the rehearsal dinner at Mitchell's Porthole. Tables were decorated in mauve and white with a centerpiece of mauve and pink silk flowers.

Parties honoring the bride included a tea at Abilene Christian University in Nelson Dormitory, a brunch in the home of Mrs. Susan Blanks of Haskell, a tea in the home of Mrs. Freida Welch of Big Spring, and a bridesmaid's luncheon in the home of Mrs. Alice Larned, hosted by Mrs.

Larned, Mrs. Vickie Coker, and Mrs. Sandra Wallace.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Haskell High School and is a sophomore at Abilene Christian University during the summer.

The groom is a 1976 graduate of Levelland High School. He received both B.A. and M.A. degrees in history from Abilene Christian University. Mr. Melton teaches history at Haskell High School and will be a history instructor at Abilene Christian University during the summer.

Tips On Helping A Child To Be Independent

When a young child starts to walk, his parent's attitude about his independence suddenly becomes very important.

Children inevitably grow up. And we want them to grow up with a sense of confidence and self-sufficiency. How can parents help their children become independent?

According to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, parents need to:

*Understand what a child can and can't do at a given time, and

*Be willing to allow the child the proper amount of independence and responsibility, based on his abilities.

Neither of these are as simple as they sound. In the first case, a parent's perception of a toddler's abilities can be colored by their own fears and ambitions.

In the second case, a clear understanding of a child's abilities does not guarantee that you won't sometimes overprotect your child and do too many things for him, or else push him beyond his capacity.

During the second year of life, children can start to learn independence in the self-help areas of eating and dressing—and in the area of toilet-training.

Each of these activities has a number of steps. To help a child learn independence, break the activities down into parts. Let the child do the things he can do. Help him with the things he needs to learn. And do for him the things that are still too difficult.

This step-by-step approach has several advantages.

First, when you break a task down into steps you begin to appreciate that even a simple action is made up of a number of small motor movements, some easy and some hard.

Second, when the child does what he can, he's getting plenty of practice in his basic, previously learned skills. This is necessary before he can advance to more complicated movements. It's like building a launching pad from which to attack higher goals.

And finally, it puts you in a position to judge when the child is ready to handle more of the task himself.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample of the newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

20,000 Texans Serve As 4-H Volunteers

The Texas 4-H program—like many other youth organizations—depends heavily on adult volunteers to deliver and conduct the educational program for youth.

"Nearly 20,000 adults volunteer annually to serve as leaders in the state's 4-H and youth program. These volunteers conduct project work with the more than 180,000 4-H members of Texas—project work in more than 40 different programs ranging from wildlife science to aerospace technology," explains Preston D. Sides, 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The role of a 4-H volunteer leader begins with project work and goes much deeper into the total development of a boy or girl. The ultimate goal of 4-H work is to assist with the development of young people into responsible and productive adults," Sides adds.

Volunteers represent people from many areas of interest and backgrounds. They want to volunteer their time and energy to support 4-H.

On the average, a Texas 4-H volunteer gives about 260 hours of service each year to this vital youth work, Sides says, although some leaders far exceed this average. Some individuals are almost full-time 4-H volunteers while others work more on a seasonal basis.

Regardless of the amount of time given, each volunteer is unique and special to the program.

People who want to serve as volunteers sometimes ask the question, "What do you expect a volunteer to do?"

The answer is "anything" and "everything." If there is something really difficult to be done, the best way to accomplish the task is to

TMA Offers Warning For Tanning Season

The tanning season has arrived and you may find yourself complaining about not having enough time to lie out in the sun. You may have even considered buying a membership to a tanning salon.

Before you do, the Texas Medical Association warns that these salons can be harmful to your skin and eyes. So can excessive exposure to the sun.

Tanning salons use ultraviolet light, the same as that emitted by the sun. Ultraviolet light may either be short-wave (UVB) or long-wave (UVA).

Experiments on animals have linked artificial tanning with UVB to sunburn and long-term skin damage. UVB also can damage the cornea and lens of the eye, so protective goggles should be worn.

Artificial tanning with UVB has been found to be more suitable and safer than UVB, but this does not mean it is safe. UVA also may damage the eyes if protective goggles are not worn. It has damaged retinas and produced cataracts in laboratory mice.

In addition, your skin may be overly sensitive to UVA if you are taking medication such as antidepressants, oral contraceptives, antihistamines and a variety of other sensitizing drugs.

Both ultraviolet types can damage the skin. Three common types of skin cancer that can occur are basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma, and the worst kind, malignant melanoma. These occur most frequently on continuously exposed parts of the body such as hands, face and neck.

In basal cell carcinoma, cells just below the skin's surface become cancerous. A tumor may develop and become ulcerated. Caused by long-term exposure to ultraviolet light, this cancer will not spread to other parts of the body. Basal cell carcinoma usually occurs on the face, especially near the eyes or on the nose.

Squamous cell carcinoma attacks underlying skin cells that have been damaged by continuous exposure to the sunlight. With this type of cancer, a malignant, or life-threatening, tumor will develop. The cancer will usually occur on any region constantly exposed to the sun.

Malignant melanoma is the most serious form of skin cancer because it may spread. A cancerous tumor develops from a mole present since birth, but sunlight also can play a part in the development of the disease.

For these reasons, it is advisable to avoid long-term exposure to ultraviolet light whether in a tanning salon or on a beach.

Hints To Help Reduce Heat Gain In Summer

Reduce air conditioning costs in summer by minimizing heat gain through windows. In many parts of Texas, more is spent for cooling than for heating. Methods that can be used to reduce heat gain in order of priority are: exterior shading, interior insulating window treatments and lastly, additional glazing or storm windows.

Exterior shading is approximately twice as effective as interior shading for the same window. Solar heat gain can be reduced by 80 percent if a window is totally shaded and air can circulate between the exterior shading device and the glass. The best method of shading is the use of roof overhangs or porches. Vegetation is another effective tool for shading. Deciduous trees, those that lose their leaves in the winter, are effective summer shading when planted on the south, west and east sides of the home and they allow heat gain that is desirable in the winter.

Other effective shading methods are various types of awnings and screens. An awning should be mounted with a narrow continuous gap between the awning and house to allow for air circulation. Mesh screens can be installed in existing frames at little expense if done by a family member, but they will eliminate desirable heat gain in winter. Louvered or roll-up screens are other methods of exterior shading that are effective.

Conventional interior window treatments already in place can be retrofitted to make them more energy efficient. Many kinds of insulating shutters and shades can be constructed with minimal skills and a few simple tools. These include insulating Roman shades, quilted window shades, insulating hinged shutters or pop-in shutters. Since these are moveable insulators, they can be added when window insulation is needed and removed when the heat gain is desirable in the winter.

Because their impact is primarily on heating, storm windows may not be cost effective in the more temperate climates of the southern and southwestern United States. Storm windows are of little benefit if the chief problem is solar heat gain, since multiple glazing has only a limited effect upon solar transmission. According to research done at Cornell University, in almost all U.S. cities, single glazing with insulating window treatments outperform bare double or triple glazing on south windows, assuming the window treatment is opened to allow heat gain in winter.

As strategies for insulating windows are compared, cost of the treatment as well as the effectiveness should be considered. Remember that to reduce heat gain and air conditioning costs in summer, the most effective method is exterior shading, followed by interior insulating window treatments and then by additional glazing or storm windows.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting
Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Farmers have an unparalleled opportunity this year to improve their soil and water conservation systems, said Peter Myers, Chief of the USDA's Soil Conservation Service.

Under the Payment-In-Kind (PIK) program and other acreage limitation programs, farmers in Texas are taking 9.3 million acres out of production. One-fifth of the nation's cropland is pledged to the program and now farmers can put a great deal of soil and water conservation on the ground.

Some of the erosive and less productive acreage will be taken out of annual crop use and planted to grasses and legumes as cover crops. This has the potential for saving soil and water resources as well as building up natural fertility.

Myers said this is also a good time for planning ways to fit no-till or other conservation tillage methods into the farm operation.

On more erosive acres, permanent conservation practices such as terraces, grassed waterways, windbreaks and other enduring practices can be installed without interrupting cash crop production.

On the most erosive or other marginal land, farmers are encouraged to discontinue use of those acres for crop production. Those acres may be best suited for permanent grasses, trees, or wildlife habitat.

The 1983 programs offer farmers a rare opportunity to balance their short-term cash needs with their longer conservation and productivity goals said Myers.

The Consumer Alert
by Jim Mattox
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Time-worn sayings, such as "Buyer Beware", "A stitch in time saves nine" and "a ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure", are all familiar phrases we've heard time and again growing up. However, nowhere do they apply more strongly than to consumers in the marketplace.

We are all consumers, whether we purchase goods or contract for services as an individual or as a business. And although most businesses conduct themselves in a reputable manner, depending on the goodwill and word-of-mouth of satisfied customers, there are some who would do business in a less-than-ethical manner. The best way we as consumers can avoid falling into the hands of unscrupulous businessmen is to arm ourselves with information on how to avoid problems before they occur. The following are some important points to consider before you make purchase or sign a contract for purchase of goods or services:

- Analyze what you actually need before going shopping. Know what features or particular items are important to you. You are less likely to be dazzled by small items intended by businesses to be bought by impulse-buyers when you know what you want and stay within your limits.
- Shop around. Compare brands by word-of-mouth recommendations as well as checking your local library to see what consumer magazines might advise about a product or service. Compare stores, if possible. Find a store or business in your community with a good reputation and deal there. This will not ensure that your transaction will be trouble-free, but it will be a step in the right direction if you start out with a company with a good reputation.
- Free, single copies may be obtained by writing to: Handbook, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

most important piece of advice you can heed. Sometimes, what seems wonderful, exciting and a bargain one day might seem foolish and unnecessary the next. Give yourself a little time, even if only overnight, to consider your purchase and decide if it is something you are really going to need or enjoy and if the decision is a wise one.

- Look for hidden costs in your purchase, such as delivery or service charges which may be added to the price shown on the sales tag, as well as the cost of financing the purchase or other services which may not be known to you at the time.
- Make certain you thoroughly understand the contract and your full obligations before you sign it. Never sign a contract having blank spaces in it. Insist they be filled out completely. Get any oral promises by the seller in writing. If necessary, take the contract home and seek legal advice. Read the small print carefully as you read the entire contract. All too often, an unhappy consumer is tied to what appears to be an unfair contract simply because he or she did not read the small print which contained the legal permissibility for the seller to take the action in question.

All the information in my column this week has been geared toward prevention of many common consumer-experienced problems before they occur. Next week's column will focus on how to resolve a problem once it has occurred.

A helpful publication for consumers to have is one entitled, "Consumer's Resource Handbook" — a what-to-do and where-to-go manual for resolving consumer problems.

Free, single copies may be obtained by writing to: Handbook, Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Tips For Choosing A Nursing Facility

Because modern medicine has lengthened life spans, the need for nursing homes and long-term care facilities is increasing.

The Texas Medical Association offers this list of types of nursing homes:

—A residential care facility provides room and board. This facility is suitable for those who do not want household responsibilities, but who do not need continuous medical care. Some of these facilities include exercise, social and recreational programs as part of their service.

—An intermediate care facility provides room and board and some nursing care. This type is for people who cannot live independently. Some of these facilities have rehabilitation programs and physical, social and recreational activities. The cost of an intermediate care facility may be covered by some federal programs.

—A skilled nursing facility provides around-the-clock care by both doctors and nurses. This facility is for people who require intensive medical care. Some offer occupational therapy, physical therapy and social work services.

Medicare and Medicaid may cover the cost of a skilled nursing facility. Your nearest Social Security office keeps up-to-date information on these facilities.

Although nursing homes are primarily for the elderly, they also are available to patients with serious illnesses or injuries.

If considering a nursing home, you may have to get on a waiting list since accommodations are scarce in some regions. Also, the cost of a nursing home should be considered. By looking around early, you will probably be better able to find one that fits your needs while remaining within your budget.

In determining the quality of a nursing home, certification means the home has met certain criteria established by the state. Quality also can be determined by visiting a nursing home and talking with the residents and staff.

Often an elderly person feels apprehensive about moving to a nursing home. The person may feel abandoned by the family or unsure about living in a new environment. Family and friends are especially needed at this time for reassurance.

Texas Christian University Press has announced plans to publish "150 Years of the Texas Cowboy," a major art book to be written and illustrated by the 16 members of the Texas Cowboy Artists Association as their sesquicentennial project.

Scheduled for publication in the summer of 1985, the book will be over 200 pages, with approximately 100 pages in full color. Each painting, drawing and sculpture used in the book will be specifically designed for this book and will be available for private purchase. After publication of the book, the original art will be kept together during the sesquicentennial period for display throughout the state at various art galleries and book signing parties.

Texas Cowboy Artists Association is an 11-year-old organization dedicated to documenting historically through art—the heritage and domain of the cowboy. Membership in the organization is by invitation only, and the work of any prospective member is carefully considered for quality and authenticity. The group previously illustrated "XIT: The American Cowboy," published in 1975 by Oxmoor House.

For their sesquicentennial book, TCA members will hold several juries at which members will vote on each piece of art submitted for the project.

In recent years, TCA has expanded to accept members not living in Texas whose work meets the standards of the group and whose interests will promote the group's dedication to the history of the cowboy. Current Texas members are Bill Chappell and Bill Leftwich of Fort Davis; Ben Konis, Justin Wells and Richard Thompson of Amarillo; Joe G. Russell, Kerrville; G.L. Sanders, Pampa; Mark Storm, Houston; Jim Thomas, Leander; Jim Ward, Canyon; Garland Weeks, San Angelo; and Paul Wylie of Lubbock. Other members are Keith Avery of Roswell, N.M.; Steve Devenyns, Cody, WY; Harold T. Holden, Kremlin, OK; and Bob Toomey, Carthage, MO.

Dr. Donald Worcester, TCU professor emeritus of history and a well-known Western author, will serve as consulting editor for the book.

Take The Seat Belt Pledge

"I pledge, for the next two weeks, to buckle-up, to protect children by placing them in safety seats or child safety seats, and to encourage my fellow passengers to get into the buckle-up habit."

That's the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" safety belt usage pledge, and you're encouraged to take it, said George R. Gustafson, Executive Director, Texas Safety Association.

This year the Texas Safety Association and many McDonald's restaurants across the state are participating in the National Safety Council's "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" campaign which runs from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Many groups in Texas will be asking friends and neighbors to sign the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" pledge this summer. Many McDonald's restaurants in the state will be distributing pledge cards beginning June 20. Other groups such as the Texas Safety Association, safety councils in Dallas and Houston, private corporations and government agencies will also be participating in the program.

Gustafson said one major aim of the program is to encourage continuing use of seat belts. "Hopefully, after persons see how easy it is to use the belts, they'll continue wearing them," Gustafson said.

According to the Texas Safety Association 14,000 to 18,000 lives nationally could be saved yearly if all passengers in motor-vehicles wore safety belts at all times.

Gustafson said that safety belts are effective because they eliminate the "human collision" inside cars. "When your vehicle hits something, you as an occupant will continue moving inside the car after the car has stopped," he said, "then you'll have a second collision either with someone in the car or with something else in the car."

"Some persons mistakenly believe it's better to be thrown from the car in an accident, but being 'thrown clear' often turns out to be thrown into the path of an on-coming car, onto a cement street or against a telephone pole," he said. "In fact, statistics indicate that you are 25 times more likely to be killed if you're thrown from the vehicle," he added.

Persons who would like to encourage their friends and neighbors to buckle-up for safety are urged to participate in the "Make It Click - Drive Defensively" campaign. They can write to the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 9345, Austin, TX., 78766.

Harris Is New Minister At Christian Church

Phil Harris of Lake Charles, Louisiana arrived in Haskell last week to begin his ministry at the Christian Church in Haskell. Mrs. Harris and their two children, Sharon, 4 years old, and Stephen, 2 years old, arrived Sunday afternoon by plane from Lake Charles. Roy Pittman went to Lake Charles accompanied by James Lanier and W.L. Holt, who were to assist in returning Mr. Harris to Haskell with a U-haul. Mrs. Harris and the two children accompanied Mr. Pittman back to Haskell.

Mr. Harris is a graduate of Dallas Christian College with the Class of 1972 and returned for one more year of college after that. During his schooling at Dallas Christian College he represented the college nearly every weekend for 5 years with either singing groups or as a pulpit filler for congregations needing that service.

Among the churches he has served as minister are Antioch Christian Church, in Odessa, Atlanta Christian Church, Atlanta, Kansas, First Christian Church, LaMarque, and Kiamichi Mountains Christian Mission, Honobia, Oklahoma.

Mr. Harris says that his abilities and strength are in the area of preaching, teaching, calling on both the sick, bedridden and prospective members, working with the youth and music. The minister's job is first to evangelize the lost. Secondly, he is to exhort, rebuke and encourage the saints to remain faithful. This is done by trying to find a job for everyone in the congregation.

Mr. Harris is no stranger to Haskell since his father was minister of the church at Haskell in the 1950's and he is looking forward to renewing his old acquaintances, as well as making new ones.

The public is cordially invited to hear him at all of the services at the church.

Six Flags Attendance Shows Increase

Six Flags Over Texas has begun daily operation for the 1983 season following a spring run which saw attendance climb more than 8 per cent over last year's figures.

Through May 15, the last day of weekend-only operation for the spring, more than 461,000 visitors had passed through the theme park's turnstiles.

General Manager Ray Williams attributed the attendance spurt to new attractions and a new outlook on discretionary spending.

"Our new river rapids adventure, Roaring Rapids, and an all-new children's section, Pac-Man Land, have proven to be very popular," he said. "Our research indicates that the rapids ride, in particular, is bringing out some folks who haven't visited the park in years."

Williams said the general increase in attendance reflects a willingness on the part of many to turn loose of discretionary dollars which had been held back during financial hard times. "For one thing," he commented, "we're seeing a significant increase in the number of people who are traveling 300 miles or more to visit Six Flags. That would indicate to us that some money-delayed vacations are finally being taken."

Six Flags will be open daily through August 28, when weekend-only operation resumes for the fall season.

All Texans can proudly mark May 17 as an historic day for Texas Veterans. On that day Governor Mark White signed legislation which will implement the Veterans Housing Assistance Program once it receives voter approval.

The ceremony was attended by many legislators and representatives of veterans groups including bill co-sponsors Rep. Frank Tejeda (D-San Antonio), Sen. Lindon Williams (D-Houston), and Sen. Glenn Kothmann (D-San Antonio); Waggoner Carr and W. H. McGregor, the American Legion; Billie Dorris and F. M. Robinson, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Aubrey Bullard and David Stein, Veterans Affairs Commission; Dan Jordan and Bob Binder, Brotherhood of Vietnam Veterans; Jack Rains, Veterans Land Board member; and James L. Hall and R. H. Hargrove, Disabled American Veterans.

Last year one of the cornerstones of my campaign was my pledge to push for a Veterans Housing Assistance Program to complement the Veterans Land Program. Though many doubted it could be done, I insisted on making this a top priority of my administration. It was a promise I intended to keep to our 1.6 million Texas veterans.

Now that the legislature has passed the legislation with near unanimous approval and the governor has signed it, the bill will go to the voters for approval as a constitutional amendment on November 8, 1983.

The Veterans Housing

Assistance Program will be modeled after the successful Veterans Land Program. Texas veterans will be able to borrow up to $20,000 on a long-term, low-interest loan which may be used in conjunction with a loan from a private lending institution toward a home purchase.

The Veterans Housing Assistance Program is a model plan which will benefit both the veteran and private business without costing the taxpayer one penny. Existing lending institutions will join with the program in making loans to eligible veterans for home mortgages. No new government agency will be needed as the existing Veterans Land Program will only need to qualify the applicants as eligible Texas veterans. Private lending institutions will perform the loan transactions and necessary paperwork.

The Veterans Housing Assistance program will give veterans a choice between purchasing acreage or a home in an urban or a rural area. The housing program will stimulate construction of 25,000 new homes and generate another 45,000 new jobs within our state economy. It will be especially beneficial to the 525,000 Vietnam era veterans in Texas, many of which up until now have been frozen out of the housing market by high interest rates and escalating costs.

By creating the Veterans Housing Assistance Program, we will have a fine complement to the Veterans Land Program to meet the needs of contemporary Texas veterans and help them fulfill the dream of every Texan to own their own home.

I am confident that all Texans who share my belief that "we don't need to do the veterans a favor, just repay one" will join me on November 8 in making this program a reality for the 1.6 million Texas veterans.

Earn Tax Credit By Helping A Youth

Do you need summer labor in your business but can't afford it? Hiring a qualified youth could help you taxwise and could also help the youth earn some income.

Calendar-year taxpayers may claim a tax credit on their 1983 federal income tax return for 85 percent of the first $3,000 in wages paid to qualifying youth employees for any 90-day period between May 1 and Sept. 15, says Dr. Ashley Lovell.

This opportunity for helping youth and helping your business is the "Qualified Summer Youth Employee" provision of the Tax Equity and Responsibility Act of 1982, says Lovell, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

To qualify for the tax credit, the youth employee must:

- Perform services during the period noted above.
- Be age 16 or 17.
- Be a member of an economically disadvantaged family.

—Not have previously worked for the employer.

A designated local agency, the Texas Employment Commission (TEC), is responsible for certification of the youth's age and family economic status, notes Lovell. This information must be certified before the youth begins work. The employer will keep the approved certificate on file as a basis for completing IRS Form 5884, the jobs credit form.

To be classed as a member of an "economically disadvantaged family," the TEC will determine whether the youth's family annual income, based on the six months before the month of the hiring date, is 70 percent or less of the Bureau of Labor Statistics lower living standard.

Assuming an hourly wage of $4 and with the first $3,000 of wages qualifying for tax credit, the business could obtain 750 hours of labor from a qualifying youth, says Lovell. From the employer's tax benefit standpoint, the $4 hourly wage provides an income tax credit of $3.40, with the remaining wage of 60 cents deductible as a labor expense on Schedule C or Schedule F. The business cannot claim the entire $4 as labor expense but only the difference between the $4 and the $3.40 tax credit.

If a business cannot use all of the jobs credit in 1983, the excess can be carried back three years and forward 15 years, up to the tax liability limit for each year.

For more information on the Summer Youth Employee program and the accompanying tax credit, or advice on how to list your job openings and obtain referrals of qualified vouchered youth, call your local Employment Commission office, suggests Lovell. Refer to IRS Form 5884 or contact your tax advisor for additional details regarding the jobs credit provisions.

Superintendent's Six Month Texas Fire Statistics Reported Views

BY JAMES LANIER

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

The budgeting process for the school year 1983-84 has been slow in the beginning due to the uncertainties of the state wide economy and the legislative process. The administrative staff has been limited to simply making some general plans such as the bonded indebtedness, numbers of instructional personnel and general expenditures. One area we have been able to finalize a proposal is the Designated Purpose Fund. This is the fund through which we flow specialized State of Federal funding. Specifically, these are monies designated for a singular purpose. This included State and Federal monies for vocational programs and Chapter 2 monies for learning centers (libraries).

Among the expenditures from this fund are a work study program in Home Ec, our contracted part of the VEH program in O'Brien through the consortium, consultant fees for program and a share

Sons Of Hermann To Hold Meeting

A Father's Day gift will be given away to the oldest and youngest father attending the meeting.

of $1.00 Per ADA media at Service Center Region XIV. All these come under contracted services.

From this fund will also come monies for supplies in Home Ec and Agriculture to the tune of $4700, supplies for guidance of $210 and media (maps for classroom) $2000 from Chapter 11.

Among other expense is travel for Agriculture and Home Economics, $6500. One of the reasons for the size of this travel expense is the fact that our Ag teachers are very active on the regional and state levels. This is a great honor to these teachers and to the school but it does increase the cost of travel.

In the area of Capital Outlay is Chapter II library books and major items such as sewing machines and stoves for Home Ec. The total expenditures from the designated purpose comes to $21,178.

Since this is a flow through fund, we will balance out at the end of the year. That is, the revenues must equal the expenditures. These revenues will come from four sources as follows: State Vocational $3512, Federal Vocational $3431, Chapter II $6247, and Local $7738. We are also anticipating at least one student teacher which we will flow the $250 to the student trainer and school through this fund.

As the upcoming budget proposal for this coming year takes shape, we will follow the procedures of previous years of keeping you informed through this column. It is certainly in your interest to know how your tax dollars are being spent.

At least 72 Texans died and 599 were injured in fires during the last six months of 1982, according to statistics reported by 198 fire departments participating in the Texas Fire Incident Reporting System (TEXFIRS).

Lyndon L. Olson, Jr., Chairman of the State Board of Insurance, released the second report of the new TEXFIRS system operated by the State Fire Marshal's Office.

Property damage from fires was estimated at $62,494,213. Residential fires accounted for 62.5 percent of deaths, 55.9 percent of injuries and 47.6 percent of property loss. Improper cooking techniques were blamed for most home fires and injuries, but careless smoking caused more deaths and incendiary/suspicious fires more property damage.

Of all building fires, 84.6 percent of deaths, 84 percent of injuries and 82.7 percent of dollar loss occurred in structures which had no fire detectors.

Twenty-one percent of all the 32,000 fires reported were of incendiary or suspicious origin, and 17.6 percent of the total dollar loss was attributed to these incidents.

Fires of unknown cause, plus the incendiary and suspicious category, accounted for 46 percent of the total number and 44 percent of the dollar loss.

The TEXFIRS report, based on a uniform, computerized reporting system, summarizes the causes and characteristics of fires and fire-related deaths and injuries. More than 200 fire departments protecting nearly 40 percent of the Texas population now report to the system.

Some of the largest cities were not able to provide data for the six-months report. Most major cities either have developed, or are in the process of developing, systems compatible with TEXFIRS, however, and their statistics are being included as the system is expanded and refined.

"The TEXFIRS represents the first effort by a state agency in Texas to collect fire data continually in a uniform manner," said Olson. State Fire Marshal Ernest A. Emerson said TEXFIRS is a base of information which assists in detection of fire trends and development of solid information on the scope of the fire problem.

"This information will be categorized and correlated on a quarterly basis and returned to fire departments for local analysis," said Emerson.

"The data provides an excellent fire department management tool as well as necessary facts for conducting fire protection and public safety programs."

Further information about fires that occurred during the final six months of 1982 is available on request to the State Board of Insurance, State Fire Marshal's Office, 1110 San Jacinto, Austin, TX 78786.

Texas Farm Bureau Seeking Amendments

The Texas Farm Bureau is seeking amendments to the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1983 that would soften its impact on agriculture, according to TFB President S.M. True Jr.

In a message to leaders in TFB's 216 organized county Farm Bureaus, TFB asked that they contact their congressmen, urging them to vote for amendments to H.R. 1510, the House of Representatives Immigration Reform Bill. The Senate approved S. 529, its version of the bill, on May 18. H.R. 1510, as written, would include the following stipulations:

 —Employer sanctions in the form of heavy fines and/or prison sentences for any employer who "knowingly" employs an illegal alien. It would also require employers to keep strict records on all employees hired.
 —Does not include a workable guest worker or temporary worker program for agriculture.
 —Provides amnesty for those illegal aliens who entered the U.S. prior to Jan. 1, 1977, and have been here continuously since that time. Those entering the U.S. after 1977, but before January 1980, could apply for temporary resident alien status and apply for permanent status after three years. According to Ed McKay, TFB's national affairs director, the Farm Bureau is working to secure sponsors and votes for amendments to this bill. McKay said Farm Bureau is asking for a vote against the bill "if amendments are not adopted to correct the severe employer sanction provisions, or to provide a workable guest worker or temporary worker program for agriculture."

Education Spokesman Makes Demand For Special Session

A spokesman for the state's second largest education association said today that if a special session is not called before school bells ring next fall, then Texas teachers will know they have been deceived.

Mike Morrow, executive director of the 35,000-member Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), said, "If Governor White does not call a special session to find the money to fund adequately education in this state, then teachers will know that his campaign rhetoric was nothing more than empty boasts."
 "We have supported the governor's proposals and have looked to him for leadership, but he came with too little, too late. We also realize that he's never served in the legislature, and if he needs a few more innings to finish this game, we're ready to go to bat for him," Morrow said.
 "Education groups didn't draft their own tax bills because we were told that the governor was going to 'take care of the teachers.' He never got a tax bill introduced. We've learned again that promises alone don't produce results," Morrow said.
 ATPE president Sally

Wiedemann said that her association is not unrealistic and that in light of revisions in anticipated state revenue, ATPE would be willing to work with legislators on a reasonable salary increase. "Two percent a year for the majority of career teachers is an insult," Wiedemann said. She said that the present 9 percent increase has been misleading because only beginning teachers and those at the lower end of the salary schedule will receive the full benefit of the 9 percent increase.

TAX PLANNING

Written by James E. Rodgers, CPA

ESTATE AND GIFT TAX RULES

All estates in excess of $175,000 of total value should be reviewed in light of the benefits available under the Tax Recovery Act of 1981.

The most significant change in estate law will be the exemption from estate taxes for property transferred to your spouse at your death. This is effective for decedents dying after 1981. If you leave all your property to your spouse, regardless of how high the value may be, there will be no federal estate taxes. Since the second spouse's estate could be subject to considerable taxes, proper planning is necessary.

A second major change under the new law is the exemption from taxation for property regardless to whom it is left. The dollar amount increases up through 1987 as follows: 1983 - $275,000, 1984 - $325,000, 1985 - $400,000, 1986 - $500,000, 1987 - $600,000.

This means that a 1983 estate with a total value of $275,000 or less will not be subject to federal estate taxes even if the assets are left to someone other than your spouse. Likewise, a $600,000 estate will escape taxation in 1987. There are excellent planning techniques centered around these various estate exemption levels.

The 1981 law also provides better opportunities for making gifts while you're alive. Prior to January 1, 1982, the law permitted you to give $3,000 per year per donee, without creating a gift tax. The Tax Recovery Act of 1981 increased that level to $10,000. This means that a single parent could transfer $10,000 per year to each of his or her children. A married couple could transfer $20,000 to a child and if that child is married, they could double that gift for a total of $40,000 per year.

Sizeable transfers of family assets should be made as part of an overall financial plan with the assistance of professionals.

Summer Is The Season For Fleas

Summer is traditionally considered the season for blushing brides and budding trees. But if you are the owner of a dog or cat, it probably also means the season for fleas.

County Extension Agents say that in many parts of the country weather conditions have provided a fertile breeding environment for fleas, and that's especially true here in the Haskell area.

They say that special efforts are being made nationwide during June—National Pest Control Month—to alert people to major pest problems in their areas.

"Complaints from homeowners are common during spring and early summer, especially after a damp winter provides favorable conditions for the survival of last year's fleas." For that reason, now is a good time to check your pet as well as your home for fleas.

The most immediate problem fleas cause today (aside from the misery they cause to our pets) is their feeding on and irritation to pet owners. The human reaction to flea bites varies from small red welts to severe itching and rashes. They can be more than an annoyance, however. Certain species of fleas are capable of transmitting a variety of diseases from The Plague (or Black Death) to Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

Be comforted to know that there are several ways to deal with a flea problem. While severely infested pets will require treatment by a veterinarian, getting the pesky critters out of your home may require the help of a pest control professional. Treatment of the animal alone or the house alone will not eliminate the problem and your innocent pet may easily reinfest the whole house.

If you need professional help, look for a firm that is a member of the national, state or local pest control association. These are established businesses that, through their association memberships, have access to the latest technical information on chemicals, pests and treatment techniques.

The National Pest Control Association (NPCA) offers these tips for pest-proofing your home:

*Inspect your home, paying particular attention to the pet's resting area and carpeted areas;

*If you find fleas, wash the pet's bedding and vacuum rugs, furniture and baseboards;

*Remove and seal up the vacuum bag for immediate disposal;

*Have the pet treated by a veterinarian. A flea collar alone may not be adequate.

The National Pest Control Association's 2,500 members are devoted to encouraging effective pest management nationwide. For more information write Pest Control, Box 706, Dunn Loring, Virginia 22027.

Farm Bureau Urges Preservation Of Economic Recovery Act Of 1981

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau has called on Texas Congressman and Senators to help preserve reforms of the Economic Recovery Act of 1981.

In a letter to the Texas delegation in Congress, S.M. True Jr. said farmers are "deeply concerned about the apparent change in attitude in Congress toward solving the very real financial crisis which this nation faces."

True charged that Congress has abandoned attempts to achieve a balanced budget by cutting federal spending in favor of increasing taxes and allowing federal deficits to build at what he called an unprecedented rate.

The cotton and grain farmer from Plainview said Farm Bureau is concerned about reports that the House Ways and Means Committee is recommending repeal of the third year of the income tax cut scheduled to go into effect July 1; freezing the estate tax exemption phase-in at the present level of $275,000, and repeal of the indexing provision due to begin Jan. 1, 1985.

"We still believe that passage of the Economic Recovery Act of 1981 was a necessary economic adjustment to correct obvious financial inequities caused by excessive federal spending and the resulting inflation," True told members of the Texas delegation.

True said the "catastrophic consequences of the runaway inflation of 1978-1982 is still firmly impressed in our memory. We hope that we all learned from that painful experience, and that the current attitude of Congress will not result in a recurrence of that tragedy."

House and Senate budget committees have adopted First Concurrent Budget Resolutions for fiscal 1984. The resolutions are non-binding and do not require presidential approval. However, they do establish the fiscal framework or goals which Congress theoretically will try to follow in fiscal 1984.

SUNBELT SPECIAL REPORT

The largest of our Western sunbelt states, California, has a population of some 20 million, reports the Bureau of the Census. Other Western sunbelt states are Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado. The least populous of these is Nevada, with a population of under 500,000.

More and more Americans are moving to the sunbelt. Those who are careful can avoid the problems caused by too much exposure to the bright and sometimes intense sun. Too much of that sunshine can cause a skin condition called solar keratosis, which in some cases can become malignant if untreated. Doctors sometimes use a prescription medication available in cream or solution, made by Hoffmann-La Roche Inc. that is often applied to the skin with good results for people with solar keratosis.

The symptoms of solar keratosis include red, scaly patches usually on the back of the hands or on the neck or face. Anyone with such symptoms should see a doctor. Only a doctor can diagnose and treat you properly.

Educational Extension Available

Unemployed and underemployed Vietnam Era veterans may be eligible for an extension of their educational benefits, according to C.H. Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell County.

Modification of educational assistance legislation provides for the extension of the ten-year education eligibility period for certain veterans who may wish to pursue further vocational, apprenticeship, on-the-job training, or a high school diploma. For GI Bill training purposes, the Vietnam Era extended from August 5, 1964 through May 7, 1975. GI Bill training eligibility normally terminates on the date which is ten years after the veteran's discharge or release from active military service. Many veterans have reached that time when their entitlement has expired, yet they are not trained in any vocation where they can obtain and keep suitable gainful employment. These are the Vietnam Era veterans the VA is now trying to reach.

This benefit extension is aimed at putting unemployed and underemployed veterans into training or educational programs that will give them marketable skills so they can re-enter the work force of today.

To qualify for the extension, a veteran must have been unemployed or underemployed for six months or more, and in need of additional training or education to obtain a more stable job. Ending date for the extension is December 31, 1984.

Further information may be obtained from your local Veterans Service Officer.
