

Project to help women

The situation is common. A family disturbance gets out of hand and ends in physical abuse. Many times—an estimated 65,000 times a year in Texas—the wife receives the brunt of the violent attack.

Does it happen in Haskell? You bet! There were 10 reported cases in Haskell County in the first four months of this year. Throckmorton and Knox counties each had five reported cases in the January-April period, and Stonewall County had two.

For this reason, an outreach program to serve these four counties is being established in Haskell. Betsy Nanny is coordinator of the Northern District for the Noah Project, a program which offers help for battered spouses.

As the program is being organized, she is in need of volunteers. She needs volunteers in each of the four counties to handle calls, offer counseling and provide protection to those in need. Anyone interested may call her at 864-2551 from 8:30 to 5 on Monday or Tuesday and at home, 864-3521, at other times.

She hopes to have the Noah Project in operation by September. Two core community groups are needed to plan the program—an advisory committee composed of men and women, and a group of volunteers to carry out the services.

Heretofore, the Noah Project of Abilene has handled cases in this county. Mrs. Nanny feels that more people will take advantage of the project's services if there is a local unit they can contact.

The Noah Project of Abilene, like its namesake, began with a small group of people. Armed with limited funds and unlimited determination, Noah supporters have watched their program grow into a successful organization complete with a board of directors, volunteers, staff and community support.

The 20 cases in four months in this four-county area represent only a small portion of the actual number of women abused, Mrs. Nanny believes. Because of this, she sees a definite need for an outreach program in the area.

Statistics surrounding the subject of battered women is startling. It is estimated that 16 out of 100 couples in the country experience one or more violent incidents each year. A survey showed that as many as half of the women who marry in any given year will be beaten by their husbands some time during their marriage.

Mrs. Nanny said the average victim of this type of physical abuse is a far cry from the stereotype of the battered wife. According to studies, most of the women who seek help from publicly funded shelters like the Noah Project are Anglo, and only 10 percent receive any type of welfare assistance. The average victim is 25 years old, does not abuse alcohol or drugs, has two children, does not work outside the home and has a high school education. Most have been beaten several times off and on for a period of at least a year and have stayed in the violent situation primarily because of economic dependence.

Shelters provide food, shelter and counseling to women and children.

Mrs. Nanny explains that when the local Noah Project is in operation that a call to the local crisis hotline will send a volunteer who has been trained in assessment and counseling to a "safe" site, such as the sheriff's office, to meet with the battered woman. At all times, the outreach service will work hand-in-hand with law officials. The volunteer will then make an assessment of the case based on the severity of the battering and will decide whether or not it is safe for the woman to return to her home. If the volunteer determines that it would be dangerous for the woman to return home, transportation to a shelter or other safe place will be provided at no cost to her. Her whereabouts will remain confidential.

Whether the client is placed in a temporary residence or is returned to her home, she will be offered professional counseling. Counselors will map out various options available to the woman and, in cases where needed, help find housing and a job and assist her in signing up for any government aid program for which she may be eligible.

"We're not out to break up the family," Mrs. Nanny stresses. "We just want to try to present these women with the options. The woman will make the final decision."

Several members of the Chamber traveled to neighboring communities last Friday to promote the Haskell circus.

Performances will be 90 minutes in length and will include acrobats, aerialists, clowns, performing animals and other events, including a comedy routine with an old car.

Olde Tyme American Circus has performed throughout the country, as well as in Japan, Hong Kong, Canada, Europe and Monte Carlo.

Would you be willing to donate some of your time and energy to help clean off the Pinkerton Cemetery?

A group has been working on some of the lots, but more help is needed to clean all of the Haskell County rural cemetery.

Anyone willing to help should call Garland or Bobbie Wood, 864-3834.

Auction, bake sale planned by artists

The Brazos West Art Association is sponsoring a Silent Auction and Bake Sale at the Fair Building (west end of the Corral Building) Friday and Saturday.

The auction and bake sale will begin at 4 p.m. Friday and 1 p.m. Saturday.

In case you have never attended a silent auction, let me assure you it is very simple and lots of fun. All items displayed will be numbered and have a starting bid. Each individual will be furnished a pen and a sheet of paper on which to write his or her name, address, the number or numbers of the items being bid on, and the amount of the bid(s).

The paper will be placed in a container as the bidder leaves. After the auction is over Saturday, the bids will be read and those making the highest bid on each item will be notified by phone or letter.

Proceeds from the auction and bake sale will be used to help defray the cost of the upcoming Art Festival, Aug. 1-2.

Albert Sherman honored

Albert Sherman, a student at Angelo State University, has been named a Collegiate Academic All-American by the United States Achievement Academy (USAA).

He is the son of Norma Sherman and Hank Sherman of Haskell and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sherman Sr. of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Bush of Rule.

The USAA has established the Academic All-American Collegiate award program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. Scholars must earn a 3.30 or better grade-point average.

Only scholars selected by school officials or other qualified sponsors are accepted. Sherman was nominated by Dr. Bankston, professor of business at Angelo State.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history," said Dr. George Stevens, executive director of USAA. "Certainly, winners of the Academic All-American Collegiate awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement."

Rule student gains honors

Jerrel Paul Riggins of Rule was named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Riggins, a junior, posted a 4.0 grade-point average.

The Dean's Honor Roll includes students who maintain at least a 2.50 grade-point average on Wayland's 4.00 scale while completing 12 semester hours or more.

Burriss, Turner repeat vows

Lynna Denise Burriss and Thomas Edwin Turner were united in marriage Saturday, June 6, in the Haskell Church of Christ. John Greeson of Rule officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Burriss of Haskell. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Turner of Rule.

Vows were exchanged before palm and lemon leaf greenery accenting the unity candle. Tree candles and spirals decorated either side of the altar. Pews were marked with brass hurricane lamps with white bows.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a Mori Lee formal gown of silk crystal Organza. The fitted basque waist featured Queen Anne neckline and was trimmed with silk embroidery lace and seed pearls. The raised puffed sleeves came to the wrists with a point and were trimmed with appliques.

The full silk organza skirt was finished with a design of silk embroidery and organza ruffles. The train was designed with rows of silk organza ruffles and cascaded to a cathedral length. The headpiece was a band of silk flowers and spanles featuring a pouff of silk illusion and cascaded to a finger-tip length. The bride carried a long cascade of white roses and white carnations.

D'Anne Melton of Haskell was her sister's matron of honor, and JoAnne Odegaard of Amarillo was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Leslie Jennings and Holly McBroom of Haskell, and Katherine Kidd of Sterling City.

They wore identical tea-length gowns of iridescent emerald green satin. The fitted bodice fashioned with puffed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline was attached to a dropped-V, full gathered skirt and accented with a wide bow at the scooped-V back. They carried lighted candles with button poms, carnations and babies' breath accented with white satin ribbon.

The flower girl, MaryBelle Turner of Rochester and niece of the bridegroom, wore a tea-length dress of iridescent emerald green satin. Her dress featured a round neck with puffed sleeves and dropped waist with a gathered skirt and belted bow. She carried a white basket of silk petals.

Best man was Mike Fouts of Rule. Groomsmen were Todd Kinney of Lawton, Okla., Johnny Campbell, Randy Andrews and Darin Beakley of Rule. Candles were lighted by Scott Burriss, brother of the bride, and Darin Beakley. Ringbearer was Taylor Melton of Haskell, nephew of the bride.

Groomsmen, candle lighters and the ring bearer all wore black tuxedos with white pleated shirts and emerald green cummerbunds and bow ties. The fathers wore black tuxedos with black bow ties. The groom wore a white tuxedo with a white tie.

The mother of the bride wore a mauve tea-length sheath dress of Honan silk linen, a Parnes Feinstein original, fashioned with a square neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves, cuffed and stitched to match the yoke and neckline. The dropped waist line, designed with a stitched fold hugging the hips. Covered buttons accented with gold added the designer's touch to the neckline and skirt.

The mother of the groom wore a hand-made, all cotton, batiste dress with a woven design overlay. The puffed sleeves and belted waist complimented the flowing tea-length skirt.

Kim Lanier of Canyon registered guests.

Special guests attending the wedding were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Moore of Goree, and grandmothers of the groom, Mrs. Ace Adkins of Rochester and Mrs. Robert Turner of Rule.

Parents of the bride and groom hosted a reception honoring the couple in the church annex. The bride's table was draped with a white cloth and overlay of tulle and lace. The cake was four tiers with fresh greenery and cascading mini camelia roses, carnations and babies' breath. The centerpiece was a tall spiral candelabra decorated with white bearded iris, freesia, springeri and babies' breath. Complimenting the table was a spindled screen backdrop of white lace. Appointments were gold. Serving at the bride's table were Jennifer Davis of San Angelo, Cindy Belcher of Abilene and Kim Lanier of Canyon.

The groom's table had a mirrored backdrop, and the table was draped with an ecru cloth trimmed with a satin band and an overlay of iridescent emerald green satin. The groom's cake was a chocolate mocha cake decorated with slivered almonds and grape clusters. The centerpiece was placed on a tall gold compote with a fruit ambrosia. Chocolate mocha punch was served from a brass punch bowl.

Serving at the groom's table were Barbara Oliver and Leigh Ann Greeson of Rule. Coffee was served from a brass Samiavor by Brenda Turner of Rule, sister-in-law of the groom.

Parents of the bridegroom hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Cliff House in Stamford.

Parties honoring the bride included a tea in the home of Mrs. H. V. Woodard of Haskell, a tea at the Rule Church of Christ annex, a pantry party in the home of Mrs. Darren Jeffrey of Rule, and a bridesmaid's luncheon in the home of Mrs. Greg Melton.

The bride is a 1985 graduate of Haskell High School, and the groom is a 1984 graduate of Rule High School. Both attended Abilene Christian University. They will live in Rule for the summer.

Pfc. Hertel completes training

Marine Pfc. Kevin E. Hertel has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif. He is the son of Alvin C. and Mary S. Hertel of Rule.

During the 11-week training cycle, Hertel was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment, and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

FLAG DAY JUNE 14th

I am proud!

I am the emblem of the greatest sovereign nation on earth. I am the inspiration for which American patriots gave their lives and freedom.

I have led your sons into battle since Valley Forge. I walk in silence with each of your honored dead to their final resting place beneath the silent white crosses, row upon row. I have flown in peace and war, strife and prosperity, and in all times, I have been respected.

My red stripes are symbols of the blood spilled in defense of this glorious nation. My white stripes signify tears shed by Americans who lost their sons, husbands, lovers and friends. My blue field: the heavens under which I fly. My stars clustered together unify 50 states as one for God and country.

"Old Glory" is my name and I wave on high, proudly.

Haskell County 4-H members attending the Leader Lab on Lake Brownwood were Mindy Ballard, Jennifer Shaver, Michelle Scoggins, Chad Ballard, Faye Mullino, Penny Peden, Traci Landes, Mitch Mayfield, Brad Bevel and Ross Shaver. Others, not pictured, were Dalyn Gilly, Mondy Mayfield and Lance Sloan.

Haskell 4-H group attends annual lab

Haskell County 4-H students were among those from 19 counties of the Rolling Plains extension district on hand for the annual 4-H Teen Leader Lab at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood.

Representing Haskell County were Mindy Ballard, Jennifer Shaver, Michelle Scoggins, Chad Ballard, Faye Mullino, Penny Peden, Traci Landes, Mitch Mayfield, Brad Bevel, Ross Shaver, Dalyn Gilly, Mondy Mayfield and Lance Sloan.

Theme for the weekend was "Walk This Way With 4-H" and 200 4-H members, adult leaders and county extension agents "walked" their way to Brownwood to be a part of this educational and fun leadership experience.

The Lab included educational workshops, vespers and recreation. Election of the 1987-88 4-H District Council officers were elected. They are:

Angie Partridge of Knox County, president; Reggy Spencer of Fisher County, vice president; Tracy Wheeler of Shackelford County, secretary; Lee Wall of Foard County, treasurer; and Kari Coltharp of Baylor County, public relations chairman.

Carolyn Halsell, extension agent-home economics, and John Ford, Baylor County extension agent served as agent advisors for the weekend event.

Also assisting with the retreat were Harry Campebell, district 4-H specialist; Elaine Houston and Ed Garnett, district 4-H directors, all from Vernon.

A special event this year was the first annual chili Cookoff. Sixteen county teams participated and used costumes and props while making chili over an open fire. The "Best Chili" award went to Wichita County and the "Best Costumes and Props" award went to Fisher County. Second place award for "Best Chili" went to Baylor County, while King County picked up second-place honors for "Best Costumes and Props."

OOPS!

Apologies to former students of Rose school in Haskell County who were slighted in the story last week on the rural school reunion.

Thirteen Rose ex-students registered at the reunion, and The Free Press story failed to make note of that when reporting the attendance from the various schools.

Rose exes came from Amarillo, Abilene, Munday, Snyder and Haskell.

Retirees represent growing industry

The oldest "baby boomer" turned 40 in 1986, which means that the median age of the nation's population will increase rapidly during the next few decades. That could directly impact many local communities.

With the retiree age group now the fastest growing segment of the population, communities might want to look at ways of attracting these senior citizens.

Projections suggest the number of people in the 65 and older age group will be about 38 percent of the nation's total population by 2030. That's a dramatic increase from 1970 when this group represented only about 17 percent of the total population.

Retirees in the future will be more mobile, better educated, healthier, have higher incomes and more accumulated wealth and be more active consumers than past generations of retirees. Thus, attracting retirees to relocate may be an excellent economic development strategy for many Texas communities.

Retirees don't want jobs and they bring experience, purchasing power and potential investable funds to a community.

Their consumer needs, especially in leisure time activities, services, housing and medical care, are frequently different from other age groups, but this doesn't have to be a problem. Astute business men and women will react to these differences, and turn them into economic opportunities.

Texas already is an attractive destination for retirees. A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study identifies the majority of non-metropolitan counties east of a line from Del Rio through Fort Worth as retirement counties. These counties had 15 percent or more net immigration of people aged 60 and over from 1970 to 1980. It's not just a case of people retiring where they have lived and worked; instead, a lot of people have deliberately chosen to move to these counties.

"The evidence is clear that Texas already attracts retirees," says Dr. Don Stebbins, a community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "I believe more counties could benefit from this growing sector of our economy with aggressive marketing."

As local leaders consider the economic direction of their communities, it makes sense that they give serious thought to retirees.

Bill reform

Reform of the antiquated Davis-Bacon Act is the target of HR 2328, a bill introduced by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm with Congressman Arlan Strangeland (R-Minn.) and already sponsored by 80 members of the U.S. House of Representatives.

SPLASH DAY

Most popular place in town Monday was the city swimming pool where dozens of youngsters showed up to take advantage of the free "Splash Day" which signaled the opening of the renovated pool.

Plant materials evaluated

Some 250 collections of native grasses and legumes are under initial evaluation at the USDA Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center at Knox City.

This phase is the first of an array of subjective criteria that each accession in an assembly of a particular species must go through before it is released as a proven, quality plant material for use by land owners and other resource managers.

Water consumption can be reduced

As summer approaches, Texas' water conservation problems become more evident. Consumers can help in the conservation effort by using common sense and following some easy water and energy saving ideas.

Dr. Susan Quiring, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M Extension Service says, "There are many ways to conserve water in the house. Cutting down on house water consumption helps stretch the fresh water supply and saves money as well." She suggests that people take short showers instead of baths, run dishwashers and washing machines only when they're full, and turn off the water while shaving or brushing teeth in order to save water.

According to the specialist, the bathrooms should be a site for much conservation. Approximately 60 to 80 gallons of water per person are consumed daily in a typical household, and 75 percent of that water is used in the bathroom. Each toilet flush alone uses anywhere from five to eight gallons, and many people use this much water to dispose of a facial tissue instead of tossing it in the garbage.

To conserve water, toilet dams can be inexpensively installed to reduce the flow by as much as 50 percent. Placing a filled, weighted, water container in the tank can displace the volume of the container for each flush. Be sure not to use bricks for this purpose because they crumble and cause damage, she cautions.

"Showers, which are the greatest hot water consumers, can be made more efficient by installing restrictors to cut the flow in half," says Quiring. Aerating heads which mix air with the water are another option. They often come equipped with an on-off button which makes it possible to turn off the water while lathering. Aeroators also can make sinks more efficient.

Setting back the thermostat on the hot water heater, cleaning it occasionally and insulating the tank will make the system more efficient. This cuts down on consumption since there is less waiting for hot water, and it decreases energy costs, Quiring maintains.

"Outdoor water usage also can be reduced," the specialist adds. "Watering the lawn only when necessary, and soaking it down to the roots is a good idea. Avoiding watering during the hot part of the day, or on windy days can help conserve. Try collecting rainwater in a barrel to use for watering around the house."

Water conservation is everyone's problem. Some solutions can be easy to implement, and save energy and money as well.

TAX PLANNING

AUTO RECORDKEEPING (One More Time)

The recordkeeping required for the business use of automobiles, computers, airplanes, boats, etc. went into effect January 1, 1986. All the publicity about the easing of the rules should not lead you to think that you do not have to keep records. The fact is that the new rules are very much like the 1984 Tax Act rules, with the exception that your recordkeeping no longer has to be done "contemporaneously"; that is, as the usage occurs.

You are still required to keep "adequate records" or "sufficient evidence" to substantiate any deductions or credits that you take for the business use of equipment. For automobiles you must keep a record of the date, the distance, the destination and the business purpose of each trip. Though daily recordkeeping is no longer necessary, the law makes it clear that logbook entries made at or near the time of the trip will still be the best documentation should there be any challenge to your deductions. Receipts, cancelled checks, and other documentary evidence may also be used to support deductions.

The "sampling method" can be used in some circumstances. You keep thorough records for a portion of the year and demonstrate that this portion of the year accurately reflects the usage during the rest of the year.

Where employers provide a vehicle to employees for business use, no logs have to be maintained if certain conditions are met. Check with your accountant for details.

If you use a vehicle or other listed equipment in your business, be sure you understand the recordkeeping requirements in your particular situation. Do what is necessary to maintain adequate records throughout the year. A lax approach could cause you to lose deductions to which you are rightfully entitled.

June - the month of romance, vacations -- and wheat harvest! A calander isn't needed to know when June arrives, if you are near a farming community. Harvest is in full swing, as many out-of-town harvesters join our own to reap. Wet ground has hindered a lot, but a few days of lovely weather will remedy that.

Cotton planting is nearing completion. Then will come ground breaking, as the wheat stubble will be turned into the soil as mulch. The farmers will be thinking about Next year's cotton field, as they plan ahead and survey the plowed wheat fields.

Wheat is making a good yield in 1987, some have reported 25 to 27 bushels per acre. Today's price is $2.30 per bushel. The best yield reported was 37 bushels per acre.

Our seniors have returned safely from their trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico - on the Pacific Coast. They reported a grand time, many exciting events, and that it was "different" than any place they have been.

They drove to Dallas, and flew by Mexicana Air to their destination. The resort is only 5 minutes from the beach, and less time to a Disco, that all the young men enjoyed. Seven senior boys and one girl made the trip, accompanied by their sponsors, Mark and Darla Coffman. They agree the most memorable thing has to be the way the taxi drivers maneuver in traffic.

Recent visitors in the home of Pud and Suzie Brockett was a grandson's family, Ricky and Sherry Nance, with Sharon, Ricky II and Clint of Huntsville, Texas. Ricky is Colleen's son and he reported his mother is still having trouble with her arm that was pulled out of socket in a freak accident, and she will have to undergo surgery to correct it.

Wanda Bearden of Petersburg, Texas is in Weinert to spend a few days with her sister's family, Veta and Ronnie Alexander, Missy and Randy.

She will also visit other relatives in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dean Moore and children, Scott and Heather of Valpariso, Ind. were in town this week and visited at the Church of Christ on Sunday. Dean is a former minister of the Church, having lived here in the 1960's. They are celebrating their 25th anniversary, and re-tracing their steps as far as ACU, where they were students.

Monica Brockett of Vega, Texas spent a few days with her grandparents, Pete and Imo Brockett.

Dave and Ethel Jones of Chula Vista, Ca. are visiting with a cousin, Eddie and Meenie Sanders, as well as other relatives in Weinert. Dave lived here in the 1920's and can see a few changes that have been made since then!

Sue and Talonda Hackney of Ft. Worth are spending a few days in the home of the D. I. Whites, to celebrate an early Father's Day.

Mattie and Durward White were in Ft. Worth last week to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Bonnie and Elwood Hackney, former Weinert residents.

The Jetton children met for their annual reunion on June 7th in Holiday, in the home of Jimmie and Claude Young.

Donnie and Debbie Crump spent a relaxing week in Edinburg, Texas in the home of Debbie's parents, the Keil's. Her sister, Becky Keil, graduated from High School, and the Crumps were there for the exercises before returning home to Weinert. Mr. Keil and Becky returned to Weinert with them, on their way to visit Colleges in Tennessee.

The First Baptist Church is engaged in a Vacation Bible School this week, stressing the theme "Learning Bible Truths". Attendance is good.

Mr. and Mrs. Tab Garrett of Rochester with 18 of their children and grandchildren were visitors at the Weinert Church of Christ on Sunday. The Garretts are former members of the Weinert Church, and were here to attend the Garrett family reunion.

R. S. Sanders will be in Hendricks Hospital from Thursday to Sunday for further Chemo treatments. We pray for his continued good spirits and good health.

Lt. Keith Sanders will leave Friday for his post of duty with the U. S. Airforce in Korea. He has spent his leave with his parents, Kenneth and Brenda Sanders and brothers Kregg, Kent and Kole, and other relatives in the area.

Keith was in South Dakota last week to serve at the wedding of one of his classmates.

We pray for a safe flight back to his base, and everyday as he serves us in Korea.

Our congratulation to some special honorees! Larry Bruggeman, Joe Yates and Raymond Mathison are celebrating birthdays. Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Harlan are celebrating wedding anniversaries. Congratulations!! Have a good day!

(The following articles were omitted from last week's column of Weinert News.)

Bertie Alexander has been ill, and has gone to Abilene to spend some time with her daughter, Audra and Bob Schindler.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Holloway of Waco were weekend visitors in her sisters home, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sanders and attended the R.R. reunion with them. Mrs. Holloway is the former Leatha Johnson.

Marvin and Myrtle Plemister are home after a week's visit in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. David Plemister, Greg and Marcus of Wimberly, Texas. They attended Commencement exercises in Wimberly for Greg, who returned with Marcus to spend the summer in Weinert.

The Weinert Home Extension Club met May 26th in the home of Mrs. Gus Rueffer. Mrs. Lou Gilly brought a program on "Improving Your Memory." There will be no June meeting.

Frank Vojkufka and daughter Barbara Davis of Lubbock, and Jewel Havarand of Munday were visitors in the home of Mildred and Alton Sanders on Sunday.

Other guests were the Sanders' son, Terry and Beth Sanders of Abilene, with David and Kerri. The children plan to spend the week and attend Vacation Bible School to be held at the First Baptist Church June 8th thru 12th.

Jeff and Dianne Taylor, students at Hardin Simmons University, were visitors at the First Baptist Church on Sunday, where Jeff was guest speaker while the pastor, Don Crump is away.

Congratulations to all our "graduated" seniors, and who are on a vacation this week.

Congratulations also to our birthday people: Kregg Sanders, Bryce Hudgens, Christopher Gonzales, Jardon Coffman, Sampson Castorena, Chuckie Castillo, and Bob Raynes.

Anniversaries include Mr. and Mrs. Russ Perry, Mr. and Mrs. John Castillo, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alvarado, and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ferril who is celebrating a 50th.

Congratulations to each one! And have a good day!

We've walked a mile in your shoes

You can't serve an agricultural community without fully understanding the individual needs of our farm and ranch friends. Our farm friends have helped us grow and we, in turn, have helped them through the years.

When misfortune arrives in the form of drought, flooding, or turbulent markets, we feel the pinch too. So, if you need a banker that's experienced in farming, one who has walked in your shoes, come in and see us soon.

Paint Creek senior gets academic honor

Rhonda Coleman, a Paint Creek senior-to-be, has been named an Academic All-American scholar by the National Secondary Education Council.

The award was established by the NSEC in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade-point average. Only those selected by secondary school instructors, counselors or other qualified sponsors are accepted.

Rhonda, who was nominated for the national award by Max Calk, principal at Paint Creek, will appear in the Academic All-American Scholar Directory which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever in American history," said Dr. George Stevens, executive director of NSEC. "Certainly, winners of the Academic All-American awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement."

The Paint Creek student is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Coleman. Her grandparents are Jodie and Ethel Earles of Haskell and Lois Coleman of Stamford.
