City And County To Assist In Clean Up

The City of Haskell, assisted by Haskell County Commissioners, will begin pickup routes in conjunction with a city wide cleanup on April 16.

All city residents are urged to complete their cleanup projects prior to April 16 and stack debris for pickup near their regular garbage pickup place.

City and county crews will begin their pickup about April 16 and will make pickups on designated garbage routes. These routes will be made on a time permitting basis but crews will not backtrack or make several return trips after they have completed a designated route. In other words, if debris is not in place the first time the crew comes by, the crew will make a special pickup only if the resident agrees to pay a special fee.

The annual spring cleanup is a public service by the city assisted by county commissioners and there is no charge for debris removal if the debris is in place at the time the crews come by a residence.

All property owners are urged to take advantage of this free pickup service and do their part in making Haskell an attractive place to live.

The program was discontinued several years ago when residents failed to cooperate with the schedule. At that time a special week was set aside for pickup of debris. Residents who did not have debris in place when city and county crews came by felt they were entitled to the service if they could have debris ready by the end of the week.

As a result, the project continued for several weeks when a resident would call City Hall and announce that his debris was in place before the end of the designated week. When neighbors saw trucks make the pickup, they would begin to clean up and call later.

In the city election, a total of 597 votes were cast. Abe Turner was unopposed in his bid for the mayor's seat. He received 529 votes. Watson led the council ballot with 363 votes and Larry Gilliam was elected to a second term on the council with 348 votes. Other challengers for council positions were Bailey Toliver with 236 votes, Louis Wilson with 104 votes and Sam Rodriguez with 95 votes.

Both the city and school elections were certified Tuesday night at the regular meetings of the two groups and new members received oaths of office.

Members of the school board elected officers and council members elected a mayor pro-tem.

"Images 1984" is past! Again this year it was my pleasure to go to Callaway Gardens, Georgia for this great seminar. Last year it was at Amelia Beach, Florida. The two young ladies who coordinate the seminar brought Edward Betts, Donald Holden, writes under the pseudonym of Wendon Blake, Dale Kennington, Everett Raymond Kinstler and Charles Reid.

represented in virtually every important exhibition and has received over 60 awards. He is a three-time winner of the National Academy of Design and many other outstanding awards. He has written three books. Mr. Betts did critique from a selection of slides sent in by the participants as well as elaborating on watercolors and canvas paintings.

Donald Holden is the world's most widely-published author of books for artists and art students as well as being a painter and sculptor. He lectured twice and was coordinator in the panel discussion by the group of artists.

Dale Kennington is a premier portraitist and has work displayed throughout the United States. She has completed over 350 commissioned portraits. She enjoys painting children and did two portraits at the seminar of children, one in oils and one in pastels.

Everett Raymond Kinstler has been described as "The outstanding American portraitist". He has painted from life over thirty United States cabinet members and did the White House portrait of former President Gerald Ford. He gave me a copy of this portrait, which he autographed. He is the author of "Painting Portraits and Painting Faces, Figures and Landscapes". He did a portrait of Charles Reid and also a landscape, which he sold right off the easel.

Mr. Kinstler painted John Wayne and told us how many sittings he had with Mr. Wayne. Mr. Kinstler is quite a showman, holding his audience with the experiences he has had with his commission.

Charles Reid is a noted author and watercolorist. He has won numerous awards and the National Academy of Design Altman prize with many other prizes and awards. He has written five books. He did watercolor demos accompanied by informal discussion of techniques, color, design and procedure at each of his three sessions. One evening several of his works were presented on slides, which was most enjoyable. He is one of the greatest!

HINT: Ed Betts: "Expensive is a product of many bad decisions." Dale Kennington: "Don't push the river, it flows by itself." Don Holden: "Force yourself to do something that is hard." Charles Reid: "You are in control." Kinstler: If you want to be a portrait painter, be an artist first."

Help Children Learn About Honesty By Setting Good Example

"Did you steal that?" asked the mother.

"No, I didn't," replied the child.

In reality, the child had stolen the candy. Now to the guilt of stealing, he has added the guilt of lying about it.

Parents don't like to admit—or even think—that their school-age children have lied or stolen. Call it "human nature" or call it "growing up"—but be aware that lying and stealing are much more common among young children than parents want to believe, according to Growing

Up, the child development newsletter about school-age children.

Given that these behaviors are likely to occur, what can a parent do when confronted with the fact that a child has told a "white lie" ("I didn't do it") or left a store with something not paid for?

It's best to avoid the extremes of irrational over-concern ("My child is a budding criminal") or apathy ("So what?"). Treat the occasion, instead, as a valuable opportunity to teach a lesson about moral behavior. For example, let's say you've almost reached home after an exhausting afternoon of shopping. You notice that your child has a bar of candy that you didn't pay for, and you know he didn't have any money to pay for it, either.

Instead of accusing him ("You stole that!") give him a chance to confess ("Where did you get that candy bar?"). Avoid asking a "yes" or "no" question that invites your child to tell a lie.

Then, even though it may be a nuisance to turn the car around and go back to the store, do so. The effort will teach the child an important lesson.

A child learns nothing about honesty from a parent who is too apathetic or embarrassed to go back to the store. He learns an entirely different lesson from a parent who takes him right back to the cashier or manager to return the ill-gotten goods and tell them the truth about what he did.

If the child doesn't have to go back to the store, he learns that, apart from a brief scolding, the consequences of lying and stealing are not very great.

The child who has to return the stolen object and tell the truth learns about personal responsibility, discovers an inner sense of satisfaction that comes from being honest, and leaves the store with the good feeling of having done the right thing.

THE FREDDY WEAVER FAMILY will present special services Sunday, April 15 through Wednesday, April 18 at the First Assembly of God Church in Haskell. Sunday services will begin at 6:30 p.m. Weeknight services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend.

Bicycle Safety Week Is April 15-21

Bicycle accidents result in 1,100 fatalities, 50,000 disabling injuries, and over 500,000 assorted minor injuries annually across the nation, according to George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President of Texas Safety Association.

Last year in Texas pedal-cyclist/motor vehicle accidents alone resulted in 48 fatalities and 2,978 injuries, according to Department of Public Safety records.

"Bicycle education for both children and adults and alertness on the part of all Texas motor-vehicle drivers can help prevent these tragedies," Gustafson said.

Recent estimates gathered by Texas Safety Association show that 300 deaths and 3,000 hospitalizations would be prevented yearly if the nation's 105 million bicyclists would wear helmets while riding.

Gustafson reminds parents that a child riding along on a baby seat attached to the bicycle should also be equipped with a helmet. Texas Safety Association suggests that bicycle baby seats have a high back to help offer support to the baby, a seat pad for comfort, straps and/or belts to secure the child, and a shield protecting the child's feet from contacting the bicycle spokes.

During National Bike Safety Week, April 15-21, Texas Safety Association offers cyclists the following advice:

1. Never ride a bicycle while listening to a portable radio or tape player through headphones.
2. Obey all applicable traffic regulations, signs, signals, and markings.
3. Place the required reflectors and lights on your bicycle to protect yourself at night.
4. Indicate turns and stops by using hand signals.
5. Ride your bike defensively.

Skinformation

by Linda Allen Schoen

Even skin that tends to be oily can look fresh, healthy and vibrant. A little extra care is all it takes.

It's commonly known that oily skin, neglected, can lead to clogged pores and acne blemishes.

So it is especially important to clear skin of excess oil throughout the day.

In accordance, cosmetics and treatments containing oils should never be used on oily skin areas, such as the forehead, nose and chin.

External applications cannot control how much oil your skin produces. But much of the accumulated material can be removed with an efficient soap especially formulated for oily skin.

Neutrogena introduced an oily skin formula not long ago that cleanses gently and leaves no irritating residue.

When washing is inconvenient, a 100% oil free astringent preparation can be used to blot oil. They are available in gels or pre-moistened pads.

Makeup should consist of powder forms of eye shadow and blush, and loose powder foundation.

Makeup tends to run whenever skin becomes oily, so touchups throughout the day are necessary to keep makeup looking fresh and pretty.

It is false to assume oily skin will be less apt to show age or wrinkles.

Special care should be taken to choose a sunscreen free of heavy mineral oils to shield oily skin from the aging rays of the sun.

Skip Row Patterns May Save Money

Southwest cotton producers using skip row planting patterns may pay less for crop insurance this year, according to Merritt W. Sprague, Manager of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, an agency within the Department of Agriculture.

"We are changing the method of determining premium rates for skip row growers," said Sprague, "which will result in a 15 to 30 percent reduction in premium."

This change will correct an inequity in the skip row rate table. Under the old requirements, skip row yields were converted to solid plant before determining the premium rate. "This grossly distorted the premium cost for some farmers," said Sprague.

"We've heard of cases where per-acre costs went up 50 percent and higher," said Sprague. "That was never the Corporation's intent. Our goal is to make crop insurance more affordable for all farmers."

Under the new procedure, skip row yields will not be converted to solid plant for rate determinations.

Skip row yields will continue to be converted to solid plant, however, for purposes of establishing the farmer's historical yield data base.

The premium rate change affects all skip row cotton growers in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. To give farmers a better opportunity to take advantage of this change, the Corporation has extended its March 31 sales closing date to April 15. The April 15 sales closing date has been extended to April 30.

Irrigated and non-irrigated solid plant cotton growers are in no way affected.

Series Offers Tips For Energy Conservation

First in a Series
By Lou Gilly & Max Stapleton
County Extension Agents

Heat moves from warm to cool areas. Heat escapes and cold air enters wherever two different materials or parts of a dwelling join as well as where pipes and wires enter. This is heat loss by convection. Heat loss also occurs from heated to unheated areas of a structure or from heated areas through structural materials to the outdoors. This is heat loss by conduction.

Securing your home against heat losses caused by conduction and convection could reduce your fuel bill by as much as 40 percent. The key is your willingness to examine your home carefully and make thorough repairs and adjustments. You may request an energy audit from your local utility company. Their report will give you general recommendations about what needs to be done to weatherize your home. It will not give you the specific places to apply cauling and weatherstripping. You must find these places yourself.

Caulking

On the outside of the home, look for cracks in the following places:

- Around window and door frames, sills, and joints. Also check the putty around window panes and repair if cracked or worn away.
- At corners formed by siding.
- Between porches and the main body of the dwelling.
- Around water faucets, electrical outlets, and gas or oil lines.
- Where the chimney or masonry meets the siding.

On the inside of the home, check:

- Between foundation and the sill plate;
- Around ceiling fixtures;
- Around the furnace flue, plumbing vents, pipes, and air ducts in the attic;
- Between heated and unheated areas, such as attached garages and crawl spaces.

How To Apply Caulking

Thoroughly clean the area to be caulked with a solvent and putty knife. Get rid of dirt, built-up paint, and cracked putty or old caulking compound. If cracks are deep or wide, fill then with caulking cotton, sponge rubber, or mineral wool before applying caulking compound.

A caulking gun is useful for long, narrow cracks. Hold the gun at a 45° angle and work from top to bottom. Make sure the bead covers both sides of the crack. It may be necessary to apply a second bead if the crack is wide. Seal the two beads.

A WARNING: Don't caulk windows or doors so that they cannot be opened in case of an emergency.

Next week look for an article on weatherstripping.

Consumers Can Register New Tire Purchases

New tire purchasers across the country are being urged to take advantage of a new law allowing consumers to register new tire purchases directly in case a tire recall notice is ever issued.

In a Washington press conference, the National Tire Dealers and Retreaders Association in cooperation with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration launched a national campaign urging consumers to use the new system of voluntary tire registration. In 1983, more than 130 million new passenger tire were sold in the U.S. replacement market.

Other groups urging use of voluntary tire registration include: American Automobile Association (AAA), American Farm Bureau Federation, National Grange, Service Station Dealers of America, and Rubber Manufacturers Association.

Under the new law, the independent tire retailer must give new tire purchasers a postcard form containing the tire registration numbers. Tire purchasers then, add their addresses on the form (already pre-addressed to the manufacturer), add postage and mail it.

If a tire recall occurs, the manufacturers would use the registration information to notify tire owners.

"NTDRA members, tire manufacturers, other tire retailers and several national groups are urging new tire purchasers to take advantage of this law which provides a type of insurance for recall information," NTDRA President Jim F. Hughes, of Asheville, North Carolina said in kicking-off the public information campaign.

"NTDRA's nearly 5,000 members are happy to join NHTSA and others in this partnership of business and government in urging the public to take a few minutes to register their new tire purchases," Hughes added.

"Independent tire retailers supporting the program are not only obeying the law, they are showing a real concern for their customers," Hughes concluded.

NTDRA members across the country have received showroom display posters urging consumers to take advantage of the voluntary registration program.

This voluntary system of new tire registration is the result of an effort which began in 1979 with NTDRA's efforts to increase the number of tires being registered and, also lift a paperwork burden from the independent tire retailer under the unsuccessful mandatory registration system.

In studying the registration system, NTDRA commissioned an independent nationwide consumer survey, and found that 86.1 percent of those surveyed would or probably would complete and mail the form under a voluntary system.

Tires mounted on new cars and those sold through mass merchandisers, and tire company owned stores are to be registered by the company.

TAX PLANNING

Written by

Gerald Rodgers, CPA

FILING TIPS FOR THE FRANTIC

The deadline for filing your 1983 Federal Income Tax Return is just around the corner. The deadline this year is April 16th since the 15th falls on a Sunday. As you prepare to meet this year's deadline, consider these options and suggestions:

1. If at all possible you should meet the filing deadline on April 16th. The penalty for filing your return late is presently 5% of any additional tax due per month up to a maximum of 25%.

2. If you file your return near to or on April 16th, send your return certified mail, return receipt requested. This will clearly substantiate a timely filing of your return, thus avoiding late filing penalties.

3. Get an automatic four-month extension (by filing FORM 4868) if you cannot meet the deadline. You must also include a payment for an estimate of the tax you will ultimately owe with the extension. Additionally, if 90% of the total tax you ultimately owe is not paid with the extension, a penalty of 1/2 of 1% per month will be charged. The penalty is in addition to the normal interest charged on the unpaid balance which is currently running at 11% compounded daily.

4. The filing of the automatic extension also extends the deadline for making an IRA contribution for 1983 until August 15th.

5. If you are filing your return or getting an extension and you are also making your first estimated tax payment for 1984, be sure to send two separate checks with your correct social security number on the face of each check.

If you are unsure about the proper handling of your tax matters as the filing deadline approaches, consult your tax advisor for the options available to you.

123.6 Million Acres Enrolled Reduction

Farmers have enrolled 123.6 million acres of feed grain, rice, wheat, upland cotton and extra long staple cotton base acreage in the 1984 acreage reduction programs, according to figures released today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Block said if pending legislation becomes law, the program will be reopened for wheat but not for feed grain, rice or cotton.

The enrolled acreage represents 52.7 percent of the 234.6 million acres of total base acreage and includes 2 million of payment-in-kind acres signed up under the 1984 wheat program.

Signup was held Jan. 16 through March 16.

Participating producers will be eligible for program benefits such as Commodity Credit Corporation loans and purchases and target price protection and wheat growers will receive payment-in-kind for their PIK acreage.

Base acreage enrolled in the programs include 58.9 million acres of feed grains, 3.6 million acres of rice, 50 million acres of wheat, 11.1 million acres of upland cotton and 33,000 acres of extra long staple cotton.

Farmers who signed up to participate in the acreage reduction programs agreed to reduce their base acreage plantings by at least 25 percent for upland cotton and rice and 10 percent for corn, sorghum, oats, barley and extra long staple cotton.

The cropland taken out of production must be devoted to an acreage conservation reserve.

The 1984 crop national average loan rates are: barley, $2.08 per bushel; corn, $2.55 per bushel; oats, $1.31 per bushel; sorghum, $2.42 per bushel; wheat, $3.30 per bushel; rice, $8.00 per hundredweight; upland cotton $0.55 per pound; ELS cotton, $0.825 per pound.

Target prices for the 1984 crops are: Barley, $2.60 per bushel; corn, $3.03 per bushel; oats, $1.60 per bushel; sorghum, $2.88 per bushel; wheat, $4.45 per bushel; rice, $11.90 per hundredweight; upland cotton, 81 cents per pound; and extra long staple cotton, 99 cents per pound.

That 86 million works out to a savings of about $3 billion, estimates Combustion Engineering, Inc., a leader in energy technology worldwide.

An increasing number of communities and corporations are turning to such companies to help them turn their useless trash into useful energy.

Rex Allen Helps PCA Celebrate 50th

1984 World's Fair Ambassador

Rex Allen, TV and movie star, helped Rolling Plains PCA celebrate their 50th birthday with a laugh filled program at both sections of the Annual Stockholders Meeting held April 6th in Childress and April 7th in Stamford. Allen, whose ranching family has had a long affiliation with PCA in Arizona, recalled hard times on their "starvation ranch" during drought and the Depression. Interspersed with reminiscences of his boyhood and life now in Palm Springs, California, he entertained the large crowds with renditions of such favorites as "Up A Lazy River" and "Tumblin' Tumbleweeds."

In appreciation of his excellent performance, R. C. Cobb, President of Rolling Plains PCA, presented a gold-plated 50th Anniversary commemorative belt buckle to Rex Allen. Shelley Smith, Executive Director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center and member of the Association, introduced Allen at both gatherings and was also given one of the limited edition buckles.

B.H. DeBusk, Board Member from Anson, gave the Report from the Board which cited the strength of the Association has attained in its 50 year history and especially the growth since the merging of the Memphis and Stamford PCAs creating Rolling Plains Production Credit Association in 1965.

The Nomination Committee Report was presented by Darrell Richards, Chairman from Avoca. Elected to serve on the 1985 Nominating Committee were: Childress Office - Ben Teague; Matador Office - Stewart Dixon; Munday Office - James Albus; Spur Office - Bill Young; and Stamford Office - Jack Young.

Re-elected to the Board of Directors were W.J. Boykin of Northfield and B.H. DeBusk. Also serving on the Board are W. H. Williams of Spur, Garon B. Tidwell of Munday and Dan Henard, Jr. of Wellington.

Mr. Cobb introduced many former directors, officers and personnel as well as numerous guest in attendance and discussed the Association's financial report.

The Board of Directors met immediately following the Annual Meeting. For the upcoming year, W.J. Boykin and W.H. Williams will continue as Board Chairman and Vice Chairman respectively. Action of the Board resulted in Matador Office Manager Allen Bingham's appointment as Vice President and Bobby Sosolik of Munday and Jay Morris of Childress being named as Assistant Vice Presidents, with each to continue in the office to which they are currently assigned.

Approximately 250 attended the Childress session with over 500 in attendance at Stamford. The Association maintains offices in Childress, Matador, Munday, Spur and Stamford.

Cotton Council Chairman Cites Credits

Industry investment in the National Cotton Council produced returns of more than $295 million on five activities alone in 1983, cotton industry leaders heard at a meeting here today.

Chairman of the meeting was Edward Ekdahl, Avoca, a Council producer delegate.

Program for the meeting was given by a team of Council staff members. Among the activities cited by the team were:

Boll Weevil — The Council played a major role in obtaining the federal funding necessary to extend the boll weevil eradication zone throughout the Carolinas to supplement the 70 percent cost share borne by growers.

Bale Packaging — The improved bale package resulting from efforts by the Council and other groups is estimated to save at least $10 a bale each year.

Korean Credit — Obtaining blended credit for Korea last year enabled the U.S. to hold a market for more than half a million bales, improving producers' prices for the whole crop in addition to the shippers' profits on the extra sales.

Ekdahl explained that the $295 million returned by the five activities was produced from a $3.5 million annual dues investment by industry members.

Since the beginning of this year, changes obtained by the Council in conservation requirements on diverted acreage will save growers an estimated $30 million, while still protecting the soil.

"In addition to these and other concrete returns," Ekdahl said, "we must include a value for the very real but intangible goodwill factors, such as the reputation the Council has built up for integrity and political influence."

Noting the difficulty in placing a value on these intangibles, Ekdahl added, "It is safe to say the figure would be in the hundreds of millions of dollars."

The Council staff team

reported that perhaps the greatest challenge facing cotton and the Council will be the shaping of new farm legislation which must be passed not later than 1985.

Still others are solving the cotton dust problem, finding an answer to the textile import problem that is eroding cotton's domestic market, and achieving reasonable policies on agricultural chemicals.

The staff team reported that delegates at the annual meeting in February voted to step up their investment in the Council. The report noted that:

"This is only the third time dues have been increased since the Council was formed in 1938;

"Despite belt-tightening and personnel reductions, inflation and short crops seriously eroded the Council's financial position in 1983, and a further decline is evident for this year;

"Unless the dues structure is changed, Council reserves would be wiped out by the end of 1986 and income would fall $1.5 million short of current program needs in 1987.

"As I see it, we in the cotton industry need the Council more than ever," Ekdahl said. "Over the last 15 years, our problems in the legislative and regulatory areas have multiplied unbelievably—and the only way our industry has survived has been through pooling our resources and our best brains and working together in our central organization."

He noted that Council programs have just been thoroughly reviewed by a special committee made up of four producers—one from each region of the Cotton Belt—and one representative from each of the six other sectors of the industry.

"They concluded that Council programs are cost-effective and are zeroing in on the main concerns of the industry," Ekdahl added.

Report Earnings To SSA By April 15

April 15 is the deadline for reporting 1983 earnings to the Social Security Administration, according to Glyn Hammons, manager of the Abilene Social Security office. Anyone who received Social Security checks in 1983 and earned over $4920 if they were under age 65 or $6600 if they were 65 or over has to make an annual report to Social Security so that their records can be balanced. The report is needed even if the estimated earnings for the year turned out to be exactly the amount earned.

The 1984 estimates of earnings are also due by April 15. This year the exempt amounts are $5160 for those who are under age 65 and $6960 for those who are 65 or over. If a beneficiary turned age 70 in 1983, no report will be needed for 1984, but the 1983 report will have to be made.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Our girls' athletic season is drawing rapidly to a close. Because of the unusual success of our boys' athletics this year, I am afraid we have overlooked the girls' program somewhat. Our girls' basketball season was a good one. All five teams (7th, 8th, 9th, Jayvee, and Varsity) had winning seasons. They worked hard. The girls' golf team in only its second season of competition, improved markedly under the coaching of Jimmy Dan Raughton. The girls' tennis team won 1st place in district under the leadership of Greg Melton. Three girls, Jennifer Davis, Denise Burris, and Sheila Klose, qualified for Regional. All three of the girls' track teams were successful. The varsity girls came in second in district. Six girls qualified for Regional, Emily Camacho in the 3200 meter run, Kathy Kemp in the 1500 meter run, Denise Young in the 800 meter run, Holli High in the 400 meter dash, and Mindy Smith in the 100 meter dash. One person who deserves special mention is Coach Jim Bob Mickler. Coach "Mick" is the line coach in football and coached the Jayvee football team. He is the head girls' coach. When Coach Coy Payne, who was to serve as his assistant, became ill, Coach Mickler was left with the burden of coaching all the Junior High and Varsity basketball. Coach Holt took the 9th and Jayvee girls. Coach Mickler taught three science classes in addition to these coaching responsibilities. It is a good thing he is a hard, willing worker. The future looks bright for our girls' program. We have a group of hard-working, competitive girls all the way through our program. They like to play and get along well together. They also have some ability. We really believe they will achieve their share of success.

Houston Neurologist Warns Against Nicotine Poisoning

Snuff dipping and tobacco chewing can cause high nicotine levels in the blood and can lead to nicotine poisoning, a Houston neurologist warns in the journal Texas Medicine.

Dr. Bernard M. Patten notes that within five minutes a single pinch of snuff results in a nicotine blood level that is 28 percent greater than the level reached from cigar smoking for 65 minutes.

"The nicotine peak with snuff matches that achieved with those old Havana-type cigars and exceeds that found in heavy cigarette smokers," he writes in the April issue of the Texas Medical Association's journal.

A continually high level of nicotine from constant use of snuff "could pave the way for chronic nicotine toxicity," says Patten, an associate professor of neurology at Baylor College of Medicine. Nicotine poisoning from snuff dipping and tobacco chewing can lead to nerve damage, severe muscle weakness, fatigue and weight loss, he says. The physician cites the case of a 20-year-old man who led a vigorous life of working cattle, riding bulls, and jogging. He became ill about the time he began using snuff and chewing tobacco, and his condition worsened over a six-month period.

His snuff dipping became continuous as his consumption reached two tins a day. He lost about 35 pounds without change in appetite or diet.

"His muscles became thin and weak and ached especially after exercise," the doctor writes. "Despite attempts at weight lifting and other exercise, the muscle wasting continued and especially involved muscles around shoulders and hips."

The patient had difficulty climbing stairs and getting out of a chair, Patten says, "and bull riding became impossible....He complained that he felt unsteady and tended to drift to the right when he walked." Other problems included slight muscle twitches and cold feet.

Patten notes that after the patient stopped using all tobacco products, he felt better. The aches disappeared within a week, and the patient was back to normal body weight and activity within three months.

"As an experiment, the patient decided to restart dipping the snuff to see if the condition would return," Patten writes.

It did. But the patient again returned to normal after he stopped dipping.

"The return of similar symptoms after the patient resumed use of snuff and remission of symptoms when he again quit using snuff speak for a definite role for tobacco in causing his weakness," Patten concludes.

He says adverse effects of nicotine on nerves and muscles depend on several factors: the individual's susceptibility, state of nutrition, liver function, type of tobacco, where it was grown, and the nicotine content.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with rules and orders promulgated by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of a public hearing to begin at 10 a.m. on Monday, May 14, 1984, in the offices of the Public Utility Commission, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, concerning proposals made by the company to add three optional services and delete two services from the list of local exchange services available to its Texas customers.

Proposed additions to the local exchange tariffs include an optional Local Measured Service under which all residence customers and single-line business customers could pay monthly rates less than flat rate for one-party service, with an additional charge for each completed outgoing call to be determined by the time of day, distance and duration of each call; and a subsidized LIFELINE local service to be made available to qualified individuals, as determined by the Public Utility Commission. The monthly rate for LIFELINE service would include an allowance of 25 outgoing calls per month, plus a charge for each additional call.

Proposed for deletion from the local exchange tariffs are one-element measured service offerings for residence customers and single-line business customers, but current customers would not be affected.

The company does not anticipate that these additional services will result in an increase in revenue to Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Southwestern Bell Telephone

Aviso al Publico

Por medio del presente aviso y en conformidad con las reglas y dictámenes de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, la compañía Southwestern Bell Telephone anuncia la audiencia pública que se llevará a cabo a partir de las 10 de la mañana del día lunes 14 de mayo de 1984 en las oficinas de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, con respecto a la propuesta de la compañía, que consiste en agregar tres servicios opcionales y suprimir dos servicios de la lista de servicios telefónicos locales a disposición del usuario en Texas.

Las adiciones propuestas al arancel del servicio telefónico local incluyen un Servicio Medido Local opcional según el cual todos los clientes residenciales y los clientes comerciales con línea única pagarían tarifas mensuales menores que la tarifa fija para servicios de línea única, con un cargo adicional por cada llamada completa efectuada desde ese teléfono, establecido según la hora, la distancia y la duración de cada llamada; así como un servicio local subvencionado de LIFELINE que estaría disponible para determinadas personas, según lo establezca la Comisión de Servicios Públicos. La tarifa mensual para el servicio de LIFELINE incluiría 25 llamadas mensuales con un cargo adicional por cada llamada en exceso de 25.

Se propone suprimir del arancel del servicio telefónico local las opciones de servicio medido de un elemento para clientes residenciales y clientes comerciales con línea única, pero esto no afectaría a los clientes actuales.

La compañía no espera que estos servicios adicionales produzcan un aumento de ingresos para Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223 o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para sordos.

Farabee Explains Workers' Comp Ruling

Questions about the recent state district court ruling in Travis County that farmworkers cannot be exempted from workers' compensation protections and concerns about a proposal by a statewide committee on farmworker insurance were addressed Monday by Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

"Many people from the 30th District have questions about what the court decision will require of them. It is important to note that the court decision does not require farmers and ranchers to carry workers' compensation insurance on their employees. It does, however, remove important defenses employers have traditionally raised in lawsuits over farmworker injuries sustained on the job. This makes it easier to win a lawsuit against an employer and makes a suit against the employer harder to defend," Farabee stated.

Ranch workers in the state had the right to sue their employers for injuries received on the job but were required to prove that the accident had occurred due to the employer's negligence. Following the court ruling, workers are still required to prove that the employer was negligent, but traditional defenses, such as contributory negligence by the laborer, are no longer allowed.

The Senator noted that from a strictly legal point of view, the ruling has a narrow applicability at this time. Since there are about 365 district courts in Texas, and those courts are not bound by Judge Clark's decision, it is possible that cases in other district courts could be decided differently.

The Attorney General has appealed the case to the Court of Appeals. If the case is ultimately appealed to the State Supreme Court, the Court's decision will be binding for all of Texas, whether it affirms or reverses the district court decision. Because of the uncertainties of litigation for all sides, many would prefer to see this issue resolved by the Legislature.

The compromise legislation drafted by the Joint Committee on Farmworkers Insurance has been approved by most members of the Committee. Representatives of the Farm Bureau have not approved the bill. Senator Farabee outlined some of the major provisions of the compromise legislation:

•All migrant workers, those seasonal workers employed on truck farms, orchards and vineyards or those working for employers with payrolls greater than $25,000 in 1985, would be covered by the Workers' Compensation Act. The $25,000 threshold would be adjusted for inflation in subsequent years.

•Full-time workers would be covered by the Workers' Compensation Act, but their inclusion would be phased in over a ten-year period. Those working for a farmer or rancher with a gross annual payroll of greater than $100,000 in 1985, 1986 or 1987 would be added immediately. By 1995 all full-time workers would be covered, regardless of the employer's payroll. (Gross annual payroll does not include family members, partners of corporate shareholders.); and •Migrant or seasonal workers covered by workers compensation would be prohibited from bringing suit against the owner or operator of the property for any injuries they may sustain.

Journalism Students Win State Awards

Five journalism students won state Interscholastic League Press awards for their work on the Haskell High School newspaper, the War Whoop. Juniors Todd Harris and Joey Kimbrough won a first place award in the Photo Story category for their ag photo story. Harris, a photographer and sports writer, took the pictures, and Kimbrough, photographer and ag reporter, wrote the story. For his interpretive article about a football player's thinking or instinct, sports editor Shane Hadaway placed second. Editor Kathy Kemp took both second and third places for her front page lay out on the Dec. 2, 1983 and Jan. 28, 1984 issues of the War Whoop. In sports column writing Hadaway teamed with Robert Ivey, also sports editor, to take a third place for their article about the suspension of Abilene football players for their involvement in over-the-counter drugs. Students competed against other AA schools throughout Texas for these awards. "We enter this contest each year because it is the most prestigious contest for high school journalists. Only three places in each category are awarded and the competition is tremendous," Mrs. Jill Druessedow, adviser, said.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

In the last several years, Texas has evolved into a virtual oasis for business and industry. Texas has emerged, especially in the last 10 years as a powerful business, political and social influence on the rest of the nation.

As we recognized Texas Business and Industry Week April 1-7, it was a time to applaud the many accomplishments of Texas business men and women. When business prospers, all Texans benefit in the form of jobs and increased business opportunities.

And the future for Texas business looks bright. Projections indicate Texas will continue to exceed the United States economic growth rate as a whole. Unemployment also is expected to continue to decrease.

This optimistic outlook is responsible for a mass immigration of people from other parts of the country. Our population is growing faster than that of California, and it has been predicted that one out of every 12 Americans will live in Texas by the year 2000.

A recent national study ranked Texas as having the second most favorable business climate in the nation. Several factors make Texas attractive to business and industry.

One is a relatively strong economy. Non-farm employment in the last 10 years has grown by more than twice the national average. Personal incomes have risen by 26 percent faster than the United States as a whole in the past decade.

Texas also has one of the lowest per capita tax burdens in America. We have no corporate or individual income tax. Taking into account all state and local taxes, the total tax burden per capita in Texas is about 80 percent of the national average.

Labor laws in Texas also are favorable for business investment. We have a right to work law that makes it illegal to force union membership on a worker as a condition for employment. Union membership extends to only about 12½ percent of the manufacturing workforce — about half of the national average. In many areas of Texas, there is almost no union activity.

Texas also is a transportation center. Houston ranks third among U.S. ports in its annual volume of business. There are 11 other deepwater ports in the state, and Texas handles more than an eighth of all U.S. foreign trade. To assist in the trade effort, there are seven foreign trade zones in Texas with an additional four awaiting approval. In terms of passenger traffic, Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport is the sixth busiest airport in the world and Houston is the 13th busiest.

Finally, the style of Texas life, coupled with a reasonable cost of living, makes Texas an attractive place for investors and employees to locate or relocate. We can look forward to Texas becoming the home of many emerging industries such as those in the field of high technology.

This continued business and industry boom in Texas will mean a better economy for our nation and a better life for Texans.

School Land Bids Increase

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro announced today that bids received by the School Land Board in Tuesday's lease sale of 81,000 acres of state land have earned an additional $17,525,052 for the Permanent School Fund which now totals $4.1 billion.

Mauro, who serves as Chairman of the School Land Board, said that the new leasing policies implemented by his office for the April 3 sale resulted in an average bonus bid of $216.49 per acre. The School Land Board accepted 178 bids on 159 tracts of state land.

"The average is about twice what we received in the October lease sale ($120.40 per acre bonus) and is an indication that our new leasing policies are paying off," Mauro commented. "The new policies are intended to ensure that the state of Texas collects every cent it is entitled to from mineral production on state land."

Getty Oil Co. with a bid of $860,650.86 on a 1701.16 acre tract in the Gulf of Mexico had the single highest bid. Amoco Production Co. had the highest number of successful bids with 18 totaling $4,702,734.

"When I came into office, we examined state leasing policies and discovered numerous inequities," Mauro explained. "As a result I appointed a Blue Ribbon Commission of oil industry experts and consumer representatives to conduct an in-depth review of the state's leasing procedures. "Despite the fact that today's lease sale was somewhat smaller than in the past, a series of new leasing policies based on the commission's recommendations are now in place and are working to increase revenue for the Permanent School Fund," Mauro said. "Without these policy changes, today's lease sale would have produced substantially less income for the state."

Mauro said new leasing policies in effect for today's lease sale included: 1) an increase from 30 to 60 days advance notification on tracts to be included in the lease sale; 2) establishing a $100 nomination fee to discourage companies from nominating tracts for inclusion in the sale that they have no real interest in; 3) increases in the state's minimum per acre cash bonus for all types of land; 4) measures to ensure prompt development of state leases; 5) increased analysis and identification of state tracts with significant discovery potential.

Four tracts in the Gulf of Mexico that Mauro had rejected bids on in the October lease sale received a total of almost $2.7 million in bonuses. The new bids are approximately $2.2 million higher than the original rejected bids. "I think today's substantially higher bids on these same tracts is an indication that our rejection of the original bids was certainly in the best interest of the state," Mauro said.

"The money realized from these lease sales goes directly to the Permanent School Fund to support public education in Texas," Mauro emphasized.

"These new policies will give us fair market value on production from state land and will help ensure the state receives a maximum return from its irreplaceable oil and gas reserves," Mauro said.

Crop Insurance Decisions Must Be Made Soon

Some Texas farmers have until mid- to late-April to decide on insurance for their 1984 crops.

Although sign-up time is past for farmers in South Texas and in some other areas depending on the crop, farmers in central, eastern and far western areas have until April 14 to make a decision on peanuts and April 15 to decide on insuring cotton. Farmers in the plains and parts of north central Texas have until April 30 to insure cotton, but all other crops must be insured by April 15.

Basically, farmers have a choice among three different kinds of insurance, points out Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A farmer can choose to insure his crops for 50, 65 or 75 percent of the average yield and can select from several price levels. The premium will depend on the percent coverage and price election as well as the risk area where the farm is located. Average historical yields are determined for each risk area and are used in calculating insurance premiums and coverage levels.

Farmers with high yield histories can now secure higher coverage under the Individual Yield Coverage Plan, adds Lovell.

He reminds farmers that the base premium rates they pay vary with each crop and risk area. However, these premiums are all subsidized by the government, depending on the coverage level.

In general crop insurance is a good alternative for managing risk, contends the economist.

A farmer will collect on his insurance if the actual physical yield falls short of the guaranteed yield coverage he selected earlier. The indemnity per acre is determined by the actual yield minus the yield coverage selected multiplied by the price option selected and adjusted by the producer's share.

Policies can be purchased through private insurance companies. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation helps to market the policies and reinsures them.

Crop insurance does not cover neglect or theft but does cover unavoidable losses due to adverse weather, points out Lovell. It provides protection for physical quantity and quality losses on a specific crop.

Farmers insuring their 1984 crops will receive their premium bills around harvest time, notes Lovell. Then they have 30 days to pay or the government will start charging interest on the unpaid balance.

A farmer insuring his crops this year will automatically be reinsured from year to year unless premiums go unpaid or he cancels the policy.

Church Of Christ Sets Spring Meeting

The Church of Christ, which meets at 510 N. Ave. E in Haskell, announces their Spring Meeting with Dan Billingsly of Denton. Dates for the meeting will be Sunday, April 15 through Wednesday, April 18. Mr. Billingsly will speak at 9:30, 10:30 and 6:00 on Sunday, and each morning Monday through Wednesday at 7:00 a.m. at a thirty minute devotional service, with the main message each night at 7:00 p.m.

Billingsly was among the first evangelists in Stockholm, Sweden, where he labored for five years. During this time he worked in Norway, Finland, Denmark, and several European countries. In 1963, upon his return from Sweden, Billingsly established the first school in Dallas for training evangelists among churches of Christ. This work is now known as the Preston Road School of Preaching, and has seen twenty one classes graduate.

Billingsly has been involved in an exhaustive study in the contrast of the Old and New Testaments, especially the period covering the life of Christ as revealed in Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

Theme for this meeting is "Understanding the Bible." Everyone is urged to be present for this series of lessons.

Money Matters

A Series Of Informative "Plain Talk" Thoughts Regarding Your Money Matters

The IRA Account

The Individual Retirement Account is a good investment in your future as well as a great way to pay less taxes.

With the new eligibility requirements, you may open an IRA Account even if you are already covered by a pension or profit-sharing plan at work. You may make annual contributions of up to $2,000 into the IRA Account ($2,250 if you have a non-working spouse). If both you and your spouse work, you can contribute $2,000 each.

Federal income tax on these contributions is deferred until you begin withdrawing the money at age 59½ or when you retire. An Individual Retirement Account makes it possible to save an enormous amount of money for your future retirement and save money on taxes in the process. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Your deposits with us are insured by FDIC for up to $100,000.

C. E. Tidwell Issues Statement To Voters

I would like to thank all of the people in Precinct #1 for your support in the past, and would appreciate your vote and influence in the coming election.

I have no other job, so I can devote all my time as your commissioner.

Precinct #1 is in good shape financially. I have bought three new trucks, four pickups for the men to go to work in, one motor grader, and one tractor. The other four motor graders are in good shape.

In the seven years I have been your commissioner, I have enjoyed working with each of you, and helping each one in anyway I could. I have been in my place at Commissioners Court each time. In the seven years I have been commissioner I have only missed court one time.

The Lord has blessed me with good health and I would like to serve as your commissioner another term. I will try to see each one of you in person, but if I should miss you, please accept this as a solicitation for your vote and influence.

My men working for me are H.L. (Cooter) Boles, Mark Whittemore, Jack Sellers, Jim Hearn and Gearld Walters. They are willing to help you anyway they can.

Thank you,
C.E. (Chunky) Tidwell
