NEW TELEPHONE

C.A. THOMAS, JR.

"I don't have time."
How many times have you heard this reply when asking for volunteers for a specific project, or on the other hand, how many times have you made such a statement?

C.A. Thomas, Jr. made more time for the things he believed in and he always had time for the young people of this area.

He died Sunday morning shortly after the conclusion of one of the best ever Haskell County Junior Livestock Shows.

Active for many years in the Haskell County Fair and Haskell County Junior Livestock Show, he served on the two boards for many years.

His support of the youth of this area went far beyond what is expected from members of the Board of Directors of the two organizations.

It was a regular sight to see him going from calf to calf during a stock show helping the very people his animals were competing against. It was always obvious that he thought the youth were the real winners and he worked hard to help them as much as possible.

He was also different from many in another respect. His actions were low key and many times went completely unnoticed. He did what needed to be done without making a big deal out of his actions. His efforts were never intended to draw attention to himself. He believed in the youth he worked so hard to help and all his efforts were toward helping them to grow into mature adults.

The young people he spent so much time with were not necessarily close friends or neighbors. It was just as common to see him helping someone he had never before met as it was to see him helping a longtime friend of the Thomas family.

This same nature carried over into other involvement. He served for many years on the Board of Directors of the local cemetery association, was a member of the Haskell Kiwanis Club and was an active leader in the Haskell First Baptist Church.

He touched the hearts of three generations (his own as well as those younger and older) and his memory and ideals will live in the hearts of those people for many years.

During a time when most people "don't have time" we should thank God for the positive influence of C.A. Thomas, Jr. on so many young people.

He was a Good'un.

School Board To Accept Bids For E.B. Evans School

The Board of Trustees of Haskell Independent School District will accept bids for the sale of the E.B. Evans School building and property. The sealed bids must be submitted to the School Administration Office by Feb. 7.

Booster Club Officers

Plans for the All Sports Banquet set for Friday, April 6, were discussed. It was the consensus that another salad luncheon will not be necessary to finance the banquet.

There will be several changes in the banquet format this year, the main one being that there will be a speaker. A Haskell graduate, Jerry Larned, Assistant Superintendent of the Monahans ISA, will entertain with his own style of humor.

Ticket prices and other details will be forthcoming.

Nine Tips For Handling Sibling Arguments

Almost all siblings fight at some time or other during their growing up years. Here are some tips from Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, about how to handle such disputes.

Teach by your example. The ways you settle your own disagreements—with your children or with other adults—will show your children how to settle their own, no matter what you say.

Be fair. If you must punish your children for fighting, make your "punishment fit the crime," and avoid taking sides. Don't punish either of them so harshly that you cause them to feel even angrier at each other and at you. And remember that there is seldom only one person at fault in an argument.

Remember the Golden Rule. Try to put yourself in each child's shoes before you judge behavior. Try to remember your own childhood and how you felt when your parents stepped into your fights. Treat your child as you would have liked to have been treated yourself in that situation.

Discipline with kindness and respect. Let your children know that you don't like and will not allow certain behaviors. But don't make them feel they are bad people when they make mistakes. Avoid name-calling. Labels such as clumsy, stupid, careless can become self-fulfilling prophecies. If you do slip in anger, apologize to your child later and explain that you don't really feel that way about her.

Accent the positive. Pay attention to the things each of your children does well and to their interactions that are cooperative and constructive. They will tend to repeat these behaviors since they earned your attention.

Minimize the negative. Whenever possible avoid pointing out your children's "faults" and mistakes, especially in comparison to siblings. Also, unless they're hurting each other, ignore your children's petty disputes with each other. They may decrease simply from lack of attention from you. Remember, if you want to see a behavior repeated, pay attention to it. If you don't want to see a behavior again, ignore it.

Explain your expectations. Let your children know what responsibilities you expect them to assume; what the limits are on each of them; what behaviors you will not tolerate; and what they can expect if they don't meet these expectations.

Be consistent in your response to your children's behaviors. There are days when their arguing doesn't bother you and you ignore it. Other days it will be the "last straw", and you might blow up. Still, if you try to respond in a way that is predictable, you will find you have much calmer, less anxious children since they know what to expect.

Cultivate patience. Patience and a sense of humor are two of the most important qualities you can cultivate as a parent. Try to be patient with your children's bickering. Even though you may think the things they're squabbling about are silly, they're important to them. And when your patience wears thin, try to find some humor in the situation. Before you know it, your children will be grown and the lessons they learn now about how to get along with others, particularly siblings, will be carried into their own families.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

TAX PLANNING

Written by Richard E. Rogers, CPA

LIFE INSURANCE & TAXES (Some General Rules)

Questions are often asked about what's deductible and what's taxable in the area of life insurance. Generally speaking, life insurance premiums paid by an individual are not deductible on his income tax return, and life insurance proceeds received by a beneficiary are not taxable income.

Here are some other basic rules to keep in mind about life insurance and taxation:

1. Though life insurance proceeds paid on the death of the insured are not taxable income, the interest earned on the proceeds while left with the insurance company is taxable.

2. A widow or widower is entitled to exclude $1000 annually of such interest earned by insurance proceeds held by the insurance company.

3. Dividends earned on unmaturing life insurance policies are not taxable income until such time as the dividends exceed the cost of the insurance contract. Such cost recovery seldom happens.

4. Life insurance proceeds that are paid to the estate of the insured person are considered a part of the estate for computing estate taxes. However, if the policy had been owned by someone other than the insured, the proceeds are not included in the decedent's estate.

5. Premiums on life insurance paid by an employer for an employee are considered taxable income to the employee, except for group term life insurance premiums for coverage not in excess of $50,000 per employee.

6. Up to $5,000 of death benefits paid by an employer upon the death of an employee are tax free to the recipient.

7. Special rules apply to the taxation of amounts received as an "annuity" under a life insurance contract.

Purchasing life insurance should be done with the assistance of your tax advisor in order to give adequate consideration to the tax consequences involved.

Vernon's Municipal To Sell To WTU

Citizens of Vernon voted Saturday to sell their Municipal Electric System to West Texas Utilities Co.

The transaction, scheduled for completion this spring pending approval of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, will add about 2,500 customers to the WTU system, which already serves about half the city.

Rising fuel costs, needed power plant and distribution improvements, and rising maintenance and operation costs were cited by the City Commission as reasons for the proposed sale.

Any alternatives to selling the system would have required rate increases and possible tax increases, city officials stated. The sale to WTU will bring lower electric rates in Vernon, because rates there are set by the city and are higher than standard rates WTU charges in other towns.

In its proposal, WTU agreed to pay the city $2.68 million, subject to adjustments for changes in inventory or property conveyed.

Vernon will be the third municipal electric system purchased by WTU in recent years from cities whose power plants were outmoded. Others were at Winters and Baird.

SWCD Poster Winners

The Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District recently held its Annual Conservation Poster Contest with the Rule, Weinert, and Rochester Elementary Schools participating. The 1st through 6th grade students of these schools designed posters following the theme of Resource Conservation and how conservation affects our land and/or wildlife. Ribbons were awarded to the top three posters from each grade at each school based on theme, originality, and neatness.

The winners from each school are as follows: Rule—(First through fifth list); Weinert—(First through sixth list); Rochester—(First through sixth list).

The Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District will now judge the posters and choose 3 from each grade and select an overall champion. These district winners will then be submitted to the area contest for judging against other area posters. The winners of the district judging will be announced next week.

The Haskell SWCD would like to thank all of the students that participated in this contest. All of the students did an excellent job but unfortunately only a few can be selected to receive ribbons. However, everyone is a winner that is concerned in the conservation of our natural resources.

Again, congratulations to the winners and all of the students on a job well done.

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

Repurchase Agreements

We are now offering a new short term investment opportunity called a Repurchase Agreement. The investment, in reality, is an agreement that our bank will repurchase a portion of an investment that you make in a government security. The term of the investment is 89 days or less and rate is comparable to Money Market Certificates.

The minimum required to invest in the repurchase agreement is $1,000. The rate is guaranteed for the term of the investment. It's a good opportunity to earn high rates with short term money as there is no penalty for early withdrawal.

Repurchase agreements are not deposits and as such they are not insured by the FDIC. All repurchase agreements are however, backed by government securities. Contact us at your earliest convenience to get the current rates and any other information you may need regarding Repurchase Agreements.

Leading the Maidens was Holli High with 10.

Indians Improve Record To 2-0

By Todd Harris
The Haskell Indians defeated the Rotan Yellowhammers 92-70 last Friday night. The Indians improved their record to 2-0 in the second half of district play.

Patrick McCoy led the scoring with 25 points. Followed by Shane Hadaway with 21 and Ricky Rojas 19.
"We played well. We shot the ball well and didn't turn the ball over as many times as we have been," Coach Jim Dan Raughton said.

"The Indians will face the Munday Moguls at Munday on Tuesday and then the Hamlin Pied Pipers, here, on Friday.

The Indians opened the second half of district play last week with an impressive 73-58 win over the Seymour Panthers.

McCoy led the scoring with 24 points. Hadaway followed with 20.

"I felt like we played better than we have since the Christmas Tournament. We played with more intensity and got after it a little better than we have been," Coach Jim Raughton said.

9th Grade Warriors

By Steven Boyd
The ninth grade Warriors will be competing in the Haskell Tournament, Friday and Saturday. They will begin play Friday at noon against Stamford.

The outcome of this game will determine what time they will play tomorrow.

The Warriors were in the Knox City Tournament last Thursday and Saturday.

They were defeated by Munday 42-28. High score was Ponciano Lopez with 14.

They were supposed to play Stamford for consolation, but the game was canceled because of the stock show.

Last Friday they hosted Rotan and were defeated 38-22. Steven Rodriguez was high point with 9.

They will host Seymour Feb. 6, and games will begin at 5:30 p.m.

The Warriors' record is now 2-4.

Lori McGee led the scoring for the Maidens with 13, while Kim Lanier put in 10 points.
The final game was against Knox City. This also was close because the Maidens were behind 12-10 at the half. The Maidens came back in the second half to win 31-27. McGee again led the scoring with 15 and was followed by Shawna Welch with 10 points.

The Maidens played district ballgame Friday night against Rotan. This was non-tournament game.

I am reprinting a poem from one of the professional journals by Carolyn Webb. Mrs. Webb lives in the Aqua Dulce ISD. She is a patron of the district and the mother of three children who graduated from high school in the district. The poem was written after Mrs. Webb joined the Aqua Dulce ISD as a library aide for the high school.

Dear Teacher
I want to apologize to you,
For things I didn't know you had to do.

I thought your job was just a breeze,
You'd sit behind desk and do as you please.
You'd pick on my little angel,
and tell him what to do
And my little darling was never wrong, it was ALWAYS YOU.

And In-Service I thought was a holiday,
You would sleep late and take the day just to laze.

Boy! Have I changed my point of view.
I can't tell you how much I appreciate you.
I have seen you babysit, counsel, decorate your doors,
Grade papers, climb ladders, and even clean floors.
The list is just endless of things that you do,
And most of it's done without even a thank you.
Your caring, your time, most of all just you.

I thank you and without you I don't know what we would do.

JR. LIVESTOCK SHOW AUCTIONEER—TED ELLIOTT

Moeller Calls For Change In Loan Program

The president of the Texas Farmers Union today called for changes in the administration of the United States Department of Agriculture Economic Emergency Loan program.

Mike Moeller, of Manchaca in Hayes County, called for the U.S.D.A. to "stop subverting the intent of the program. Of the total $600 million available nation wide, only $50 million dollars was available as actual loan money. The rest ($550 million), is to be used as guarantee money. That's fine and good, but unfortunately, in the three months that the program has been in affect, the $50 million has been used up."

Moeller faults the "pointy-headed bureaucrats" in Washington that dictate the policy of U.S.D.A. in matters such as this.

"John Block (Secretary of Agriculture) didn't want to give us (the farmers) the money in the first place, and now the U.S.D.A. is trying to keep the money from doing any good out in the countryside. After the courts forced the U.S.D.A. in the fall to reactivate the loan system, we hoped that the program would be administered in good faith. Obviously we were wrong to trust U.S.D.A."

To illustrate his displeasure with the present administration of the program, Moeller has sent a letter to both Block and President Reagan, outlining the problems in the current situation, and asking for the release of the "captive" money, so that it can be used to actually loan money to farmers and ranchers in hard hit areas.

"As I pointed out to both Reagan and Block, our membership is telling us that money just isn't available in the small rural banks. So, not only has the original $50 million been used up, but the additional $550 million in guarantee money isn't helping, since there isn't any money out there to guarantee."

The greatest demand for these loans comes from the drought plagued area of last year; the West Texas area. Sparse rainfall from last summer and killer cold in the recent past have devastated agriculture in the area. Many ranchers have been forced to sell off parts of their herds because of over-grazed pasture land and no money for extra feed in hard winter that is now only half over.

The focus of attention has been turned away from the problems of our farmers and ranchers in West Texas (and in the nation as a whole) recently, and we need to tell the public that just because some money became available to farmers for emergency loans, the problems just didn't go away. If others aren't aware of the desperate situation that still exists, I guarantee that farmers and ranchers are. They are living it.

"Holistic Ranch Management" Is Theme Of Ranchers Roundup

"Holistic Ranch Management" is the theme for the 4th Annual International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) set for the San Angelo Convention Center July 30 through August 3 in this West Texas ranching hub.

The recent announcement was made by Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, the conference organizer.

Carpenter said IRR coordinators are currently planning the comprehensive five-day educational event designed to assist ranchers with practical solutions to improve their operations. Emphasis is placed on meeting the needs of ranchers in the semi-arid rangelands of North America.

According to Carpenter, coordinators include Dr. LeRoy Hoermann, district Extension director, Uvalde; Robert H. Kensing, Extension farm management specialist, San Angelo; and Dr. Larry White, Extension range specialist, Uvalde. He noted that Extension Service specialists and county agricultural Extension agents in the two districts will assist with planning and conducting the conference.

"These Extension professionals are providing a superior service for the Southwestern ranching industry by developing this conference," Carpenter stressed. "Over 2,000 ranchers representing more than 25 states and four countries have participated in the past three years, gaining much beneficial information to assist with their ranch management decision making. Participation in this conference certainly merits the consideration of ranchers throughout the Southwest."

Carpenter added that many of the ranching principles addressed during the IRR are applicable on ranches throughout the world. He said program and registration details can be obtained by writing to IRR, P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, Tx 78801.

Coordinators report that the 1984 conference has been modified to include concurrent sessions in livestock, range, wildlife, and women in ranching. The latter has proven to be a very popular session, highlighting women and family involvement in the ranching industry plus providing information helpful to women who manage the ranch and the ranch home.

About 100 internationally recognized ranching experts from around the world will again comprise the IRR faculty. A featured highlight are tours of outstanding West Texas ranches which effectively utilize ranch management techniques addressed during the conference.

Holistic Ranch Management, the current theme, emphasizes sound effective management of the total ranch operation. One session will cover the Holistic approach, concentrating on how to consolidate all aspects of management as a total operation.

"Ranchers must be concerned with more than animal performance and grazing systems," the coordinators emphasize. "The concept of Holistic Ranch Management encompasses these plus total ranch planning which more fully helps the rancher determine appropriate management practices. Many of the talks presented here this summer will reflect Holistic principles."

Some sessions will be repeated for the participants' convenience. However, participating ranchers are encouraged to bring their wives or ranch personnel with whom they can compare notes taken in the various sessions. Coordinators point out that more valuable information is normally presented in the four sessions than an individual can absorb in such a short period of time.

Tips To Help Children Achieve In School

If you have a child in school, you know about Report Card Day, that fateful day of reckoning. Will your pride and joy come bouncing home bursting with happy news, or will it be time once again to review the Sad Parade of Excuses? What can a parent do to help the young one succeed?

The National Institute of Education has prepared booklet that describes many new and innovative techniques that can help both you and your child have a happier Report Card Day.

Based on recently conducted research, "How To Help Your Children Achieve in School" includes a five step study plan for better school performance. For your copy, send $3.75 to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 109M, Pueblo Colorado, 81009.

How well a child does in school depends in large part on the child's study habits. There is no substitute for hitting the books, and no short-cut to getting an education, says the National Institute of Education. Yet many students do not believe that the hours spend studying or the amount of work they do will make the difference between success and failure. It's far easier to blame failure on unfair teachers, or distracting classmates, or bad luck or twenty other reasons, rather than admit they just didn't do the work.

Many young people claim there are not enough hours in the day to do all the things they want to do—and study too. There may be some truth in that, but most often there is not a shortage of time, but a lack of planning. To encourage better use of time, have your school-agers draw up a weekly schedule. By writing down how they spend their days, hour by hour, young people may be surprised how much time they are wasting. By organizing their time, planning their study hours, and sticking to the schedule, they may find they actually have more time for "fun things." Encourage your youngsters to be faithful to the schedule, and make sure they have a reasonably quiet, well-lighted place to study, far from the television and the blaring radio.

You can also help by taking a daily interest in your children's school work and reviewing homework assignments with them. Ask them to give a summary of a chapter they have just read, or to explain how they solved a math problem. By asking specific questions, you can help them focus their thinking and see where their weaknesses are.

When you order "How To Help Your Children Achieve in School" ($3.75), you'll also receive a free copy of the "Consumer Information Catalog". Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free "Catalog" lists over 200 selected free and moderately priced federal government consumer booklets.

Jointly sponsored by Rolling Plains Production Credit Association, Coleman Production Credit Association and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the program will include such topics as: "Financing Your Growing Business," "Merchandising Your Credit," "Looking for Outside Capital," "Emerging Landlord-Tenant Relationships," "Your Annual Tax Check-up," and "Cattle Prices for '84."

Instructors for the seminar will be John A. Hopkins, Stiles professor of agricultural finance at Texas A&M University, Wayne A. Hayenga, attorney and agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Robert Kensing, extension economist-management for West Central Texas, and Carl Anderson, editor of "Food and Fiber Economics", a marketing publication.

This seminar is designed to update area farmers and ranchers on important ag credit and financing issues. According to R.C.
