Two Teachers Are Hired By Haskell School Board

Harold V. Hill and Bonnie Fouts were hired as teachers for the upcoming school year during the last meeting of the Haskell ISD Board of Trustees, held June 11.

Hill was hired as the head coach/athletic director. He will be coming to Haskell from Bovina, where he held the same position. Hill is married and the couple has one 13 year old son.

He has taught at Liberty Eylau High School, Texarkana; Arlington High; Lindale H.S.; Whitehouse H.S.; Frisco H.S.; Pearsall HS; Jacksboro H.S.; Round Rock; Springtown; Peaster and Bovina.

Hill is a graduate of Arlington High School, and East Texas State University, with a Bachelor's of Science degree, and a Master's of Education degree.

Mrs. Fouts is a Haskell native, graduating from Texas Tech University. She will be teaching junior high level Mathematics.

In other action taken by the Trustees, the members present heard plans presented by the Haskell Indian Band Boosters to build a new concession stand.

Plans were reviewed by past Band Booster president, Charley Henry, with present president of the club, Jane Smith asking the Board what they wanted the club to do to help get the construction underway. The School Board had agreed earlier to assist the Band Boosters in the building of a new concession stand, and adding two new restrooms to the new building.

Board members asked the Band Boosters to draw up specific plans as to what exactly they wanted in a concession stand, and submit the plans back to the Board, so bids could be advertised. The computer needs of the district were discussed by the Board, and it was their decision to allow Dr. James Kemp to select the types of computers both for the administrative office and the secondary school instructional purposes, and come back to the Board with the information necessary so they could begin the steps to purchase up to 7 more instructional computers for the secondary school, bringing the total up to 12.

The decision as to who will be the school's depository will be decided when the bids for that are opened, as the Board decided to have the depository awarded to the bank who

Amelia Perry Woman Of The Year

Mrs. Ray Perry has been chosen Woman of the Year for the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists according to Lou Gilly, County Extension Home Economist for Haskell County.

Mrs. Perry was selected from nominees representing the 14 Extension Districts throughout the state of Texas. All 14 women were nominated for this special award because of their outstanding business, professional, and volunteer accomplishments in support of Extension Home Economics in their respective counties and districts and in the state of Texas.

The outstanding quality that makes Mrs. Perry deserving of this award is her willingness to share her many talents to help others learn. To quote her will let you know why she was chosen of this honor. "The Extension Service has helped me as much as I've helped it. Through involvement with Extension educational activities, I keep tuned to Extension work and feel more fulfilled than I would if everything I did was for monetary gain. A child's "thank you" to me is worth more than anyone's dollars. I'm thankful and grateful the Lord gave me these talents to share!"

Her accomplishments in support of adults participating in Home Economics programs are many. She has taught various classes for the general public. These include classes on machine pieced quilting and making lingerie for Haskell County and workshops on quilting and ultra suede for Kent County. She has taken the time to do programs for the home economics agents in District 3. The most recent program for these home economists was on French machine sewing and the new computer sewing machines.

Mrs. Perry also supports the 4-H and youth program in many ways. She serves as a 4-H leader for the senior clothing project group in Haskell. She has planned, coordinated and carried out many of the County's 4-H fashion shows. She presents a savings bond to the high scoring senior at the County fashion show. This year she donated the first place awards for the intermediate and senior divisions of the County show.

Mrs. Perry does many special things for the 4-H'ers in Haskell County. She organized a charm school. She takes participants on tours to local fabric stores. She even makes those "special" place mats for participants in food shows. She served as commentator for the District Fashion Show this year and has served as judge for numerous local, district and state fashion shows.

Other ways she has volunteered her talents are by organizing the very first Haskell County Fair Queen contest, serving as substitute home economics teacher in Haskell, and allowing both adults and youth to use her sewing equipment whenever there is a need.

AMELIA PERRY

Mrs. Perry graduated from high school in Rule in 1946. She then attended Tulane University. In 1968 she took the Bishop Method Sewing Course at Texas Tech.

She and her husband J.R. (Ray) reside in the Paint Creek Community where he serves as commissioner for Precinct 3 and also farms and ranches. They have two children, Milla Jones of Dallas and Rick Perry of Haskell. Milla is Assistant Director of Nutritional Service at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas. Rick is the State Representative for the 64th Legislative District. The Perry's also have one grandson, Griffin.

Mrs. Perry will be honored at the awards banquet during the State meeting of the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists on August 8 in El Paso.

Airport Receives $45,000 From TAC Grant Here

The Texas Aeronautical Commission, last week, approved the necessary $45,000 for Haskell to re-surface its runway at the local airport, after the first re-surfacing attempt was not sufficient, according to engineers.

In a statement from Dusty Garrison, an aide to Rep. Rick Perry, D-Haskell, Garrison said that the reopening of the airport was of great value to the economy of the Haskell area, because it is in a central location, where many oil companies who are drilling can fly in parts.

The City of Haskell will also be asked to contribute to the new re-surfacing project, by contributing some $15,000.

A new five inch base will be added to the existing base for the runways and taxiways.

The airport has been closed for about three months now, while the renovation has been going on.

Although the TAC did approve the allocation of the money for the project, some of the Commissioners were concerned with the fact that the City of Haskell would not have to be assessed with a larger share of the cost of re-surfacing the airport landing strip. In other cases before the TAC, the commissioners are examining ways to have the cities pay as much as 50 percent of the costs, instead of just 25 percent, as in Haskell's case.

But, in a statement from Perry's office, Garrison commented "This 50-50 ration would take an unwarranted toll on Haskell's fiscal health. In this case, the burden placed on the city and its tax base would be very great," replied Garrison.

Morris, Shaw United In Marriage Who's Who Volume To Feature Mueller Girls

Sharie Diane Shaw of Big Spring and Jeffery Theon Morris of Hereford were united in marriage June 22, 1985 in the Midway Baptist Church in Big Spring with Rev. Jack Gatewood, pastor College Hills Baptist in San Angelo, officiating. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Shaw of Big Spring. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Morris of Hereford are parents of the bridegroom. The groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fischer of Haskell.

Organist was Mrs. Bill Fryrear. Singers were Mrs.

Jack Gatewood, Alan Morris, Charles Colvin and Mrs. James Baldrige.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza with a Victorian neckline. The net yoke with Schiffl embroidery was accented with crystal sequins and seed pearls. Wedgewood lace edged the yoke and formed the capelet sleeves. Alternating layers of wedgewood lace and silk organza accented with satin bows edged the hem of the skirt and train. A puff of white bridal illusion held the fingertip veil and blusher on the derby hat of white chantilly lace and was accented with seed pearls and crystal sequins. She carried a graceful gathering of pink, lavender, and white daisies, with carnations, statice and baby's breath placed atop a Bible. The Bible was carried by the groom's mother at her wedding.

Matron of Honor was Mrs. James Baldrige of Arlington. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bruce Hollander of Odessa and Mrs. Jay Shaw, sister-in-law of the bride of Big Spring. They wore long turquoise taffeta gowns with fitted bodices, ruffled necklines worn off the shoulders. They carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Chadwick and Tony Hall. A reception was held at the Fellowship Hall of the church.

After a wedding trip to Eureka Springs, Ark., the couple will reside in San Angelo.

Shanna & Sherry Mueller will be featured in the 1985 edition of Who's Who in Baton Twirling, a comprehensive volume listing the biographies and photographs of some of the most prominent participants in the specialized field of baton twirling.

The editors of Who's Who in Baton Twirling in union with the editors of Drum Major Magazine have published the book as a sound biographical reference tool, so it can be used effectively in the public and school library, offices and homes. In addition to heralding America's baton twirling champions, authorities in the field of baton twirling have incorporated highlight records and facts of the history of baton twirling in the book.

Baton twirling originated from the ceremonial dances and celebrations of the natives of Siam, Arabia and the Samoan Islands, who would manipulate their knives and spears much as the majorettes of today. Until the 1930's, baton twirling was practiced almost exclusively by men. Today it is a field involving both men and women and ranks high in national youth participation.

Shanna and Sherry are the daughters of Mrs. Zona Mueller of Haskell.

Old Method Of Caramelizing Condensed Milk Is Dangerous

An old method of caramelizing sweetened condensed milk to make caramel pudding is experiencing a new surge of attention. This potentially dangerous method calls for heating an unopened 14-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk in the oven or in a kettle of boiling water. Borden, Inc., the leading manufacturer of the product, reports that this method of caramelization may cause injury and should not be used.

Because heat causes expansion, if any unopened can of food (no matter what the contents) is heated in boiling water, in an oven, in an electric cooker or over a flame, the can could explode. Serious injury to anyone nearby could result. Each can of Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk is labeled with a "Caution" that says

"Never heat unopened can."

To prepare the delicious and well-known caramel pudding easily and safely, consumers can follow these simple instructions. Oven Method: Preheat the oven to 425 degrees; open one 14-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk and pour contents into a glass pie plate. Cover with aluminum foil; place in a shallow pan of hot water and bake for 1 to 1 1/2 hours, or until thick and light caramel-colored. Remove the foil; cool, then chill before serving. Stovetop Method: Open one 14-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk and pour contents into top of double boiler; cover. Place over boiling water; simmer water 1 to 1 1/2 hours or until thick and light caramel-colored. Beat until smooth. Cool. Chill thoroughly.

Beautify Haskell Council Has Offer For Citizens

By Janet Wilke

The Haskell Beautification Council has an offer no one could possibly refuse!! They have made arrangements for the old scrap metal often seen around town to be picked up, at no cost to the owner, and the proceeds from the effort will be donated to the Haskell Memorial Civic Center.

Too good to be true, you ask?

No, it is a fact that anyone having old cars, farm implements, or other heavy scrap metal, can now be rid of that forever. Or anyone knowing someone who has this type of junk lying around their yard or neighborhood, can contact the Beautification Council, so that the owner can be contacted to get rid of this.

The Council will run a survey in the Free Press, asking the citizens to help them locate the areas in town in which this type of junk is located, then the Council, with the help of volunteers from the Experienced Citizens Center, will call the owners of the property and ask if it would be possible to take the scrap metal away, at no

The View From Here

by Janet Wilke

BY JANET WILKE

After having met with the Haskell Beautification Council, I am excited about their new program designed to help rid Haskell of the unsightly piles of old, junk, or scrap metal.

Ervin Unger has said that he will take all of the scrap metal which the Council can locate and compress it for resale purposes, with all of the money he makes from it being donated to the Haskell Memorial Civic Center.

Now I ask you, how can you beat that deal???

Even better still is the fact that the old scrap metal will be hauled away at no expense to the owner. All the owner has to do is say, "Take it away", and off it goes!

There is no hitch or gimmick to this.

Franciene Johnson, and the other members of the Beautification Council are to be commended for this idea.

I ask all of you to please help them by filling out the survey in the paper this week, so that the volunteers of the ECC can contact the owners of the scrap metal, and make arrangements for it to be picked up.

It is a plan worth making work, because Haskell will be made more beautiful, and at the same time, much money will be generated for the Haskell Civic Center.

Please, won't you all help?

On the same line, I received from Mr. and Mrs. Coyt Hix a little piece of information that points out that litter often times stays around longer than the one who litters.

For example, did you know that a banana peel can stay around for as long as a week to six months?

One paper drink carton can stay around for as long as five years!

A foam object can stay around for as long as 10-20 years, and a plastic carton or container can be around for as long as 50-80 years, with an aluminum can or tab existing for as long as 80-100 years!

Kids that throw out a soft drink tab today will already be dead before it disintegrates!! Can you imagine that?!

Please, Haskell, before you litter, think about the fact that your grandchildren, or perhaps great-grandchildren, may one day have to pick up after you!

Haskell could receive as much as $25,000 for its concentrated efforts in keeping beautified.

There is such a thing called the Governor's Community Achievement Award, which communities of various size around the state receive each year. For the size of Haskell the award is $25,000.

What must be done before this is awarded, however, is that a detailed account of the city's efforts for beautification must be submitted to the judging council, and then the winners are selected. All of the projects which were done must be documented in the report submitted.

Wouldn't it be great if Haskell could pick up 25 grand for being beautiful!

The Beautify Haskell Council requests your assistance in locating JUNKED CARS, OLD FARM IMPLEMENTS, and other HEAVY SCRAP METAL OBJECTS. These will be picked up at NO COST TO THE OWNER, and the proceeds from the sale of these will be donated to the HASKELL MEMORIAL CIVIC CENTER, AND A RECEIPT WILL BE GIVEN TO THE OWNER FOR TAX PURPOSES.

If you wish to give such an item, or know of any item which might be donated, please fill out the form below:

Haskell's Ambulance Is Now Mobile Intensive Care Unit

By Janet Wilke

Haskell County's ambulance service has recently received word that it has met all of the requirements set out by the state in order to be licensed as a mobile intensive care unit.

While all of this might be good and fine to the citizens of Haskell County, they may wonder what it all means.

According to Paramedic Don Glandon with the service, it means that the ambulance service is now equipped to give the same basic care a person would receive in the emergency room of a hospital, except that the ambulance can mobilize that care.

This is part of several new laws affecting the operation of ambulance services in the state.

According to Glandon, up until 2 years ago, there was really no set guidelines for what ambulances needed to be equipped with. Some were not equipped with much of anything except a stretcher. Others were well equipped, but it often took a doctor's approval before much of the treatments could be administered.

Now, however, ambulances have a certain guideline which will set them into three categories: the basic life support unit, the advanced life support unit and the mobile intensive care units.

According to Glandon, the basic care units must now, by law, be operated by at least one Emergency Care Attendant, on board the service at all times, and this will be changing soon to require the services of at least two ECA's on board on any ambulance runs. Also the unit itself must contain basic life support systems.

The advanced life support units are required by law to have at least one EMT and an EMT with special skills training. No ECA's can travel with the advanced life support units.

The advanced life support unit will be required to carry all of the same equipment of the basic life support unit, plus have the equipment to start IV's and also carry on board various airway apparatus.

In the Mobile intensive care unit, such as Haskell's, the unit will be operational with one paramedic and one EMT on board at all times. This unit will be required to carry all of the same equipment on the advanced life support unit, as well as carrying drugs necessary for treatment for cardiac intensive care, as well as having a cardiac monitor on board. The unit will also carry a defibrillator and one set each of anti-shock trousers or MAST trousers for adults and children.

This unit, according to law, must carry with it at all times a copy of written protocol, as directed by the physician who is responsible for the emergency care given by this service. Dr. Wayne Cadenhead is the physician in this case.

According to Glandon, this unit is the closest one of its kind in the EMS region, from Abilene, Sweetwater, and Brownwood, and may be the only unit of this type for a city the size of Haskell in the state.

There are seven EMT's in the Haskell service, and each of them are qualified to travel with the unit.

Glandon has called Haskell's new licensing a great honor.

It is definitely a feather in the cap of the residents who are assisted by this service. It is good for the people of this county, and we can all be proud that the ambulance service is at this level now.

According to Glandon, the service usually gets 8-10 calls each month in which an intensive care unit would be a tremendous aide.

"You can never know, however, when what might seem to be a rather routine call could become a call which would require the services of an intensive care unit," Glandon admits readily.

In the early years of the Haskell service, Glandon said that there were a few people whose lives were not saved because they did not have the proper equipment, but now most of the people who do not survive after the ambulance has been summoned die because help was not called soon enough.

"I feel that with this unit, if we are called and can get to the victim reasonable soon after the emergency has arisen, that that person has a very good chance of making it," said Glandon. "At least we can give them a chance that couldn't be afforded them earlier," Glandon concluded.

All of the procedures carried out in the intensive care unit must be under strict scrutiny of a doctor and Glandon says that why the laws state that guidelines must be carried with the ambulance licensed as an ICU unit at all times.

All of the serves carried out must also be documented, according to law.

Does this all mean that the ambulance service will see an increase in dis, both in county and out of county?

"I would hope that people will call us more because I feel that they need to know that we are available whenever they need us," was Glandon's reply.

"There have been times that we could have helped many people, but we weren't called," Glandon remarked.

Another thing that potential ambulance users might consider is the procedures used on the mobile intensive care unit cannot be administered to patients in the hospital by nurses. These treatments, normally, are carried out by a doctor.

"So, by driving yourself or a loved one to the hospital, you might still have a 15 minute wait until a physician could be the patient, whereas with the ICU ambulance, the treatments can be carried out by the paramedics at the scene, with no waiting for authority. They have already been given the authority to act," said Glandon.

"Many times, the people who need the treatment don't have 15 minutes to wait on a doctor in an emergency room," Glandon remarked.

Now this doesn't have to happen because the emergency room can come to all of us, thanks to the Haskell Ambulance Service and its mobile intensive care unit.

HASKELL—A GOOD PLACE TO VISIT: A BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

VOLUME NINETY-NINE HASKELL, TEXAS 79521, JUNE 20, 1985 NUMBER TWENTY-FIVE

Vacation Safety Urged By DPS

Vacation time is just around the corner. Many Texas motorists will be on the road taking advantage of both the warm weather and the many vacation activities Texas has to offer. But, with more people driving more miles than ever before, there are a few precautions we need to take before and during our trips.

Before leaving on long trips, we need to take a little time to check over our vehicles. A long stretch of unfamiliar road is no place for a breakdown. So, checking simple items such as tires, cooling system, battery, belts, and hoses can prevent unwanted and unnecessary breakdowns. But nothing can spoil a vacation anymore than having an accident. Major Vernon Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety stated, "The number of vehicles on Texas Highways is increasing each year, and unfortunately, traffic accidents are keeping pace. Many people think they will never be involved in an accident, but no one is immune from having an accident."

The best defense against the many hazards involved in driving is to drive 55 MPH and use seat belts. Driving 55 is more important than ever before. Major Cawthon also said, "Besides giving you more precious time to react to danger, the lower speed reduces the risk of serious injury to you and your passengers if you are involved in an accident. It's just not worth the risk. Speeding up from 55 to 60 saves only 18 minutes for a 200 mile trip."

The troopers of the Department of Public Safety want the summer of '85 to be the safest yet for the Texas motorist. Please drive friendly and have a good vacation!!

GOOD YEAR

"Texas" Begins 20th Season With Harrington Dedication

The opening night of the musical drama "Texas" on Wednesday, June 12, 1985, will be a Gala Celebration of the 20th season of the show.

It will be dedicated to Sybil Harrington and the other members of the Board of the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation who have made so many creative grants in the panhandle and who made the refreshing of the "Texas" production possible with a grant of $180,000. As a result, audiences will find a new road, new sets, new side stages, many new costumes and musical arrangements, a new computerized lighting system and many surprises.

The United States air force and navy will help to make the festive evening. Before the show, the Navy's country band, "Country Empire" which often plays in Nashville, Tennessee, will appear in the patio area of the theatre.

In the appreciation ceremony on the stage just before honoring the Harrington, the US Air Force will be in formation on the stage carrying 26 historical flags, and will stay as the Harrington representatives are honored.

Four veterans return in leading roles in this year's production: Uncle Henry, Aunt Anna, Kate and Tuck. They are Gene Murray-teacher, artist in glass, and the Indian dancer in the first performance of "Texas" in 1966; Lois Hull, civic leader and daughter of parents who met while studying opera in Italy; Cloyd Beard-lead in many West Texas State University in Canyon, and Jerry Williams, speech pathologist, antiques appraiser and potter who has been delighting audiences as Tuck ever since 1968.

Calvin and Elsie, Dave and Parmalee are new to their roles in the show.

Calvin Wimmer from Snyder will play Calvin. A graduate of the Snyder High School theatre department which has won so many state awards, Calvin attends Angelo State University where he has played the leads in seven major productions. He is the second member of his family to be in the production.

Marianne Hyatt will be Elsie. Raised near Dallas and in Amarillo, she started in "Texas" as a dancer, was in the Boston Ballet Ensemble, the Chicago Ballet, the Lone Star Ballet, and the Dallas Metropolitan Ballet. She also appeared with the Spring Valley Players in Dallas. This winter she was studying at the University of Texas in Arlington.

Brian Mathis comes to play Dave from Fort Worth. This is his second year in "Texas". In addition to many appearances at Tarrant County College and West Texas State University, he sang in Aida with the Fort Worth Opera Company.

Parmalee's role will be shared by two actresses: Laura Burch and Cheryl Reyher. Cheryl (MWF) comes to "Texas" from Borger and has played many roles at West Texas State University. Laura Burch (TTS) is an Amarilloan who has appeared frequently in productions at Amarillo College and West Texas State University.

Over 1,500,000 people have seen "Texas" and it is well to make reservations in advance.

Call 806-655-2181 (The "Texas" office) or write "Texas", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

June 29 Is Date Set For Arrival Of B-1B

When the Air Force's first operational B-1B aircraft enters active service here on June 29, 1985, it will be greeted by its predecessors in the long line of America's strategic bombers. The base will host an open house whose theme will be "The Evolution of Strategic Aviation," and which will feature bomber aircraft old and new.

Plans for the B-1B arrival day activities were announced recently by Abilene's B-1B Arrival Task Force in a press conference at the Abilene Chamber of Commerce offices. The task force, which has been planning the arrival for several months, is composed of Dyess personnel and Abilene citizens.

Visitors to the base will be able to view vintage World War II bombers owned and operated by the Confederate Air Force, as well as modern strategic bomber and tanker aircraft active in today's U.S. Air Force.

The arrival event's planners noted that the day's activities are scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. with a flyover of Abilene by Confederate Air Force aircraft. At 10 a.m., Dyess AFB will begin admitting visitors wishing to see the first B-1B's arrival, set for 2 p.m.

In the interim, visitors will be able to see such active Air Force aircraft as the B-52, FB-111, KC-135, and C-130 on display, as well as such vintage aircraft as the A-20, B-17, B-24, B-25, B-26, and B-29. The B-29 to be displayed is reportedly the last known aircraft of its type still flying. There will also be displays related to the B-1B, provided by the aircraft's prime contractors. The Confederate Air Force's vintage aircraft are scheduled to take to the air again at 12:15 p.m. This time, they will take off and fly over Dyess AFB.

The 96th Bombardment Wing, host unit at Dyess, will receive its first B-1B at 2 p.m. The new aircraft is scheduled to arrive overhead at 1:40 p.m., fly over the airfield twice, land, and be brought to the center foreground of the other display aircraft.

The first bomber's name chosen from those submitted by the public during a recent local "Name The First B-1B Contest," will be unveiled at that time, and the plane officially transferred to the 96th Bomb Wing. The open house will end at 5 p.m.

WINNING DUO
Christy Peiser, left, and Pam Weise, right, were the representatives from Haskell High to attend the Midwestern University yearbook seminar, sponsored by Taylor Publishing Company. The two HHS seniors won runner up honors in the theme development area of the seminar. Their sponsor is Mrs. Pat Quattlebaum.

Weise, Peiser Receive Runner Up Recognition

Pam Weise and Christy Peiser, seniors at Haskell High School and members of the 1986 Chieftain yearbook staff, accompanied advisor Pat Quattlebaum to a yearbook workshop at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, June 10-12. The workshop is presented annually by the Taylor Publishing Company who publishes the Chieftain.

The three-day workshop presented instruction in all areas of yearbook production—layout, copy preparation, theme development, copywriting, photography, and financing. Staff members from school all over the North Texas area attended and competed for awards in five categories: sweepstakes winner, theme development, layout and copy preparation, copywriting, and photography, with a winner and runner-up award given in each category. To enter this category, each staff member was required to create a cover design, a title page, an endsheet design, a table of contents, a division page design, and a two-page opening spread.

"I'm very proud of the girls," said sponsor Pat Quattlebaum. "We were the smallest group there. In most cases, the girls were competing with schools who brought their entire staffs consisting of 8-12 people, so the competition was stiff. I think the girls learned a lot. I hope to take more of the staff next year," she concluded.

Thomas Mark Porterfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Porterfield of Corpus Christi and grandson of the late Stanley Furrh and Mrs. Veta Furrh was ordained as a Deacon of the United Methodist Church during the South-west Texas Annual Conference session June 2-5 in San Antonio. The ordination service was held on Tuesday evening, June 4, 1985 at Travis Park United Methodist Church, preceded by a Communion Service in the Chapel for families, friends and those to be ordained.

Rev. Porterfield has attended Perkins School of Theology for the past two years and will serve his Internship at the First United Methodist Church in Austin during the coming year. Mrs. Stanley Furrh attended the ordination service with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Porterfield.

Tips Given For Safety During Swimming Season

Swimming accidents rank third among the causes of accidental deaths in Texas each year.

This summer, up to 500 persons may lose their lives on the waterways of the state because of drowning.

In information from County Extension Agent, Lou Gilly's office, we have learned that three out of four boating-related accidents involving a drowning happen very quickly after the victim enters the water. Non-swimming victims often disappear within 20-60 seconds after entering deep waters.

The reason that this happens, according to Coast Guard research, is that the victims are usually unable to swim, or stay afloat, drugs or alcohol plays a significant part, and cold water has much to do with drownings.

While it is true that even the best of swimmers can drown, most drowning victims are people who do not know how to swim.

About two-thirds of them had no intention of ever entering the water, and were the victim of an accident, such as tripping, slipping, or falling into the water out of the boat.

Most all of those who drown have no personal flotation device (life jacket) on.

The most susceptible group for drownings are middle aged men who have not swam in a while or are poor swimmers.

And, about half of all water-related accidents happen when someone falls from a boat, while the boat is docked or not moving.

The best prevention for drowning is to learn how to swim.

Also the use of a flotation device is necessary when on a lake, or in water of any type.

Swimmers should choose where they swim wisely, and not swim where they are not sure of the depth of the water.

Those who do not swim well should obviously stay away from water that looks as though it might be deep, or get deep at some point later on.

An old belief concerning falling into the water is to take as many clothes off as possible, but this idea is not only wrong, but dangerous. Air trapped in light clothing can act as a flotation device, as well as help to keep the body warm, thus fighting off hypothermia, or the loss of the body's natural heat.

Another point that is good to remember is that should you find that you are in strange waters, do not panic. Try to stay as calm as possible. If you can swim, try to swim to a dock, land, or anything that will provide shelter from high water. If you cannot swim, try to at least float in the direction of help. Try to not "fight" the water, but let it float you along instead.

When help does finally arrive, let the rescuers rescue you, and don't try to fight them off. Relax and let them do their jobs, which is saving people from water.

Swimming and boating can be fun, but, with that as in all things, some safety precautions must be taken in order to safeguard the water for everyone!

TAKING THE HEAT

Plant this pair from Pioneer for a superior grain sorghum crop in hot, dry weather.

8680
This hybrid is especially adapted to the lighter and mixed soils of North Texas and the Rolling Plains. Excellent yield record under a wide range of conditions — but most impressive is its ability to produce a dependable yield when hot and dry conditions cause many to fail. Semi-open heads produce dark red, hard-textured grain with high bushel weight. Grows fast and matures early. Excellent root and stalk strength keep it standing for maximum harvest.

The tougher the conditions, the better you'll like 8493. A new hybrid, especially developed to withstand the heat, drought, and insect problems of this region. Superior yield and standability, excellent resistance to greenbugs, and much improved grain quality. Strong stalk and roots, too. Medium height plants produce semi-compact heads of harder textured, heavy test-weight grain. Plant this one with 8680 to spread weather risks, genetic risks, and harvest load.

Depend on these two for both yield potential and drought tolerance. Come on in let's talk.

BRIDGE OVER THE BRAZOS

In 1866 the growing settlement of Waco, on the banks of the Brazos River, needed a bridge to span the river. The Waco Bridge Company hired John A. Tolls for use were: horse and rider, ten cents; wagons, ten cents a wheel and five cents per animal; loose livestock and pedestrians, five cents a head.

Dr. James Kemp Expresses Plans For HISD

By Janet Wilke
 Dr. James Kemp, who was hired as the new superintendent for Haskell ISD, said in an interview Monday that he felt that the school should reflect the philosophy of the community.

DR. JAMES KEMP

FSU with a B.S. in meteorology with a minor in Math, only to find out that there were not too many positions that a graduate meteorologist could go into.

"Well, there were about three choices offered to me. One was that I float on an ice island as a monitor, two was that I spend two winters and one summer on Antarctica, or the third one was that I be sent to a station in outer Mongolia. None of these really appealed to me, so I decided to stay in school," Kemp recalled.

He went back to FSU and changed majors to Slavic Languages (one of the compatible languages for a meteorologist since German and Russian are two of the basic languages among meteorologists), obtaining a Master's Degree in Slavic languages in 1969. He continued his education at FSU, with a short break for a fellowship in languages at the University of Colorado, and continued until he received his doctorate in Language Education and Administration in 1973.

After obtaining his education Kemp began his teaching at Jefferson County schools in Florida, located 25 miles from Tallahassee.

"It was a primarily black school, with some 2500 students in the district. I taught science, biology, math and health at the high school and middle school level, and was the coordinator for the Adult Education program for one year. I was actually teaching the kids in the daytime and teaching their parents at night," Kemp claimed.

He was at Jefferson County school for five years, then for the next nine years he was an educational consultant for the Florida Department of Education, in the Management Information Services department, where he worked his way up from a research associate to the program director.

Kemp then assumed duties at Danbury, Texas ISD as the assistant superintendent of schools. Danbury is located in South Texas, south of Houston 50 miles.

As assistant superintendent, Kemp was to oversee the curriculum and budget areas for the school.

Danbury is a school district of 66 square miles, with an assessed value of $85 million.

The main industry in that region is rice farming.

After being in Danbury for three years, Kemp decided that he was ready for a chance to be a full superintendent, so his quest led him to Haskell.

"After having been at Danbury for three years, I was able to accomplish all of the things I wanted to see accomplished. I had given them all of the fresh new ideas I had, so I needed to find a place where I could make a contribution," Kemp said.

When asked why someone with a PhD would want to come to Haskell, to be superintendent of schools, Kemp's first reply was "Why not?"

"I have just as much need to enjoy life in the country as anyone else. This was an acceptable place for me to come because the town was pretty, clean, and had a good business climate. There was an opportunity to do here what I wanted to do and that was to be a full superintendent, and this is a far nicer place than Danbury. Danbury has no businesses, no community, no civic community," Kemp replied.

When asked why he became an administrator instead of staying in the classroom, Kemp said that as a teacher he was only able to help one student at a time, although that was on a one-to-one basis. As an administrator, he would have the opportunity to help all of the students at an administrative level by making the system run better for everyone, although he would lose that one-to-one contact he'd had with the students.

With that in mind, Kemp answered questions about what plans he has for the future of HISD.

"Well, I am still trying to get used to the system here, but immediate plans include having to build a budget. We will also be looking at fully implementing a change of procedures from a non-automated office to an automated (computerized) one. I suspect that there will be changes in the curriculum and in the development of the curriculum. I am hoping that this office will be instrumental in reducing the amount of paper work that the teachers were having to do," Kemp commented.

Long range plans included a building or renovation program for the school, and looking into the building of a track.

"I would also like to see the school become accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. This accreditation would make our graduates more acceptable to colleges and universities throughout the United States,"

Kemp said. In view of the recent changes in education due to the legislative mandates, Kemp said he was going to try to make the implementation of the new programs as smooth as possible, because some are required to begin in the very near future.

When asked if he felt that the no pass-no play rule was fair, Kemp said that he could look at that in two different ways.

"From standpoint one, I feel that extra and co-curricular activities are part of the school program, but that the state can regulate them as it sees fit, with point two being that it is also the school's responsibility to produce young people who will be good citizens and will obey the laws. But, the opposing view also is that I question if anyone has the right to take away a student's right to participate in these activities if they are not deficient in that particular area," Kemp said.

When asked if he felt that there was too much emphasis placed on these types of activities in the small school, Kemp said no.

"The kids are still going to school the same number of hours a day, so there is really no argument that this is taking them away from school, but because we are a smaller school, we have to depend on the same kids over and over again. But, small communities tend to take pride in these activities and show them off."

Kemp commented that when he came to HISD, he saw many strong points that the school offered, but there were also a few weak points.

However, he said that he is pleased with his decision to come here, and that he felt like, "It was the thing for me to do professionally."

Fandangle Activities Are Set For June 20

The taming and settling of the frontier west as seen through the eyes of pioneer children, will be relived in the 47th production of the Fort Griffin Fandangle during six performances set for June 20-22 and June 27-29 in Albany.

The annual production, which was created in 1938 by Albany playwright Robert Nail, relates through narration, song and dance the story of the settling of this part of Texas during the final decades of the 1800's.

The show is presented in the Fandangle Association's own outdoor theater located approximately one mile west of town, truly giving the audience the "look and feel of times long since past."

Tickets can be reserved by calling the Fandangle's ticket office, located in the depot building in Albany, at either 915/762-2525 or 915/762-3642. Ticket prices range from $3 to $7 per person, and should be purchased or reserved in advance. If available, tickets will also be sold at the gate.

"We had a record year last year, with four of the six performances sold out, and ticket sales are going as well or better so far this year," stated Patsy Rose, the association's executive secretary.

Tickets can also be purchased by writing to the Fort Griffin Fandangle Association, P.O. Box 185, Albany, Texas 76430.

"We usually have over 10,000 visitors each year for the Fandangle," stated Donnie Lucas, publicity director. "We have tried to add several activities for our guests so that they can enjoy an interesting and fulfilled family outing when they come to Albany."

Downtown store windows are traditionally decorated with antiques and other items from the western frontier time period.

Several restored homes and buildings are open to the public on performance days including the 102 year old Shackelford County Courthouse.

In addition, pipe organ concerts are given concisely from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. each evening at the Matthews Memorial Presbyterian Church located one block west of the courthouse square.

Barbeque dinners are also available from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 each night on the courthouse lawn. The meals are catered by Joe Allen's Bar-B-Q of Abilene for $5.25 per adult plate and $3.00 for children under 10 years of age.

One special attraction for visitors is the Old Jail Art Center, which recently completed a large expansion and remodeling project. The art center will feature a special Fandangle exhibit this year entitled, "Women of Albany." The show consists of specially commissioned photographs of Albany women from all walks of life. The collection was photographed by Rick Williams of Austin.

The Art Center will also be displaying many pieces from their permanent collection which includes mostly modern works by such artists as Amedeo Modigliani, Henry Moore, Pablo Picasso, John Sloan, Morris Graves and Paul Klee.

A special exhibit of paintings by Alice Reynolds and her father A.W. Reynolds will be hanging in the lobby of the First National Bank of Albany. The bank will be open during its regular hours for visitors.

Miss Reynolds was a co-founder of the Fandangle and served as its music director for over 40 years.

The annual Fort Griffin Fandangle Parade has been scheduled this year for June 27 beginning at 6:00 p.m. The event usually draws over 100 entries from both local organizations and area towns.

"We hope that Fandangle visitors will come to Albany several hours prior to the performances so that they can have plenty of time to see the many other attractions that we have to offer," stated Lucas.

"If you haven't seen the Fandangle lately you should. The theme of the show changes each year with new scripts, new songs and new performers," commented Lucas.

The Fandangle cast is made up of over 250 local citizens who begin working as early as February on the annual production.

"We are very excited about our show this year," stated Fandangle director Marge Bray. "There have been several new songs written to tell our story through the experiences of the children of the frontier."

The two-acre natural stage provides the audience with a close-up view of a herd of Longhorns being watched at night by the cowboys of the trail drives, wagons, a stagecoach, an entire recreated street scene straight out of the wild and woolly town of Fort Griffin, and even the coming of the train to the frontier.

The show begins at dusk each evening, preceded by callopie music at the Prairie Theater.

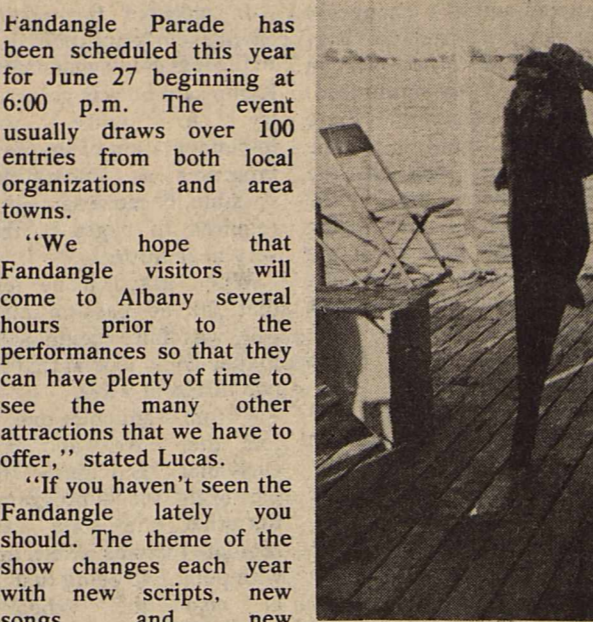

Bentsen, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, said the hearings in Washington will be held before the Subcommittee on Environmental Pollution.

The first hearing June 19 is expected to hear testimony from officials of the State of Texas, including Governor Mark White, and representatives of industry and public interest organizations, including Texas groups opposed to the project.

Bentsen said he will act to stop EPA plans for the ocean incineration of toxic wastes unless the EPA can demonstrate there are no hazards to people or to marine and coastal life.

"The EPA is proposing to transport and burn chemicals including dioxin, DDT, and PCB's, which all have the potential of being extremely hazardous," Bentsen said.

Young Receives $8000 From Houston Livestock Show

Jeffery Jack Young, an outstanding Jones County 4-H member, today received a four-year $8,000 college scholarship from the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Jeff, son of Virginia Young (603 E. McLendon, Stamford), has been an active 4-H member for four years and graduated from Stamford High School in the top quarter of his class. A Gold Star award recipient, Jeff also was a district council delegate, county council member and president of his local 4-H club.

While in high school, he was a member of the student council and vice president of the distributive education club. He was selected as band beau and is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Jeff, who plans to major in ranch management at Angelo State University, was one of 50 recipients of Houston Rodeo scholarships presented at the state 4-H Roundup. The Show will present 50 four-year, $8,000 scholarships to FFA members during their July state convention.

With the receipt of this scholarship, Jeff becomes a part of the largest agricultural scholarship program in the United States. The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo is the nation's largest donor of agricultural scholarships and, during the coming school year, will provide assistance to some 469 students in Texas colleges and universities through the annual program alone. This represents a commitment in excess of $2 million.

The winners of Show scholarships are carefully selected from hundreds of applicants and are the best in the state from the standpoints of academics and leadership. Students must major in some form of agriculture at a Texas college or university. "These scholarships are made possible because people have made the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo one of the most popular entertainment events in the Southwest," said Dr. Joseph T. Ainsworth, Show president, in presenting the awards. Proceeds generated by spectators provide the funds for the scholarship program of this renowned charitable organization, whose efforts, actions and revenues are used directly to benefit youth and support education.

Elizabeth Scharff Returns To Sweden After Haskell Visit

By Janet Wilke
 Although she has been half a world away from her home for the past ten months, Elizabeth Scharff said she would miss Haskell, in an interview shortly before she left to return to her homeland of Sweden.
 Miss Scharff has been a visitor in the home of Duward and Gwen Campbell, and since she arrived, she has acquired a taste for Mexican foods, likes dressing up for banquets, has enjoyed high school here, and wants to make football the national sport of Sweden.
 "I have mixed emotions about going back home," Elizabeth said, "because I want to see my family and friends again, but I will miss the family and friends I have here, too."
 When asked what three things she would tell her friends about Haskell, Elizabeth said, "I would tell them that it is not like Dallas, and that there are hot summers and snowy winters, and that the people are friendly!"

 Having become accustomed to all of the Texas customs now, Elizabeth says that she wishes she had kept a diary of all of the things which she thought were odd, at first, because now she could look back and laugh.
 The Swedish native listed Austin as her favorite spot in the Lone Star State in which to visit, but also said she liked Dallas, Fort Worth, and San Antonio.
 While staying here, Elizabeth grew to enjoy going to American schools, and she developed a love for the sport of football.
 "In Sweden, we don't have football or cheerleaders," she said. "Now, however, football is my favorite sport. I wish I could take it back to Sweden with me."
 But, there is one memory which will stay with Elizabeth long after she returns home...graduation exercises.
 Elizabeth was one of 37 graduates this year to receive a diploma from Haskell High School. She said she had not ever been through a graduation ceremony until she graduated from HHS.

 "In Sweden, we just go into a room, and they give us our report cards, and that's it. I really liked it when we threw our hats into the air."
 In comparison to the schooling that Elizabeth received in Sweden, she said that schooling in the United States took longer than in Sweden.
 "We go to school 9 years, then we go on to college. But here, you attend school for 12 years. Also, there are no sports events held during the school day in Sweden. And, we do have a Detention Hall, but hardly any students are ever sent there."
 Scharff said that in Sweden, there is no form of corporal punishment used in the schools.
 But one thing is for sure...Kids are all the same, the world over. Elizabeth learned to enjoy many new aspects of having two families.

 "At home, my mother worked all of the time (she is a public school teacher in Sweden), and I ate lunch at the school cafeteria, but here I had a Mom that only worked part-time, so I came home for lunch each day."
 Elizabeth said that in her homeland, supper was only a snack meal, while supper here was always the largest meal of the day.
 When she asked if she thought she had picked up any of the famous Texas "drawl" to carry back to Sweden with her, Elizabeth said she was sure that she had, and was anxious to surprise her mother with her new form of speech. Her mother is a languages teacher.
 She also said she thought that her former English teacher would be shocked at her newly acquired form of communication.
 "She is so very...English!" was Elizabeth's remark.
 It seems that the ten months passed quickly for Elizabeth. Now she will be returning home, in the next few days, after traveling downstate to catch the flight to take her back to her native home.
 But, the sadness of small and I was able to get to know many people while here. I even got a job and was able to earn my own spending money. It will be hard to leave. I know that I will have to make some re-adjustments when I get home."

 One of the re-adjustments Elizabeth will make when she gets home is to begin again her college studies. She will be entering her third year as a language major and art minor.
 But, she vowed she would return to the United States some day, and already has planned to come back to Haskell.
 One of the first things that Elizabeth said she would do upon returning home would be to locate the only Mexican food restaurant in Stockholm and treat her family to a real Mexican meal.
 "I have already mapped out where the place is, and I am going to take my family there so they can enjoy Mexican food. I am also planning to take some taco shells and seasonings home with me so I can make Mexican food at home," admitted the Swedish girl.

 Elizabeth will return to Sweden as one of about 300 foreign exchange students from all over the world who visited in the United States this year. When she returns home, she will be asked to speak to other students who may travel abroad. Elizabeth said that as many as 5-10 students from her high school come to America each year.

 Although, she had admitted to being sad about leaving, Elizabeth Scharff will have no problem remembering her time in Haskell, Texas, because she will take back to Sweden with her enough memories to last a lifetime.

With our multi-step wheat conditioning process.

- Bring your harvested wheat to Bronco Seed Company in Stamford for our top quality conditioning process.
- First, our air screen machine removes weed seeds, trash, underdeveloped and oversized seeds and cracked or broken seeds.
- Quality continues as our three indent cylinders separate the wild oats from the good seed by length sizing.
- For final finishing and improvement of germination, our gravity table separates immature, lightweight seed from mature, heavy seed to improve seed vigor.
- We can treat your wheat seed with Vitavax-200, the systemic fungicide that controls loose smut, bunt, seed rots and seedling diseases. Since Vitavax is patented as a growth stimulant, you should be able to graze your cattle earlier because Vitavax-200 treated wheat normally emerges faster and shows more vigorous growth.
- And, we offer you bulk grain storage before cleaning, and bag seed storage after cleaning.
