EMS Drive Underway

A special drive has been started to purchase a cardiac defibrillator for use by paramedics of the Haskell County Emergency Medical Service.

The new device will be used in conjunction with a cardiac monitor which is already in use on the local ambulance service.

The monitor and defibrillator are used with heart patients and according to Haskell County EMS Director Don Glandon, they aren't need often but when needed they can be lifesavers.

The monitor was purchased some time ago and the companion defibrillator will be purchased as soon as funds are available.

Local EMS personnel are currently accepting donations of $1.00 each and will give away two gift certificates of $250.00 each.

Emergency Medical Service in Haskell County is currently operated with two full time paramedics and volunteer emergency medical technicians and emergency care attendants. Glandon is a paramedic and registered nurse and Casey Caldwell is a paramedic. Both are employed full time.

To be certified as a paramedic in Texas, an individual must complete almost 800 hours of intensive training in a wide variety of emergency medical procedures. EMT's complete about 160 hours of training and ECA's complete about 50 hours. Upon completion of the course requirements, all students undergo testing on both written and practical tests.

Disaster Extension

Haskell County Judge John Wayne McDermott has received notification that the United States Department of Agriculture has extended the application period of FmHA declared counties where a disaster occurred during 1983.

The application period has been extended through December 4, 1984. The disaster declaration included sixty-six counties in Texas including Haskell County.

According to FmHA, this extension applies only for damages during the 1983 crop year. Farmers and ranchers may apply through December 4 for damages which occurred during the 1983 crop year.

Assistance request for the damages suffered in 1984 should be filed at the end of the crop year.

Panel Discussion Centers Around Education Topic

Big Country residents had an opportunity Tuesday night to listen and ask questions to a man who's name has become a household word across the state during the past few months.

H. Ross Perot, Chairman of the Select Committee On Public Education, (SCOPE) was a member of a four man panel during a town hall meeting in Abilene. Other panel members were State Senator Grant Jones, State Commissioner of Education, Raymond Bynum and Robert Norwood of the Texas Research League.

The largest disagreement between Perot and Bynum became obvious early in the meeting when Perot again emphasized his opinion concerning the need for an appointed State Board of Education instead of an elected board. Bynum is in favor of an elected board. His (Perot's) comments concerning an appointed board drew scattered applause and about equal boo's from the crowd to which Perot replied, "Okay...you asked for it".

He explained that the elected board during the past twenty-five years has continued to spend more and more money and the quality of education has continued to get worse and worse. According to Perot, ten years ago education in Texas costs $1.5 billion and today is costing $8.3 billion. Perot stated that education is the single biggest business in the State.

As an example of the size of the cost of education, Perot compared it with the gross receipts of Texas Instruments which is only about one half the amount spent annual on education.

Perot told the audience of about 1,500 that "We have a management problem and we've got to stop throwing money at the problem and thinking it will go away".

Again commenting on the State Board of Education Perot said "One person has been president of the Board for the past nine years...you can't be President of the United States for nine years. If you're not satisfied with this explanation, go to a State Board meeting. It's like visiting the Louisiana Legislature when Huey Long was Governor".

In addition to an appointed Board Perot emphasized the need to move extra curricular activities to after school. He said, "...we've got to get the day back, we're spending about 50% of the day on academics on the average and in some places only 25% of the day".

Responding to a question from the audience concerning lengthening the school day or the school year, Perot replied, "There is no need to lengthen the school day or school year until you get back the time we now have".

Another question concerning raising academic requirements of passing four courses to be eligible for extra curricular activities brought two pointed comments from Perot. "Look at any high school football playbook. Anyone who can learn that can pass four courses", said Perot and he added, "there is no social promotion to the first string".

Vocational education programs and competency testing of teachers also drew several questions from the audience.

Perot explained that the SCOPE Committee was not opposed to vocational education but they were opposed to students missing 25 school days showing a chicken or 32 days exhibiting a sheep, both of the incidents were documented according to Perot.

He also expressed serious concern that many vocational programs across the State are teaching skills for which there is no job demand on obsolete equipment.

He emphasized the need for quality vocational education but expressed concern that we're teaching vocational education on the high school level, the junior college level, the college level and at special vocational training schools. He said that as parents we should rebel after paying for a bicycle repair course four times.

Robert Norwood added that it cost an average of $200.00 to teach an English class per student and the vocational education courses cost from $450.00 to $1,000.00 per student.

On teacher competency testing Perot stated that 90% of our teachers are qualified, dedicated and should be admired by every citizen of the State. He added that 10% is a small number of incompetent teachers when compared to most businesses or professions.

He cited an example speaking to a cattleraisers organization when the membership said that many more than 10% were incompetent.

"Nobody wants the incompetent teacher out of the classroom more than the teachers", said Perot. He explained that competency testing could be as simple as giving teachers a test on the materials they teach at grade level. "We don't expect an elementary math teacher to score 100 on an analytical geometry test but we do expect them to pass a test on what they're teaching", said Perot. He cited as an example an actual film clip of a teacher in Houston trying four times to multiply 67 times four and then giving up in front of the class. "That's the kind of teacher we don't need", said Perot.

Norwood told the audience that at the current rate of $8.3 billion per year, education will cost $25 billion by the year 2000.

Later in the meeting responding to another question concerning the appointed vs. elected State Board of Education Perot told the audience, "you can put an English saddle on a jackass and make him look pretty, but he'll never win the Kentucky Derby".

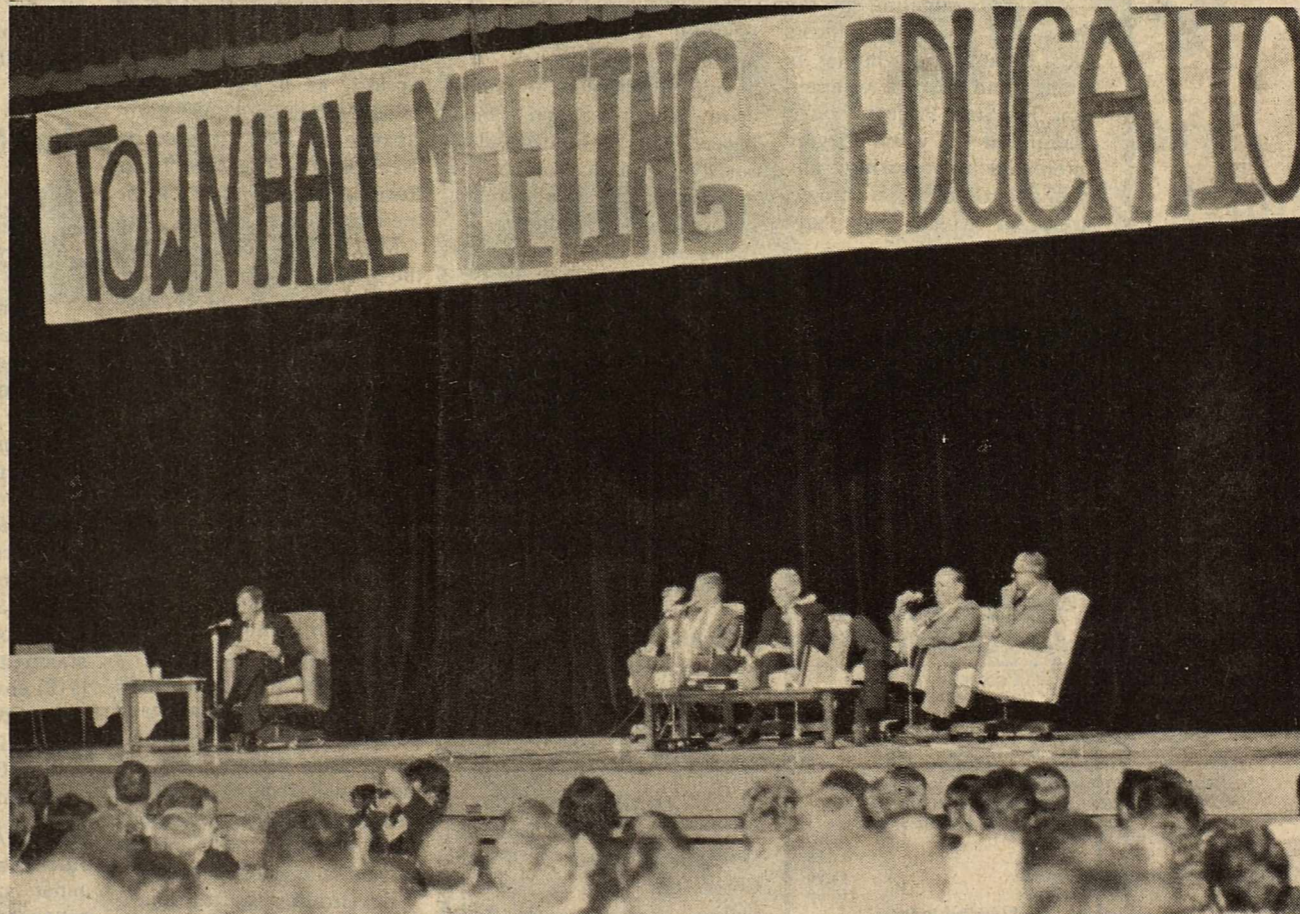

Attending the meeting from Haskell were: James Lanier, Clayton Neal, W.L. (Blue) Holt, Rick Perry and Don Comedy.

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel discussion on education was held in Abilene Tuesday night with about 1,500 people attending. Moderator for the discussion was State Representative Gary Thompson, left. Ross Perot, Chairman of the Select Committee On Public Education, State Senator Grant Jones, Raymond Bynum, Commissioner of Education, and Robert Norwood of the Texas Research League.

Olympic Torch To Pass Through Seymour June 15

The City of Seymour, Baylor County and the Seymour Chamber of Commerce wish to extend an invitation to the citizens of your city and county to visit Seymour to see the Olympic Torch as it passes through our city.

The Torch is due to arrive in Seymour Friday, June 15, 1984, at approximately 12:45 p.m. on its journey from New York to Los Angeles for the Los Angeles Olympics. The caravan will travel

Hwy. 114, coming from Olney and heading toward Lubbock. Officials, visiting our city, have advised us no one will be allowed to join the caravan as it passes through our town.

We are using the American Flag and State Flag to decorate our city and it is our goal to have most spectators waving flags to cheer the Torchbearers on their way.

We encourage you to bring flags, banners or any type of sign to advertise your city or organization.

Small hand flags will be available, free of charge, at the stores in Seymour.

A review stand will be located on the east side of the court house, with cold drink stands located on the north side of the court house.

Come to Seymour June 15 to see this once-in-a-lifetime event! Help us make this a gala affair. We would like to see the route through our city lined with spectators from city limits to city limits.

It's sad, but true that less than 10% of the population of Texas will dictate how a large portion of the future will be shaped for Texas when they vote this Saturday.

Only about 25% of the registered voters of the State cast ballots during the May primaries and historically less than one-half as many ballots are marked in the second primaries.

Haskell County voters will elect a sheriff, two State Judges and a U.S. Senator.

Much local interest is centered around the sheriff's race and it is an important job.

We, as voters, owe it to the two candidates to express our opinion. When the excitement of winning subsidies no candidate will be as happy winning an office if less than one in ten of the eligible voters care enough to vote.

Good law enforcement is something we should expect, but the vast majority of the citizens of Haskell County will never have official business with the sheriff.

Our choice for a U.S. Senator is a different matter.

Practically every vote that a U.S. Senator casts will directly effect each of us. Two Texans will sit in the Senate chamber in Washington and represent the entire population of Texas on issues ranging from taxes to transportation; from agriculture to abortion; from federal finances to foreign policy and each of the decisions will have an impact on all of us.

There is a very marked difference in the two candidates for U.S.

Senator. The difference goes beyond the labels of Kent Hance "the conservative" and Lloyd Doggett "the liberal".

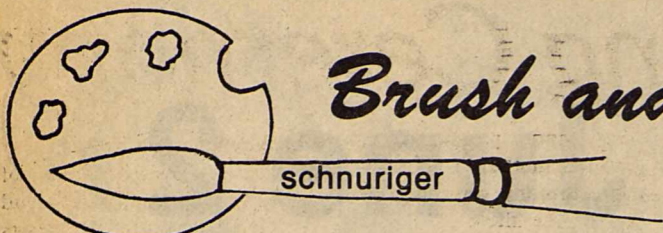

Kent Hance is a native of West Texas. He has served in the Texas Senate; and in the U.S. Congress since 1978. He has been a strong, effective voice for Texas and has a solid record of accomplishments.

He earned a seat on the powerful Ways and Means Committee and co-authored the largest tax cut in the history of the U.S. The tax cut saved middle class American taxpayers 25% after three years. He was also a vital voice in the reduction of the marriage penalty for taxpayers and fought for approval of an amendment requiring the Federal Government to operate within a balanced budget.

Kent Hance has proven himself as an effective conservative and has earned the respect of the Washington establishment as an individual who will support or oppose a bill based on the merits of the legislation as compared to the old custom voting for "bad" bills to earn bargaining power with colleagues.

Texas needs Kent Hance in the U.S. Senate and the conservative Democrats of West Texas have the votes to elect him.

We owe it to ourselves and our children to elect someone who is as concerned about our future as we are, and who understands that we pay the bills for the programs approved by Washington politicians.

Brush and Palette

Martha One-Wing lives at Lane Gulley's house, so does Wargo. Unusual names but when these house guests are unusual also. They're bald eagles. Even though they are magnificent, the can't return to the wild. Mrs. Gulley cares for injured hawks, owls and other birds. She takes Martha One-Wing and Wargo to visit schools and civic groups to educate her audience about birds of prey and their role in our environment. Martha has traveled to Washington. She flew there on a plane because one of her wings had to be amputated after she was shot. Martha, whose head and tail plumage has turned from a mousy brown to listening white, also gets Christmas cards every year. Mrs. Gulley created the eagle-awareness program after she took in the first bird. Then she decided there was no point caring for such birds unless the public was better educated about them. She has become somewhat like a 'Smoky the Bear' to people in Arkansas, where there is an eagle-awareness seminar each February. When one of her charges fly off into the horizon, she says it is like being a mother—you wonder what will happen to them on their own. Isn't it wonderful and gratifying to learn about such concerned people who will take the time and effort to care for our birds? Mrs. Gulley has prepared a packet of material that she sends to students, Scout groups, civic groups and any other interested individuals. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service pays for the mailings. This is a caring person, don't you agree?

Q. I have heard of the "tar and feather" method but do not know anything about that. Could you please explain?

A. This certainly is not a common usage since it refers to mixing and binding paints, which we usually do not do today. To make paint, the use of pigments and a binder is employed by the chemists. The pigments simply lie on the surface of other materials and stay there only as long as nothing causes then to come away, unless they are deliberately attached in some way with the binding medium. The binding medium being applied and then the pigment, which is called the "tar and feather" method.

Q. Was parchment used to paint on in the medieval times?

A. Yes, more medieval paintings were done on parchment than on any other material. Most medieval books of any pretension were written on parchment. Parchment provided an agreeable, beautiful, and durable ground not only for the writing but also for painting and gilding.

HINT: Just for today, I will do two things I don't want to do, just for the exercise.

Write your questions and hints to me, Faye Schnuriger, P.O. Box 134, Haskell, Texas 79521. I will not use your name but do want you to sign your letters.

Calcium Is Important For Good Health

Too little calcium in the diet can lead to bone and gum disease, high blood pressure, heart failure, and stroke, researchers have discovered. Despite the clear evidence that people must have substantial amounts of calcium in the diet to stay healthy, most American adults do not get enough of this vitally important mineral. Recent government surveys have shown that two out of every three women over the age of 17 do not get adequate dietary calcium, and neither do many men over age 35.

"It's ironic that, at a time when scientists are recognizing calcium's important role in good health and disease prevention, Americans as a group are consuming fewer dairy foods, the primary source of dietary calcium," notes Judy Hage, manager of the Consumer Services Division of Associated Milk Producers, Inc./Southern Region, headquartered in Arlington. "Adults seem to think that, once their bones are fully formed, they no longer need calcium. Nothing could be further from the truth."

Calcium is critical to life and health. Not only is it the major component of bones and teeth, it's essential for the normal maintenance of body functions. It's needed for the heart to beat, the blood to clot, muscles to contract and relax, and nerves to transmit message. If daily calcium intake is insufficient, the body is forced to take calcium from the bones to meet the body's need for the mineral. Bones are, in effect, a backup system in case the diet lacks adequate calcium.

One of the consequences of too little calcium in the diet is the risk of periodontal disease and chronic gum infections, with the resulting loss of teeth. Gum disease has been definitely linked to calcium deficiency. A lack of calcium in the diet can lead to a loss of the bone that supports the teeth, and may cause the jawbone to shrink, making it virtually impossible to fit dentures properly.

Essentially all American women risk being crippled by the broken hips and spinal fractures of osteoporosis, a painful and disabling bone disease linked directly to calcium deficiency. The disease is caused by bone loss. It is eight times more common in women than in men. Pregnancy and breast-feeding, dieting, not eating enough calcium-rich foods, having a smaller skeleton, and a lack of estrogen after menopause all can contribute to the problem of weak and brittle bones.

There is no cure for osteoporosis, but it can be prevented. Regular exercise and a balanced diet that includes foods rich in calcium are two of the most effective ways to keep from getting the disease, or to lessen its effects by slowing bone loss in older women.

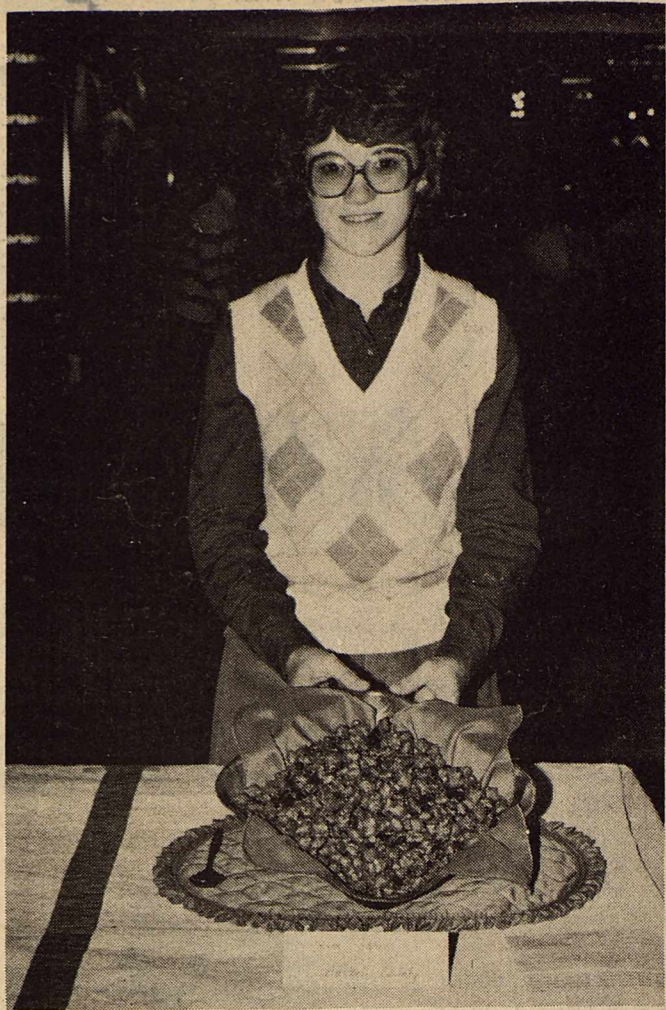

A lack of calcium in the diet can lead also to high blood pressure, a condition affecting about 60 million people in the U.S. Hypertension leads to kidney disease, heart failure, stroke, and even death. Recent research efforts, including studies by Dr. David A. McCarron, Associate Professor of Medicine at the University of Oregon Health Science Center, have uncovered a direct link between insufficient dietary calcium and high blood pressure. McCarron has suggested that people can cut their risk of high blood pressure by 75 percent simply by consuming a normal amount of calcium in the diet.

"It's not hard to get sufficient calcium in the diet," says Hage. "This dietary inadequacy is tragic and unnecessary. By simply consuming two to three servings daily of milk and other foods in the milk group, most adults can easily get the recommended 800 milligrams of calcium. Teenagers, pregnant women, and older women need more, but by making milk a part of meals, everyone can get enough calcium."

"Eat cheese and yogurt as snacks. Drink milk with meals. Use milk instead of water in creamed soups. Eat ice cream, custard, or pudding for dessert. Add nonfat dry milk to soups, stews, and casseroles. Add cheese to salads. The possibilities are endless. Dairy foods go so well with so many things, there's just no reason for the majority of adult Americans to be consuming a diet lacking in calcium," Hage notes.

Hage heads a staff of 25 dietitians and home economists employed by Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) to carry out a nutrition education program in the nine South Central States served by the dairy farm cooperative.

Jaska, Riggins Repeat Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Lisa Kay Riggins and Mr. Christopher Stephen Jaska were married in a double ring ceremony Saturday, May 19, 1984, at three o'clock in the afternoon at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Waco.

The Rev. Michael Mulvey, associate pastor of St. Mary's, and the Rev. Dan Carroll, minister of youth at Western Heights Baptist Church, officiated the ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a fan candelabra flanked by spiral and tree candelabras entwined with greenery and flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Riggins of Waco, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manford Reid of Rochester, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Riggins of Graham, formerly of Rule. She is the great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Curtis of Elbert, and Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Riggins of Olney.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Jaska of Crockett, formerly of Robinson, and the grandson of Mr. Edward J. Muhlstein of Hillsboro.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a designer bridal gown in ivory organza accented with chantilly lace and satin ribbon. The fitted bodice of the gown was designed with a Victorian neckline, lace appliques and pearls. The sheer yoke was enhanced with dropped shoulders and puffed sleeves with satin bows. The full skirt of organza was edged in a large ruffle with lace and ribbon trim and extended into a chapel length train. Her full silk illusion veil was held by a wreath of silk flowers and satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath with pink satin ribbon.

Maid of honor was Frances

Warren, and matron of honor was Karie Thompson DeFrees both of Waco. Bridesmaids were Lori Riggins of Waco, sister of the bride, Reida Mullino Harris of Rochester, cousin of the bride, Becky Jaska Crowley of Ft. Worth, Bridget Jaska Krahula of Austin, and Lexa Jaska Wetterman of Bryan, sisters of the groom, and Denise Chambers of Dallas.

The bride chose for her attendants floor length dresses of misty rose taffeta. The fitted bodice was accented with puffed sleeves and a sheer yoke. They wore silk flower wreaths trimmed with pastel pink dresses trimmed with ecru lace and pink satin ribbon, and carried matching bouquets.

Flower girls were Maggie Mullino of Dallas, Mary Belle Turner of Rochester, cousins of the bride, and Melissa Kolinek of Waco. They wore pastel pink dresses trimmed with ecru lace and pink satin ribbon and wore a wreath of flowers identical to the bridesmaids. They carried white wicker baskets edged with pink ribbon and baby's breath and filled with rose petals.

Candlelighters were Nita Riggins of Burkburnett, cousin of the bride, and Jennifer Kolinek of Waco. They wore pastel pink taffeta dresses accented with ecru lace and pink satin ribbon.

Attending the groom as best man was Adam Harry of Waco. Groomsmen and ushers were Matt Jaska of Corpus Christi, Mark Jaska of Waco, David Jaska of Crockett, brothers of the groom, Matt Reid of Rochester, cousin of the bride, Dwayne DeFrees, Jay Nye, and Bill Butler all of Waco.

The groom wore a pearl grey vested tuxedo with tails and satin lapels, and ivory wing shirt, and a pink rose boutonniere. His attendants wore pearl grey tuxedos with pastel pink wing shirts and pink boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose a floor length pastel pink dress of organza accented with pink satin ribbon. The groom's mother chose a dusty rose dress of chiffon.

The bride presented her mother with a long stemmed rose as she approached the Angie Strother of Waco attended the guest registry in the foyer of the church and also at the reception. Assisting her was Jana Riggins of Hillsboro, cousin of the bride.

The wedding reception was held at the Waco Syrian Association Clubhouse. The bride's table was covered with ivory satin and overlaid with ivory lace. An arrangement of silk flowers in shades of pink was entwined on a silver candelabra with pink candles. The cake was decorated with pink roses, wedding-bells, and doves. Ceramic doves that the bride had made topped the cake.

Pink punch was served from a silver punch bowl. Silver appointments held mints and white chocolate coated strawberries. Serving at the bride's table were Kim Riggins of Hillsboro and Andrea Wall of Tyler, cousins of the bride. Also Rickie Fore of Waco and Sherril Rister of Levelland.

The groom's table was covered with an ivory eyelet tablecloth and brass and crystal appointments. The centerpiece was a candelabra with votive cups and pink candles entwined with greenery. Serving punch and chocolate cake was Faye Mullino of Rochester, cousin of the bride, Susan Zapletal of Houston, cousin of the groom, and Lucy Jaska of Waco, sister-in-law of the groom.

Melissa Kolinek and Maggie Mullino handed out rice bags from pink satin lined baskets trimmed in lace.

The bride is a graduate of Midway High School and received an associate of arts degree from McLennan Community College. Prior to the wedding she was employed in the advertising department of the Waco Tribune-Herald.

The groom is a graduate of Robinson High School and received his associate degree in laser electro-optics from Texas State Technical Institute. He is a Field Service Engineer for Coherent, Inc. in Los Angeles, Calif. Following a honeymoon in Cancun, Mexico, the couple will live in Los Angeles.

1984 Marks Centennial Of Use Of Glass Milk Bottle

Milk is a rich source of calcium, protein and riboflavin as well as a good source of vitamin D and phosphorus. Because of its excellent nutrient composition, fluid milk is highly perishable and should be kept cold and protected. Proper handling, including packaging, can help milk retain its nutritional value, flavor, appearance and safety.

The year 1984 marks the centennial of the glass milk bottle, a giant step forward in making milk's quality readily available to consumers. Dr. Harvey D. Thatcher of Potsdam, New York, was the inventor of a glass bottle which could be filled with milk and capped to protect the products. Until then, milk was poured or dipped from cans or vats into customers' containers.

Dr. Thatcher was a druggist in Potsdam, New York. His first bottle was ten inches high and four inches wide at its largest diameter, with a glass cover held on by a wire hoop. He sold bottle for ten cents each.

For the next fifty years, glass was the only material used for milk containers. Today, less than 1% of the fluid milk sold in the United States is packaged in glass. This figure comes from the annual study of packaged fluid milk sales in the Federal Milk Order Markets conducted by the Dairy Division of the Agricultural Marketing Service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Plastic and paper are the materials used most often. Paper is used for about 40% of the milk packages and plastic for over 60%. Twenty years ago, glass was used for 31% of the containers, paper for 64% and plastic for barely 2%.

Sizes of milk packages have also changed. The original glass milk bottle held a quart of milk. Twenty years ago, only 13% of the containers were quarts, and today, the number is less than 5%. In 1964, the most popular container size for milk was the half-gallon (54%), but today, even more milk sales are in gallons (over 60%). The growth in sales of larger containers matches changes in other shopping patterns—fewer trips to the store, larger refrigerators and changes in packaging.

The newest package for milk is the UHT container. It is pre-sterilized and aseptically sealed, so that spoilage bacteria cannot enter the milk. This package is available only regionally and in quart or single-serving sizes.

Packaging improvements continue to keep milk's good taste and nutritional benefits available.

Producers—Don't Buy Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

Here's a suggestion for livestock producers in those areas of Texas where rains have occurred recently:

Don't buy brucellosis. That's a good practice any time under any conditions. But now that rains have fallen in parts of this state including some of the drier areas, there will be a tendency to restock when grass returns.

The temptation to buy cattle will be great, and producers should remember a basic management practice relating to brucellosis control: make sure the cattle you buy are free of brucellosis," Dr. Holcombe said.

He also urged producers to isolate any cattle they buy at any time from their herds and test them in 45 to 120 days following purchase to check for animals that might have been in the early stages of infection.

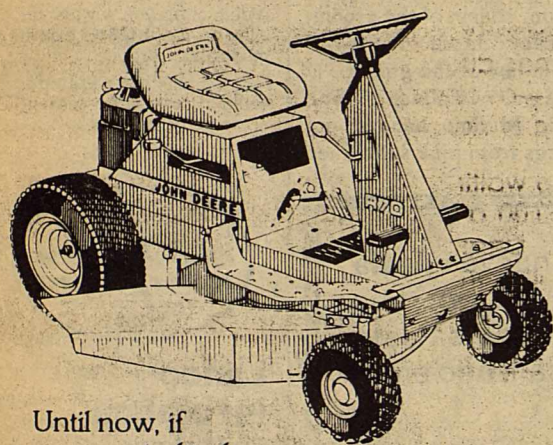

You might also want to consider buying cattle from a certified brucellosis free herd. There are now more than 1,100 such herds in Texas. The Texas Animal Health Commission area office nearest you can provide you with the names of owners of certified brucellosis free herds in your area.

"We have made a lot of progress throughout the state in reducing brucellosis infection, and this is especially true in the drought areas of Texas. Producers should follow through with this progress by remembering to check first on the brucellosis status of any cattle they buy. This is one situation where an ounce of prevention can prevent a whole herd of trouble," Dr. Holcombe said.

I would like to conclude my series of columns concerning Chapter 75 this week. I have probably dealt with the negative or difficult parts of Chapter 75 without giving credit to the positive points in my previous columns. There is certainly tremendous possibilities for improvement of learning inherent in the law. Certainly one of the most important aspects would be the standardization of at least basic curriculum throughout the state. A student in Houston would have to master the same essential elements as the student in Haskell. This would be at any grade level or any course offered. However, the law left enough flexibility that local districts can broaden their curriculum to fit their local needs.

Another possibility of educational improvement is in the teacher evaluation. The mastery aspect of Chapter 75 will give the administration a definite handle on how well a teacher is performing in at least the basic elements in class. It should eliminate the teacher simply putting out information. Instead the teacher must teach each student to a degree of mastery. Upon receiving the essential elements, we spot checked two classes of elementary school and three curriculum areas at the secondary level. We found that we were teaching the vast majority of the essential elements. Our next step will be to assure and document that students are achieving mastery of these elements.

Mr. Blakley and his three second grade teachers took the time lines and essential elements and taught with them last year as an experiment. If the entire district can achieve what this class was able to achieve, then, we certainly have a gem of a program. Their growth on the SRA achievement test was phenomenal.

Another part of Chapter 75 deals with the academic day and interferences by the co-curricular activities. The Administration and the Board of Education of Haskell ISD has been concerned with this problem. However, the problem still exists. Chapter 75 will force us "to bite the bullet" and take further steps to recapture the academic day. This is not to imply that we will not remain competitive in co-curricular activities such as athletics, band, FFA, etc. It will simply guarantee that we will not let "the tail wag the dog." We will still put a good team on the field Friday night or a good judging team together. It simply means that the primary emphasis will be placed in the academic improvement of students. This has been our intention and our goal.

There are still problems to be attacked in the implementation of Chapter 75. I am sure that during the next few years, there will be other changes as schools implement the program and face some major obstacles. However, I truly feel this is a golden opportunity for teachers and administrators along with School Boards and patrons to improve academic learning throughout the State.

Tips For Controlling Cholesterol

Cutting back on cholesterol doesn't require "giving up" anything. But it does mean "balancing" the fat and cholesterol content of meals and snacks.

More and more Americans are concerned about reports of medical studies linking the risk of heart attack to cholesterol consumption. However, the American Dietetic Association (ADA) advises against overreaction.

Removing dairy foods from your diet to prevent heart disease, for example, would only increase your chances for osteoporosis since dairy foods are a major source of calcium, says the ADA.

Instead, moderation, not elimination, of foods high in fat to reduce the cholesterol in your diet is encouraged.

Some obvious ways of cutting back on cholesterol include choosing lowfat and nonfat dairy products, trimming fat from meat and avoiding fried foods, especially those breaded or battered.

Here are some other ADA recommended methods for cutting back on cholesterol that you may not know about:

- When possible, choose vegetable oils. Despite what the recipe says, use oil or margarine rather than shortening, lard or butter when baking.
- Use moderate amounts of salad dressings or try lemon juice with a variety of herbs and spices to season a salad.
- Use a blender to whip a plain lowfat yogurt or lowfat cottage cheese and substitute the whipped ingredient for sour cream and mayonnaise.
- Try mozzarella cheese and other cheeses made from part skim milk, which are lower in fat and cholesterol than cheddar or Swiss.
- Use skim or lowfat milk in puddings, sauces, soups and baked products. It's a myth that whole milk is essential in recipes.
- Substitute egg whites for whole eggs, using two whites for every egg listed in a recipe. Egg yolks have a high

4-H's To Receive Scholarships

Outstanding 4-H members from across the state will reap a bountiful harvest of scholarships at the 1984 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University, June 5-6.

Eighty-five youths will receive scholarships totaling $498,900.

"Our 4-H scholarship programs continue to grow each year due to tremendous support from the private sector," says Preston Sides, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and executive director of the Texas 4-H Foundation.

The 4-H Foundation is a non-profit organization that provides private sector support for the 4-H program in Texas and arranges for scholarship donors and numerous other gifts and awards.

By far the largest donor to the Texas scholarship program, says Sides, is the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, which this year is providing 50 scholarships of $8,000 each to youths who plan to major in agriculture at a Texas college or university. 1984 scholarship donors

- include the following:
- Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Plainview--one at $4,000
- Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Fort Worth--one at $4,000
- Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo--50 at $8,000
- Raymond Dickson Foundation, Hallettsville--seven at $500
- Texas Farm Bureau, Waco--two at $4,000
- C.J. Davidson Endowment, College Station--eight at $4,000
- Texas Feed and Grain Association, Fort Worth--one at $4,000

- Word and Patricia Sherrill, Midland--one at $1,000
- Floyd Lynch, College Station--one at $1,000
- Texas 4-H Foundation Annual and Memorial Fund, College Station--one at $1,000
- Volunteer Leaders Association of Texas--two at $1,200 (college students only)
- San Antonio Livestock Exposition--five at $6,000
- Downtown Stock Show Auction Syndicate, Fort Worth (James M. Norman Scholarship Fund)--one at $4,000
- Panhandle-South Plains Fair, Lubbock--four at $1,000
- "All but two of the scholarship recipients are 4-H members graduating from high school," says Sides. "Each applicant completes a scholarship application which is screened by a committee of Extension personnel. Finalists are interviewed before the recipients are named." Kim Jones, Haskell County 4-H'er from Rochester will interview for one of these scholarships. The 4-H Foundation's scholarship program is one of 13 major areas of support to the Texas 4-H program, Sides adds. The program began in 1964 with two scholarships totaling $2,000.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed a tariff with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to make end user common line charges associated with Centrex CO service equal to those to be billed to Private Branch Exchange service. The Commission has suspended the proposed tariff until October 1, 1984, or before, and assigned the matter to Docket No. 5686.

The equalization of end user common line charges for Centrex CO service is to be accomplished by a reduction in Centrex service charges. The net effect of the Centrex service charge adjustment and an interstate end user common line charge will be an increase in total billing.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. # Teachers Groups Supports Reforms

The Association of Texas Professional Educators' newly elected vice-president and legislative chairperson, Sue McGarvey, told a joint committee of the House and Senate that ATPE supports reform and "we believe our members will be able to meet career ladder expectations with flying colors."

McGarvey, a social studies teacher from Hallsville, represents the second largest education association in Texas with nearly 40,000 members.

ATPE has sponsored statewide discipline programs for both teachers and parents, and McGarvey praised State Rep. Bill Haley's proposed legislation which addresses the need for districts to adopt discipline plans. However, McGarvey took exception to the removal of teacher aides, secretaries, and other paraprofessionals from the state salary schedule.

She also stated that teachers and legislators appear to have different perceptions of the master teachers. "ATPE believes that exceptional teachers should continue to use their skills in the classrooms and not become quasi-administrators as has been outlined in the Haley-Parker reform proposal," McGarvey said.

ATPE also called for a statewide criteria with standards for career ladder levels which would not be left solely to the discretion of local school boards. "Individuals who attain the master teacher level should not lose that professional designation simply because they move from one district to another," McGarvey said.

Mike Hardin, ATPE's new president from the Hurst-Euleless-Bedford ISD, said that ATPE considers the Haley-Parker draft a "starting place—one that will make the efforts of refinement and compromise easier to accomplish."

ATPE's Executive Director Mike Morrow said, "We are delighted that the debate over education reform is finally back in the appropriate arena—the legislature. We can talk forever, but with out legislative action that provides adequate funding, we're wasting our breath."

Morrow added, "All the rhetoric that we've heard for the last 18 months has accomplished one thing—the public is now aware that Texas needs improved teacher salaries and better management. Now it's up to the legislators to provide the mechanism to attain these improvements."

ATPE had about 25 teachers from across the state present for the hearing in Austin. Judy Coyle, a veteran teacher from

Irving, indicated that several hundred ATPE members are making plans to journey to the state capitol for the special session. "Austin's a beautiful place for a summer vacation and we'll be there," said Coyle.

Texas Households May Qualify For Energy Aid

AUSTIN—Some low-income Texas households may be eligible for help in paying their utility bills this summer through the Home Energy Assistance Program, according to Texas Department of Human Resources Commissioner Marlin Johnston.

Commissioner Johnston said the one-time payment is available to many low-income households which this month received food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Supplemental Security Income, or needs-tested Veterans Administration benefits.

Potentially eligible veterans are those who receive payments under Section 415, 21, 541, or 542 of Title 38 of the U.S. Code or under Section 306 of the Veterans and Survivors Pension Improvement Act of 1978.

Eligibility is limited by gross income. For instance, aid is available for a one-person household having less than a $355.49 gross income per month. The gross income limit is $581.49 for a two-person household, $798.49 for a three-person household, $985.49 for four persons, $1,162.49 for five, and $1,359.49 for six.

Eligible households must be subject to energy cost increases—because of higher bills or rent due to rising utility costs.

Households in privately owned or rented housing are eligible if the cost of utilities is included in the rent payment or if the household pays a portion of its home energy costs.

Johnston said application forms are mailed automatically to households receiving food stamps, AFDC, and SSI. Households receiving needs-tested veterans benefits must request an application from DHR in June.

Those who have not received an application and think their household may be eligible should contact a local DHR office.

Report Estimated Earnings To Social Security

People getting Social Security benefits who work are required to estimate their projected earnings as accurately as possible and to report the amount to the Social Security Administration, Glyn Hammons, Social Security district manager in Abilene, said recently.

Furthermore, people should revise these estimates, as necessary, during the course of the year.

"Excess earnings under the annual retirement test are the primary cause of overpayments," Hammons said. "More than one million people were overpaid in 1983 because of underestimation or failure to report their earnings, and total overpayments, as a result, amounted to more than $1 billion."

"People must file an annual report of earnings at the end of the taxable year. At that time the amount of benefits due for the year is figured; if all the payments that were due had not been made, the person is paid the appropriate amount."

"On the other hand," Hammons said, "if the person is found to have been overpaid, the amount of the overpayment will be withheld from future benefits or will have to be repaid."

More information about how work affects Social Security benefits can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360.

Lewis Endorses Candidacy Of Kent Hance

Democratic Senate candidate Kent Hance today received a major boost for his campaign when Texas House Speaker Gibson D. "Gib" Lewis endorsed his candidacy for the June 2nd runoff.

Speaker Lewis said Hance is the most qualified candidate Democrats could nominate for the general election in November. "Kent Hance has a strong record of leadership in Washington, and as a State Senator in Austin," Lewis said. "Congressman Hance has run hard on the issues, and he is standing firm on his record," he added.

The Speaker also said, "I think Kent Hance best represents the political philosophy of most Texans. He is independent, and willing to stand up for what he believes in. I'm convinced that Kent Hance will fight for the interests of all Texans on the floor of the United States Senate."

House Speaker Lewis appeared with Congressman Hance at an afternoon news conference where a majority of the Tarrant County Democratic State delegation also endorsed the Hance candidacy. State Senator Bob Glasgow, and State Representatives Charlie Evans, Mike Millsap, Bruce Gibson, Roy English, and W.G. "Bill" Coody added their support for Kent Hance in the June 2nd election. State Representative Charlie Evans is Chairman of the Tarrant County delegation, and he also chairs the House administration Committee.

Noting such strong support from Tarrant County, Speaker Lewis said that Kent Hance has a proven record of effectiveness Texas voters can be proud of. "Kent Hance has been involved in some of the major legislative battles of the last six years in Washington," Lewis said. He added, "Congressman Hance has shown he has the ability to get things done and to fight for what is best for Texas. We need Kent Hance in the Senate."

In welcoming the endorsement Hance said, "The backing of Speaker Lewis is especially gratifying because he is so closely attuned to the thinking of most Texans. But endorsements alone won't win this election. That's why I look forward to continuing to talk about the issues and telling voters about my record. Once Texans see how clear the choices are in this runoff, I'm convinced they will agree I can best represent the Texas philosophy in the U-S Senate."

WTC Sets Summer Registration

Western Texas College will hold registration for summer classes on May 29 and begin classes on May 30.

Stenholm Urges 17th District Voters To VOTE

Voters in the 17th District had the third highest voter turnout in the state during the recent Texas Primary elections, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm said today.

According to figures from the Texas Secretary of State's office, the 17th District voters showed a "very good turnout" for the Senate, Congressional and local county races.

"The 17th District had a voter turnout of 32.9 per cent or 92,179 voters," Stenholm said. "District 2, in east Texas had the best record with 111,785 people casting ballots in the primary. In northeast Texas, District 1 had 92,220 voters at the booths for the second best turnout.

Only 25.2 per cent of the registered voters state-wide participated in the May primary, Stenholm said. The Republican party had a 4.7 per cent turnout and the Democrats showed 20.4 per cent at the polls.

"I'm very proud of the voters in the 17th District," the congressman said. "It's good to see so many people taking an active part in the selection and election of their governmental officials."

The votes in the June 2 Senate run-off could be even higher, officials estimate. "In the 17th District," Stenholm said, "there are 287,012 registered voters. I hope that those who didn't vote before realize that they are still eligible to vote in the run-off."

Hance Applauds School Aid

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, yesterday applauded the release of $30 million in federal funds to aid school districts that have large numbers of alien children in the school system. This money, though appropriated by Congress in November, 1983, had been withheld from distribution to the states by the Department of Education.

Education has finally released the $30 million for alien education that the Congress appropriated last November," Hance said. "The financial solvency of school districts along the Texas border depends heavily on this money and I expect Texas to receive between $7 and $8 million of the funds," he stated upon learning of the money's release.

19th District, has been concerned with this issue for some time. As early as 1980, Hance supported legislation to help financially burdened school districts that suffered from an influx of alien children. The 1983 decision of the Supreme Court that it was incumbent on local districts to pay for the education of alien children, led Hance to declare that "if the federal courts are going to say these children must be accommodated in our education system, then the federal government ought to help local school districts pay for it."

Since that court decision, Hance has actively pursued aid for the districts affected by undocumented school children. In November, Hance voted for $30 million in aid to school districts with alien children. When that aid was not forthcoming, Hance introduced legislation to force its obligation by the Department of Education. "These funds were appropriated by Congress to provide financial assistance to local school systems that educate large numbers of illegal alien children," Hance wrote in a letter to House members on March 9 of this year. "The President is thwarting the will of the Congress by withholding funds duly appropriated for this purpose."

Working with other members of the Texas Delegation, most notably U.S. Rep. Kika de la Garza (D-Mission) and Majority Leader Jim Wright, Hance and his colleagues were successful in wresting the money from the department of money from the Department of Education this week, only days before the Texas Delegation threatened to file suit against the Administration over the issue.

For Quality Seed Conditioning Put Your Wheat In Our Hands

To improve seed purity, your wheat seed is conditioned by Bronco Seed Company's new, multi-step process.

First, an air-screen machine removes weed seeds, trash, underdeveloped and oversized seeds and cracked or broken seeds.

Quality continues as our three indent cylinders separate the wild oats from the good seed by length sizing.

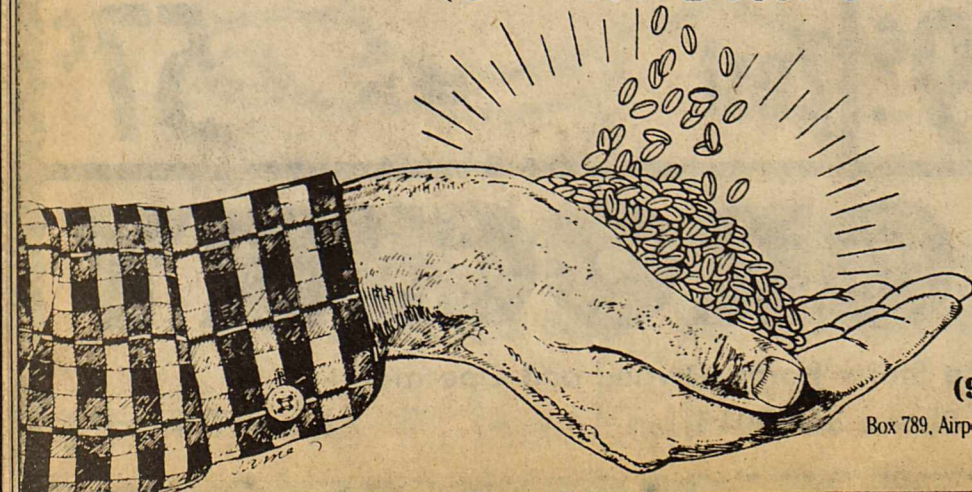

For final finishing and improvement of germination, our gravity table separates immature, lightweight seed from mature, heavy seed to improve seed vigor.

We can treat your wheat seed with Vitavax®-200, the systemic fungicide that effectively controls true loose smut, bunt, seed rots and seedling diseases. And, you will be able to graze your cattle earlier since Vitavax-200 treated wheat normally emerges faster and shows more vigorous growth.

Bronco Seed Company offers you bulk grain storage before cleaning, and bag seed storage after cleaning. Bulk cleaning is available for loading back on your vehicle.

Letters To The Editor

(EDITORS NOTE: The Haskell Free Press will publish letters to the Editor dealing with any subject. All letters must be signed but names will be withheld by request. All letters are subject to editing for length and liability.)

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to bring attention to the matter of boarding up windows in the elementary school primary classrooms. Parents of children in those grades may want to consider that their children will be shut away from view of sky, clouds, trees, horizons, into the confines of four walls from which there is no escape — not even with a furtive glance out the window or a momentary flight of fancy to which the wings of a bird flying by have invited.

Actually, the aspirations of modern mankind have been to come out of holes in the earth or caves in the rocks, to the light of day and the enlightenment of the mind. Somehow a room without windows seems a contradiction to the term education. It sounds more like it should be padded. Surely, there is a better way?

Thank you, sincerely,

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

"I don't mind getting old -- just consider the alternative." Whoever spoke those words expressed my sentiments toward growing old. I do not think old age is a time in our lives we should look upon with dread.

Americans are now living longer and continuing careers into their 60's, 70's, and even 80's. To honor senior citizens and recognize them for the productive people they are, President Reagan has set aside May as Older Americans Month.

There are now 26,824,000 Americans over the age of 65, and the older population in the United States is expected to increase through the turn of the century. In 1900, less than 10 percent of the American population was more than 55 years of age, about 7.1 million.

By 1982, the number had grown to 48.9 million, or more than one-fifth of the American population. Texas now has 1,974,000 people over the age of 60. Through the year 2000, persons 55 years and older will continue to comprise over one-fifth of the U.S. population.

As children of the baby boom mature, the population of older Americans will increase to about one-fourth of the general population. By 2030, one of every five Americans will be 65 years of age or older.

With this increased population of older Americans will come more participation in society, politics and the economy. There is a vast reservoir of talent to be found in the older population. Throughout history, the elderly have made many contributions.

Barbara McClintock was awarded the 1983 Nobel Prize in medicine at the age of 81.

Golda Meir became Prime Minister of Israel at 71. Benjamin Franklin helped frame the U.S. Constitution at the age of 81.

Anna Mary Robertson Moses (Grandma Moses) started painting when she was 76.

George Burns won his first Academy Award at 80 years of age when he was recognized for "The Sunshine Boys." Winston Churchill wrote A History of the English Speaking Peoples when he was 82.

Prominent older Americans still active include Thurgood Marshall, 75, a Supreme Court Justice; Aaron Copland, 83, a composer; George Gallup, 82, a pollster; Katherine Hepburn, 74, an actress; Robert Penn Warren, 78, a poet, and Barry Goldwater, 75, a U.S. Senator.

There are many other Americans working in our own neighborhoods. We encounter them every day and benefit from their experience and ingenuity.

I believe it's obvious the talents that older Americans can contribute to society. Our country and lives would be so much richer if we took fuller advantage of their talents and wisdom. After all, given the grace of God, we will all be old some day.

Be a beauty bug
Not a litterbug!

Hermann Sons Sets Summer Camps

More than 2,100 boys and girls from Hermann Sons lodges across Texas, including the lodge in Haskell, are expected to attend the fraternal benefit society's youth summer camp this season in the Hill Country near Comfort.

Located in the southeast corner of Kerr County on the Guadalupe River, the camp will open at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 3, with six weekly sessions for girls, followed by five sessions for boys from July 15 to Aug. 18.

Registration this spring is running ahead of last year when a record number of 2,106 attended, said Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas. By mid-May 2,170 junior members had registered, with more applications for registration forms still in the hands of parents.

The six sessions for girls, with 1,366 registered, are within 14 of being filled to capacity, he said. So far, 804 boys have registered.

Since the first season in 1954 attended by 196 youngsters, the camp has seen 40,464 junior member registrations in its 30-year history. The camp can be free on a merit point basis for junior Hermann Sons who earn sufficient credits by attending junior chapter meetings or by successfully recommending new members to the fraternal order. The maximum fee those members who earn no points will pay for a one-week session is $30, well below fees paid at comparable Hill Country camps.

All junior members attending camp must be 9 years of age and less than 14 years of age before the opening day of the 1984 season. Camp director is Debbie Krueger of San Antonio, a graduate of Texas Lutheran College in Seguin and a high school teacher. She will be assisted by Allan Preuss, a graduate of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos and now Grand Lodge youth activities coordinator.

The camp features masonry-constructed dormitories, dining hall and kitchen and includes facilities for horseback riding, swimming, archery, tennis, softball, canoeing, soccer, trampoline, tumbling and arts and crafts.

Stenholm Urges Importance Of Ag Trade Issues

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) and 18 other legislators have called on President Reagan to give agricultural trade issues top priority at the upcoming world economic summit.

The lawmakers said unfair trading practices by the European Economic Community have hurt U.S. farm exports, thus depressing American farmers' incomes. New international trade talks are needed to avoid a trade war, the legislators said in a letter to Reagan.

"Export barriers impose a great burden on America's privately controlled agricultural sector, from farmers to grain exporters," according to the letter from 19 members of the Congressional Agricultural Forum, a bipartisan group led by Stenholm and Congressman Pat Roberts (R-Kansas).

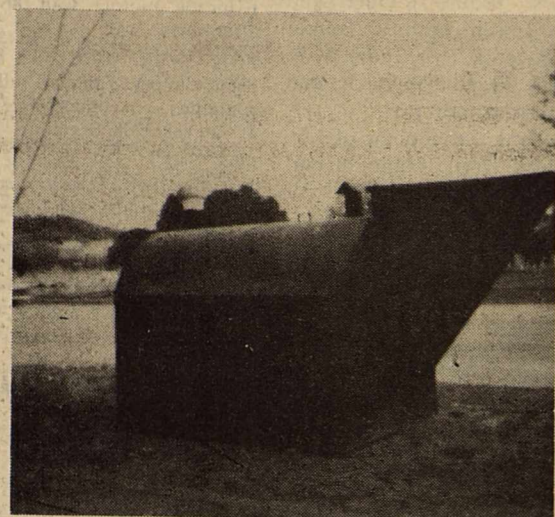

The annual world economic summit will be held in London

June 7-9. Each year, leaders of the major industrialized democracies gather to discuss major economic topics. President Reagan will represent the U.S. at the summit, which last year was held in Williamsburg, Va.

"Too often in the past, agriculture was neglected at these summit meetings," Stenholm said. "Certainly that happened last year at Williamsburg. We just can't afford that any more."

In their letter to Reagan, the lawmakers said current trade agreements have given U.S. farmers little help in combating unfair trade practices and should be rewritten.

"There is a crying need to define just what is and is not acceptable in terms of subsidies and protection — with a heavy emphasis on the 'not,'" the letter said. "In our view, it is essential for the world's major exporters to agree on the rules of the international trading game soon."

TAX PLANNING

Written by James E. Rodgers, CPA.

Estate "Disclaimers"

Being the beneficiary of an estate may not be advantageous. If you already have assets in excess of what you need or want, additional assets from someone's estate could be burdensome. Unfortunately, most of us don't suffer from this affliction. If, however, you are trying to reduce your income to save income taxes or reduce your assets to lessen estate taxes, avoiding more assets could be beneficial. Avoiding additional assets is even more attractive if by so doing your intended beneficiaries end up with the property.

With the exception of property which you hold as joint tenants with the right of survivorship, you can file a "qualified disclaimer" to avoid receiving property from an estate.

Your disclaimer can be for all or a portion of the property that you are due to inherit.

A "qualified disclaimer" means an unqualified and permanent refusal to accept an interest in property. The disclaimer must meet four conditions. First, the refusal must be in writing. Second, the written refusal must be received by the estate administrator not later than nine months after the decedent's death. Third, the person making the disclaimer must not have accepted the property or any of its benefits before making the disclaimer. Fourth, the person making the disclaimer cannot direct the redistribution or transfer of the property to another person. Under this fourth provision, the property would pass as though the beneficiary named in the estate had predeceased the decedent.

Disclaimers can have excellent application when pre-death planning was not done or when circumstances after one's death make it desirable to alter the effect of the property distribution under the will.

As with all financial planning, seek the assistance of a qualified professional.

Stenholm Backs American Passbook Savings Act

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) has announced his co-sponsorship and introduction of legislation to provide tax relief to low- and middle-income families with passbook savings accounts and to help lower overall interest rates. The bill is titled, "The American Passbook Savings Act."

This bill, introduced by Congressman W. J. "Billy" Tauzin (D-La.), Stenholm, and 54 other members of both parties in the U.S. House of Representatives, would exempt from federal income taxation the first $5,000 ($10,000 on a joint return) of interest earned on "traditional passbook" savings accounts paying up to 6 percent interest.

"This bill will accomplish three very important things," Stenholm said. "First, it will ease the tax burden on the average family that manages to save a little. Second, by reducing the cost of money that is the source for mortgages and other loans, it will help bring down interest rates. Third, by attracting more money into savings accounts, it will make more money available for the capital investments needed to maintain our country's economic recovery.

"For years," Stenholm said, "Our tax laws have encouraged everyone, including the government, to go into debt. Rewarding people for saving for a change, while bringing down the general level of interest rates at the same time, will be a shot in the arm for the entire economy."

"The 'American Dream' of owning your own home will stay just that — a dream — unless we can bring mortgage rates down from the 13 to 15 percent range."

At a Washington, D.C. press conference called recently to announce introduction of the bill, its Congressional sponsors pointed out that, currently, only a relatively few persons can make investments large enough to obtain tax-free status or high interest rates. They noted that the American Passbook Savings Act would, if passed, give this same opportunity to small savers and families of modest to moderate means.
