

Indians To Open 1985 Football Season Friday

After two scrimmages, Haskell Indian fans will have their first opportunity to view the Tribe in regulation action this Friday night when we host the state ranked Munday Moguls.

First year head coach Harold Hill has made several changes in both the offense and defense of the Tribe and this week's game should give Indian fans an opportunity to see the new look of the Tribe against some of the stiffest competition they will meet all year.

The Moguls won the State title last year and several polls have picked them for a repeat this year.

Coach Hill will be assisted with the Tribe by coaches, Jim Mickler, George Martin, Jim Raughton, and Jim Lisle.

Varsity members include: Felipe Arredondo, Johnny Castillo, Kelly Strickland, Steven Rodriguez, Joel Torres, Mark Young, Michael Wallace, Stephon Brockington, Kendall Lamed, Marty Martinez, Fred Shaw, Joey Thomas, Victor Rodriguez, Sammy Baker, Val King, Emery Baker, Joe Martinez, Scott Schaa, Patrick Rodriguez, Andy Griffith, Patrick Perez and Ponciano Lopez.

Game time is 8 p.m. at Indian Field.

FOOTBALL TICKETS

Tickets for Friday night's football game will be $3.00 for all tickets. Pre-game sales of student or preschoolers tickets will be $2.00 each. Pre-game tickets are available at the High School office during school hours.

Bobby Parrott Named Local CRCC Chairman

Jim Alexander of Abilene, general chairman of the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children, has appointed 200 area chairmen statewide to help in the CRCC fundraiser which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene and San Angelo.

The area chairmen include Bobby Parrott of Haskell.

Aubrey Stokes of San Angelo is general co-chairman of the event.

"The agricultural community has always believed in the philosophy of neighbor helping neighbor, and the Cattlemen's Round-Up is a prime example of that help," says Shelley V. Smith, WTRC president/executive director.

"Livestock donated by ranchers are collected at a designated point in each community and transported to the auction site," explains Alexander. "The area chairman's job is to make a personal pledge, then ask others to join them in this annual drive."

Sales of those livestock are converted to dollars and the amount helps provide treatment for the 11,000 handicapped persons who will be treated this year at the Rehab facilities.

The CRCC idea began in Bronte back in 1960 on the late Conda Wylie's Fort Chadbourne ranch. He came to Smith with the suggestion that 20 top steers be cut from his herd and sold to help defray operational expenses at WTRC.

Today the results speak for themselves. With a goal of treating the whole patient rather than just the handicap, services offered

Total Enrollment At Haskell Schools Shows Increase

Total enrollment for Haskell ISD was up about 22 students on the first day of classes Tuesday according to school officials.

Enrollment in junior high and high school was approximately 285 students Tuesday as compared to 298 last year. Enrollment in elementary school was 389 Tuesday as compared to 354 last year.

According to elementary school principal Bill Blakley, the major increase in elementary students was in Kindergarten and First Grade. A total of 78 Kindergarten students attended class Tuesday, an increase of about 20 over last year. First grade enrollments was 72 on Tuesday, an increase of about 15 over last year.

Student numbers in grades two through six are about the same as last year.

The much higher than expected numbers in Kindergarten and first grade have created several problems. Because of state mandated restrictions on class sizes, Haskell school officials are in the process of re-dividing the students, making decisions on moving classrooms and the possibilities of re-assignment of teachers. At press time Tuesday, no decisions had been made. In addition to the new state requirements, another problem has been one of textbooks and desks and classrooms. The desks and textbooks can be ordered and will be here soon. The classroom problem will be solved as soon as officials decide exactly how many classes will be needed for each grade and make teacher assignments.

All in all, school officials agree that after several years of declining enrollment, more students than expected is a nice problem.

Yellow Buses Invade Streets And Highways

It is back-to-school time, and those big yellow school buses are on the streets and highways once again.

"With the increase in the number of vehicles on our highways, it is more important than ever that motorists be alert for the return of the school buses," said Highway Department District Engineer Roger G. Welsch here today. "Motorists have had a summer vacation of sorts, too, and are not accustomed to seeing the school buses pulling onto the highways or stopping to let schoolchildren on and off."

State law requires drivers to stop when meeting or overtaking a school bus from either direction, on highways not separated by a median, when the school bus has stopped and is displaying a visual signal. The driver shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the bus driver signals to proceed. This does not apply when the driver and the school bus are on separate roadways and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadways.

In an effort to increase school bus safety, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation sponsors special schools for bus drivers and even for student riders. A typical region trains upward of 215 drivers in safe bus driving operations each year. Last year, statewide, some 810 drivers and 70,000 students underwent safe bus procedures training.

And the training is paying off. "When you consider that school buses traveled more than 3 million miles in Texas last year and there were only 11 fatalities, the record is pretty good," Welsch said. "At the same time, the number of accidents is on the rise, primarily as the result of having more vehicles of all types on the highways."

"That is why it is so important that Texas motorists become aware that the school buses are about to return to the highways, and that they know the rules about stopping. Perhaps with the motorists' cooperation and a little luck, we may reduce the fatality figure to zero for this year," Welsch concluded.

There's a puzzle making the round that's downright intriguing.

According to the story, a guy in Philadelphia offered $1,000 to anyone who could write a puzzle that he couldn't solve.

A lady in California wrote the puzzle and when he couldn't work it, the man in the city of Brotherly Love paid up.

The answer is one word and appears only four times in the Bible. It has five letters. The puzzle is:

WHO AM I?

Adam God made out of dust,
But thought it was best to make me first.

So I was made before man
To answer God's most holy Plan.
A living being I became
And Adam gave to me my name.

I from his presence then withdrew,
And more of Adam never knew. I did my Maker's law obey,
Nor ever went from it astray.

Thousands of miles I go in fear,
But seldom on earth appear.
For purpose wise which God did appear.

For purpose wise which God did see,
He put a living soul on me.

A soul from me God did claim,
And it took from me the soul Again.

So when from me the soul had fled,
I was the same as when first made.

I HEARD

And without hands, or feet, or soul
I travel on from pole to pole.
I labor hard by day, by night,
To fallen man I give great light.

Thousands of people, young and old
Will be my death great light behold.

No right or wrong can I conceive,
The scripture I cannot believe.
Although my name there-in is found,
They are to me an empty sound.

No fear of death doth trouble me,
Real happiness I'll never see,
To Heaven I shall never go
Or to Hell below.

Now when these lines you slowly read,
Go search your Bible with all speed.
For that my name is written there
I do honestly to you declare.

Annual Jubilee Set In Rule This Weekend

The annual Rule Jubilee, sponsored by the Rule Chamber of Commerce, will be on Main Street and at the park on Saturday, Sept. 7.

The sidewalk flea market will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be no charge for booths, and booths are welcome.

The parade entries will meet at the church parking lot at 4 p.m. and the parade will start at 4:30. Prizes will be given to the childrens entries as well as the adult or business floats.

After the parade all activities will be at the city park. There will be booths by different city organizations;

Nieman, Blankenship Exchange Wedding Vows

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony, Susan Diane Blankenship of Haskell and Marc Todd Nieman of Abilene, exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, August 31 at 7:00 p.m.

The ceremony was performed in the First United Methodist Church of Haskell by Rev. Cecil Shirey of Haskell.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blankenship of Haskell.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Nieman of Abilene.

The altar of the church was decorated with a 15 candle arch with two side spirals with candles. On the corner of each arch was a large bow in burgandy. Two baskets of carnations of pink and burgandy flowers were on the piano and organ. Completing the altar scene were the unity candle, including a large candle in the center flanked by two smaller candles which the couple used to light the unity candle.

Musical selections were presented by Martha Jarred of Haskell, organist, as she accompanied Brian Burgess of Haskell as he sang, "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," and "It Seems Like I've Always Loved You."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a traditional gown of Southern Belle fashion, in Wedgewood lace, Fleur D'Esprit and Venice lace over taffeta, a Bridallure Original designed by Michelle. The basque waist was fashioned in Fleur D'Esprit with Wedgewood lace overlay on the waist to the neckline and repeated on the Queen Ann neckline. The full sleeves of Fleur D'Esprit were lined and held with deep cuffs of Venice lace finished with fitted lace sleeves to the wrist. The five tiered skirt of Wedgewood lace flowed to a cathedral length train. Each tier was bordered with Venice lace.

Her camelot cap of Venice lace sprinkled with seed pearls held the finger tip veil of silk illusion. The veil was circled with Venice lace edging. Streamers of white satin ribbon adorned with petal flowers, flowed the length of the veil.

She carried a cascade bouquet of burgandy and pink carnations with a white rosebuds and baby's breath. For something old and borrowed, she wore a pearl necklace belonging to Sherry Speck. For something new, she wore a watch, a gift from the groom. She wore the traditional blue garter and a six penny, for good luck in her shoe.

Kimla Strickland of Haskell was maid of honor and Ruth Phillips of Abilene, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Melinda Smith of Haskell.

Jon Nieman of Anson, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsman were Mosiah Lebaron of Abilene and Dickie McAnally of Anson.

Serving as ushers were Danny Sloan of Munday, cousin of the bride, and Scott Sloan of Rochester, cousin of the bride.

Flower girl was Amy Phillips of Abilene, niece of the bride.

The candles were lit by Karomy Sloan of Knox City, cousin of the bride, and Joy Speck of Aledo, cousin of the bride.

The bridal attendants wore formal length pink taffeta gowns with burgandy satin ribbons at the waist and bows on the shoulders with sleeves of white Venice lace.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails with a burgandy ascot tie.

The groom's attendants wore burgandy tuxedos with white carnations and white shirts with burgandy ascot ties.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Jana Overton, of Wichita Falls, served at the reception table.

The bride's table was centered with a cornucopia with two pink candles. The two tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink and burgandy flowers. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake. A crystal punch bowl, belonging to her late Grandma

Blankenship accented the table setting. Cake, punch, nuts and mints were served from the bride's table.

The groom's table was decorated with brass candle holders and held tapered burgandy candles. Coffee was served from a gold coffee service.

Serving at the bride's table were Philda Dudgeon of Dimmitt, cousin of the bride and Shelia Klose of Haskell. Serving at the groom's table were Jana Overton of Wichita Falls and Tammie Nieman of Anson.

The rehearsal luncheon was hosted by the groom at the bride's home in Haskell.

After a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico the couple will be at home in Abilene.

Rueffers Celebrate Birthdays

Martin and Lena Rueffer were honored with a double birthday celebration over the weekend. Both were born on September 4th. All eight of their children were present for the occasion: Raymond Dippel of Lubbock, Lois Grandy of Wichita Falls, Gay Nell Helweg of Goodland, Kansas, Ellien Lindsay of Weatherford, Lena Alvis of Fort Worth, Dorothea Monroe of Irving, Martin Fred Fueffer of Hemphill, and Dennis Rueffer of Irving. There were 19 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren in attendance with a total of 75 relatives and friends.

Barbecued brisket was the main dish for the Sunday evening dinner, cooked by Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford, friends of the family. Two separate cakes, a white sheath cake, decorated with straw berries, and a chocolate cake with a beige pine cone decoration, was baked by their granddaughter Sherri Caldwell of Lubbock. Red and white carnations served as table centerpiece and corsages.

Guests registered from Haskell, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Weatherford, Fort Worth, Irving, Hemphill, Mesquite, Milsap, Poolville, Carrollton, Duncanville, Midland, Aledo, Houston, Old Glory, Goodland, KS., Kansas City, MO., Grand Junction, CO., and Seward, Alaska.

Note Changes In Haskell Co. Fair Rules

Everyone is beginning to get ready for the twentieth annual Haskell County Fair September 12-14. You need to be aware of some of the changes in the Fair this year as well as some major mistakes in the printed catalog.

Changes: No exhibit will be released on Saturday night. You will be able to pick up your entry either Sunday afternoon between 3 and 5 p.m. or Monday morning between 7:30 and 10:00 a.m. The Fair Association is not responsible for any item left at the Fair Grounds after 10:00 a.m. on Monday, September 16.

All youth exhibitors must be between the ages of 6 and 19 on or before Sept. 11, 1985 and should not have ever been married. No one under age 6 by the date of the fair will be allowed to enter exhibits.

This year in the Youth Division a first and second place ribbon will be awarded to the top two entries in each age category in each specific division (ages 6-10; 11-13; 14-19)

There will be no Golden Harvest Awards this year. The Adult Division has a new division, Grandparent's Corner.

In the Adult Arts and Crafts there will be a separate division for Senior Citizens which will have a special award for Best of Show.

Catalog Mistakes; pg. 33-Lot 93 was omitted. It should read: Watermelon, any variety pg. 40-Rule 2-The starting time to take in entries should be 9:00 a.m. instead of 8:30 a.m.

Saving By Sewing At Home Requires Planning

Birthdays for the month of September are: Gladys Richards, Ione Menifee, Fannie Baldwin, Melvin Norman, Jessie Gardner, Anah Crume and Leita Lain. Happy Birthday to you all.

J.R. Langford has returned from a short stay in the hospital, everyone is wishing him well. Rena Cunningham is in Haskell hospital. Also wishing her well as well as in our prayers. Every one is happy to see a touch of fall in the air. Mornings are cool enough to exercise on the porch. A breath of fresh air is great way to start the morning stated Edna Collins, who is also in the picture above. Visiting Alma Cole, were Ruth and Roger Barton from Harlingen, Red Copper from San Angelo, Francis Clark from Sagerton, Ladain Anderson from Houston, and Tommy Jo Clark from Abilene. Mattie Cooks visitors were Shirley and Joe Hill and boys from Kermit, Angala and Jennifer Aycock from Abilene.

Brenda, Sue, and Charles Bradford from Peacock visited with Ethel Bradford. Charity Bradley had Linda Rose from California, Roland Rose from Abilene, Jack Sessions and wife from Elk City, Oklahoma, and Foris Neely from Stamford. Visiting Natalie Dippel and Adaline Letz were, Thomas Letz and family, Peggy Callicoate from Midland and Roger and Betty Letz from Fort Worth. And visiting with Faye Woodson was Sid and Nancy Woodson from Dirby.

Sewing at home for savings takes careful planning to make sure the investment pays off. "Consider the value of the time spent sewing as well as your out-of-pocket costs," says Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. Sewing children's garments is usually more economical than buying them. This is because children's clothes are often simple, have less detail, require little fabric and have a short life use. Creative recycling of clothes that need updating or fitting adjustments can also save money, she points out. Sewing custom-made articles for the home, such as draperies for an odd-sized window or slipcovers for an odd-sized sofa, result in a significant savings, Fonseca says. Good draperies with linings damaged by the sun can also be re-lined to save the cost of having to re-invest in new ones. In addition, careful selection of styles and patterns will save sewing time and supplies, notes the specialist. For example, special patterns for knits often feature styles with no zipper, facing, interfacing or darts. "When shopping for fabrics, always buy with use in mind. Quality fabrics may make up more attractively and hold their beauty longer, but it could be more economical to choose a less expensive fabric if the outfit is to be worn only a few times," Fonseca says. Sales of fabrics and notions usually appeal to economy-minded sewers. But bargains often remain unused and therefore lose their savings potential, reminds the specialist. When buying sale fabric for future use, choose colors you already have in your wardrobe, and classic designs rather than those topping the current fashion scene. Also check for off-grain fabrics, especially if designs require matching, and know yardage requirements before you buy, she advises. Fonseca also recommends reusing patterns with a different fabric, neckline or sleeve change to get more mileage out of them. Try special patterns for knits. Some brands have several sizes on one pattern and can be used to accommodate figure variations, she says.

Morning exercise on the porch. Edna Collins, Leola McCollum, Charity Bradley, and Ethel Bradford.

Review Home Safety With Children Staying At Home

With the beginning of the school year, many youngsters will be staying home alone after school while parents are at work. "Once parents have decided their child is mature enough to stay alone, it's their responsibility to teach safety habits," says Dorothy Taylor, a family life specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. "Even children who have stayed by themselves in past school years probably need to review safety precautions," she adds. Taylor advises parents to cover the following areas of home safety with their youngsters:

- Have at least one home fire drill to be sure there are two escape routes. Instruct children that they must not try to put out a fire, but should get out of the house immediately and go to a neighbor's to get help in calling the fire department.
- Review phone procedures and have emergency numbers visible and attached to the phone or wall. Have the child check-in by phone with a parent

- Establish basic home safety rules about using the stove, microwave or other appliances, and climbing on furniture or ladders. Teach them to never play with matches, guns or sharp knives.
- Designate a set area, such as a fenced back yard, where the child is allowed to play. Set as a rule that friends are not allowed to come over and play until parents return home.
- In all safety talks, emphasize what children can do to protect themselves, rather than the bad things that might happen to a person," Taylor says. A calm, matter-of-fact approach to this new time in a variety of activities including children mature and develop a sense of personal security and safety, the specialist explains.

Wool Contest Set For State Fair

The beauty and versatility of wool will be the focus for the "Texas Make-It-Yourself With Wool" Contest for 1985. The contest is sponsored annually by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Auxiliary, Texas Department of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council. Purpose of the annual contest is to encourage the use of wool in sewing, knitting and crocheting fashionable garments. It also offers young experts the opportunity to compete for prizes and win recognition.

District competition is held in 8 areas of Texas during September and October. State competition will be Saturday, October 19 at the State Fair of Texas. Anyone may enter. Categories for competition are determined by age and include Preteen - ages 10-13; Junior - ages 14-16; Senior - ages 17-21; and Adults - over 21. The District III Contest will be October 5th at the Sunset Mall in San Angelo. For more information, call Jean Holland, Tom Green County Extension Agent, 653-2385, or write 113 W. Beauregard, San Angelo, Texas 76903-5887.

Q. One morning, I spoon-fed my infant about half a jar of baby food, and the next day when I took the jar out of the refrigerator, the food had a liquid consistency. Why did that happen?

A. The baby's saliva can turn certain foods to liquid. It is transferred from the spoon to the food, and the saliva begins to digest the food. That is one reason a baby should not be spoon-fed directly from a jar of baby food.

When feeding baby, if only a portion of a jar of baby food is being served, remove it from the jar and serve it in a feeding dish. This practice helps preserve the taste and texture of the food and retains its nutritional value.

Also, never return uneaten portions of food to the original jar. Bacteria from the baby's mouth can contaminate the food and promote spoilage.

Mustard first appeared in paste form in 1720. It was sold by Mrs. Clements of Durham, England, in earthenware pots covered with parchment from legal documents.

"Come-As-You-Are" Breakfast Given For Senior Girls

The Haskell senior girls were kidnapped from their homes last Wednesday morning. They were taken by Pam Weise and Rebecca Holt for a surprise come-as-you-are breakfast. Rebecca and Pam started kidnapping the girls about 5 a.m. They were taken to Rebecca Holts' house for a picture taking, eating, and reminiscing their earlier years of school. Pam and Rebecca returned all the girls safe and sound by 7 a.m. Grabbit. Colorful magnetic paper clip holder. Scattered clips? Pick them up with Grabbit. Ideal for pins for the seamstress, too! Haskell Free Press.

TEXAS TRAILS
LONE STAR STATE HISTORY by DAN BROWN

BURIED STANDING ...
Colonists who came to Texas in 1821 had to be hearty, independent men. Briton Bailey was a shining example of these traits. Bailey's will left the following instructions about his burial: "bury me standing up and facing west. I've never looked up to any man yet, and when I'm dead I don't want anybody saying, 'Here lies Brit Bailey.' " They buried him standing up, his rifle by his side and a jug of whiskey at his feet.

Brownies Are Good Sports

Fall brings out the sports fan in all of us. When the crowd gathers for the hometown game, why not provide them with some versatile, portable snacks?

Brownies are ideal for arm-chair quarterbacks to munch during game time or to tote to the stadium for picnicking or tailgating. Home economists in the Betty Crocker Kitchens have developed two recipes guaranteed to please any crowd.

Everyone will be a fan of Peanut Butter Chip brownies. This classic combination of chocolate and peanut butter is a real winner, and a great snack idea.

You'll score big points, too, with Brownie Delight brownies. A slightly fancier treat, these are ideal to serve as a classy dessert following a post-game dinner.

Peanut Butter Chip Brownies

1 package Betty Crocker brownie supreme mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup)

1/4 cup water

1 egg

1/2 cup peanut butter chips

Peanut Butter Frosting (below)

Heat oven to 350°. Grease bottom only of rectangular pan, 13x9x2 inches. Stir brownie mix (dry), Chocolate Flavor Syrup, water, egg and peanut butter chips with spoon just until mix is moistened. Spread in pan.

Bake 27 to 30 minutes. (Do not overbake. Appearance or touch does not indicate when brownies are done.) Cool 2 hours. Frost with Peanut Butter Frosting. Cut into bars, about 2 1/2x1 1/2 inches, 30 brownies.

Peanut Butter Frosting: Mix 1 cup (about 1/2 tub) vanilla ready-to-spread frosting, 1/3 cup peanut butter and 2 to 3 teaspoons milk until of spreading consistency.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Stir 1/4 cup all-purpose flour into brownie mix (dry).

Brownie Delight Squares

1 package Betty Crocker brownie supreme mix (with can of Chocolate Flavor Syrup)

2 egg whites

1 cup packed brown sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla

1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

3 tablespoons grated unsweetened chocolate

Heat oven to 350°. Prepare Cakelike Brownies as directed on package. Spread in pan. Bake 20 minutes. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in brown sugar. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Beat in vanilla; fold in nuts.

Carefully spread over brownies. Bake 10 minutes longer; sprinkle with chocolate. Cool; cut into squares, about 2x2 inches, 24 squares.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Heat oven to 350°. Prepare Cakelike Brownies as directed in high altitude directions on package. Continue as directed except — after baking brownies 20 minutes, increase oven temperature to 400°.

Betty Crocker is a registered trademark of General Mills, Inc.

For smooth gravy, combine equal parts of flour and cornstarch. Put three or four tablespoons in a jar and add about a half-cup of water. Shake and in a few minutes you'll have a smooth paste to turn into gravy.

CONSUMER ALERT

by
Jim Mattox
Attorney General

Getting Tough on Nursing Home Violations

Advocates of nursing home reform have reason to hope for more effective monitoring of the industry, thanks to laws that go into effect September 1.

Last year my Planning and Research division held seven public hearings around the state to consult health care consumers for needed changes in the laws regulating nursing homes. Consumers' ideas for improvement and reforms that had previously failed to pass were sorted out to form the basis for the amendments I requested. We have Senator Chet Edwards (D-Duncanville) to thank for a superb job of guiding the reforms through the legislative process.

ADMINISTRATIVE FINES

Perhaps the most important amendment provides for administrative fines instead of costly lawsuits whenever a nursing home violates Health Department standards. Under the new regulations, the Health Dept. may assess penalties of up to $10,000 for each day of a continuing violation.

TOUGHER INSPECTIONS

One of the major concerns expressed during the public hearings we held was the need for after-hours inspection of nursing homes. The new law specifies that some of the unannounced inspections must be made at random between the hours of 5 pm and 8 am.

When an unannounced inspection is planned, my Office can now be notified and may accompany the inspector. The inspector will now have the authority to take photographs and to photocopy all relevant evidence of conditions that threaten the health and safety of a patient.

The Health Dept. will now be required to summarize each inspection report and must assure that copies of the summaries are made available to consumers, patients and their relatives.

TRUST FUND SET UP

Occasionally due to serious violations of the law, a trustee is appointed by the court to operate a nursing home. But in some cases funds are not available to meet the basic needs of residents. To solve this problem, the new law establishes a trust fund to assist the court-appointed trustee in meeting the patients' basic needs. The fund is to be created by assessing a fee of $1 for each licensed bed in the state, and any facility that receives funds from the trust must repay within a year.

WHEN A HOME CLOSES

If a nursing home voluntarily closes, the residents and their families must now be notified in writing within five days of the decision to close. But if a home is closed involuntarily, notification does not have to be in writing and must be made within a "reasonable time."

POSTING INFORMATION

Each nursing home will now be required to post the following items in a public area of the facility that is readily accessible to residents, employees and visitors:

- the license to operate
- a sign that explains the procedures for filing a complaint against the nursing home
- a notice that inspection reports and related reports are available at the nursing home for public inspection
- a notice of the Health Dept.'s toll free number to be used to obtain information about the facility
- a concise summary of the most recent inspection report on that nursing home.

ENFORCING THE LAW

With over 100,000 licensed nursing home beds in the state, policing the industry can only be accomplished with help from the general public. Anyone who witnesses abuse or neglect in a nursing home should call the toll free hotline and report it to the Health Dept. The toll free number is 1-800-252-9106. They will investigate any complaint filed and will not reveal the identity of the person making the complaint if you request that it not be revealed. And the new law also prohibits retaliation against anyone—including an employee—who reports violations.

Arbor Day Foundation Offering Free Shade Trees

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving ten free shade trees to people who become Foundation members during September, 1985.

The free trees are part of the Foundation's effort to promote fall tree planting throughout America.

A Sugar Maple, Weeping Willow, Red Oak, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Pin Oak, Silver Maple, Tuliptree,

European Mountainash, and Red Maple tree will be given to members joining during September. The six to twelve inch trees will be shipped this fall at the right time for planting between October 15 and December 10. They will be sent postage paid with enclosed planting instructions.

These trees were selected because they provide shade and beauty, and a variety of forms, leaf shapes, and fall colors, according to John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director. They are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

The National Arbor Day Foundation, a nonprofit organization, is working to improve the quality of life throughout the country by encouraging tree planting. The Foundation will give the ten free trees to members contributing $10 during September. To become a member of the foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to SHADE TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by September 30, 1985.

Treasure From First Texans Discovered In Central Texas

A treasure hunter's dreams are coming true in a small, clear lake in Central Texas. Twenty feet below the surface the bottom is divided into two-meter squares with a diver in each grid. A red-breasted sunfish floats over a diver and takes a nip at his escaping air bubbles. Dr. Joel Shiner never notices the fish, never even lifts his head when the glass bottom boats cruise overhead. As he clears another little patch of silt by working his hands to and fro, his eyes remain glued to the lake bottom.

Dr. Shiner is on an unusual treasure hunt. Not for gold doubloons or silver pieces-of-eight. His quest is for treasure far more valuable than precious metal. He is looking for the remnants of a race of people that first inhabited Texas 12,000 years ago. He searches for Clovis Man.

Dr. Shiner is an underwater archeologist who has made the lake bottom at Aquarena Springs his second home since 1979. After being tipped off by an amateur archeologist of numerous points and relics that were discovered in the San Marcos River, Shiner did a quick survey just below the dam. After a few days of scavenging Shiner realized he was onto something important. With a digging permit from the Texas Antiquities Commission, a team of his archeology students, and permission from Aquarena Springs, the search for the first Texas inhabitants began.

Since the beginning, the entire project has been blessed with the luck archeologists pray for. When settlers first built a dam below the springs of the San Marcos in 1845, they created Spring Lake. What they didn't know was by inundating the headwaters of the river they sealed 12,000 years of historical artifacts in a liquid time capsule.

Since 1946, when the glass bottom boats first ferried tourists over the clear lake to observe the unique collection of flora and fauna that inhabit the lake, Aquarena Springs has also unknowingly helped the dig. By protecting the fragile underwater environment and minimizing modern man's influence on the lake, they made Shiner's search much easier.

When the dig began, Shiner was amazed at the magnetic appeal of the San Marcos area. As the excavation probed deeper into the bedrock they found artifacts from every major culture that lived in Texas. The top layers held the remains of modern anglo settlers and as the team continued downward, the relics of Comanches, Apaches, Spanish conquistadores, and Archaic Indians were discovered. Bison teeth that dated back 3,000 years were also found.

On one hot June day, after one of his assistants boasted "I feel lucky today, I'm going to find a Clovis point," not one but two priceless Clovis points were uncovered. Carbon-14 dating, which can accurately measure old archeological finds, placed the age of the points at 12,000 years. The creators of those points were the people

Shiner wanted to get to know.

The story of the Clovis Indians was an interesting one. Once they perfected their deadly lanceolate point, they could kill even the largest of the three-ton mammoths if aimed at the Atlas vertebra in the neck. They would feast on the mountain of meat until it spoiled, then it was time to catch up with the next herd of mammoths, mastadons, giant bison, or even giant armadillos.

The Indians followed the migratory animals and eventually roamed across Siberia to Alaska via a land bridge that existed when the sea level was 200 below its present level. Leaving some of their points to be found thousands of years later near the town of Clovis, New Mexico—hence the designation Clovis Indians—they crossed the Canadian and Red Rivers into Texas.

In Central Texas they came upon a clear, tiny river amid some rolling hill country. The river's headspring fountained out of the ground. The weather was cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter than in modern times. The land was fertile and lush, and game could be easily ambushed at the river. For possibly the first time in their long migratory history, this tribe of ancient Indians decided to stay for a while.

Shiner is convinced the Clovis tribe remained at San Marcos longer than most of their migratory stops and may have even used the area for a semi-permanent camp. The amount of recovered artifacts seems to back up his theory. Over 50,000 items have been brought up from the lake with only ten percent of the bottom explored.

"You have to remember they were a nomadic people with a deadly weapon," Shiner said of the Clovis Indians. "Their calling card was a pile of bones and, if archeologists were real lucky, perhaps they found a point embedded into one of the bones. They never stayed put long enough for scientists to do a humanistic study on the race. Aquarena Springs may be one of the few sites where we can study how these people lived on a day to day basis."

"It's no surprise the Indians settled here," Shiner added. "They saw beauty, game and mild weather. I'd sum it up this way: anyone who left the San Marcos River to live anywhere else was a damn fool."

The years of underwater digging have not left Dr. Shiner unmarked. He has lost a lung and undergone bypass surgery since his work began here. When he is in San Marcos, he still dives seven hours a day, seven days a week in the shallow lake. After teaching anthropology for 21 years at Southern Methodist University, Shiner retired in May. He plans to continue the Aquarena excavation for several years, working two weeks underwater then taking two weeks off.

After the artifact studies are completed, Dr. Shiner will turn the antiquities over to Aquarena Springs. They plan to open a free museum where the public can view the relics of all the cultures that visited the San Marcos River.

Until then, Dr. Shiner can be seen from Aquarena Springs' glass bottom boats. In an ironic way it is not surprising that his underwater excavation has become another popular attraction at Aquarena. Like the Clovis Indians he is searching for, Dr. Shiner has found something in the water of the Aquarena Springs that makes him want to stay.

Aquarena Springs is located on IH 35 between Austin and San Antonio. For further information write to P.O. Box 2330, San Marcos, TX 78666 or call 512-396-8900.

If all the hamburgers Americans eat each year were stretched out side by side, they could circle the earth four times.

Tips For Farmers To Survive Into The 1990's

What must a farmer do to survive financially into the 1990's?

Dr. Bill Black, an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, outlines a few key points for economic survival in farming as he views changes in the coming years.

"First, become part of an integrated system--the most common way to forward contract," Black advises farmers. "Find a home for what you produce before you plant. Make your products more consumer-ready. And let the buyer finance part of your production."

"Learn to manage a business, not just a farm," Black emphasizes. "You can't rely on land appreciation for equity accumulation."

The economist also advises farmers to "be on top of technological changes in biotechnology and management and economic developments. Be an early adopter."

In addition, "be outlook-oriented--futuristic," Black emphasizes. "Plan for the future. Seek information and analyze what information you get. Be aggressive but sound."

"Control risk and exposure--either by selling ahead or pricing ahead," adds the economist.

"Grow as fast as your equity permits, and remember, increased equity won't come from rising land prices."

"Finally, spend more time managing than riding the tractor. Don't produce for an unknown market," says Black.

In the years ahead, farmers will be faced with increased price variability, Black points out. World market prices will fluctuate and loan rates will not carry farm prices.

Because of tight credit and competition from other countries, both domestic and export markets for agricultural products will experience slow growth, adds the economist. U.S. farmers will be influenced primarily by world markets and conditions.

"Surplus conditions will continue to plague U.S. farmers, thus keeping farm prices down," says Black. "And real interest rates will remain relatively high while land values will continue stagnant."

He also foresees a move toward more integration in agriculture, with fewer farm products passing rapid technological changes in both crop and livestock production.

The economist says that fewer and fewer farmers will produce most of this nation's food and fiber in the years ahead. Most of these will be the ones who take early advantage of

And efforts will continue to be made to take the government out of agriculture, but these will likely have little success, Black notes.

This is not an engineer's dream, but merely an artist's idea of what an advanced airliner of the 1990s could look like. Boeing is studying several areas of technology that will become available in commercial aviation around 1991, all of which could be incorporated into a very fuel-efficient airplane in the 140-160 passenger size. They include increased use of lightweight composite structures, lithium-aluminum alloys, simpler electronic systems and free-fan (advanced propfan) engines. The combination promises to reduce by half the fuel required to carry each passenger one mile, compared to airliners of the 1980s.

Texas Crime Rate Shows Increase

The crime rate and number of major crimes reported in Texas during the first half of 1985 increased, according to statistics furnished by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Compared to the first six months of 1984, the crime rate for the first half of 1985 was up eight per cent to 3,111.7 crimes per hundred thousand population," said Colonel Jim

Adams, DPS director. "The number of major index crimes reported for the same period was 497,524, an increase of almost 10 per cent."

All major crime categories showed increases in the number of offenses reported.

Rape led the four violent crime categories, increasing 13.8 per cent. Aggravated assault, murder and robbery were up 9.6 per cent, 8.7 per cent and 3.1 per cent respectively.

"Motor vehicle thefts rose 12.4 per cent," Adams pointed out. "Burglary increased 8.3 per cent and theft was up 10.6 per cent."

Of the total index crimes reported, 21 per cent were cleared by arrests in the first half of 1985. The value of property stolen during the commission of the index crimes was estimated at over 585 million dollars, with approximately 230 million dollars in stolen property recovered by police.

"Two Texas law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty by criminal action in the first six months of this year," Adams said. "Two officers lost their lives in duty-related accidents." The DPS also said a total of 1,733 assaults on officers were reported.

DWI arrests in the first half of 1985 were up 2.6 per cent, totaling 68,717. Drug arrests increased 14.4 per cent to 31,913.

The crime statistics were derived from reports submitted by 790 law enforcement agencies in the state.

Main Street Conference Set In Austin Oct. 1-2

Armed with a growing awareness of the importance of revitalizing lying downtowns, many city officials, merchants, and other preservationists from across the state are making plans to attend this year's Main Street conference sponsored by the Texas Historical Commission.

Set for October 1-2 at the Riskill Hotel in Austin, the conference theme is "The Action's Back on Main Street." Workshop sessions will cover a number of topics including how to renovate historic buildings, solve parking problems, develop a downtown sign ordinance, and arouse the interest of the community.

Special guests at the conference will include keynote speaker Tom Moriarity, a senior associate with Halcyon Ltd.

in Washington, D.C., who will discuss "Downtown's Future in a Changing Decade." John C. Williams, a well-known retail consultant from Toronto, Canada, will share information on "Retailing in downtown in the 80's."

Other activities include a tour of Hannig Row in Austin and a special "Conversations at Lunch" event, which will allow participants to visit with conference speakers, Main Street managers, and other Main Street Department staff. Wrapping up the conference will be a tour of downtown Brenham (89 miles east of Austin), which will provide participants with an opportunity to tour restored downtown buildings and visit with merchants.

Conference registration fee is $100 plus $13 for "Conversations at Lunch." For more information, contact the THC, Main Street Dept., P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711, 512/475-4407.

The following events, selected by Mari Schnell of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, are but a few of the many excellent recreational opportunities offered by communities across the state.

Aug. 31-Sept. 2 — Alamo Village 25th Annual Labor Day Weekend, Brackettville. A rip-roaring weekend is planned in this frontier town built for John Wayne's epic, "The Alamo," with shoot-outs, coach rides and live entertainment. Covered wagons and buckboards will roll by as visitors saunter through an old-time jail, cantina, blacksmith shop and other old-West buildings. On Monday, you may eat your fill of barbeque while waiting for the Western Style Horse Races. Guest musicians will be Valentino and the Shahan Express and Bobbie Harper. Admission to the village: $5 adults; $2.50 children 6-12, under 6 free. For more information contact Alamo Village, Box 528, Brackettville 78832 (512-563-2580).

Houston Symphony Orchestra, Houston. The winner of the First Rubinstein Piano Competition, Emanuel Ax, will open the Winter Series in Jones Hall performing Liszt's Piano Concerto No. 2 on Sept. 7 & 9 as well as playing selections by Tchaikovsky and others on the Sunday Classical Hits Series on Sept. 8. The T-G-I-Friday Series begins Sept. 27 with Choliang Lin, violinist, performing Rossini, Brahms and Dvorak. Complete schedule from Houston Symphony, 615 Louisiana, Houston 77002 (713-224-4240).

Sept. 6-14 — West Texas Fair & Rodeo, Abilene. Events include horse, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and goat shows; donkey and mule show (added event this year); agriculture and horticulture exhibits; tractor pulls and other contests and parade. Wild west rodeos will be performed at 8 p.m. Sept. 9-14. General admission: $5 adults; $2.50 children 6-16, under 6 free. For information and tickets contact

West Texas Fair, Box 5527, Abilene 79608 (915-677-4376).

Sept. 7-8 — Ennis Aquafest, Ennis. World champion and Cypress Garden skiers will perform parachute skiing, sky diving, water ballet, trick skiing and jumping and barefoot skiing on Lake Clark. Other events include speedboat races, slalom water skiing exhibitions and boat show. Two shows daily at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Concessions on grounds. Admission: $4 adults; children under 10 free. More information: Chamber of Commerce, Box 1177, Ennis 75119 (214-875-2625).

Sept. 7-8 — Septemberfest '85, Museum of the Southwest, Midland. Amid colorful tents and booths on the grounds of the museum, some 70 juried artists and craftsmen from throughout the nation will display their paintings, sculpture, jewelry, pottery and woodwork. Entertainment, fun run, traditional food and a special children's area with pony rides, petting zoo, Hot Wheels races and make-up booth offer fun for the entire family. Tickets: $2 adults; children free. Proceeds will benefit museum projects. More details from Cynthia Patterson, Museum of the Southwest, 1705 W. Missouri, Midland 79701 (915-682-9606).

Sept. 19-22 — Republic of Texas Chilympiad, San Marcos. The CASI (Chili Appreciation Society, International)-sanctioned state chili cookoff offers competition in several divisions where showmanship is as important as the recipe. Winner of the Men's State Cookoff on Saturday is eligible to enter the international competition Nov. 2 in Terlingua. (Texas State Ladies Chili Cookoff will be held Oct. 5 at the General Store in Lukenbach.) Other divisions include junior, collegiate, media, and chambers of commerce and other organizations. Big-name country/western entertainers each night, including Mo Bandy and Joe Stampley and Bob Wills' Original Texas Playboys. General admission: $2 adults; children under 12 free; concerts $4-8. For details contact Chamber of Commerce, Box 2310, San Marcos 78666 (512-396-2495).

Sept. 22-28 — International Aerobatic Club National Competition and Air Show, Denison. Some 100 entrants from across the country will fly their small single engine planes to Grayson County Airport to compete for national championship. Competition in four categories of precision flying, inside a box of horizontal and vertical limits, will include snap and vertical rolls, hammerhead, Cuban-Eight (vertical figure 8), figures and free style. The air show on Saturday will feature aerobatic winners, military fly-in, antique aircraft, displays and parachutists. Admission: competition free; show, $3 per person or $5 carload. Concessions on grounds. More details from Anna Weger, Chamber of Commerce, Box 325, Denison 75020 (214-465-1551).

Sept. 27-28 — Texas International Wine Classic, Lubbock. Now in its second year, this unique event in Texas will feature entrants from most of Texas' 16 wineries as well as vintners from California, the Northwest and the East Coast. Knowledgeable speakers and seminars will provide information on the wide varieties and uses of wine, and the emerging wine industry in Texas. Opportunities to experiment and learn about wines will be offered at the Grand Wine Tasting on Friday night, the Champagne Brunch on Saturday morning and the black-tie, gourmet dining with appropriate wines on Saturday night. For ticket and other information contact Grey Lewis, Chamber of Commerce, Box 561, Lubbock 79408 (806-763-4666).

County "Bug" Scoop

By Paula Verden

By Paula Verden
 Another peak bollworm egg lay is expected somewhere around August 28th. After this egg lay, we should start seeing small worms the first three or four days in September.

We didn't catch all of the fields this last time while the worms were small so let's be ready in September. The small to medium worms are much easier to control than the large ones. By small to medium worms, I mean less than 1/4 inch to 1/2 inch size. Ammo, Cymbush and Pydrin have worked well on worm populations.

The boll weevil numbers are picking up in traps and fields, so don't forget about them or about what they can do!!! Weevils are reaching damaging levels! Damage in some fields is 25 percent and higher!

Emory Boring III, Area Entomologist for District 3 gives us the following boll weevil control measure information:

Begin applying insecticide for control of boll weevils when 25 percent of the squares are punctured. Boll weevil control may not be needed in fields where most of the bolls are 12 days old or older. A boll 12 days old is about one inch in diameter, and it is safe from boll weevil damage. Insecticidal applications only kill adult weevils, and applications will probably be needed at about 5 day intervals to keep emerging boll weevils from causing excessive square and boll damage. Remember at this point in the growing season, boll protection is the primary objective. The information given herein is for educational purposes only. Reference to commercial products or trade names is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension Service is implied.

Again, if you have any questions, feel free to call me or come by my office in the Fisher County Courthouse, Room 109, Paula Verden, Extension Agent-Entomology (PM) Phone 915-776-2706.

The Haskell Foursquare Church will present the Bates Family Singers in concert Sunday morning Sept. 8th at 10:00 a.m. The Bates Family Singers consists of Sandy 17, Melissa 15, and their mother Estalee. They began their singing ministry by going to convalescent homes when the children were very young. They have since recorded two albums and minister continually. They are very well known and great blessing to all who hear them. The pastors and members of the Foursquare Church would like to extend an open invitation to all to attend this special service.

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm:

It's our farms, our families, and our communities at stake!

Let us vote!

We beseech you to support S1083/HR2383, the Harkin/Alexander "Farm Reform Act of 1985," and give us a chance to vote for:

- (1) Mandatory production controls to balance supply with demand;
- (2) Price floors (CCC loan rates) set at 70% of parity to cover production costs ($3.60 corn, $8.96 soybeans, $4.95 wheat);
- (3) Eliminating subsidy payments, slashing $8-10 billion from the deficit, and allowing us to earn our livings from the marketplace instead of from taxpayers.

The Food & Agricultural Policy Research Institute at Iowa State and the University of Missouri say the "Reform Act" would cost far less than any alternative, increase net farm income by 52% and increase export value by $5 billion.

Market-clearing prices are farmer-clearing prices!
 Don't sell us out!

Let us vote!

You have certain rights when you order by mail that you do not have when you order by phone. The Mail Roder Rule states that a company must ship merchandise by the promised date. If no date is advertised, the company must ship within 30 days after receiving the order.

If a company cannot ship on time, they are required to ask whether you will agree to a new shipping date or whether you would rather cancel your order and receive a prompt refund. If you don't reply, they can assume you agree a delay of up to 30 days. But if the delay is more than 30 days or a second delay occurs, you must respond, or they have to refund your money.

In the event that you have a problem or disagreement about your purchase, contact your local U.S. Postal Service Inspector. The Postal Inspector is responsible for enforcing some of the laws concerning purchases by mail. But in most cases the Postal Inspector cannot help with orders made by phone. And while the FTC cannot handle individual complaints, they are interested in knowing of problems so that they can determine whether a pattern of complaints is developing against certain companies.

There are a number of ways to protect yourself before you order by mail. Call your Better Business Bureau or local consumer agency and ask them about the company's sales record and reliability. If you are going to order by phone, make sure you know the company and its reputation well.

Never buy merchandise based solely on a photograph. Study the written description and call or write the company about questions concerning service, warranty, or replacement. That's a good use of a toll-free number. Be sure to ask for a written copy of their service, warranty, and replacement policies. Then place the order by mail.

Mail Order Rights suggests that it is always a good idea to pay by check, money order, or credit card so you have a written record of your purchase. You should keep records of all the correspondence you have with the company, including a copy of any order form. You should also keep a copy of the advertisement.

Shopping by mail can be an efficient and positive experience. If you deal with a reputable company and know your rights, shopping by mail should be as easy as opening your mailbox.

When you send for your free copy of Mail Order Rights, you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 200 free and moderately priced booklets on everything from employment to housing, from health to financial planning, from small children to small business.

No segment of the economy has ever been challenged to change so fast and so completely as has the new agriculture.

Never in American history have so many innovations been adopted in such a short time.

When these changes have required capital, your Federal Land Bank Association has been a primary source of funds. We recognize the inevitability of change — except in the importance of the man and the land. We also believe that a free agriculture — based on the family farm — will continue to flourish in any new environment.

OUT OF BUSINESS

Getting in and out of business is a little like hiring and firing employees. Most of us find it rather easy to hire people and very difficult to tell them they are no longer needed. This same pattern seems to follow when trying to decide when to get out of business.

There are a number of good reasons for going into business, and there are a number of good reasons for getting out.

One of the most common reasons for the need to get out of business is that you should never have gone into the business to begin with. Either you are unqualified for the nature of the business or the business was never feasible in the first place.

You started by taking all of your savings, which were just a little less than necessary to get into business, borrowed additional funds from the bank, and you were off and rolling. A few months later you borrowed additional operating capital from the banker after convincing him that everything was going to work out super.

At this stage, you will try to bury any feeling that you may have made a mistake in starting the business. You will probably ride it out until your investment is consumed in operating losses. Roughly 10,000 businesses a year fail in this country, and most of those make the decision to shut down after they have depleted their investment and the banker's loans.

The SBA and the Department of Commerce publish statistics on the population size required to support a given type of business. If it takes a 50,000 population to support a given business and you're trying to operate it in a community of 3000 people, you're fighting a losing battle. You may need to do an "after the fact" feasibility study.

FARM POLICY REFORM ACT OF 1985 WOULD SET COMMODITY PRICE FLOORS NEAR LEVELS WHEN REAGAN TOOK OFFICE

The following table allows for easy comparison of (1) the January, 1948, Ft. Worth, Texas, prices of five major storable commodities as reported in the Lubbock Avalanche, (2) the March, 1985, U.S. average market prices of eight storable commodities, (3) the prices of the same eight commodities (both actual and inflation-adjusted) in the month the Reagan Administration took office, and (4) the initial 70%-of-parity price floor levels which the Farm Policy Reform Act of 1985 would set for these commodities (based here on the parity prices for these commodities in March of 1985).
