Haskell to host Hamlin

All of the preliminaries are over. The Haskell Indians start playing for keeps this Friday.

It'll be the Indians against the Pied Pipers of Hamlin in Haskell Friday night in the district 7-AA opener for both teams. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Unlike last week when the Indians had trouble getting up for the nondistrict tilt with underrated Knox City, the Haskell team should have no problem in being ready for the annual struggle with Hamlin.

Hamlin, district champion for two years running, plastered the Indians last year. In fact, Haskell hasn't beaten Hamlin in four years. The Pied Pipers lost heavily from last year's outfit which went undefeated in the regular season, but they have improved steadily while playing a rugged schedule.

Hamlin's record is a non-glittering 2-3, but the losses have come at the hands of powerful Ballinger, Seymour and Dublin teams.

Haskell's record is an even less 1-3-1 reading, but that's two fewer losses than the Indians had last year when they opened district play against the Pipers.

Coaches and players were disappointed in last week's Indian effort at Knox City where the Tribe went down 13-10. "We were flat," said Coach Harold Hill.

He said the offensive blocking was virtually non-existent. "They were coming right through us."

Coming on the heels of the previous week's fine performance against Quanah, the Haskell effort represented quite a comedown.

While the offense sputtered, the defense did little better, although there were isolated instances when it shone, Hill said that Ponciano Lopez' performance, especially in the fourth quarter, was outstanding.

Plan could alter tax collection

State Rep. Rick Perry of Haskell this week outlined the details of a new plan to allow smaller cities and counties to collect an additional sales tax of one-half percent as a way of reducing their property taxes. The new tax plan was part of the overall tax package enacted by the Legislature during the recent special session.

Currently in Texas, all incorporated cities may collect a one percent sales tax. In addition, the largest cities levy an additional one cent tax to fund their mass transit systems. Up to now, however, neither the smaller cities nor counties had the option of using additional sales tax revenues to ease the burden on property taxpayers.

Under provisions of the new bill, the earliest the new half-cent tax could be collected would be Jan. 1, 1988. To collect the tax, a city council or a county commissioners court must first call an election. A petition drive can also initiate an election, if it is signed by five percent of the registered voters who voted in the last county or city election. If a county and a city within that county each wants to collect the tax, it would have to be approved by the voters separately for each.

Perry explains that funds generated by this new tax can only be used to offset property taxes of that jurisdiction. "For every dollar a city or a county collects in new sales tax, they have to reduce their property taxes by a dollar," Perry said.

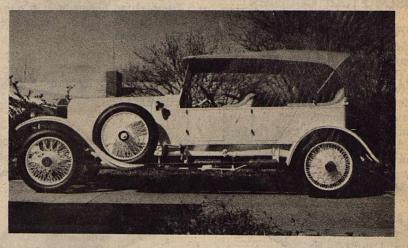

"Many people have complained that property owners are shouldering an unfairly large proportion of tax collections," Perry said. "This will shift some of that burden around, and make it fairer for everyone involved."

Hospital lays off 9 employees

Nine employees were dropped from the payroll of the Haskell Memorial Hospital last week. The Hospital Board made the decision to release the employees as a belt-tightening procedure necessitated by low patient census and erratic medicare payments. Released were four nurse's aides. and one each in the administration, housekeeping, dietery, janitorial and maintenance departments.

Bud Comedy, administrator, pointed out that no licensed personnel positions were eliminated and that there should be no decrease in the quality of patient care at the facility.

She also stated that the hospital has continued to operate in the black, unlike many similar institutions in Tighter restrictions on medicare payments have had a serious effect on the hospital's income. Many medicare claims are now being denied. As a consequence, not as many patients are being admitted.

The 30-bed facility had a average daily patient load of only six for the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30. The average in September was only three. A week ago Saturday, Sept. 27, not a single person was in the hospital, the first time ever that such a condition existed for a full day. Mrs. Comedy recalls a time in the past when the hospital had no patients for a couple

WTU announces another rate refund

A continuing price decline in the natural gas market means another refund to West Texas Utilities Co.'s retail customers in December.

WTU officials announced last week that a request was being filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for permission to refund a total of $6.9 million in retail revenues collected in excess of actual fuel costs, and to lower its fuel charge rate for the months of December through April. The total includes $6,740,467 in actual fuel cost savings accumulated in July and August, plus $149,003 in interest. Under WTU's proposal, all existing retail customers would receive refunds through one-time credits to their bills in December. A typical residential customer would receive about $17.

The fuel rate--known as the "fixed fuel factor"--is approved by the PUC. When the actual cost of fuel is below the approved rate, the over-recovery is returned to the customers, with WTU's base rates have not changed since December 1984. Company officials have indicated that a rate increase likely will be necessary next year after the new coal-fired Oklaunion Power Station near Vernon is completed and placed in service. The assured supply of coal under a long-term contract is expected to stabilize WTU's power plant fuel costs and partially offset the necessary base rate increases.

Child Welfare Board

Incredibly, TBI statistics show that 50,000 children disappear from the yards, streets and schools in towns and cities of America each year. Sadly, we put more identification on our dogs than we do our children.

If your child was stolen, would he know your full name, address and phone number? If your teenager was out of town and was unconscious after an accident, would the hospital know how to reach you to gain any pertinent medical information such as allergic reactions to certain medications or how to obtain your consent to begin emergency treatment?

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board wishes to thank those who made a contribution and received Lifesaver tags for your children and/or grandchildren during the Haskell County Fair.

The tags, which can be attached under a child's shoe lace or sewed on velcro shoes and/or clothes are still available at the State Farm Insurance office on the highway across from the high school.

The tags are washable. For a donation of at least 50 cents, anyone may have one tag for each child in the family. They will also be available later at the Saturday Christmas For reservations, call 864-3933.

TAX PLANNING

Written By Gerald Rodgers, CPA

KNOW WHAT YOU'RE PAYING THE GOVERNMENT

Don't pay additional amounts billed by the federal or state taxing authorities unless you're satisfied that the bill is correct.

Government offices are staffed with ordinary people who make ordinary mistakes just like you and me. Add computers with programming bugs, electrical problems, and operator error, and you have all the ingredients for incorrect tax-due notices.

The IRS is attempting to match certain documents to your social security number and to the figures you reported on your tax return. If you receive interest, dividends, rents, royalties, or any of a number of other types of payments, you will probably be issued a "Form 1099." A copy of each 1099 is mailed to you and to the government. The purpose of such forms is to identify money transactions between two parties. If the IRS can't readily locate information on your tax return which was reported to them on a Form 1099, they will send you a notice for taxes due. You may get such a notice even though the income is reported somewhere in your tax return. Don't assume that you owe additional taxes, interest or penalties just because you receive a statement from the government saying so. Because of the possibility of both human and mechanical error, it's worth checking to make sure you owe the amount billed before sending a payment.

If you've paid someone else to prepare your tax return, give them a copy of all correspondence you receive from taxing authorities, even those that do not request additional money. Your tax return preparer needs a full record of all your affairs including all correspondence between you and the

It is important to act promptly on all correspondence whether the government is right or wrong.

THE MAGIC HOME-BUYING PILL!

When you're ready to buy, wouldn't it be nice to have a "magic pill" you could take? Suddenly, the home of your dreams would appear before your eyes -and you could begin moving in.

Unfortunately, there is no such "magic pill". But that's O.K. Much of the fear and apprehension felt by homebuyers, especially first-time homebuyers, comes from a lack of information, lack of knowledge of the home buying process from start to finish.

If you're ready to buy, the place to start is with the choice of a person who knows real estate inside and out, person who understands pricing, loans and neighborhoods, someone who has experience finding just the right home for other home buyers, and most of all someone who is willing to listen to your needs.

A professional real estate agent is trained to listen, trained to make dreams come true for home buyers and sellers. And one of the first things that person will do for you is to explain the home buying process in a way that makes buying a home an enjoyable, rewarding experience.

You can also expect a lot of questions. A successful real estate agent understands that it's necessary to hear all about your needs and expectations. By learning to think the way you do about the future home, that agent can locate just the right place for you and your family.

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 864-2665. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

The business meeting was called to order by President Truman Therwhanger. New officers elected for 1988 were:

President, Mary Nell (Raynes) Colthorp, class of 1961; vice president, Hal Guess, class of 1973; and secretary-treasurer, Sue (Hager) Stewert of the 1972 class.

It was voted to set the Weinert homecoming date permanently on the first Saturday of October every other year

The Homecoming staff recognized all current and ex students, superintendents, principals, teachers, athletes and patrons. An addition to the recognition service was begun this year. The Outstanding Citizen Service Award was presented to exschool personnel Mabel Derr, Ila Moody, Erma Liles, Ted and Edna Boykin, R. S. and Betty Sanders, who have written a book about the Weinert area, and Wilburn Hill, who wrote and recorded a song about Weinert. They were honored for their outstanding contributions to the community which totaled over 160 years of service.

Bob Raynes of Weinert gave a very interesting and enjoyable talk on coaching the first football team after the war. He recalled many humorous stories and happenings of those earlier football days. He pointed out how fortunate we have been to have been raised in a smaller community where we have been protected from many of the negative influences in society.

A delicious barbecue dinner was served at 5:30. At 7 p.m., Stacia Adams, senior class nominee, was crowned 1986 Homecoming queen by her father, ex-student Elmer Adams. The Coming Home queen was Ernestine (Howard) Dickerson.

Following the coronation, a program entitled "Weinert Through the Years" was presented by Durwood Bruton of the class of 1958. He was assisted in the production by Erlinda (Alexander) Mayfield, class of 1959. The play was a celebration of Texas' 150th birthday, Weinert's 80th birthday, and the 20th homecoming. The cast included many "talented" Weinert and ex-Weinert fans. It was really enjoyed by all. A VCR of this program can be purchased from the Weinert School for $10. The price includes the cassette tape.

A good crowd of Weinert exes were on hand Friday night to see the Weinert Bulldogs defeat the Trent Gorillas 52-6. Coach Chet Forehand's Bulldogs pleased the crowd with their excellent playing ability.

Weinert holds a very special place in the hearts of many of its exes, as is evidenced by the number of people who return to enjoy each homecoming. (Submitted by Karen Yates)

Cheerleaders selling items

Haskell High School cheerleaders are selling buttons, tags and necklaces to raise money for cheerleading supplies.

Buttons are 50 cents each and can be made with high school and junior high colors or other colors. Any school saying may be displayed on a button Wooden necklaces are a new spirit booster this year. They sell for $3.50 and are three inches tall.

They are similar in shape to the yard signs made for the Indian football team. Like the buttons, they can be individualized for junior high or high school activities.

Tags, available each game week, portray the Indians against the opposing team. They are 25 cents each

All of these items are being sold by high school and junior high cheerleaders and by Mrs. Cathy Bartley, cheerleader sponsor.

Range Management month proclaimed

October has been designated as Range Management Month by Texas Gov. Mark White.

Gov. White signed a proclamation Sept. 18 which noted that "properly managed rangelands protect watersheds, recharge aquifers and reduce sediment, ensuring water quality for both rural and urban users..."

Mark E. Moseley, president of the Texas section of the Society for Range Management, said SRM is extremely pleased with the designation of October as Range Management Month.

"October is the month most range plants produce seed and turn to their beautiful fall colors," Moseley said.
"Rangelands occupy more than half of the state's land area; the wildlife, recreation and livestock produced on rangeland is an important part of our

He said proper management of the range resource provides forage and habitat by converting energy from the sun and combining it with water and nutrients from the soil to produce food and fiber.

"Properly managed rangelands will enhance, for future generations, a stable environment," Moseley said. "It will also yield a stable economic base."

A range conservationist with the USDA Soil Conservation Service in San Angelo, Moseley said the Texas section of SRM helped promote the idea of range management month to increase public and producer awareness of the importance of rangelands.

Boosters

Some members of the seventhgrade football team were guests of the Indian Booster Club Monday night. Coach George Martin introduced them and told the position each one played.

Booster Club members were commended for the hard work put into the hamburger supper last week. Participation, plus donations of food and money and ticket sales, netted the organization about $900. This money will go mainly toward the all-sports banquet to be held in the spring.

Coach Harold Hill, in speaking of the Knox City game last week, said that it is human nature to compare scores; and therefore, it was hard to be mentally prepared to play the Greyhounds. He said our offense never got untracked and into the scheme. There was a lack of concentration on our part whereas Knox City kept theirs.

The head coach said that going into district is like starting a new season: everyone's record is 0-0. He said the Hamlin Pied Pipers run the wishbone. "They play hard-nose football and run right at you," he said.

Booster Club members were asked to be in front of the concession stand by 6:30 Friday night to help sell programs, caps and cushions. Game time is 7:30 this week.

County teams all post wins

All four Haskell County six-man teams posted victories in games played last Friday.

Undefeated Rochester crushed Woodson 47-0, Paint Creek beat Goree 65-47, Weinert crushed Trent 52-6 and Rule won its first game with a 40-14 victory over Lueders-

Rochester now stands at 5-0 for the season. Weinert is 3-1, Paint Creek is 2-2 and Rule is 1-3.

This week's schedule calls for Paint Creek at Rochester, Woodson at Rule and Weinert at Benjamin.

Newcastle, at 4-0, joins Rochester among the undefeated among district 5 teams.

District teams win 3, lose 3

Albany, Anson and Hawley were victors among district 7-AA teams last Friday, while Haskell, Stamford and Hamlin were losers.

Albany bested Cisco 26-0. Anson ran over Roscoe 41-0 and Hawley edged Rotan 7-0.

Haskell lost to Knox City 13-10:

Haskell lost to Knox City 13-10; Electra edged Stamford 28-21 and Hamlin bowed to Dublin 21-12.

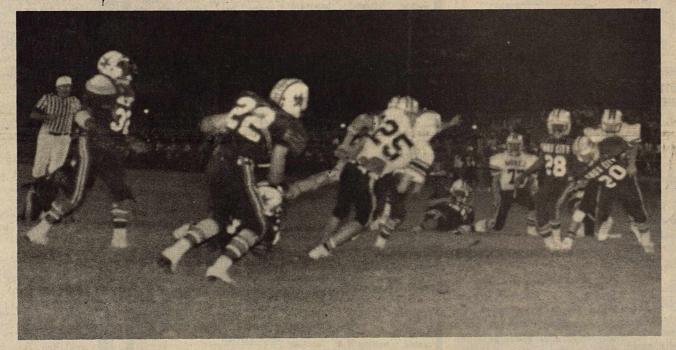

Quanah, a team Haskell defeated two weeks ago, won its fourth game with a 46-0 romp over Crowell, while another Indian foe, Holliday, defeated Nocona 34-7.

With the district 7-AA title race beginning this week, only Hawley, at 3-1-1, has a winning record among the league teams. Hamlin, Albany and Anson are all 2-3. Haskell stands at 1-3-1 and Stamford is 1-4.

This week's action will find Hamlin at Haskell, Albany at Stamford and Hawley at Anson.

Golf tournament to be Saturday

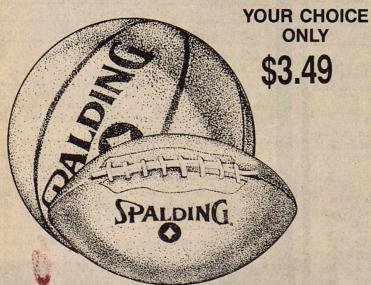

Haskell Country Club will host a three-person scramble golf tournament Saturday. Tee time will be from 9:30 to 1:30.

Cash prizes will be offered and entry fee will be $120 per team.

KO in KC Indians fall, 13 to 10

A dark cloud hovered over the Knox City football field prior to kickoff Friday night.

A darker cloud hung over the Haskell Indians after the game was over.

The Indians had just absorbed a Class A whipping, compliments of the Class A Greyhounds.

Final score was 13-10. It left the Indians with a pre-district record of 1-3-1.

Haskell scored the game's first touchdown on the third play from scrimmage after the opening kickoff, but thereafter the Indian offense was moth-balled as a fired-up Knox City bunch held its favored opponents at bay.

School Board sets tax rate

The Haskell Independent School District board set the tax rate at .7992 during its Sept. 30 meeting.

The figure represents an increase of slightly more than one cent over last year's rate of .7889.

Establishment of a tax rate came immediately after the adjournment of the special session of the state legislature. It had been feared that the legislature may curtail the funding of case the kindergarten program, in which the tax rate would have had to be increased.

The School Board also revised its policy on teacher appraisals. Under the revision, appraisals will be scheduled in advance and teachers will receive 24 hours advance notice.

The evaluation instrument for the school librarian, similar to that used by the Lubbock ISD, was approved, and there was further discussion on the air conditioning and heating facilities at the secondary school.

In remarks to the Board, Supt. James Kemp discussed the possibility of employing outside help to assist in teacher evaluations.

He also discussed the need to replace the doors on the bus barn and rapair the lockers in the secondary school.

Louie Torres took the opening kickoff on his 32 and returned it 44 yards to the Knox City 24. Stephon Brockington picked up 6 yards in two stabs and then Mark Young scooted 18 yards for a touchdown. When Joel Torres kicked the extra point to make the score 7-0, the game was less than a minute and a half old.

Knox City came right back. It took the Greyhounds eight plays to drive 63 yards for the tying score. Quarterback David Gonzales passed 24 yards to Brian Correll for the touchdown which came on a fourthand-11 situation after it had appeared the Indians had stopped the drive. Correll's extra point kick tied the Early in the second quarter, Knox City went ahead when Gonzales ran 62 yards for a touchdown.Correll's kick was blocked, but the Greyhounds were out front 13-7.

Three possessions later, the Indians almost tied the score. After a 43-pass from Young to Steven Rodriquez had put the ball on the Greyhound 9, Young picked up 4 yards to the 5. On the next play, Young bolted into the end zone, but the Indians were called for clipping at the 2 and the ball was moved back to the 17. Two plays later, on fourth down, Joel Torres booted a 32-yard field goal to complete all of the game's scoring with 3:10 to go in the second period.

Haskell had one more serious threat which ended when Joel Torres' 29-yard field goal attempt was blocked. Featuring a 15-yard pass from Young to Johnny Castillo and a 10-yard scamper by Young, the Indians moved to a first down at the Greyhound 17. After three running plays netted only 4 yards, Torres was foiled in his second field goal attempt.

Any New E.S.P. Home Will Save You Money!

SAVE MONEY ON BILLS

You will save money in energy bills for years to come when your new home meets the requirements of WTU's NEW and IMPROVED Energy Saving Plan.

COMPARE THE SAVINGS

You can save up to twenty-six percent in home energy bills a year with an E.S.P. Home. An average 1800 square foot home will cost approximately $775 a year to heat and cool. The same size E.S.P. Home will cost approximately $570 a year to heat and cool. That's an annual saving of over $200! (Energy savings may vary according to the type of home, family size and individual energy usage habits.)

CASH ALLOWANCES

The NEW and IMPROVED Energy Saving Plan also offers you LARGER cash allowances for installing energy-efficient equipment in your home. The allowances have been restructured, so now, the higher the efficiency rating of the equipment, the more money WTU will pay you through the E.S.P. program. To qualify for the cash allowances, your new home must meet the E.S.P. requirements and be served electricity by WTU.

Legislature gives way to politics

AUSTIN-The two special tax sessions blew a cockeyed note into the traditional Texas election rhythm, but after the curtain rang down on the Legislature last week, political campaigns finally kick-started their long-delayed endgame

For some, the strategies may not work. The confusion and misinformation that came out of these two special sessions may have tried the patience of voters a little more than tolerable.

Lawmakers who straight with their constituencies will hopefully be re-elected. And certainly, some who indulged in fun and games in a budget crisis situation will be re-elected, as always. Maybe some won't, this time.

What it boils down to is who do the voters believe? Mark White, who pushed a "temporary" tax hike? Bill Clements, who says no tax hike was needed? Treasurer Ann Richards, who warned the state would write hot checks in December? Comptroller Bob Bullock, who said the budget would hold until the regular session.

House Forces End

weary and somewhat bloodied Texas House voted for

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

$582 million in budget cuts and Gov. Mark White's $872 million tax hike package, and then almost immediately adjourned before the Senate could reject or amend or pressure.

Tired of struggling with the Senate, the more conservative House dropped its resistance to White's package, but forced pro-tax senators and the gov ernor to take what was passed or go ahead and call a third special session.

Just as weary, the Senate tolerated a short filibuster and then rubberstamped the House action, having gotten far more than its half-a-loaf.

The governor immediately signed both bills into law.

Woes "Not Solved"

Two days after lawmakers went home, Comptroller Bullock said the two back-to-back sessions "improved but did not solve" the budget woes.

When the Legislature convenes in regular session in January, it will face a $983 million deficit for this biennium and a $4-$6 billion deficit for the 1988-89 biennium.

Ways and Means Committee chairman Stan Schlueter said next session's tax debate will "be like drinking picante sauce straight out of the bottle."

Sessions Successful?

Governor Mark White touted the two special sessions as perhaps the most productive seven and one-half weeks in legislative history.

Friend and foe alike say they at least helped White stop his slide in public opinion polls and mount a re-election come-

But several Republican legislators termed the sessions a circus which White staged to benefit his re-election.

Without doubt, hard feelings still linger between House and Senate colleagues. Considerable ill will was built as the compromise was hammered. The questions of whether the sessions were productive or necessary, will be campaign issues from now until November.

And even those who do go over the limit by 10 or 15 mph are driving 65 or 70, instead of 75 or 80.

No stronger endorsement of the current speed limit can be made than the one which shows up in DPS fatality records.

Editor: Women in Texas have a great deal to lose if Governor Mark White is not re-elected Nov. 4--a voice in state government, a strong influence with the chief executive of Texas and appointments to powerful state boards and commissions.

What do you have to lose if Mark White is not re-elected? We lose a governor and first lady of Texas who are friends, strong supporters of equal rights for women and advocates of public programs to help women and children in our state.

What will you gain if Bill Clements is elected? Nothing. For example, Bill Clements did away with the state commission for women after only two months in office. He turned his back on the school children of Texas, providing neither solutions nor commitment to education. Governor White fought for an signed into law the most progressive education reform in our state's Governor White's administration has dealt with the priorities of the present and future of Texas, not the past. Bill Clements said in 1982 that he did not know of a housewife qualified to serve on the Public Utility Commission. Governor White knows that there are millions of women qualified to serve on all state boards and commissions. He named a housewife to the Public Utility Commission and appointed the first black woman Secretary of State. In three years, he appointed more women than all previous governors.

We need your help to re-elect Governor White. Working together, we can assure a victory for Governor White and the women of Texas November 4.

Bentsen proposals are included in trade negotiations

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen said he is delighted the administration will include his proposals for expanding trade along the border in negotiations between the United States and Mexico on trade and investment.

The proposals--raised by Bentsen in a letter to President Reagan prior to the Washington visit of Mexico's President Miguel de la Madrid-encourage expansion of the maquiladora, or twin-plant, program along the Texas-Mexico border.

FIRE SAFETY TIPS

ctober is Fire Prevention Month and is emphasized in the schools. But fire safety shouldn't stop at school—you and your children should know a home escape plan and review the plan routinely. Here are some tips:

• Make a fire drill fun, but serious at the same time. Making a game of it will avoid frightening children. Use races. Try a blindfold race — can you find your way out when wearing a blindfold?

• Use the smoke alarm to start the drill. This acquaints the family with the sound of the alarm — and gives you a chance to test it.

 Sleep with bedroom doors closed.
 Smoke is the greatest enemy in a night fire. Teach children that the door is their castle gate to keep them safe.

• Teach children two ways out of each room. Tell them to feel the door as high as they can reach. If it is warm or hot, don't open it. If it's cool—open it cautiously.

• Stay low in smoke. The cooler and fresher air is near the floor.

 Teach children how to open windows and take out screens. And teach them to stay near the window if they can't open it. Be sure children have something to climb upon to reach the window.

 Once out, stay out! Never, never, never re-enter a burning building for anything or anyone!

 Have a meeting place outside. Go to the meeting place and stay there until everyone is found. (Fire fighters have died searching for people who were already safe.)

Practice calling the fire department.
 Use a role-playing technique to help children learn their home address and how to report an emergency clearly.
 Teach them not to hang up until the dispatcher tells them to.

Visit the fire department. Fire fighters enjoy meeting kids and teaching fire safety.

The Haskell Volunteer Fire Dept. is always represented at the Texas Firemen's Training School, held one week each year at Texas A&M University

It is widely recognized as the finest fire school in the world, and it annually attracts about 3,000 firement from 30 or 40 states and as many as 20 foreign countries

Local businessmen and othe citizens benefit to the tune of severa thousand dollars a year by virtue of having its fire department in attendance at the school.

The State Board of Insurance authorizes a five-percent discount or insurance premiums on property in cities which send personnel to the school.

Fire Chief Tom Watson of Haske has taught a class on hose loads at th school for 15 years, and Don Comed of Haskell has been teaching a publicelations class for the past five years.

Auxiliary is big aid to department

AUXILIARY OFFICERS

Officers of the Haskell VFD Auxiliary are, fron left, Margaret Tatum, president; Jo Ann Watson, vice president; Nene Comedy, secretary-treasurer; and Lisa Shaw, chaplain-historian.

Fire losses down for first nine months of '86

Through the first nine months of 1986, insured fire losses in Haskell have been only $21,500. The biggest individual loss has been $4,000.

Fire Chief Tom Watson says this is one of the lowest figures ever for this length of time.

During the nine months, the department answered 64 calls. Only eight of these have been general alarms (structure fires).

Watson attributes the lack of activity to a more fire-conscious public. The department's fire prevention program has done much to cut losses, the chief believes.

"Kids are a big part of our program," said Watson. "The kids take these programs seriously and they are a big influence on their parents."

Haskell property owners benefit greatly from the low fire losses. Insurance rates are based in large part on losses.

The present fire insurance rate for the protected area (within the city) is 12 cents per $100, one of the lowest in the state.

Also affecting the insurance rate are equipment, training, records, attendance at fires and drills, number of fire plugs, the number of certified firemen, the water supply and several other factors.

Sending firemen to the annual fire marshals training school at Texas A&M allows additional credit.

Members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department are helped tremendously by an auxiliary, composed primarily of wives of firemen.

Each member of the organization is pledged to uphold the purpose of the auxiliary, which is:

"This organization shall become better acquainted with an promote fellowship among the wives of firemen and assist and encourage the firemen in the performance of their duties."

Members meet the first Tuesday of each month at the fire station to plan their functions and activities.

Among the activities in which the auxiliaryis involved are:

-Assist with and provide judges for the Fire Prevention Contest in the schools during Fire Prevention Week.

-Place fire prevention posters in store windows.

-Help with the float for the Christmas parade.

-Assist firemen with the Christmas party.

If firemen have a school or convention here, auxiliary members assist with any needed concessions or luncheons. They take food to firemen when they are on a lengthy fire or rescue operation and they help keep supplies in the fire department kitchen.

Auxiliary members participate in many other activities as occasions alrise. They are currently working on a cook book which will be ready for sale before Christmas.

All funds collected by the auxiliary are donated to the fire department.

Known simply as the Haskell VFD Auxiliary, the organization's membership is not restricted to women.

Long-time fire department supervisor Satch Lusk is an honorary member of the auxiliary. Another honorary member is Leatrice Swinson.

Public supports Fire Department

The public has been generous in responding to the needs of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department.

Although the City of Haskell appropriates funds for the basic needs of the department, it would be impossible for Haskell to have the first-class fire department it does without the assistance of the public.

Firemen raise money through several projects. Among them is the flag and banner program in which they put out flags in fronts of businesses every holiday and place welcome banners in the downtown area to promote rodes, fairs, etc. Each participating business pays the firemen $12 per year for this service.

When a specific need comes up, firemen will put on a special fundraising project or ask the public for donations.

Rural firefighting is financed largely through donations. While the county contributes $2,500 a year to subsidize rural firefighting, it is common practice for the person who has had a fire to make a donation to the department. Others make donations or other contributions on a regular basis.

When the present fire station was built in 1979, it was financed entirely through donations of money, goods, services and labor. The fire department paid to have the foundation installed and the building erected, but firemen and other volunteers did everything else.

Satch Lusk still 'Regular' at station

He retired two years ago, but he still spends a good part of every day at the fire department.

Floyd (Satch) Lusk spent 40 years with the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department. He joined the department as a fireman March 13, 1944 and became supervisor Aug. 1, 1949. He served in that capacity until he retired Aug. 31, 1984.

Upon his retirement, he told an interviewer, "I would not take anything for all of the experiences during the time I was a fireman."

And the people of Haskell probably wouldn't take anything for the services Lusk has rendered to the community.

He saw the department grow from two trucks to six trucks, from 100 feet of two-and-a-half-inch hose to 6,000 feet, from 300 feet of inch-and-a-half hose to 2,600 feet and another 1,200 feet of red line. Pumping capacity increased from 800 gallons per minute to 2,700 gallons.

In the old days, Lusk recalls, firemen were summoned to a siren on top of City Hall. Now firefighters are called by a dispatcher who sends messages via a Plectron receiver in the fireman's home.

For more than 25 years, Lusk attended the annual Texas Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M to keep abreast of the ever-changing firefighting procedures.

He was born Jan. 10, 1910, in Bridgeport, but he moved with his family to Haskell when he was 4 years old.

He and his wife of 52 years, Annie Pearl, still live in the apartment above the fire station. A son, Bobby Joe Lusk, is elementary school principal in Rule. The Haskell couple are also glrandparents of Mrs. Shannon Kittley and Stephen Lusk of Rule and great-grandparents of Trey Kittley

NOZZLE PRACTICE

Rescue Squad Members Pose After Practice

One every three days

Firemen respond to about 100 calls a year

Haskell firemen respond to about 100 calls per year. That's an average of one every three days.

But that's only the visible portion of their duties.

They meet every Monday evening at the fire sation. Meetings alternate between a business meeting and a two-hour drill. Business meetings do not count toward training requirements.

State law requires that a fireman attend no less than 75 percent of all fires and drills. The Haskell department has about a 95-percent attendance records at drills and meetings.

There are no excuses for missing a fire. On any structure fire, when a hose of an inch and a half or larger is used, an attendance record is taken.

As part of a fireman's oath upon coming into the department he agrees to resign voluntarily if there ever is a time when he cannot comply with the requirements.

Understanding employers aid Fire Department

Were it not for some understanding employers, many of Haskell's volunteer firemen would not be able to serve.

An employer who has a fireman in his employ never knows when that person will be called away from work--sometimes for several hours.

In most cases, employees are not docked for the time they take off work to answer fire calls.

Self-employed firemen also understand that they are on call at all times and must immediately drop what they are doing when a fire

On-lookers, arriving at a fire, sometimes block streets, park in front of fire hydrants and hinder the route of firemen arriving on the scene.

Becoming a fireman requires dedication

Becoming a member of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department is no easy task. And once a man has joined the department, he gives a big part of his life to the job.

The fire department does not solicit members. Anyone interested may make application for membership on the force, but his application must be signed by two members, whose signatures represent an endorsement of the applicant.

When there is a vacancy, members study the applications on file and then select (by vote) a person to fill the position.

Once a person joins the department, he begins basic fire training. It requires 162 hours of training, divided into about 25 categories, before a fireman completes his basic certification requirements.

Training includes classes in operation of breathing apparatus, rescue, first aid, inspections, driving, report writing and many other categories.

Training continues after the basic certification as the fireman advances to intermediate and then advance preparation. These courses are much more advanced, and include such subjects as chemistry and math.

It takes about three years, under normal conditions, for a fireman to complete the basic courses. He can expedite certification by attending seminars and training courses elsewhere.

Upon completion of all levels of certification, a Haskell fireman will have virtually the same training as a professional fireman.

Fire department started before city

Haskell had a fire department before the city had a charter.

The Haskell Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1906, a year before the city charter was granted.

Bob Robertson was named the the department's first fire chief.

After getting its charter in 1907, the City created a "Water and Fire Commission." R. C. Montgomery and A. C. Foster served on that commission.

In 1909, the City Council appointed Jack Simmons fire chief. Later that same year, J. L. Odell and W. M. Stephens were appointed to contract for a hose and reel house.

R. E. Sherrill was the first person appointed as fire marshall. His appointment came on June 16, 1910.

Not until 1923 did the city purchase its first fire trucks. Two Dodge Brothers' trucks, equipped with Northern fire apparatus hose and chemicals, were bought for $3,350 each.

In 1939, an American LaFrance 500-gallon pumper was bought. In 1951, a Ford truck with American LaFrance apparatus was purchased and in 1970, the department added a 1970 Ford truck with apparatus built by Texas Fire Appliance.

In 11957, the department built its first rural grass fire truck, which was paid for by the volunteer fire department and through donations from area farmers and ranchers.

Another rural truck was built in 1972 to serve for grass fires and as a tank truck on rural residential fires and oil fires.

Today, the department has six trucks, including a 1980 750-gallon-per-minute pumper, a 1970 and a 1965 500-gpm pumper, a rescue van and two trucks for fighting rural and grass fires.

The Haskell Volunteer Fire Department consists of three companies, totaling 32 firemen, each equipped with the most modern protective clothing and equipment to fight any type of fire.

The department is a member of the Texas State Firemen and Fire Marshal's Association. It has a mutual assistance agreement with fire departments in nearby cities.

Three companies formed in 1909

Fire Chief Jack Simmons had three companies of firefighters when he headed the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department in 1909.

Members were:

Company 1: John G. Russell, captain; Charles Irby, Henry Johnson, Mack Mauldin, Jesse B. Smith. R. M. Craig, C. C. Garrett, J. W. Gilliam, Henry Brewer, Ollie Henderson and C. M. Hunt.

Company 2: J. T. Ellis, captain; J. U. Fields, K. Jones, W. R. Alexander, O. B. Norman, B. F. Norman, H. E. Fields, R. D. C. Stephens, T. F. Brooks, J. V. Hudson and K. D. Simmons.

Company 3: I. B. Russell, captain; W. H. Patterson, Dave Parnell, T. C. Williams, Walter Hicks, L. C. Killingsworth, W. A. Marsha, W. K. Whiteman and T. J. Arbuckle.

Nine firemen reach intermediate certification

Three more Haskell firemen have completed requirements for intermediate certification as firefighters.

Latest to join this elite group are Sonny Reynolds, Jerry Stocks and Randy Shaw.

This brings to nine the number of Haskell firemen who have reached this plateau.

To qualify for intermediate certification, a fireman must have 122 hours of training, above the 162 hours required for basic certification.

Of 30 members on the Haskell force, 20 now have at least basic certification. The other 10 are in the process of meeting the requirements of 162 hours of training. Several are approaching that goal.

TOM WATSON

Head man at the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department is Tom Watson, a 33 year veteran of the force.

As fire chief and supervisor of the departent, he oversees day-to-day operations, keeps tabs on the equipment, supervises the firemen and training, does the paper work and stays on top of all activities.

As fire chief, he also is the county's emergency management coordinator. He is in charge of operations in any major disaster emergency, such as tornadoes.

The retired Borden milk distributor has been fire chief since 1959 having served in that capacity longer than anyone in the department's 80-year history. He has been a member of the department since 1953. Since the retirement of Floyd (Satch) Lusk in 1984, he also has held the role of supervisor, a part-time position for which he receives a modest salary.

"The fire department has meant a lot to me," says Watson. "I'm associated with a group of great guys. I enjoy the training. And I'm very proud of our department."

Watson is extremely popular with the men he leads. He's also highly regarded with other firemen throughout the state. He has been an instructor at the Texas Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M University for the past 15 years.

Except for a seven-year stint in the Army, Watson has resided in Haskell county since he was seven years old. He was born in Jonesboro, but he moved to Rule when he was seven. He graduated from Rule High School.

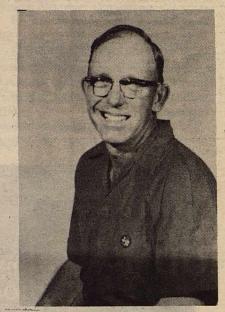

In 1938, he joined the peace-time Army. A month after the Dec. 7, 1941 attack on Pearl Habor, Watson's 93rd Anti-Aircraft battery was facing the Japanese in the Pacific.

As first sergeant in the 93rd, Watson was in the Pacific theater for the duration. He didn't come home until October 1945.

Discharged in November of that year, he returned to Haskell and went to work almost immediately as a route man for Mead's Bakery. In 1953, he established a Borden distributorship in this area, a business he continued to operate until he retired in January 1982.

Watson and his wife, Mary, have two daughters, Elouise Perry of Arlington and Christyne Green of Haskell, and three sons, Tom Jr., Sam and George, all of Haskell.

George is a Haskell High School senior. All of the other Watson offspring are graduates of Haskell High.

Prevent Fires!

Tremendous progress has been made in the prevention of fire; progress in fire fighting and building safety alone has lessened the toll taken of life and property in an earlier time in our nation's history due to conflagrations. Yet today, there are still many thousands of people who die each year, and hundreds of thousands more who receive serious injuries. Some of these fires are caused by people who don't know what to do or do the wrong thing when confronted with fire. Read these fire safety cautions and help in the battle to prevent fires!

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

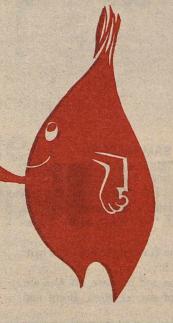

DON'T

overload electrical outlets or leave cords where children can pull on them.

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

touch an electrical appliance that gets wet. Water and electricity combined cause shock.

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

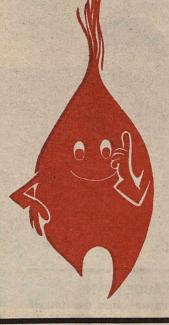

smoke in bed!
People who do are a danger to the whole family! Check all ashtrays before you retire.

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

DON'T

have pot handles extending out where children can reach them. Turn pot handles in.

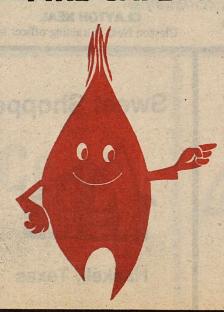

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

DON'T

store things near your furnace or heater. Sort and remove all rubbish and flammable liquids.

FIRE SAFETY CAUTION:

DON'T

have matches or cigarette lighters where children can reach them. Put them up and out of the way!
