NOT SO SURE

Special Caution Urged With Schools Opening

The summer vacation will soon be over and thousands of youngsters will be starting back to school, many of those for the first time. Last year in Texas the pedestrian fatalities accounted for 732 traffic deaths according to Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

He said, "Motorists need to slow down as they drive through school zones and in and around school areas."

He added, "Those big yellow buses will also be back on our streets and highways, and Texas law requires the driver of a vehicle meeting or overtaking a school bus displaying red flashing warning lights that is in the process of loading or unloading passengers to stop until the school bus starts moving, the red lights are no longer flashing, or the bus driver directs motorist to proceed."

Cawthon said, "It is most important that drivers observe speed limits in school zones and the school bus loading laws for the protection of our children, because no one wants to be responsible for the death or injury of a young child."

Weinert ISD Will Begin Classes Friday

Weinert Independent School District will begin classes on Friday, August 19 at 8:30 a.m. Buses will run on a regular schedule that day, and lunch will be served.

New faculty members are Kelly

Perry and Kerri Urbanczyk. The following is a roster of teachers and other personnel:

Arts 7, Typing; Mary Murphy - First and Second Grades; Caron Yates - Third and Fourth Grades; Linda Stewart - Fifth and Sixth Grades, JH Girls P.E. & Coach; Jeanette Therwhanger - Special Education - all levels, Chapter I; Darlene Bellinghausen - English 8-12, U.I.L.; Kerri Urbanczyk - Vocational Homemaking; Russ Perry - Vocational Agriculture; Dickie Sloan - Math 5-12, JH Health; Mark Coffman - Social Studies 7-12, All-Level P.E., Basketball Coach for JH Boys, HS Girls and Boys; Karen Harlan - School Secretary; Brenda Hager - Special Education Aide; Georgia Turnbow - Teacher Aide; Andrea Estrada - Teacher Aide; Jeannie Forehand - Migrant Aide; Sarah Guess and Kathi Hutchinson - Lunchroom Workers.

Special Activities Set For Weinert Back-To-School

The Weinert community-wide Back-to-School Round-up will be held Mon., Aug. 22 at the Bulldog football field. Hamburgers will be grilled at 7:00 p.m. and the meal will be served at 8:00 p.m. Families are asked to bring meat, buns, chips, and dessert for their family. Tea and hamburger trimmings will be furnished.

All age levels will participate in such games as the Golf Cart Runaway, Water Balloon Drop, Slingin' Hash, Hop to It, and many more. Events will begin at approximately 8:30.

This annual event is for everyone in the Weinert community so come join in on the fun and food. The Back-to-School Round-up is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Weinert.

Rule Jubilee Activities To Begin Monday

Special activities for the Rule Jubilee will begin next Monday and continue through August 27.

A special display of china, oil paintings and some crafts will be open beginning Monday in the lobby of the Farmers National Bank. The show will continue until noon Saturday and all area artists are invited to display as well as buy and sell during the show. All interested persons are asked to contact Faye Dunnam at 997-2603 for more information.

Another special event during the Jubilee will be a flea market August 27 on the sidewalks of Rule. All space will be free and area residents are urged to make plans now to attend and participate.

A full day's activities has also been planned for the Jubilee and a schedule will be printed in next week's Free Press.

Registration Set For Haskell WTC Classes

Registration for the Extension Courses of Western Texas College in Haskell will be held from 6:30-8:00 p.m. on August 25 in the Haskell High School Library.

Courses on the fall schedule include Art 232, Art 239, English 131, Geography 131, Government 231, Human Development 111, Psychology 232.

Persons needing more information about courses offered at Haskell can contact Bill Blakley at 864-2891 or Dr. Ben Brock WTC, Snyder 915-573-8511.

HYH Get Acquainted Party Set

The Haskell Young Homemakers are planning a "Get Acquainted" night for Monday, August 22 at 7:30 p.m. The ice cream party will be held in the lovely home of Gaylin Langhofer, 1301 N. Ave. G.

All women, college-age to 35, are invited to attend to learn more about the club and enjoy an evening of fun and fellowship.

Please plan to attend and bring a friend!

Haskell Sales Tax Continues Strong

State Comptroller Bob Bullock today sent checks totaling $103 million in local sales tax payments to 974 cities that levy the one-percent sales tax.

"So far this year, we are just a little ahead of 1982 payments," Bullock said. "This is about where we expected to be by this time when we put out our revenue estimate for the state."

Bullock said seven of the 20 Texas cities that collect the most local sales tax—Houston, El Paso, Beaumont, Odessa, Abilene, Midland and Tyler—continue to lag behind last year's receipts. But the August payment to all seven showed they had gained ground since last month.

Houston got the biggest check, $19.6 million. Dallas received $11.6

Texas Research League Issues School Reports

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A complete analysis of area schools will be taken from the Texas Research League Report and published within the next few weeks.)

Texas increased spending on local public schools by $900 million last year, as trustees in 1,071 school districts adopted school budgets totaling $8.5 billion. That provided more than $300 in additional funds for each of the 2,678,000 students in the state, according to the Texas Research League.

State foundation school aid was upped by $345 million, but local property taxpayers were tagged for an additional $425 million to pay for the increase. The remainder was funded by increases in special state and federal aid programs and by higher local fees and other revenue.

The figures come from the latest issue of Bench Marks for 1983-84 School District Budgets in Texas, an annual publication of the League. The Texas Research League is a private, nonprofit, Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

School budgets adopted for 1982-83 called for spending $2,610.23 per student for current operations. Haskell ISD's budget provided for $2062.58 per student based on the 665 students in average daily attendance in 1981-82.

Locally, the Haskell ISD's tax levy was increased by 2.7 percent for 1982-83 as compared to a 14.8 percent increase for the average school district in Texas.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by Haskell ISD in 1981-82 was $15,157 which was 3.5 percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $17,537 per classroom teacher, or 20.6 percent over the minimum. The legislature further increased the state minimum schedule by $88 - $196 a month for 1982-83.

There was an average of one teacher for 14.8 students in Haskell ISD compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of 1 to 16.4. The pupil-teacher ratio is not the same thing as the average class size because teachers and students are not necessarily in class the same number of hours each day.

The report noted that the share of the total school payroll paid to classroom teachers has dropped from 73.4 percent of the total in 1969-70 to 60.4 cents of each payroll dollar last year as many more nonteaching personnel have been hired. Locally, classroom teachers were paid 74.0 percent of the school payroll in 1981-82.

The average school property tax rate in 1981-82 was $0.531 per $100 of market value (selling price) so that the school tax on a property selling for $100,000 was $531 in the average school district. Locally, the rate on market value in Haskell ISD was $.513 or $513.00 on a property selling for $100,000.

Applications Sought For Post Office

Applications for examinations for rural mail carrier positions will be accepted from August 22 to Sept. 2 according to Joe Alves, Postmaster.

Applicants will be notified as to the time and place of the examinations.

Following the examinations a roster will be prepared and successful applicants will be hired from the roster in the Abilene area.

Currently there are no positions open in the Haskell office according to Alves, but when a vacancy occurs, the position will be filled from the roster.

All interested persons are asked to contact Alves at the Haskell Post Office during normal business hours.

HHS To Hold Back-To-School Party Tonight

On Thursday, the 18th at 8:00 p.m. at the Haskell High football field, high school students and faculty are invited to come and compete against each other in such games as egg toss, tug of war and an obstacle. This is our last chance for fun and games before settling back down to school work. Ice cream will be served after the activities.

Rule Lions To Sponsor Turkey Shoot Aug. 27-28

Members of the Rule Lions Club will sponsor their second annual Turkey Shoot August 27 and 28 with proceeds going toward the renovation of the old railroad depot.

The shotgun only shoot will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday and will be held one mile south of Rule on the East side of the highway.

Prizes will be hams. Guns and shells will be available.

Retail Trade Committee To Meet Thursday

All Haskell merchants are urged to attend a special meeting of the Retail Trade Committee Thursday, August 25, at 10 a.m. in the Community Building of Haskell National Bank.

Those present for the committee meeting will discuss upcoming plans for special promotions and will finalize plans for the 1983 Christmas program.

Committee chairman Doris Phemister urges all retail merchants to attend and have input into these special promotions of the Chamber of Commerce.

Outlook For Technical Jobs Is Promising

By 1990, 75% of all new jobs created in industry will be technical jobs. These positions will not necessarily require a college degree, although some kind of specialized technical training beyond high school will be necessary. The technical education needed by persons who will fill the jobs of tomorrow is available today at Texas State Technical Institute.

Texas State Technical Institute in Sweetwater is one of four institutions in a statewide system of technical-vocational schools. For thirteen years, TSTI-Sweetwater has provided the educational background for persons interested in careers which do not require a college degree, but some other form of postsecondary education. Through the years, the course offerings at TSTI-Sweetwater have changed to keep up with a changing technical world. New programs have been added and old programs deleted or revised to make TSTI's curriculum as current as possible.

TSTI-Sweetwater offers fourteen program areas, ranging from traditional vocational programs such as automotive mechanics and building construction to technical programs such as electronic servicing technology and computer science. In 1984, new programs in robotics, industrial maintenance and computer maintenance will be offered.

The programs range in length from six to eighteen months. Completing an eighteen month program earns the student an Associate of Applied Science degree. Shorter programs of study earn the student a certificate of completion upon graduation.

Currently, TSTI offers air conditioning and refrigeration, autobody repair, automotive mechanics, building construction craftsman, computer science technology, diesel mechanics, drafting, electronic servicing technology, emergency medical services/paramedics, livestock and ranch operations, machine shop operations, technical office training, vocational nursing and welding.

Because TSTI's operating budget is appropriated every two years by the Texas Legislature, tuition and fees are kept as low as possible. A fulltime student at TSTI pays $90.50 per quarter for tuition and fees. Book and tool costs will vary according to the program.

On-campus housing is available in the form of apartments and houses which rent for $390.00 per quarter per student. A $100 deposit is required to reserve space in housing. Board plans range in price from $160 to $325 per quarter, depending on the number of meals per week the student desires.

To be eligible for admission, applicants must have a high school diploma or a G.E.D. and be at least 18 years of age. Applicants not meeting these qualifications should talk to an admissions counselor before continuing in the registration process. Applicants are required to take the Differential Aptitude Test before entering school. This exam is used to determine aptitude, and is not used to award or deny admission to any student.

Some programs, such as vocational nursing and emergency medical services/paramedics, have entrance requirements different from the general admission requirements. Special pre-entrance exams are required for both programs, and the nursing program has completed its testing process for the fall and is currently considering applicants. The final pre-entrance exam for the paramedics program will be given August 20 to registered emergency medical technicians only. Contact the respective department for complete admission details.

Registration for the fall quarter at TSTI-Sweetwater is September 6 and 7, and classes begin on the 8th. Fulltime students should expect to attend class approximately thirty hours per week. Classes usually meet Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. For further information on the programs TSTI offers or the registration process, contact the Public Information Office, TSTI-Sweetwater, Route 3, Box 18, Sweetwater, TX 79556, (915) 235-8441, ext. 278.

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Don:

Occasionally one is privileged to gain a deeper insight into how the good Lord takes care of us. I would like to share such an experience with your readers.

My Sunday night movie was interrupted by a phone call from a lady in Weinert who had been told of a fire at my place by a passing motorist. She also called the Weinert Fire Department for us. This extra few minutes permitted me to save my barn. Georgia called the Haskell Fire Department and they, as well as Weinert, responded much more quickly than I would have imagined possible. Several passers-by stopped to offer assistance.

What could have been a financial disaster and possibly even a life threatening situation amounted to a bit of excitement and a slightly singed stock trailer.

People of our community, we are blessed with professionally competent volunteer fire departments and, more importantly, a population that cares and is willing to get involved.

I have named no names for fear of omitting someone, but I am so very grateful for all of those who were involved.

Thank you,
Woody Turnbow

Haskell Nursing Center News

The Trinity Baptist Church was here Sunday for the worship service. There was a number of visitors for the devotion. The singing was enjoyed by all attending. The residents look forward to the preaching and the fellowship on Sunday. We truly appreciate the fellowship on Sunday. We appreciate the pastors and members that participate in bringing the message of God every Sunday to the sick and shut-ins. This brings a ray of sunshine and joy into their lives and hearts.

A group of ladies from the Methodist Church were here Tuesday morning for a devotion and singing songs of praise. Residents enjoy singing with others and the friendship expressed by the ladies in this meeting.

Residents, staff, friends and family gathered together Thursday night for entertainment and an Ice Cream Social. The Country Band members played and sang country and western songs for a large crowd of approximately 100 people. Volunteers helped furnish ice cream and cake for the family night affair. Joy Spalding, Mardell Roberson, Lucile Bradshaw, Marie Bartley, Sylvia McGee, Mrs. Harley Langford, Willie Mae Samplinton, Mrs. B.O. Roberson, Mona Gibson, Jodie Blocker, and Mrs. Opal Yarbrough furnished the refreshments. Everyone enjoyed the fellowship and music. A big thanks to everyone that had a part in the entertainment and bringing ice cream and cake. We look forward to more family type gatherings.

Friday morning Mrs. Nialene Hall brought a devotion and sing-a-long for residents. Colene Moody played the piano for the singing. Mrs. Overton was here Friday afternoon for a program of old time music favorites. Residents enjoyed the music.

Brenda Hicks and Shannon Olarred of Haskell visited Emmie. Bill Lott and Eula Perkins of Houston visited Minnie Dickey. Orman and Opal Yarbrough of Abilene visited Irene Yarbrough. Jammie Floy, Rusty Criswell, Richard Criswell, Bobby Baker, Amy Baker, Kevin Baker, Jackie Nix, John Nix and Dempsey Nail visited Bessie Hockett. Edna Adkins from Rochester, Bobbye and girls from Hamlin, Joy Spalding, Karen, Emily and Allison Roberson from Dimmitt, visited Mrs. T.L. Roberson and Mrs. Eva White. Bonnie Workman from Rule visited friends. Pamela Yarbrough, Mrs. Davis Duke,

Thelma Grinstead, Pete and Namona visited Lector Thomason and L.C. and Pauline. Malissia Long of Plainview visited Gertrude Roberson and Sammy White and brought peaches and cantalopes. Janis Roberson of Abilene visited Eva White and Gertrude Roberson. Vera Keel and Ila Corley visited Eva White and Mrs. Roberson.

Competition Is Cornerstone Of Texas State Fair

Competition is the cornerstone of the State Fair of Texas, and this year's exposition will salute thousands of Texans who are bringing handwork, hobbies, livestock and talents to be judged at Fair Park in Dallas from October 7-23.

Bannered a "Best of Shows" theme, the 1983 Fair will offer a broad range of entertainment and activities as a part of its low-priced gate admission program. The $3-adult/$1-kid's ticket entitles fairgoers to a full day and most-of-the-night outing that features parades, fireworks, livestock judging, commercial and cultural exhibits, ice shows, circus performances, outdoor concerts, street dances, celebrity appearances, the 1984 Automobile Show, museum exhibitions, the "Great Rock and Roll Time Machine" and more.

Spotlighted attractions requiring individual tickets include the Texas-Oklahoma college football classic in the Cotton Bowl on Saturday, Oct. 8; the 10th annual State Fair Rodeo in the Coliseum, Oct. 8-16; and the long-awaited Broadway hit, "Lena Horne:

the Lady and Her Music," in 18 performances at the Music Hall, Oct. 4-23.

Off-season construction projects have produced a new 1200-vehicle-capacity parking area inside the park's perimeter, expanded restroom facilities, a major ride addition on the Midway and a new home for the Creative Arts Department.

Housed in the familiar Women's Building since 1954, Creative Arts has moved this year to a larger and totally-renovated structure on the eastern side of the grounds near the Coliseum. More than 10,000 artists, craftsmen, gourmets, collectors and homemakers are expected to enter 14 competitive divisions and 21 contests to be judged before fairtime audiences. Fashion shows, lessons in country cooking, biscuit-making demonstrations and dance programs will be presented on a daily basis.

The Pan-American Livestock Exposition, Oct. 8-16, will feature top-quality purebred beef and dairy cattle, sheep, swine and goats as buyers and breeders from around the world gather to purchase stock and exchange ideas. Poultry, rabbits, sheep dogs, donkeys, mules and miniature horses will also be highlighted during the run of the Fair, and horse shows are scheduled for a variety of breeds including Tennessee Walking, Palominos, Paints, Arabians and Peruvian Pasos.

Fairgoers will be exposed to product and service displays of more than 300 exhibitors in addition to tourist-oriented presentations by foreign countries. A unique outdoor exhibit, new at the Fair in 1983, will be an F-16 fighter plane. Visitors will be permitted to inspect the interior and check out the instruments.

Coronation gowns from Texas festivals will be displayed at the Dallas Garden Center, and "Art in Fair Park" will be the focal exhibition at the Texas Hall of State. "Energy Phase I" will be spotlighted at the Science Place and "Animal Reflections" at the Museum of Natural History. The Aquarium and Age of Steam will also be open throughout the Fair.

Food and fun are at the core of the fairgoing experience, and 1983 visitors will be able to select from munchable and drinkable specialties at over 200 restaurants and concession outlets.

Skill games, shows and souvenir stands line the arteries of the 20-acre Midway. Sixty rides offer a wide range of stomach-churning, heart-pounding experiences. New this year are a giant loop coaster and the Texas Logjam, an exciting flume ride that transports passengers 730 feet up, over and along its watery course.

The Fair will open its gates at noon on Friday, Oct. 7, for a preview day, with the official opening parade and ceremonies scheduled the following morning prior to the Texas-Oklahoma game kickoff.

Hendrick Medical Center Obtains Electron Microscope

Hendrick Medical Center recently obtained a transmission electron microscope (TEM) for use in diagnostic medicine, announced B.B. Trotter, M.D., medical director of HMC's laboratory.

Since the 1930's the electron microscope has become an increasingly important tool in medical research, and more recently, diagnostic medicine. The electron microscope is useful in the diagnosis of disease, Trotter said, particularly the diagnosis of tumors.

When used as a diagnostic tool, electron microscopy is especially valuable because it allows pathologists to study parts of the cell that are not visible through use of the traditional light microscope, Dr. Trotter said. The additional in-depth information obtained through use of the electron microscope gives a more detailed look at the disease process.

One feature of the electron microscope that makes it vital to diagnostic medicine is its capability to magnify a specimen up to 250,000 times its original size, he said, while the light microscope can only magnify a specimen 1200 times its original size.

The TEM is similar to the light microscope in that it utilizes electrons in much the same way the traditional microscope uses light. With the electron microscope, the electrons actually pass through the specimen and strike a fluorescent screen. The TEM has a built-in camera that photographs the specimen, and that picture becomes the record for later study by the pathologist.

Because electrons must pass through the specimen, Dr. Trotter said the tissue samples must be cut extremely thin so they can be studied through the electron microscope. The instrument used in preparing the tissue sample, the ultramicrotome, has a diamond cutting blade, and slices the tissue about eighty nanometers in thickness. (A nanometer is one billionth of a meter, or .000000394 of an inch.)

Dr. Trotter said the specimens are placed in a vacuum tube that has been exposed to liquid nitrogen. The liquid nitrogen is used to keep the specimen cold and free from contamination.

The electron microscope, Trotter continued, works on the principle of fiber optics, the process by which thin, transparent fibers transmit light by their internal reflections.

"The striking thing about the electron microscope is its reliability and ease of operation," Dr. Trotter said.

The addition of the TEM to Hendrick's laboratory helps keep HMC up-to-date with current laboratory technology. Electron microscopes, according to Dr. Trotter, are traditionally found in larger hospitals that are located in major metropolitan areas or are associated with research institutions, such as medical schools.

He emphasized the importance of the electron microscope to Hendrick's lab by explaining that the medical center has become a reference, or referral, hospital.

"Specimens are sent to Hendrick from surrounding hospitals for various tests, and physicians from a 19-county area often refer their patients to Hendrick," Dr. Trotter said.

Many patients are sent to Hendrick for cancer treatment, he said, and cancer therapy is one area that has benefited from use of the electron microscope.

He continued, "Pathology, radiology, surgery and chemotherapy have become specialties at Hendrick, and the electron microscope is a necessary tool that complements those four healthcare service services."

Before HMC obtained the electron microscope the electron microscope diagnostic work done in cancer treatment had to be sent to hospitals that had access to an electron microscope, Trotter said. It often took several days or weeks to receive the results of the tests, he added.

Hendrick was able to purchase the microscope through generous donations to the Hendrick Medical Center Foundation. Dr. Trotter said the donors "are extremely supportive of Hendrick Medical Center and are active in its service."

Building Campaign Launched By Albany Old Jail Museum

With the help of the High School Football Team and the local chapter of the Junior Historians, The Old Jail Foundation and Museum of Albany has launched a campaign to build an extension to its present 1877 building.

As with most events in Albany the effort is a community one and in fact when the museum must move heavy sculpture it does use the football team. The Junior Historians on the other hand serve as docents and ushers for the museum's public events. Now they have combined (actually merged) for the Junior Historian boys are also football players) to become photography models for the Old Jail Foundation's brochure. They are shown moving a two thousand pound Jesus Morales granite sculpture and then standing in the middle of the land where The Old Jail Foundation intends to build its extension.

The rapidly growing permanent and substantial increase in expanded community commitments and visitors have made new galleries and additional advanced storage area necessary. According to Reilly Nail "The Foundation has had to delay the acceptance of important and valuable works until it has more and proper storage facilities."

Nail also announced that prior to the actual start campaign the Foundation received funds to buy the adjoining land and received as a gift the remaining land to complete the block. The Foundation has already received over $175,000.00 in funds toward the extension prior to beginning the campaign. The overall goal is $1,500,000 to increase the present endowment and provide funds for the new construction.

Arthur W. Weinman, AIA, is the architect for the project and the building committee members Marilynne H. Jacobs and Pat L. Jones of Albany, Majorie M. Rominger of Breckenridge and Maxine W. Perini of Abilene.

W. Ernest Chilton, Jr. of Fort Worth is the Chairman of

The Funds Committee whose members are Jon Rex Jones of Houston, James H. Cotter and John Huffman of Albany.

The Old Jail Foundation opened its doors in December 1980 and is housed in the first permanent jail in Shackelford County, an 1877 building now in the national registry of historic buildings.

The Old Jail Foundation is a not-for-profit corporation and has a 501 (c) (3) Internal Revenue classification.

74th Annual Field Day Set September 13

The progress of scientific efforts to help farmers and agribusiness solve production and marketing problems of the Texas High Plains will be demonstrated Sept. 13 at the 74th annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAEX) at Lubbock and Halfway.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and

Extension Center just north of Lubbock International Airport is the host this year, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of research at the station. The annual program alternates between the facilities here at Halfway, in cooperation with the High Plains Research Foundation.

Prior to the afternoon tours of research plots, newly completed research and educational facilities at the Lubbock center will be dedicated in ceremonies beginning at 10 a.m.

The field tours will begin at 1 p.m. and will feature four major stops, said Dr. Don R. Rummel, research entomologist at the station and the field day chairman.

The stops will highlight new techniques and products for weed control; development of new varieties to improve cotton fiber quality; the latest research on grapes, an increasingly important High Plains crop; and development of drought tolerant cotton to better utilize declining water supplies and reduce irrigation requirements.

Other features of the field day will be a display of computers and agricultural programs for computers, a tour of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory, and open house at the Texas Forest Service greenhouse and facility at the station.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the U.S. Department of Agriculture-Agricultural Research Service, and the Texas Forest Service.

Professional staffs of these participating agencies will be on hand to answer questions and discuss problems with agricultural producers, home owners and gardeners, Rummel said.

NRA Hunting Directory Available

With the opening of the 1983-84 hunting season fast approaching, more than 100 pages of current hunting information are available in the National Rifle Association's new Hunter's Planning Guide and Directory.

Previously sold as the NRA Hunting Annual, this new, expanded publication features the latest hunting information on a state-by-state basis. It has a wealth of information including game surveys, where to hunt, how to find local outfitters and taxidermists, and explanations of firearm and game regulations. Several detailed articles written by experts such as Olympic Gold Medalist Gary Anderson, on Basic Rifle Marksmanship, Equipment Selection, Unguided Hunts, Shooting Preserves, Hunting Trophy, and Game Dressing are also included.

The National Rifle Association, a leader in hunter safety and education for more than 100 years, produces this publication as one of its many services to hunters and sportsmen nationwide. The publication costs $4.00. Further information on the new guide is available from the NRA's Hunter Services Division, 1600 Rhode Island Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036 or phone (202) 828-6240.

Prepare Children For Hospital Stays

How can you prepare a child for a stay in the hospital? First of all, try to handle your own natural anxiety, suggest Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter. If you are very nervous or upset yourself, you may very well spread your fear to your child.

Tell the child about the hospitalization as soon as you know about it. Don't try to sugar-coat it by saying it won't hurt at all or that the hospital is a lot of fun. Be matter-of-fact about it. Present a realistic and honest description of what will happen in terms the child can understand. Encourage him to ask questions, to express his fears and feelings.

Do not try to eliminate all fear and anxiety in trying to eliminate fear of the unknown. Recent studies have shown that it is really better for a child to feel a reasonable fear of a different experience, than to be encouraged to suppress all anxiety.

Some advance worry prepares a person—whether a child or adult—for what lies ahead. It helps one build inner strength. Accurate information about what to expect, communicated to the child at his own level of understanding, and without parental anxiety, is the best preparation.

Explore, also, the policies of the hospital with regard to child patients. Can parents stay overnight? Can siblings visit?

Many hospitals provide tours for prospective child patients and their families. These tours usually include the pediatric ward playroom, a demonstration of what kind of bed the child will have, the call button and what it is for, and even the hospital gowns the children wear.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information about the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate for a free sample copy of the newsletter.

PAYROLL TAXES (Keep Them Paid)

Most holders of stock in a corporation believe that if the corporation fails, they have no further liability beyond their investment in the stock. Wrong! You could have additional exposure.

Creditors of a corporation are ordinarily barred from obtaining recovery from shareholders when the company goes under. In contrast to this, the Internal Revenue Service has a special regulation which imposes a personal liability upon "responsible persons" in their capacity as corporate officers who willfully fail to collect or pay in withholding taxes.

This special provision requires the responsible person to pay a "penalty" equal to 100% of the taxes due, and this obligation cannot be discharged in corporate or personal bankruptcy. The Internal Revenue Service does not have to pro-rate the liability over all shareholders; it can simply collect from the responsible person.

For example, suppose the income tax and FICA withheld from employees, including owner-employees, plus the employer's share of the payroll taxes are $25,000. The IRS can collect a total of $25,000 from a "responsible person" (usually an officer or shareholder of the corporation). This $25,000 is a penalty and is not deductible on your tax return.

When your company develops cash flow problems, using the IRS as a "banker" may not be a good idea. No one likes to see a company fail, but when a cash flow problem develops, consider owing open line creditors instead of the IRS.

To keep your unpaid payroll taxes from becoming uncontrollably high, consider depositing payroll taxes on each payday. It seems that payments in small amounts are easier to budget for. You may bypass the temptation to let this temporarily silent creditor grow to a balance that is impossible for the company to handle.

Everyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if he has a correctable loss.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Most hearing problems gradually get worse. An annual test will help you keep track of a progressive loss. No hearing problem of any consequence should ever be ignored.

Nation's First High-Rise Showcase Slated for Houston This Fall

HOUSTON, TEXAS . . . On Friday, September 30, the Greater Houston Unit of the American Cancer Society will join the American Society of Interior Designers in inaugurating "Designs for Living," one of the most ambitious and challenging projects ever conceived to raise funds for the fight against cancer.

Fifty-three outstanding ASID members have been selected by a jury of distinguished interior designers to create "Designs for Living: A Showhouse of Innovative Interiors," set in Houston's premier high-rise Four-Leaf Towers, designed by Cesar Pelli. The designers will join forces to transform seven of the prestigious condominium residences into a dramatic showcase of interiors, each a uniquely personal design response to today's diverse metropolitan lifestyles.

The most comprehensive effort of its kind, ever, "Designs for Living" will offer visitors a unique opportunity to experience the creativity of 53 leading ASID members while contributing to American Cancer Society programs and research projects.

The "Designs for Living" Showhouse will be open to the public for three weeks, from October 3 through 23, and will be inaugurated by a series of gala parties and weekend of September 30.

In addition to the Showhouse activities, a lecture series featuring some of this country's most respected names in the field of design, is planned for October. Among the confirmed lecturers are Mario Buatta, Karl Mann, Joseph Rosen, and David Jones.

Buatta, leading New York and international decorator and chairman of the New York Winter Antiques Show, has designed interiors for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II, and Henri Bendel President Geraldine Stutz, among others.

Mann is one of today's great innovators in the design field. His works are included in New York's museum of Modern Art and Washington's National Gallery, as well as 13 other museums around the country.

Rosen, 1982 "Designer of the Year," is renowned for his interpretive use of art in the interior environments of such clients as Xerox Corp., IBM, AT&T and the Houston law firm of Vinson & Elkins.

Jones is a noted Beverly Hills florist and garden expert whose clients include Betsy Bloomingdale, Nancy Reagan and the Beverly Hills Estate Gardens.

Coordinating the joint efforts of the ACS and ASID in producing "Designs for Living" are Hetta Heath, Harriet C. Coulson, ASID, and Darrell L. Dacus, ASID. Mrs. Heath, chairman of the "Designs for Living" committee, is lay vice president of the Houston unit of the American Cancer Society. She is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Visitors, of M.D. Anderson Hospital; President of the Women's Auxiliary, Houston Bar Association; and a member of the Executive Committee and Board of Directors, Society for the Performing Arts.

Harriet Coulson, ASID Showhouse committee co-chairman, owns a Houston interior design firm. She is a board member of the Texas Gulf Coast Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers and a past president of the Pennsylvania Chapter of ASID. Darrell Dacus, ASID Showhouse committee co-chairman, is past president, Texas Gulf Coast Chapter, and a current National Board member of ASID, representing the Texas Gulf Coast Chapter. He, too, owns his own Houston interior design firm.

Tickets to the Showhouse may be purchased at all Palais Royal stores, through the American Cancer Society office at 1102 Autrey, and the Four-Leaf office at 5100 San Felipe. General admission tickets are $6 prior to the Showhouse and $7 at the door. Showhouse times are Monday-Friday 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. For ticket information call (713) 960-9997.

Heather Turnbow Named Most Valuable Player

Heather Turnbow, age 12 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Turnbow of Abilene, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Turnbow of Haskell won the most valuable player award for outstanding pitcher recently during the United Girls Softball Association Tournament held in Abilene. Heather plays with Clyde All Stars Division II. Clyde nipped Midland 3-1 for the national title. She struck out 14 of the 21 batters faced in the game. She was also named to the All Tournament team at the National Tournament.

Wheat Variety Program Set Aug. 30 In Haskell

There will be a meeting, August 30th at 8 p.m. in Haskell with Al Alexander, Area Agronomist, on Wheat Varieties that are adapted to this area. Al is very informative on wheat characteristic and production. The meeting place will be announced at a later time.

This meeting is open to the public, which will be worthwhile and very informative.

You will need to pre-register by calling the County Extension Office at 864-2658 no later than Friday, August 26 by 5 p.m.

I will be using this column for the next few weeks to explain the 1983-84 budget and tax structure. I will try to explain the sources of income first. We receive funds from three sources: local, state and federal. I will attempt to discuss local revenues in this column.

We have several sources of local revenues. We have rentals on two houses, gate receipts for athletic and other co-curricular activities, interest on monies on time deposits, lunchroom receipts and ad valorem on personal and real properties. The taxes are the primary source of our local revenues. Properties are valued theoretically at 100% market value. The Board of Education takes this assessed value after exemptions and sets the tax rate to develop the needed revenues to provide a program. This year, we developed a problem on the assessed value. Our assessed value for the 1982-83 year was $78,227,000. This year, our assessed value dropped to $72,124,012. What caused this drop? These are several factors involved. One was the loss of farm implements by state law. Another reason for the loss was a supreme court ruling concerning the taxing of bank stock. This ruling against taxation of bank stocks cost Haskell ISD $1,533,000 in assessed value. Our mineral valued dropped from over $21,000,000 to $16,773,670. While we did have some new improvements to go on the tax roll; never the less, it is easy to see because of the loss in assessed value, the tax rate must go up to compensate for that loss. In fact, in order to raise the same monies by taxes as the 1982-83 school year we would have to have a tax rate of $ .75251. Because of some additional state monies and even tighter budgeting than in previous years, the board set a tax rate of $ .74 which will raise less monies than last year.

Does this mean that Mr. Taxpayer will be paying less money than last year? No, it does not. Because of the loss of assessed value and properties the rate is up on the remaining values $.05. Why the increase? We have cut budgets down to the very bare minimum and simply must have this much revenue in order to operate.

How much money do we raise locally? Ad valorem taxes will develop $532,800 based on 100% collection. We are anticipating approximately $2000 from rentals, approximately $3000 from interest, approximately $20,000 from gate receipts from co-curricular activities and approximately $43,080 from lunchroom receipts. These figures are based on experiences from previous years. This makes a total anticipated local revenue figures of $600,880. This amounts to approximately 40% of the total budget. The remainder of the revenues comes from the state and federal sources which we will cover in the next column.

Researchers Recover Corn Protein Before Alcohol Production

COLLEGE STATION — Research at Texas A&M University on removing food proteins from corn before it is processed into ethanol may do much to silence critics who say food is being sacrificed for fuel.

"Our concept is to take the food protein out before the fuel production process and we don't believe it will impair the efficiency of alcohol production," said J. T. Lawhon, co-investigator on the project with Dr. John Sweeten, an agricultural engineer.

"Controversy and increasing concern are being expressed over the use of corn and other food crops to produce fuel-grade alcohol," he said.

Presently, Lawhon said, corn is fermented to make ethanol and the residue, called stillage, goes for animal feed. Proteins aren't used in producing ethanol, but are damaged in the process, making them less beneficial for food use.

"Recovery of corn protein before alcohol production and marketing it as a food ingredient rather than a feed ingredient could considerably improve the overall economics of the alternate-fuel operation," he said.

State Ag Commissioner Requests Drought Aid

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John Block's refusal to act on relief requests from drought-stricken West Texas ranchers has caused the worst economic crisis for that area in 30 years, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower charged at a news conference Wednesday in the U.S. Capitol.

Accompanied by Texas Farmers Union president Mike Moeller and two ranchers from the drought area, Hightower urged the Department of Agriculture to implement three steps to keep hard-pressed farmers and ranchers from bankruptcy, including one action Hightower said would actually save taxpayers money.

Hightower's three recommendations included federal disaster payments to drought area cotton farmers whose crops did not come up due to the lack of moisture in the ground, activation of the Emergency Feed Grain Program to give cattle, goat and sheep ranchers a subsidy of up to three cents a pound on the purchase of feed to maintain livestock which normally would be grazing on the now parched range land, and release to the ranchers of 17.5 million bushels of deteriorating corn in storage in West Texas since the 1980 Russian grain embargo.

The 17.5 million bushels represents only the poorer quality corn in storage, Hightower said, and is less than half of the 43 million bushels being stored at an annual cost to the government of $5 million.

"USDA has assured the corn and sorghum producers associations that it would not release that grain on the local market, which would unfairly depress the price," Hightower explained, "so it's just sitting there and deteriorating. We have visited with Carl King of the Texas Corn Growers Association and Elbert Harp of the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Association, and they are very supportive of our proposal to release that corn as long as it's not for resale but only goes to the ranchers in the drought area to keep their own livestock alive. And releasing the corn would save the taxpayers the cost of storing it."

On July 15, Block refused a request by Hightower and Gov. Mark White to implement the Emergency Feed Grain Program, but said he "would keep a close watch on the situation and if the drought expands and becomes more serious, we will again consider the need...."

At Wednesday's news conference in Washington, Hightower displayed a bag of West Texas dust collected that morning in Martin County. "It doesn't get any more serious than this," Hightower said, "or any dryer. And this area is bigger than the state of Pennsylvania. How much does it have to expand to get Secretary Block's attention? Since Gov. White and I first called it to Block's attention on June 21, dozens of ranchers have gone out of business because they simply couldn't afford to feed their livestock, and the survivors have been forced to liquidate 50-60 percent of their cattle and 70 percent or more of their sheep. Timely action could have prevented that. If Secretary Block is willing to act now, he can prevent the total devastation of the ranching industry in that area. If our ranchers don't get help in the next month or so, the cattle herds will be reduced by 90 percent and the sheep industry will be virtually wiped out."

"The livestock out there is specially bred to survive that arid climate, and if the foundation herds have to be sold off, it will take years to rebuild them. For a lot of ranchers, it's already too late. The survivors deserve our help."

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

Farm Credit

Here are a few tips you may find helpful in securing credit for your farm operation.

Make sure you use the right kind of credit. Expenditures for land, buildings, and major expenses of livestock and machinery should ordinarily be financed with a long term amortized real estate mortgage. Your short term credit will then be available for operating purposes. Financing long term debts with short term notes can be expensive and dangerous if it overtaxes your ability to repay and results in a series of renewals.

A sound farm loan should increase the net income of your farm business by increasing its output or improving its efficiency. Helping you be more successful with your farm operation is why we're here.

Texans Want More Conservative Legislature

According to a recent poll, Texans want the next session of the state legislature in Austin to be more conservative compared to more liberal, Dick Collins, President of the Texas Foundation for Conservative Studies (TFCS), said today.

The TFCS, a conservative policy research and education organization, commissioned the survey. One of the questions was to find out Texans' opinion on the state legislature.

The survey was conducted by Arthur J. Finkelstein and Associates and is accurate within  $\pm 4\%$  at the 95% confidence level.

According to Collins, 42.1% of the Texans surveyed want the next session of the legislature to be either a lot more conservative or somewhat more conservative, while only 24.7% wanted it to be a lot more or somewhat more liberal. Twenty-one percent of the Texans wanted it to remain ideologically the same.

"The support for a more conservative state legislature cuts across party lines," Collins said. "Among those Texans who called themselves Republicans, 54.4% favored a conservative shift in the legislature compared to 16.5% who wanted a shift to the left.

"Among Texas Democrats,

40.6% wanted a more conservative legislature during the next session, while 28.3% wanted a more liberal session. Texas Independents favored a more conservative legislature to a more liberal one by a 33.7% to 27.2% ratio," Collins said.

Collins noted that there were some differences by geographical areas.

"By large margins, people in Lubbock, Amarillo, Austin, Waco, Temple, Beaumont, Port Arthur and East Texas want a more conservative legislature during the next session. Nowhere in the state was support for a more liberal legislature greater than support for a more conservative one.

"This clearly indicates that Texans want conservative government out of Austin. Liberal policies out of the state legislature clearly would not find support among Texas voters anywhere in the state," Collins said.

The TFCS has this year published studies on state spending and bureaucracy, crime victims' restitution centers, state severance taxes on oil and gas, and the Texas prevailing wage law.

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University agricultural engineers are developing an automated tractor system that could tell a farmer when to slow down or even shift gears to conserve fuel.

The research conducted by Texas A&M's Agricultural Engineering Department is part of an effort to help farmers improve energy efficiency, reduce their costs and lower consumers' grocery bills.

The researchers are connecting a complex network of sensors to a tractor for measuring such things as fuel flow, forward travel speed and the amount of power that's being produced.

Kenneth Felker

Kenneth Felker, 61, of Lake Kiowa, formerly of Haskell, died at 10:45 p.m., Tuesday, August 9, at Medical City Hospital in Dallas. Services were at 4 p.m. August 11 at Whaley United Methodist Church in Gainesville, under the direction of Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home.

The Rev. David Kittrell, pastor, officiated. Burial was at Hood Cemetery in Hood.

Born Aug. 16, 1921, in Brushy, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Felker. He married Helen Gregory in 1943. He was a veteran of World War II and served in Europe. For many years he worked with the youth of Haskell as baseball manager and took several teams to state playoffs. He was also active with the Methodist Youth Fellowship. He was a retired restaurant owner and operator. He was the former owner of the Texas Cafe and later Felkers Restaurant in Haskell.
