Old Education Practices Changed Under New Bill

BY DON COMEDY

Free Press Editor

(Editors Note: This is the second in a series of articles intended to discuss the impact of recent school reform legislation on local schools and taxpayers.)

Funding of the Education Reform Bill signed into law recently by Governor White is still uncertain. Legislators passed a tax bill to fund H.B. 72 but much of the data necessary to compute formulas is not available.

This lack of data has made it impossible for local administrators to calculate how much money will be received from the State and how much will need to be generated locally from ad valorem taxes.

Current indications are that most small schools in the State will be faced with major tax increases this year. Further increases will be needed in the future if drastic changes are not made to the bill.

This week we will discuss the major changes to our educational system under the new bill. These changes include changes to both existing programs and guidelines for new programs.

Virtually every changed recommended by the SCOPE was adopted in the new bill.

H.B. 72 includes a restructured State Board of Education which will be appointed and later elected; competency tests and pay raises for teachers including a career ladder; pre-kindergarten classes for students who need help; smaller classes for young students; more control of extracurricular activities; and a ban on social promotion which will require graduating students to pass a test prior to receiving a diploma.

Teacher competency testing has struck a tender spot with major teaching organizations and several are considering filing law suits.

John Donaldson, Director of Government Affairs with the Texas State Teachers Association in Austin, told the Free Press Friday that TSTA attorneys are considering two lines of action.

Virtually all teachers in Texas now hold lifetime teaching certificates issued by the Texas Education Agency and TSTA's attorneys believe that the need to revoke these certificates must be documented by proving a risk that cannot be addressed in any other way.

The purpose of the competency tests is to remove teachers from the classroom who are not competent. According to Donaldson, incompetency was grounds for firing a teacher prior to the enactment of H.B. 72. Donaldson added that TSTA has supported legislation to require new teachers to pass a competency test.

One major problem with the requirements of teacher competency testing is that the tests have not been formulated and no one knows whether or not they will adequately or fairly test teachers' abilities to be effective in the classroom.

Currently TSTA attorneys are considering either filing a law suit attacking the competency testing issue or asking for an attorney general's opinion concerning that portion of the new law.

The bill also contains provision for teacher pay raises and a career ladder. The pay raises will provide new teachers with a $4,000.00 per year increase over the old pay scale but, experienced teachers will receive less than $2,000.00.

Under the new bill, all teachers will receive at least $170.00 per month raise by there are no provisions for administrators, aids, secretaries, bus drivers, custodians, or lunchroom personnel. If school districts choose to give any of these individuals raises, the costs will be paid locally.

The pre-kindergarten classes will eventually (probably beginning with the 1985/86 school year) cause all schools to hire at least one additional teacher. This program must be offered to disadvantaged four year olds. The program is mandatory if there are as many as 15 students who qualify but, attendance is not mandatory so the program could be offered with only one or two students attending class.

The small size classes in early grades will cause some districts to hire additional personnel. This determination can not be made until after all students register each year. This will place another unknown factor in budgeting from year to year as only one or two students difference (either more or less) may result in a district having to hire a teacher at the last minute or having a teacher under contract which is not really needed.

The ban on "social promotion" should result in high school diplomas having more meaning in the future, but again, no one knows exactly what will be required in order to pass the test. If the exit level test is so simple that the majority of beginning ninth graders can pass it, then the whole purpose of the program will be useless.

Control of extracurricular activities is included in the bill but again, the guidelines for the controls have not yet been developed so no one knows what to expect. According to the bill, it will be possible for the newly appointed State Board of Education to adopt rules which will halt athletic practice and other such events during the regular school day.

Elimination of athletics during the school day was one goal of Perot and the SCOPE Committee and the final outcome will probably depend entirely on who is appointed to the State Board of Education.

Local Man Charged In Post Office Extortion Attempt

Randy James Earhart, 23, of Haskell was arrested Friday in Seymour and charged with destroying a letter box in connection with an extortion attempt against the Haskell Post Office.

Local Deputy Johnny Mills and Postal Inspector W.P. Kamm Jr. picked Earhart up Thursday night for questioning. He was later released until the U.S. Attorney was contacted.

Earhart was arrested Friday morning in Seymour by Deputy U.S. Marshal Richard James and Postal Inspector W.P. Kamm Jr. and was taken to Abilene.

Earhart remained in the Abilene City Jail Monday in lieu of a $5,000.00 cash bond.

Additional charges may be filed against the suspect at a later date according to the U.S. Attorney's office in Ft. Worth.

According to Jones, Earhart allegedly pried open a letter box at the Haskell Post Office about 1:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 17 and left a letter demanding $1.5 million or "he would tear the rest of the post office up". The letter box was empty at the time he left the letter.

On Wednesday at 3:30 p.m., Earhart allegedly returned to the post office and left another note. This note demanded $2.5 million.

The notes instructed postal employees to deliver the money to a Haskell address, which helped authorities identify Earhart.

Earhart was released from the Texas Department of Corrections six months ago after serving 2½ years of a four-year sentence for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. The suspect was convicted of attacking a Haskell County deputy sheriff with a machete on Sept. 25, 1981.

Brush and Palette

Just heard an "art" story that I must share with you. A wealthy oil man visited a Matisse exhibit at a prominent gallery. He looked at a small canvas and figured the price tag. "Isn't that a lot of money for such a small painting?" The gallery curator shrugged and sniffed. "For $600,000—what can you expect?"

Lamesa Art Exhibit, Sale Set

One seldom sees a painting of the dawn—possibly because too many of us do not want to get up early, but it is a subject well worthy of the artist's brush. Whether we paint it or not, a beautiful sunrise scene coupled with God's gift of a new day makes one glad to be alive!

Q. What is a siccative?
A. I have written on this before in Col. #32. However, some of you perhaps were not subscribers to the Free Press at that time. A siccative is a dryer, such as Japan Dryer, Cobalt Dryer or Pale Drying Oil, which may be mixed into the painting medium or some painters mix a very small amount into the paint itself to cause the paint to dry more rapidly. It should be used in all areas, if at all because it has a tendency to cause cracking and crazing if paint with dryer is put over paint without it. It is perhaps best not to use it at all unless absolutely necessary.

Q. I have heard the statement "three dimensions of color". What are they talking about?

A. Here we are talking about the very basic principles of art. The three are 1. hue; 2. value; 3. intensity or chroma; 4. temperature.

1. Hue is the color we see on the outer edge of the color wheel. 2. Value is the most important. It is the scale of light to dark—white to black. If you have good values, you can get by with errors in other areas and still have a fair painting. 3. Intensity or chroma is the degree of greyness. This is also aerial perspective and it helps give you distance. It is achieved by diminishing the brilliance of colors as you go back into the background. This is done by using the complementary color and white. I prefer using complementary colors as they are cleaner greys than to use grey from the tube.

HINT: For accumulated dirt, wipe the painting with a piece of soft white bread. For sticky stains, rub with a cut potato and then wipe with a cotton swab. For very dirty paintings, call an expert! M. Stewart, Collinsville, Okla.

NOTE: Due to the demand of teaching and lack of time to devote to personal painting, this will be my last column. Thank you for your response and if you have problems or questions that I can help you with, please let me know. Faye Schnuriger

Carol Sue Lehde and Brad Kenton Cune were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church in Haskell on Saturday, July 21, at 2:30 p.m., Rev. Mike McKinney of the First Baptist Church in Childress officiated the ceremony.

The center of the altar area held a 15-branch brass candelabra. On either side spirals held 15 lighted tapers. A 7-branch brass candelabra accented each side of the altar. English ivy and grapevine greenery completed the altar. Pew markers completed the setting.

The bride's Matron of Honor was her sister, Judy Benton, of Haskell. Bridesmaids were Camin Pittman of Haskell, Jill Hansard of Galveston, Angela Hightower of Lubbock, and Linda Wein of Pecos.

Best man was Gregg Cune of Midland, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Stuart Cune, of Arlington, brother of the groom, Rick Heniford of Dumas, Jake Hightower of Lubbock, and Randall Woodhead of Dallas. Mr. Heniford, Mr. Hightower, and Mr. Woodhead also seated the guests.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and her uncle Lewis F. Brueggeman of Haskell. She was escorted down the aisle by her uncle. She wore an original gown by Michele for Piccone in white taffeta. The fitted bodice had a sweetheart neckline accented with folds that extended to the waist. Taffeta roses enhanced the neckline and puffed sleeves. The full taffeta skirt fell into a semi-cathedral train. A wreath of taffeta roses, seed pearls, and ribbons held her embroidered illusion veil. White kid gloves and a strand of pearls complimented her attire. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, and lily of the valley with ribbon streamers.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a gold wedding band that belonged to her former grandmother, Mrs. Louis T. Brueggeman of Haskell as something old. Her wedding dress was something new. Something borrowed was a gold bracelet with sapphire settings that belongs to her sister. She wore a blue garter and a sixpence in her shoe. An ivory lace handkerchief given to her by Miss Eleanor Blohm of Haskell was also carried. The bride also presented a red rose to her mother and the groom's mother.

Her maids wore identical floor length taffeta dresses in blue. The fitted bodice had a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves accented with taffeta roses. White lace gloves and pearl strands complimented their attire. They carried a bouquet of white, pink, yellow, and blue daisies, blue carnations, orchid and pink miniature lilies and blue ribbon streamers.

The groom wore a pearl gray Bill Blass cutaway with a pearl gray vest, ascot tie, and white wing tip shirt. He wore a white rose boutonniere. The groomsmen wore regular cut, pearl gray Bill Blass tuxes with white wing tip shirts, gray bow ties, and gray cummerbunds. The best man wore a white and blue daisy boutonniere and the groomsmen wore white daisy boutonnieres. The bride's uncle and the groom's father also wore pearl gray Bill Blass tuxes. Their boutonnieres matched the best man's of white and blue daisies.

The bride's mother chose a blue floor-length dress of polyester. The bodice had a pleated overlay that fell to the waist with lettuce edging. The waist was accented by a small belt. It had double layered chiffon short sleeves. The groom's mother wore a pink street-length two piece linen dress. Her dress was enhanced with scalloped short sleeves and neckline. Eyelet cutouts also trimmed the sleeves and neckline. Their ensembles were complemented with corsages of white, yellow, blue, and pink daisies and an orchid miniature lily.

Laura Harkey of Lubbock registered guests at the wedding. 18 members and 8 visitors were present at noon.

The reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Sydney Ashford of Amarillo and Lynne Noland of Perryton served at the bride's table. Sherrie Everett and Connie Brueggeman, both of Haskell served at the groom's table. Other members of the house party were Zella Moeller, Doris Brueggeman, Viola Brueggeman, and Lottie Lehde.

The bride's and her attendant's bouquet marked the table, covered with a white table cloth with a tulle overlay trimmed with a blue ribbon and lace. The 4-tier wedding cake was ornamented by flowers of blue, yellow, pink, and orchid. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. Blue candles in crystal holders lighted the scene and other crystal appointments carried out the decor of the table.

A chocolate cake with the groom's initials was served from the groom's table where silver appointments were used. Coffee was served from a silver coffee urn. A basket of mixed flowers with the colors of white, yellow, pink, blue, and orchid formed the centerpiece. The table was covered by a floor length muslin table cloth with a beige lace overlay.

The groom's nephew and niece Nicklus Stanton Cune and Brittany Joy Cune of Midland passed out rice bags at the reception.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Kountry Kookin' restaurant in Haskell. Special guests at the dinner were the groom's grandfather John F. Cune of Leavenworth, Kansas, the groom's sister Tammara E. Leary of West Germany and the groom's niece Denice Leary of West Germany.

George Family Holds Reunion

A family reunion was held at Haskell in the home of Mrs. Ida Goodwin on July 20-22, for the descendants of the late William Wesley and Eliza

Jane George. Their sons and daughters present were: Ida Goodwin, Helen Taylor, Rudell Boiles, and Roy F. George, all of Haskell; Ethel Reed, Abilene; Gertie Garrett and Ruth Long, Hamlin. One son, J.W. George of Tacoma, WN, was unable to be present. Two were deceased the past two years, Annie L. Roberson of Dallas, and W.E. George of Haskell.

The family began to arrive on Friday and continued through Sunday. A church worship service was held at 11 a.m. Sunday with everyone participating in the singing and testimonies, and concluding with a message by Rev. Roy F. George, who has recently retired after 50 years of full-time ministry, and is residing at 106 South Ave. L.

Others present attended from: Haskell, Dallas, Abilene, Houston, and Big Spring. Several family friends called during the weekend.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed a tariff with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that will allow Centrex customers to control the number of access lines to the exchange network. Customers electing service under this proposed offering will be charged for exchange access based on the number of access lines rather than on the number of Centrex station lines.

The new offering, called Centrex III, is scheduled to become effective on August 10, 1984, unless the Commission suspends the effective date. The Commission has assigned the matter to Docket 5573.

The net effect of the Centrex III tariff will be a decrease in total billing.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 tele-typewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company pone en conocimiento de los usuarios que ha registrado una nueva tarifa ante la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, lo que permitirá a los abonados del servicio Centrex controlar el número de líneas de acceso a la red central. A los clientes que adopten la opción propuesta mediante esta oferta, se les cobrará por el acceso a la red central en base al número de líneas de acceso y no en base al número de líneas de estaciones Centrex.

La nueva opción, llamada Centrex III, entrará en funcionamiento el día 10 de agosto de 1984. (Esta fecha está sujeta a cambio, dependiendo de la decisión final de la Comisión.) Se ha registrado la tarifa bajo el Docket 5573.

El efecto real de la nueva tarifa Centrex III se verá en la reducción del costo total de las facturas.

Los usuarios de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company que estén interesados en participar en esta reunión, o que requieran mayor información, deben dirigirse por escrito a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. También se puede obtener información adicional llamando a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division al 512/458-0223, al 512/458-0227, o al 512/458-0221 si requiere teletipo para sordos.

Eating On The Run Can Ruin A Budget

More and more Americans are eating on the run without realizing what it costs, says home economist Bonnie L. Piernot.

Nearly 35 percent of the food dollar is now spent in away-from-home eating places, with an increasing amount going to fast food restaurants, says Piernot, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

The fast food market—with 33,000 franchise outlets in the country—is growing at a much faster rate than the food-at-home market and is expected to increase the size of its bite from the consumer, she adds.

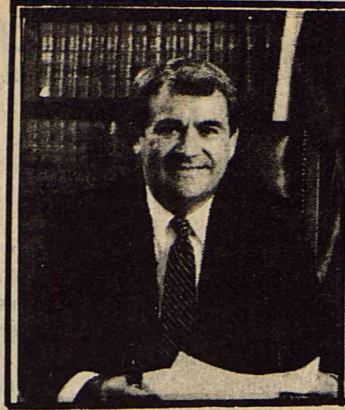

In one recent study, the United States Department of Agriculture compared the cost of selected fast food items with those of the same food prepared at home. The cost of a special hamburger, french fries and a soft drink in this study cost $1.61 at a franchised restaurant and 83 cents for an equivalent meal at home.

"This is almost twice as much for a service that requires no special culinary skills and does not require specialized kitchen equipment," says the specialist.

Such fast food favorites as fried chicken, pizza, cookies, pies, milk shakes or french fries prepared from fresh potatoes were not included in this study, notes Piernot.

Other studies indicate, however, that a meal eaten away from home costs an average on 2.6 times that of a comparable meal prepared at home, she points out.

SELECTING A NURSING HOME

If someone you love is thinking of going to live in a nursing home, you both may need help in selecting the right home.

Since this decision will affect the comfort and safety -- maybe even the lifespan -- of your relative or loved one, you should make sure the choice is based on good, solid information.

GUIDELINES

You will need to consider whether the prospective client needs 24-hour care, or just someone to cook meals and look in on him or her occasionally. Once you have made this decision, find out whether there is a physician on call. Does a dentist visit the home regularly? Is a licensed nurse on duty at all times or only part of the time?

Nursing home professionals recommend that you talk to the person in charge of the home. Does the administrator seem warm and sympathetic? Does the administrator seem to understand the problems of the elderly?

If possible, you should visit a number of nursing homes you think might be suitable before choosing one. Visit at different times of the day. Mealtimes, especially dinnertime, are important, because a number of homes seem to skimp on this meal. Talk to the residents. Ask them if they are happy with the services they are receiving.

Your nose can tell you a lot. If there is an odor problem, there is probably a sanitation problem, too.

Find out the rules for residents. There should be a written explanation of resident rights. Also, find out policies on roommates. Some elderly couples have been forced to separate because one was in bad health while the other was not. This situation can cause severe stress for people who have spent their lives together.

You will also want to ask questions about finances. Is the home certified to receive Medicare and Medicaid payments? How much have costs increased during the past five years? What are the projected costs for the future?

If the home has a residents' council -- and the best ones usually do -- you might get a lot of good information from the members. Also, find out what kinds of activities are available to residents.

HOTLINE

The Department of Health has recently set up a hotline to answer questions about nursing homes. If you have a question about a specific home, you can call this toll free number, 1-800-252-9106, from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays.

FOR MORE HELP

If you need more help or information on consumer problems, contact your nearest Attorney General Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). They have free literature on many consumer complaints. You may also ask to be sent our new consumer publication "Selecting a Nursing Home" which will be available soon. ## Deadline For Applications Extended

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have extended the deadline for submitting applications for public white-winged dove hunts tentatively scheduled for Sept. 1-2.

Hunters now have until July 30 to submit applications for hunting at the Penitas Unit of the Las Palomas Wildlife Management Area seven miles west of Mission in Hidalgo County. A public drawing will be held at the department's Austin headquarters to select 100 permits.

Successful applicants will be notified by mail, and a $10 fee will be charged for the two-day hunt.

Application forms may be obtained by writing the Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, or by calling toll-free 1-800-792-1112.

Pick That Perfect Watermelon

For some people, picking the "perfect" watermelon is a favorite summer rite that involves thumping and shaking and looking for telltale signs of what could be inside.

But, judging the quality of a watermelon is very difficult unless it's cut in half or quartered, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist Mary K. Sweeten.

In fact, one recent produce industry study showed that about forty percent of consumers find melons the most difficult fruit to judge for ripeness and freshness, she adds.

According to Sweeten, there are a few appearance factors which may be helpful—but not totally reliable—in guiding you to a good, ripe, juicy watermelon.

The surface of the watermelon should be relatively smooth, she says. The rind should have a slight dullness, neither shiny nor dull. The ends of the melon should be filled out and rounded, and the underside of the melon should have a creamy color.

It's easier, but usually more expensive to buy a cut melon, says the specialist. Even then, you may not get the best melon for your money unless you inspect it well. The best melon has firm, juicy flesh with good red color, she says. Look out for white streaks and whitish seeds since these indicate immaturity.

Also avoid a melon with dry, mealy flesh or watery, stringy flesh, she says. These are signs of overmaturity or aging after harvest.

The peak watermelon season is here so there are plenty of delicious melons to choose from at the supermarkets and produce stands. With prices low and likely to get lower as the season progresses, you may have several chances to pick the "perfect" melon.

"I was surprised how quick the variety was ready to graze."

"In fact, some of my neighbors tried to rent my pasture when they saw how much better established it was than others all around us."

Pioneer® variety 2157 gets off to a fast start, quickly establishing the kind of healthy, vigorous growing stand so necessary for good pasture. Its upright growth habit helps provide maximum available grazing.

And because 2157 has proven to be such a good yielder, you can count on it to deliver top-quality wheat at season's end.

If pasture is part of your wheat program, new 2157 should be, too.

New Wheat Variety 2157

Superior Yield • Excellent Standability • Outstanding Grazing

"When I pulled my combine into the field, I knew for sure this wasn't an ordinary wheat crop."

"That 2157 was standing out there good and straight. And when I moved down the rows, I could hear the cylinders running full."

Farmers who've seen this impressive new high yielding variety like its standability and tolerance to dry growing periods and severe weather. It has excellent resistance to leaf rust, fungal leaf blights, soil borne mosaic virus and the Hessian fly.

In side-by-side comparisons, Pioneer® brand 2157 wheat has consistently out-yielded other popular varieties. And it has shown consistently high test weights.

Allsup's Stores To Join "Jerry's Kids" For MDA

Allsup's Convenience Stores will again join the fight for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in 1984. Through Labor Day, Allsup's will display collection canisters for "Jerry's Kids" in all 271 stores in New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma.

According to Jack Crow, Director of Public Relations, "The Muscular Dystrophy Association is seeking causes and cures for forty (40) crippling neuromuscular related disorders. They depend almost entirely on contributions from private contributions and corporations, and the proceeds from the Labor Day Telethon, so the canister collections play a very important part of the fundraising activities. We, at Allsup's, are proud to be a part of such a worthwhile endeavor." In addition to the canisters, Allsup's "Door Bell Brigade" will be marching again this year! All area youngsters who would like to help MDA and "Jerry's Kids", are encouraged to pick up the Brigade packets at your local Allsup's store on Saturday and Sunday, August 25th and 26th. After collecting door-to-door and returning the collections to the store, each youngster will receive a free fountain drink of their choice.

From Jack Crow, "We're looking forward to working with area youngsters in the campaign against Muscular Dystrophy. Thanks to all our friends and customers for your generosity, because your nickels and dimes add up to millions of dollars for research and treatment. So, look for the MDA coin collection canisters and give to "Jerry's Kids". Your pocket change can be the key to the cure."

★ "Oldest town," Nacogdoches is rich in Texas history

by Richard McCune, chief of media relations, Texas Tourist Development Agency

It is a cool, bright morning in Nacogdoches and the grass is still moist with the morning dew.

A few caretakers have arrived to maintain the grounds of what is obviously a village of homes, a church, parsonage, school and store, dating back to the 1830s to the turn of the century. Only a vermilion-red caboose is an anachronism of the present century, attracting youngsters to clamber up its stairs and peek in.

This is Millard's Crossing, fondly known in the East Texas city as the "Little Williamsburg" of the area, located at the city limits on North Highway 59.

It is the work of Mrs. Albert (Lera) Thomas, widow of the late U.S. Congressman from Texas. In fact, she served briefly in his stead as the first Congresswoman from Texas.

Alas, she is not here today to charm our tour group with witty stories about travel with her husband during their 30 years in Washington. Now 84, she has turned her full attention to the procreation of Millard's Crossing, perhaps today traveling in quest of a "find" to add to her village.

The figurative cornerstone is the Millard-Lee House, built around 1837 and once owned by her family (she was born Lera Millard), a showcase for many of the antique furnishings she has collected over the years.

It is flanked by a 100-year-old corn crib, still intact, which houses early tools and implements of pioneer settlers.

Nearby is the log house, like the others, reconstructed on the property which once was a part of the Millard Plantation. Dating back to 1830, the structure was moved to the site from the nearby Watkins farm. Surrounding the house is a split-rail zigzag fence, thus supported without need of fence posts, an early Texas style popular for keeping livestock out of the yard.

The roomy structure with its traditional roofed porch is popular with family members who occupy the place when visiting and have lent it the title "Grandchildren's House."

Just across the street is the restored First Methodist Parsonage, and down the way is a schoolhouse dating to the early 1800s, its windows high on the gable sides ostensibly to prevent intrusion by hostile Indians.

Counterpart to the Parsonage is the Free Methodist Chapel, now popular for weddings. Pews of several descriptions acquired piecemeal add to Mrs. Thomas' reputation as a rescuer of nostalgia.

Two other notable historic homes are the Adolphus Sterne House (Sterne-Hoya House) and the Tol Barret House.

The first is a virtual shrine of the emerging Republic of Texas. Practically all of the principals, from Sam Houston to Davy Crockett, visited there, met in meetings and charted the events which led to independence. It was built in 1828 and has been restored as a museum and Texana library. It is the last house on the southeast side of South Lanana Street.

The other is a restored homestead which was built by pioneer oil driller Lyle Taliaferro (Tol) Barret to replace a prior home burned in the late 1860s. It has since been purchased and moved eight miles to the pine plantation of Capt. and Mrs. Charles K. Phillips, who restored it authentically through Barret family photographs. It is located three miles down Press Road, off South Loop 224.

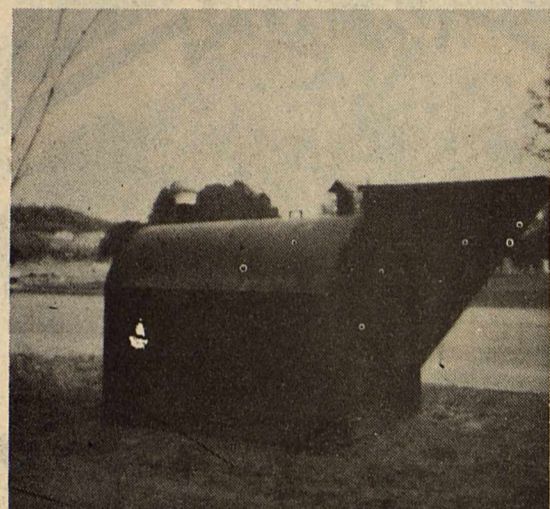

Recently, it has become popular with visitors who spend a weekend or a week in charming detail of early pioneer ambience (except for electricity and plumbing).

While Nacogdoches, "The Oldest Town in Texas," has many attractions matching its longevity, the presence of the Stone Fort has particular significance.

It began as a stone house around 1778, probably built by trader Gil Y'Barbo for his operations along the Camino Real, the Spanish-built road from the Rio Grande to the Sabine River. It soon became a gathering place for the town's activities, and, during the years was the scene of major historical events through several transitions to its final role as the Old Stone Fort, serving under eight Texas flags.

At one time it fell into disrepair and disrepair and was torn down, the stones moved to a new site and rebuilt in 1907. The Texas Centennial Commission of 1936 gave it new purposes when it was reconstructed at its present site on the Stephen F. Austin State University campus.

A museum in the building contains a fascinating collection of memorabilia embracing local history from prehistoric to present times. For more information about Nacogdoches, contact the Nacogdoches County Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 974, Nacogdoches, TX 75961; tel. 409/564-7351.

Moore Named "Man Of Year In Texas Agriculture"

W.R. Moore Jr. of Munday, a longtime wheat and cotton producer in Throckmorton and Knox counties, has been named a "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture" for 1984 by the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

One of seven Texans selected for the honor, Moore was nominated by county agents in the Rolling Plains District of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. He will receive his award during the annual TCAA meeting Aug. 5-8 in Brownsville.

The award is presented each year to outstanding leaders in agriculture and related industries who have supported educational programs conducted by the Extension Service, said Shackelford County Extension Agent Lawrence Winkler, TCAA president. The award recognizes contributions made by these leaders to improving levels of living and economic growth in their communities, counties, state and nation.

Moore farms 3,000 acres of wheat and cotton in the two Rolling Plains counties and runs a stocker cattle operation. He has had wheat production demonstrations on his farm in support of county Extension programs for more than 20 years and has financially aided agricultural demonstration programs in several counties.

Soil fertility has been a primary concern of Moore's for many years. The fertilizer program on his farm is based on soil test reports and recommendations from the Rolling Plains Soil Testing Laboratory in Seymour.

In addition to his farming operation, Moore is active in community, state and national agricultural programs and activities. He is currently president of the Farmers Grain Co-op in Munday, is a board member and past chairman of the Texas Wheat Producers Board, is vice president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association, and is a director of the National Association of Wheat Growers. He also serves on the Small Grains Task Force of the Rolling Plains Economic Program.

Moore also has been active in the First Methodist Church of Munday and has served on the city council and school board.

He is a 1940 graduate of Texas A&M University.

Keep Your Vacation Accident Free

Accidents don't take a holiday during the summer months in Texas, so plan for safety as well as enjoyment before starting out on that long awaited vacation trip in your car.

Last year 3,823 persons were killed in traffic accidents in Texas, with 1,053 of these deaths occurring during the months of June, July, and August. Three hundred and seventy-four deaths were recorded during July, making it the deadliest month of the year.

A few simple precautionary measures can keep you from becoming one of these grim summer holiday statistics, according to the Texas Department of Health.

To begin with, get an early start on a summer trip and plan the route ahead of time so you can reach your destination without hurrying. Allow enough time for the return journey also, because it can be the deadliest trip of all because of weariness and the desire to get home quickly.

In addition, remember that a lengthy stay in the sun, particularly at a lake or at the beach, can affect your night vision.

For any trip, it's wise to make certain safety checks on your car. Good tires and brakes, proper lights, and correct wheel alignment are important. Check the car's hoses, belts, and fluid levels, as well as tire pressure. A tool kit, extra electrical fuses, flashlight, and road flares may come in handy while traveling.

While most adults are aware by now that they should wear their seat belts, in some areas of the state as few as 4 percent of the children ride in car safety seats. Last year in Texas, 78 children ages 0-4 died in motor vehicle accidents, and another 6,603 were injured—many seriously.

Since not all medical problems can be avoided on the road, it's a good idea for the traveler to take along a first aid kit. Consider packing these items:

- *prescription medicines, properly labeled, and extra prescriptions if you think you might run out.
- *lip balm, sun screens, insect repellent, and an extra pair of glasses or contact lenses.
- *first aid guide.
- *adhesive bandages and tape, gauze pads, safety pins, scissors, tweezers, and a thermometer.
- PLASTIC PROTECTORS, 11x8½, punched 3 holes, wide reinforcing flap. Comes with black mounting sheet. Haskell Free Press

Think About Tax Bill Now

Careful tax planners are thinking about next April's tax bill right now. It pays to be wise to the strict new penalties dealing with abusive tax shelters and avoid the promise of tremendous tax write-off ratios as the sole reason to invest.

The Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA) makes participation in abusive tax shelters more hazardous than ever, with penalties and interest approaching 50% when IRS disallows the claims.

IRS defines abusive tax shelters as marketing schemes that involve artificial transactions with little or no economic reality, frequently making use of unrealistic allocations, inflated appraisals, or losses in connection with nonrecourse loans.

Investing in an abusive tax shelter may be an expensive proposition when all of the consequences are considered, IRS noted. For example, the promoter generally charges a substantial fee. If the return is examined by the IRS and a tax deficiency is determined, the taxpayer will then be faced with payment of the tax, interest on the underpayment, plus the possible application of severe penalties for negligence or civil fraud. And, in the most aggravated situations, IRS may decide to prosecute the case for criminal tax violations.

Since there are many abusive tax shelters and more are developed daily by promoters, it is not possible to list all the factors a taxpayer should consider in determining whether an offering is an abusive tax shelter. However, one should ask the following questions, which might provide a clue to the abusive nature of the plan:

1. Do the promised tax benefits far outweigh the economic benefits?
2. Is this a transaction you would seriously consider, apart from the tax benefits, if you hoped to make a profit?
3. Do shelter assets really exist and are they insured for less than their purchase price?
4. Is there a nontax justification for the way profits and losses are allocated to partners?

5. Do the facts and supporting documents make economic sense? In that connection, are there sales and resales of the tax shelter property at ever increasing prices?

6. Does the investment plan involve a gimmick, device, or sham to hide the economic reality of the transaction?

7. Does the promoter offer to backdate documents after the close of the year and are you instructed to backdate checks covering your investment?

8. Is your debt a real debt or are you assured by the promoter that you will never have to pay it?

The watchword when evaluating investment prospectuses is that, if something sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Galileo did not invent the telescope—it was invented in 1608 in Holland. He did, however, make his own telescope soon after and pioneered its use.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications has filed with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to introduce a new intrastate, optional long distance service to begin August 1, 1984, the same date "Reach Out® America" plan will be available for interstate calls.

A new service designed to give customers the opportunity to reduce the cost of long distance in Texas has been filed with the state PUC by AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc.

"Reach Out® Texas" is an optional calling plan which will provide additional discounts on long distance rates for Texas customers who frequently place calls in the evening, weekend, and night time calling periods.

The new "Reach Out® Texas" plan for the first time extends the benefits of competition to many Texas consumers who previously have not had any discounted long distance service available to them.

AT&T Communications customers who choose this new optional service will pay a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of intrastate "Direct Dialed" (1+) calling during the weekend and night rate period.

An additional customer savings for those participating in the plan will be that any Direct Dialed calls placed during the weekend and night rate period that exceeds the one hour period will be charged at an hourly rate of $12, or $.20 per minute.

Customers selecting this option also receive an additional 15 percent discount for intrastate Direct Dialed calls during the evening discount rate period for a total savings of approximately 38 percent.

A one-time charge of $6 is billed when a customer orders the "Reach Out® Texas" plan. The $6 is collected by AT&T Communications and paid to the local telephone company to establish the service. This charge will be waived during the first 90 days that the offering is available.

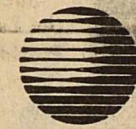

AT&T Communications is proud to offer this optional service for its Texas long distance customers and will in the future continue to introduce cost cutting programs to help Texans reduce their long distance bills.

A complete copy of the "Reach Out® Texas" tariff and rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas.

AT&T Communications estimates that the revenue impact of this new service would be significantly less than 2.5 percent of annual gross revenues.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

*Customer billing for the optional calling plan will be provided for AT&T Communications through billing contracts with the local telephone companies. Therefore, the introduction of these rate plans into a specific area is contingent upon local company billing capabilities. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has agreed to handle the billing in its service areas effective August 1, 1984.

TAX PLANNING

Written by Gerald L. Rodgers CPA

DEPRECIATION CHANGES

The Tax Reform Act of 1984 made several changes in the area of depreciation or cost recovery and depreciation related provisions. The changes in the depreciation area are generally unfavorable from the viewpoint of the taxpayer.

The new law extends the period over which depreciation or cost recovery on real property is written off from 15 years to 18 years. This new longer recovery period applies to depreciable realty such as office buildings, rent houses, major building additions, and other real property. Alternatively, you can elect a longer recovery period of 35 or 45 years. This new provision is effective for property placed in service after March 15, 1984.

Another new provision relating to depreciation in the new law is the instant recapture of depreciation in the year of sale on installment sales, even if no principal payments are received in that year. Under prior law, any applicable depreciation recapture to be recognized on an installment sale was included in taxable income only as principal payments were received on the installment sale.

For example, suppose you buy a machine for $100,000 and claim depreciation deductions of $40,000 for several years. You then sell the machine for $100,000 in an installment sale under which you are to receive nothing this year and $20,000 a year plus interest for the next five years. Under the new law, since the entire gain of $40,000 is subject to depreciation recapture you would report the entire $40,000 gain in income in the year of sale.

This new provision relating to installment sales has effectively done away with the installment sale break relating to the sale of depreciable business equipment. The provision is effective for any installment sales after June 6, 1984.

These new provisions relating to depreciable property may have a significant effect on any property transactions in 1984. If you are contemplating a transaction of this sort, you should consult your tax advisor before closing the transaction.

WTCC Lists More Water Conservation Tips

About 75 percent of the water used in the home is used in the bathroom. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce lists the following ways that water use can be decreased and your water bill reduced without any great sacrifice:

1. Repairing leaky faucets can result in large water savings. A slow drip can waste as much as 170 gallons each day, or 5,000 gallons per month. Repairing a faucet which leaks a small drop can save you $10.00 or more per month on your water bill.
2. Your toilets may be leaking and need repairs and you may not know it. Add a few drops of food coloring in the storage reservoir. If the colored water moves into the toilet bowl between flushings, you will know you have a leak. Repairing a leaking toilet can result in a decrease in water use and a savings of several dollars a month on your water bill.

3. Using the toilet as a trash disposal for facial tissue and other trash results in many unnecessary flushes. Each time you dispose of trash in a trash basket instead of flushing the commode, you save 5 gallons or more of water.

Three or four unnecessary flushes per day would result in a waste of 400 to 500 gallons of water per month.

4. Bathing in the shower instead of the bathtub will reduce water use by 5 to 10 gallons.

5. Shampooing your hair while taking a shower will require only a little more water than a normal shower and save the 10 to 20 gallons of water normally used in a separate shampoo.

6. Ponding water in the basin for handwashing or shaving instead of letting the faucet run will reduce water use for these activities by about half.

7. When brushing your teeth, turn the water faucet on only when you need to rinse your toothbrush, rinse your mouth or clean the sink rather than letting the water run continuously. This will decrease water use during this activity by almost two-thirds for most folks.

Ten to twelve percent of in-home water use takes place in the kitchen.

8. Running water from the tap until it is cold enough to drink is probably the easiest waste habit to break. This can be done by storing water for drinking in the refrigerator. If you have problems remembering, tie a colored ribbon on the faucet to remind you of the nice cool water in the refrigerator.

9. Wait until you have a full load of dishes before using your automatic dishwasher. Not only will you save water, but you will save expensive detergent and energy.

10. The washing machine constitutes from 12 to 14 percent of in-home water use. Automatic washing machines use 30 to 60 gallons per load, so it is important to wash full loads to obtain maximum benefits from your water.

energy and detergent.

If you implement a good water conservation program in your home but still find your water consumption is high, you might have a water leak between your meter and the house. It is easy to check. Turn off all faucets, indoors and out, and then check your water meter. If it continues to run, you have a leak and need to have it repaired.

Hermann Sons Begin Membership Campaign

A "Campaign to Make Hermann Sons Lodges Gain New Members" will be conducted from Aug. 1 to Nov. 10 in all 159 lodges of the 80,000-member Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president, has announced.

The lodges are located in 141 cities and towns across the state.

On July 15 more than 800 lodge leaders from around Texas met in San Antonio, home office site of the fraternal society, in a rally for the campaign. This rally followed a seminar attended by some 135 local lodge membership representatives.

Hermann Sons in Texas dates back to 1860 when Harmonia Lodge No. 1 was being organized in San Antonio. The lodge was officially chartered July 6, 1861. Originally part of a national society founded in New York in 1840, Hermann Sons in Texas became autonomous in 1921. Headquarters are located in San Antonio where the Grand Lodge was established in 1890.

The order in Texas operates a youth summer camp and a retirement home for aged members near Comfort and sponsors 27 dancing schools for junior members. Local lodges sponsor both social and benevolent activities. As required by law, the fraternal benefit society also provides life insurance for the benefit of adult and junior members.

Lodge membership representatives in the Haskell area are: Harry Koehler and Alton Middleton, Haskell Lodge No. 241.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

One of the basic rights of every American is the freedom to possess a firearm. This right is guaranteed in the U.S. Constitution, and we must guard this freedom.

But the right to keep and bear arms is not a limitless privilege without regard to public safety. Many types of weapons are illegal for public ownership because of their danger and lack of practical use. Some types of firearms are reserved for use by the military and law enforcement agencies, yet this restriction does nothing to interfere with the possession of firearms by the public.

This common sense approach to firearms also applies to the use of ammunition. Several states already have outlawed armor-piercing bullets, and I have joined in sponsoring legislation that would limit its manufacturing and importation on a nationwide basis. This bill also would impose a mandatory penalty for the possession of the ammunition during and in relation to the commission of a violent felony.

Armor-piercing bullets are of small caliber, made of brass, steel or other hard metal. They differ from regular ammunition in their rapid speed and capacity to retain their shape on impact.

Law enforcement officials refer to armor-piercing ammunition as "cop killer" bullets because of their ability to penetrate bullet-proof vests. Several hundred thousand police officers across the country wear these vests, but this protection is virtually useless against armor-piercing ammunition.

Originally, armor-piercing bullets were developed by law enforcement officers. Most agencies use these bullets sparingly because of their tendency to ricochet. Hunters have stopped using armor-piercing bullets because they discovered that traditional lead ammunition stops game far more effectively. Many target shooters consider this ammunition too expensive for practical use.

This legislation was developed in response to a valid concern for the safety of police officers among law enforcement officials, legislators and the general public. This bill meets this concern without restricting or interfering with the legitimate use of firearms for hunting, trap skeet shooting, formal or informal target shooting and gun collecting. It allows for this type of ammunition which is crafted specifically for sporting purposes.

It's obvious that armor-piercing ammunition serves no practical use in the hands of the general public. Its only use would be that of piercing bullet-proof vests worn by police officers. I believe this legislation is necessary to protect our law enforcement officials. It has passed through committee and is scheduled for a Senate vote. I hope Congress acts swiftly and favorably in passing this needed legislation.

Vets Urged To Apply For Land Purchase

On July 2, 1984 the Veterans Land Board accepted a 9.21 percent bid by Morgan Stanley and Co., Inc. of New York to underwrite the sale of $75 million in bonds to fund the Texas Veterans Land Program.

The Veterans Land Program offers low-interest loans of $20,000 to eligible Texas veterans for the purchase of a minimum of ten acres of land.

As a result of this sale, the Veterans Land Board set the interest rate for loans made through the Veterans Land Program at 9.25 percent on a 30-year fixed-rate note. The new rate is effective August 1st.

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who serves as Chairman of the Veterans Land Board, said, "This is a remarkably good bid in a bond market that has seen a two percent jump in the prime rate over the last two months and is currently flooded with tax exempt bonds. The excellent rate is a tribute to the state of Texas and the way Texas handles its fiscal matters. It shows the continued strength of Texas' bonds nationally and the faith the financial community has in this program."

"Because of the Veterans Land Program's outstanding performance in today's sale," Mauro said, "it will only be necessary to increase the current 8.5 percent loan rate by less than one percent."

"I want to urge anyone considering participating in the Veterans Land Program to get their completed applications to us by July 31st," Mauro said. "Land is still the best investment you can make and I urge you to join the more than 83,000 Texas veterans that have participated in this excellent program."

Mauro stressed that "there is still plenty of money available at the old rate" and that all applications that are currently being processed and all completed applications received by the Veterans Land Board post marked by July 31st will receive the 8.5 percent rate.

Check On Tax Penalties Before Payment

"No one who receives a government notice requesting payment of a penalty for underpayment of taxes should automatically pay the penalty charge without question. Millions of taxpayers have received in error U.S. Government billing notices requesting payment of penalty charges for alleged underpayment of their 1983 income taxes," said C.H. Herren manager of H&R Block in Haskell.

Mr. C.H. Herren said that the IRS has investigated the problem of taxpayers being sent erroneous bills for penalties they do not owe. The problem was traced to a data entry error at government tax return processing centers.

As a public service, the H&R Block offices in Haskell will examine notices individuals receive from the government claiming that penalties for underpayment are due, even if the taxpayer has already paid the government claim. The IRS has established procedures for return of erroneous billing notices, and H&R Block offices in Haskell will handle this procedure for anyone, clients or nonclients, free of charge.

The H&R Block office is located at Haskell and is open 8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. Phone 817-864-3087. Monday through Friday.

Electrical Safety Ideas Noted

For almost a hundred years, electricity has been part of the daily lives of most Americans. Electrical products provide light, make work easier and increase comfort.

Most electrical products are designed, tested and built so that they are safe in normal use. But sometimes a defect in the product or improper use can create a hazardous situation.

According to the U.S.

Consumer Product Safety Commission, 600 people lose their lives each year by electrocution in or around the home. In addition, there are about 205,000 home fires of electrical origin that cause 1,100 deaths, about 16,300 injuries and 950 million dollars in property loss each year.

Most people know that they shouldn't use electrical appliances near water. They also know to repair or discard any appliance that causes the slightest shock, and to keep combustibles such as drapes and newspapers away from heat producing appliances.

Here are some electrical safety ideas that are less obvious, but equally useful in preventing fires and injuries:

*Unplug your kitchen counter-top appliances when they're not in use. A plugged-in appliance creates an unnecessary risk.

*Is there excessive vibration or movement when your washer or dryer is operating? Get it fixed. The movement can put undue stress on the electrical connections.

*Check the light bulbs in ceiling fixtures and in "hooded" lamps that will trap heat. A bulb that is of too high wattage may lead to fire through overheating.

*Lamp cords and extension cords in high traffic areas can cause people to trip. That's bad enough, but tripping over and stepping on cords can also damage them, leading to a fire hazard.

The best way to prevent an electrical injury or fire is to remove or correct any safety problems which may be present in your home.

Mauro Reminds Vets Of Interest Rate Change

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro reminded Texas veterans today that the interest rate charged to veterans participating in the Veterans Land Program will rise from 8.5 to 9.25 percent on August 1.

County Child Welfare Board Meets

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board met Monday night, July 16, at 6:30 for the second time in the Jury Room of the Courthouse for an organizational meeting with Linda Haynes, Haskell, and Nancy Norman, Abilene, of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

The following officers were selected: Amelia Perry, chairman; Mary Martin, secretary; Sue Miller, treasurer, and Brian Burgess, projects. The members drew numbers for length of term. Shirley Mickler, Brian Burgess, and Dave Miller will serve one year; Amelia Perry, Mary Martin and Sue Miller, two years; Pam Aycock, Laverne Mayfield and Linda Short three years. Amelia Perry, Linda Short, and Brian Burgess will present by-laws at the next meeting, August 21 at 6:30 pm. All meetings are open to the public.

"I want to urge anyone considering participating in the Veterans Land Program to get their completed application in to us by July 31," Mauro said.

Mauro, who serves as Chairman of the Veterans Land Board, stressed that "there is still plenty of money available at the old rate" and that all applications that are currently being processed and all completed applications received by the Veterans Land Board postmarked by July 31 will receive the 8.5 percent rate.

Mauro said a new "Fast-Tract" subdivision program implemented by the Veterans Land Board has been successful in "providing Texas veterans with a greater selection of high quality land to choose from."

Mauro said the new "Fast-Tract" program is based on subdivision developers joining the Veterans Land Board "in a cooperative effort to help veterans find and purchase land suitable to their needs." "As a result of the success of this new program, we now have prime acreage available for Texas veterans near Austin Waco, Corsicana, Amarillo, and San Antonio," Mauro said.

The Veterans Land Program offers $20,000 low-interest fixed-rate loans to eligible veterans to purchase a minimum of ten acres of land. Mauro added that any developer or Texas veteran who wants information on the new subdivision program should contact the loan processing division of the Veterans Land Board by calling toll free 1-800-252-VETS or 475-2823 in Austin.

No Change Predicted For Duck Bag Limits

The 100-point system of bag limits for duck hunting in effect in Texas since 1970 is proposed to continue during the upcoming duck seasons with no changes in point values.

Two species of ducks, however, are proposed for addition to the list of legal game birds. They are the black-bellied whistling (tree) duck and the fulvous whistling duck. If this change is adopted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission the two species would be 70-point ducks.

Public comment on the point system and other proposals for the upcoming seasons may be directed by mail to Bill Brownlee, Migratory Game Bird Program Director, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744, or by calling

Consumers To See New Garment Labels

New care labeling regulations for clothing and certain textile items are now in effect, and they can aid consumers.

The new rules require special information about garment care procedures to be on permanent labels sewn into dresses, skirts, pant suits, blouses and other items. The labels will provide instructions on washing, bleaching, drying, ironing and dry cleaning. Fabric care labeling legislation has been in effect since 1972, but there were many problems because the original guidelines were not clear. Often the labels in garments gave incomplete, inconsistent or sometimes inaccurate information. With the improved labels, consumers should be able to save money by taking better care of their clothes.

Consumers will find the new labels give specific instructions on machine or hand washing of garments. If an article cannot be washed in hot water, a water temperature must be recommended. Bleaching instructions must be given if regular bleaching will damage the garment.

Drying instructions must state whether the item can be dried by machine or by some other method. If machine drying is recommended, but a high temperature should not be used, the label must suggest the correct temperature. If ironing will be necessary, the label must say so. An ironing temperature is required if regular use of a hot iron will harm the garment. When dry cleaning is recommended, specific instructions must be noted if all solvents cannot be safely used.
