Haskell Sales Tax Shows 20% Increase Over 1983

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $44.6 million in local sales tax payments to the 980 cities that levy the one percent city sales tax.

"These checks are up a whopping 39.5 percent over last January's payments," Bullock said. "A big part of that increase came because 15,000 taxpayers who previously only paid taxes four times a year started paying every month and we got their money back to these 980 city halls that much quicker. But some of the increase is due to the economic recovery we're seeing in Texas."

Bullock explained the 15,000 quarterly taxpayers were converted to monthly payers as part of a program of the last Legislature to get more money into the state's coffers without increasing taxes.

Houston received the largest check—for $8.2 million—up 28 percent over $6.4 million last January. Dallas' payment was $5.4 million, 33 percent more than the $4 million payment in January 1983.

San Antonio's check for $2.5 million was a 50 percent increase over the first payment in 1983. Austin received $1.9 million, up 61 percent from the $1.2 million last January.

Fort Worth's payment of $1.6 million was 33 percent more than the $1.2 million this time last year. El Paso received $1 million dollars, 41 percent more than January 1983.

Bullock also sent checks to the Metropolitan Transit Authorities in Houston and San Antonio. Houston received $9.5 million, up 31 percent from last January. San Antonio received $1.4 million, a 45 percent increase over the January 1983 payment.

January checks were for taxes collected on sales made in November and reported to the Comptroller's Office by December 20.

Students must submit their essays no later than March 1, 1984, to a panel of teachers and administrators for school-wide judging. Regional winning essays, for grades 9-12, are selected by teacher representatives, curriculum specialists, and the director of one of 20 Texas Education Agency regional service centers.

Brush and Palette

This column is intended to be helpful to area artists in solving problems. I try to give you at least one method of approach but quickly admit that there may be others. This is one of the nice things about art—there are many ways to go about it and you can choose the way that suits you best. This is part of your self-expression.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good"—so we have always heard. I am thinking of the denuded trees awaiting the breath of Spring to burst forth their new foliage. Artists can reap the harvest at this time of year as we have the leaves and all. If you look closely and try to see beauty, there is a rather nice grey color to it, also.

Q. How can I add interest to my skies? I am so tired of blue ones.

A. I am so glad to get this question. So many viewers opportunity to study the structure of the tree, limbs and whole branches, some mention "those baby blue skies". If you will notice, every color and every kind of cloud formation can be seen in the sky from time to time. Try using something different in the way of color. Try Viridian Green with a breath of Cerulean blue or Prussian Blue and White. Naples Yellow and white makes an interesting sky. Vary the sky area with a breath of pink at the horizon. Hazy skies may be made using complementary colors to produce the grey, using white of course. Keep the sky soft and clean, not over-mixed into nothingness. A sky is usually darker at the top of the picture and lighter at the horizon.

Q. How do you paint the old wood one's seen in ancient barns and houses?

A. Any light grey will suffice for the basic color. Remember to use your complementary colors to produce either a warm grey or a cool grey. Of course you can use black and white or a grey out of the tube—but it will not be an artist's way of doing it. Use a darker grey in the shadows, adding some Burnt Sienna for color here and there. Yellow Ochre and white makes a good sunlight. In some of our neighboring states, old wood turns a beautiful light chocolate brown, wonder why?

HINT: Draw, draw, draw something every day. Right now one of those bare trees would be interesting—try it!

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Don't Let Cold Stop Exercise Program

Cold, rainy weather can tempt even the most devoted exercisers to skip their daily walk around the block.

"When you skip one day, especially if you've been on an exercise program for only a short time, it just makes it that much easier to quit altogether," says Dr. Mary Ann Huessner, a health education specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

People with some types of health problems such as angina or other heart conditions should stay out of the cold. But most people who exercise outdoors will find it a benefit, she says.

Cold weather is the safest in which to exercise, as long as you dress properly, because it keeps the body from overheating.

For cold weather exercise wear loose clothing in layers and a cap of some sort since as much as 30 percent of body heat is lost from the head, advises the specialist.

Regardless of the temperature, brisk walking is the best exercise. If it gets too cold, find an area inside to walk, says Huessner. Malls are a good place to walk, especially since many are almost empty during weekday mornings. If there isn't a mall nearby, try the school gym, or the recreation area at your church.

If you must stay indoors, try running or walking in place or even skipping rope. But keep in mind that most indoor exercising is boring and harder to stick with because of the confinement.

If you gained a pound or two over the holidays, exercise is the healthiest and easiest way to return to your regular weight and stay there. Don't give into the cold, stick to your exercise program.

Overcoming Hepatitis Requires Bed Rest

Hepatitis is a powerful liver disease that can leave its victims in bed for weeks or months.

Caused by viruses, the three main kinds of hepatitis are A, B, and "non-A, non-B" says the Texas Medical Association.

They have similar symptoms that can include jaundice (yellowish color in the skin or white of the eyes), weakness, loss of appetite, nausea, brownish or tea-colored urine, stomach discomfort, and whitish bowel movements.

To help prevent permanent liver damage, a person who is jaundiced or has any of the other symptoms of hepatitis should see a physician. Hepatitis has no specific medical treatment except bed rest, and alcohol consumption is prohibited during the disease.

The hepatitis A virus can be passed on to anyone who handles anything contaminated by an infected person's blood or bowel movements. This type commonly occurs among children and young adults. Symptoms usually disappear gradually after four to six weeks. Chances of complete recovery are excellent, and a person who has hepatitis A will never have it again.

Common sources of hepatitis B are unsanitary needle punctures from acupuncture, tattooing, and drug injections; blood transfusions; and sexual contact. Hepatitis B is more severe and lasts longer than hepatitis A. In this country, about 10 percent of those with hepatitis B develop chronic liver disease.

The non-A, non-B virus, discovered in 1975, appears to spread through sexual activity and contact with infected blood, particularly in transfusions. Its symptoms are often milder than those of hepatitis A and B, and it often causes chronic liver disease. If a person catches hepatitis, members of the household should practice sanitary health habits to prevent its spread. They should not touch contaminated bowl movements, and should wash their hands after using the restroom. Taking such precautions, they can share toilet facilities and dishes with the infected person. Clothing and bed covers require special handling only when visibly dirty, and a germ-killing detergent should be used.

Study Club Members Visit Local Library

The Progressive Study Club met in regular session at 7:30 p.m., January 5, with Mrs. Mike Harrell, first vice-president, presiding. Since the theme was community education, the meeting was held in the Haskell County Public Library. Mrs. Harrell quoted, "If you're planning for a year, sow rice; if you're planning for a decade, plant trees; if you're planning for a lifetime, educate a person."

Members donated books and periodicals. Mrs. Harrell introduced Mrs. Elsie McGee, who has served as county librarian for twenty-eight years. Mrs. McGee thanked the members for bringing their children and grandchildren to the library and also for the donated materials and invited the members to browse through the library.

During the business session minutes of the November 7, 1983, and December 1, 1983, meetings were read and approved. Mrs. Elbert Johnson, treasurer, presented the financial report, which covered from September until December 31, 1983. The report was adopted as presented. The constitution was read by three members.

Sandwiches and hot punch were served by the hostesses, Mrs. LeRoy O'Neal, Mrs. Lucile Gannaway and Mrs. C.A. Thomas, Jr.

Rural Fire Service Being Studied

With rural areas of Texas continuing to experience population growth, fire protection is a growing need and concern.

Special study groups have been organized to look at the rural fire service situation in the state, points out Dr. James Mallett, community development program leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Key areas of study include developing a resource guide to rural fire protection, developing a complete list of all fire departments in Texas, and promoting educational programs and materials on fire protection for use by school systems.

Texas agency officials will head these studies. Charles Page with the Texas Engineering Extension Service will chair the resource guide committee. Ron Waters, executive manager of the Firemen and Fire Marshals Association of Texas, will chair the fire departments survey. Bill Quinton with the Texas Education Agency will spearhead an effort to boost the use of fire protection educational programs in public school systems.

These study areas were initiated at a recent Rural Fire Symposium at Texas A&M University hosted by the Extension Service for other agencies interested in rural fire protection.

Key topics of discussion during the symposium centered on the rural fire service situation in Texas, fire service regulations and their administration, resources and assistance available to rural fire departments, and an analysis of rural fire service in the state.

Discussion groups developed recommendations related to fire prevention incentives, coordination and communication among fire service agencies and organizations, the need for a resource guide for rural fire departments, and fire educational programs for rural areas.

Rural fire protection is an issue of critical concern over much of Texas and often involves the work of local community development committees and county Extension agents, notes Mallett. Such groups can play a key role in educational efforts and in identifying rural fire protection resources.

Donnie Carriker, with the Texas Department of Community Affairs, is responsible for planning the 1984 Rural Fire Symposium.

Maidens Defeat Stamford 49-37

By Jennifer Davis
The Maidens will play their third game of district against Monday at 6:30 p.m. Friday. In recent action, the Maidens defeated Stamford 49-37. Leading the Maidens was Jennifer Davis with 15. Also, the Maidens played Throckmorton, defeating them 43-30. Leading the Maidens was Tamala Randle with 10. During the Christmas holidays the Maidens participated in the Haskell Tournament sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Teams participating in the girls bracket were Eula, Hawley, Cisco, Eastland, Knox City, Wylie, Rule, and Haskell. In the first round of play, the Maidens were defeated by Eastland 35-43. Leading scorer was Denise Young with 12.

"We let some small details bother us to the point that our press didn't work. I think we were not in the type of shape we should have been to press the way we needed to," Coach Jim Bob Mickler said.

In the second round action the Maidens defeated Cisco, 39-32. Leading the Maidens was Randle with 19. "Offensively and defensively we finally found some continuity. The press worked, and our transition game looked good," Coach Mickler said. The Maidens lost against Hawley in the consolation game 30-71.

Leading the Maidens was Julie Roewe with 6. "We were simply out classed. The Beasley girl, all-area last year controlled the game and our rebounding was nonexistent," Coach Mickler said.

Still not being able to win, the Maidens dropped by Stamford 36-38.

Leading scorer was Kathy Kemp with 12. Also, the Maidens lost their first district game to Seymour 21-43.

Leading the Maidens was Holli High 5.

"I was disappointed in that the shots we needed to hit just weren't dropping. Defensively we played well against their more talented people, but ended up getting out rebounded underneath," Coach Mickler said.

The Maidens played Rotan Tuesday night but scores were unavailable at press time.

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

To the people of the City and County of Haskell: Due to the recent indictment handed down by the Grand Jury, I feel it necessary as a public servant to make this statement not only on my behalf but on behalf of every other peace officer. This has not only hurt me as a peace officer but every other officer in the performance of his duty.

First, to those who made the decision, I have no hard feelings. I believe you thought you were doing what you felt was the least you could do to chastise me and I thank you for your good intentions, but when a peace officer is involved there is no "in-between". He is either doing his job or not. If he was performing his duty then every other peace officer is on trial with him. A charge against them regardless how small makes them very vulnerable.

I was told when I came to Haskell by many people that they could not really depend on the law officers here to come when they were needed and many times when they did come it was too late. I could not understand how anyone, especially a person who is supposed to be a servant of the people could ignore or be unconcerned about a cry for help. After three years here, I understand.

Peace officers must make instant decisions. They usually don't have time to weigh the pros and cons in an explosive situation. Most of the time on disturbance calls, he must trust solely his instincts. He can't even take the time to decide what his best course of action will be. He must act instantly or he may not get another chance. Hesitation can mean someone's life including his own. When dealing especially with drugs and alcohol he is not dealing with reasonable or sensible people, therefore he never knows what to expect.

In recent years the laws have been made to protect the criminal and not the law-abiding public. Due to this, every law officer has a fear of when the time will come that he will have to hurt someone bad or even worse. He knows that time will come if he does his job. He knows regardless if his decision was necessary or not he will be considered "guilty until proven innocent", especially if it was done to protect his own life. More officers are killed in disturbance calls than in any other because so many times the very one he is trying to protect will turn on him. If the people do not stand behind the law officers in the performance of their duties then those officers not only stand alone but his hands are tied.

Because of this indictment though small as it may be, everytime an officer goes on duty he is laying his life on the line because there will come a time when he may hesitate in his actions for fear of making the wrong decision and of being charged with a crime himself when all he was trying to do was protect someone else and still live through it himself. That hesitation could cost him his life. No dedicated officer is out to willfully hurt anyone, but they are not "baby sitters" either! It is not a game! He must protect the law abiding citizen yes, and sometimes even the crooks.

I said all that to say this: I had considered running for the office of sheriff of this county but due to the indictment, I feel I cannot. I have given it a great deal of thought. My only motive being to try and bring good law enforcement to Haskell County. I have tried to be the best of my ability to be an officer that the people of Haskell could trust and depend, but I need to be able to trust you too! I know there are those who do appreciate what I have tried to do since I have been here but no one can fight the criminal on the streets with one hand and then have to fight the local judicial system with the other. One person can't make a difference without help and support where it counts. Don't get me wrong our country has a wonderful judicial system but it is only as honorable and trustworthy as those who control it. I now understand the action of some of the law officers in this county. They are (excuse the expression) "damned if they do and damned if they don't".

It was my intentions to make Haskell my home and make it as safe as I possibly could for the people and my family. I am not sure I can do that now. I cannot perform my duties without being able to trust in your support. It is too dangerous. I have been told to "back off" and not try so hard but in all honesty I can not. I must either do my job the best I can or quit. I feel I have done my very best since I have been here and am not ashamed of any of my performances of that duty, but I have now been left vulnerable.

I would like to challenge you the people of this country to stand behind your law officers. You have some good officers if you will get behind them. They can only be as good as you allow them to be. Be careful who you choose to fill your public offices. They are very powerful positions. They need to be filled with people who are dedicated and honorable, who are interested in the job and will do what is best for all the people. I realize these jobs are not easy to perform and when done right, there is not much glory but a truly dedicated person will do what is best for all people regardless of the consequences to himself.

Consumer Alert

by
Jim Mattox
Attorney General

AUSTIN—It has come to my attention that a powerful cancer-causing agent has been found in some grain-based grocery products bought here in Texas.

According to the Texas Department of Agriculture, the carcinogen Ethylene Dibromide (EDB), which is used to control weevils and nematodes, was found in grits and cornbread mix bought in two Brenham grocery stores.

EDB was found in similar tests performed by the Florida Department of Agriculture in December. As a result of those tests, the state of Florida took a number of products off the shelf in that state. Florida health standards allow less than one part per billion of EDB in products for human consumption.

In tests done by the Texas Agriculture Department, some grain products were found to contain as much as 90 parts per billion of the chemical. However, since the federal Environmental Protection Agency has set no standard for this carcinogen in food, it remains on our shelves.

There is no need for public panic over this situation. However, you as a consumer have a right to know about what products may contain a dangerous substance and to choose whether you want to buy them.

The Grocery Manufacturers of America, a lobby group for food processors, believe that the products are safe for consumption. But at this point, it is really difficult to know.

Here is a list of the products which were found to contain EDB, with the level of the chemical (in parts per billion, ppb) found in the products tested in Texas:

- Jim Dandy Quick Grits (90 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Corn Muffin Mix (8.3 ppb);
- Martha White Buttermilk Cornbread Mix (12 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Cornbread Mix (15 ppb);
- Martha White Yellow Corn Meal (41 ppb);
- Olde Tyme Food Yellow Cornbread Mix (9.6 ppb);
- Olde Tyme Jalapeno Cornbread Mix (8.4 ppb);
- Martha White White Corn Meal (41 ppb);
- Martha White Mexican Cornbread Mix (15 ppb); and
- Martha White Corn Muffin Mix (15 ppb).

State Reaches Oil Settlement

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro today said the settlement reached in the Mobil Oil lawsuit "will have a tremendous economic impact on the state and will be of enormous benefit to all Texans."

Commissioner Mauro praised the efforts of Attorney General Jim Mattox to arrive at a settlement that "would be of maximum benefit to the state" and said that the settlement "would not have been possible without the full cooperation of Mobil Oil."

The settlement provides that Mobil Oil will assign all interest it has in the 14,720 acres of Relinquishment Act Land at issue to the State of Texas. This acreage contains 47 producing oil wells and 6 producing gas wells with a gross income of $3.9 million a year.

As a result of today's settlement, the state's income on this lease will increase from $21,000 a month to approximately $350,000 a month.

In addition to the lease, the state will also receive over $2 million in drilling and production equipment now on the lease.

"I insisted Attorney General Mattox settle this dispute as quickly as possible to prevent the state from losing additional revenue as a result of further delays,"

Mauro said the state was losing over $12,000 a day for every day the settlement was delayed and that Exxon's intervention had already cost the state over $180,000 in lost revenue.

Mauro said that after studying his staff's recommendations on the potential mineral reserves on the lease, he was convinced it was in the state's best interest to proceed with a settlement. "The settlement allows us to move forward and get these 53 active, producing wells in our inventory. Our geologists have concluded that the recoverable oil on this lease could bring the state an additional 8.5 million barrels of oil over the next 35 years."

"There is just too much money at stake to wait until we have a third party assignee for the lease. Now we'll be able to sit down, take our time in negotiating a third party agreement and then hammer out the best possible deal for the Permanent School Fund and the people of Texas."

"The settlement also leaves us in a strong position to enter into tough negotiations with Exxon and Manges over how we share in any future proceeds from the state's land," Mauro said.

Jack Giberson, Chief Clerk for the General Land Office, said he was pleased with the outcome of the negotiations.

"Commissioner Mauro and Attorney General Mattox have brought this case from an initial 'best offer' of 6200 acres of non-producing land to a lucrative 14,720 acre settlement for the state. Attorney General Mattox deserves congratulations for this timely settlement."

Mauro said his field inspectors have already arrived at the lease with instructions "to make sure our inventory is secure and to guarantee that production is continuing uninterrupted on state land."

Texas Savings Bond Sales Up 28 Percent

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds during the period January through October 1983 in Texas amounted to $223,485,458, an increase of 27.5 percent over the same period a year ago, T.J. Morrow, District Director for the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, announced today. These sales represent 99.5 percent of the state's 1983 assigned dollar goal of $224,700,000.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $2,289,000 during October 1983, for a total of

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Congress and the Administration must join, and quickly, in a bipartisan effort to reduce the federal deficit. It would be a serious mistake to postpone action on the deficit until after the elections. Never before has the federal budget been so far out of balance. There's no question but what our economy will have to pay the piper and the longer we wait before coming to grips with this problem, the higher the price will be. The national debt now stands at nearly $1.4 trillion or some $6,000 for every man, woman and child in this country. The debt is growing these days at the unprecedented rate of some $200 billion every year. The latest Congressional Budget Office figures show that deficit projections have increased considerably. If our budget problems are not brought into line quickly, by 1989 the deficit could hit $280 billion. The problem is, actually, worse than it appears. Like any other borrower, the government must pay interest. Interest on last year's $220 billion deficit alone will amount to about $20 billion a year. Think of it. The interest on only one year's deficit will increase federal spending by some $20 billion a year. That estimate, by the way, might be optimistic. It is based on current interest rates and government borrowing could well force interest rates higher in the months ahead. The impact on our economy of this snowballing deficit effect boggles the mind. More and more government borrowing, of course, means less and less money for individuals and businesses to borrow and invest in this country. The Federal Reserve Board has only a limited ability to reduce interest rates without re-igniting inflation. A member of the President's Council of Economic Advisors warned in hearings before the Senate Finance Committee in December that the Fed may have to let interest rates go up this year to keep inflation in line. The key to breaking this cycle is reducing the annual deficit. Last year I joined with other Senators in voting to reduce the deficit by more than $33 billion from 1984 through 1986. That effort, inadequate as it was, has yet to be implemented. A continuing failure to act will have extremely serious consequences for our economy. We cannot put this off. As politically difficult as it may be in an election year, Congress and the President must begin the task of chopping the deficit down to size. And we must begin now, not a year from now.

Choose Tax Preparer Carefully, IRS Advises

Last year, about 39% of the 2,597,000 federal income tax returns filed by individuals in north Texas area were completed by paid tax preparers. Obviously, tax preparation is big business. The IRS advises you to choose your preparer with the same care you would use in selecting a doctor, lawyer, or any other professional person. Even when someone else prepares your tax return, you are legally responsible for the accuracy.

The IRS offers these tips on what to expect in dealing with a preparer:

Taxpayers should not sign a blank return, nor one which is partially completed, nor one prepared in pencil;

Preparers should sign the return in the taxpayer's presence and give his or her identification number, as required by law;

Taxpayers must be given a copy of the completed return;

Preparers who promise a refund, claim a special relationship with the IRS or boast of ways to beat the tax system should be avoided.

Fat Stock Show Reports Record Entries

The 88th Annual Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will set another record for the number of livestock entries, reports W.R. Watt Jr., show President/Manager. He said that, while some entries are still being processed, the total estimate exceeds 17,500 head.

The Stock Show* is scheduled Jan. 25 through Feb. 5 at the Will Rogers Memorial Complex, and will include 22 performances of the World's Original Indoor Rodeo.

"Practically all divisions of our show this year are posting increases," Watt noted. "We are delighted over prospects of another record-breaking year." The previous peak year was 1982, when 16,935 head of livestock were exhibited.

The Stock Show official reminded exhibitors of poultry, pigeons and rabbits that Jan. 15 is the deadline for entries in the Small Stock Division.

Rodeo tickets are on sale seven days a week from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the Will Rogers Coliseum lobby box office. Tickets are priced at $6 for Monday through Friday matinees, $8 for Monday through Thursday nights and $10 for Friday nights and all weekend performances.

For tickets by mail, send cashier's check or money order to Stock Show Office, P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, TX 76101. Include $1 extra per order for postage and handling.

With the planned dedication of the new Amon G. Carter Jr. Exhibits Hall and the prestigious Livestock Appreciation Day event, Watt said, "We look forward to a very exciting year." Special day activities are scheduled Feb. 2 with the building dedication at 11 a.m., followed by the Livestock Appreciation Day luncheon program in the Round Up Inn with special guest speaker, noted national news commentator, Paul Harvey.

Applications are being accepted for participation in the show's All-Western Parade, Jan. 27. The parade will include riding clubs, marching bands and horse-drawn vehicles. Motorized vehicles are prohibited, in keeping with the Western Heritage theme. The Stock Show Special Events Department has the applications.

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting
Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

January 16 through February 24, 1984 marks the sign-up period for the 1984 USDA Acreage Reduction Program. $20 million dollars is earmarked for a nationally funded Acreage Conservation Reserve (ACR) special project for 1984. These funds are for the conversion of highly erodible crop lands into a reserve program.

Farmers participating in this program will be eligible for extra assistance in converting to permanent grass on these highly erodible soils. Major stipulations of the ACR include retiring the land from cultivation for 5 or 10 years. The 5 year plan involves acres planted to grass while the 10 year program is applicable to acres planted to trees.

Secretary of Agriculture John Block said the federal government will provide 90% cost-sharing for acres diverted into this program. He also emphasized that lands included in this program will be eligible for inclusion in the base calculation for any acreage reduction plans through 1985.

Land that is eligible is cropland eroding at a rate greater than twice the soil tolerance level before treatment that is predominately land class III e or above. This includes class III e and all of class IV and below. The Soil Conservation Service will assist ASCS in explaining this program to farmers and furnish technical assistance to properly carry out the program.

Farm Program Signup Begins January 16

"We will begin accepting applications for the 1984 farm programs on January 16," Glenn R. Brzozowski, County Executive Director, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said. The 1984 acreage reduction programs were announced last August for wheat and during the fall for corn grain sorghum, barley, oats, cotton and rice.

Brzozowski said to be eligible for loans and target price protection farmers must sign up and comply with the acreage reduction program requirements.

To emphasize the conservation aspects of the 1984 programs, land removed from production will be put into an acreage conservation reserve (ACR). "We encourage farmers to place more erosive land into the ACR while continuing to balance supply with demand."

For reducing their wheat acres by 30 percent of their base, farmers will be eligible for target price protection at $4.45 per bushel, price support loans at 3.30 per bushel and the option to reduce their acreage an additional 10 to 20 percent for a payment-in-kind at 75 percent of their program yield," said Brzozowski.

Farmers who reduce their feed grain acreage by 10 percent of their base will receive federal target prices of $3.03 per bushel for corn, $2.88 for grain sorghum, $2.60 for barley and $1.60 a bushel for oats. They also will be eligible for loan rates of $2.55 a bushel for corn, $2.42 for sorghum, $2.08 for barley and $1.31 for oats.

The upland cotton program offers farmers a target price of 81 cents per pound and a loan rate of 55 cents per pound for reducing their cotton acres by 25 percent of their base. Farmers who reduce their extra long staple cotton acres by 10 percent of their base will be eligible for target price protection of 99 cents per pound and loans at $2.50 cents per pound. "The 1984 crop of extra long staple cotton will be the first covered by new farm legislation, making the program similar to the upland cotton program," Brzozowski said.

For reducing their rice acres by 25 percent, farmers will be eligible for target price protection of $11.90 per hundredweight and a national average loan rate of $8.00 per hundredweight.

The ASCS official said participation in the acreage reduction programs is a way in which farmers can control over-supply situations. "The programs also will provide a degree of insurance for farmers against price fluctuations and adverse weather conditions."

Contracts signed by program participants will be considered binding and will provide for liquidated damages for failure to comply with program requirements. The sign-up period ends February 24th.

Public Utility Commission of Texas

Consumer Update

One of the changes in the Public Utility Commission that came out of the last session of the Legislature was the addition of an Energy Efficiency Division. This division administers federally funded programs which provide Texans with information on how to reduce their energy bills through more efficient use of energy.

The largest program administered by the Energy Efficiency Division is the State Energy Conservation Plan (SECP). One important element of this program concentrates on energy use in buildings — government, commercial, and residential. Through workshops, newsletters, and responses to individual inquiries, Texans can learn about no cost/low cost procedures such as maintenance of air conditioning and heating systems, as well as more complex and costly actions which can be taken to reduce utility bills.

Another program under the SECP provides assistance to state and local governments, which must stretch their tax dollars to the limit in these lean times. Technical assistance and unbiased information on energy conservation are made available to these government entities. Teams of engineers audit public buildings and train local officials in energy efficient techniques.

Assistance to small industries is available through workshops designed to demonstrate the conservation opportunities open to them, and the economic benefits to be gained by taking advantage of these opportunities. On-site energy surveys are available, as well as technical publications detailing methods of reducing energy costs.

The Energy Extension Service (EES) provides conservation information to small energy consumers in the state — small businesses, residential consumers, and the public at large. The emphasis in this program is on direct, personalized service. Workshops provide homeowners with information on weatherization, energy-efficient appliances, and the importance of lifestyle in holding down energy costs. Audio-visual programs are available on loan to various organizations, employers, and other groups.

The Institutional Conservation Program (ICP) provides matching grants to public and private/non-profit school districts, colleges and universities, and hospitals. These grants are used for technical studies and energy-efficient retrofit projects.

Two types of grants are available under this program: Technical Assistance Grants enable institutions to hire professional engineers to prepare energy analyses which consider maintenance and operations procedures and recommend retrofit projects for individual buildings. Energy Conservation Measure Grants provide matching funds to complete retrofit projects such as heating, ventilating and air-conditioning modifications or change-outs.

The Residential Conservation Service (RCS) is a federally mandated program requiring large utilities to offer energy audit services to their residential customers. The audit is either free or very low cost. If the customer wishes, the utility also will help locate a contractor to perform the retrofit, and financing to help pay for the job. Twenty-two utilities in Texas are covered by the RCS.

Texas Heritage Day To Be Observed Jan. 19

Texas Confederate Heroes Day, the first Texas Heritage Day for 1984, will be observed Thursday, January 19th.

Texas Confederate Heroes Day is one of the Texas Heritage Days recognized by the Legislature honoring the 90,000 men and women who served the State during the War between the States. As Texans we are justifiably proud of these men and women who fought to preserve our unique heritage.

Ceremonies will be held in Austin at the Texas

Confederate Museum located at 112 E. 11th Street at 12 noon. A reception prior to the program will be held at 11:30 a.m. hosted by the United Daughters of the Confederacy Districts 1 and 10. As part of the observance an address on General Robert E. Lee will be delivered and a wreath laid on the Confederate Monument on the Capitol grounds.

You are all invited to come to Austin on Thursday, January 19th and join in this event to show our pride in our Texas heritage. However, if you are unable to attend the ceremonies in Austin we hope you will be planning an observance in your local community honoring our Texas Confederate Heroes. Speeches and local press releases are available through the Texas Historical Foundation, P.O. Box 12243, Austin, Texas 78711, (512) 472-6784.

Texas Confederate Heroes Day is a project of the Texas Heritage Project, an endeavor of the Texas Historical Foundation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In proceedings pending before the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), local exchange telephone companies are requesting authority to charge AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., for use of their facilities. These proposed charges are higher than AT&T Communications can pay at current Texas long distance rate levels. To position itself to be able to implement rates that are sufficient to produce revenues that will recover the costs facing the company, AT&T Communications must now file for rate relief to be able to implement rates that reflect the costs of access that are ultimately imposed on the company.

While AT&T Communications does not want to increase its Texas rates, an increase would be required to recover the increased access charges AT&T Communications will have to pay to the local exchange telephone companies under several proposals pending before the Commission. These access charges at the proposed increased levels represent more than 80 percent of AT&T Communications' operating expense in Texas.

Accordingly, AT&T Communications, in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the PUC, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates for long distance calls within Texas. The proposed rates will be effective January 28, 1984, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by AT&T Communications' proposed rates.

If higher access charges are ordered, AT&T Communications has no recourse but to pay these charges and recover the costs from its customers as a cost of providing long distance service within Texas. AT&T Communications has filed rates which would mean a maximum overall increase in adjusted test period revenues of $301.4 million, or 27.85 percent. This amount would help recover cost increases due to the proposed level of access charges now pending before the PUC.

A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with every municipality in Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

BUILDING YOUR RETIREMENT IS AS SIMPLE AS A.B.C.

OPEN A TAX-DEFERRED, MONEY-MAKING INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT TODAY AT COMMODORE SAVINGS.

Retirement used to be a taxing situation. But not any longer. Because now, you can open an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at Commodore Savings — the simple-to-understand retirement account that will save you money today so you can enjoy better tomorrows.

Just add up the benefits for yourself:

- All contributions are tax-deferred and 100 percent deductible. You pay no taxes on the money you invest in your IRA or on the interest it earns until you begin taking distribution as early as age 59½.

- Save as little or as much as you want each month. Up to $2,000 a year if you are single and employed. Up to $2,250 a year for a couple where one spouse is employed and the other is not. And up to $4,000 a year for a working couple. Save as little as $10 a month. Even skip a whole year's contributions if you prefer.

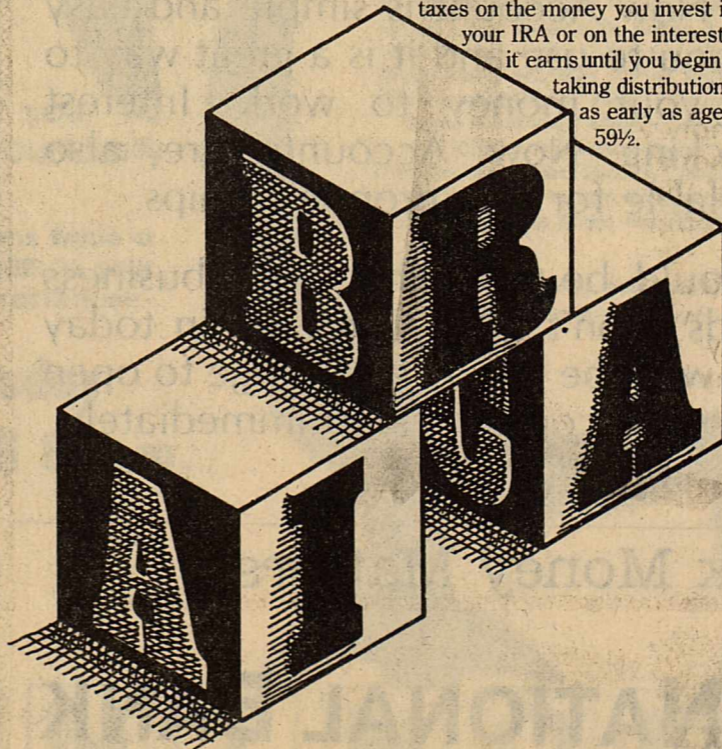

- Pay much less tax on your retirement income. By retirement age, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket, so the taxes you'll pay on your IRA retirement income could be much less than you pay now.

- Almost everyone can qualify. If you are under age 70½ and are earning an income, you qualify for a Commodore IRA, even if you are already participating in another retirement program.

Best of all, the money you put into your IRA earns a guaranteed high compound interest rate. Save $2,000 a year for just 20 years, and your IRA investment could amount to well over $100,000!

Seven different retirement plans are available, including Regular IRA, Spousal IRA, Employer IRA, Rollover IRA, Payroll Deduction IRA, IRA/SEPP and Keogh Plan. Find out which plan is right for you. # Social Security Changes Take Effect Jan. 1984

Several recent changes in Social Security are effective in January 1984. You should be aware of what they are:

Benefit increase—If you receive Social Security or supplemental security income (SSI) benefits, your monthly payments will increase 3.5 percent effective with the January check. The maximum Social Security retirement benefit generally payable is now $734 a month for a person 65 in 1983. And the maximum Federal SSI payment is $314 for an individual and $472 for a couple.

Payroll tax increase—If you are an employee, the Social Security tax rate you pay this year will be the same as in 1983—6.7 percent, even though your employer will pay 7 percent. This is because of a one-time 0.3 percent tax credit you will get.

Self-employment tax increase—If you are self-employed, your Social Security tax rate for 1984 will be 100 percent of the combined employee-employer rate (14 percent), rather than at a rate that was roughly 70 percent of the total. But you will receive a self-employment tax credit of 2.7 percent of your self-employment income for 1984 (as well as a 2.3 percent credit for 1985, and a 2.0 percent credit for 1986-89).

Coverage for Federal and nonprofit organization employees—If you are newly hired by the Federal Government in 1984 or later, or if you work for a nonprofit organization, you are covered by Social Security. And if you are a nonprofit employee 55 or older first covered in 1984, you will need fewer credits than normal to be insured for retirement or survivors benefits.

Improvements for disabled widow(er)s—If you are a disabled widow or widower who started getting checks on your deceased spouse's Social Security record before age 60, your payments may be slightly increased in January (in addition to the regular benefit increase). And if you remarry, your benefits can continue.

Taxation of benefits—If you get Social Security benefits and have substantial other income in addition to your benefits, up to one-half of the benefits may be subject to Federal income tax starting with 1984. Only about one in ten people are affected by this provision.

For more information about these changes, contact any Social Security office. If you need more specific guidance concerning possible taxation of benefits, get in touch with the Internal Revenue Service.

The Abilene Social Security office is located at 142 S. Pioneer. The phone number is 698-1360.

Superintendent, Haskell ISD

With the integration of schools, Haskell ISD found itself with an extra building. For several years, this building was used for CAPS Center. However, when Federal funds were cut off, the center closed leaving the building vacant. The Haskell Board of Education has decided to sell the building and properties by sealed bid.

The building and property is the E.B. Evans School located in the Brown and Roberts tract which is in the northeast section of town. It is located in outlot 36 tr 6. The property lies south of 8th Street on an unmarked avenue. The building is a brick veneer building 30 feet x 96 feet. A small building with two bathrooms and an office type room is connected by a walkway. This building is 5 feet x 14 feet. A covered walkway is located the entire length on the south side of the building. Eight lots with 508 foot front and 250 foot depth are included with the property.

West Texas Utilities Receives Rate Approval

New rates for West Texas Utilities Co.'s retail customers have received final approval of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, and are now in effect.

The rates are designed to provide an annual revenue increase of $11.97 million. The company, in its rate request filed last June 10, had asked for $26.5 million.

Although the change means a 5.2 per cent increase in total retail rates, the current effect will be a decrease for customers who have been paying temporary rates the past 2½ months. WTU had started collecting interim rates, as allowed by law, on Oct. 22 from all customers except those in 30 towns whose cases had been appealed to the PUC.

Because the final rates approved by the PUC are lower than the temporary rates, WTU will refund the difference plus interest. This will be done by crediting customer bills and should be accomplished during February and March.

Cash refunds will be mailed to customers who have moved off WTU lines or transferred to towns where the interim rates were not in effect. These checks will be sent to the customer's last known address.

If these customers have not received refunds by April 1, they should contact their former local WTU office.

Amount of refunds will vary according to the size of the customer bills. For example, for a customer using 1,000 kilowatthours of electricity a month, the difference would be $4.34. At this rate, his refund for the entire period would amount to $12.

Refunds will be made to all customers served by WTU during the period from Oct. 22 to Jan. 6, except those who live in the city limits of the following towns:

Alpine, Aspermont, Balmorhea, Bronte, Clyde, Cross Plains, Dodson, Estelline, Hawley, Iraan, Jayton, Junction, Lawn, Lueders, Marfa, Memphis, Menard, Merkel, Miles, Presidio, Putnam, Quitaque, Rankin, Santa Anna, Shamrock, Sonora, Sterling City, Turkey, Tuscola and

Valentine. None of the rate changes apply in the City of Vernon, where WTU's rates are kept the same as those of the city's municipal system and already are higher than those in the remainder of the system.

Changes To Social Security Outlined

The 1983 Amendments to the Social Security Act increase the Social Security (Self-Employment Contributions Act) tax rate on self-employment income to equal the combined employee-employer rates. The rate for 1984 is 14%. There will be gradual increases to reach 15.30% for 1990 and after.

These Amendments also provide credits against SECA tax liability for 1984-1989 equal to a percentage of self-employment income. For 1984 the percentage is 2.7. The rate gradually decreases thereafter to reach 2.0% for 1986 thru 1989.

Beginning with 1990 the self-employed will be treated in much the same manner as employees and employers are treated for Social Security and income tax purposes under present law.

First, only half of the total combined tax would be considered part of the person's net earnings. This is comparable to the way employees are treated because the employer's half of their Social Security tax (FICA) is not counted as part of their wages for Social Security tax and benefit purposes.

Second, self-employed individuals will get an income tax deduction equal to one-half of the SECA tax. Employers are allowed to deduct as a business expense the Social Security taxes they pay on their employees wages. The 1983 Amendments extend the same privilege to the self-employed.

Regular automatic appropriations to the trust funds will continue to be based on the full SECA tax rates without regard to tax credits or income tax deductions. The revised tax rate schedule for the self-employed will increase the revenues available for payment of Social Security benefits by $18.5 billion and Medicare revenues by $8.3 billion over the period of 1984-1989. The long range effect of the revised schedule will be to increase the revenue for Social Security benefit payments by .19 percent of taxable payroll and Medicare revenue by .4 percent of taxable payroll.
