

Indians Defeat Rotan Yellowhammers 26-21

The Haskell Indians won an exciting 26-21 victory over the Rotan Yellowhammers in both teams second district ballgame.

The Indians scored a touchdown in the middle of the fourth quarter to secure the win. The lead charged four times during the ballgame.

The Indians exploded for 338 yards total offense; 267 yards rushing and 71 yards passing. Fullback Robert Ivey lead the Indian rushing attack with 184 yards on 23 carries and 3 touchdowns.

The Yellowhammer offense was almost as potent; rushing for 179 yards and passing for 113 for a total of 292 total offense.

The Indians scored first with 3:17 left in the first quarter when Ivey scampered in from 37 yards out. The Indians went for two on the PAT but failed to cross the goal line.

In the second quarter both teams lit up the scoreboard with 27 points. The Indians scored 13 and the Yellowhammers scored 14.

Rotan lead off the scoring surge and took the lead when quarterback Tim Carrillo connected with end Ed Martinez on a two-yard pass on a first and goal to goal from the two. The pass came with 9:33 left in the half. The PAT by Carrillo was good to put the Yellowhammers up 7-6.

The Indians received the kick-off, and Ivey returned it 41 yards to the Yellowhammer 44. On the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Todd Harris found running back Carl Dever open in the end zone for a touchdown. The PAT was not good, but the touchdown put the Indians up 12-6.

On the Indians next possession, Ivey danced his way in for a touchdown from 34 yards out with 7:42 left in the half. The PAT by Harris was good putting Haskell up 19-6.

The Yellowhammers took the kick-off from the Indians and drove down to the one yard line. On fourth and goal to goal from the one, quarterback Carrillo tiptoed in for the touchdown with 5:38 left in the half. The PAT by Carrillo was good, drawing the Yellowhammers to within 5, 19-14.

The Yellowhammers took the lead in the third quarter, when running back Charles Williams bulled his way in from four yards out with 2:31 left in the third quarter. The PAT by Carrillo was good giving the Yellowhammers the lead, 21-19.

The Indians got the win when they held the Yellowhammers on a fourth and two on the 34 yard line. The Indians took over the ball and on the first play from scrimmage and Ivey waltzed his way in from 34 yards out. Ivey scored with 6:09 left in the ballgame. The PAT by Harris was good making the final score 26-21, Indians.

The Indians are now 1-1 in district play while the Yellowhammers dropped to 0-2 in district play.

The Indians' opponent this Friday is the Stamford Bulldogs. The Bulldogs are 2-0 in district play after the defeating the Anson Tigers 34-24 last Friday and Rotan 45-0 two weeks ago.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Stamford.

News Briefs

Halloween Window Painting

School groups and individuals will have until Saturday to complete painting on windows of Haskell merchants.

The Halloween painting contest is sponsored by a group of retail merchants who are offering cash prizes.

Groups interested in painting a window are asked to secure their own permission from a merchant. Free paint is available at the Haskell Free Press from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Groups must furnish their own containers and brushes.

Youth Applications

A counselor for the West Central Texas Council of Governments will be at City Hall in Haskell each Tuesday at 1 p.m. to take youth applications for on-the-job training and classroom training programs.

Retail Merchants Meeting

All Haskell retail merchants are urged to attend an idea exchange next Tuesday, October 30, at 7 p.m. in the Community Building of the Haskell National Bank.

Retail merchants are urged to attend and bring ideas for promotions of any type to be discussed.

HYH Accepting Bids

The Haskell Young Homemakers are accepting bids for their gymnastic equipment.

The equipment can be seen Saturday, October 27, at 10:00 in the High School little gym.

Bids can be sent to Leesa Toliver, Box 497, Haskell, Texas 79521. They need to be in by November 1, 1984.

Money from the sale will be donated for new playground equipment at the school.

Jr. Class Brisket Supper

There will be a B-B-Q brisket supper benefiting the Jr. Class November 2 at 5:30, before the Hawley game, in the High School cafeteria. Potato salad, red beans, a relish plate, and peach cobbler will also be served. Tickets are $4.00 and may be purchased from any Junior. Children under 12 pay 20¢ a year at the door.

Ghostbusters Sale Set By Local Merchants

About 50 Haskell merchants will participate in a special Ghostbusters sale this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in conjunction with Halloween.

Included in the promotion will be a special window painting contest for student groups. Participating merchants will furnish paints which may be picked up after school at the Haskell Free Press. Each group must furnish paint containers and brushes and secure permission prior to painting. All painting must be completed by Saturday. Judges will select winners Sunday afternoon and cash prizes will be offered by participating merchants.

This program is the first in a series of planned promotions to bring new business into Haskell and at the same time encourage local shoppers to support Haskell merchants.

In conjunction with the promotion participating businesses will remain open until 9 p.m. tonight (Thursday) for the convenience of shoppers.

The promotion offers a double combination for shoppers with the ability to view Halloween artwork by local students and take advantage of special bargains.

Demo Chairman Seeks Support

Bob Slagle, Texas Democratic Party Chairman, was in Haskell Monday afternoon to seek support of the Democratic Party.

Slagle told about 25 persons attending, "The Republicans have never won an election, but the Democrats have lost some".

Citing several examples of "one vote does make a difference", he said that fewer than one vote in every five precincts in the May Democratic Primary could have changed the outcome.

He urged those present to seek out potential Democratic voters and encourage them to vote. Slagle concluded his remarks with the statement, "if we all do our part, we'll win".

Doggett Visits Haskell

State Senator Lloyd Doggett was in Haskell last Friday stumping for votes in his bid for election to the U.S. Senate.

Doggett told a crowd of about 40 that, "What you're doing here can make the difference". He said that he expects the election to be very close and urged those attending to "spread the word that there is a reasonable Democratic Approach".

Doggett attacked U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, his Republican challenger, on the issues of Social Security and agriculture. Doggett voiced his support of Social Security and pledged to work to keep the system sound.

He told listeners that legislation was needed in 1985 "targeted to protect what has become an endangered species—The Family Farmer". He added that he was not an expert on agriculture but that he was an expert at listening.

He visited with the crowd at the newly opened Haskell County Democratic Headquarters and expressed thanks to those responsible for putting forth the effort to open the headquarters.

Concluding his remarks with, "With your help the big money Republican marching will crumble like a Graham Cracker".

Doggett visited individually with many attending before leaving for a campaign stop in Wichita Falls.

TOSS UP

Haskell Indian Harry Henry and an unidentified Rotan Yellowhammer battle for a pass in the Haskell-Rotan game last Friday night in Rotan. The Tribe won the contest 26-21 to even their District record at 1-1. The Indians will travel to Stamford this Friday night to meet the Bulldogs. Stamford is 2-0 in District play. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

This week's headlines could easily read "HASKELL BAND RECEIVES SUPERIOR RATING".

The headline would report the facts not from three individuals selected as judges for last Saturday's UIL marching contest but, the facts from a multitude of parents and fans of the Indian Band.

When classes started last fall, members of the band had already been working for two weeks. They continued to work hard, practicing extra and working in groups and individually, toward Saturday's contest.

For the past three months band members have made sacrifices to improve the band.

The results were obvious. The improvement was both visible and audible. The improvement from last year to this year has been dramatic and further improvement could be seen and heard every week.

Last Saturday's performance was the best of the year and yet the contest judges didn't agree with the evaluation of people who have watched the improvements from week-to-week.

Sure it would have been nice for the judges to agree with the Haskell delegation but maybe even more important is what we can learn from the experience.

Doing the best you can is all anyone can ask. If you're excited about your performance and feel good about it, nothing can steal that satisfaction. The opinion of close friends and relatives should mean more than the opinion of someone we've never met.

In the end, we're all winners. The band members because of their new pride in themselves and in the fans and parents from having watched the maturing process in action and having an opportunity to contribute toward the self confidence of our young people.

Congratulations Indian Band members. You're winners in our eyes and we appreciate your hard work and dedication and can attest to your improvement.

Study Club Views Many Crafts And Collectibles

...ne to Remember... Crafts and Collectibles of American Women" was the theme of the October 11th meeting for Progressive Study Club. Mrs. Mike Harrell introduced Mrs. Abe Turner and Mrs. Don Nanny, owners of Wigwam Crafts and Plants who presented an informing program and displayed many interesting crafts and collectibles. Included in the display were a number of items which were childhood toys belonging to Mrs. Nanny. Mrs. Turner described the crafts and collections which were attractively arranged throughout the community room. Among these was an example of basket weaving which has recently become popular in our area. Other samples of punched tin, blue crock, folk art, quilts and numerous bears were enjoyed by members.

Following the program, refreshments were served by the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Charles McCauley, Mrs. Garvin Foote, Mrs. Erma Liles and Mrs. Bill Holden.

The group reassembled for a business meeting which was led by the president, Mrs. Hugh Horton. Correspondence was read from Mrs. Dorothy Drain and the letter of membership resignation from Virginia Jones Palmer. Four new members were voted into the club, to fill the active membership roll at the present time. The new members are Nancy Mickler, Lorene Beason, Margaret Jones and Oleta Cornelius.

Janet Strickland, chairman for the Chicken Trazzini Supper assigned work duties for the meal which was held Friday night.

Since this was the first business meeting of the year, Mrs. A.J. Schnuriger read the club constitution and the various officers read the by-laws.

Parliamentarian, Mrs. Bailey Toliver gave our pointer for the evening which was a discussion of Roberts Rules and how they were obeyed in earlier years.

A drawing was held for a doorprize and it was won by Mrs. Bailey Toliver.

The meeting was adjourned with a reminder of the GFWC Mesquite District Fall Board Meeting in Throckmorton. Mrs. R.W. Herren is representative for this meeting.

While it may be true that money can't buy love, it can buy life, especially when you give a contribution to the Haskell Co. Ambulance Memorial Fund. Your contribution is tax deductible, and will be useful for years to come. Don't hesitate. Make arrangements now to give. Thank you.

Rochester Hobby Club

Extra quilting days are being planned in order to get all of the quilts out of the quilting frames before the Quilt Show to be held Nov. 9th and 10th. Inquiries are being made about the Door Prize quilt for which tickets are already being sold. The name of this quilt is "Country Nuclear" and is a very unusual but beautiful handmade product. The quilt that is going to the highest sealed bid is "Grandmas Fan."

Hobby Club reserves the right to refuse any or all sealed bids on this handsome 96x112 inch beauty. At the moment, both of these quilts are in our display windows.

Emily Wilson was hostess today to 20 members and 11 visitors. Stella Carver will be hostess on Nov. 6th.

Vitamin Supplements May Not Be Needed In Your Diet

Vitamin and mineral supplements are a popular -- even if not always necessary -- part of the American diet, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

A recent Gallup Poll shows that about 40 percent of the adult population uses vitamin or mineral supplements, says Dr. Alice Hunt. Multivitamins led the product sales, followed by Vitamin C, B vitamins and Vitamin E, she adds.

Food and Drug Administration (FDA) studies indicate that women are more frequent users of supplements than men in all age groups, says the nutritionist. Heaviest users are those over 65 years of age. While half of all users take only one supplement, about 11 percent take five or more different supplements daily.

One recent study of national health and nutrition suggests that this vitamin and mineral use is not related to actual need, except for iron supplementation in women of child-bearing age, reports Hunt. But vitamin use is influenced by advertising and promotions as well as individual health beliefs.

"The vast majority of people can get all the vitamins and minerals they need by eating a well-balanced diet," Hunt maintains. "If you are concerned about your nutrient intake, a physician or registered dietician can tell you whether you need a dietary supplement or not."

If you take vitamins and minerals without consulting a physician, be cautious, says the nutritionist. The FDA has only limited authority to regulate supplements, except for those intended for children under 12 or for pregnant or lactating women. The FDA is not allowed to limit the combination or number of vitamins, minerals or other ingredients in a supplement product.

Most supplement products are safe, says Hunt, since they contain modest amounts of vitamins and minerals which approximate the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA). However, higher potency products can be a cause for concern, she says.

For example, extremely high potency selenium products were recalled by the FDA this spring because they resulted in the loss of hair and other adverse effects.

Even when supplements are safe, they may not be everything they claim to be, the nutritionist cautions. Small, high-priced tablets of dried vegetables were sold last year with the claim that they were a substitute for vegetables for those interested in a healthful diet to prevent cancer. The FDA has since required that the claims be withdrawn.

"Before spending money on vitamin and mineral supplements, consumers really should know what they're taking and have a medically sound reason for adding it to their diet," emphasizes Hunt.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Founders Day Oct. 31

For Girl Scouts October 31 is not just Halloween. It is Girl Scout Founders Day, the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low.

Juliette Low brought Girl Scouting to America from England in 1912. From its beginning in Savannah, Georgia with six troops, Girl Scouting has grown to over 2 million registered members in the U.S. The West Texas Girl Scout Council serves over 3500 members.

Juliette Low's home in Savannah is now a Registered Historical Landmark. It is a museum that portrays her life and wide range of interests.

Promoting peace and goodwill among young people all over the world was one of Juliette Low's chief interests. The Juliette Low World Friendship Fund was established to help Girl Scouts from different countries become friends.

The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating agency of the United Way.

JOY TO BEHOLD

The workmanship of an heirloom quilt on display in the museum at Wichita Falls is admired by County Extension Agents Mary Streit, left, who serves Hall, Motley, and Throckmorton Counties, and Billie Morris of Baylor County. A quilt contest will be a feature of the second annual Rolling Plains Quilt Show in Wichita Falls next January.

Area Quilters May Display Handiwork At Regional Quilt Show

Quilters in Haskell County can show their handiwork and compete for an array of prizes in a regional quilt show Jan. 7 and 8 in Wichita Falls. The quilt show will be a feature of the second annual Rolling Plains Cotton Show, to be held those dates at the Wichita Falls Activity Center, said Lou Gilly, county Extension agent for home economics. The Cotton Show is conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to promote cotton, a major commodity in the Rolling Plains.

In addition to the 21 counties of the Rolling Plains Extension District, the contest is open to residents of:

Scurry County in the South Plains District; Clay County in the North Central District; Stephens County in the Central District; and Callahan, Coleman, Concho, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Taylor and Tom Green Counties in the West Central District.

The quilt show will include seven categories: Individual Hand-made quilt, Individual Machine-made quilt, Group Hand-made quilt, Individual Hand-made Baby quilt, Individual Machine-made Baby quilt, Individual Creative quilt, and Antique quilt.

Only one quilt per category is eligible for entry and all quilts, except antique, must have been made within the last three years. Antique quilts must be at least 50 years old. Entries should have a suggested entry category, however, final decisions regarding categories will be made by the judges.

Quilts having any machine work will be entered in the appropriate machine category. No double knot quilts are eligible for entry. All entries will be judged, but space may limit the number shown.

Prizes will be awarded in the amount of $25 for first place in each category, $15 for second place in each category, $100 for Best of Show, and $75 for runner-up. First place (blue), second place (red) and participation ribbons will also be awarded.

Each entry must be tagged with a muslin or fabric label sewn on the back with the name, date completed, county and category typed on it. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is not responsible for lost, stolen or damaged quilts.

Persons interested in entering the quilt show can do so by obtaining entry forms from their county Extension agent for home economics. Entry forms may be returned to their county Extension office or mailed to Mary Streit, Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Box 2159, Vernon, Tx. 76384-2159. Entry deadline is Dec. 1.

Safe Food Booklet Offered

When you lift the lid on leftovers long abandoned in the dark recesses of the fridge and get a whiff of something truly morbid, you know it's time to dump the whole thing out. You're not likely to eat anything that has obviously spoiled.

Food Poisoning bacteria are another matter, however. They usually cannot be smelled or tasted, and that's what makes them so dangerous. You may not know anything is amiss until symptoms of poisoning begin to set in, two hours or two days later.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has prepared a 32 page food safety booklet that tells how to recognize and avoid unpleasant and dangerous encounters with these unseen gremlins. The Safe Food Book: Your Kitchen Guide is available free from the Consumer Information Center, Department 597M, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Salmonella bacteria cause one common type of food poisoning. Symptoms such as nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea can be very severe and require hospitalization, especially for younger children, the ill, and the elderly. Salmonella bacteria is often found in raw or undercooked foods, particularly meats. A watchful eye and a reliable meat thermometer can ensure sufficient "doneness" to ward off this particular offender. The Safe Food Book includes a listing of minimum interior meat temperatures for safe eating.

Improper canning, especially home canning, can lead to the most deadly of all food poisoning, botulism. The poison attacks the nervous system, causing double vision, trouble swallowing and difficulty breathing. If left untreated it may lead to death. Danger signs are milky liquids surrounding vegetables, cracked jars, and swollen cans or lids. Suspected goods should be thrown away, carefully and immediately. Wrap the cans or jars in plastic, then in heavy paper bags, and deposit them in a secure trash can.

The Safe Food Book also contains a wealth of safety and economy tips for food preparation and storage, including what to do when the freezer fails, how to use your microwave oven most efficiently, and why you should never ever try to freeze mayonnaise (it makes an awful mess). It also advises what to do in case of actual food poisoning, where to report such an incident if it may affect other persons, and where to write and call for further information.

When you send for a copy of The Safe Food Book, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 other free and moderately priced federal booklets on a wide variety of subjects.

Area Screening Services Scheduled

The Texas Department of Health Region 4 will hold screening services for area towns. The public is invited to attend and there will be no charge for these services. Any abnormal findings will be referred to the client's private physician.

Services offered will be for diabetes, high blood pressure, anemia, weight and urinalysis. Immunizations will also be given on specified dates and at specified sites.

Clinics will be held at the following locations and dates:

Haskell at the Experienced Citizen Center, 1404 South 1st, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. on November 1, 1984.

Haskell at the Experienced Citizen Center, 1404 South 1st, immunizations will be given from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. on November 15, 1984.

Jayton at the Kent County Community Center on November 8, 1984, from 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. Immunizations will be given from 1:00 p.m. until 2:00 p.m.

Aspermont, at the Stone-wall County Activity Center, on November 7, 1984, from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. Immunizations will be given from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m.

Haskell JV Earns First '84 Victory

By Robert Ivey
The Haskell JV skipped by Rotan 6-0, earning their first victory of the '84 season. The game was a defensive battle until midway through the third quarter of play. Patrick Perez connected on a 27-yard pass to Louie Torres who glided into the end zone for the touchdown. The PAT was no good. "We played our best game of the season. The offensive line played well in the second half, and this enabled us to score. Overall, the defense won the game for us. We had several kids that had been ineligible, and they were able to play this week which helped a lot. I'm proud of the way the kids played against Rotan," Coach Jim Bob Mickler said. The JV are now 1-4 for the year with three ball games left. The JV will face the Stamford Bulldogs Thursday here at 7 p.m.

Superintendent's Views

BY JAMES LANIER
Superintendent, Haskell ISD

I will begin a series of columns on the 1984-85 budget this week. I realize that this is not the most interesting subject; however, I think it is very important for you as patrons and taxpayers of Haskell ISD to be informed where your money is going. Haskell ISD has the biggest payroll in town and probably in the county. School business is big business and requires careful, sound fiscal management. While fiscal management is not my favorite part of my chosen profession, it does demand a great portion of my time.

In my desire to clarify your understanding of the budget, I have chosen to break it down with different categories than years past. Hopefully this method I have chosen will be easier digested by laymen.

The first category I will address is payroll cost. Education is a heavily labor cost business. Our total projected payroll for 1984-85 is $1,348,256 which does not include the salaries of special education personnel. We break this cost down into five functions. The largest portion of the payroll cost consist of teachers salaries. We are projecting $1,022,590 in classroom teachers salaries, again this does not include special education salaries. We are projecting $86,042 for school administration salaries. This figure includes principal's salaries, their secretaries, and their office staff. We are projecting $93,150 salary cost in pupil services. This includes the counselors salary, bus drivers, payment for co-curricular activities, and salaries for lunchroom workers. We are projecting $71,224 in general administration which includes superintendent's salary and the salaries of the office staff. We are projecting $75,250 in salaries under maintenance of plant which includes custodian salaries. The figures above includes projected substitute costs, workmen's compensation and unemployment.

I will attempt to clarify these figures for you by breaking them down on a percent basis. The instructional salaries constitute 52% of the total budget of $1,985,536. The principal salaries and staff make up 4% of the total budget, 5% is projected for salaries in pupil services, 4% in central office staff salaries, and 4% for maintenance staff. The percent for total payroll cost is 68%. Remember this percentage does not include special education salaries which are included under contracted services.

The caliber of education provided for our students depend a great deal on the ability and quantity of personnel involved in their instruction; hence we have the heavy expenditures in this category. Also, remember we are mandated by the state for amounts of many of these salaries.

Next week we will continue this review of the projected budget for 1984-85 budget.

Reg O Company Recalls Defective Model 210 LP-Gas Regulators

In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), RegO Company, Chicago, Illinois, (312) 685-1121, today announced the voluntary recall of RegO Model 210 LP-Gas (liquefied petroleum gas, bottled gas) regulators because of a possible fire/explosion hazard. Without warning, the RegO Model 210 LP-Gas regulator may suddenly allow high pressure LP-Gas to pass to appliances, hot water heaters and furnaces fueled by LP-Gas. The regulators' failure to regulate LP-Gas pressure within allowable levels can occur when an internal mechanical component in the regulator fails. Fire and explosion can occur and result in severe property damage, personal injury or death. RegO has reported fourteen incidents to the CPSC that resulted in property damage, three of which involved personal injury.

Consumers having an LP-Gas fueled hot water heater, cooking appliance, furnace, outdoor grill or who own or use a recreational vehicle, mobil home, standard mini-compact or low profile motor home, travel trailer, park trailer, fifth wheel trailer, truck camper or van conversion having an LP-Gas hot water heater, cooking appliance or furnace should examine the LP-Gas regulator.

If it is a RegO Model 210, consumers should close the shut-off valve of the LP-Gas supply container and contact their local LP-Gas dealer for immediate replacement of the regulator (consult yellow pages for number and location of local LP-Gas dealer or supplier). Consumers are cautioned not to remove and replace the regulator themselves, and the LP-Gas supply should not be turned on until after regulator replacement. The RegO Model 210 regulator will be replaced by a RegO model 302V9P at no cost to the consumer.

Information concerning this recall is also available to consumers by calling CPSC's Toll-Free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. The teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270.

Paint Creek Pirates Defeat Lueders-Avoca Raiders 52-6

The Paint Creek Pirates ipped their district record to 2-0 Friday night as they trounced the Lueders-Avoca Raiders 52-6.

On the third play from scrimmage Lewis Lacey took a Mikeal Gonzales handoff up the middle and raced 34 yds. for the Pirates first TD. PAT by Keith Medford was good. On the Pirates' next possession, Ronald Campbell connected with Scott Guenther for a 58 yard touchdown reception. PAT failed.

Nearing the end of the first quarter, Gonzales fielded a Raider punt on his own 35 yard line and returned it for the Pirates' third touchdown. PAT by Campbell was good. Midway through the second period, the Raiders blocked a punt and returned it ten yards for their only touchdown of the game. Lacey then had a 38 yard touchdown reception from Campbell. PAT was good. In the last two minutes of the first half, Campbell scored on a seven yard reception from Medford, leaving the score 36-6 at intermission.

In the third quarter Lacey scampered 50 yards for his third touchdown of the game. PAT was good. With 5:16 left in the third quarter, Greg Rowland capped the scoring with a 60 yard run. PAT by Campbell ended the game on the 45 point rule.

The Defensive Player of the Week was Kenneth Jeffcoat. Offensive Player of the Week was Lewis Lacey.

Two undefeated District 4 A North Zone teams meet at Paint Creek Stadium Friday October 26 at 7:30 p.m. when the Paint Creek Pirates host the Jayton Jaybirds.

When it came time to stand and choose, Lloyd Doggett stood with you.

ELDERLY

- ★ Lloyd Doggett fought to preserve the fiscal integrity of all Texas retirement systems and believes that Social Security "is a sacred contract we cannot turn our backs on."

EDUCATION

- ★ Lloyd Doggett has always been one of Texas' leading advocates of a first class public education system. As a State Senator, he has been in the forefront of the struggle to improve the quality of teaching for our children.

PUTS TEXAS FIRST

- ★ In his eleven years as a Texas Senator, Lloyd Doggett has always put the needs and concerns of Texas first and the greedy special interests last. Lloyd has written and fought to pass 125 people-helping laws, including the Consumer Protection Act, utility reform, and the Human Rights Commission.

When it came time to stand and choose, Phil Gramm stood against you.

ELDERLY

- ★ Gramm led the fight to cut Social Security benefits out from under the most vulnerable people in our society. In fact, he has voted against Social Security on at least eight occasions.

EDUCATION

- ★ Gramm has been relentless in his efforts to remove all Federal assistance to education, going so far as to exclaim that educational assistance to the handicapped "(encourages) people to be handicapped."

PUTS TEXAS LAST

- ★ Gramm's record stands as a monument to callousness and insensitivity to the needs and concerns of ordinary Texans. He voted against helping drought-stricken Texas farmers and ranchers, border businesses hurt by the peso devaluation, and against loans to small businesses across Texas.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS

When America won its freedom more than 200 years ago, a society was formed based upon freedom and individual liberty. A person's rights were not based upon class, wealth or arbitrary rule but upon law and equal justice.

In the following years, justice and civil rights were not always served, and people were discriminated against because of color, race or religion. However, our system of justice has evolved, and we have reached a point in our history where we strive to ensure equality for all Americans.

It is the responsibility of the federal government to see that civil rights continue to be protected and infringements upon those rights corrected. Accordingly, the Reagan Administration has worked diligently to root out discrimination in all areas. In virtually every area of enforcement, this administration has initiated more cases defending civil rights than the preceding one.

Recognizing the seriousness of racial violence, the Department of Justice has placed special emphasis on criminal rights enforcement and has initiated more cases than any prior administration in a comparable period of time. Additionally, the Department of Labor has filed more lawsuits in the past three years to compel compliance with the civil rights laws than any previous administration.

It is a sad fact that even today people are attacked, beaten and sometimes killed because of their race. We cannot rest until each case is prosecuted successfully. Cases of this kind lie at the heart of civil rights law enforcement. Assuring all our citizens that they will remain secure irrespective of their race is an essential function of the federal government.

The Justice Department has specific statutory responsibility for fighting racial discrimination by public employees such as states, cities, public schools, and police and fire departments. Discrimination in the private sector is illegal, but discrimination by the state itself is even worse. If government fails to live up to its own standards of equal treatment for all people, then discrimination is actually encouraged in the private sector. Thus, it is up to the federal government to set the example.

The Department of Justice has been diligent in pursuing employment discrimination suits. During the first three years of the Reagan Administration, the Justice Department brought more such suits on behalf of minorities and women than were commenced during the three-year period ending in 1980. From 1981-83, the Department of Justice secured nearly $6.9 million in back pay in such cases, three times the amount for the comparable period ending in 1980.

The Reagan Administration also has worked to ensure the availability of housing without regard to race. The responsibility of enforcing the Fair Housing Act has been shifted to Washington, D.C., to relieve overburdened U.S. attorneys across the country. The Justice Department has established a special housing unit to investigate cases of housing discrimination. This will result in increased enforcement of such cases.

I am pleased with the federal government's record in protecting our civil rights and fighting discrimination. Equal treatment under the law is a right of all Americans regardless of race, color or religion.

Cystic Fibrosis -- The Great Masquerader

Karen and Jack Schwebach, a New Brighton, Minnesota, couple, went through almost four months of anxiety and uncertainty before their son, Michael, was found to have cystic fibrosis.

"It was a really frustrating period of time," Karen Schwebach said. "Michael looked pretty good — he didn't look ill to someone who didn't see him regularly. But those of us who observed him daily could tell there was something wrong."

Trying to find out what is wrong with a sick baby can take time — and time can be crucial in some cases. But new technology is making the discovery of cystic fibrosis faster and easier for doctors and patients.

The most common genetic killer of American youngsters, cystic fibrosis is an inherited disease that strikes one in 1,800 children. Early detection can significantly increase a child's chances of living into adulthood, but detection is often delayed because the signs of cystic fibrosis may be mistaken for other childhood complaints such as bronchitis, asthma, pneumonia, allergies and chronic diarrhea.

Michael Schwebach's symptoms — frequent, foul-smelling stools and a big appetite — began when he was four months old. "The doctor wasn't too concerned," Schwebach said. "He thought the reason was that I was nursing him."

After another month Michael had lost two pounds, and his doctor recommended switching to formula feeding, then to predigested formula, as the problem continued.

"This dragged out until he was almost eight months old," Michael's mother said. She asked the doctor about cystic fibrosis, but since there was no known history of the disease in her or her husband's family, the doctor dismissed the possibility, she said.

"But Michael wasn't growing; he wasn't thriving at all," Schwebach said, and Michael's doctor finally agreed to send him to a local hospital for tests although he said he was too healthy to have cystic fibrosis. The tests showed that Michael did have cystic fibrosis.

Cystic fibrosis attacks the body's mucus-producing glands, causing a thick, sticky mucus that can clog the lungs and airways and interfere with digestion. In Michael's case there were no lung problems, but the mucus was blocking ducts in his pancreas, preventing digestive enzymes from reaching his intestines. So, although Michael was eating plenty of food, his body couldn't use it.

"He was literally starving," his mother said.

It took almost four months of anxiety and a trip to the hospital before the Schwebachs knew what was wrong with their son. But new technology can make that wait unnecessary for parents today.

Researchers for Medtronic, Inc., the Minneapolis-based biomedical engineering firm that pioneered in heart pacemaker research, has recently developed a new screening device — the CF Indicator Sweat Test — that lets doctors know quickly and easily whether a child has cystic fibrosis.

Children with cystic fibrosis have an unusually high level of salt in their sweat, and the new device measures the amount of that salt. The CF Indicator Sweat Test is a simple, accurate and inexpensive system that can be used in a doctor's office, clinic or laboratory.

Early detection with the Medtronic device allows doctors to get treatment under way more quickly, and improves a young patient's chances of surviving into adulthood.

Michael's treatment is typical: digestive enzymes with every meal, vitamins and antibiotics daily, and as a preventive measure for his lungs, bronchial drainage therapy every morning and night.

Today Michael is an energetic four-year-old. "You'd never know he was ill to look at him," his mother said. "That's one of the frustrating things about cystic fibrosis. They look so good that no one can believe they have a fatal disease."

Screening for cystic fibrosis can be done in the physician's office, clinic or laboratory.

CF Indicator is a trademark of Medtronic, Inc.

Local Students Accepted To Society Membership

Phil Harris announced today that two students from Haskell High School have been accepted for membership in The Society of Distinguished American High School Students. Founded in 1968, The Society has honored some of the most outstanding high school students in the nation.

To qualify for Society membership, a nominee must excel in academics, extracurricular, or civic activities and be nominated by a local sponsor. Once accepted for this select honor, members become eligible to compete for college scholarships through The Society's National Awards Program. This year 128 colleges and universities have earmarked scholarship funds for Society members.

Students from The First Christian Church in Haskell awarded membership are Doug Lanier, a 1984 graduate and Kim Lanier, Sr. 85.

The Society has also presented a National Appreciation Award to Phil Harris, minister, the student's sponsor. This award was made "in acknowledgement of untiring efforts and steadfast dedication on behalf of the students from the First Christian Church."

To preserve the honor, these members' names and their biographical accomplishments will be listed in the Society's 1984 Membership Registry.

TAX PLANNING

by James E. Rodgers, CPA

IRS PENALTIES

Each year marks an increase in the computerized penalty notices that IRS mails to taxpayers. Tax reform acts in an effort to raise additional revenue and equalize the tax burden usually provide for new penalties for late filing or underpayment of tax.

The Internal Revenue Code provides for a number of different penalties, but the two most common are:

1. Underpayment of estimated tax.
2. A late filing penalty for payment after the date provided by law.

It is possible to convince IRS that they should waive the penalty. In fact, millions of penalties are abated every year. The key is to respond promptly to the IRS notices and know the excuses that work (those provided for in the tax law) and those that don't.

Many of the penalty notices are sent in error either due to a programing error in IRS computers or human error in entering input information. An example of this type error occurred on many of the 1983 Returns generating underpayment notices on estimated taxes when the return in fact contained a form 2210 explaining the underpayment and claiming one of the statutory reasons for excusing penalty as follows:

1. This year's payments were equal to or in excess of last years tax liability.
2. No penalty is due at any installment date if your payments equal 80% of the tax on your "annualized" income up until the month before the installment date.

Filing late without getting an extension invokes a penalty of 5% of the unpaid tax, per month, up to a total of 25%. There is also a minimum failure to file penalty for not getting your tax return in within 60 days of its due date. The minimum is $100.00 or 100% of the tax due—whichever is less. To beat this penalty if you owed taxes, you must convince the IRS that you had reasonable cause for filing late.

Stenholm Earns Guardian Of Small Business Award

Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, has earned the "Guardian of Small Business" Award from the Nation Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) for his outstanding voting record on small-business issues.

The nation's largest small-business group presented him with the award because he voted in support of positions voiced by the majority of NFIB members 83 percent of the time.

On announcing the award, NFIB President John Sloan said, "The voting record of Rep. Stenholm throughout this Congress demonstrates that he is responsive to the needs of his state, because small businesses create the majority of new jobs and, if left to flourish, will continue to be the driving force behind this country's resurgent economic growth."

House members were rated in 18 recorded votes during this session of Congress. Issues ranged from cutting the federal deficit to controlling payroll taxes to giving small firms a chance to compete for government contracts. Members of Congress who failed to vote on at least 70 percent of the issues counted in the ratings were not eligible for the award.

NFIB is a non-profit, non-partisan organization representing 41,163 small-business owners in Texas and more than a half-million independent businesses across the country.

Exercise Is Important During Pregnancy

During pregnancy, it is important to eat right, avoid cigarettes and alcohol, and be careful about taking medicines. Another concern is exercise.

Generally, a woman can exercise during pregnancy at the same level as before she became pregnant for as long as she feels comfortable, says the Texas Medical Association.

A&M Dean Says Students Need More Humanities Courses

Students seeking specialized technical degrees might be better served if their college curriculum included more humanities courses and advanced specialization courses were left for continuing education after graduation, says the new dean of Texas A&M University's College of Liberal Arts.

"No one in a specialized discipline is going to finish his or her education when he gets his bachelor's degree. We must have continuing education throughout our careers," said Dr. Daniel Fallon, who was recently confirmed as dean of Texas A&M's 2,400-student liberal arts college last week.

Fallon, an experimental psychologist, comes to Texas A&M from the University of Colorado at Denver where he has served as the dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences since 1976. The new dean said that although graduates in liberal arts have a hard time finding jobs initially and their first jobs may be at a low level, their employment situation improves greatly over time.

Fallon said that two and a half to three years after graduation, there is virtually no unemployment among liberal arts graduates and their average salary is two and a half times their starting salary.

tion. Exercise is an important part of good health, and that holds true even during pregnancy.

Staying active for these nine months probably will help ease pregnancy's minor discomforts like bloating and constipation. Exercise also may make labor a little easier and can make it easier for the woman's body to regain its before-pregnancy shape.

The best judge of how much exercise is appropriate is generally the woman herself. A good rule of thumb is continue exercising as you did before pregnancy with some reduction in the later months. Your doctor also can advise you on exercise during your first checkup.

A woman who did not exercise before pregnancy should not start a rigorous new athletic program. Various programs are now designed for pregnant women who do not exercise regularly.

Generally, walking, swimming, and mild aerobics are good for any woman even up to the ninth month.

In most cases, a woman need not cut back on exercise during the first three months of pregnancy as long as she pays attention to how her body reacts. Pregnancy is not the time to exercise "till it hurts." Weight gain during the middle three months may require a reduction or change in activity because of the woman's change in balance.

In the final three months, the best judges are the woman, her body, and her doctor. She should avoid activities involving hard, fast-moving objects such as racquetball and tennis or the risk of falling in sports like water skiing and horseback riding.

Whatever the activity, overheating and exhaustion should be avoided. A woman should stop any exercise if she feels uncomfortable, particularly if there are signs of bleeding or contractions.

As with anything during pregnancy, moderation in exercise is a wise policy.

Smokey Bear Collectors Stamps Available

It's not too late to get what is already a collector's item, that is, a special cacheted envelope with the official Smokey Bear postage stamp, cancelled on Smokey's 40th Birthday, August 13.

Having been conceived during World War II when the need for fire prevention was at a critical point in this country, Smokey is a product of America's willingness to rally behind worthy causes. He has achieved a 98 percent recognition factor among people in this country as a symbol of fire prevention.

In appreciation for his prevention efforts, the National Association of State Foresters is commemorating the 40th anniversary year of the Smokey Bear Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention (CFFP) campaign with the cacheted envelopes (official first day cover), and there is still a limited supply of these cachets with stamps cancelled on August 13, 1984, the first day of issue of the Smokey Bear Stamp at Capitan, New Mexico. The cachets are excellent for framing and a must for anyone interested in either stamp collecting, or protection of our natural resources.

These cachets will be marketed at a cost of $2.00 plus $0.50 postage and handling each. All proceeds will be retained by the National Association of State Foresters to be used for fire prevention and the advancement of forestry in the United States.

All orders should be sent to Allane Wilson, Alabama Forestry Commission, 513 Madison Avenue, Montgomery, AL 36130. Checks and/or Money Orders should be made payable to the National Association of State Foresters, with delivery expected the first part of September.

European Summer Holiday Offered To Exchange Students

"Qualified high school students are offered a unique opportunity to spend an academic year or six week summer holiday in Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Finland, Iceland, Switzerland, Germany or Great Britain as part of the ASSE International program," announced Carole Powell, Southern Director of ASSE International.

"Until a few years ago, only a fortunate few could afford to spend a school year or summer in these countries. Now, ASSE International has changed all that," continued Powell.

Students, 15 to 18 years old, are selected on the basis of a good academic record, excellent character references, and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a volunteer European host family.

"At least one member of the carefully screened host family will be fluent in English," added Powell. "So that communication will not be a problem." Year students are provided language/culture instruction as part of the ASSE program.

The non-profit ASSE International is affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education and has been officially designated by the U.S. Information Agency as an Exchange Visitor Program. The ASSE International exchange program enables qualified teenagers to live and study in European countries in order to learn from cultures other than their own.

Local students interested in receiving more information about the cultural and educational advantages of living in Scandinavia, Germany, Switzerland or Great Britain can contact: Carol Draper, Rt. 4 Box 33, Comanche, 76442, 915-966-3588.

Millions Suffer From Loss Of Hearing

Hearing loss can make a person's life frustrating. It may gradually evolve into a series of questions like, "Can you speak louder?" and "Can you repeat that?"

Still, many people tend to ignore or are unaware of gradual hearing loss.

The Texas Medical Association notes that more than 15 million Americans suffer some form of hearing loss. But it often goes undiagnosed because an estimated 75 percent of the hard-of-hearing population has never seen a doctor about these problems. As a result, these people may be wrongly labeled dumb, senile, or anti-social.

Hearing loss is one of the most widespread chronic health problems in the United States. It affects young and old alike, but is most common among the elderly. Hearing loss can result from the aging process, certain drugs, and spending too much time around chainsaws, jackhammers, loud music, and other loud noises.

Sounds that you hear are vibrations that enter the outer ear canal and beat against the eardrum. The eardrum's motion produces vibrations in the three middle-ear bones. These vibrations move through the middle ear to the inner ear, where fluid carries them to the cochlear nerves.

When stimulated by these fluid vibrations, the cochlear nerves generate electrical impulses that the auditory nerve transmits to the brain for interpretation into sound and meaning. Problems along this chain can result in hearing loss.

People with a hearing loss commonly will accuse those around them of mumbling. They may listen to television louder than usual. In conversations, they frequently ask friends to repeat themselves or speak up. Or they may withdraw socially to avoid the embarrassment of not knowing what is said.

Anyone with these symptoms should seek medical attention immediately. Early detection and treatment increases the chances of preventing total hearing loss. Fortunately, most hearing impairments can be improved through surgery, hearing aids, or other listening devices.

Warriors Combine Teams To Defeat Rotan 32-0

By Steven Boyd and Shawn Lane

Both the seventh and eighth grade Warriors boosted their records with a combined win over Rotan, 32-0 last Thursday.

The seventh grades forced many turnovers but didn't move the ball.

Because of grades, the seventh grades played without their starting fullback and tailback.

The only score by the seventh grade was a fifty yard pass from Baldemar Perez to Salvador Rodriguez.

The seventh graders, playing aggressive defense, held the Yellowhammers scoreless.

Both the seventh and eighth graders played better overall in the second half.

During the first half of play, the eighth graders had many fumbles, but in the second half they came back and had a few mental mistakes, moved the ball well and made the big plays.

"Both the seventh and eighth grade linemen impressed me the second half," Coach George Martin said.

"The backs ran with authority, and the defense did an outstanding job," he said.

The eighth graders are down to only twelve players, because Kevin Mitchell broke his wrist.

The scoring for the eighth grade came off of two runs by Freddie Shaw, one by Paul Harvey, and the other by Derrick Billington. Billington also made a two point conversion.

The Haskell Warriors will host Stamford Thursday at 5 p.m.

"This game will not be just a game, it will be a war," Coach Martin said.

Cotton Show Scheduled January 7-8

The 1985 Area Cotton Show is scheduled to be held January 7 and 8 at the Activity Center in Wichita Falls.

Sponsored by the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Rolling Plains Economic Program and Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the purpose of the cotton show is to give the general public a greater understanding of the cotton industry. It will also provide area cotton producers an opportunity to exhibit cotton they have produced. The cotton show will include commercial exhibits, youth poster contest, quilt show, cotton contest, style show, and educational sessions.

The show is open to all farmers, consumers and youth in a 30-county area of the Rolling Plains. For the show to be a success will require the interest and support of people interested in cotton. You have a special invitation to attend the show. We would welcome your support of the show by announcements at meetings or in media releases, listing in monthly calendar of activities, financial support and by your attendance.

The Rolling Plains area represents one million bales of cotton production from approximately two million acres. This is an important commodity to our area. We know you are interested and will help us promote this activity.

TMA Supports Use Of Child Safety Seats

Seventy-eight children ages 4 and under died in auto accidents in Texas in 1983. Another 6,603 were injured, many seriously.

Although these figures led the nation, the Texas Medical Association says there could be a substantial decrease in these categories beginning Oct. 31, 1984, when a new state law takes effect.

As of that day, a driver must buckle up a child passenger under age 4 with a safety seat or seat belt or face a fine of $25 to $50. The fine will be dismissed if the person acquires a child safety seat within 10 days of the offense and provides proof to the court.

Statistics show that nine of every 10 children involved in auto accidents could have been spared death or injury had restraints been used. TMA supported the new law, which was passed during the Texas Legislatures special session in June.

The law does not apply to a person transporting a child in a vehicle in which all seating positions equipped with child safety seats or safety belts are occupied. Also exempt are bus or cab drivers and others hired to transport passengers.

The law, which applies to cars and light trucks, requires that a child under 2 must be buckled into a safety seat that meets federal standards set by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. Children over 2 but under 4 must be restrained by a safety seat or seat belt.

Failure by a driver to use the child passenger safety seat could not be admitted into evidence during a civil trial, according to the law.

To help people obtain child safety seats numerous groups, including the Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, have programs that loan the seats at no charge. For information on loaner programs in your area, call 1-800-252-8255, a toll-free number operated by the Texas Department of Health.

TMA also supports mandatory use of safety belts for all other ages because of their proven record in reducing deaths and injuries. Tragically, about 98 percent of automobile occupants killed in Texas during 1983 had seat belts available yet failed to use them.

More Items Now Taxable

You go to the store and buy an oil filter for your car. It seems like it cost a nickle more this time.

Then you pick up the dry cleaning. That seems higher, too.

You didn't forget that bag of fertilizer. But you paid 50 cents more than the last price you remember paying for it.

Oh, you almost forgot picking up the camera you left at the repair shop last week to get the shutter fixed. That much to get it fixed, huh?

As you drive, you're wondering what it was the newspaper boy said about the new weekly price for home delivery.

And so it goes. The October 2 tax hike is upon us.

The $4.8 billion tax package passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Mark White took effect Oct. 2.

How much of the new tax burden will fall on you depends on what you buy and where you live.

The state sales tax went up by 1/8 of a cent, but a whole slew of items will be taxed for the first time, increasing the price of some things by as much as 6 1/8 percent.

Services such as dry cleaning, repairs, catering, massages, tailoring, mending and entertaining all have additional costs tagged on as a result of the expansion of the state sales tax categories. Repairs such as for fixing the old television set, putting new heels on the old loafers, replacing the crystal of watches, now become tax-laden bills.

Taxes on other items, such as cigarettes and alcohol, went up Oct. 2. The cost of motor vehicle registration, gasoline, sales tax on cars and other car rental taxes were already raised August 1.

Movie tickets and admissions to almost any entertainment event in the state will now fall under the state sales tax. Rodeos, ballet performances, circuses, carnivals, antique shows, boat

Stenholm Receives Golden Bulldog Award

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm was presented with the Golden Bulldog Award by the Watchdogs of the Treasury, Inc., for his voting efforts to keep federal spending down and thus avoid waste and burdensome deficits, the Watchdogs announced today.

The Bulldog award was Stenholm's fourth award from the group. The award is presented annually to those members of Congress who vote for fiscal responsibility in government at least 75 percent of the time. The Watchdogs base their figures on a compilation of selected votes on economic and fiscal issues published in the "Economy Voting and auto shows and other entertaining performances will be taxed. Exempt from taxation are athletic events sponsored by public, nonprofit institutions, such as high schools and colleges. But professional sporting events will be taxed.

Questions regarding any of the new taxes can be answered by calling State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office toll free on 1-800-252-5555 or on the regular number, 512/475-1931.

Record." Stenholm's rating was 100 percent.

Golden Bulldog trophies were presented to 175 Members of Congress, 139 in the House of Representatives and 36 in the Senate. The percentage of total recipients, 33 percent, was the same as last year's total.

Watchdogs of the Treasury is a nonpartisan organization whose award for fiscal integrity in government is presented on an annual basis.

THOSE AMAZING DOG HEROES

DOG HEROISM REMAINS UNEXPLAINED MYSTERY

Late-afternoon cries from a young girl trapped in a snowbank near Delaware Bay compelled a Newfoundland puppy to begin a freeing, life-saving trek, earning the canine rescuer the 1983 Ken-L Ration Dog Hero of the Year award.

The dog, one-year-old Villa, owned by Linda Veit of Villas, N.J., scaled its five-foot-high pen after hearing the screams of Andrea Anderson, who was helplessly submerged in a snowbank 40 feet from his home.

Villa ran to the snowbound girl and then circled her to clear the snow. Andrea grasped Villa's neck and was pulled from the snow. She was found outside her home still holding on to Villa's neck.

The mystery of Villa's actions and the hundreds of other heroic deeds performed by canine companions are mostly unexplainable. But they leave no doubt that the dog truly is Man's Best Friend.

Dr. Dennis Passe, experimental pet psychologist at The Quaker Oats Company, says that dogs have evolved to respond heroically to events such as Andrea's encounter.

"While we have no evidence that dogs think through actions such as those performed by Villa, we do know they've learned to adapt their behavior to what pleases us," Passe said.

Our canine companions regularly make "decisions" that lead to the saving of life and property. Owners awakened in the night by their dogs warning of fire in the home, dogs sometimes wandering hundreds of miles to find their human companions, and even protection against intruders and would-be burglars have become common stories in daily newspapers.

Animal behaviorists have tried to interpret this heroic trait by looking at "insight" as a scientific phenomenon. Does the dog consciously think-out the deed it's performing?

Consider Villa's actions. The dog had never left out of its pen before, nor had she ever been confronted with a desperate situation such as that of young Andrea's.

"Dogs are able to put the pieces together and know what to do without having done it before," according to Passe.

"Dogs will sense alarm and stress relating to our actions. It's a tribute to the species that they're adaptable to circumstances."

On the other hand, Passe says that dogs, unlike man, show no evidence of perceiving personal risk while performing such heroic deeds and that dogs probably are unaware that the actions they're taking are "heroic."

"We tend to try to describe dogs and their actions in human terms because we view their actions as human."

"We have no way of knowing whether the dog realizes what it's done, or whether he sees himself as a Dog Hero," Passe said.

If you're a dog owner, you may wonder what the likelihood is that your own dog may act heroically. Dogs are especially influenced by what their owners and friends do. Over the centuries, they've adapted to become very much what we'd like them to be.

Passe says that situational factors, past experience and genetic traits make it more likely that some dogs will perform heroic deeds.

"But dogs receive their highest praise and greatest respect when they're appreciated for what they are, not for what we'd like them to be," Passe said.

"We shouldn't try to recreate dogs in our own image. We should know them and appreciate them for the wonderful creatures that they are."

For the last 30 years, Ken-L Ration's annual Dog Hero of the Year award has recognized one dog who has performed a deed leading to the saving of life or property. Past winners represent 21 states and are credited with saving the lives of more than 600 people and animals.

Entries for this year's award are being sought from around the country. If you know of an heroic deed that's taken place since last October, please share it with Ken-L Ration for consideration during selection of this year's winner.

Just send a detailed description of the deed, along with your name, address and phone number to: 1984 KEN-L RATION DOG HERO OF THE YEAR, P.O. Box 10446, Kansas City, MO 64111.

Japan's Meat Production Boosts U.S. Grain Imports

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Japan's growing livestock industry has caused the country to become a major importer of feed grains, in recent years. Japanese self-sufficiency in coarse grain production has declined from 63% in 1960 to 1.6% in 1980, according to Dr. Thomas Sporleder, agricultural economist at Texas A&M University, who made a study of Japan's agricultural policy environment and grain marketing infrastructure, for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Sporleder says Japan has been a major feed grain importer for several years and is the world's largest sorghum importer, accounting for about one-half of world sorghum imports since 1977. The United States, in recent years, has supplied about 90% of Japanese sorghum imports.

"We made this study," Sporleder says, "because Texas is a major supplier of grain sorghum to world markets and it's critical to understand the domestic agricultural policy of our major foreign markets, if we are going to maintain and expand them."

"The structure of the Japanese grain importing industry, their storage capacity, and their transportation network are all important considerations to this understanding."

"In 1965, Japan imported 5.6 million metric tons of feed grains; by 1982, feed grain imports had risen to 18.2 million metric tons, 70% of which was supplied by the United States. "Though Japan has a population about one half the size of the U.S., their islands total only about 1/25 the size of the continental United States."

"Yields per acre are among the world's highest, but they have ultra-small-scale agriculture with farm size averaging under five acres."

"Rice, by far the most important crop grown in Japan, is almost three times as profitable as its nearest alternative, soybeans, due mainly to the government support program. Since 1960, there has been a drastic decline in acreage planted in feed grains, wheat, and soybeans."

"Three primary reasons given for the drastic reduction in coarse grain plantings are: First, because of industrial growth of the Japanese economy and subsequent higher wages, many farmers took relatively higher paying off-farm jobs. Second, the liberal coarse-grain-import policy maintained by the government has made it increasingly difficult for Japanese farmers to compete with less expensive imported grains. Third, farmers have substituted away from coarse grains, which are not supported by government programs, to more profitable alternatives such as rice.

"In Japan, between 1970 and 1978, personal income increased over seven fold, from $982 per person to $8,233. Japan's population grew by 10% between 1970 and 1980, from 104 million to 115 million."

"Total calorie consumption increased 37% from 2,070 per day in 1954 to 2,832 per day in 1974. Per capita animal protein consumption tripled during this same period from 13.3 grams per day to 40.1 grams per day."

"Recent estimates indicate that Japan will be totally self-sufficient in pork and chicken production by 1985. Total meat production is expected to increase 60% making Japan 86% self-sufficient. The highest annual growth rate is anticipated in beef demand, where the government projects 4.2%."

"Due to the increase in meat self-sufficiency two conclusions may be drawn: First, total meat imports should decline as Japan approaches self-sufficiency in production. Second, coarse grain imports should increase as meat self-sufficiency increases and coarse grains consumption expands."

Coarse grain exports, according to USDA, are expected to top 15 million tons, up from 14 million tons last year. Barley and grain sorghum exports have been especially strong through June; sorghum exports shot up to 1 million tons, compared with 500,000 a year earlier."

"Any description of the coarse grains marketing systems in Japan should include recognition that it's livestock and poultry that generate the main demand for coarse grains."

"Beef and pork production have expanded 110% and 618%, respectively, since 1960. Imports of these products have also grown during this same period."

"While these figures represent substantial growth, even greater growth has occurred in broiler and egg production. Broiler production was nonexistent in 1960 but increased to 978,000 metric tons in 1976.

"Imports of this product have also expanded from 6,000 metric tons in 1965 to 37,000 metric tons in 1976, an increase of more than 500%."

However, the overall rate of growth in broiler imports is declining."

"Egg production expanded 625% since 1960. The reduction in imports and expansion of egg production generated demand for coarse grains, particularly sorghum."

"Recent Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry, and Fisheries estimates indicate total meat demand should reach 3.2 million metric tons by 1985. Beef demand is expected to increase by 4.2% annually, while pork and chicken demand are projected to expand by 3.2 and 2.4, respectively."

"These and other factors indicate that Japan will continue as a major importer of agricultural commodities, especially coarse grains. Demand could increase as both real incomes and per capita meat consumption are expected to increase."

"These trends indicate that Japan will continue as a primary buyer of grain sorghum from Texas and the United States," Sporleder concluded.

Social Security Beneficiaries Must Prevent Overpayments

Many Social Security Retirement beneficiaries are overpaid every year because they earn more money than they thought they would. There are some simple things you can do to prevent being overpaid, or at least minimize an overpayment in the making.

If you are over the age of 62 and will not attain age 65 in 1984, you can earn up to $5160 in 1984 without the risk of being overpaid. If you are over 65 this year, but under age 70 you can earn up to $6960 without risk of being overpaid.

If you think you may earn more than $5160 or $6960 this year and you haven't told Social Security, you should contact your nearest Social Security office now and let them know how much you expect to earn.

Also, if you think you are going to earn more than you previously told Social Security, you should let them know right away. You may prevent being overpaid. For example, if you previously told Social Security you thought you would earn $7000 in 1984 and now it looks as if you will earn $7400, let them know right away. Otherwise you could be overpaid as much as $200.

The preventing of an overpayment is a lot less painful than the collection of an overpayment, so please report your earnings promptly and as accurately as possible.

Football Tickets Subject To Sales Tax

The Dallas Cowboys have a new number in their line-up this year. The new number is 4 and 1/8th—that's 4 and 1/8th percent sales tax on the price of Cowboy tickets.

Sports tickets—along with tickets to most other entertainment and recreational events—come under the Texas sales tax for the first time ever starting October 2.

The so-called amusements sales tax laws signed by Governor Mark White.

If you are going to take in a game or two this year, be ready to pay this new tax of 92 cents on a $15 Cowboy ticket. If you are a season ticket holder, however, you are all right. The new tax law exempts individuals who, in effect, already had contracted for a season's worth of touchdowns and helmet-bashing.

The new tax is actually a part of a tax on entertainment, and all other professional sports events in Texas will fall under the tax. College games are not subject to the tax, and neither are high school athletic or entertainment events.

So, if you happen to be a basketball fan and want to see the San Antonio Spurs, the Dallas Mavericks or the Houston Rockets, you will have to pay the same tax.

That goes for baseball, too, so be ready to cough up more for the Houston Astros or the Texas Rangers. But it doesn't stop there.

Are you planning to take the kids or grandkids to the Ice Capades or the circus? The new tax will be charged on those events, too.

For more information on this new tax, call State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office at 512/475-1931 or toll free at 1-800-252-5555.

Give so others can live! The Haskell Co. Ambulance Service is in need of Memorial contributions from you. This will make a lovely Christmas gift for some one special. And, the contributions are always tax deductible.

Prices Of Movies, Cable Taxable

The price of movies is going up - on cable television. New tax laws that went into effect October 2 are going to make cable television more expensive.

Under a tax bill passed by the Legislature and signed by Governor Mark White, cable television service is going to fall under the state sales tax of 4 1/8 percent.

A $50 per month cable television bill will now total $52.06. The total sales tax bill for Texans will differ, depending on whether their city has a local sales tax and an additional tax for mass transit. That local tax usually can amount to another two percent.

With such an added local sales taxes, the total bill on a $50 monthly cable TV bill would climb to $53.06. That makes watching reruns of "Casablanca" a little more expensive.

Humphrey Bogart always will stay behind in Casablanca after Ingrid Bergman leaves, but every time Sam plays it again, it's going to cost a little more.

But cable television offers more than reruns, and those other special presentations are taxable, too.

If a person orders a special feature, such as a specially televised concert or boxing match, the state sales tax applies to that also. These are televised events offered to viewers at additional cost.

And with football season upon us, special television presentations of college games through special sports networks could boost the cost of watching the games on your television set.

Questions about the new tax laws can be answered by State

Bob Bullock's office on 1-800-252-5555 toll free or the regular number, 512/475-1931.

Childrens' Literature Retains Mystique Of Heroes, Cowboys

Unlike other states, Texas has retained its mystique of heroes, cowboys and the open range, a Texas A&M University review of children's literature set in the Lone Star State indicates.

Dr. Norma Bagnall, who conducted the research for her doctoral dissertation in English, says that children's literature is a reflection of adults' ideas and values.

"When we write for children we are inculcating them into society. In writing for them we are telling them what our society is like and what kinds of values we want them to have," said Bagnall, who recently received her Ph.D. and is now an assistant professor at Missouri Western State College at St. Joseph.

Children's literature about Texas has continued in a historical and rural setting while other children's books evolved into realism, she said.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

The First Baptist Church Sr. Adults attended Chautanga I at Ridgecrest Baptist Conference Center, Ridgecrest, North Carolina. While in that area the group visited the Biltmore House in Asheville, attended the Grand Old Opera in Nashville, Tenn., the Passion Play in Eureka Springs, Arkansas and sights in Branson, Missouri. Those attending (l to r) were Ervin Unger, Andy Anderson, Mildred Robertson, Hazel Thomas, Hortense Lees, Anna Mae Davis, Alta Faye Davis, Pearl Walker, Grace McKelvain, Edna Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Paris Barton, Callie Robison, Doris Reeves, Erma Liles, Mary Martin, Nerva Oates, Gerry Spain, Lois St Clair and Betty Harris.

UT Issues Challenge To Exes

University of Texas President Peter Flawn has challenged The UT Ex-Students' Association to raise half a million dollars for scholarships.

The University will match up to $500,000 of the funds raised by The Association to endow its Texas Excellence Awards for Scholarship and Leadership, Flawn said. The matching challenge grant was made in anticipation of the ESA's 1985 Centennial celebration.

"It's difficult to overstate the importance to The University of the Texas Excellence Awards," Flawn said. "It has identified for us the superior young students in this state." The awards, given annually by the ESA's Foundation for Texas Excellence, target outstanding high school youth.

On the eve of its Centennial celebration, the Association has already put its scholarship drive into high gear, hiking each of the five 4-year scholarships from $10,000 to $16,000. These prime scholarships are awarded to senior class members who rank in the top five percent of their class academically, as well as show a propensity for leadership.

More than 1,000 Texas high school seniors applied for the award last year, and nearly 300 students received other

ESA scholarships for 1984-85. Applications for the Texas Excellence Awards will be available from high school counselors by mid September. For additional information, contact The Ex-Students' Association, P.O. Box 7278, Austin, Texas, 78713, or call 512/476-6271.

Tressie Johnson

Tressie Inez Johnson, 75, of Lubbock, formerly of Haskell, died at 11:30 p.m., Tuesday, October 16, in Lubbock. Services were held Thursday, October 18, at Calvary Baptist Church in Stamford with burial in Willow Cemetery in Haskell.

Born August 9, 1909, in Oklahoma, she married W.D. Johnson, October 26, 1927 and he died April 5, 1965. After attending Sunny Side and McConnell schools, she lived and farmed in the Weinert community for several years. She moved to Lubbock in 1961. She was a Methodist.

She was preceded in death by four brothers and a sister. Survivors include three sons, Danny of Stamford, Johnny of Lubbock and Wallace of Crosbyton; a daughter, Bobbie Ellison of Lubbock; a brother, Horace Terrell of Hobbs, N.M.; two sisters, Mrs. J.W. Threet of Haskell and Mrs. Robert Reed of

Conservation Viewpoints

USDA Soil Conservation Service

The Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District sponsored a Fish Stocking Program this past summer to encourage sport fishing of livestock ponds in the county. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service stopped delivering free fish in 1975 and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department stopped their fish program to private waters in 1980. With the discontinuation of these services very little interest was shown in fish pond stocking.

To reestablish an interest in fish pond stocking, the Haskell S.W.C.D. inquired into the availability of stocker fish from private hatcheries and if these fish could be received at reasonable prices. Despite the dry summer with many ponds low on water, nine deliveries of channel cat and one bass delivery was received by Haskell County Producers on September 24, 1984.

The success of a fish delivery program depended on enough orders to satisfy a private hatchery to make a delivery. By receiving the fish here in the immediate vicinity the recipients were assured of healthy vigorous stock fish.

Most of the ponds in Haskell county are one acre in size or less. This size of pond is best suited for catfish. Fathead minnows are recommended as forage fish, adding other species of fish complicates the management of the pond for the size and kind of fish desired. Supplementary feeding of catfish does produce weight gain but becomes a daily routine that must be carried out after the practice is started.

Fertilizing of fish ponds in Haskell county is not recommended too highly. Most ponds in the county are somewhat muddy and muddy ponds are not recommended to be fertilized. This is another factor in favor of stocking with catfish as they perform better in muddy water than bass.

Old ponds must be cleaned of undesirable fish before restocking. The old pond can be treated with rotenone and the fish harvested. After 15 days or longer the pond may be restocked. The pond water may be checked by placing minnows in a cage which can be submerged and withdrawn to study their livability.

Producers interested in securing fish for the upcoming fall delivery, should place their orders now with the Soil Conservation Service located at 510 south 2nd St., Phone number 864-3212, also orders can be placed for the 1985 spring delivery.

Booster Club To Elect Officers

The Haskell Booster Club met Monday night. President Jerry Harris mentioned that the club is still hoping to sponsor the junior high basketball tournament concession stand this winter as a money making project. It would consist of a Thursday from about 4:30-9 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. until the finish.

Since time will be changed by next week, the club will meet at 7 instead of 7:30. Also the president mentioned that officers will be elected at the November 5 meeting.

Head Coach Blue Holt said that the Rotan game showed the Indians to be down. The game "wasn't very picturesque though we did just what we had to do to win."

As for the upcoming Stamford game, Coach Holt said we all know we "must win to stay in the play-offs." He said Stamford has a good ball club even though they have had some critical injuries. They have players who have filled in and done a good job.

Timmy Delce, tailback who replaced injured Wade Shurley early in the season, is quick and has good speed. Fullback Isaac Cooper at 6', 260 pounds, carries about three times per game and is a good blocking back. The Bulldogs average 200 pounds across the interior line on offense and defense.

Coach Holt said that we always play with everything we have against Stamford.

Tonight's games will begin at 5 p.m. with the 7th grade Warriors vs Stamford, followed immediately by the 8th grade and JV games. The Friday night varsity game will be broadcast live on KVRP.

Linda Wells Named To Who's Who

Linda G. Wells of Haskell has been named one of 33 students from McMurry College in Abilene, selected for the 1985 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success. They join an elite group of students from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Linda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wells, is a senior at McMurry College, and is majoring in Elementary Education.

Texas Is #1 In Farm Theft

Texas is number one—in the number of dollars lost to farm equipment theft.

With farm and ranch equipment theft on the upswing, neighborhood or community patrols can be a key deterrent to such crime, says Dr. J. Fred Cross of Stephenville.

"Neighbors working together to keep an eye on each other's property can aid in reducing or preventing farm thefts and burglaries," says Cross, a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Community patrols organized in cooperation with the county sheriff enable neighbors to watch each other's homes, barns, equipment and livestock, notes the specialist. These patrols extend the eyes and ears of law enforcement agencies. Patrols do not get involved in any action, but just notify the police of suspicious activities.

Cross offers these guidelines for organizing a community watch patrol:

- Patrol members should be at least 18 years of age.
- Issue personal identification cards to patrol members (type determined by the sheriff or chief of police.)

- Patrol members using radio equipment should possess FCC licenses.
- Automobiles used by citizen patrols should be easily identified by the police and other private citizen patrols operating in the general area.

- Do not permit citizen patrol members to carry weapons.
- Do not equip citizen patrol vehicles with sirens or emergency lighting. Decisions about using spotlights for security checks should be made on a local basis.

- Train each citizen patrol member in fundamental law and ordinance, what constitutes a crime or an emergency first aid, and methods of notifying the police and securing emergency assistance.

Additional information on organizing a community watch patrol is available in the Extension Service publication B-1396, "Neighborhood/Community Watch Guidebook," available at any county Extension office, says Cross.

Letters To The Editor....

Dear Editor:

Assisted by my lawyer, I am writing this letter to you with deep respect and thanks for the hard work you do every day for the sake of this great nation and the world.

As you may already know, Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the founder and spiritual leader of the Unification Church, of which I have been a member for many years, has been incarcerated in the Federal Correctional Institution at Danbury, Connecticut since July 20, 1984. You may not know, however, that I, Takeru Kamiyama, a Japanese citizen, have been serving there with him.

I believe the manner in which I was prosecuted and sentenced exemplifies a serious injustice against non-English-speaking people in this country which reflects a shortcoming in the U.S. federal criminal justice system. Unless some measures are taken, I am afraid that America, the country I love, will come to be misunderstood and hated by more and more non-English-speaking people here and abroad.

Let me explain briefly what happened in my case. On July 9, 16, and 21, 1981, I was summoned to testify before a federal grand jury investigating Rev. Moon's tax liability. Since I could not speak English, the government retained an interpreter. I responded to the government prosecutor's statements and questions translated by the interpreter. My answers were then translated from Japanese into English. During the investigation, I was not allowed to have my own counsel nor my personal interpreter at my side.

On October 15, 1981, to my great surprise, Rev. Moon and I were indicted. I was prosecuted on charges that I aided and abetted Rev. Moon in filing false federal income tax returns, that I made false statements to the Department of Justice, and that I made false declarations under oath before the federal grand jury. I was tried together with Rev.

Moon, and on July 16, 1982 judgment was entered against me as well as Rev. Moon.

Ever since the petition for certiorari was denied by the U.S. Supreme Court on May 14, 1984, expert Japanese and American linguists and translators have thoroughly re-examined the tape recordings of my testimony and the grand jury record. They have found that many of the statements and questions posed to me by the government prosecutor had never been properly translated, so that I answered different questions from those appearing in the indictment. Many of my answers were garbled and confused in the translation, so that the meaning of the words appearing in the indictment was far different from the meaning of the Japanese words I spoke. Consequently, my lawyers have concluded that, if the grand jury interpreter had translated accurately, I would not have been charged with perjury, and the conviction and incarceration against me as well as Rev. Moon would not have occurred.

Although I truly and sincerely believe my conviction is unjust, this letter is written not to ask for special consideration for my case and that of Rev. Moon, but to urge that steps be taken so that what happened to me will not happen to others. Congress, in 1978, enacted the Court Interpreters Act, Pub. L. 95-539, 92 Stat. 2040 (1978) (codified at 28 U.S.C. Sections 1827-28 (1982)), based on well-founded concerns that the constitutional rights of non-English-speaking defendants were being jeopardized because of inadequate courtroom interpreting services. See United States ex. rel. Negron v. New York, 434 F.2d 386 (2d Cir.1970). The Act specifically orders the Director of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts to "establish a program to facilitate the use of interpreters" in the federal courts, 28 U.S.C. Section 1877(a), and, in particular, to "prescribe, determine and certify the qualifications of persons who may serve as certified interpreters..." Id. Section 1827 (b). Furthermore, in enacting the statute, Congress recognized that "one of the key provisions, if not the key provision," was Section 1827 (b), that "initiates a certification procedure for court interpreters in order to ensure that only qualified interpreters are used in the federal courts. The basis for this... was the concern voiced repeatedly that there is currently no method of evaluating the accuracy of interpretations provided in the courts." H.R. Rep. No. 1687, 95th Cong., 2d Sess. 4 (1978), reprinted in 1978 Code Cong. and Ad. News 4652, 4655.

Soon after the Act was passed, the Administrative Office of the United States Courts devised and administered tests for certification of Spanish language court interpreters. More than half the Spanish language interpreters then working in the federal courts failed the certification examination when it was first given; many never succeeded in becoming certified. In a recent administration of the test, only 263 applicants passed out of 1346 who took the examination. These results demonstrate that even people who are bilingual frequently do not have command of the specialized vocabulary required to protect the rights of non-English-speaking individuals in the criminal justice system.

Despite the grave danger posed by the vast majority of interpreters now working in the courts being unqualified (a danger made apparent by the results of the Spanish language certification process), the Administrative Office of the United States Court has, to date, not certified interpreters in any language other than Spanish. Moreover, the Act does not apply to the proceedings ancillary to judicial proceedings, such as my examination before the grand jury. As my case demonstrates, six years after the Court Interpreters Act was enacted, non-English and non-Spanish-speaking individuals are not better protected than they were before it was passed.

Therefore, steps must be taken to inquire into the progress of the Administrative Office in certifying interpreters for other, commonly used languages, including Japanese. Once certified interpreters are identified, they will be able to protect the rights of those like myself who speak neither English nor Spanish.

Moreover, I believe that Congress should consider extending the requirement that certified or otherwise qualified interpreters be used in grand jury proceedings. It is in these proceedings that an individual's rights are particularly vulnerable, since they are conducted in secret and without the presence of the witness' own counsel. Until the Act is expanded, however, completing the process of certification for remaining languages would at least give the government a pool of qualified interpreters from which it could (and should) select those it uses before the grand jury.

In my desire to acquaint you with the facts involved in this case, I trust I have not presumed too much upon your time. You are one of a select group of individuals who have a tremendous influence in the molding and shaping of the destiny of this great country—and, in turn, the destiny of the world.

I sincerely urge you to consider the above-mentioned matter carefully and, in your wisdom, effect a solution that will protect all non-English-speaking people in this country, regardless of race, creed or color, which will forever ensure the inalienable right of the individual to "Due Process" under the law as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America. May God bless America!

Very truly yours,
Takeru Kamiyama

Simple Car Care Tips Available

Whatever happened to the days when gas stations offered full service treatment for on low price? For a fill up and oil check, you never had to leave the comforts of your car. On top of that, they'd even wash your windshield. But now everything costs extra.

Perhaps the days of full service gas stations are ancient history, but a car still requires continual upkeep and now you need to know what to do.

To aid you with simple car maintenance, the Department of Defense has reprinted an article from its Driver magazine. For a copy of Simple Self Service, send $1.00 to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 217M, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

A lot of people seem to think that they are too busy to worry about car maintenance. However, ignoring simple maintenance can prove disastrous. Small, correctable oversights made by the owner now, can lead to big problems and big bucks later. Wouldn't you be upset if the car broke down and the mechanic informed you that you could have avoided a $500 repair if you only had checked your oil!

Regular self-servicing of the car is easy and it will eliminate many of the problems that might occur. And the service station is the logical place to do it.

Your visit to the gas station shouldn't stop with a fill up. There are several things you can do while you're there. For example, get into the habit of checking your tire pressure, weekly. If the tires are low, pump them up to the correct recommended pressure. Do not over inflate. Also check the tread and sidewalls by looking for cuts, cracks, bulges, and excessive wear. Simple routine tire checks will insure the safety of you and your passengers. A blowout on the highway is something we all want to avoid.

Oil is essential and it should be checked frequently. If an engine has too little oil, the engine can be severely damaged. Without oil, there is nothing to lubricate the moving metal parts of the engine, and that leads to overheating and excessive wear.

In addition, Simple Self-Service gives helpful hints on checking brake fluid, power steering fluid, transmission fluid, battery, window cleaning fluid, windshield wiper blades, hoses, and belts.

Of course, after you finish these maintenance checks, don't forget you also filled up with gas. Check to make sure you put the gas cap back on when you finished. A missing gas cap, at the least, is a nuisance and wastes fuel, but it could lead to an explosion.

If you want to learn how to do preventive car maintenance and save money in the bargain, then Simple Self-Service is the answer. When you send $1.00 for a copy of Simple Self-Service, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the free Catalog list over 200 selected free and moderately priced federal consumer booklets on a variety of subjects.

Paramedics Provide Life Saving Services Here

By Janet Wilke
You have been in an automobile accident! You are in the vehicle and are semi-conscious, bleeding, and hurting. In the distance, you can hear the wail of sirens, as they rush to you to provide comfort and aid.

More than likely, the first responders to be there to help you will be two men who are paramedics with the Haskell Ambulance service—Don Glandon and Casey Caldwell. And, while it may be true that some people are a bit skeptical of being treated by anyone other than a doctor, let it be known that these two paramedics are very highly skilled and have trained for quite a long time in order to provide the best possible care to those in emergency situations until the victim can be cared for by a doctor.

When I began to do this interview, I felt that it would be challenging to talk to these two men who are the lifeline for so many who are in emergency situations.

Having had some emergency care training myself, I came into the interview with a real respect for their ability.

We had gotten into the interview 18 minutes, and eight questions, when they received a call.

Glandon, one of the two paramedics, calmly turned to me and said: "I am sorry, but we have a call to go out on."

But, before they could get out of the door, they had another call which apparently was not an emergency. Before long, they were gone, lights ablaze... and there I was, still without my story!

Haskell is indeed blessed to have two such highly skilled professionals. It is not the norm for a town the size of Haskell to have two paramedics... it is, rather, the exception.

Paramedic Don Glandon is no newcomer to emergency medical care. Prior to becoming a paramedic, he was a registered nurse in Amarillo. He has a degree in nursing from West Texas State University.

Casey Caldwell received his paramedic training from Cooke County College in Gainesville.

Both men endured some 400 hours of clinical and classroom training before they were tested by the Texas Health Department where they were at least certified as Texas Paramedics.

And, let me tell you... that testing is not easy!

Paramedics are tested on their knowledge of the functions of the body, how to administer medications, such as IV's, which will sustain life. They also have to know how to deal with cardiac arrest and the use of a defibrillator (electric shock). They are trained intensively on the proper procedures of bandaging, splinting, and many other aspects of first aid.

Paramedics must be trained to provide respiratory therapy, cardiac care, CPR, and how to start an IV, just to name a few of the many areas which are involved in paramedic training.

There is one area, though, in which all of the training in the world cannot prepare a prospective paramedic... and that is when all efforts to sustain life fail.

The Haskell service received about 34 calls a month, on the average. Most of the calls are of the emergency nature, with only about one-third of the calls being for transferrals.

Glandon has been with the Ambulance service here since October 83 and Caldwell joined the service in July of last year.

The pair are on call 24 hours daily, seven days a week. The weekends are alternately taken off by the two, who say they really don't mind the schedule. Glandon, in fact, said that his schedule here in Haskell was much easier than that of a paramedic in Amarillo. Volunteers fill in when the two need off and are scheduled to work.

At the present time, Haskell's volunteer service is in need of additional workers, who would be available on both weekdays and weekends. Of the 15-20 Emergency Care Attendants in Haskell, only about 3 or 4 actually run with the service on ambulance calls. Of the 7 or so EMT's in town only 3 or 4 of them actually serve with the service.

Those who decide to work with the service and go on calls will be paid for each call they assist on. No pay will be given for only being on call.

Which brings us to the various levels of emergency care. First, there is the ECA, or Emergency Care Attendant, which is an expanded First Aid course. This is a 40 hour course, with all classroom study and no clinic/hospital or ambulance training. The cost for a course of this nature usually runs about $50 per student.

The EMT (emergency medical technician) has to train for 120 hours, with 100 being in class and 20 in a hospital. The EMT will be trained in the same skills as the ECA, but will have the observation time in the hospital as the major difference. The cost for EMT schooling usually ranges upward to about $120.

The next level of training is the EMT Special Skills. These persons are trained in additional areas in which an EMT would not ordinarily have expertise, such as intubation, starting an IV, and the use of MAST (massive anti-shock trousers) trousers. This training takes 160 additional hours above the 120 for EMT school, and will cost around $200.

At the paramedic level, the training is usually done in a hospital or in a college course, since it involved approximately 400 hours.

Since each school varies as to how the course is divided up in its clinical and classroom hours, there is really no set arrangement. The cost for paramedic training can be as much as $350, depending upon where the training is taken.

However, it must be noted that not everyone is cut out for emergency care work... and not everyone is interested.

When asked if they had ever come across a situation in which they were not sure they could return to work the following day, both of the men replied "No".

Glandon also added, "I have never come on a situation in which I felt I could not handle the problem, at the time. If I ever had a problem it would not be between me and the patient. I would leave over a problem with a fellow worker, or an employer, but I would not quit on a patient."

Casey agreed, and added, "I have never had anything happen that would make me want to quit. And, I can't think of anything right now that would make me want to quit."

When asked how they deal with the seriousness of their business, the men both responded in much the same way. Don: "Well, the most important thing is to talk about the runs which have been difficult to handle. Then I go home, and talk about these to my wife. After a day or two, I am back to normal, just carrying on with my life as usual. But, death is always hard to deal with. Sometimes, we see paramedics who have gotten hardened to death, and these are the ones who have also lost their compassion for the people who are served by them. And, that is not good either." Casey: "Well, I just try to get back into my normal way of life, and I might go back home to Slidell (near Dallas) for a while or just go to Abilene. Anything just to get away a while."

Although the cost of emergency care, when it is needed to save a life, is a bargain, compared to the alternative. Many persons are not aware that the Ambulance service does not charge set fees for different circumstances. This money does not go into the pockets of the paramedics. It goes to replenish the supplies for the ambulance, to purchase additional equipment, and to upkeep and maintain the vehicles, the office, and this type of thing.

The basic rate for a transfer from the hospital to home or nursing home is a flat $50. For any life support (emergency) care, on the basic level (bandaging, splinting, etc.) the fee is $75. For advanced life support care, which may include running an EKG strip, the use of IV, and this type of care, the cost is $100.

The Haskell service is currently conducting an EMT course, which is now five weeks into the course. There are about 14 persons in the course. The paramedics are hoping to pick up additional volunteer help from these persons in the course. They will have to pass a written and skills test in order to become a certified EMT, and be able to run with the service.

Glandon expressed hope that the Ambulance service might be able to generate enough interest that an ECA course might be offered in the early months of 1985.

In a town the size of Haskell, the ambulance service really needs 12-14 dependable volunteers, who can switch out and give the regular volunteers a rest, as well as assisting the paramedics.

When they are away from the phones, sirens, and medical emergencies, Don and Casey are just regular guys. Don is married and he and his wife, Debbie, are parents to two year old Lynette.

Don currently is the instructor for the EMT course two nights a week, and he additionally also is a member of the American Heart association where he is a member of the Board of directors. He also is involved as a CPR instructor, who is helping to certify people at the hospital. To relax, he plays volleyball, softball, and collects coins, and reads about coin collecting.

Casey also is involved with the Heart Association, and he also enjoys softball, and volleyball, but he also plays basketball. He assists with teaching the EMT course when needed.

While it is true that most of us will never need the services of two men such as Don and Casey, it is a great comfort to know that if we should ever have an emergency, or if a loved one should ever need that type of help, it is only a phone call away.

And, all of the money in the world cannot buy that kind of assurance if and when an emergency arises.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
Keep the Free Press coming. It is the high light of the week. Most of the time I do not get it until Monday but occasionally it arrives on Saturday and I almost run all the way home, (since I walk to the Post Office each morning) to get the news from home. Thanking you, I am.

'Free Government Land' Not Available To Public

The ad says: "FREE GOVERNMENT LAND!" That sounds intriguing. Then there is a list of questions and answers: What are the prospects for acquiring government land? "All you have to do is send $15 for our list of thousands of pieces of government land." Is it free? "Much of this land is free." How difficult is it to buy? "All you need is our list to get the simple steps on how to become the owner of government land." However, these answers are not entirely accurate.

To help provide accurate information, the Bureau of Land Management of the U.S. Department of the Interior has published a booklet called, "Can I Really Get Free or Cheap Public Land?" It tells what land is available, what kinds are not, and what you need to do to buy government land. For your copy, send $2.25 to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 170M, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Many times the inaccurate information about public land comes from promoters who give the impression that they are part of the U.S. Government. They sell lists or brochures that are supposed to let you in on where you can find free or low-cost public lands. Each year, many citizens pay for these services on the assumption they are getting inside information. But, no matter what these ads say, no free public land is available to private individuals. Homesteading on public lands is a thing of the past.

What happened to homesteading? The Homesteading Act, passed in 1862 to encourage settlement of the nation, was repealed for all states except Alaska in 1976.

Homesteading was discontinued because all the good agricultural land had already been transferred out of federal ownership. The public land that is left is not suitable for farming. These remaining public lands are different from national parks, forests, wildlife refuges, monuments, wilderness areas, military reservations, or other lands administered by various federal agencies, and they are almost all located in the western states.

The government does sell public land to private individuals (at fair market value). Land is usually sold by auction through competitive bidding. The Bureau of Land Management is the official source for reliable information on public land sales. They can answer any questions concerning the procedure of buying land, how payment is made, and your rights of ownership. "Can I Really Get Free or Cheap Public Land?" ($2.25) lists the addresses for the regional offices as well as more information about public lands.

In addition to the public lands that are sold, the government regularly sells property that it no longer uses. The General Services Administration sells everything from small lots and houses to industrial complexes to office buildings, generally at auction or by sealed bid. To learn more about these sales, send for a free copy of Sales of Federal Surplus Real Estate (Item 576M). It is updated regularly and includes the specific properties that will be sold within the next few months.

At the same time you order either "Can I Really Get Free or Cheap Public Land?" ($2.25) or "Sales of Federal Surplus Real Estate" (free), you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 selected free and moderately priced federal consumer booklets on a wide variety of subjects.

City Council Approves Grievance Procedures

The City of Haskell, has adopted an internal grievance procedure providing for prompt and equitable resolution of complaints alleging any action prohibited by the Office of Revenue Sharing's (ORS) regulations (31 C.F.R. 51.55 (d) (2)) implementing Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. 794). Section 504 states, in part, that "no otherwise qualified handicapped individual... shall, solely by reason of his handicap, be excluded from the participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance..."

Complaints should be addressed to Robert N. Baker, Administrator, City of Haskell, Phone 864-2333, who has been designated to coordinate Section 504 compliance efforts.

Haskell Nursing Center News

Activites and friendly visits were enjoyed by the residents of Haskell Nursing Home this week.

The Sweet Home Singers from Rule were here Tuesday night with a melody of Gospel songs. Mable Sanders accommodated the group on the piano.

Rev. and Mrs. Hodge were here Wednesday afternoon with their nephew. Rev. Hodge brought a special message of faith and love in remembrance of the recent loss of his mother, who was faithful in attending the services with him. We appreciate his family and the good work they are doing in the community and Nursing Home.

The East Side Baptist Church had the monthly luncheon Thursday for residents of the Home. Those attending were Colene Moody, Fannie Hargrove, Willamet Olephant, Lector Thomason and her daughter Wanda Jeter from Graham, Lydia Green, C.V. Langford, Linnie Hickman, Pauline Williams, Mona Gibson, A.D. and John McDermott. A special program was given by missionaries doing mission work in several countries of the world. Each missionary told of their work and the special blessings that were being brought forth. The message was of interest to all attending.

Sunshine ladies were here for Friday devotional and one to one visit. Mrs. Mabel Mullings, Maxine Grand, Nialene Hall and Ethel Tidwell share in this special one to one contact and group program. Colene Moody shares her talent of music by playing the piano for the class.

Residents, family and staff appreciate and look forward to the many activities shared by the volunteers of the community.

Mrs. Lewis Hester is in Hendricks hospital in Abilene and Maude Jones is in the hospital in Haskell. A speedy recovery is expressed by all in the Home to Mrs. Hester and Jones.

Haney Stanfield won 3 blue and 1 red ribbon in the Haskell County Fair.

Laura Overton was in the Home Friday morning with cookies and one to one visit in the residents rooms. She has a regular afternoon program on Friday playing some old time favorites.

Visiting Tommie Anders was Georgia Bingham. Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Johnson from Amarillo visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliphant. Mrs. Earl Ammons from Brownfield visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oliphant, also Bennie Ammons and Jay Spalding from Hamlin. Mrs. Bill Lees from Rule visited with Pauline Williams and Colene Moody. Malinda Payne visited with L.J. Dunn. R.M. Walker and Ken Hericks from Weinert visited with Ray Oliphant and Colene Moody.

Visiting with A.J. Patterson was Wyndall Stephens from Farmington, New Mexico, Tina Wine, White Oak, Texas, Randy Stephens from Phoenix, Az.

Visiting Erwin King was Earlene Beason, Glenda Huff and Bessie King from Knox City.

Residents and staff are looking forward to visits and activities of the up coming week by friends and volunteers. Thank you so much for your sharing and caring.

Reception Honors Hodgkin

Chester Hodgkin was honored with a surprise reception last week at the regular meeting of the Stamford District Lone Star Gas Co. employees.

Hodgkin has been with Lone Star for 35 years and was presented with a gold diamond watch. His entire employment with the company has been spent in Haskell and he has been a life time resident of Haskell except for about three and one-half years in the service.

He is currently a service technician two in the Haskell Area, working in Haskell, Rule and Throckmorton.

He and his wife, Lillian, are members of East Side Baptist Church and he is a member of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department and has served as Assistant Chief and Fire Marshall.

They have one son and two grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hodgkin, Tiffany and Alison, all of Abilene.

Make Halloween A Safe And Fun Time For Children

Children look forward to having fun at Halloween. But many parents have become fearful of the dangerous tricks their little goblins may find in their treats.

Things that can spoil Halloween fun are dangerous dress, deadly treats, and roadway accidents. With a little careful planning, parents can help their children avoid these dangers and have a safe, fun Halloween, reminds Growing Up, the child development newsletter about school-age children.

Dangerous dress, treats, and accidents.

Dangerous dress includes masks that restrict a child's view of traffic; wigs or costumes that are flammable; shoes that are poorly fitting or have high heels; costumes or toys that have sharp or pointed edges; and outfits that are so dark they cannot be seen at night.

Deadly treats can be any items that a child gets from a stranger.

Roadway accidents happen when a child's excitement overcomes caution when crossing a street.

Safety guidelines

Being aware of the dangers can help parents protect children against serious accidents. Here are some safety guidelines:

- *Use make-up instead of masks.
- *Use non-flammable material for costumes.

*Use reflector strips after dark.

*Restrict visits to homes of friends and relatives.

*Warn children to wait until they get home before eating any treats.

*Check all items, making sure they contain nothing dangerous. Throw away all opened or unwrapped candy.

*Make it clear that acts of vandalism are not allowed.

*Have a responsible adult accompany children who are out after dark.

This is also a good time to review basic "Rules of the Road."

*Observe all traffic signs and regulations.

*Avoid talking with strangers.

*Never accept a ride from a stranger.

One simple way for parents to avoid the potential dangers of Halloween is to plan a Halloween party either with the neighbors (maybe in the community hall or church hall) or at home.

Growing Up follows a child's development through the school years. For more information, write to Growing Up, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's school grade when writing.

College News

Dennis W. Cloud, a Texas A&M University junior from Rule, has been selected as a member of the Ross Volunteers, the ceremonial honor company of the university's Corps of Cadets.

Cloud is an agricultural education major and the son of Mrs. Joe W. Cloud. He attended Rule High School and currently is serving as 4th Group Sergeant Major in Squadron 13.

The Ross Volunteers is the oldest student organization in Texas. Membership is by invitation and is restricted to juniors and seniors in the Corps. The group serves as honor guard for the Governor of Texas in inaugural ceremonies and, among other events, is the lead marching unit in the Rex Parade during the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.
