

Vo must be registered

Unregistered voters wishing to vote in the upcoming elections must do so 30 days prior to the elections in order to be eligible, says Bobbye Collins, county tax assessor-collector.

This group includes new residents of the county, newly eligible citizens who have reached their 18th birthdays or who will be 18 on or before the election and previous voters who have allowed their registrations to lapse.

New voters may register prior to their 18th birthdays as long as they will be 18 on or before the election.

The first local elections in Haskell will be Saturday, April 5, when two members of the Haskell Independent School District's Board of Trustees and the mayor and two council members for the City of Haskell will be elected.

The county-wide Democratic primary will be Saturday, May 3.

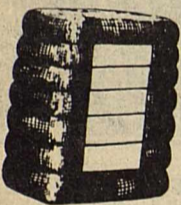

As of this week, the assessor-collector's office showed 4,722 registered voters in Haskell County, but Mrs. Collins said this number will change soon when voters' records are brought up to date.

Flashback

There was a building boom in Haskell in 1921.

The Christian Church's new 60-90 foot building, erected at a cost of $25,000, provided the largest assembly room in the county.

A new high school building was constructed at a cost of $38,000.

The City issued bonds for $30,000 to pay for its share of the paving of the square, and $20,000 for enlarging the water mains around the square.

At one time in 1921, more than $180,000 in construction was going on.

Many items of Haskell County history will be included in the centennial issue of the Haskell Free Press in June. If you know of something which should be included, please let us know.

Junior livestock show set for Friday, Saturday

Judging of poultry, rabbits and sheep will kick off the annual Haskell County Junior Livestock Show here Friday. Judging of those entries will begin at 4 p.m. Friday.

Following the sheep judging, at approximately 6:30 p.m., the swine entries will be judged.

The beef show is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday with the annual sale set to begin at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

Immediately preceding the sale will be a dedication ceremony of the new building at the fairgrounds. The building was completed last fall as a memorial to the late C.A. Thomas, one of the chief promoters of the annual livestock show. County Judge B.O. Roberson will preside over the dedication ceremonies which the public is invited to attend.

All FFA and 4-H students of Haskell County, including those in the schools in Haskell, Rule, Rochester, Paint Creek and Weinert, are eligible to compete in the livestock show. Haskell vocational agriculture instructor Duane Gilly said that 300 to 350 students would enter animals in the show.

Consigned to Saturday afternoon's sale will be 36 hogs, 25 lambs, 16 steers, five pens of broiler chickens and five pens of fryer rabbits.

Last year's sale and premium contributions netted county youngsters a little more than $37,000, Gilly said. He said he hopes that this year's sale will be as good or better.

Members of the Livestock Assn. will cook and serve hamburgers, along with other concessions, throughout the two-day event.

Don't dump ashes in city dumpsters!

Haskell residents should not dump ashes from their fireplaces in the city's dumpsters, City Administrator Robert Baker said Tuesday.

Baker said that on two recent occasions, city trucks have caught fire when ashes were dumped in with other trash.

"Neither incident was serious," said the administrator, "but we're afraid the next one might be."

Vic Lowry retires as game warden

Vic Lowry retired Jan. 1 after 31 years of service to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept.

After completing game warden studies at Texas A&M University in the mid-50s, Lowry and his family moved from Quanah to Jayton where he served as game warden for Kent, Stonewall, Garza and Haskell counties.

In 1963, he was assigned to Knox City where he has worked Knox, King and Cottle counties for the past 22 years.

District employees honored Lowry and his wife, Norma, with a retirement party Jan. 5. He was presented a commemorative plaque and Mrs. Lowry was presented a silver compact and a Texas-shaped gold nugget.

Lowry said he had enjoyed his job and the years he had spent enforcing the game laws. He said he had never taken promotions which have been offered because he did not want a desk job. He said he loved the outdoors and working with landowners too much to leave for the big city.

Lowry has one case pending in court. After this is resolved, he said he would be turning his thoughts to spending more time with his family, traveling and farming his 130-acre farm north of Knox City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowry's daughter, Vickie Josselet, her husband Danny and their children, Cody 9, and Ember 7, live in Haskell. Danny is a farmer and Vickie operates Josselet's Little Kritters.

Rep. Perry announces for re-election

State Representative Rick Perry of Haskell has announced his filing with the state democratic party for re-election to the 64th Legislative District.

A Democrat, Perry currently serves on the Agriculture and Livestock Committee and the Energy Committee.

District 64 consists of Callahan, Haskell, Hood, Palo Pinto, Shackelford, Stephens, Throckmorton and Young counties.

A fund-raiser for Perry is scheduled for Feb. 10 at the Civic Center in Haskell beginning at 6:30 p.m. Speaker of the House Gib Lewis will head a group of Texas legislators expected to attend.

Tickets to the fund-raiser are available from various supporters of Perry. They also will be available at the Civic Center on the evening of the event.

Income tax laws presented to Lions

Lions Club members last Tuesday were brought up to date on new federal income tax laws by an official of H&R Block, the nation's largest income tax preparer.

Gary Jay of Abilene, district manager for H&R Block, explained that the most notable change in this year's regulations has to do with charitable contribution allowances for taxpayers who do not itemize their deductions.

For the first time this year, Jay said those who do not itemize can still deduct one-half of their charitable contributions. There is a line on the 1040 form to report this deduction.

Another significant change this year is the four-percent inflation index allowance for exemptions. As a result of this, each dependent is granted a $1,040 deduction instead of $1,000.

Also being allowed this year is a medical exemption for a non-custodial parent. A divorced or separated parent who pays the medical expenses of a child which lives with the other parent is entitled to deduct those expenses, unless this right is signed away to the custodial parent.

Jay said that travel expenses for medical and charitable functions will be computed at 12 cents a mile, up from the 9 cents which has been allowed.

The H&R Block official was in Haskell visiting with Evelyn Cobb, co-owner of the Haskell branch of the company.

Church has big plans

Haskell Baptists participate in conference

Three leaders of the First Baptist Church of Haskell were among 23,000 Texas Baptists who gathered in Fort Worth Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to set the stage for spiritual awakening and a goal of 100,000 baptisms in 1986.

The Rev. James Densman, Ford Cole and Dan Griffith represented the Haskell church.

The annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference served as a launching pad for Good News America Simultaneous Revival in churches in 1986, the year Texas Baptists celebrate their first century of organized mission work in the state.

"With a goal to baptize 100,000 people in 1986 and our Mission Texas emphasis to begin 2,000 new churches in the state by 1990, we had our greatest evangelism conference in history," said Carlos McLeod, director of evangelism for the 2.3 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Texas Baptist have a theme of "18 percent equals 100,000" for their baptism goal. Each church was encouraged to set a baptism goal equivalent to 18 percent of its average Sunday School attendance.

Key speakers for the three-day conference included, Comedian Jerry Clower, Yazoo City, Miss.; Charles Stanley of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Evangelist Jesse Hendley of Atlanta, Ga.; Robert Coleman of Trinity Evangelical School, Deerfield, Ill.; Ralph Smith, pastor of Hyde Park Church, Austin;

Also, Ravi Zacharias, president of Ravi Zacharias International Ministries, Tucker, Ga.; Evangelist Junior Hill of Hartselle, Ala.; Joel Gregory, pastor of Travis Avenue Church, Fort Worth; Robert Hamblin of the Evangelism Division of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board; John Sullivan, pastor of Broadmoor Church, Shreveport, La.; and Daniel Vestal, pastor of First Church, Midland.

Windbreaks provide numerous benefits

By Paula Verden
[Paula Verden is the extension entomologist for Haskell, Fisher, Jones, Kent and Stonewall counties.]

Windbreaks can help reduce heating and cooling costs in buildings, reduce soil erosion, reduce damage to crops, provide shelter for livestock and improve habitat for wildlife. However, windbreaks that are not planned and maintained properly can also provide an excellent habitat for the overwintering of boll weevils.

Boll weevils overwinter under as little as 0.5 inches of broadleaf litter. Shrubs and evergreens may trap broadleaf litter providing a favorable overwintering habitat. To keep accumulation of litter at a low level, control of the litter must be planned prior to the planting of the windbreak.

Trees and shrubs in the windbreak should be spaced so a tractor or other equipment might be used to destroy the litter. Litter maintenance will be needed each year in windbreaks that contain both evergreen and broadleaf trees. Where evergreens are used exclusively the litter trapped beneath the tree should be inspected periodically to determine if litter blown into the windbreak is accumulating.

The windbreak must be pruned to permit passage of equipment and prevent trapping of leaf litter. Excessive pruning could destroy the effectiveness of the windbreak.

Carefully planning the windbreak will greatly reduce the level of maintenance required to keep litter accumulation and the overwintering of boll weevils at a minimum. As the windbreak matures more maintenance will be required.

If you are planning to develop a windbreak, a publication, "Windbreak Management to Reduce Overwintering Boll Weevil Habitat" is available at your County Extension Agent's office; or you may contact me, at P.O. Box 27; Roby, TX 79543, or call (915) 776-2706.

Teachers to attend workshop in Abilene

A group of teachers from Haskell County will be among more than 60,000 members of the Texas State Teachers Assn. attending workshops this weekend and next to review skills to be tested by the Texas Examination for Current Administrators and Teachers (TECAT).

The test is scheduled to be given to all currently employed professional educators March 10.

Local teachers will attend a workshop in Abilene Saturday afternoon. The workshop begins at 2 p.m. at the Region XIV Education Service Center.

TSTA President Charles Beard said the workshops and preparations for them have been a massive effort on the part of TSTA and NEA.

The workshops will feature a pre-test to determine each individual's strengths and weaknesses, followed by test taking strategies and reading, writing and composition exercises. Following the review section, participants will take a post-test to assure that all materials have been sufficiently covered.

The workshops were designed by staff of TSTA, the National Education Association and the Center for the Study of Testing, Evaluation and Educational Policy at Boston College, a nationally acclaimed testing firm contracted by NEA and TSTA.

The Boston College Center was established in 1980 to meet measurement, research and evaluation needs of government agencies private foundations and private corporations.

Beard said the TSTA tests to be given at the workshops will very closely resemble the actual tests administered by the Texas Education Agency because the Boston College Center has extensive experience in analyzing the testing methods of IOX Assessments, the firm contracted to design the TECAT test.

The Boston College Center's contributions to the TSTA workshops were headed by Dr. George F. Madaus, director of the Center and author of ten books on testing.

"Our goal in these workshops is to make certain that every TSTA member passes the TECAT exam, provided the courts do not take action on our lawsuit to block the administration of the test," President Beard said.

TEN DOLLARS FOR A FLAG . . .

When Mexican General Santa Anna was captured after the Battle of San Jacinto, he taunted his captors with this statement, "Texas claims to have a government, but you do not even have a flag." Krag was paid $10 for the flag drawing.

Book explains garden techniques

As anyone who has ever tried it knows, vegetable gardening in Texas can be either a very frustrating or a very rewarding experience.

This success or failure depends on a combination of many factors, ranging from how you prepare your garden soil to the infamous and unpredictable Texas weather.

In The Vegetable Book: A Texan's Guide to Gardening, Dr. Sam Cotner explains how to minimize the obstacles to good gardening and maximize the chances for producing a bumper crop of vegetables.

Dr. Cotner covers 31 major and 15 minor vegetable crops individually, giving precise information on how to prepare the soil, plant, care for the harvest each vegetable. He emphasizes that planting at the right time and using varieties that are well-adapted to Texas are of paramount importance to successful gardening.

The Vegetable Book also contains 20 easy-to-use appendices, which offer basic "how-to" information on many aspects of gardening, including how to adjust your soil's pH level, how to grow transplants, build your own cold-frames and control garden pests.

Color photos of each vegetable and numerous illustrations help make the book a useful and enjoyable gardening tool. The book is available at garden centers and bookstores or send $26.95 plus $1.38 tax to TG Press, P.O. Box 9005, Waco, TX 76714.

Proclamation encourages book reading

Governor Mark White recently signed a proclamation drawing attention to the Texas State Library's Sesquicentennial campaign, "Read-a-Texas-Book-a-Month."

In the proclamation, Governor White urged Texans to learn more about their state by participating in the reading program and to share this knowledge with other by donating books by or about Texans to local libraries.

Farm price supports revealed

Secretary of Agriculture, John R. Block, has announced provisions of the 1986 price support programs for upland cotton, feed grains, rice, and wheat.

The programs include required acreage reductions of 20 percent for feed grain, 35 percent for rice, 25 percent for wheat, and 25 percent for cotton. Included in these reductions is a 2½ percent paid land diversion for wheat and feed grain producers.

Signup for the farm programs is anticipated to begin in early March.

The 1986 loan rates (per bushel), will be $1.56 for barley, $1.92 for corn, $0.99 for oats, $1.82 for sorghum, $1.63 for rye, and $2.40 for wheat. Loan rates for rice and cotton will be announced later.

Target prices will be the same in 1986 as were in effect for 1985 crops. They are (per bushel): barley, $2.60; corn, $3.03; oats, $1.60; sorghum, $2.88; wheat, $4.38.

Producers are eligible to earn deficiency payments on the acreage planted within the extent permitted. Producers who plant at least 50 percent of the permitted acreage to the program crop and plant the remaining permitted acreage to a nonprogram crop, other than soybeans or extra long staple cotton, will be eligible to receive deficiency payments on 92 percent of the permitted acreage.

Winter wheat producers who reduce the acreage planted to wheat on the farm for harvest so that it does not exceed 65 percent of the farm wheat base may be eligible to receive diversion payments on an acreage equivalent to 10 percent of the wheat base.

Implementation of discretionary provisions relating to payments is commodities and other contractual provisions will be announced later.

Individual producers will be notified of their farm acreage bases and program yields by their county agricultural stabilization and conservation service offices.

Haying and grazing will be permitted on acreage conservation reserve land at the request of individual state ASC committees. However, haying or grazing will not be permitted on the acreage during the five principal growing months as designated by county ASC committees. Block also approved a standby measure authorizing, in the event of a natural disaster, implementation of emergency haying and grazing privileges. Approval of the emergency privileges would be made a needed on a county-by-county basis.

All-state footballers familiar to Haskell

There were no Haskell players on the Texas Sports Writers Assn. Class AA all-state football team announced Sunday, but there were a lot of names familiar to Haskell fans.

No fewer than six members of the Class AA all-state team were from teams which Haskell played during the 1985 season and five more were on the second team.

District 6-AA champion Hamlin put two members on the first team, quarterback Mike Howerton and defensive back Coy McGee. Rotan, another member of district 6-AA, placed tackle Ward Hayes on the first team.

State champion Electra, which Haskell played in its second game, had three members on the first team, running backs Charlie Lott and Brian Seale and linebacker Jeff Standard.

Second-team selections included quarterback Rodney Bell of Electra, running back Edward Willis of Electra and offensive lineman Rod Smith of Hamlin on the offensive team, and end Edward Willis of Electra and tackle Tommy Chase of Hamlin on the defensive unit.

Just in case there's someone who doubts that the Indians played a rugged schedule last fall, five members of Munday's great team were listed on the Class A all-state team and three more were on the second team.

First-team members included tight end Kregg Sanders, tackle Hollis Adams and quarterback Dent Offut on offense; and lineman Hollis Adams and linebacker Ronnie Lawrence on defense.

On the second team were running back Todd Thompson and defensive back Tim Collier.

Eye project offers help to elderly

Failing eyesight is not an inevitable result of growing older. This is the message of the National Eye Care Project (NECP) Helpline, a project designed to bring medical eye care to the nation's needy elderly, which opens in Texas on February 10, 1986.

The NECP offers ophthalmological care to U.S. citizens and legal residents age 65 and over who have medical eye problems, but who don't have a medical eye physician.

Through a toll-free Helpline—1-800-222-EYES—disadvantaged elderly may be eligible for medical care at no out-of-pocket cost to them. Information on eye diseases will be sent to everyone who do not have a medical eye physician will be eligible for an eye examination.

The Eye Care Helpline will open on a region-by-region basis over a six-month period, and will be operating nationwide by July 21. It is sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and the Texas Ophthalmological Assn. The Helpline is supported by voluntary donations from ophthalmologists themselves and by contributions from corporations associated with the eye care profession.

"It's a tragedy that many elderly people lose some of their eyesight because they think that nothing can be done," said John E. Eisenlohr, MD, president of the Texas Ophthalmological Assn.

"The fact is that ophthalmologists often are able to improve vision in the elderly," Dr. Eisenlohr said. "We are now able to repair and even replace certain parts of the eye by using sophisticated surgical tools, like the laser, and important new drug therapies."

It is estimated that half of all blindness is preventable if eye diseases are detected and treated early. The elderly are particularly vulnerable to eye disease. People over 65 constitute approximately 11 percent of the U.S. population, but more than 50 percent of blindness occurs in this group.

Mallwalkers celebrate

Hendrick Medical Center and the Mall of Abilene celebrated the first birthday of the Abilene Mallwalkers at a party at 10, Tuesday, in the J.C. Penney Court of the Mall of Abilene.

About 75 people have joined Abilene Mallwalkers since the last year. As an official mallwalker, members received from mall offices special shoelaces, a diary to log in their miles, a button to identify them to security and special recognition as they reach milestones in their walking.

"This year the Abilene Mallwalkers will have more opportunities to learn about good health with quarterly programs sponsored by Hendrick Medical Center," said Jennifer Gordon, director, community relations. Topics will range from good nutrition, stress management and relaxation training, and Hendrick employees will present the programs, Gordon added.

59 give blood

Fifty-nine persons donated blood last Wednesday when the blood-mobile of the Red River Regional Red Cross Blood Service was in Haskell.

It was the best turnout in the past two years, said Charles Harvey, local blood drive chairman.

"I would like to thank all of the donors who took time out to come by and donate their blood," said Harvey. "Also, I would like to give a big thanks to all the volunteers who helped. We couldn't have done it without them."

Those contributing blood were: Donna B. Cole, Dorothy Cox, Jeanette Albuquerque, Travis

Solomon, Betty Alvarez, George Owens, Gwen Waldon, Robert Bartley and James Whitehead.

Glenn R. Brzozowski, Brian Burgess, Keith Everett, Joe Cortez, Jane Smith, Kendall Larned, Robbie Peiser, Jim Hudson, Merilan Sue Holt and Robert Baker.

Olen King, Joel Fox, Kim Crawford, Jack Gilliland, D.R. Green, Floradean Cockerell, Henry Peden, Tom Barnett, Florence Peden and Clifford Short.

Yovnni Roysdon, Buster Gholson, Casey Caldwell, Mary Murphy, Melissa Fernandez, Merilul Fernandez, Regenna Stephens, Linda King, Mike New and Verda Calloway.

Mark Combe, David C. Smith, Cindy Guess, Dan Cowperthwait, Cathy Bartley, Jill Druessedow, Yuvi Cadenhead, Connie Cothron, Wanda Thompson and Fran Cass.

Kenny Thompson, Kay Smith, Pat Rowan, Alice Yates, Merry Harvey, Christyne W. Green, Joe Larned, Robert S. Steed, Ken Lane and Wayne Cadenhead M.D.

The next blood drive in Haskell will be May 28.

Scholarships available to students

Junior and senior class high school students who are interested in applying for $1,000 college scholarships should request applications by March 15 from Educational Communications Scholarship Foundation, 721 N. McKinley Road, Lake Forest, Illinois 60045.

To receive an application, students should send a note stating their name, address, city, state and zip code, approximate grade point average and year of graduation.

Fifty award winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extra-curricular activities and need for financial aid.

Candidates

Several gubernatorial candidates will participate in "measure the candidate" programs at the annual Texas Farm Bureau Leadership Conference in Corpus Christi Jan. 26-28.

Bank offers supplemental student aid

Students who need to supplement their state and federal financial aid packages for the 1985-86 school year are urged to apply for private foundation and corporate funding.

According to Steve Danz, director of The Scholarship Bank, there are numerous private aid sources available this year. Funds for higher education are available from private foundations, major corporations, trade, union and civic groups. With over 500 million in aid the following are just a sample of programs available:

Teaching: Offering up to $3,500 per year, the Danforth Foundation gives awards to students interested in teaching as a profession. 3,000 annual awards, twenty-five percent to minorities.

Exceptional Student Fellowships: Awarded by a major life insurance company to students in business, law, computer programming, accounting and related fields. Summer internship required with all expenses paid.

Anthropology, biology, conservation and marine science: Field Research Project grants up to $600 per year.

Journalism, broadcasting and related fields: The Poynter Fund awards annual scholarships to $2,000. Must have a career interest in one of these fields.

Center for Political Studies: Internships in political science, law, public relations, business, history and education.

White House Fellowships: Highly competitive graduate level fellowships to work as an intern at The White House. 14-20 yearly openings.

According to the director, many private aid sources do not require a showing of financial need but are dependent on the student demonstrating a career interest in a certain field, or a willingness to intern or enter a competition. Low and no-interest loans are also available.

The Scholarship Bank is a non-profit nationwide organization. Students who would like to use the service should send a business size, stamped, self addressed envelope to 4626 N. Grand, Covina, CA. 91724.

Base rate increases for Social Security

The annual earnings base—the maximum amount of earnings that counts for Social Security—will increase to $42,000 for 1986, up from $39,000, the 1985 base, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, explains.

The increase is based on the change in average earnings levels from 1984 to 1985.

Also scheduled to increase in 1986 is the Social Security tax rate. The 1986 tax rate of 7.15 percent, is an increase of 0.10 percent over the 1985 rate of 7.05 percent. The increase will amount to $1.50 a month for a person earning $1,500 a month.

Other Social Security figures are scheduled to increase in 1986 as well, Hammons said. The annual exempt amount used in the annual earnings test will increase. The annual earnings test is the measure used to determine whether a person who works will receive benefits during the year.

The 1986 annual exempt amount for people 65 or older will be $7,800 up from the 1985 amount of $7,320. The 1986 exempt amount for people under 65 all of 1986 will be $5,760, up from the 1985 amount of $5,400.

A person whose earnings do not exceed the annual exempt amount will receive all benefits due for the year. A person's benefit is reduced

$1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. The annual earnings test does not apply once a person reaches 70.

The amount of annual earnings needed to earn a quarter of coverage—the measure of Social Security work credit—will be $440 for 1986, up from $410 for 1985. In 1986, a worker will earn four quarters of coverage if his or her annual earnings are $1,760 or more.

More information about Social Security taxes and benefits can be obtained at the Abilene Social Security office, located at 142 S. Pioneer. The telephone number is 698-1360. Free publications can be obtained there which give more information.

Small business

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) has announced that the Small Business Institute (SBI) will be in operation at Abilene Christian University this Spring and is now selecting client businesses for the program.

Haskell businesses wishing to participate in the program should notify the local SBA volunteer office (SCORE) by calling (915) 677-1857, or business owners may call Professor Donald Altman, SBI Director at ACU, (915) 674-2048.

Weight-loss plans call for close look

Some commercial weight-loss businesses may help you shed more dollars than weight, cautions a family economics expert.

"Advertising that promises a specific weight loss for a set fee can be misleading," says Nancy L. Granovsky, "because the diet plan may also require the purchase of expensive dietary supplements, which raises the consumer's cost."

These supplements and special foods are often marked up by 300 percent or more and may be of questionable nutritive value, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

If the weight-loss business used the term "medical" in its title or advertising, it should have a doctor on call for consumers at all times, Granovsky says.

Prior to signing a contract with a weight-loss business, ask what will be done if you do not lose weight or if you're not satisfied with the program. If there is no refund policy, look around for a different program. When there is a refund policy, be sure to get it in writing.

You can also check with the Better Business Bureau or the State Attorney General's Office to see if there are any unresolved complaints about the company.

Alcohol harmful to unborn

Did you know that alcohol harms unborn babies? It's true. Every time a pregnant woman has a drink, and every time she gets drunk, her unborn baby does too.

While various drugs have been known to cause birth defects when taken during pregnancy, it has only been within the last 15 years that medical research has confirmed and given a name to the negative effect of alcohol on the fetus.

It is called Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) and while studies have shown it to be the third most common cause of mental retardation, it is the only one that can be totally prevented.

That was the year

By Richard A. Viguerie

What kind of a year was 1985? It was the kind of year in which...

*Robert Latta, 45, a tourist, walked behind a military band into the White House. No one noticed him wandering around until he was discovered sitting in the White House dining room, a floor below the First Family's quarters. Mr. Latta was arrested and placed in the Washington, D.C., jail, from which he was then released by mistake.

*MGM finally released Gone With the Wind on videotape, only to discover that thousands of the tape cassettes used the wrong theme music.

*A new Houston nightclub, Rambase, featured waitresses in fatigues, a buffet served from a green military stretcher, and 50-pound sandbags and camouflage netting as part of the decor. Each night, the owner said, "We ask everyone to raise their hand and give the one-finger salute to Russia."

*George Bush was acting President of the United States for seven hours, 54 minutes. Ronald Reagan slept through Bush's entire term.

*Louisiana Governor Edwin Edwards offered a lesson in political morality when he told about a deal he made to develop a hospital complex. The district involved was represented by a state senator named Joe Sevario. "Joe came to me and said he and some other politicians would have to say they were against it for their constituents, but they really were not against it. 'We'll oppose it,' Joe said to me, 'but we won't say much about it.' Joe was doing his job as senator," said Edwards.

Asked at his corruption trial why he forgot to list something on a financial disclosure document, Edwards said, "I didn't forget, because that implies a conscious effort to remember."

*The Los Angeles Film Critics Association named Brazil, a film that had never been shown in a public theater, as Best Picture of 1985.

*The Social Security Administration warned its district and branch offices to avoid issuing Social Security cards to people using Cabbage Patch doll birth certificates.

*Governor Mario Cuomo (D-New York) said there's no such thing as the Mafia.

*Pope John Paul II did a promo for the "Today" show. Meanwhile, Geraldine Ferraro hawked Diet Pepsi and another TV ad featured Charles Schwab, Willard Scott, and former Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne singing the USA Today theme song.

*Regarding the recent meeting between President Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev, Ms. Ferraro said, "I will unabashedly and unashamedly take credit for this summit taking place in the first place."

*After Melvin Price (D-Illinois) was deposed as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and replaced by Les Aspin (D-Wisconsin), Congressional aid Bill Hart said, "Aspin is at least getting up there and saying something, which is more than Mr. Price ever did...Mr. Price sometimes says things that don't make sense. We hope he doesn't run again." Hart is Congressman Price's press secretary.

*It was learned that, compared to average parents, public school teachers in Chicago and in Michigan are twice as likely to send their kids to private school.

*A Louisville, Kentucky, sanitation supervisor won $231 a week in disability payments because of his fear of working with black people.

*Senator Bill Bradley (D-New Jersey) told viewers of the CBS Morning News that he was "an old rock-'n'-roller" and that one of the reasons he likes Bruce Springsteen is that Springsteen reminds him of the '50s singer/songwriter "Buddy Holliday." (You remember Holliday's hits "Maggie Sue" and "That'll Be the Date"?)

*Sandy Pollack, a prominent American communist, was eulogized by the Rev. William Sloane Coffin. "Sandy did not believe in God," said the Rev. Mr. Coffin, "but God believed in Sandy."

*In West Hollywood, California, the local homosexual-dominated government forced Barney's Beanery to remove its ancient, misspelled motto ("Fagots Stay Out") from its matchbooks and from a sign over the bar. Another establishment—reputedly the only "straight" bar remaining in the city—responding by hanging a sign that said, "Farraguts Stay Out."

*A judge in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area ruled that a motorcycle may use the restricted "car pool only" lanes of the local highway system, but only if it is carrying at least four persons.

*Vitaly Yurchenko, one of the highest-ranking agents in the KGB, defected to the U.S. He provided information that exposed numerous Soviet agents in the West, but then turned around and defected back to the USSR.

Back in Soviet custody, Yurchenko claimed that he had been kidnapped by the CIA and "tortured." One Soviet spokesman compared Yurchenko's treatment at the hands of the CIA to "the experiments perpetrated by the Nazis on our war prisoners." For example, Yurchenko said, the CIA "made me play golf" and gave him tips on how to improve his swing; they fed him so much food that he had trouble fitting into his clothes; and "They also gave me a suntan to get rid of the green color of my skin." Then the American agents forced him to go to dinner with CIA Director William Casey—whose fly, Yurchenko claimed, was open.

Survey results prove 'startling'

By Wendell Faught

The most ridiculous survey in this over-surveyed country has to be one reported by the wire services the other day.

This survey revealed that 75 percent of the people who had accidents on the job had eaten no breakfast on the day of the accident.

A quick survey of my own, taken among coffee-gulping compadres, revealed that 75 percent of the people don't eat breakfast any way.

So, the survey that someone had to pay for, really didn't come up with any startling information. Applying my own statistics, I would say that 75 percent of murders are committed by people who don't eat breakfast; 75 percent of the people with ingrown toenails don't eat breakfast; and 75 percent of the people who leave home without their American Express cards don't eat breakfast.

That old black magic is now spelled ZooDoo, says a friend who publishes a newspaper in Michigan.

It's manure from zoo animals, dried and packaged in two-pound bags and sold for $3 by the Bronx and San Francisco zoos, he explains.

Instead of paying $35,000 a year to haul the stuff away, they hope to make a bundle.

"I know about this because one of my dearest readers sent me a package," writes the friend. "To make sure I wouldn't take offense, she underlined the label that said it was good for houseplants and gardens. I can't wait for the next person to ask me what I put on my roses."

When Class B schools in Texas complained about their designation, the University Interscholastic League had a simple solution. They just started calling them Class A, and moved everyone else up a notch, Class A to Class AA, Class AA to Class AAA, etc.

So I was wondering why we can't re-define "old age" in this country. Old people are the fastest growing group in the U.S. Some time back before anyone living today was born, someone came up with the calculation that old age begins at 65.

Why can't we just say that a person isn't old until he's 70--or 75? Then we can thin out the ranks of that group which is causing so much concern to everyone without harming a soul. Most of them should even like it.

Don Duke, mayor of neighboring Holliday, continues to hold that position even though he doesn't live in Holliday.

The mayor and his wife had to vacate their former home Dec. 31, but another home they had bought recently had not been vacated by its former owner. They had to move to another house—outside the city limits.

The city administrator says the mayor can legally serve as long as he signs a letter of intent to reside in Holliday when his house is available.

TAX PLANNING

Written By
Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

TAX SEASON IS HERE

1985 is over and 1986 has begun. The income tax filing season is here! Except for retirement plan contributions, there are no further transactions you can make to lower your adjusted gross income or increase your deductions or credits. What remains to be done is to prepare your tax return as carefully as possible, to pay the least permissible income tax. That's a difficult, time consuming job.

Most of us, if we have any degree of financial complication, will need professional help. The tax code is simply too complex for people to stay on top of unless they make it their business to do so. Year after year, Congress has added changes and exceptions to the basic code, and the IRS has made ruling after ruling implementing the details of the law. Furthermore, the courts have also decided case after case, all of which goes to build up what is now a huge mass of facts and interpretation governing your income tax liability.

There has been a great deal of talk about tax simplification, but virtually none of the talk has become fact affecting your 1985 tax return. Unfortunately, it now seems that, even if major legislation goes through affecting 1986, it will not make things much simpler. There are too many vocal, powerful interest groups which require attention. Any tax bill that survives both House of Congress and is signed into law, must have paid attention to many of them and thus will have necessarily become complex.

Your tax professional is ready to help you work through your 1985 data and help you file your return so that you pay the least possible tax, but you should assist as much as you can. It will help if you gather your material early and completely, allowing as much time as possible for your interview and return preparation.

Delinquent property taxes can be expensive, risky

On Feb. 1, most of the unpaid property taxes in Texas become delinquent property taxes.

"It pays to pay property taxes on time," said Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board. "Delinquent taxpayers must pay additional penalty and interest charges, and they run the risk of lawsuits, clouded land titles, and even seizure and sale of their property if they make no effort to pay."

Patterson emphasized that even property owners who do not receive bills must still pay their property taxes on time or else face additional delinquency charges. "Texas law states that failure to receive a tax bill does not relieve the taxpayer of his responsibility for paying property taxes on time," he explained.

Most taxing units mail tax bills on October or November with a delinquency date of Feb. 1. "If Feb. 1 is drawing near and a taxpayer has not yet received a tax bill," Patterson advised, "he should contact the local appraisal district or taxing units to find out how much tax he owes and to make sure the correct name and address information is on record."

In most cases, property taxes that remain unpaid on Feb. 1 are considered delinquent. The delinquency date is postponed for tax bills that are mailed after Jan. 10. Special payment plans offered by some taxing units also result in later delinquency dates.

In all cases, the delinquency date will appear on the tax bill. All taxpayers must be given at least 21 days to pay after their bills are mailed before their taxes become delinquent.

By paying before Feb. 1, the taxpayer avoids penalty and interest charges. Regular penalty charges can go as high as 12 percent, and interest is charged at the rate of one percent per month. "For example," said Patterson, "Someone who pays taxes a year late will have to pay the original amount plus an additional 24 percent in penalty and interest."

Taxing units that hire outside attorneys to collect their delinquent taxes can charge an additional 15 percent penalty for attorney's fees.

Tax collectors notify delinquent taxpayers at least once. Many collectors send additional notices and warning letters. "By responding to these warnings and paying their bills, taxpayers can avoid the expense of a delinquent tax suit and the risk of losing their property to pay the overdue taxes," said Patterson.

State law protects homeowners age 65 and over from tax suits and seizure of their homes. By filing a "tax deferral affidavit" with the appraisal district, an elderly homeowner can postpone paying taxes on his home for as long as he owns the home and lives in it. If the over-65 homeowner has been sued for delinquent taxes, he can suspend the suit by filing a tax deferral affidavit with the court.

"The tax deferral only postpones tax payments—it does not cancel them," Patterson explained. "The taxes, penalties and interest will continue to add up. Once the property changes hands, these taxes become due immediately."

Appraisal district offices can answer questions on the over-65 tax deferral and provide affidavit forms.

Some tax collectors allow delinquent taxes to be paid in installments. By signing an installment agreement, the delinquent taxpayer is admitting that he owes all the taxes covered by the agreement. However, he cannot be sued for delinquent taxes as long as he makes the installment payments on time and keeps other property taxes paid up.

The tax collector's last resort is to sue the delinquent taxpayer. If a delinquent tax suit is successful, the court costs are added to the tax bill. The court will give the taxpayer one final chance to pay before ordering the property seized and auctioned to pay the taxes.

Delinquent taxes cannot be avoided by selling or transferring the property. Taxing units hold a tax lien on each item of taxable property. This tax lien gives them the power to foreclose on the lien and seize the property, even if its ownership has changed. "As a result," Patterson explained, "someone who buys real estate can't get a clear title until all the delinquent taxes on the property are paid."

In addition, the law makes each person who owns taxable property on Jan. 1 personally liable for the taxes. The Jan. 1 owner can be sued personally for unpaid taxes even if he has sold or transferred the property.

"Property owners can avoid these extra charges and legal problems by paying their property taxes on time," said Patterson. "If their taxes are overdue, they should contact the tax collector without further delay and make arrangements to pay."

Lions help many causes

By Jim Crain
Secretary
Haskell Lions Club

The Lions Club of Haskell is happy to report that 1985 was a year in which the motto, "WE SERVE" was displayed in a number of ways. The projects of the club have been diversified and several different areas have benefited as a result of the continued service of the local members. All of the local Lions would like to thank the community for their continued outstanding support, which has made so many projects helped a reality. In retrospect, 1985, was a year in which over $4,000 was donated to worthy causes, not counting the annual Goodfellows program which brought in almost $1,400 last year. Projects which were supported financially included the Haskell Junior Livestock Show, Little League, Halloween Carnival supported by the Haskell Fire Auxiliary, and Haskell Memorial Civic Center. A total of $1,233 was given to the Civic Center, of which $1,033 was from proceeds of the annual Pancake Supper, and $100 was from the Ice Cream Crank-off sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Lions, along with the Young Homemakers completed a beautiful addition of playground equipment for the Elementary School, which has been overwhelmingly welcomed by the students. In addition to these works, Emily Thornhill was awarded the Arion Award for outstanding Band Student, and Scott Burris was sponsored in the District Speech Contest, advancing to the District meet. Money was contributed to the West Texas Rehab Center, Crippled Children's Camp in Kerrville, and to the Haskell Ambulance Service to help purchase a mannequin for CPR classes. A total of six eyeglasses were purchased for worthy students, and eight exams were provided. Sight has always been an important part of Lions work and money was also given to the eye Bank program, sponsored by the District Lions.

The year 1986 has started with an equally ambitious desire to help others, and contributions have been made to the Haskell Livestock Show, West Texas Rehab Center, and the latest project helped was the Haskell Room at the Hendrick League House being built in Abilene. A total of $500.00 was given to the League House, and "thank you's" have come from various organizations in Abilene for support of this good work.

The Lions are happy to announce that their annual Mop and Broom Sale will be held in the latter part of April. This year additional work will be made in the area of pre-sales, and everyone is urged to plan to help the blind and local work as well. Mints may be purchased from several merchants in town, and the proceeds from the sale of these mints goes to the Crippled Children's Camp in Kerrville and to purchase eye glasses for local students.

Again, the Lions want to thank everyone for their continued support, and urge those interested in becoming a part of the Lions Club to contact any member.

Foreign students seek host families

Haskell families are eligible to serve as host families for foreign students under a program sponsored by the International Student Exchange Programs (ASSE).

Fifteen Scandinavian, French, Spanish, German, Dutch, Swiss and Canadian boys and girls, 16 to 18 years of age, are coming to this area for the upcoming high school year.

These personable and academically select European and Canadian teenagers are bright, curious and anxious to learn about this country through living as part of a family, attending high school and sharing their own culture and language with their newly adopted American families.

Students are fluent in English and are sponsored by ASSE, a non-profit, public benefit organization, affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish departments of education and cooperating with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education.

The exchange students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins in late August and return at the end of the school year in June. Each is fully insured, brings his or her own personal spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities in exchange for being included in normal family activities and lifestyle.

Persons interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family or becoming a student abroad should contact ASSE's area representative, Carroll Draper, Route 2, Box 216 CC, Early, Texas 76801, or call (915) 643-2476.

WTU's Energy Saving Plan...

...Your Framework for Energy Savings.

The Energy Saving Plan

Start building your framework for energy savings by participating in WTU's Energy Saving Plan. Below are just a few of the ways you can save with E.S.P. For additional information about the Energy Saving Plan, call your local WTU office.

Save Money in Bills!

You can save up to twenty-six percent in home energy bills a year with an E.S.P. Home. An average 1800 square foot home will cost approximately $775 a year to heat and cool. The same size E.S.P. Home will only cost about $570 a year to heat and cool. That's an annual savings of over $200! (Energy savings may vary with the type of home, family size and individual energy usage habits.)

Get a Cash Bonus!

WTU will pay you $110 per ton when you install an electric heat pump in your home. WTU will also pay cash bonuses for heat pump window units, energy-efficient air conditioners, heat recovery units for electric water heaters, and solar-assisted electric water heaters in new or existing single-family homes. To qualify for the bonus program, your home must meet all of the E.S.P. requirements and be served by WTU.

Increase Your Resale Value

If you decide to sell your E.S.P. Home in the future, you can expect a higher resale value because your home is E.S.P.-qualified. That means lower energy bills to any prospective home buyer.

Haskell math teacher sounds off

Teachers blast governor over call for drug tests

W.L. (Blue) Holt, Haskell math teacher, joined other members of the Assn. of Texas Professional Educators in blasting Gov. Mark White's call for drug testing of Texas teachers during a joint meeting of the group's Legislative and Educational Policy and Curriculum committees in Austin last weekend.

Holt, who is Legislative Committee chairman of ATPE, the state's second largest educator organization in the state, said:

"To sum up the feelings expressed here today by ATPE members representing all 20 education service center regions, the call for drug testing issued by Mark White is the final straw. Teachers cannot—no, will not—continue to be pawns in the games of this political opportunist."

"Never in my life would I have dreamed that I would have to be given a drug test, and I'm not going to take it," declared Hallsville social studies teacher Sue McGarvey, ATPE president.

EP&C Committee Chairman Hazel Moye of McAllen added: "First, he says education is the reason for a $3.6 billion tax bill of which we only received $800 million. Second, he claims we're all illiterate until proven otherwise by a basic skills test. Now he plants the seed that we're all drug addicts until we take a test to prove differently. Our chief executive officer needs to boost, not blast, his own state employees."

"However," said committee member Adrienne Vara of San Antonio, "until it is no longer politically feasible to do so, I guess we shouldn't expect anything else."

"If this is the kind of state leadership we can expect from our current governor," added vice president Jann Bogenschutz, a special education teacher from White Oak, "then Texas teachers have an obligation to work actively toward his defeat in 1986."

State Treasurer Tony Diaz, a Corpus Christi administrator, said "It's time for teachers to take direct action in defense of their profession and integrity. Looking for better state leadership is a great place to start."

The two committees met to outline education priorities facing the 70th Legislature in 1987. The focus primarily was on monetary, personnel and educational dilemmas caused by shifting the financial burden from the state to the local level, but much discussion centered on White's naming of "instructors in our educational system (and) workers in our plants" when indicating the types of employees he felt should be tested for drugs.

Alafair Hammett, a mathematics teacher from La Feria and first ATPE president after the organization was founded in 1980, said to committee members, "We're taking the TECAT because we abide by the law and see the boost in public confidence it can be. We've endured an unworkable career ladder, a flood of paperwork and the elimination, by law, of discipline in the schools. We've done everything they've asked, but we will not submit to this debasement of our profession."

"It's not just that we've been declared guilty until proven innocent, said Jed Reed of Garland. "His comments alter our students' and their parents' perceptions of all teachers—and without cause."

Howard Aycock, a principal in the Ysleta school system, said that White had attempted to apply his stand to all state workers, but had "succumbed to the political popularity of targeting educators, furthering the incorrect illusion that we are still some kind of weak link in major state services."

"And," McGarvey insisted, "perception is of critical importance. You cannot expect children to learn, or to be willing to learn, from people they are told not to respect."

ATPE is prohibited by its constitution from issuing a candidate endorsement from the state organization, but the joint committees encouraged active educator support of the candidate(s) of their choice to increase visibility in the political process. With 45,000 active members, ATPE is the largest non-union-affiliated educator organization in the nation.

"If the citizens of Texas want to give their children a good education," commented Sandra Konczak, a Mexia educator, "they must give the teachers their support." "And," said State Secretary Marion Wagamon of Huntsville, "that support begins with a governor who does not solicit our votes and then turn around and aim cheap shots at us whenever it serves his political purpose."

White said last week that he would announce his re-election bid from the desk his mother used when she was a teacher.

"He told the coaches weeks ago," McGarvey countered, "that we (educators) have no business in politics and should stick to teaching. Now he wants to make a major political announcement from the desk of a career teacher. I hope every Texas educator sees through the ruse and works instead to support a more viable option than this current governor."
