Indians to host Knox City

Knox City's Greyhound provide the opposition for the Haskell Indians in a non-district homecoming game here Friday night.

And Indian coach Nelson Coulter said there is no way the Class A invaders can be taken lightly. In case there was, that idea was dispelled last Friday when the Greyhounds upended highly regarded Throckmorton.

Knox City played a very good game against Munday in the second game of the season, the week after the Indians had lost to Munday. The Mustangs held Munday to a scoreless tie during the first half before finally bowing 14-0.

And if that isn't enough to earn the respect of the Indians, they can recall last year's game in Knox City. Haskell was coming off a big win over Quanah when the Indians invaded Knox City. The Greyhounds pasted a 13-10 haymaker on the Indians.

Coach Nelson Coulter was happy to get a 20-6 victory at Quanah last week, but he wasn't exceptionally pleased with the team's performance. "It wasn't real pretty," said the coach. "We didn't play with a lot of intensity in the first half, although we did look better in the second half."

The win at Quanah boosted the Indians' record to 2-2. This week will be the Indians' last non-district contest. They begin the 7-2A title chase next week at Hamlin.

Baker heads Kiwanis

Robert Baker will assume office today (Oct. 1) as president of the Haskell Kiwanis Club.

Other new officers include Robert Gray, vice president; Elbert Johnson, secretary; and Bobby Hobgood, treasurer.

The major emphasis program for the coming year is "Our Quest--Their Best." It will be a concentrated effort by the Kiwanis to meet the emotional and social needs of children and youth.

Baker said the local projects for the Kiwanis will be to support the Haskell schools through fund-raising projects and direct involvement.

The support of senior citizens also will continue to be a high priority. Another fund-raising meal in support of the Experienced Citizens Center will be scheduled in the near future.

The spiritual aims of the Kiwanis will continue to be a primary concern during the coming year.

Roll back petitions to be presented to county

Petitions calling for an election to roll back Haskell County property taxes will be presented to the county judge this morning (Thursday), even though the constitutionality of a roll back election has been questioned.

Sue Patterson, one of the leaders of the roll back movement, said Wednesday that petitions, containing approximately 800 names, calling for an election to roll back county property taxes from 45.5 cents per $100 valuation to 38.09 cents are now being gathered for presentation today.

She requested that petitions be turned in to her immediately.

County Judge B. O. Roberson told The Free Press that if the petitions are received today he will call a meeting of the county commissioners to consider the petitions. The called meeting will likely be Friday; if not, then Monday, the judge said.

Under the law, 10 percent of the voters can petition a roll back election if the tax rate is increased more than 8 percent over the effective tax rate. Commissioners have 20 days from the receipt of the petition to determine its validity, and if it is valid, must call an election no sooner than 30 nor more than 90 days.

New mayor has background in government

New Haskell Mayor Greg Melton brings a keen interest and an educational background in government to the City Council.

Now in his seventh year as social studies teacher at Haskell High School, Melton earned BA and MA degrees in history from Abilene Christian University. He minored in government.

Melton, who also serves as assistant principal of Haskell Secondary School, teaches classes in government and history at the Haskell extension of Western Texas College.

The new mayor and his wife, D'Anne, have a two-year-old son, Taylor.

Melton's appointment as mayor last Tuesday by the City Council is for the remaining portion of the term of Abe Turner.

Retail merchants meet Wednesday

The monthly meeting of the Retail Merchants division of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce will be at 7 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the Chamber office.

School attendance important

In accordance with Texas Education Agency procedure, the Haskell schools announce that the first week of October begins four weeks of high attendance goals for the Haskell Independent School District.

Attendance records are vitally important to the students and the taxpayers of the district. The ADA (average daily attendance) is based on the four weeks in October, and it is the ADA by which state monies are allotted to local school districts.

It is essential that students attend as regularly as possible and that they be encouraged to do so. The school projects a 97-percent attendance. A $10 gift certificate will be awarded to students with perfect attendance.

A list of local merchants participating in this activity will be given to each student who receives a certificate. The reward will be in the form of merchandise such as clothes, video tapes, toys, food, etc.

In addition, students in grades 7-12 with perfect attendance during the four weeks will receive a week of coveted "early outs" for lunch.

Parents are asked to cooperate and encourage students to be in school.

In an opinion issued last Friday, attorney general Jim Mattox ruled that a county roll back election unconstitutionally circumvents the authority of the county commissioners.

A spokesperson in the attorney general's office told The Free Press

Wednesday that commissioners still may order a roll back election, if properly petitioned, but they are not bound by law to do so.

If commissioners choose to follow the attorney general's opinion, taxpayers have the right to seek court action to overturn the opinion, the spokesperson said.

A total of 665 entries were received in the adult class and there were 584 youth entries.

Tenille Mathis, Haskell 4-H, was named the champion youth exhibitor.

In the livestock division, Mindy Ballard, Rochester 4-H, exhibited the Grand Champion Steer and Matt Pace, Rule 4-H, exhibited the Reserve Champion steer. Kent Latham of Knox County 4-H exhibited the Grand Champion heifer and Jim Martin, Shackelford County 4-H exhibited the Reserve Champion.

Church plans garage sale

The Trinity Lutheran Church will have a garage sale Friday and Saturday.

In addition to normal merchandise offered at garage sales, members will have baked goods for sale.

"You'll be sure to find the 'treasure' you're looking for," said a church spokesperson.

Legion meeting to be Oct. 20

Members of the recently reorganized American Legion Post 221 will have their next regular meeting at 7:30 Oct. 20.

All Legionaires and those interested in becoming members are urged to attend.

Pair splits first in football contest

Bill Trammell, the previous week's winner, and Janie Kennedy tied for first place in last week's Free Press football contest.

They were two of three people who correctly predicted the winners of 16 of the 20 games listed in the contest.

When the tie-breaker score prediction was considered, they remained tied so they will share this week's first- and second-place prize money of $30.

Winning third, and $5, was Barry Walker of Weinert, who also had 16 winners but a less accurate prediction of the Baylor-Tech score.

In a week which saw two tie games, LSU-Ohio State and Tennessee-Auburn, contestants did extremely well. All three winners failed to call Knox City's win over Throckmorton, as did practically every other contestant.

In addition to the two ties and the Knox City-Throckmorton game, Trammell missed Hamlin's win over Seymour. Mrs. Kennedy missed Hawley's victory over Ranger, and Walker missed out on Vernon Northside's victory over Rule.

Nine other contestants selected 15 winners, 10 were correct on 14 games and 20 had 13 right answers.

Those with 15 correct predictions included Robert L. Dumas, Michelle Ortiz, Lynn Wheatley, Penny Young, Jesse Ortiz, Ann Young, Nicklaus Goss, Bobby Hobgood and Pam McDonald.

Weinert grads celebrate

The Weinert graduating class of 1937 celebrated its 50th anniversary Friday night in the home of Glenn and Jona Caddell.

Originally there were 14 in the class. Three are deceased. Ten of the 11 surviving members were present, along with their spouses.

The group met in the Caddell home where each was pinned with a banner bearing the school colors of blue and white streamers topped with a blue carnation which was the class flower.

They went by caravan to Glenn's Barbeque Express for a delicious meal. The meeting room there was decorated with memorabilia of old school days.

After recalling some of the happenings of their days at school 50 years ago, they went back to the Caddells for desserts and snacks.

Some of the classmates had not seen each other since graduation and it was great fun when each tried to recognize the other.

The dessert table was decorated with a white lace cloth, centered with a white bulldog planter bearing blue carnation arrangements.

Attending were Lenora and Bundy Wilson of Quitman, Cecil and Gleta Suggs of Arlington, Arthur and Jeannette Ford of Dallas, Elbrata Needpham of Dallas, Lucille Pickering of Brownwood, Lois and Verlin Cypert of Knox City, Leta and Roy Phemister of Munday, Durene and Nored Boone, Nellie and Woody Frazier and Jona and Glenn Caddell of Haskell.

Homemakers attend state meeting

Mrs. J. A. Mayfield, Mrs. Gene Overton and Mrs. J. E. Jetton attended the 1987 State Texas Extension Homemakers Association meeting in Fort Worth. Educational workshops, business meetings, a luncheon for area legislators, entertainment and fun were all a part of the activities Sept. 22-24.

Participants acquired knowledge about AIDS and parliamentary law. Club members also studied about water resources, communication skills, coping with stress, home and personal safety, immigration laws and how to work within the state and local government system.

Of special interest was the announcement of the new Family and Community Development project. In the next several years, extension homemaker leaders will receive in-depth training to prepare them for involvement in public policy decision-making. The special project, funded jointly by the Cooperative Extension Service, Extension Homemakers and the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, is open to anyone who will commit to working in the program from 12 to 24 days in one year.

Participants in FCL will receive 30 hours instruction in leadership communication, working with groups, issue analysis and resolution, community affairs and public policy, volunteerism and teaching methods.

Those interested in the FCL project or in becoming a member of a local extension homemakers club should call the home demonstration agent's office in Haskell, 864-2546.

Commentary

Hance to help pick Commission boss

AUSTIN—Maybe things will even out a bit on the Texas Railroad Commission, and maybe they'll even pick a chairman, now that former Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock has been sworn in to fill the seat vacated by Mack Wallace. Wallace, who has served on the commission since 1973, resigned recently to join an Austin law firm.

As the lone Republican on the three-man commission, Hance will have the vote to hand the gavel to either of the two warring Democrats, John Sharp or Jim Nugent.

Observers are speculating as to how long it will take Hance to take sides with one or the other, although one group sees Hance holding out to cut a deal making himself chairman.

Watching Hance at his swearing-in ceremony, it was apparent he is comfortable, perhaps fulfilled, in his new position on the political playing field with his new team, the GOP.

Democratic Disarray

And despite the heat he caught last week for billing the state $20,000 for official use of his plane, Gov. Clements, who named Hance to his new job, said Republicans are gaining clout in he expects the nomination without a fight in the primary, using that argument.

But street-fighter Mattox will get a fight, and it may be the hardest one for him to handle. He'll have to fight a woman.

If he goes hammer and tongs after Richards, as he usually does to anyone he faces, he may create a sympathy backlash for the lady. But don't underestimate Richards; she's a tough cookie who can play politics with the best of them.

Other Highlights

• Texas leaders were pleased to learn last week that the jobless rate fell slightly, from 8.7 to 8.3 percent.

• Texas students' scores on college entrance exams remain below the national average in about the same position as last year's effort. This despite the education reforms.

• Five of eight Texas sites proposed for the supercollider project made the first round of federal cuts last week. Still in: three West Texas sites, Amarillo and Waxahachie.

• Meanwhile, Clements and Speaker Gib Lewis demonstrated bipartisan support for the $500 million supercollider bond package on the November ballot. Both donned white laboratory coats for the press.

• Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who organized a statewide beach cleanup, said some 7,100 volunteers picked up almost 215 tons of garbage in three hours.

Mauro regularly lobbies Washington to ban trash dumping in the Gulf by international ships.

• Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower wants a wine cooler made exclusively from Texas wines to tap into the market now dominated by New York and California.

He's talking about coolers processed at a former soft drink bottling plant in La Grange.

• The American Ethnic Coalition, leading the fight for an amendment to make English the official state language, asked both political parties to put the issue on their March primary ballots.

The Republicans will consider the request at a November meeting. The Democrats passed a resolution against it.

• Gov. Clements reappointed legendary corporate raider T. Boone Pickens Jr. of Amarillo to the West Texas State University Board of Regents.

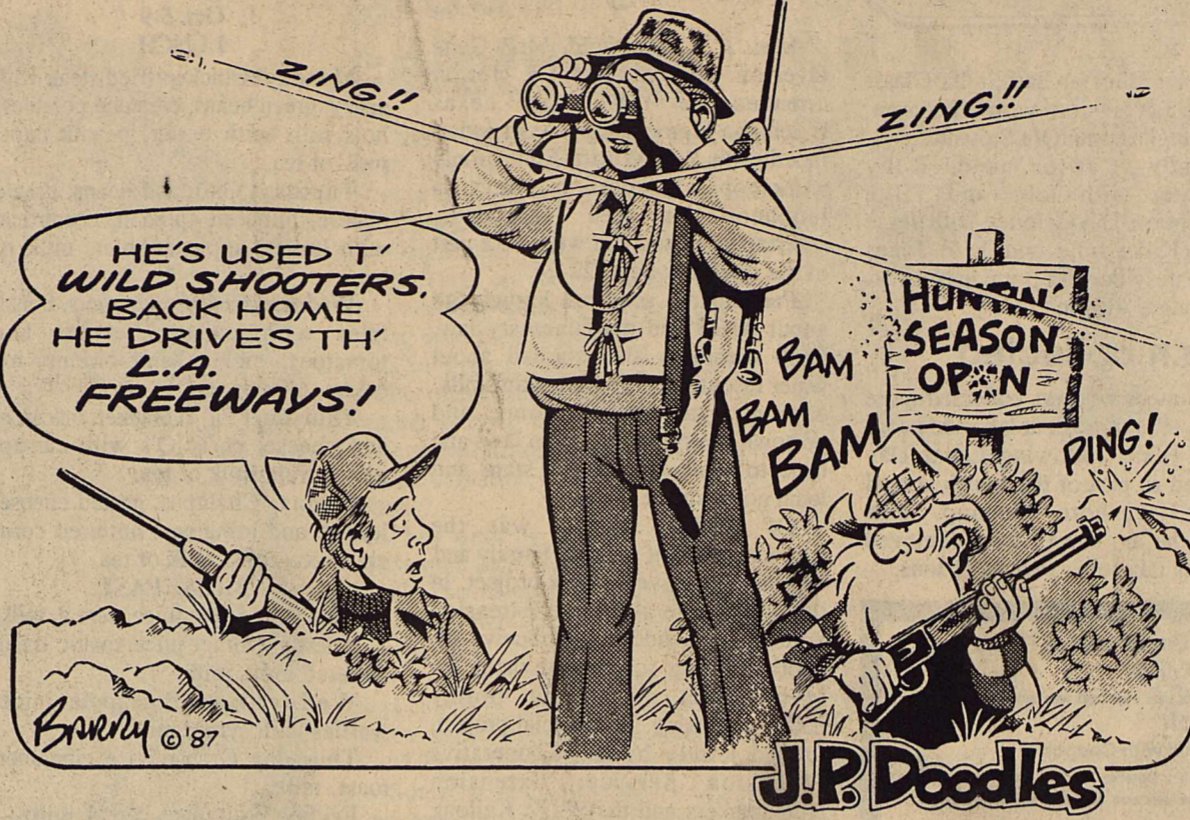

Integrity

Editor: It is refreshingly unusual to see a good football team combine hard-hitting intensity with the high degree of integrity that the '87 Indians possess.

Time and again, the opposing player is blocked down or tackled hard and then offered a friendly hand to help him up.

We are proud of you Indians--and of the coaching staff which is teaching you these all-important principles of life.

Tom Long

plain talk

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

Plagiarize: To steal and pass off the ideas and words of another as one's own; use a created production without crediting the source; to commit literary theft; present as new and original an idea or product derived from an existing source.

Along with lying, it's also what forced Joe Biden to drop out of the presidential campaign.

Politicians have been practicing plagiarism ever since they started using speech writers. Few speeches delivered by presidents or presidential candidates are their own words. Unlike Abraham Lincoln, who reportedly wrote his Gettysburg address on a paper sack during his train trip to the battle site, today's political leaders shell out many thousands of dollars to talented word masters to create speeches which will make them look and sound smarter than they are.

And sometimes they aren't even the total works of the speech writers. John F. Kennedy wasn't the first to utter: "Ask not what your country can do for you, etc.?" Nor was Ted Kennedy's "...my brother dreamed dreams that never were and asked why not?" an original.

Plagiarism also is common in the news business. I have to look no further than the top of my desk where I see a front-page column in a newspaper published 100 miles away that consists of a word-for-word re-run of a column I wrote two or three weeks ago.

Under another's byline.

I read the other day that the average professional writer makes less than $5,000 a year for his work. Most of them, of course, must hold down regular jobs to support themselves.

I should have been suspicious years ago when half way through college, flat broke and hungry, I dropped out of school for a semester to earn some money so I could return the next term.

I took a job at $200 a month (not $50 a week) as editor of a newspaper in Memphis, Texas, not bad money compared to the paltry sum I had been earning as a sports writer for the college daily.

A month or two later, the newspaper needed a printer. I recommended a kid I had worked with during high school and whose expertise in printing was on a level with my own. He was hired for $1.50 an hour. He made twice, as much money as I did as those were in the days of 50-and-60-hour weeks for printers--and editors.

Oddly, many of today's best-paid writers are not even writers. I'm not sure that Lee Iococa ever even wrote his mother, but he made a mint from a book he authored. Tip O'Neill said recently on the Larry King show that he never had as much as $2,500 at one time during all the years he served in the U.S. House. He now stands to make a fortune on "Man of the House."

And some of the best paid don't even have to write--they just talk and let someone else do the writing. Jessica Hahn reportedly got a cool million bucks from Playboy just for telling her story, which probably could have been condensed to less than five minutes. (Of course, there were a few photos thrown in.)

Donna Rice won't even get to write, or tell, her story. A lucrative TV contract awaits her signature.

These thoughts ran through my mind when I read the other day that the widow of Ernie Pyle has a collection of all the interviews her husband did with many pioneer aviators. "They should be published, no matter who wrote them," she said.

But publishers aren't interested in stuff like that. No wonder school kids don't take a liking to the literary works. It's more profitable to be smart in other areas. Or dumb. And famous.

--Letters to the Editor--

Editor: I am writing in regard to some problems I experienced at last weekend's Haskell County Fair. The chief problem seems to be a lack of security at the Civic Center.

An airplane model, on which I had spent over 50 hours of construction time, was broken beyond repair as a result of careless handling by fairgoers. A scrapbook of mine containing numerous photographs, newspaper articles, and other aircraft-related items was taken from an exhibit table. (Fortunately, I have been able to track it down and recover it.)

I was not the only exhibitor to have items damaged or stolen. A young friend of mine had several coins taken from his collection. Other items were also roughly treated during the fair.

In order to try to solve some of these problems, I wish to offer two suggestions:

First, if enclosed glass display cases are not available for all exhibits, then some type of rope barriers should be erected so that fair patrons can see, but not touch, the items on display.

Second, a better system of security is needed. The Civic Center is a wonderful facility, but additional personnel are needed to guard all of the doors. An improved procedure for checking items in and out would also help.

My main concern in this is the future of the fair. It is a fun time for everyone, and a chance to see many items of interest, but unless these problems are solved, I believe many people will be more hesitant to display items of value. That would be a loss to us all.

Thank you very much.

Dusty Garison

To the people that signed the petitions, it is up to our County Court to have a rollback election and if they don't, it is up to us to demand it since they were the ones that told us we could.

Judge Roberson asked us to turn the petitions in by Friday at 10 o'clock in the morning (Oct. 2). This way they could certify the petitions and vote on whether they would allow a rollback election or not. The public is welcome to be there. It will be a called meeting. We ask everyone that can attend to be in Commissioners' Court Friday morning when we present these petitions.

A lot of people have told us if the county would cut back on unnecessary expenses then the employees could have a raise. The county had the option to do away with the county auditor's job and her employee but they elected not to do away with the job. This money could have been used for raises. The employees are all mad at us for getting these petitions up. I am sorry they feel this way. They don't realize they may not have a job tomorrow but the taxes will always be there.

Thanks to all the people that signed the petitions and for all of you working so hard.

quit using?

Why would the tax appraisal board hire someone from Jones County? And pay with Haskell County money?

Why would a Haskell County commissioner hire a Stamford resident to work in Haskell County and furnish a pickup to drive back and forth?

Why did the City Council hire someone from out of state to rewrite the city ordinances?

Why would someone write a letter of praise and not sign it?

Why does the City need two men to read water meters? Is it not less expensive for one to walk and read meters than to have one drive an air conditioned pickup and watch while one man reads meters?

Why do we need a street supervisor and a water supervisor, plus a city manager?

Does the City Council keep a tape record file?

Why does the City allow some people to have hogs in the City limits and others not?

Why did the City Council feel it a necessity to have two policemen and their attorney at the last meeting?

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

The United States and Mexico are on the brink of negotiating a sweeping trade agreement.

The U.S. and Mexico have been holding private discussions and are nearing agreement on a framework for conducting the negotiations. The actual negotiations would begin within 90 days after the framework is established.

Seven specific areas would be included in these discussions: textiles, agricultural products, steel, investment matters, matters involving technology transfer and intellectual property, electronics products, and the exchange of information on the service sector geared toward improved analysis.

I not only support these negotiations, I've been pushing for them. This is because increased trade between us can only benefit both nations. In particular, it is a most effective way to help our border economy.

Mexico, after all, is one of our top trading partners. In 1985, it was the third largest buyer of U.S. exports and our fourth largest source of imports. The U.S. is Mexico's most important trading partner, providing 66 percent of its imports and purchasing 70 percent of its exports.

I want to make sure we go about them in the best way and get the best results. But if these negotiations are going to succeed, the Administration can't go it alone.

They must consult with Congress--and not make the same mistake they have made in the past, when they have left Congress out of the process, then belatedly asked us for authority and have almost been denied it.

The reason? They hadn't consulted with the Congress--and the Constitution charges us with the responsibility of consultation.

By consulting with Congress, the Administration will come into contact with the viewpoints of a broad cross-section of Americans. They will see how we can benefit both countries better.

A number of us have substantial experience on that border. I grew up there and have spent much of my tenure in the U.S. Senate working to improve border trade.

At my request, the U.S. International Trade Commission conducted a comprehensive, 343-page study on the impact that increased trade between us and Mexico would have on the border--a study that many consider to be the standard work on the border region. I have commissioned other studies and held hearings into this matter.

When I visited Mexico City last year, I met with President de la Madrid and the Mexican Trade Minister. We discussed how we can improve the trading conditions between our nations.

Now, we have an opportunity to make additional great strides in trade between our nations, and that would be good for Texas. I want to make sure we do it right.

the midst of disarray in the Texas Democratic Party.

The disarray the governor is talking about is the potential problem Democrats face as many of their elected officials talk about resigning in mid-term, creating vacancies for Clements to fill with Republicans. Creating incumbents, you might say.

Why this is occurring is hard to pin down, but the Democrats were worried enough about it last week to pass a resolution urging all Democratic officeholders to serve out their terms.

Certainly there's enough open sniping between some top Democratic officials as they jockey now to grab the choice spots on the 1990 ballot, three years away.

Mattox, Richards

Attorney General Jim Mattox, who's playing king-of-the-mountain for the governor's mansion, turned his guns on likely opponent, Treasurer Ann Richards, just as he did to Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Henry Cisneros before they deferred.

Mattox said Richards can't raise enough money to win, and that her candidacy would be divisive for the party. Apparently,

LAYAWAY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

City gets $8,489 in sales tax revenue

A check for $8,489.51 received last Monday by the City of Haskell from the state comptroller represented its share of the sales taxes collected by the state for July sales.

The amount compares with $11,480.81 received last year for the same period.

So far this year, Haskell has received $109,157.84 in sales tax collections. This is 11.07 percent less than the $122,745.01 for the comparable period of 1986.

Rule's September check was for $1,420.64, considerably higher than the $1,062.74 received last year. But Rule's 1987 total of $17,106.28 is down 27.25 percent from last year's $23,515.31.

No other Haskell County city received a September check.

Band News

The Haskell Band Boosters met at 6:30 p.m. in the band hall with Sue Miller presiding.

Minutes were read by Kathryn Medford. Kenneth Jarred gave the treasurer's report. Mr. Jarred also reported that additional rain ponchos had been purchased.

Mr. Wilke reported that the baritone ordered at the previous meeting has arrived. He also said the parking arrangement on out-of-town games was working effectively.

Sue Miller reported the balloons with the Indian decal had arrived and will be sold at the homecoming game along with the spirit towels. Helium for the balloons will be furnished by the Haskell National Bank.

Other items of business included the addition of lemonade suckers to the menu of the concession stand. Plans are for another Coke stand for the Friday game to be available.

A marching clinic will be held prior to the marching contest to be held in Abilene on Saturday, Oct. 24.

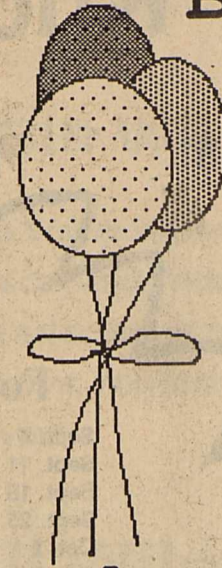

The Indian Band Alumni and Friends Association was represented and extended an invitation to band students, band parents and ex-band members to attend a reception at the Civic Center from 1:30 to 3 Saturday.

A number of people will be needed to operate the homecoming concession stand Oct. 2. Parents may contact chairmen if they are available to work.

Next meeting is to be held Monday, Nov. 2, at 6:30.

In an effort to express and encourage the spirit of homecoming within the school and among its exes, the junior class undertook several projects.
Those attending the homecoming game against Knox City Friday night will be greeted by the work of the junior class.
Welcome signs outside of town on US 277 and US 380, as well as a large banner suspended across the highway in front of the school, will welcome the exes to town.
A new school flag also will be waving the black and gold proudly on game days and at night. It will be displayed at Indian Field along with other projects the juniors completed.

The pressbox will be the scene for two wooden silhouette tomahawks framing the slogan, "Scalp 'em Indians," and the new concession stand will display the records achieved by past Indian teams. These records will be in the center of two silhouette teepees.
Highlighting the football field on this special night will be a black and gold Indian head on the 50-yard-line and to highlight the bleachers, black and gold streamers will be hung.
Several novelties also will be provided for all those participating in this week's activities.
More than 1,000 Indian-head wooden nickels will be handed out to everyone and 1,000 Indian headdress with feathers will be given to all elementary students and children of the exes. Also, black and gold garters will be sold as part of a class fundraiser.

A large spirit sign will be hanging in the gym for the pep rally, displaying the class' theme for homecoming: "Once an Indian, Always an Indian."
Trash cans will be bearing the encouraging message: "Trash the Hounds."

Ten businesses have helped the class by allowing them to display spirit slogans on their marquees.
"The junior class and the other sponsors have worked long, intense hours with hopes of making Homecoming '87 one to be remembered by all," said Mrs. Jil Druessedow, class sponsor. "They have completed nine major projects and four auxiliary projects in an effort to bring about the traditional homecoming spirit and to provide the exes with an enjoyable homecoming."

School class needs used magazines

One man's trash is another man's treasure.
Most people put their used periodicals in the trash. This year those used periodicals would be a treasure to the Haskell speech and drama class.

The class needs news magazines for the debate team which is reorganizing after several years.
"We'll be happy to pick up any news magazines which are no longer being used, said Mrs. Glenda Drinnon, speech and drama teacher.
To donate the news magazines leave a message in the high school office between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays. The office number is 864-2848.
"We'll then set a pick up time," Mrs. Drinnon said.

We have Bible markers by Sanford in five colors. Will not bleed through even the finest of Bible papers. Refillable. Haskell Free Press.

TAX PLANNING

Written By Richard E. Rodgers, CPA

BUSINESS CAR EXPENSES

The rules governing the tax deductibility of business auto expenses are complex. Generally, employers can deduct the cost of using cars for business travel or of providing them to employees for business and/or personal use. An employee is taxed on the personal use of an employer-provided car.

Self-employed individuals can deduct their business car expenses but are allowed no deduction for any personal use of their vehicles.

Employees can deduct expenses for using a car in performing duties as employees; however, depreciation deductions may only be taken if the car is required as a condition of employment and is used for the convenience of the employer. If the employee is reimbursed by an amount equal to his business car expenses, he need not report the reimbursement or his expenses on his tax return. If the expenses are unreimbursed, the employee may deduct them on his tax return only to the extent that they, together with other miscellaneous itemized deductions, exceed 2% of his adjusted gross income. Self-employed individuals and employees may choose to deduct either a standard mileage allowance (22 1/2 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles, 11 cents a mile thereafter) or actual car expenses.

Taxpayers who deduct actual car expenses are entitled to accelerated depreciation deductions over a six year period. In the year of purchase a taxpayer can elect to expense currently the full cost of the car, up to a maximum of $2,560. The amount expensed reduces the amount of depreciation. Both the expensing option and accelerated depreciation are allowed only if the car is used more than 50% for business. If this use test isn't met, depreciation must be taken on the straight-line method.

Adequate, though not necessarily contemporaneous, records or "sufficient oral or written evidence" are required to substantiate deductions for the business use of a vehicle. Recommended records include account books, diaries, logs, trip sheets, expense reports, and receipts. In certain circumstances, the sampling method is adequate; a taxpayer can maintain a record for a typical portion of the tax year and use that record to substantiate business use of the vehicle for the entire year.

4-H continues vital role

Texas Agricultural Extension Service

No one can question the fact that young people are the future of America, and the 4-H program is continuing to play a vital role in preparing youth for the future by providing training in leadership, citizenship and coping skills.

Thus the theme of the upcoming National 4-H Week Oct. 4-10, "4-H for Youth for America," points to this country's richest resource, its young people, says H. T. "Tom" Davison, state 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The extension service is the parent organization of the 4-H program, an informal, out-of-school educational program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19 that is based around local clubs.

"Through 4-H we try to provide youth with opportunities to learn and experience what life has to offer," Davison points out. "We also lay the groundwork to help 4-H members explore opportunities for personal growth and to gain skills that will be useful in later life. Four-H also helps youth to deal with stress and to learn to help others. We like the say that 4-H takes up where school leaves off."

Texas boasts some 305,000 4-H members. Nationwide, 4-H is more than 4.5 million members strong and is the nation's largest youth organization. More 4-H members today live in suburbs and cities of more than 50,000 population. Recent research shows that former 4-H'ers are more likely to assume community leadership, political and other citizenship roles than people who participated in other youth organizations. "Four-H membership teaches youth that the community and giving to the community are important," says Davison.

Vital to the 4-H program are volunteer leaders.

"Volunteer leaders are the backbone of the 4-H program as they provide the organizational leadership for local 4-H clubs as well as training and resources in a host of subject-matter areas," notes Davison. Almost 620,000 volunteer leaders support the 4-H program nationwide, with more than 30,000 of those in Texas. Davison estimates that the time, travel and support contributed by these volunteer leaders across the U.S. is valued at more than $1 billion a year.

Looking at the 4-H program in Texas, Davison notes that the most popular project area is food and nutrition. Other projects which attract large numbers of 4-H'ers include energy, embryology, health (eye care) and safety.

LABOR STANDARDS ACT

The Labor Standards Act (FLSA) sets minimum wage, child labor and record-keeping standards which apply to farm workers. The wage and hour federal law is enforced by the U.S. Department Labor's Wage and Hour Division.

Sidelines

Quanah had just one penalty for 5 yards, but it proved to be a costly one.

Haskell faced a fourth-and-two early in the third period when Quanah was called for movement, giving the Indians a first down.

That was a 67-yard boot by Patrick Perez which rolled dead on the Quanah 8 as time ran out in the first half.

Quanah's Jason Swindell, a freshman, suffered a broken arm as he gained 6 yards in the first quarter on his only carry of the game.

For the second week, Quanah was playing without its No. 1 quarterback. Jeffrey Knight was still ailing from a badly sprained ankle which also forced him out of the previous week's game against Paducah.

Haskell will get one more look at Quanah's Setrick Dickens next year. He's only a junior.

The Indians were not fooled by Quanah's attempt at a guard-eligible play in the fourth quarter. Junior Leal was smothered for a 1-yard loss as he picked the ball up off the ground.

Thanks to a Hail Mary pass from Michael Jackson to Setrick Dickson in the fourth quarter, Quanah was able to show respectable passing yardage. Jackson threw long into a crowd and Dickson came down with the ball for a 42-yard gain.

Quanah is now 1-3 for the season. Those other Indians have beaten Archer City, while losing to state-ranked Paducah, 3A Childress and now Haskell.

Pre-game ceremonies were long. It was Quanah's homecoming and the public address announcer introduced half the student body and then made a lengthy speech.

There was no story of Haskell's victory in Saturday's Abilene newspaper.

Guess the Reporter-News figured since the previous week's story on the Electra game had been published twice there was no need to run this one.

Pirates lose to Benjamin

The Pirates' Pen
The Benjamin Mustangs started fast and were 32 points up in the scoring column before Paint Creek decided to join in on the party.

Led by seniors Redwine and Pierce, Benjamin displayed a consistently good game, coupled with a solid defense which together spelled defeat for the Pirates, 66-20.

The losing effort was not without its bright spots though. The Mustang defense forced the Pirate attack to the air where junior quarterback Manuel Acosta completed 7 of 11 passes for 128 yards. He rushed for 30 yards on three scrambling attempts. He also completed 10 lateral-like passes to senior Dan Benton out of the spread formation. Benton gained 107 yards on these attempts.

Senior running back Angel Camacho opened the Pirate scoring with a sensational 60-yard run in the second quarter. Before he was injured in the third quarter he had 87 yards in 5 attempts. Running back and receiver Johnny Ortiz had 28 yards on 3 carries and 83 yards and one touchdown on 3 receptions. Johnny Hoadley contributed 24 yards on one reception and freshman Dave Morgan had one rushing attempt for 14 yards.

Defensively, Benton, Acosta and Ortiz had 16 tackles apiece while seniors Ty Williams and Angel Camacho contributed with 12 apiece. A. G. Gonzales had five tackles while Kelly Williams and John Hoadley had one each.

watched the film of the Haskell Indians' defeat of the Quanah Indians.

Head coach Nelson Coulter said he felt our team really did not play with much intensity, that it was about as quiet a game as it could have been. He said we should have put the game away in the first half. He said, however, that he was pleased with the kids' poise to come back after the first touchdown, march down the field and score.

When defensive coach Walter Hargrove was teased about the first touchdown of Quanah's only 20 seconds into the game, he said, "That first play gets us every week."

As for a scouting report on Knox City, it was pointed out that they lost their best running back, Anthony Oudems, in the first game. Anthony McCrary and Richie Saxton have quickness and experience. Their sophomore quarterback, Billy Large, functions well and throws well. He throws from the 1 formation to McCrary and Saxton and also runs the option some.

Knox City probably has the smallest defensive front we've seen and is about our size. On film they have shown the tendency to play man-to-man coverage. Their lack of depth may be a disadvantage. Last week the Knox City team beat Throckmorton 21-12.

"The Indians have no serious injuries and everyone should be ready to play," said Coulter.

Haskell junior high team will play at 5 p.m. today (Thursday) at O'Brien, to be followed by the JV game.

Paint Creek

The Pirates play Goree this week in Goree at 7:30 p.m. Friday. With a 1-1 district record they need a good game against the Wildcats to keep their playoff hopes alive. Camacho, Cockerell and Hoadley will be listed as improbable starters this week due to knee injuries.

Rochester keeps rolling

Unbeaten Rochester made it four straight Friday night with a 57-12 romp over Lueders-Avoca.

The game was called under the 45-point rule with six minutes left in the third quarter.

Rochester scored 32 points in the first period on a 16-yard run by Anthony Brown, a 30-yard pass from Larry King to Morgan Walker, a 12-yard run by James Wyatt and a 17-yard run by Brown. Lueders-Avoca scored late in the first period on a 49-yard pass and run play from Jackie Allen to Lee Lopez.

Denny Tibbetts scored another Rochester touchdown in the second quarter on a 5-yard pass from King and Lueders-Avoca countered with a 15-yard scoring pass from Lopez to Mike George.

King returned the second-half kickoff 65 yards for another Rochester score and Brown ran 17 yards for a touchdown to end of the game.

King kicked three extra points and passed to Walker for another.

Brown led the ball carriers with 148 yards on 14 carries, while Wyatt had 130 yards in 11.

The win brought Rochester's district record to 2-0. The Steers will go after their fifth victory and third district win Friday night when Woodson plays at Rochester.

Indians get victory over Quanah, 20-6

Haskell's Indians spotted Quanah a touchdown in the first 20 seconds, and then stormed back to score three unanswered touchdowns of their own as they sailed to a 20-6 victory at Quanah Friday night for their second consecutive victory.

The win evened the Indians' season record at 2-2.

Haskell marched 74 yards for its first touchdown, 32 yards for its second and 62 yards for the third as the Indians put on their best offensive performance of the year.

Mark Young paced the Indian attack with 105 yards in 18 carries, followed closely by Fred Shaw's 87 yards in just 9 carries. Patrick Perez was a perfect 4-for-4 in passing, while Chan Guess was 3-for-9 and Young 1-for-2 as the Indians added 93 aerial yards to go with their 213 yards on the ground.

Haskell started off with no indication that a fine performance was to follow. After Derrick Billington returned the opening kickoff 16 yards from the 22 to the 38, the Indians fumbled the ball to Quanah at the 37 on the first play from scrimmage.

Then on Quanah's first play, Setrick Dickens streaked all the way for a touchdown to give his team a short-lived 6-0 lead.

After the next kickoff Haskell took over at its own 26. Eleven plays and 74 yards later Shaw scored from 10 yards out and Chan Guess booted the conversion to make it 7-6 for the Indians. Young had runs of 16 and 10 yards in the drive and a Perez-to-Billington pass accounted for another 25 yards. The first quarter was 9 seconds short of the half-way mark when the Indians got their first touchdown.

Quanah came back and drove to a first down at the Haskell 14. After Bo Watson stopped Dickens for a 2-yard loss and Isabel Sanchez picked up 3 yards to the 13, Quanah attempted two passes on third and fourth downs, but both fell incomplete.

Taking over on the 13, the Indians picked up one first down while driving to the 33, but had to punt from that point on fourth down.

Quanah's Anthony Williams fumbled Perez' punt and Marty Martinez recovered for the Indians at the Quanah 30.

A 10-yard penalty and a quarterback sack of Perez for an 11-yard loss on first down pushed Haskell back to its own 49. Shaw romped 30 yards on the next play, but two stabs, by Perez and Young, failed to get a first down and the Indians surrendered the ball.

The Indians then stopped three Quanah running plays and Quanah's Curtis West punted to Billington who returned the ball 20 yards from his own 48 to the Quanah 32.

Young, hit behind the line, recovered and picked up 16 yards with good second and third efforts. After a running play netted nothing, Young passed 16 yards to Billington for a touchdown. Guess' extra point kick made it 14-6 for the Indians with 3:40 to go in the first half.

Haskell made it 20-6 in the third period by going 62 yards in nine plays for the game's final touchdown. Young got the touchdown from 3 yards out. A 23-yard dash by Shaw and runs of 11 and 10 yards by Guess were the big gainers in the drive.

Quanah made a serious threat in the final minutes of the game after Chris Milligan intercepted a Guess pass on the Haskell 41. Quarterback Michael Jackson passed 42 yards to Dickson to the Indian 17, from where Quanah drove to the 3 but Rodney Johnson recovered Jeff Phillips' first-down fumble to put out the fire.

Haskell then ran out the clock, picking up two first downs while moving out to the 27 where the game ended.
