Bank invites visitors

The First National Bank of Haskell will open its doors to the public between 2 and 5 p.m. Sunday. It'll be open house at First National in the bank's spanking new building at 200 S. Ave. E.

The public is invited to visit the bank during these hours. Refreshments will be served and the winners announced in the create-a-word and coloring contests now open to students.

The bank moved into its new building Aug. 25, and officers and employees are anxious for the public to inspect the facilities.

Contractor for the 6,200-square-foot building was High Cotton Custom Builders of Rule.

First National Bank opened its doors Jan. 22, 1985, and has enjoyed a steady growth since. Today, the bank has total assets in excess of $9.7 million.

Officers of the bank are Bobby Hobgood, president; Will Parker, executive vice president; and Elaine Duke, assistant cashier.

Directors include Hobgood, Parker, Burnell Gilleland, Doyle High, Lonnie Hollingsworth, Bill Jones and Joseph Thigpen.

Seven employees, in addition to the officers, serve the needs of the bank's customers. They include Bob Acree, teller; Michelle Bateman, specialty teller; Debbie Kennedy, teller; Selina McGuire, secretary; Norma Richardson, new accounts; Janet Thane, note department; and Debbie Williams, bookkeeper.

Students paint windows here Saturday afternoon

GIANT TOMATO VINE

This tomato vine, planted from a seed, in the flower bed of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Frazier at 601 N. Ave. E is taking over the whole area. It is loaded with numerous green tomatoes. Another tomato vine, planted on the other side of the porch at the same time, is "normal."

Downtown windows in Haskell will be painted Saturday.

The annual Halloween contest is sponsored by the Retail Merchants' Association.

Participants in the contest will be divided into four age groups: kindergarten through third grade, fourth through sixth, junior high and high school.

Cash prizes, donated by participating merchants, will be divided among the winners of the four categories.

Students must obtain permission in advance from the merchants before painting their windows.

Paint is being furnished by the Retail Merchants' Association. It may be picked up at the Sport About on the north side of the square between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Each participant must furnish his/her brushes and paint container.

Windows are to be painted from 1 to 5 p.m. only. Elementary students are required to have an adult supervisor, but must paint the windows themselves without help from parents or others. Anyone not complying with the rules will be disqualified.

Sponsors suggest that students contact merchants as soon as possible to reserve their windows to paint.

Completion of project to be noted

State officials will join in dedication ceremonies Tuesday of the recently completed street and water project in the southwest part of town.

City administrator Robert Baker was contacted Monday by the office of the executive director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs who requested that local ceremonies be planned.

Baker said the dedication program will begin at 2 p.m. in front of the Brick Village Apartments. City and county officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives will join state officials in the ceremony.

The community development program involved the paving of 26 blocks, the installation 9,300 feet of water lines, 10 fire hydrants and 24 gate valves. A state grant provided $273,027.45 for the project. The City put up $10,000.

Pancakes

The Haskell Lions' annual pancake supper will be Nov. 7 in the high school lunch room.

Tickets are priced at $3 for adults and $1.50 for those under 12.

Auto Show hailed as huge success

Participants and sponsors of the first Haskell Automobile Show expressed complete satisfaction with the event held here Saturday.

An estimated 500 to 600 persons visited the show at the Civic Center and fairgrounds. Public response to the event reinforced the Chamber of Commerce's desire that the show will become an annual affair.

Prizes and winners during the show included:

Two turkeys from M-System, won by C. O. Holt and Gene Long; a child's riding pickup from Osborne's by A. C. Richardson; a thermostat from Cook Heating and Cooling by Rosemary Brown; a satin jacket from Harmon Cablevision by Darren Brandon; a car stereo from Anderson Tire by Levi Garlick.

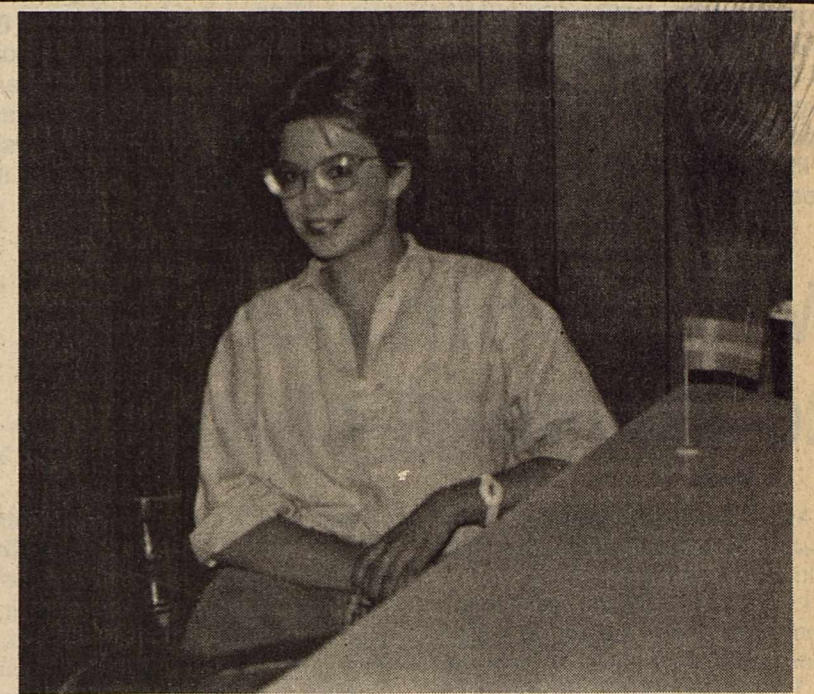

A car vacuum from Williams 277 Paint and Body Shop by Charlotte Peiser; an AM/FM radio, tape player from the Chamber of Commerce by Phil Henshaw; chef aprons from Olney Savings by Mrs. Henry Rueffer, Tommy Anderson, M. C. Josselet and Pearl Reinhart; discount certificates from Patterson's Sun Shield to Cecil L. Shirey, E. E. Collins and A. C. Johnson.

Ice coolers, basketballs and footballs from Smitty's by Ken Lane, Lorene Harris, Jeremy Jordan, Steven Foster, Ember Miller, Abe Turner, B. C. Chapman, Ervin Unger, E. C. Collins, Cliff Dunnam, Leisa Hutchinson, Tara Moeller, Sarah Denmon, Randy Shaw, Eva Dell Hester, Rosemary Brown, Carolyn Reynolds, Kenneth Wood and Casey Caldwell.

The First National Bank let people guess the weight of a large pumpkin. Cliff Dunnam won a $100 bond by guessing the exact weight of 34 pounds, 3 ounces.

Booth attendants gave away many other items.

Elizabeth Scharff
...Swedish girl visits Haskell "parents"

Exchange student visits 'parents' here

By Wendell Faught

Haskell, Texas, is a far piece from Mjølby, Sweden, but Elizabeth Scharff doesn't feel far from home as she visits here from her native country.

The 19-year-old Swedish girl is a visitor in the home of Gwen and Duward Campbell of Haskell. She arrived Oct. 4 and will be here until Nov. 20.

The Campbells were Elizabeth's foster parents when she attended Haskell High School as an exchange student in 1984-85.

She graduated from Haskell High in 1985, but her graduation was little more than a formality since she had the Swedish equivalent of a high school diploma.

Since returning home, she's attended gymnasium, a college preparatory school, and later will go to the university. "But not now," she says. "I haven't made up my mind what I want to study."

In the interim, she's travelling. She spent a month touring the east coast and the midwest after arriving in America in September and she'll spend some time in Washington, D.C., before she returns home. Then, she'll be going to Italy where she hopes to work for about six months. She's applied for a position as an au pair, sort of like a live-in maid or domestic servant, she explains. (She's been working in a nursing home.)

Since arriving in Haskell, she's been helping her "American parents" with various chores, and getting in touch with old acquaintances. She said she had seen "15 or so" of her former classmates, and hopes to see others.

Elizabeth is fluent in English, as Swedish students are required to take six years of English, beginning in the fourth grade. She's taken four years of German and three years of French and can speak those languages, in addition to English and her native tongue. She's also had a year each of Greek and Italian, but says she's not fluent in those languages.

She recalls good times at Haskell High. She explains that extracurricular activities, so much a part of the American school system, are strictly after-school activities in Sweden. "There's more pride in school here," she adds, "and discipline is much more strict."

Her "real parents" are educators. Her mother teaches French and English and her father is a retired principal.

The Swedish government offers more social programs. Health care is free, as is child care, and employers are required to give employees five weeks of paid vacation a year. Many people pay 60 percent of their income, or more, in taxes.

Elizabeth points out that there is little crime in Sweden. The assassination of the Swedish prime minister last spring is uncharacteristic of the country, she explains. She blames the unsolved murder on terrorists operating from outside the country.

She came to America originally through the American-Scandinavian Student Exchange program. Although students must meet certain scholastic requirements to enter the program, the principal criteria is their interest and their ability to meet new people, experience new cultures and adapt to new environments.

Exchange students are common around the Campbell household. The family has had 12 of them, including three foreign students, since 1978. They were visited during this past summer by Klavs Nielsen of Denmark, who, like Elizabeth, stayed with the Campbells while attending Haskell High as a senior in 1983-84.

Festival Saturday by Boosters

Haskell Band Boosters will host a Fall Festival from 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Civic Center.

Activities will include a cake walk, ring toss, basketball/football throw, sponge throw, dart throw, fortune telling, bingo, bean guess, face painting, "go fishing" and a concession stand.

Workers are asked to meet at the center between 9 and 11 a.m. to set up for booths. Cakes for the cake walk may be brought to the center at this time, or between 5 and 6 p.m. Chairmen have been asked to be at the center between 5 and 6 p.m. to be prepared for the night's activities.

Each band student is requested to bring one cake.

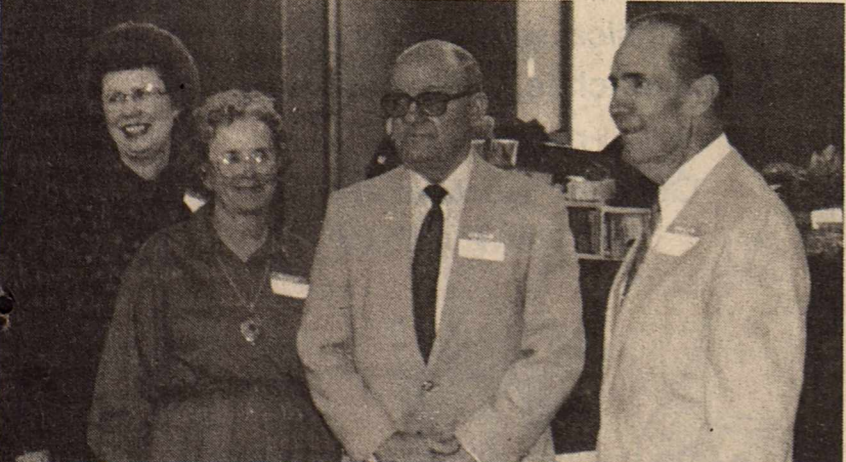

Band Boosters invite everyone to come out and enjoy the fun. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the band.

Farm programs to be discussed

Farmers and other interested persons are invited to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) during which the 1987 Farm Program, ASCS loan on cotton and the Sodbuster Program will be discussed.

Sponsored by the Haskell County Farm Bureau, the program will include discussions led by Glen Brzozowski, county ASCS director, and Jim Hudson, SCS district conservationist.

The program will be in the Civic Center.

CLERKS MEET

Haskell was host last Friday to district clerks and county clerks from 28 counties of area II. Above, from left, are Carolyn Reynolds, district clerk from Haskell; Dorothy Brown, county and district clerk from Borden County; Raymond Dennis, county clerk of Hockley County; and Woodrow Frazier, county clerk from Haskell. Seventy-five people registered for the business sessions at the courthouse.

WEDDING PLANNED

A Jan. 31 wedding is planned by Stacia Kay Wilkerson and Marion B. Wilkerson. The wedding will be in the First Baptist Church Chapel in Big Spring. Miss Wilkerson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion B. Wilkerson of Garden City, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Robertson of Weinert. A graduate of Weinert High School, Robertson received a bachelor of business administration degree from Angelo State University in August. Miss Wilkerson will receive a similar degree from the same school in December.

Mrs. Perrin hostess to Josselet club

Mrs. John Paul Perrin hosted the Josselet Extension Homemakers Club at its regular meeting Oct. 14.

Lou Gilly, county agent/home demonstration, gave a very informative and interesting program on "What Determines the Price of Food."

Fourteen club members and one guest answered roll call with "A new product I have tried."

Thank you notes were read. The first-place ribbon won at the County Fair at the Educational booth by the club was displayed. Club members gave special thanks to Mrs. Carl Bailey, Mrs. Eldon Anderson, Mrs. Chester Abbott and Mrs. Gladys O'Neal for their beautiful work done on the display.

Mrs. Ermal Bevel was selected from Josselet Club as nominee for "Club Woman of the Year."

Retha Mullins, club president, appointed Mrs. Bevel and Mrs. Margaret Wall to attend the leader training meeting Oct. 29 at the Extension office on "Care and Maintenance of Upholstered Furniture."

Club officers were elected for the coming year.

Mrs. O'Neal had her mother, Mrs. Bessie Fouts, with her as a special guest. Visitors are always welcome.

The hostess served a beautiful and refreshing refreshment plate which everyone enjoyed very much.

Next meeting will be Nov. 11 in the home of Mrs. Rebus Guess.

Young Homemakers enjoy costume party

The Haskell High School Homemaking cottage was the site of the Haskell Young Homemakers Halloween party Oct. 13.

Children of the Young Homemakers came in costume, dressed as ghosts, witches, dragons, draculas, clowns, tigers, cowboys, cheerleaders, football players, ballerinas and Coke cans.

Randy McLelland, as "Uh! Oh!" the clown, provided the entertainment for the 43 children and adults present. Several children assisted him with a variety of magic tricks and watched as he made a snake, turtle, rabbit and dog from balloons. Each child received a balloon animal when he left the party. "Uh! Oh!" the clown then invited everyone to join in as he played the guitar and sang some silly songs.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Connie Stone, Bonnie Neal, Sheila Griffith and Becky Howeth. They also furnished the door prize which was won by Rosemary Brown.

A short business meeting was held after refreshments were served. Tickets to the arts and crafts sale and lunch to be served at the sale were passed out to members. Tickets can be bought in advance from any Young Homemaker for $4. A ticket will be good for lunch and admission to the arts and crafts sale Nov. 8.

A big thank you went to D'Anne Melton for all the work she did on the Haskell County Fair Queen's Contest. Valiene Bullinger passed out the yearbooks.

An Epicurean's Holiday will be the topic for the next meeting Nov. 10 in the home of Roberta High. This will be a video presentation of holiday recipes that all members will want to see.

Attention Wheat Growers

Fall Armyworms are already being found in area fields. The advantage of planting will be lost if insects are allowed to destroy the stand. To assist you with your wheat pest management program Ag Management will be offering a wheat scouting program. With wheat prices being depressed, it will be more important than ever to have a timely pest control strategy.

The investment in a scouting program will pay for itself if one panic spray application is avoided or one field is saved from severe damage.

If you are interested in this wheat scouting program or would like further information please contact:

BULL FIGHT TODAY

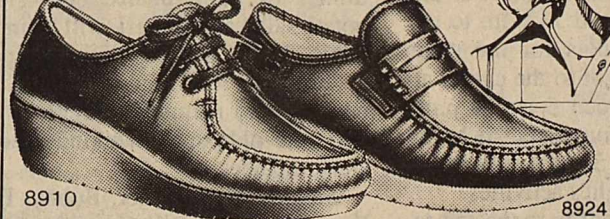

TEXAS BULLFIGHTER ...
One of the greatest non-Latin professional bullfighters of all time was Harper Lee, a native of Ysleta, Texas. He achieved his reputation in only three years, from 1908 to 1911. He appeared in 52 bullfights, primarily in Mexico, and was credited with 100 bulls. During his brief career he suffered two near-fatal gorings. He retired in 1911 to become a construction superintendent in San Antonio.

Campaigns switch to '2 minute offense

AUSTIN—With Election Day just over a week away, some political campaigns are throwing bombs like a losing quarterback would during a two-minute offense drill.

And out-of-state experts are trying to influence or predict what is happening in Texas, as if they were sitting in a press box.

Texas voters don't like to be "read" and generally keep their cards to their vests. But the crystal ball game is always fun to try, and it's even more fun watching non-Texans try it.

Last week, news broke here that an ABC-News-Washington Post poll done in September showed former Gov. Bill Clements, Republican, beating Gov. Mark White, Democrat, by some 15 points, 56 to 41 percent.

In Capitol halls, that was too big a drink of water to swallow. A recent Texas media poll had Clements leading by 12 points and two lobby polls had the difference at 8 points.

Street talk says the election will be close, as always.

Hobby Slams GOP

You can count on one hand the times Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has publicly gotten mad and fought back, but he did it last week.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

He was provoked by what many feel is a transparent attempt to discredit him and other Democrats on the brink of an election.

After a Washington, D.C. newspaper story claimed the FBI was investigating him and other Texans for peddling influence in a land development scheme, Hobby lashed back, calling it "Republican election time sleaze."

Hobby charged that GOP political operatives peddled that story to the Texas press last spring, but finding no takers, they went north to the Washington Times.

The Republican Party denied any involvement.

No evidence of an FBI probe was found. The FBI didn't confirm any probe. None of the officials reportedly involved had been contacted by the FBI.

The other Democratic officials reported to have invested money in the Houston development are Houston Congressman Mike Andrews, Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, Texas Coordinating Board director Bill Caraway, and former Texas State University System Board regent Bill Wright.

Judicial Probe Ends

A real Texas House investigation into charges of improper conduct by two Texas Supreme Court justices will apparently die on the vine, producing no fruit.

Committee chairman Frank Tejeda, a representative who will advance to the state senate this election, said a defamation lawsuit had scared off witnesses. Another panel member, Rep. Juan Hinojosa, said no smoking gun had been found and most committee members probably favored calling no more witnesses.

The State Commission on Judicial Conduct will continue to look into charges against Justices C. L. Ray and William Kilgarlin. Both denied any wrongdoing.

Other Highlights

• Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox accused the State Board of Insurance of caring more for insurance company profits than workers' safety and LaMarque legislator Lloyd Criss offered to file legislation giving that authority to the AG's office.

Mattox also issued a legal opinion giving the board mandatory duty to revoke the license of companies which fail to provide accident prevention services.

• Democrat Andrew Briscoe III, who finished second behind Mark White in the spring party primary, last week endorsed GOP candidate Bill Clements over White.

White's campaign promptly called it a buy-off, accusing Briscoe of selling his endorsement to pay his campaign debt. Both Clements and Briscoe denied any such arrangement.

• Texas banking experts were fearful of a drop in net income for Texas banks after one of the healthier banks, RepublicBank Corp showed a 55.1 percent year-to-year decline last quarter.

Certainly, the third quarter is not viewed as a turn-around period for Texas banks troubled by shaky energy loans.

• Former state Rep. Mike Martin was being sought last week by a Dallas grand jury on charges of taking illegal custody of his children.

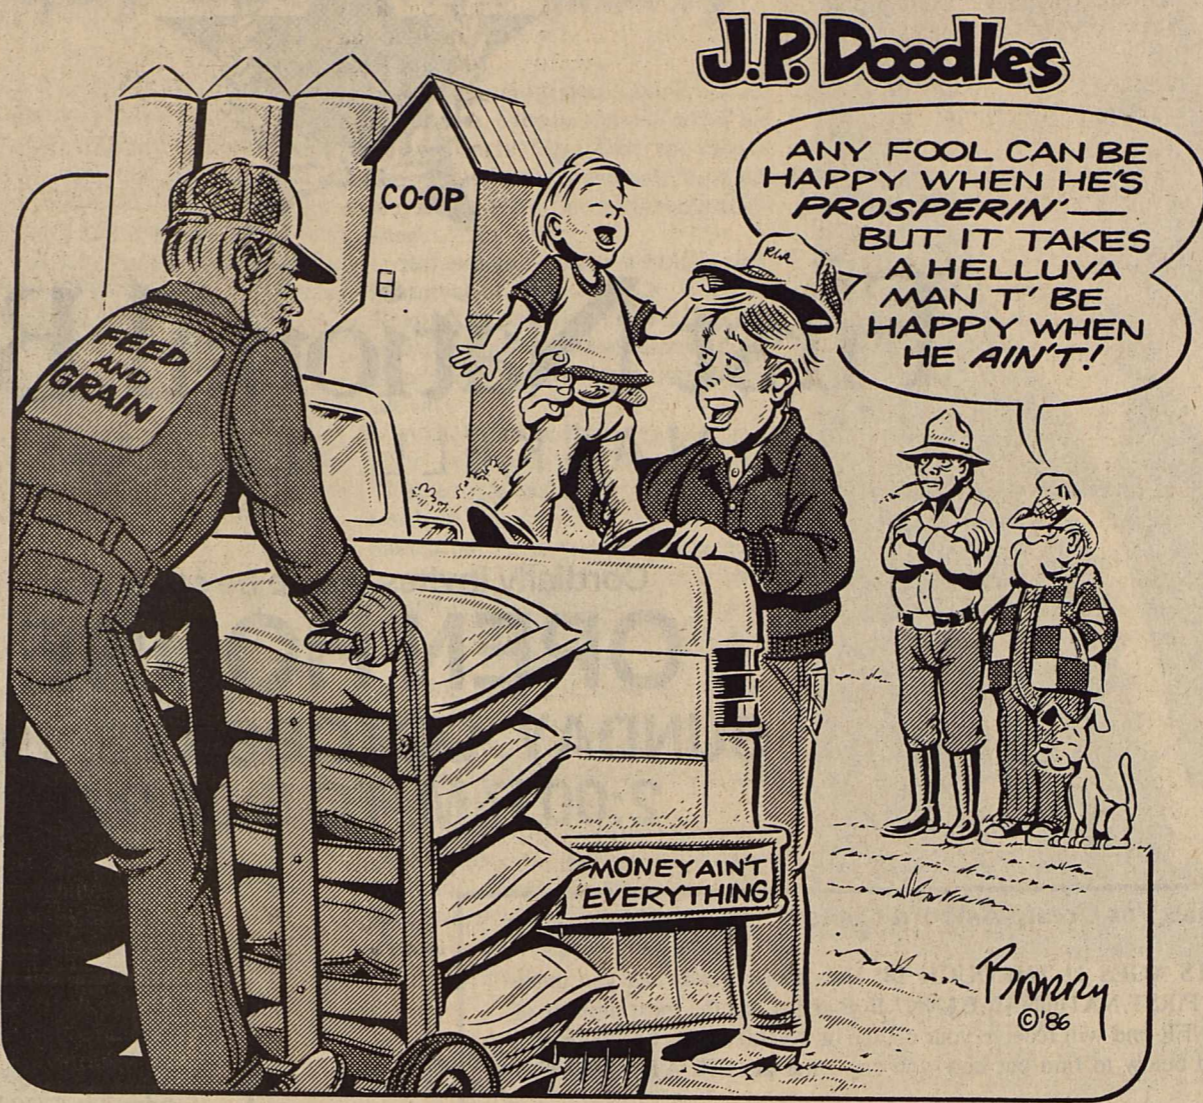

Martin, a Longview Republican, made headlines in '81 for allegedly staging his own shooting to make himself a public hero, according to a cousin involved in the incident.

Martin's former wife charges he has not returned their two children following their annual summer-visit with him.

Ask VA

Q. Does a general discharge from military service qualify me for benefits from the VA?

A. Yes. Honorable and general discharges qualify veterans for benefits, unless other statutory bars to entitlement exist.

A 1,200-pound bull elk, believed to the largest killed in Colorado elk country in years, was bagged by C. G. Burson, Sr., of this city, who returned during the weekend from a five-day hunting trip with three companions from Haskell. Others in the party were Rev. M. D. Rexrode, Vernay Burson and C. G. Burson, Jr. Each member of the group was successful in bringing back a deer.

The City Council discussed local problems when they met Tuesday evening in regular session, but the only action taken was in an attempt to cut down on property damage during the coming Halloween celebration. Police Commissioner Brooks Middleton was authorized by the Council to arrange a conference between the City Police Department and the Sheriff's Department in order that plans may be made to curb activities which might lead to property damage.

Ted Dement, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Dement, was presented with the Boy Scout God and Country Award during special services at the First Methodist Church Sunday.

First "Soil Bank" checks for Haskell County farmers in wheat and cotton acreage reserve were being signed today, and notices went out to about 300 farmers to call for their checks, ASC Secretary Loyd Feemster stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Monke of Weinert were pleasantly surprised Friday evening with a party planned for them by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Liles. It was in honor of their birthdays, Mr. Monke's on Oct. 20 and Mrs. Monke's on Oct. 18.

Miss Shelley Hunter of New Orleans, the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Persons of Haskell, appeared on the "Today" television program Friday. The popular Dave Garroway program originated from New Orleans for several days. It was then that Miss Hunter performed a ballet dance on the program. She is 17 years old and a senior in high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Davidson and daughter of Lubbock spent the weekend visiting in Haskell with Mrs. Davidson's mother, Mrs. Wylie Quattlebaum.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Kemp of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Kitley of Weatherford have just returned from a week's vacation in Western Colorado where they were deer hunting. All returned with a deer.

50 Years Ago Oct. 21, 1936

Miss Eunice Huckabee and Mrs. W. A. Kimbrough accompanied Mrs. Hugh Ratliff to her home in Shreveport, La., this week and will visit there several days.

Mrs. L. F. Taylor and daughter, Miss Maybelle, are in Dallas visiting a daughter and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom French.

Among the old timers here attending the Central West Texas Fair and Pioneers Reunion are J. B. Marr of Kansas City, Bill Marr of Dallas, E. C. Marr and T. L. Marr of Aspermont. They are brothers of L. E. Marr of Haskell, and all lived here at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Odell and John H. Banks were in Abilene Tuesday attending Federal court.

A family reunion was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hays Saturday and Sunday. All of their children were present. They were Rhea Hays of Safford, Ariz., Mrs. Lonnie Griffin of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hilburn of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tudor and baby of Throckmorton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brock and son of Haskell.

Mrs. Vaughn Bailey of Dallas is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. C. Norton, this week.

60 Years Ago Oct. 21, 1926

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Patterson are the parents of a fine boy, born Oct. 12.

A heavy rain fell in the Center Point and Sayles communities Friday, causing some damage to open cotton. However, farmers generally were pleased with the promise of a good winter season in the ground.

A number of neighbors met at the home of Nolan Bristow in the Sweet Home community Friday and spent the day picking cotton for him. He has been ill with typhoid fever and unable to see after harvesting his crop.

Contract for construction of the new City Hall has been awarded to W. M. Harrison & Son, contractors of this city. Their bid of $14,200 was the lowest submitted.

Miss Frances Grissom spent the weekend with her sister, Anita, who is attending TCU in Fort Worth and they visited the Dallas Fair.

Wolf hunters in the Roberts community report good hunting Saturday night. They ran a large wolf and finally their dogs caught it in Mr. Lewellen's pasture.

Spreading rails, caused by heavy rains softening the roadbed, resulted in the wreck of an Orient work train north of Sagerton Sunday morning. Ten cars, including a piledriver, were piled up along the right of way.

Ted and Henry Marugg and George Hanson of the Plainview community spent the weekend in Dallas where they attended the State Fair. They made the trip in Henry Marugg's car.

80 Years Ago Oct. 20, 1906

J. U. Fields and Miss Dulin Fields are attending the Dallas Fair this week.

D. Scott, who got a fall and was seriously hurt while working on the Neathery Building several weeks ago, is able to be out again.

F. M. Morton returned Monday from Fort Worth where he accompanied a shipment of cattle made by him and other parties last week.

S. R. Rike, John E. Robertson and Warren Fitzgerald are taking in the Dallas Fair this week.

John A. Howard of the south side was in town Tuesday. He says they had regular trash floating rains Saturday night and Sunday.

Judge O. E. Oates and son, John, left Wednesday on a visit to the Dallas Fair.

Henry Free of the east side was in town Wednesday and reported he had 17 bales of cotton picked and ginned and stacked up at home, and had not sold a bale. He said he thought he would get about 20 more.

Elmer Lee, son of Wheeler Lee of Carney, has accepted a position as bookkeeper in the S. L. Robertson store.

Martin Jones, who lives on Miss Lizzie Mason's farm, was in town this week with his eighth bale of cotton to be ginned. He said he thought he would make 16 bales, which will be pretty fair for a single handed farmer.

Big loss

Editor: The Haskell Chamber of Commerce has lost one of its strongest and longest supporters--Mrs. Charles M. Conner.

Her husband was a charter member of this Chamber, and she continued after his death, actively recruiting many new members. In addition, she personally paid the membership dues for two churches, the Experienced Citizens Center, and another individual besides her own.

In 1977, the community named her its most outstanding citizen. In 1983, she was made an honorary lifetime member of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

She had a philosophy based on some words by an anonymous writer which she shared with the Chamber: "Tell me, I forget; Show me, I remember; Involve me, I understand."

The Board of Directors and membership of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce are saddened by this loss, but her influence lives on. As generous as she was with both time and money, her example was even more valuable, and her efforts deeply appreciated.

Thanks

Editor: The first annual Automobile Show sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce was a huge success--thanks to the participation and work of many.

We thank the 12 antique car owners who entered their vehicles; the three local automobile dealers for displaying the new cars, vans and pickups; the farm supply dealers for their exhibits; the out-of-town exhibitors; the boat dealers, the 34 exhibitors; and the more than 700 people who attended the show.

General Chairman Bud Lane is due much credit for his leadership, along with other Chamber directors and their wives and husbands, and the Judges scratched their heads and did a re-take on one entry as they were scrutinizing students' fire prevention posters the other day.

The art work was fine. The theme was carried out. But the message in large letters read: "Help Stomp Out Fire Prevention."

They weren't quite sure whether the youngster who submitted the poster had his terminology mixed up, or was just disgusted with his assignment.

Herschel Walker and Steve Peulleur seem to have solved most of the problems in Dallas. Maybe there's hope yet for Hunt Oil.

Regardless of the eventual consequences of the Reykjavik conference, the American people are winners in one respect.

Up until now, most of us thought the name of the Icelandic capital was not pronounceable.

Gramm-Rudman-Hollings was supposed to give us a budget deficit of $172 billion for the year just closed.

Taking the three parts of that number, 1 and 7 and 2, the lawmakers did pretty well. The 1 was 1 over, the 7 was 5 under and the 2 was right on the nose. But anyway you look at it, the actual $222 billion deficit is off by a cool $50 billion.

Charles Thornhill says the Haskell Band Boosters serve better chili on their hot dogs than anyone else.

And Charlie should know. The insurance-man-turned-ad-peddler is one of those who believes a ball game is not a ball game without a hot dog.

It's that time of year when all major professional sports are going head-to-head.

Here in the middle of football season, we're in the midst of a World Series. And pro basketball teams have begun the exhibition season.

Baseball takes on a new dimension during the World Series. A lot of people who don't know a baseball bat from a pogo stick suddenly become die-hard fans.

Wife Pat is on the kind of diet that any dieter would be proud of: Red meat, fried foods, cheeses, sauces, milk shakes (with half and half), peanut butter and all kinds of rich desserts.

"Gain weight!" ordered the doc. She's seen her weight go up not a pound. But she's beginning to see a lot more of me.

It's beginning to happen--what with all the acquisitions, mergers and takeovers. Some of America's corporate giants can't see the forest for the money trees.

Latest victim is Pepsi, which has been ordered to remove its products from Wendy's hamburger outlets.

Wendy's, understandably, was miffed when Pepsi-owned Kentucky Fried Chicken and Taco Bell began advertising campaigns taking direct slaps at the hamburger industry.

It's no small loss for Pepsi. Wendy's has been selling more than a quarter billion dollars worth of Pepsi goods a year.

The fat cats say that shifting income taxes from individuals to businesses will mean higher prices because business will simply pass the taxes on to the customer in the form of higher prices.

Rep. Bill Bradley doesn't buy that reasoning. He points out that a General Electric appliance costs the same as a Whirlpool.

Whirlpool paid 36 percent of its profits in taxes between 1981 and 1984. GE paid not a dime.

There's enough blame for everyone in the current drug problem: the grower, the exporter, the importer, the pusher.

But if it weren't for the user, none of the others would exist.

The crusty old editor I once worked for said that Halloween was his 46th favorite holiday.

"It comes right after New Year's Day with a hangover," he was fond of saying.

Special Deliveries. It's a boy or It's a girl pencils to announce those new arrivals. Haskell Free Press.

Law enforcement

Editor: We are aware that towns and cities are continually trying to improve their looks by a clean up and fix up process.

We, are we even more acutely aware that we must improve the safety of our streets and highways?

Twice in the past year, I have been hassled on a highway near Haskell by people who have a problem with substance abuse. Each time, I did nothing to warrant their erratic behavior. Not knowing these people, I was a woman travelling alone with no one to help. The first occasion happened about 9 p.m. and the other on a Sunday afternoon. The danger is ever present--that of alcohol and drug abuse?

You may not think that you are directly involved. But, if you go anywhere either by walking or automobile--then yes, even you are involved in this growing menace.

Each of us must support our loyal law enforcement and do all that we can to control this threat to ourselves and our loved ones. These people risk their very lives to protect us. And, in return, how do we as citizens of Haskell County thank them?

Editor: Never again should Sul Ross State University be required to prove its need for existence as it did during the summer of 1986. A very large amount of negative publicity about Sul Ross during the early summer rapidly evolved into a massive amount of good publicity after July 10. Enrollment is now up more than 10 percent. Now is the time for us to move forward.

Many of us feel that there is only one way to prevent a reoccurrence of the summer of 1986, and that is a continued increase in enrollment. We feel that Sul Ross needs 2,300 to 2,500 students on campus in Alpine and another 500 to 700 at Uvalde to be secure. We also feel that a strong and vocal Sul Ross Ex-Student Association can do much to achieve this goal.

Many excellent West Texas students are being lured away from Sul Ross simply because other universities have more scholarship dollars to offer. A strong Ex-Student Association can improve this situation. Our goal is a tenfold increase in membership within the year, and it will be done.

The dues are now $15 for a single Sul Ross ex or $20 for a Sul Ross couple. The benefits include an annual subscription to the Sul Ross "Skyline" quarterly issues of the Sul Ross Ex-Student Association newsletter, and regular newsletters from the office of President Jack Humphries. In addition, each new member will enjoy a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that he or she is helping in some small measure a college that has helped so many of us in the past.

incidence, and information about the victims, both at the time of injury and after treatment.

"Such information will be invaluable in defining which services are needed most and where," Weatherall explained. "But perhaps more importantly, more accurate data should signal where we need more stress on injury prevention. EMS is one profession that would like not to be needed."

Weatherall said that until the trauma registry is complete, EMS relies on a variety of information sources to indicate the proportionate frequency of certain types of injuries. "The number of recorded deaths caused by different kinds of unintentional injuries shows us the types of serious injuries that occur more often," he said.

City sprays for mosquitoes and cattails

Rains and warm weather have brought about an over-abundance of mosquitoes in recent weeks, forcing the City of Haskell to spray the insects.

Spraying last week was several weeks later in the year than the normal final spraying.

Another spraying project being done by the City this week is the application of the herbicide Rodeo on the cattails in the creek.

City administrator Robert Baker said the City had been advised earlier that the cattails could be killed permanently if the Rodeo application could be delayed until the cattails bloom. But, for some reason, he said they never did bloom this year.

The city official said that Rodeo is the only herbicide certified by the EPA for use in a watershed.

EMS gives aid on short notice

Emergency medical service (EMS) personnel treat a broad variety of injuries on a critically short notice.

According to Gene Weatherall, chief of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) Bureau of Emergency Management, Texas' more than 2,200 EMS units respond to an estimated one million calls annually.

"Of course, not all of the responses involve life-saving techniques or treatment for traumatic injuries, but any call can demand the most sophisticated knowledge and skills at the EMS team's disposal," Weatherall said. "Whereas one call may entail a simple transfer of a patient from one hospital to another, the next call could require resuscitating a drowning victim who has multiple injuries."

Weatherall explained that exact totals for each type of EMS response are currently not available from any single source, but that plans for a statewide "trauma registry" are under consideration. The registry will collect detailed statistics about Texas' incidence of injuries, types of response and treatment, locations of highest

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

For $12.95 anyone—drug smugglers included—can mail order a catalog detailing the radio frequencies used by the Drug Enforcement Administration, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other federal agencies.

Then, with a simple scanner purchased at a consumer electronics store, anyone can listen to the radio conversations of our law enforcement agents—broadcast mostly in the clear, without voice encryption or frequency security.

It's no secret to drug smugglers that they can simply and legally obtain that catalog. They know they don't have to buy a van crammed with sophisticated electronics gear to avoid being caught in the net of a drug bust.

This is a ridiculous situation. We spend hundreds of millions of dollars a year fighting drug traffickers, yet we do nothing to stop these criminals from electronically snooping on the tactical communications of our law enforcement agencies. For example, when DEA requested $7 million this year for secure voice walkie-talkies, the Office of Management and Budget completely cut the funding.

The original version of the comprehensive anti-drug bill recently approved by the Senate included funds for secure voice communications equipment for the Customs Service and Coast Guard.

But it left out the DEA, the FBI, and the Secret Service—which is often drawn into drug trafficking investigations while enforcing credit card fraud and counterfeiting laws.

To remedy this, I introduced—and the Senate has approved—an amendment to provide these three agencies with secure communications equipment. It increases the total cost of the anti-drug bill by $9 million. To close such a serious gap, this one-time expense is a small price to pay.

And when Congress reconvenes, I will continue my long-time fight to improve the tools we have to combat drug smuggling—especially in Texas.

Back in 1978, I authored the Psychotropic Substances Act which restricted purchase of a key ingredient in the drug PCP or "angel dust," and stiffened penalties for trafficking in PCP—which produces horrifying psychotic reactions.

In 1983, the Caribbean Basin Initiative included my amendment requiring cooperation in U.S. drug fighting efforts from countries wanting CBI benefits.

The Comprehensive Crime Control Act of 1984 contained two Bentsen anti-drug provisions. One increased the maximum sentence for trafficking in non-narcotic drugs—such as angel dust, LSD and amphetamines—to the same as the maximum 15-year and $25,000 sentence for trafficking in narcotic drugs—such as heroin, morphine and cocaine. Second-offenders are now subject to 30 years in prison and a $50,000 fine.

Another provision I authored allows the Federal Aviation Administrator to revoke the licenses of pilots involved in drug smuggling. Smugglers who fly after their licenses are revoked risk five years in prison and a $25,000 fine.

And last year, the DEA Administrator complied with my request to restrict use of the drug MDMA or "ecstasy," thus making its abuse illegal.

While cocaine confiscations on the Texas-Mexico border were skyrocketing from nine pounds in 1983 to 846 pounds in 1985, the number of drug enforcement agents in Texas—from both the DEA and Customs—remained at about 180. I went to the mat many times during those years to fight repeated attempts to take away some of those agents.

All indications are that the latest war on drugs will mean a beefed up federal drug enforcement presence in our state.

I intend to monitor the situation closely to ensure Texas gets the resources that are needed.

The Dream Lives On:

Today's Entrepreneurs. . . A Portrait Of America

Dreams of success. . . they're part of the American fabric, and the American dream is a fascinating tale. According to his biography, Disney's World by Leonard Mosley, as a youth, Walt Disney developed an interest in cartoon art and enrolled as a night student at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

On returning to Chicago following a stint with the Army after World War I, Disney—with art samples in hand and an ambition to become a newspaper cartoonist—applied for a job in the art department of a major Chicago newspaper.

Fortunately for himself and the world, the young cartoonist failed to get the job on the newspaper and turned his talents in other directions.

The rest, as they say, is history. . . And, then there's the incredible entrepreneurial success story of young Frank Carney. Carney dropped out of college to start a business with his brother, Dan, at the age of 19 and never looked back. . .

In 1958, the Carney brothers were students at Wichita State University and worked evenings and weekends in the family grocery.

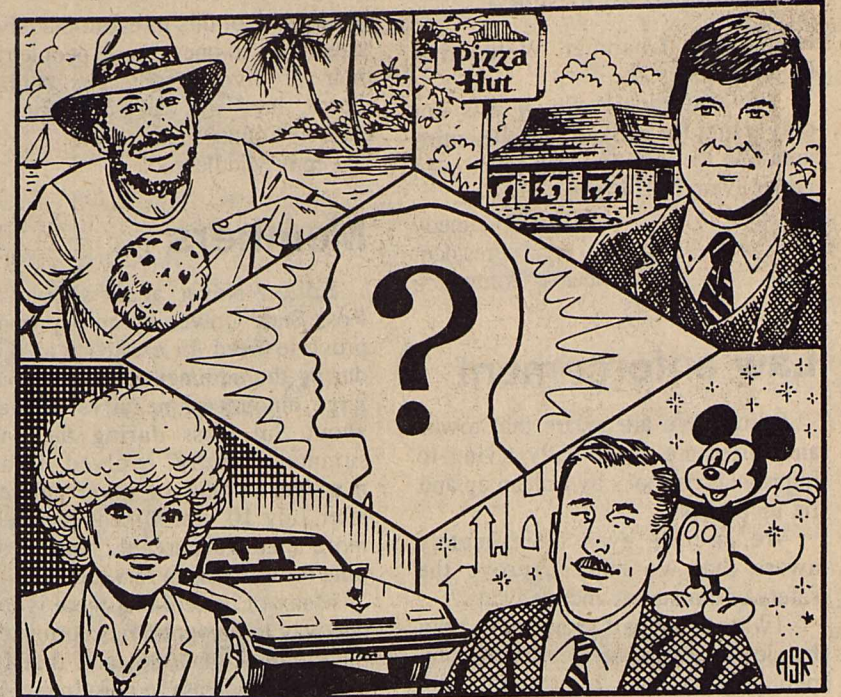

As Frank Carney recalls, the landlady of the building read an article in the Saturday Evening Post about a successful pizza restaurant and suggested that the Carney brothers open a similar facility in the vacant store next to the grocery.

On the strength of $600 which Carney borrowed from his mother, the first Pizza Hut opened in Wichita in June 1958.

Other outlets soon followed and growth continued at a phenomenal rate. In 1977 PepsiCo acquired the company. In September of this year Pizza Hut celebrated the opening of restaurant number five thousand in Dallas, Texas.

And it all started with an idea and $600!

In Entrepreneurs, The Men and Women Behind Famous Brand Names and How They Made It, authors Joseph and Suzy Fucini say that lady entrepreneur, Mary Kay

The story of American entrepreneurs is the story of America itself. Clockwise from top left: Wally Amos was a talent agent before creating "Famous Amos Cookies." Frank Carney and his brother created Pizza Hut in 1958 and today the chain has grown to five thousand restaurants. Walt Disney almost became a newspaper cartoonist. Mary Kay Ash founded "Mary Kay Cosmetics" and motivates her sales force with pink Cadillacs, fur coats and diamonds. (Center) Who will be the next successful entrepreneur? Experts say one-third of all new companies are started by people under the age of thirty.

Ash, started Mary Kay Cosmetics in 1958.

To ensure that her beauty consultants were properly motivated, she returned the highest commissions in the direct sales field and began awarding pink Cadillacs and other expensive incentives. In three years, she had an $800,000-a-year direct sales company, and in ten years sales had reached $18 million.

And, Wally Amos was a Los Angeles talent agent before launching "Famous Amos Cookies" in 1975. Within five years, he had annual sales of $5 million.

What does the future hold for entrepreneurs? Well, for one thing, they appear to be getting younger.

According to USA Today, one-third of all new companies are started by people under 30—many still in their teens.

Among the attributes the Association of Collegiate Entrepreneurs says teens need to succeed in business are self-confidence, persistence, the ability to set goals, a high level of drive and energy, and being able to deal with uncertainty and confusion.

Do these guidelines work? Well, there are now more than 65 millionaires in this country under the age of 18.

Caring for patient with Alzheimer's

A family caregiver may spend many hours each day assisting an Alzheimer's patient with eating, dressing and personal care. But there are still many hours of the day that remain unoccupied.

Doing a variety of activities during this time will provide the patient with a greater sense of usefulness and decrease the agitation and restlessness that is so characteristic of the disease.

Gardening tasks, cooking chores and simple cleaning jobs are suggested.

Activities that encourage self-expression and simplified versions of games are other suggestions.

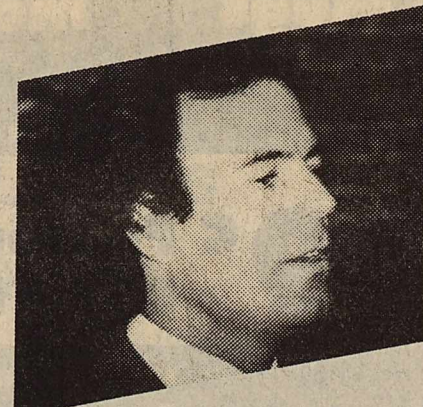

Cancelled

The parent training workshop scheduled Oct. 28 at the high school library has been cancelled.

Council reviews city accomplishments

City councilmen last Tuesday heard a report from administrator Robert Baker in which he reviewed the City's accomplishments during the fiscal year just ended.

Among the highlights:

-Opening of a new landfill six miles east of the city on US 380. The old landfill has been certified by the State Health Department as officially closed.

-Completion of paving and water projects in the southwest part of the city, which resulted in 26 blocks of pavement, installation of 2,600 feet of 10-inch water lines, 2,700 feet of eight-inch water lines and 4,000 feet of six-inch lines. Ten fire hydrants and 24 gate valves also were included. The project was financed by a $270,000 grant from the state.

-Renovation of both water towers, including sandblasting and new epoxy cating to the interiors.

-Completion of a major water drainage project at the airport.

-Completion of the $500,000 creek project.

-Paving of two blocks of South 6th Street in front of the City Park.

-Building of a waterway on Avenue A.

-Installation of a new fuel distribution system at the airport.

-A contractual agreement for the codification of all city ordinances.

-Receipt of authority to increase the discharge at the waste water treatment plant from 500,000 gallons to 700,000 gallons.

-Renovation of the city administrative offices.

-Installation of new low sodium lights to replace antiquated street lights.

Baker also pointed out that the City had an income of $1,347,443.49 during the year, and spent $1,306,810.92, ending the year with a surplus of $40,632.57.

The income and expenditures included a federal grant of $65,110.46 for the creek project and $273,027.45 from the state for paving and water lines.

The enterprise fund (charges for water, sewer and garbage) accounted for the biggest part of the city's actual income with $549,727.08 received.

General fund collections amounted to $416,991.77. Of this amount, approximately $165,000 came from sales taxes, $103,000 from property taxes, $57,000 from franchise taxes (utilities, telephone, cable and banks), $30,000 from revenue sharing, $14,000 from fines and $5,000 from motel taxes. There were several other lesser income sources.

Aviation fuel accounted for $28,867 in income in that fund against $23,788 in expenses. Other airport income, primarily from rental space, added $13,719 to the city coffers. Other airport expenses were $8,082.

Scouts win at Camporee

Haskell scouts took seven places in the recent Camporee.

Winners included: Webelos, winners of the red, white and blue President's award; first in trail signs, first in knots and lashing, first in uniform patrol flag, first in campsite inspection, second in totin chip and first aid, second in stretcher relay games.

Blake Henshaw was selected out of Den 1 by Cubmaster Jim Bob Mickler as being the leading Webelos scout. He was awarded a scout pocket knife.

Den leaders were Marvin McFadden and Billy Tatum. Fathers attending were Glenn Brzozowski, Phil Henshaw, Phil Coleman and Jim Bob Mickler.

Christmas parade in December

The Chamber of Commerce has announced that the fifth annual night Christmas Parade will take place in its regular time slot on the first Saturday in December at 6 p. m. It will again feature colorful floats, bands and other entries.

The 1986 theme, announced at the close of last year's parade, will be "Christmas Around the World," with each float depicting a different country.

The following nations and areas already have been selected by organizations and businesses: Hawaii, Holland, Switzerland, France, England, Japan, North Pole, Mexico and Alaska. It is anticipated that many others will be added.

Entrants are asked to notify the Chamber of Commerce of their choice of country to avoid duplication.

Themes in the past have included "The Music of Christmas" in 1982, "Holidays in Haskell" in 1983, "A Child's Christmas" in 1984 and "Stories of Christmas" in 1985.

Up to 7,000 people attend the parade each year, almost doubling the town's population when it occurs.

Travelers

U.S. travelers spent a record $16 billion in Texas in 1985, a seven percent increase over 1984, another record year, the Texas Tourist Development Agency has announced.

Constitution contest offers $1000 prize

A high school student will win $10,000 in a writing competition now being staged in conjunction with the 200th anniversary celebration of the U. S. Constitution next year.

Open to all high school students in grades 9-12 during the 1986-87 school year, and to those aged 14-18 not enrolled in college, the competition will involve students from every state, the District of Columbia and the combined territories. The competition is being co-sponsored by the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, the American Bar Association and USA Today/Gannet Co., Inc.

The Constitution was signed on Sept. 17, 1787, in Philadelphia. To celebrate that event, the Bicentennial Commissions, headed by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, is coordinating activities throughout the nation.

Three winners will be selected from each state, the District of Columbia and the combined territories. The first-place winners each will receive $1,000; second-place winners, $500; and third-place winners, $250.

In addition, the first-place winners and a teacher or other adult will receive an all-expense paid, round trip to Washington in September 1987 to meet the President, the chief justice, leaders of Congress and members of the Bicentennial Commission. At that time, the national winner will be selected from among the first-place winners.

The topic for the competition is: "The Constitution: How Does the Separation of Powers Help Make It Work?"

Entries must be limited to 1,500 words, excluding footnotes, and must be typewritten or computer-generated (double spaced) or written in legible longhand in ink. All entries must be accompanied by an official entry form and must include the original essay and two copies.

Teachers, students and parents seeking more information about the writing competition and wishing to obtain entry forms may send a postcard to the National Bicentennial Writing Competition, Box 50184, Washington, DC 20004-0184. Deadline for entries is April 15, 1987.

Ask VA

Q: I am a veteran of World War II and a former prisoner of war. I understand a law recently passed by Congress makes several changes in a veteran's eligibility for VA health care. Are any veterans exempt?

A. Yes. The following veterans are exempt from the eligibility assessment procedures: service-connected ailments, former prisoners of war, veterans exposed to certain herbicides while serving in Vietnam and to ionizing radiation in connection with atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons and in the occupation of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, veterans receiving VA pensions, veterans of World War I, the Spanish-American War and the Mexican Border period, and veterans eligible for Medicaid.

Q. Who is eligible for treatment at the vet centers?

A. Veterans who served on active duty during the Vietnam era may be provided counseling to assist them in readjusting to civilian life. Application for counseling may be made at any time.

IMAGINE THIS!

Close your eyes for a moment, and let your imagination take over. Picture yourself as a buyer walking through a home you may wish to purchase.

As you step from the fresh outdoor springtime breeze into the home, your nose immediately notices a slight musty smell. The home appears in good condition except for carpeting that shows heavy wear from the activities of a large family and three dogs.

Once inside, you mention the heavily worn carpeting. The homeowners explain that they will recarpet the home. They point out new carpet samples on the dining table, and explain that they will either install the new carpet or give a "carpet allowance" of $2,300 to the new buyers of their home. Obviously, the homeowners are aware of the one major flaw in the salability of their home and were willing to correct it - after the fact.

What the present owners failed to realize is that, standing in a home with unattractively depreciated carpeting, it is very difficult for buyers to imagine fresh, newly installed carpeting on the floors. Thus, the buyers move on to purchase another home - probably one which looks, smells and feels cared for.

The lesson - make all repairs and complete necessary redecorating before that first buyer crosses your threshold.

Understanding real estate dilemmas and their solutions is my business, and I'll happily share my knowledge with you. Why not give me a call at 864-2665 or drop by my office at 417 South 1st.

INDIAN FANS

The Haskell Indian spirit is very much in evidence each Friday at Haskell National Bank where employees show their support in their conversation, their actions and their dress.

Bank people support Indians

When the Haskell Indians have a ball game coming up, everyone at Haskell National Bank lends support. All 31 employees don their gold shirts on Fridays to further charge the already-charged atmosphere around the bank and its superfans. Haskell National employees come by their school spirit naturally. Eleven of them are graduates of Haskell High School. In addition, bank employees get 13 students, and one teacher, off to school every morning. Over the years, another 25 children of bank employees have graduated from HHS.

PCA official to retire

Haskell friends of Lloyd M. Blackwell are invited to an open house in Stamford Oct. 31 when he formally retires as vice president of Rolling Plains Production Credit Association.

Blackwell has been with the association 16 years, having served in the Childress and Matador offices before being transferred to Stamford. He is retiring to devote full time to his farming operation.

The open house will be from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. at the PCA office, 303 E. Hamilton in Stamford. Refreshments will be served.

Baker, Baker, Baker

Recruiter completes 'triple play'

(The following article was written by Roy A. Jones, military editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, and appeared in that newspaper Sept. 19.)

Sgt. 1st Class Leland M. Coffman completed a rare, unassisted "triple play" recently when he enlisted "triplets" in the U. S. Army Reserve here.

The names may cause nightmares for payroll clerks and for drill sergeants who holler "Baker," but no one is going to have any difficulty telling the three apart.

Sammy Lynn Baker is a six-foot, 210-pound blond.

Emery Glenn Baker is roughly the same size, but has dark red hair and freckles.

Raymond Baker, born exactly two weeks after Sammy and Emery, is a slight 5-9, 150-pounder with black hair.

Wait a minute. These can't be triplets.

Well, they are. And they aren't.

And that takes some explanation. Along with their sister, Thelma, Sammy and Emery became the first triplets ever born in Haskell on Sept. 28, 1967.

Raymond, whose grandparents were Spanish and American Indian, was born Oct. 12, 1967, in Houston.

In 1971, Tommy Baker, the father of the triplets, married Raymond's mother, LuDana.

"So we were reared from age four as quadruplets," Raymond said. "We (boys) tell everybody we're triplets and it really mixes them up."

White Coffman, a fulltime Army Reserve recruiter, got lots of media attention in Dallas for signing up the first three "triplets" in the area recruiting center's history, it could have been even better.

He nearly got "quads." Thelma wanted to join with the other three, but decided not to delay her nursing career, Sammy said. She is attending nursing school in Seymour now.

Coffman said Sammy, the first brother he talked to, will receive a promotion "as a reward" for convincing his brothers to join with him.

Sammy also will get a $2,000 enlistment bonus because he's going to administrative specialist school. Emery and Raymond will train to be light vehicle mechanics and will receive $1,500 bonuses.

Because of the unusual circumstances, Coffman said the three will be allowed to remain together through both basic combat training and their advanced individual training.

They will report to Fort Jackson, S. C., on Nov. 2 for about five months of training.

"My admin school is one week longer, so they'll beat me home a little," Sammy said.

Coffman enlisted the three in the 490th Civil Affairs Company, headquartered in Abilene.

When he first met the three, 490th First Sgt. Richard Valdez put his head in his hands in mock despair. "We've already got one Baker (Russ Baker of Ballinger). Can't you just hear me calling roll, 'Baker, Baker, Baker, Baker?' I'm going to sound like a stuck record."

The "real" triplets graduated from Haskell High School, living with their grandmother, Ruby Baker, while Raymond was an honor graduate of Rotan High School, living with his mother and stepfather.

"We've all kept the road hot between Haskell and Rotan visiting back and forth," Raymond said.

State chairman campaigns for White

State Democratic party chairman Bob Slagle was in Haskell Tuesday, calling on Democrats and independents to support Mark White for Governor.

He met with a group in the district court room where he was introduced by Ben Charlie Chapman.

"Gov. White has shown the courage to make the tough choices needed to keep our state strong and solvent now and in the future," Slagle said. "In doing so, the Governor had the guts to take political risks to do the right thing."

On the other hand, Slagle said Bill Clements "has offered us only 'secret plans' and a campaign in which he has tried to take both sides on almost every issue."

"Out of one side of his mouth, Clements tries to tell us the Governor cut the budget too much while from the other side he says he spends too much," continued Slagle. "The voters should tell Clements he can't have it both ways and send him back to his North Dallas mansion."

Slagle said that Clements in his campaign is saying that spending, not the price of oil is the state's problem. He pointed out that since Clements left office the number of rigs operating in the U.S. has dropped from 4,500 to 800.

Slagle cited statistics which he said show that state spending actually increased faster under Clements than it did under White. "In Clements' administration, spending increased 57 percent and he did nothing with the windfall revenues from the oil boom--no investments in education, water or highways," said Slagle. "If he couldn't get anything done about spending or solving our problems when state coffers were fat, I doubt that he would even know where to begin in tough times."

"Under Mark White's leadership, we passed a statewide water plan after 50 years of trying and kept our commitment to fund education, highways and prison construction. At the same time, state spending has slowed to its lowest growth rate in 20 years--under 10 percent which is less than the rate of inflation and population growth."

Slagle pointed out that the oil price decline, the farm crisis, record trade deficits in agriculture and other industries, and cutbacks from Gramm-Rudman have caused the state budget crisis. "Mark White is not an Arab and does not make federal trade policy," he noted.

The state Democratic chairman said Clements flip-flops on taxes, on the "secret plan," and on issues like prisons. "It is downright pathetic to hear Clements blame White for prison overcrowding," he said. "Clements is the man who vetoed funds for a new prison in 1979, which it would have only cost $30 million. The same prison now will cost $60 million."

"Bill Clements says one thing, but his record says another," continued Slagle. "His TV ads say he wants to help small business, but as Governor he refused to participate in the Small Business Revitalization Program. Under White, this program has assisted 22 projects, creating $125 million in investment expansion and 2,275 jobs."

Slagle urged Haskell Democrats to work for a good turnout in the Nov. 4 general election. He said that the White-Clements race is now a dead heat, despite what polls show.

Turkey walk to be Nov. 1

It's about that time of year again to get out the walking shoes and dust them off for the annual Haskell County Heart Association's Turkey Walk, set for Nov. 1.

Grand prize this year will be a weekend in Dallas, complete with tickets to watch the Dallas Cowboys take on the Philadelphia Eagles. This package, donated by the Sweetwater Travel Agency, will include transportation to and from the Cowboy game, as well as a continental breakfast prior to the game. Lodging at the Dallas Marriott Quorum in Highland also is included in the prize package.

Runnersup will be eligible for a $50 savings bond, a savings account, an AM/FM radio with headphones and other prizes.

Participants who turn in at least $50 in pledges will receive Turkey Walk T-shirts. Each walker garnering $100 in pledges will receive a turkey. Turkeys are being donated by Modern Way, M-System and Pogue's Grocery of Haskell, and Tanners Grocery of Rule and Weinert Grocery in Weinert.

To be eligible for any of the prizes, a participant must register to walk by filling out a Turkey Walk pledge/registration sheet. It must be completed when the walker registers for the walk on Nov. 1. Registration will start at 8:30 a.m. at Haskell National Bank for Haskell walkers, and at the Rule City Park for Rule walkers.

The walk will be 10 miles, but participants are not required to walk the entire distance. Walkers will be expected to pick up the pledges for the number of miles they do complete, however.

All pledges should be turned in no later than Nov. 13 to Janet Thane, local treasurer for the American Heart Association. Sponsors can be enlisted event after the completion of the walk. Participants will be given credit for all money they turn in Nov. 13.

Questions concerning the Turkey Walk may be answered by calling Casey Caldwell, coordinator of the walk, at 864-3945, or AHA president Charles Harvey at 864-2621.

Rochester carnival Saturday

Rochester seniors will have a Halloween carnival Saturday night.

It begins at 6 o'clock. Admission at the door will be 50 cents for students and kids and $1 for adults. The admission includes the carnival, auction and coronation.

A Halloween contest during the carnival will be conducted in three divisions--elementary, high school and adults. Prizes will be awarded. An auction and coronation will follow the carnival.

Preceding the carnival will be a Mexican food supper in the school cafeteria. It will be between 5 and 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

The supper plate will consist of enchiladas, beans or rice, salad and tea or coffee. For youngsters, a plate with burritos, tacos and tamales will be offered at $1 each.

Washburn named to zoning board

Roy Washburn has been appointed to the city Zoning Board.

He was named as a replacement for the late Carl Anderson when the City Council met Oct. 14.

Councilmen also received final plans for the swimming pool renovation from engineer Ken Martin. They agreed to study the plans and then take action on Tuesday of this week.

If approved, the plans will be submitted to the State Health Department and the Parks and Wildlife Commission, which has tentatively approved a $63,000 matching-funds grant for the pool project.

In other action, the Council approved a plan to install an eight-inch water line from Avenue L to the Addison addition which will allow fire hydrants in that area to be brought up to state codes, and approved a request for a zoning waiver to allow a mobile home on South Avenue G.

COSTUME PARTY

All kinds of attire was seen at the Haskell Country Club Saturday as members had their Halloween costume party. First-prize winners were Charles and Laura Andress.

Service academy applications open

Young men and women from Haskell County may now submit applications for admission to one of the nation's service academies, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has announced.

In the spring, Stenholm will nominate area citizens to the four U. S. academies: the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.; the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.; the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.; or the Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, N. Y.

Persons interested in the nominations should contact the congressman's Washington office as soon as possible. The deadline for completed application files is Dec. 1.

To be eligible for an appointment, an applicant must meet certain requirements. They include American citizenship; good SAT or ACT scores; outstanding high school record; leadership potential; and good physical condition, including excellent eyesight. There is a very limited number of waivers for non-pilot candidates whose eyesight is less than 20/20.

Aside from academic achievement, strong emphasis is placed on moral character, church and community involvement and extra-curricular activities and/or part-time employment. Applicants must be single with no dependents, at least 17 years old, but not past their 21st birthday upon admission into the academy on July 1, 1987.

Application packages and additional information may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or by contacting Susan Goulart in Stenholm's office (202-225-6605 or by writing 1232 Longworth, Washington DC 20515.

Fall River races to be this weekend

The Four-Wheel Drive Fall River Races will be held Saturday and Sunday on the Double Mountain fork of the Brazos River, three miles west of Rule off US 380.

The races are sponsored by the 4-Wheel Drive Club, a non-profit organization.

Participants and spectators are encouraged. Participants must register by 9 a.m. Saturday.

Races begin Saturday at 10 a.m. After a one-hour lunch break around noon, the races will resume.

Sunday's activities begin at 9 a.m. with registration for additional entries and inspection of all participating vehicles. Races start at 10.

TEAMS tests given next week

The exit level Texas Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) will be given in all county schools Oct. 28-29.

The mathematics section will be given Tuesday, Oct. 28, and the language arts section on Wednesday, Oct. 29.

Every Texas student must pass this test in order to receive a high school diploma. All high school juniors take the test, in addition to seniors who have not passed both sections. Parents are encouraged to make sure the students are in school on these dates since no make-ups are allowed.

Re-takes for those failing a section or missing the test will be May 4 for language arts and May 5 for mathematics. Students have two opportunities to pass during their junior year. If they still do not show mastery of both sections, they cannot graduate until they do so.

A special education student whose handicap may prevent him from mastering some or all of the basic skills tested may be exempted from taking the test by action of the ARD committee.

This year, in order to pass, a student must master 70 percent of the objectives tested. This is a higher expectation level than last year. Those who failed a section last year will be scored according to last year's scale.

Haskell Stamford on Friday

Sweet as it was, Haskell's 1985 victory over Stamford can only be relished for a year. It's renewal time.

The two arch rivals renew their ancient series in Stamford's Bulldog Stadium Friday night. Both are coming off defeats of a week ago and will be fighting to stay in the district 7-AA championship race.

If performances against common opponents could be used as a barometer, the Bulldogs would get the nod. They tied Albany, 20-20, the week before this same Albany team beat the Indians, 6-2. And Stamford lost by a touchdown to Electra, while Haskell lost to Electra by two touchdowns.

But records mean nothing in this old rivalry. Often the underdog rises up to smack its loftier opponent. That was the case last year when a 1-6 Indian team dropped the heavily favored Bulldogs, 13-7, knocking Stamford out of the playoffs.

To keep its title aspirations alive, Haskell will be attempting to forget about last week's tough loss at Albany. The Indians won everything except the score in that game. "We did just about everything we were supposed to do," said Coach Harold Hill. "Our defense was great and our offense moved the ball real well, but we just didn't hang on to the ball," said the coach in referring to three interceptions and two lost fumbles.

Hill said tackle Andy Griffith played another superb game. It was his best game defensively, and probably offensively too, he said.

The coach also had praise for Joey Thomas in the offensive line.

Stamford, while its record is not impressive, has some very good players and the Bulldogs are due to break out of a rut which has seen them tie Albany and be shut out by Anson in their two 7-AA outings.

Offensively, the Bulldogs are paced by 250-pound fullback Isaac Cooper, a cousin of the Indians' Fred Shaw. Against Albany, Hill said Cooper was hit by 10 tacklers as he ran 12 yards for a touchdown against Albany. Then he caught a touchdown pass which tied the game in the closing seconds.

The Stamford game will be the Indians' last regular season game away from home. They close out their season with home games against Hawley and Anson.

Anson leads district

Anson stands all alone at the top of the district 7-AA standings at the end of the first two weeks of action.

The Tigers shut out Stamford, 20-0, last Friday for their second shutout victory. A week earlier, the Tigers had won over Hawley, 6-0.

Albany is in second place with a 1-0-1 record. The Lions bested Haskell, 6-2, last Friday. In their first district game the previous week they had tied Stamford, 20-20.

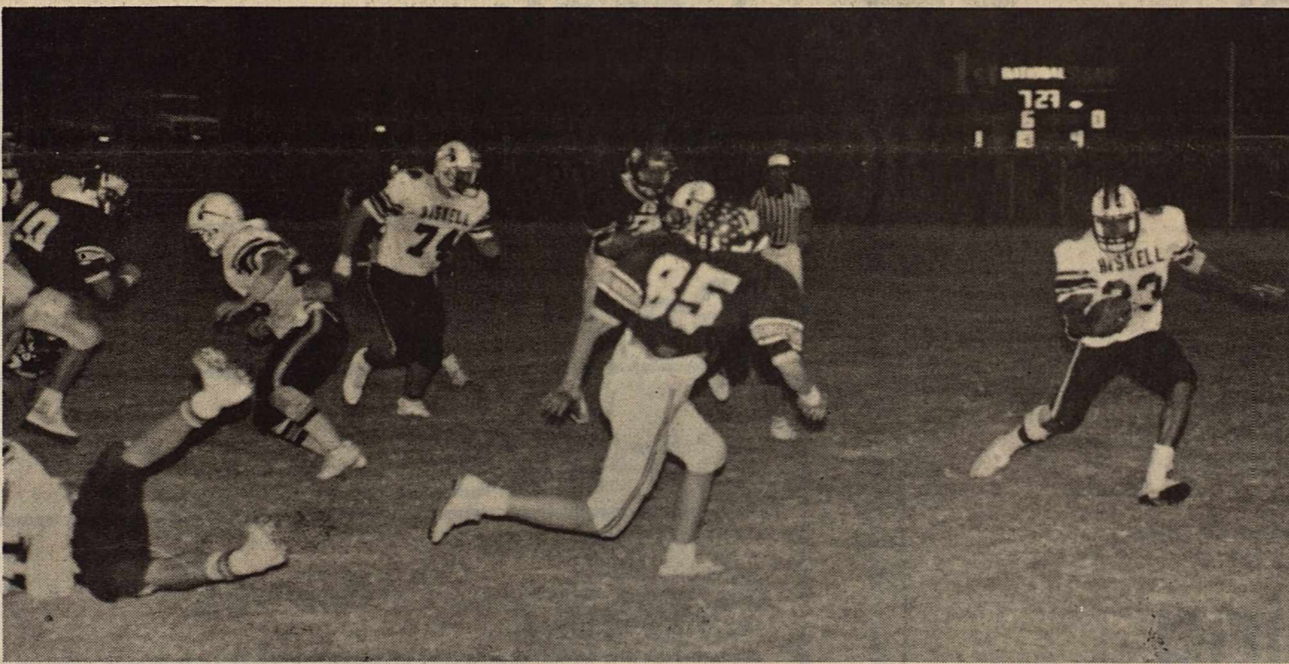

Haskell and Hamlin are tied for third place with 1-1 records. As Haskell was losing to Albany last week, the Pied Pipers were defeating Hawley, 13-0.

In fifth place is Stamford with an 0-1-1 mark. Hawley is in last place at 0-2.

In other games last week, all five of Haskell's non-district opponents came out on top. Munday blasted Roscoe, 46-14; Holliday upset Olney, 9-8; Electra ran over Archer City, 49-7; Quannah belted Canadian, 42-20; and Knox City edged Paducah, 22-19.

This week's district schedule will find Haskell at Stamford, Albany at Hawley and Hamlin at Anson.

Indians fall to Albany Lions

By Wendell Faught

If there had been time for one more play, the Indians may have won. But there wasn't, and they didn't.

The Friday night game in Albany went down as a 6-2 victory by the host Lions over Haskell, dropping the Indians' district 7-AA record to 1-1. Albany is 1-0-1.

Albany pushed over a touchdown with 7:44 to go in the final period, and then made it stand up for the victory. Five minutes later, the Lions, backed up against their own goal on fourth down, gave the Indians an intentional safety.

Haskell almost pulled the game out. The Indians marched 65 yards in less than a minute on their final possession, only to see the game end as Johnny Castillo gathered in a deflected Mark Young pass a scant 12 inches from a touchdown. Actually, the clock had expired on the previous play, but a roughing-the-passer penalty against Albany had wiped out a Lion interception and given the Indians one more chance with no time showing.

The game's lone touchdown came on the end of a 52-yard drive after Albany recovered a fumble. The drive featured four pass completions by quarterback Clint Duggan, and a 13-yard scamper by Duggan. The touchdown was a 14-yard heave from Duggan to Rodney Browning. Junior Garcia's extra point attempt sailed wide of its mark, but as it turned out, the Lions had all the margin they needed.

The Indians, who held a clear-cut statistical edge in all offensive categories, had their chances.

After Castillo returned the second-half kickoff from the 20 to the 33, the Indians peeled off 12 plays, picking up five first downs, as they drove to the Albany 11. But that's as far as they could go, so Joel Torres tried a 28-yard field goal which sputtered only to the 8 where Albany took over.

Albany moved out to the 24 before Duggan fumbled at the 19 and Louie Torres recovered to give the Indians another shot. The Indians moved to the 5 and then were set back to the 10 from where Torres attempted another field goal, this one going off to the right.

The Indians had missed another opportunity in the second quarter after Joel Torres intercepted a Gary Vickers pass on the Indian 23 and returned it to the 37. A penalty moved the ball back to the 22. Young passed 16 yards to Steven Rodriguez, Stephon Brockington ran for 4 yards and then Young passed 29 yards to Joel Torres for a first down at the 20, but the ball squirted loose from his grasp and the Lions recovered at the 13.

Earlier in the second period, the Indians had thrown up a goal line stand to thwart an Albany attack. The Lions had taken over on the Haskell 34 after a 28-yard punt return by Browning. Aided by a half-the-distance penalty against the Indians (13 yards), the Lions had a first down at the 13 and then gained another at the 1. But the Indian defense rose to the occasion and stopped Albany ball carriers four consecutive times for no gain. Bo Watson, Marty Martinez, Andy Griffith, Paul Harvey and Young led the defensive charge.

Except for Albany's scoring drive, that was the only time the Lions had a serious threat. They crossed midfield only twice in the second half, once when they went on to score and again just before that drive began when a 15-yard penalty against the Indians helped them reach the Haskell 49 from where Griffith sacked Duggan for a 17-yard loss.

Right after the Albany touchdown, Haskell had threatened seriously. Joel Torres returned the kickoff to the Albany 40 and the Indians moved to the 10 in five plays, one of them being a 15-yard run by Brockington. But Young's second-down pass was intercepted by Chris Beard and returned to the 12. Three running plays and two penalties left the Lions at their own 3, so on fourth down, Browning ran out of the end zone to give the Indians their 2 points.

Castillo returned the ensuing free kick to the Haskell 45 and then picked up 6 yards on a reverse. Young passed 20 yards to Louie Torres to the 31 with 1:39 to go, but on the next play his pass was intercepted by Beard who returned it to the 36.

Three running plays netted the Lions only 3 yards so Browning punted to the Haskell 35.

Youn's first-down pass fell incomplete, but the Indian quarterback then connected with Castillo for 10 yards and Louie Torres for 25 yards for a first down at the 30. Three more incomplete passes, one of them intentional to stop the clock, left the Indians with fourth down at the 30 with the clock showing one second. Garcia intercepted Young's pass near the goal line, but the Lions were flagged for a 15-yard penalty and Haskell retained possession with a first down at the 15. Though time had expired, the Indians were granted one final play. Young threw into a crowd of receivers and defenders at the goal line. The ball was deflected and Castillo made a diving reception a foot short of paydirt.

Booster Club

Indian Booster Club members discussed the Albany game at length during their weekly meeting Monday evening. They also aired their grievances and voiced concern about the boys' morale.

Coach Harold Hill said the boys tried their best and should have won the game. He asked those present to continue to support the team and to do what ever they can to encourage the boys.

The Stamford game will be another important one. The Bulldogs have 18 seniors and carry 37 on their varsity. They have a 250-pound tailback, Isaac Cooper, and their offensive line is big. "They will be ready for us Friday night," Hill said.

All fans are again encouraged to wear their gold and be at Stamford for the kickoff at 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

Seventh- and eighth-grade teams will play here today (Thursday) beginning at 5 p.m. There will be no JV game.

Obituaries

Lelia E. Conner

Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church for Lelia Elizabeth Conner, 91-year-old retired businesswoman.

The Rev. James Densman, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden-McCauley Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were R. W. Raynes Jr., Clifford Short, Charles Swinson, Carl Norwood, Edwin Holloway and Tim Burson. Honorary pallbearers were R. W. Raynes, Hill Oates, Jimmy Owens and Floyd Lusk.

Mrs. Conner died Friday (Oct. 17) in Rice Springs Care Home.

She was born Jan. 10, 1895, in Brookhaven in Bell County, and came to Haskell County in 1912. She was a teacher in several county schools.

She was married to Charles M. Conner Aug. 12, 1919, in Dallas. He preceded her in death Feb. 7, 1975.

She and her husband owned and operated Conner Nursery and Floral from 1927 to 1972. A member of the First Baptist Church, she was a former member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and a member of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Conner was named Haskell's "Outstanding Citizen" in 1977. She was made a life-time honorary member of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce in 1983.

Walter J. Speck

Walter J. Speck, 75, long-time Rochester resident, died Oct. 13 at Haskell Memorial Hospital.

Services were at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 15 at the First Baptist Church in Rochester with the Revs. Truett Kuenstler, Frank Coddington and Paul Nelson officiating. Burial was in the Rochester Cemetery, under direction of Smith Funeral Home.

A retired farmer and a member of the First Baptist Church, Speck was born in Rochester and lived there all his life.

Survivors include his wife, Lois Brooks Speck; a son, Jerald D. Speck of Dallas; a daughter, Sue Guinn of La Grange; three sisters, Daisy Johnson of El Cajon, Calif., Myrtle Beauchamp and Fannie Ballew, both of Abilene; and a granddaughter.

Ruby Ann Lackey

Ruby Ann Lackey of North Richland Hills died Monday in that city. She was 52.

Funeral services were to be Wednesday at the First Baptist Church in Hurst on Norwood. Burial was to follow at Bluebonnet Hills Memorial Park in Colleyville.

Mrs. Lackey was born in Stamford June 7, 1934.

She is survived by her husband, Johnny Lackey; a son, Rob Lackey of Joshua; a daughter, Annette Mooney of Lubbock; her mother, Ruby McCafferty of New Braunfels; step-mother, Mildred Hoot of Gorman; step-brother, Kenneth Goode of Gorman; sister, Marjorie Justiss of San Antonio; and a step-sister, Cliffla Jean Vaughn.

Registration system to save millions

More than $14 million a year will be saved by the state and county governments in Texas when the highway department installs a new motor vehicle registration and title processing system.

At its September meeting, the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission approved a $33.6 million investment to develop and implement an entirely automated system.

"Our existing system is more than 20 years old," said Bob Lanier, chairman of the highway commission. "Manual processing at the county level is duplicated at the state level. It is time-consuming and costly to both the state and county governments."

Currently, the department needs up to six weeks to issue vehicle titles, Lanier said. The new system will be designed to record title changes instantly at the county level.

"We anticipate that counties around the state will save more than $8 million the first year the system is in operation," Lanier said.

A study begun last January by the consulting firm of Coopers and Lybrand determined that the present system has both reliability problems and increasing operation costs, he said.
