

Civic Center report

Haskell Memorial Civic Center has been in operation for some three years and we continue to complete the building. It has been our policy from the very start that we do not make purchases until we have the money, so today the Civic Center continues to be debt-free.

The Board of Directors voted at their monthly meeting in November to place pine wainscote on walls and tile covering on floors, two small rooms will have carpet. We believe with the completion of the pine wainscote on the walls and tile on the floors more beauty will be added to our building and make it easier to keep clean. This work will be done during the month of January 1988.

The Board of Directors would like to take this opportunity to thank every individual, club and civic organization for your support in making our Civic Center possible. We encourage your continued support, as we all work together to keep a Civic Center that we can be proud of. There are two more main projects to be completed, a stage curtain and paving around the building.

Officers and directors serving on the Board this year are: R. C. Couch Jr., Tom Watson, Delight Jones, Carolyn Everett, Jerene Couch, Mattie Felker English, Bud Turnbow, Mary Kaigler, Francine Johnson, Dickie Greenwood, Abe Turner, Pat Quattlebaum, Jill Harris, Iva Lee Gipson, Linda King and Bill Comedy.

Tom Bogard

First novel

'Dreams as Big as Texas'

"Tom Bogard was rolled out from under a cowpatty by two tumble bugs on Jan. 8, 1946, in a pasture near Morton, Texas. He was found by a sharecropper, O. F. Bogard, who carried him home to his wife, Opal. After cleaning him up they decided to keep him and raise him with their eight other little balls of joy."

So reads the introduction of the author of Dreams as Big as Texas, a nifty fast-moving, action, adventure, romance novel by first-time author Tom Bogard, no stranger to the Haskell area.

Bogard, who attended first and second grades in Old Glory, and third and fourth grades in Avoca before moving to Abilene, was in Haskell the other day promoting his new book.

He says he already has had a movie contract offer and he's negotiating with two other movie producers.

Dreams as Big as Texas is not yet available in Haskell, but Bogard said he expects to have a local outlet for his book within the next week or so.

College registration set

Registration for spring semester classes at the Haskell extension center of Western Texas College will be Jan. 14. Classes will begin Jan. 20.

Courses on the spring schedule are English 132, English 231,

Government 231, History 132 and Sociology 231.

Information about the extension center may be obtained by contacting Bill Blakley at 864-2891.

Basketball teams open with victories

Both Haskell Indian and Maiden basketball teams opened their seasons last week with victories over Aspermont and Knox City.

The Maidens were to play Monday here Tuesday, while the Indians were to face Clyde. The Indians were to have met Monday, but since the Mogul football team is still in the state playoffs, the Indians had to find another foe.

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, no games are scheduled this Friday. But next Tuesday, the Haskell teams are scheduled to play at Munday. Indian Coach Randy Stone said if the Munday boys are still in the football playoffs, there is a possibility that the Haskell boys will play Vernon.

INDIANS

The Indians opened their season last Tuesday at Aspermont with a 70-68 come-from-behind win over the Hornets. With many members of the team just beginning practice due to the extended football season, the Indians had to struggle for the victory over the Class 1A foe.

Patrick Perez scored 13 points to pace the Haskell attack. Dusty Meeks pitched in 12 points, Paul Harvey and Chan Guess had 11 each, and Mark Young contributed 10.

Haskell looked much better Friday against Knox City, winning 71-51. The Indians jumped ahead in the first quarter and were never threatened.

Young and Brad Bevel each had 14 points and Meeks had 10.

MAIDENS

The Maidens had easier times at Aspermont and Knox City. They crushed Aspermont 67-30, and won over Knox City 54-32.

At Aspermont, Haskell led 49-17 at the end of three quarters as they coasted to victory in the season's first game.

Joy McKeever and Sheree Dumas each had 12 points and Robyn Weaver had 11.

At Knox City, the Maidens scored 24 points in the second quarter to break open the game as they soared to a 31-19 halftime lead. Weaver's 23 points paced the Maiden attack.

Pecan show nears

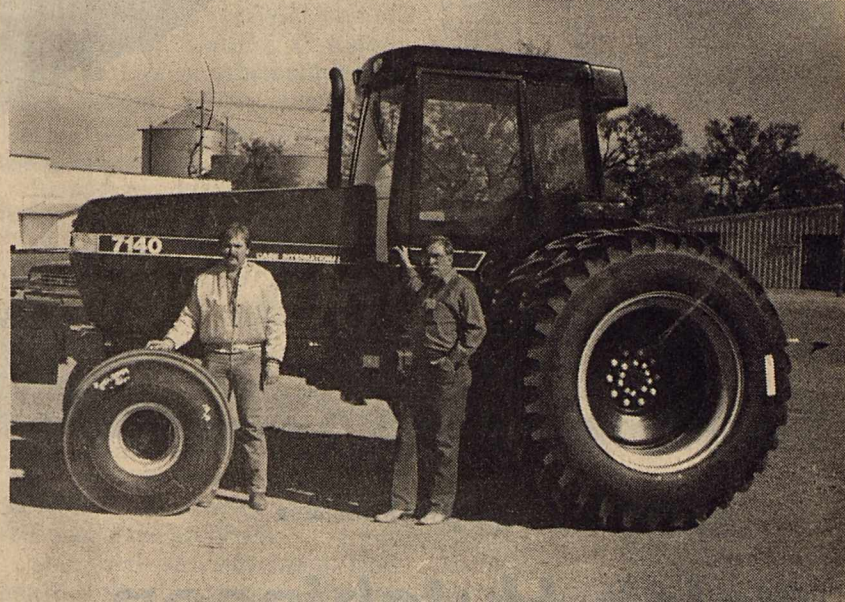

Pecan entries in the sixth annual Haskell County Pecan Show must be in the county extension office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday.

Exhibits for the Pecan Bake Show should be entered between 7:45 and 9:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Pecan entries will be judged between 9 and 11 a.m. Wednesday and food exhibits will be judged between 10 a.m. and noon Wednesday.

The Pecan Show and Pecan Bake Show will be open to the public for viewing Wednesday afternoon between 1 and 4 o'clock.

The show will be in the Haskell National Bank Community Room.

New tractor

Christmas drawings different

Hundreds of dollars in merchandise certificates will be given away in Haskell in four Saturday drawings next month.

Drawings will be held on the Saturdays of Dec. 5, 12, 19 and 22.

At least four packets of gift certificates will be given on each of those days. Each will contain hundreds of dollars in certificates, redeemable at sponsoring merchants.

Drawings will be held at 2 p.m. on each of the above dates.

Christmas drawings are being sponsored by the Retail Trade Association of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce. Conrad Roewe is chairman of the merchants association and Thomas Long is chairman of the drawing program.

Shoppers at sponsoring merchants will be given drawing tickets when they make purchases. No merchant, owner, manager, whether a participant in the program or not, will be eligible to win prizes, nor will members of their immediate families. Employees of sponsoring firms are not eligible to win on tickets from their places of employment, but are eligible to participate with tickets they obtain from other places.

Winners will have to be present during the drawings to claim their prizes.

Goodfellow project now underway

Lions Club Goodfellows will distribute food and toys to needy Haskell families again this year.

Donations of food and toys are underway and on Dec. 12 and Dec. 19, the names of those who will qualify for the Goodfellow's project can be placed, by application, at the First National Bank (north door), beginning at 2:30 p.m. on each of the two days.

On Dec. 23, Goodfellows will meet at the fire station to pack the boxes and on Dec. 24 the boxes will be delivered to those who have been selected to receive them.

The project will be conducted as it has in previous years and a sincere effort will be made to provide food, toys and a happy Christmas where there might not otherwise be provisions for Christmas.

Darold Robertson and George Fouts are co-chairmen of the project.

Cash donations to the project may be made at The Haskell Free Press, P.O. Box 1058. Those wishing to contribute toys may leave them at the Haskell Fire Department.

Organization plans suit against county

A group opposed to the recent county tax rate organized Friday night and became a member of TACT (Texas Association of Concerned Taxpayers, Inc.). They were assisted in their organizing by C. A. Stubbs, state president; Bill Berka, vice president for research; and Eric Samuelson, TACT attorney.

After organizing, the group announced it would file a law suit against Haskell County calling for the county commissioners to call a rollback election.

Commissioners declined to call the rollback election after a group presented petitions calling for them to do so. They cited an attorney general's opinion which held that county rollback tax elections are unconstitutional.

Samuelson told the group that "taxation without representation is tyranny." He said the law suit could be filed in the county's district court, an administrative law court or the Texas Supreme Court. He emphasized that small towns such as Haskell are where the key battles will be fought.

Officers for what will be known as the Haskell Association of Concerned Taxpayers (HACT) are: Christene Greene, president; Lois Redwine, vice president; Sue Patterson, treasurer; and LaQuita Wilfong, secretary. Randolph Wilson will be finance chairman.

Officers said that anyone desiring more information or who is willing to help defray expenses involved in the law suit should contact one of them. They also urged all citizens concerned about county taxes to join the organization. Membership fees are $10 per year.

TACT maintains a staffed, full-time headquarters in San Antonio. So far, 95 counties have been organized.

Firemen keep busy answering calls

Haskell firemen have been busy. They responded to four calls Friday afternoon, two more Sunday and one each on Sunday and Monday.

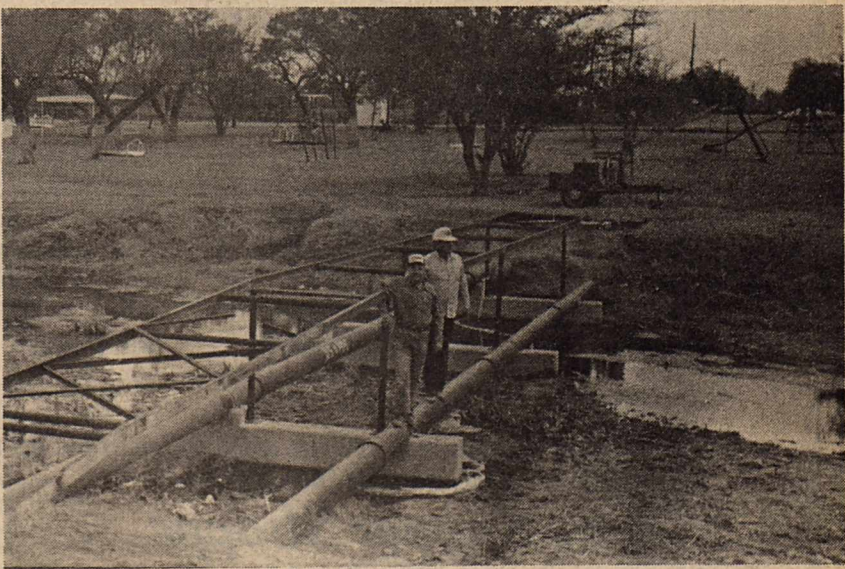

Three of the calls Friday came within 40 minutes and the other less than two hours later.

First call Friday afternoon at 3:15 was on a car fire at South 2nd and Avenue G. Fifteen minutes later, firemen responded to a call at a mobile home fire at 204 S. Ave. 9. The home, occupied by Amos Gonzales, suffered considerable damage after the fire began at the water heater.

At 3:55, firemen answer a call for a grass fire four miles south of town on FM 600, and at 5:40 they were on their way to extinguish fires at a house, barn and grass three miles west of Weiner.

A module and grass fire six miles southeast of town on FM 600 was extinguished Saturday, as well as a grass fire at 1007 N. 7th.

Sunday morning, firemen extinguished a cotton trailer fire at the Farmers Co-op Gin, and later were called to a module fire six miles southeast on FM 620.

Nearing completion

Haskell Rotarians are nearing completion on the new foot bridge being constructed at City Park.

Parade entries confirmed

Numerous floats and other entries have been confirmed for the sixth annual night Christmas parade, sponsored by the Haskell Chamber of Commerce.

The Dec. 5 parade will begin at 6 p.m. with the 1987 theme "Christmas Through the Ages."

Traditionally, the mayors and chamber presidents form a caravan in the parade, with a dignitaries' reception to be held at 5 p.m. in the Haskell National Bank Community Room. Hosts are Haskell mayor Greg Melton and Haskell Chamber of Commerce president Dickie Greenwood.

Riders on the Six White Horses from Hardin-Simmons University will make their sixth appearance in the Haskell parade, as will the Love Twirling Academy of Abilene.

Theme floats confirmed to date include: Stone Age, Kiwanis Club; Victorian era, Lane Felker; Colonial period, First National Bank; Frontier Days, Olney Savings; World War I, American Legion; 1920s, Farmers State Bank of Rule; World War II, Rotary Club; 1950s, Haskell National Bank; Space Age, Kids Duds.

Santa Claus will be riding on the Chamber of Commerce float and the City of Haskell will enter the traditional New Year's float.

Show animals need validation

All swine and sheep which will be shown in the Haskell County Livestock Show and all major livestock shows must be validated.

The county validation will be Wednesday, Dec. 9, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the county show barns at the Haskell County Fair Grounds.

Deadlines

News and advertising deadlines for next week's edition of The Free Press will be noon Monday. The newspaper, which will contain the Christmas Shopper ads, will be printed a day early so that it may be distributed to homes in neighboring counties.

Mrs. Wayne Hutchinson

Welch-Hutchinson marry in Munday

A backdrop of lighted candles illuminated the setting of the wedding ceremony which united Cherie Kathleen Welch and Wayne Allen Hutchinson at half past six in the evening Nov. 14 at the First United Methodist Church in Munday. The Rev. Russel Byard, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Shirley Welch of Munday, Lester and Kathi Hutchinson of Weinert are the groom's parents.

A tree candelabra flanked by twin fan candelabras draped with English ivy and holding ivory tapers served as the focal point of the church decorations. Ferns in brass stands were at either end of the railing, and pews were marked with white bows. Wendy Walton and Paula Duncan, the bride's cousin, both of Lubbock, lighted the candles.

Organist for the ceremony was Martha Hunter of Munday. Bud and Kathy Hodges of Anson, the bride's uncle and aunt, were vocalists. Songs included "The Wedding Song," "Parents' Prayer," "My Only Love," "Circle of Two" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and Sposabella lace. The satin bodice was designed with a Queen Anne neckline and a sheer insert in the back and extended to a basque waistline. Sposabella lace, pearls and iridescent sequins detailed the bodice and the fitted satin sleeves. The full skirt was edged with scalloped lace and swept to a chapel length train ornamented with Sposabella lace, pearls and iridescents. Her white hat was embellished with a spray of white silk rosebuds and a white satin bow and held the shoulder-length net veil. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white silk roses and stephanotis with touches of apricot and blue and ribbon streamers of white picot.

For something old, she wore a handkerchief belonging to her late great-grandmother. Her dress was new, she borrowed earrings from her mother and wore the traditional blue garter. A newly minted penny was placed in her shoe for good luck.

Diane Helems of Wichita Falls was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Paul Bryant of Stephenville, Staci Lee of Lubbock, Debbie Hutchinson of Junction, sister of the groom, April Offutt and Angie Offutt of Munday, the bride's cousins. Junior bridesmaid was Ambra Welch of Munday, the bride's niece.

Their floor-length gowns of royal blue satin featured basque waistlines and scooped-neck bodices. Matching fabric bows accented the shoulders above three-quarter-length puffed sleeves. The attendants wore white open-weave brimmed hats with royal blue ribbon circling the crowns and fastened in bows, and each carried a small arrangement of apricot silk roses.

Candlelighters were dressed like the bridesmaids with small white caplets in their hair. The flower girls, Laurie Welch of Munday and Lauren Hutchinson of Haskell, nieces of the couple, were also gowned in royal satin and carried white baskets of royal, apricot and white flowers.

John Bruggeman of Weinert served as best man. David Boling of Knox City, Mike Cox of Lewisville, cousin of the groom, Deiter Hutchinson of Haskell, the groom's brother, Todd Meers of Munday, also the groom's cousin, and Larry Welch of Munday, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Ushering guests were Wayne Walton of Lubbock, Bucky Decker and Jeremy Hutchinson, cousin of the groom, of Munday and Greg Melton of Judd.

The groom chose a grey tuxedo and matching cummerbund and bow tie with a white shirt. His attendants were dressed in grey tuxes, white shirts and blue ties and cummerbunds, and all the men in the wedding party had apricot rosebuds fastened in their lapels.

Registering guests were Kerri, Heather and Traci Hodges of Anson, cousins of the bride. They wore apricot tea-length dresses.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception and dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Rhineland. A blue satin cloth overlaid with white lace covered the bride's table, which was centered with her bouquet and those of her attendants. The wedding cake was lavished with blue flowers and featured scallops around the bottom tiers, which were topped with a Precious Moments bride and groom figure surrounded by columns supporting the top layers. Standing atop the cake was a four-sided crystal heart holding wedding bells.

A white lattice screen festooned with blue picture hats, apricot ribbons, butterflies and flowers in a blue lace umbrella formed the backdrop for the table. Annette Welch of Munday, sister-in-law of the bride, and Debra Hmrcirk of Seymour served guests.

Angela Meers of Munday, the groom's cousin, and his sister-in-law, Lisa Hutchinson of Haskell, served German chocolate cake at the groom's table, which was covered with off-white lace over grey satin. A brass coffee service completed the setting, and a brown lattice holding a cowboy hat, boots, blue bandannas, cotton stalks, a lariat and spurs stood behind the servers.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Munday Community Center. The bride's color scheme of blue and apricot was carried out in decorations.

For her wedding trip to Abilene, the bride wore a blue denim dress with a lavender bandanna fringed collar and matching ruffle around the skirt.

The bride is a graduate of Munday High School and attended Vernon Regional Junior College. The groom is a graduate of Weinert High School and is engaged in farming in the Weinert area where they couple will make their home.

Ennis and Faye Webb

Couple to mark 50th anniversary

Ennis and Faye Webb of Rule will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the fellowship room of the Rule Church of Christ.

Their children and grandchildren will host the celebration and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb were married Dec. 4, 1937, in Haskell. They have lived in the Haskell County area since. He retired from farming in 1977. She has worked as a nurse's aide. They are members of the Church of Christ.

He was born Nov. 20, 1913, in Stonewall, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Webb. Mrs. Ennis was born June 10, 1920, in Delta County, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Dean. They met in 1935 when the were students at Tonk Creek School.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb are parents of a son, Paul Webb of Midland, and a daughter, Mrs. Danny (Melinda) Hisey of Rule. They have five grandchildren.

HSU president teaches 'other classroom' concept

By Charles Richardson
News Director

Hardin-Simmons University
Dr. Jesse C. Fletcher, president of Hardin-Simmons University, preaches "the other classroom concept" with students, faculty and staff.

Fletcher, who marks his 10th year as president of the Texas Baptist university in Abilene in November, believes that some of the key lessons in life are learned in informal situations.

"My concept of 'the other classroom' is based on the belief that most of our learning is informal rather than formal, and that, while the university in itself is a very formal learning environment, some of the key lessons are learned in informal situations, thus, the other classroom," says Fletcher, who came to the presidency of Hardin-Simmons from the First Baptist Church of Knoxville, Tenn.

Fletcher says that both students and members of the the university family learn in social structures, in making and nurturing of friends, in coping with setbacks and disappointments and tragedy.

"All of us here (at HSU), whether we're operating as a maintenance worker or as clerk in an office or in a staff role or in a student advisory role, have opportunities to be the teacher in that other classroom," he declares.

Stressing his own belief in "the other classroom," Fletcher adds, "I'm hopeful that every person here, staff, faculty or administration, is willing to be enrolled in that other classroom and be a learner also."

Fletcher, who spent 15 years as an administrator with the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, does a lot of things that other university and college presidents do, but he also finds time to fly airplanes, hunt, play golf, and write books. He has a real love for the outdoors, too.

"I have been a pilot since I was 16 years of age. To me, it's not just a practical matter, though I have utilized my flying primarily as a business aid over the years and through my years with the Foreign Mission Board I even had the privilege of flying overseas in Africa and Brazil," he says.

He's quick to point out that he is not a professional pilot. "While I have a commercial license, instrument and multi-engine rating, flying is still an aesthetic experience for me, and I do enjoy it."

People who get to know Jesse Fletcher recognize his love for the outdoors.

"The people who know how much I enjoy hunting season rib me about that," he says. "But, hunting is an excuse to get into the outdoor environment. I'm greatly in awe of nature and I enjoy seeing it in all its seasons and hunting provides that opportunity.

"Avocationally, I guess, writing is still my top involvement, and the book that I have coming out this coming January will be my 10th. I enjoy writing, and plan to do more in the years ahead."

Does he enjoy a game of golf occasionally? "I enjoy playing golf from time to time," he responds. "I played it seriously as a young man, but have not taken it too seriously since, as my scores will show."

Not only does Jesse Fletcher serve as the chief administrator at HSU, he also holds the Conally Chair of Missions and teaches a course one semester a year.

"I teach missions in part because I still feel I'm the best qualified person on campus to teach that particular subject out of my own background and my continuing studies, and in part, because it gives me a better feel for the thing most fundamental to a university setting, and that is to encounter the student in the classroom."

Fletcher says teaching keeps him in touch with what faculty experiences, "both the difficulties and the joys of their task, and it gives me another window through which to view what's happening in this unique environment we call Hardin-Simmons."

Fletcher is also chairman of the Board of Minister Life--a mutual life insurance company in Minneapolis, Minn., with a slogan of "Serving Those Who Serve."

The 56-year-old was born in San Antonio, graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School there, earned a bachelor's degree from Texas A&M and a master of divinity and a doctor of philosophy from Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

He held the John C. Tower Chair of Bible as a professor at the University of Texas at Austin from 1958 to 1960.

He joined the staff of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in 1960 and served there until 1975 when he became pastor of the First Baptist Church in Knoxville. At the Foreign Mission Board, he rose to become director of what was then the Mission Support Division (1968-75).

He came to HSU as president Nov. 1, 1977.

Retail workshop at Munday

Haskell area business owners, merchants and employees are invited to attend a workshop on retailing in Munday next Tuesday, Dec. 1.

Entitled "Retailing Strategies in Rural Communities," it is being sponsored by the Munday Chamber of Commerce and the Caruth Small Business Development Center.

The workshop will provide information on available resources and practical things which can be implemented by people who have been adversely affected by the troubled rural economy.

Leading the seminar will be Joe Stalls who has served as chairman of the board of the National Association of Credit Management for four years. He is a 1964 graduate of Abilene Christian University and has had 14 years retailing experience with Sears.

Registration for the seminar begins at 6 p.m. at the Munday Community Room, 131 W. Cisco. The program will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Registration fee is $5 per person for members and $7.50 per person for non-members.

Hobby Club

The Rochester Hobby Club met Nov. 17 with 13 members and six visitors present. Mattie Lou Cole, hostess, served a very enjoyable covered-dish lunch.

Much visiting and quilting was done. The club has two quilts now in the frames. One, belonging to Modelle Barton, is an antique "Fancy Nine-Patch" while the other, a king-size "Birds in Air", belongs to Emily Wilson.

Plans were made to give Christmas gifts to residents in a Haskell care home.

The club's next meeting will be Dec. 1 with Ethel Dabney as hostess.

--Obituaries--

Cecil S. Jetton

Graveside services were held Nov. 14 at Willow Cemetery for Cecil S. Jetton, former long-time Haskell County resident.

He died Nov. 11 at Pampa.

The Rev. James Patterson of the First United Methodist Church of Rochester officiated.

A member of the First United Methodist Church, Jetton, a retired farmer, lived in Rochester from 1947 to 1984 when he moved to Pampa. He married Mary Alma Sprowls in Haskell Dec. 22, 1937.

Survivors include his wife of Pampa; a daughter, Mary Lou Lane of Long Beach, Calif.; a sister, Katherine Dye of Abernathy; two grandchildren, Jeffrey Lane and Tamara Lane of Pampa; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by a son, Bobby, in 1951.

Memorials may be made to the Haskell Civic Center.

scholarship.

He married Eula Rae Tankursley in Stamford Sept. 28, 1949.

A farmer, he worked for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service from 1958 until 1966. He practiced conservation methods and was recognized for his contributions to the service.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church. He was preceded in death by his parents, a brother and a sister.

Survivors include his wife, Eula Rae Lovvorn of Stamford; a son, Jon Lovvorn of Breckenridge; a daughter, Dana Rae Lovvorn of Austin; a daughter and son-in law, Linda and Dennis Ford of Breckenridge; two brothers, Wilson M. Lovvorn of Red Bluff, Calif., and William E. Lovvorn of Santa Cruz, Calif.; and a sister, Noretta Taylor of Boca Raton, Fla.

Pallbearers were Kenneth Elkins, Bob Turner, Valton Schmidt, Tom Hickman, Kent Fambro, Danny Weaver and Robert Weaver.

Crowell hospital to close

The Foard County Hospital District board of directors voted Nov. 12 to close the hospital in Crowell as soon as possible.

The decision was made following the recent tax roll back election which by a 424 to 283 vote showed the directors that a majority of the taxpayers did not want to bear the added expense of operating the hospital.

The appraisal district will be mailing out new hospital statements with the .364703 rate in place and the hospital will be without funds unable to meet payrolls beyond early December.

Compared to Commodore's

other IRAs are of little interest.

Because with an insured 18-month fixed or variable rate IRA certificate from Commodore Savings, your retirement funds are secure and earning a high rate of interest.

Tax-deferred earnings.

Our IRA is still the best way to accumulate tax-deferred earnings for retirement. If you're in the 28% tax bracket, you would have to receive more than 12% interest from taxable earnings to match our 8.80% certificate. And some of you can still deduct your contribution. So check with New Accounts today.

Just $100 to open your Fixed Rate IRA!

You can open your Commodore fixed rate IRA for as little as $100. And you can add to it anytime this year with additions of $10 or more up to a maximum of $2000. All at the original rate. But best of all, accounts are insured up to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

If you want Commodore's 18-month variable rate IRA where the rate is decided weekly, it only takes $50 to open your account and you can add to it in $50 increments.

Don't miss this opportunity!

Find out why more and more people are choosing Commodore for their retirement funds. Call today or come by the Commodore Savings branch nearest you.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Fixed rate certificates compound and pay interest quarterly. Variable rate certificates compound daily and interest is credited to the account quarterly; rate subject to change weekly.

Court appointment surprise to some

AUSTIN—Gov. Bill Clements surprised Capitol watchers last week by naming his new chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, a relatively unknown state judge with high marks for judicial excellence.

The governor tapped Thomas R. Phillips of Houston to replace outgoing John Hill in January. Phillips will be the first Republican chief justice in modern times and is expected to run for election next year.

Phillips has family and philosophical ties to the conservative, pro-business side of the bench, and his record of excellence and fair play will help the high court at a time when several sitting justices, all Democrats, are faulted for taking questionable political contributions.

He is also regarded somewhat as an example of the merit selection process, since Hill himself urged the appointment. Clements took recommendations from a wide array of sources.

How About Elections?

Phillips is relatively unknown in Capitol halls, and some wonder how he will stand up on the non-academic, rough-and-tumble statewide campaign trail.

He will have to deal with building projects while it reviews needs and plans.

Federal Tornado Aid

Governor Clements wants federal disaster aid for the Texas towns ravaged by tornadoes last week.

The two-day storms killed 11, injured 160 and caused millions in damage. The damage estimate will be consolidated into his plea for disaster aid, Clements said.

Seeking New Voters

Secretary of State Jack Rains will enlist the help of hotels, airlines and businesses to register a million new voters.

Rains, a Republican, said it was a new technique to reach mobile Texans who are inaccessible to traditional registration methods.

Others say, warmly and coldly, it's a way to bring more conservatives and independents into the electoral process.

Some contend this method is the pro-business response to the strategy of going door-to-door in the barrio or slum districts to garner liberal voters.

Rains is considered by some to be a likely candidate for some office, perhaps governor, in 1990.

Other Highlights

• Campaigning in Dallas, GOP presidential aspirant Sen. Bob Dole said he would support a tariff on imported oil if it would help lower the deficit and balance the budget.

• Comptroller Bob Bullock asked Attorney General Jim Mattox for a legal opinion on whether Texas' new "tax snitch" law is constitutional.

Bullock disagrees and is reluctant to comply with the new law which allows his office to pay up to a five percent finder's fee for information leading to the recovery of taxes owed to the state.

• Mattox explained for lawmakers his opinion on unconstitutional Bible courses at state universities. He said religious groups should not pick and pay professors at a state school.

• Workers' compensation insurance rates will increase by 25 percent next year after last week's vote by the State Insurance Board. Texas employers are not legally required to carry the insurance.

• Gov. Clements appointed his legislative liaison, former House member Jim Kaster, to the Texas Industrial Accident Board.

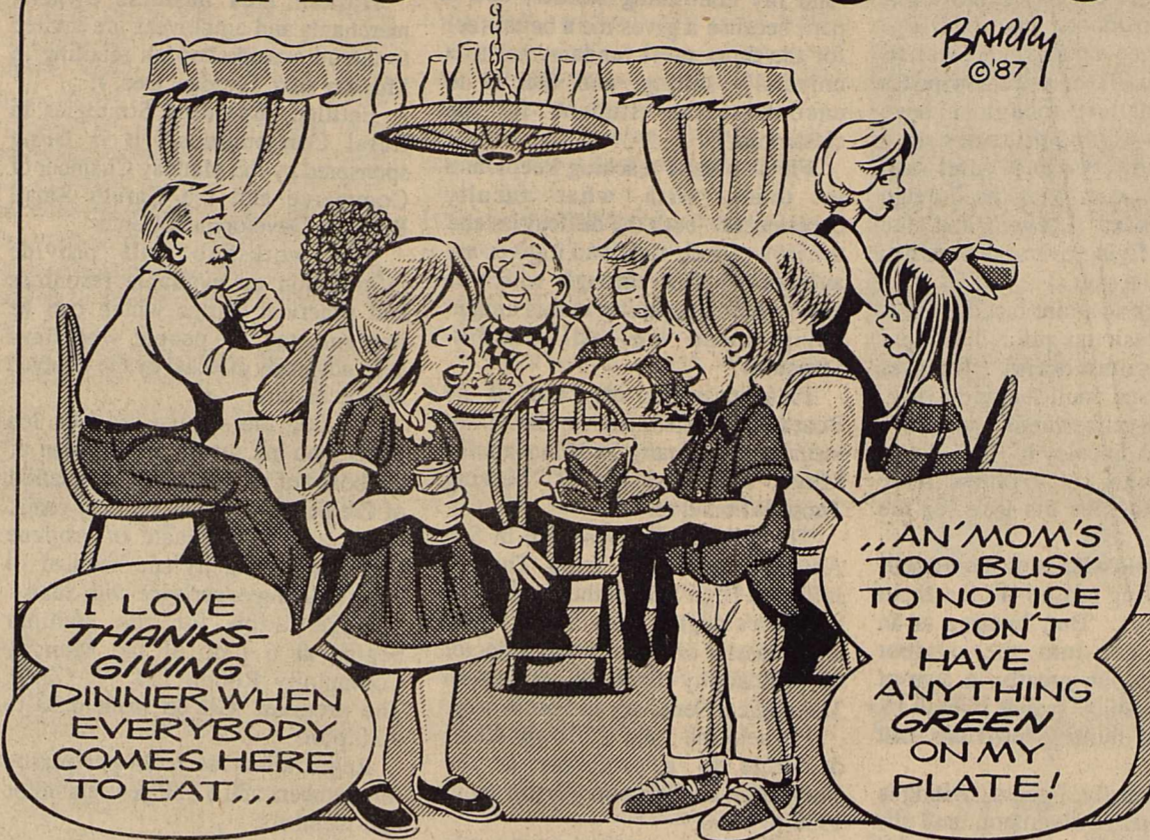

• 58 Texas Department of Community Affairs employees were laid off by Clements. Some who were hired by former Gov. Mark White called it a political purge.

Decorating trees started long ago

Thousands of years ago people in Egypt, Rome and England decorated trees to celebrate the beginning of winter.

It was not until 400 years ago that people in Germany decorated the first trees to celebrate Christmas.

Watching Washington

Our federal prison system was built to hold 28,000 prisoners. But we currently have about 44,000 inmates, and obviously we have to expand.

It costs a lot of money to build prison space, and the costs are rising. In meeting its responsibility, the federal government should consider a new approach to criminal justice that has been the subject of experiments in several southern states.

These states have implemented a "boot camp" program for first-time offenders who are charged with serious—but not deadly—crimes. The inmates lead a highly regulated life, with a focus on hard physical labor, discipline and heightened self-esteem.

Corrections officials have been quite pleased with the results. It is my view that a similar program at the federal level may well help alleviate our overcrowded prison system, and do so at a much lower cost. Certainly, it is something to explore.

Here are some reasons.

First, of course, are cost considerations.

Second, there are some obvious advantages to sending first offenders off for three or four months of military-style discipline rather than putting them in prison with hardened criminals and all that goes with them.

And finally, I think this approach is far better than simply saying: "Well, we're going to put you on probation, slap you on the wrist, turn you out on the streets, go back and do it again." Instead, it subjects them to the kind of tough discipline many of them need.

I have asked the U.S. Comptroller General to conduct a General Accounting Office study of the "boot camp"-style prisons being operated in Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Oklahoma.

There is a bit of variation among the programs offered by these states. Florida, for example, focuses on younger offenders—up to age 24—while Louisiana admits inmates up to age 40. Georgia's program includes hard work and discipline, but without the military flavor. And in Georgia, offenders are targeted for the boot camps prior to sentencing and are technically on probation, while offenders in Florida are targeted after sentencing and are considered inmates.

In determining whether the federal government should try such a program, we need to know a lot more about the relative merits and disadvantages of these existing "boot camps."

Still, it's an interesting, innovative approach, one that might well benefit our federal prison system—and make our streets and homes a little bit safer.

Lifted from Kim Pease's column in the Rotan Advance:

The Sands of Time: If you had a bank that credited your account each morning with $86,400, that carried over no balance from day to day, allowed you to keep no cash in your account, and every evening cancelled whatever part of the amount you had failed to use during the day, what would you do?

You would naturally try to withdraw every cent, every day, and use it to your advantage.

Well, you have such a bank, and its name is "time". Every morning it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it rules off as lost whatever of this you have failed to invest to good purpose. It carries over no balances. It allows no overdrafts. If you fail to use the day's deposits, the loss is yours. There is no going back. There is no drawing against tomorrow.

It's up to each of us to invest this precious fund of hours, minutes and seconds in order to get from it the utmost in health, happiness and success.

A survey shows that that college students prefer ties with dots, suits with stripes and letters with checks.

And since I'm clipping, here's a piece from the column of James Roberts in the Andrews County News:

It took 13 years to overturn legislation setting the double nickel speed limit on the nation's highways.

The ill-advised, ill-conceived legislation was passed in January 1974 shortly after the Arab oil embargo, as part of a nationwide effort to conserve gasoline.

And for 13 years, most motorists in states west of the Mississippi tried to get Congress to repeal the law and set a more sensible speed limit.

The argument used by northeastern Congressmen, aided by statistics from the National Safety Council, was that the slower speed limits saved lives.

The statistics that were accepted as gospel by one all, were flawed.

The federal standards were amended in May of this year to permit 65 mph on rural sections of Interstate highways.

Did consumption of gasoline rise and the death toll increase? Nope, just the contrary. Statistics released this week by the DPS showed that consumption has actually decreased as has the death toll.

Now, a good argument can be made to do away with the federal limits and return to limits set by the individual states.

Kinda makes you wonder how many other national reports, how many other agency facts we accept as gospel are not. Remember how sugar substitutes were outlawed then reversed, how cholesterol was supposedly all bad and now some is and some isn't?

Reminds us of the story about the teacher who told her class to say the Pledge of Allegiance and to place their hand over their heart.

Each of the children did, with the exception one little boy who held his hand on his rear while repeating the pledge.

When finished, the teacher went over and quietly admonished the boy that patriotic children put their hands over their hearts, not their rears.

To which the youngster said he knew his heart was where his hand had been.

"When grandma comes to visit, she pats me back there and says, 'Bless his little heart!'"

Arbor Day kits available

To help Texas teachers and organizations conduct Arbor Day programs, the Texas Forest Service is again offering free program kits.

Each kit includes a loblolly pine seed packet with planting instructions, program aids for a local Arbor Day observance, suggested classroom activities for teachers, and a copy of the governor's proclamation.

Arbor Day is to be observed Friday, Jan. 15. It was first celebrated in Texas in 1889. Since 1949 it has been observed annually in Texas on the third Friday in January, although dates vary in other states.

Program chairpersons and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day kits (limited one per class) to: Texas Forest Service, College Station, TX 77843-2136.

Cadenhead elected to Baptist board

A Haskell man was elected to a major position on one of the Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting of the 2.4-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) in Fort Worth Nov. 10-11.

J. Frank Cadenhead, MD, was elected to the 193-member BGCT Executive Board.

The Executive Board, composed of pastors, church staff members and laypersons, conducts the business of the BGCT between annual sessions.

Institutions of the BGCT include eight universities, one academy, seven hospitals, four children's homes and four homes for the aging.

The work is supported by more than 5,000 Texas Baptist churches and missions which will give about $59 million this year through the cooperative program for mission work at home and abroad.

Besides the institutions, the convention helps support worldwide missions causes including 7,350 missionaries in the United States and more than 100 foreign nations.

Old age contentment similar to other stages

Finding contentment in old age is no easier than finding satisfaction at any other stage of life, says gerontologist Dr. Judith Warren.

"Research on life satisfaction, morale, successful aging and happiness has produced no magic formulas," she says. "But sufficient income, reasonably good health and someone to talk to and confide in are factors identified with contentment in old age."

Some adult children think an aging parent would be happier living with them, although research studies indicate that most older people prefer to live close to but not with their children, Warren notes.

Elders in good health may prefer to live independently and to have their own friends who are more often found among the old than among the young, she observes.

According to Warren, who is a specialist with the Texas A&M Extension Service home economics program, contradictory attitudes about aging often interfere with feelings and contentment.

"Some elders feel that they ought to act a certain way or dress a certain way because of their age," she says. "These age norms can inhibit them from being themselves and being as outgoing as they might be."

The gerontologist observes that older people also are advised to "stay active" as the way to be happy in old age.

"While this formula may work for some, many older people do not feel like being active, busy and responsible to others," she maintains. "They may want to pull away and will be more content not doing what they did in the past. Or unforeseen circumstances may require the older person to re-define what having an active life means."

According to the specialist, older persons are more likely to find contentment if they feel they can accept both the limitations and successes of their past and present.

"Many elders reminisce to come to terms with their lives, and to accept or resolve past problems," she remarks. "When they don't work through these issues, discontentment may be one result."

Fears about old age also may interfere with feelings of contentment, Warren says. Although fewer than 20 percent of older people will experience severe physical and mental impairments, fear of living with great physical deterioration and losing independence is common.

"The formula for contentment in old age will remain individual to each person, but it certainly is possible to achieve," says the gerontologist.

Fund started for family of Joann Martin

A fund has been opened at Home State Bank in Rochester and the First National Bank of Munday to assist the family of Joann Martin, 8-year-old Rochester girl who died Nov. 23 after a long battle with a brain tumor.

Joann spent most of the time in hospitals in Abilene and Fort Worth after the brain tumor was diagnosed April 3, 1985.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martin of Rochester. Her father has been employed by Riverside Terra for the past nine years, but the family has heavy financial obligations brought on by the girl's illness.

Said Bud Hogan, manager of Riverside Terra: "Joe Martin has been an employee of Riverside Terra for the past nine years. I would like to say that I have found him to be a hard-working, dependable employee, concerned with providing for the needs of his family. Due to the prolonged illness of his little daughter, Joann, the family has suffered tremendous medical expenses in addition to company insurance. He now bears a heavy financial obligation. I can personally attest to a genuine need that this family has at this time for financial assistance."

Workshop on taxes in Abilene

Information on a tax practitioner workshop to be held in this area is available at the Haskell County Extension office.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering the workshop in Abilene Dec. 3-4.

Twenty-seven general workshops will be held in major Texas cities. There also will be 15 advanced workshops. General workshops will concentrate mostly on personal taxes, while the advanced workshops' emphasis will be on business tax problems.

In addition to the general and advanced tax workshops, there will be three partnership workshops, four estate planning and tax form-preparation workshops, three income taxation of trusts and estates workshops, and two workshops dealing with serving farmers in financial trouble.

The tax practitioner educational program has been highly successful. Last year, about 4,900 people participated in this state-wide series. These practitioners reported filing more than 587,000 tax returns.

A brochure explaining the program, and registration information is available at the county extension office.

Publication lists two Haskell men

Two Haskell men have been selected for inclusion in the 1987 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

The board of advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America awards announce last week that James Harmon Hopper Jr. and Clifford Herald Ray were selected for the honor.

Now in its 25th year, the OYMA program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young men between 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in many fields of endeavor, such as service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments, and civic and political participation.

The two Haskell men, along with fellow outstanding young men throughout North America, were selected after 150,000 nominations were received from political leaders, university and college officials, clergymen, business leaders and various civic groups and community organizations. Each young man will be represented by his biographical entry in the prestigious annual awards publication.

Students see patrol dogs at program

Students at the Haskell Secondary School were privileged to observe a demonstration by an Army guard dog unit Nov. 17.

Students watched Esta, a patrol dog, and Rocko, a patrol/explosive detection dog, perform various maneuvers at their handlers' commands.

The unit is part of the Military Police Co, LEC, K-9 Section, from Fort Sill, Okla. SSG John D. Cooper, SSG George F. Burns and Sp4 Mark Miller are members of the unit and handlers and trainers of the dogs.

The dogs demonstrated their intelligence and training by attacking, heeling and other actions as directed by their trainers.

Students were able to ask questions about the training the handlers and dogs undergo. The demonstration allowed students to gain knowledge about an unusual career choice.

SSG Paul Pherigo, U.S. Army field recruiter from Abilene, obtained the program for the school.

Brazos asks lower rates for customers

Brazos Electric Power Cooperative filed a petition with the Public Utility Commission last Tuesday to lower the cooperative's rates by $10 million.

"We continually monitor our revenue requirements and when there is an opportunity to pass on savings to our consumers, we do it," stated Richard E. McCaskill, executive vice president and general manager of Brazos. "In 1977, the cooperative returned more than $1 million to its consumers through a temporary rate reduction."

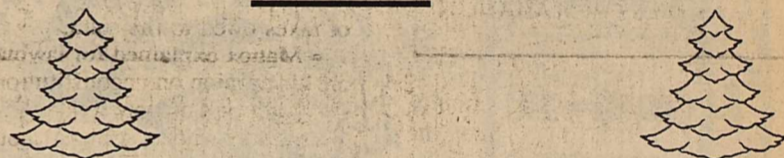

If approved, the temporary rate reduction will be in effect for the months of December through March.

Mistletoe kiss an old custom

"One berry, one kiss," wrote author Washington Irving about mistletoe.

But National Wildlife magazine reports that the custom of kissing under the mistletoe goes back much further than the 19th century. According to Norse mythology, the Goddess Frigga made the plant a symbol of love and promised to bestow a kiss on all who passed under it.

On Thursday we will all, in various ways and times, pause to give thanks to God for all the blessings He has seen fit to bestow upon us. (Ephesians 5:20). For life, health, family, friends, space prevents me naming them all, but you have your own list. He knows, and cares, and will listen to our words of appreciation. Do it!

These have been such beautiful days, and the harvest is so plentiful we will talk about 1987 to our grandchildren many years to come. The farmers with module builders are so fortunate, because trailers are scarce as harvest continues and the gin lots fill up.

We share the happiness of our neighboring cities who are still in "the ballgame" ...Munday, Rochester, Benjamin and Throckmorton, who are continuing in the play-off games. Some of us do take time out from work to go to the ball games.

The Foursquare Gospel Church hosted the annual Community Thanksgiving service on Sunday night, with Paul Chambers, pastor, in charge of the program at 6 p.m.

Donnie Crump, pastor of First Baptist Church, brought the worship message, after the song service of several participating choral groups.

The host church served refreshments during the visitation hour, and a large group took part and enjoyed the visit with each other.

Congratulations are extended to Stanley and Brenda Hager, and to Mr. and Mrs. Jose Gonzales who are celebrating a wedding anniversary. Best wishes!

Congratulations to Faye Jetton, who was nominated by the Weinert Extension Club for Outstanding Club Woman of 1987. The honor went to Mrs. Eral Bevel and it was revealed at the County Information Day held at the Haskell National Bank's Community room on November 21st.

The Weinert Club was represented by its president, Faye Jetton, Cordie Cunningham, Henrietta Rueffer, Debbie Crump and Myrtle Phemister.

The next meeting of the Weinert Club will be the Christmas party to be held in the home of Faye and Ted Jetton on December 7th at 6 p.m. when husbands and elected county officials will be special guests.

Our sick includes Linda Mahan who has been confined this week with virus symptoms. We miss her at the cafe, and wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Sanders have been to Abilene several times this week to be with Betty's mother, Mrs. Ras Gideon who underwent surgery there.

The Mayfields and Guess families have also been to Abilene several times to check on the condition of a brother-in-law, Chan Hughes who also had surgery last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Conner of Big Spring were here for the weekend to visit his sister, Jean Forehand and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Wade and Taylor of Abilene were here to visit the Yates family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phemister have returned from a two weeks vacation to the Rio Grande Valley, where they still own a home and some citrus trees. Roy spent the time gathering and selling their oranges, grapefruit and lemons.

Helen and Floyd Stout with Ida and Willie Farrel were in Coleman to check out Horde's Creek Lake, which they claim to be a wonderful place to fish.

Mattie White enjoyed a visit in the home of her daughter, Sue and Jimmy Hackney and family in Ft. Worth.

They attended a fashion show at Dillard's in which Talanda Hackney was a teenage model. This was her second modeling, since she began her lessons.

Wayne and Linda Phemister, Lincoln and Laura were in Weinert to visit his parents, and attended worship services at the Church of Christ.

Mary Fuquay of Ft. Worth, daughter of Helen and Floyd Stout, with a friend, James Beverley, enjoyed a few days visitation with her family and friends in Weinert.

The relatives of Glenn Caddell have also been diligent about visiting Glenn and Jona, and report he is still hospitalized at Humana with heart, lungs and ulcer problems. We pray a speedy recovery for all our sick friends.

The Weinert Homemaking Class, with Kerri Urbanzeck, teacher, hosted a demonstration of West Texas Utilities 1987 Holiday Delights program, with Lisa Hoff of Stamford as consultant.

A full house enjoyed the show of Gifts, and also the "tasting bee" of foods prepared by the class. Each guest present was given a book prepared by the six WTU consultants, in which all the gifts, recipes and suggestions were contained.

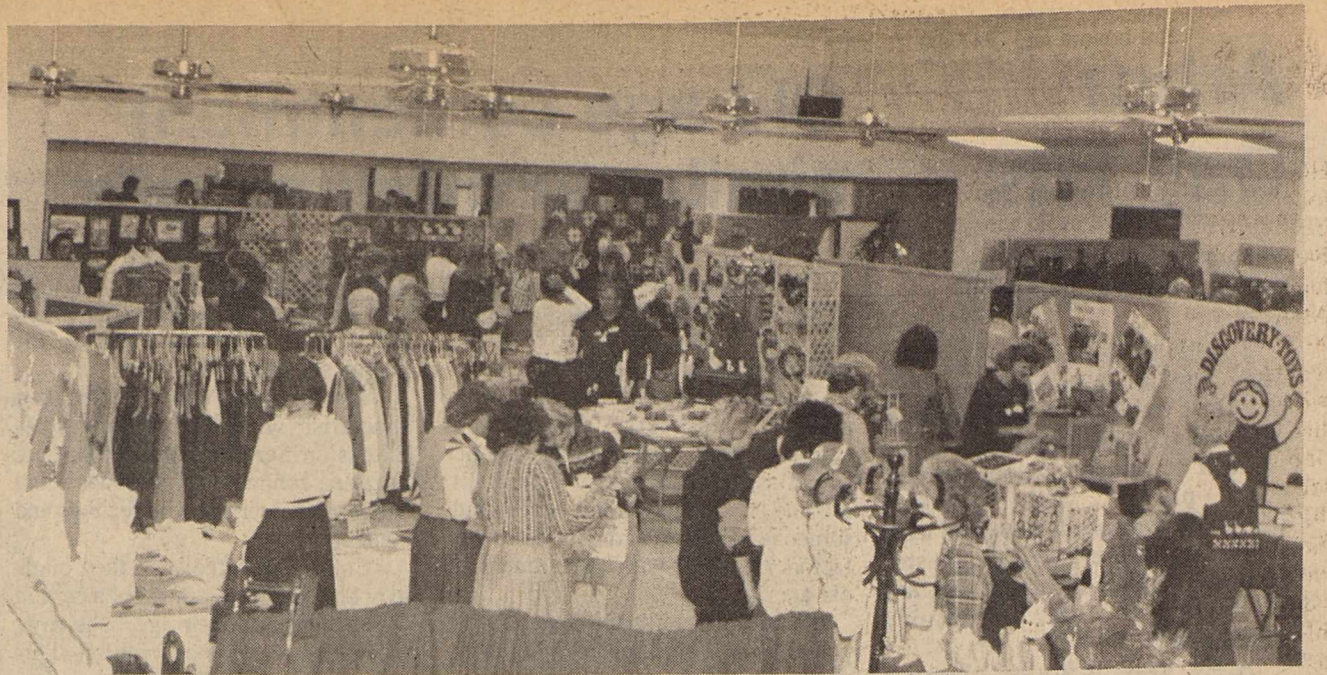

Deena Hacker was the lucky one and received the door prize given by the Homemaking Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin will be voting delegates to the 54th annual convention of Texas Farm Bureau to be held in Lubbock November 29 to December 2nd.

Because of my being out of town, there will be no Weinert news next week. I'm sorry, I'll miss you.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving season, and do remember to say "Thank You"!

Thank you for reading The Haskell Free Press.

Cotton harvest in full swing

U.S. Dept. of Agriculture
Nov. 20, 1987

Despite light, scattered showers over the weekend, the harvest continued to gain momentum. By midweek, the weather was controlled by cold nights and mild sunny days.

More subfreezing temperatures occurred, which may further the killing of frostbitten cotton. Gin yards to the north are beginning to see cotton pile up and many are now starting night crews. Some farmers have stripped small amounts of frost killed cotton but most won't start stripping this cotton until nearly next week.

Receipts in the Abilene classing office have continued to increase. Tuesday, more than 400 sacks of samples were delivered. Two shifts worked six days last week and seven days may be required this week. Through Nov. 19, 144,106 samples have been classed in Abilene. Of these, 53,845 samples were classed this week alone.

Grades were even higher this week as more than 70 percent was called 21 or 31. About 11 percent was called light spotted, while only .2 percent turned out spotted. Approximately 85 percent miked between 35-49 and length averaged 33.4. The average strength was 25.81.

Market activity remained sluggish as small amounts of contracted cotton were moving. Many farmers are holding free cotton in anticipation of stronger prices later in the season.

Full-service banking is like a turkey with all the trimmings. You start with a basic ingredient and surround it with extras that make it very special.

We have plenty of checking plans available - from NOW accounts to insured money funds.

There are also a number of loans available, such as mortgage, auto and home improvement loans - even educational loans to help with the high cost of college. Full Trust Department Facilities.

Some other extras are direct deposit, travelers checks, money orders, drive-up tellers and, of course, a friendly staff that is ready to serve you.

It takes a whole lot to make a full-service bank. Come by and sample all of the extra trimmings.

We will be Closed Thursday, Nov. 26 - Thanksgiving Day.

Wanda Thompson Wins $500.00 Sleigh of Hallmark Products!

Wanda Thompson, of Paint Creek, won a sleigh packed with $500.00 worth of Hallmark products at a Christmas Open House drawing at Aladdin House, 19 N. Ave. E, on November 22.

The sleigh was the Grand Prize at last weekend's Open House celebration.

The Open House announced the host of new Hallmark ideas for Christmas.

Theme for the celebration was "Home for the Holidays," and Aladdin House hosted area shoppers previewing Christmas Decorations and Ornaments, Greeting Cards, Party items, Gift Wraps and Gift ideas by Hallmark to enhance the home for the holidays and to share.

Thanks to all our customers for making our Hallmark Open House a success.

Not your ordinary cowboy

He may not be as famous as "Crocodile Dundee." Or have the voice of Olivia Newton-John. But the native Australian Dave Appleton has certainly made a name for himself.

After seven years in the American rodeo circuit, Appleton is a leading contender for the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association's world all-around champion title in Las Vegas in December, and is spotlighted in the cover story of the fall issue of Phillip Morris Magazine.

According to the article, Appleton arrived in America in 1980 from his hometown of Clermont in the central highlands of Queensland, Australia, carrying "just a suitcase and a saddle" and the desire to make it big in American rodeo.

That was half a million miles, more than half a million dollars, and a college degree ago.

Appleton's first rodeo competition was in Mesquite, Texas. Six months later he enrolled in Western Texas Junior College to study welding. Between classes, he stayed busy riding saddle broncs and bareback mounts under the supervision of longtime rodeo coach Bob Doty.

At the end of his first school year Appleton qualified for the College National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Montana. Then, in 1982, Appleton earned an associate of applied science degree and had to decide between a welding trade and a life in the professional rodeo circuit.

What has been the biggest surprise for Appleton since he came to America?

"The blow-and-go pace of life," he says. "In Australia, the philosophy is, 'She'll be Jake, mate,---what you can't do today you can do tomorrow. Over here, it's 'Oh, my God, let's cram it all in today.'"

The fast pace of Appleton's rodeo lifestyle seems to agree with him. The succession of contests spread out across North America from Alberta, Canada, to Kissimmee, Fla., leaves him weary. Sometimes, he says, "I have to leave the door open when I come in because my butt's still dragging outside."

Appleton did take some time to make two major changes in the last two years. In March 1985, he married Keely Santerre, a former Miss Texas contestant, who has now become his manager and public relations agent.

With his own company, Lone Roo, Inc., and a handful of endorsements to his name, including Justin boots, United Airlines and Wrangler jeans, what's left in America for Appleton?

According to the magazine, the confident Australian is "reticent to proclaim himself the best ever Australian rodeo cowboy."

"I don't want to honk my own horn yet because I'm not done," he explains. "When I'm the world champion, which I hope I'll be this year, then I'll say, okay."

Whether Dave Appleton becomes the world champion this year or not, chances are good that he will not drop out of the public eye.

8th Maidens

By Teresa Unger

The eighth-grade Maidens opened their season by defeating the Anson Tigerettes 24-22. Putting the most points on the board was Mary Alice Olvera with 10, followed by Kendi Williams with 8.

The team took on the Albany Lions Monday but scores were unavailable at press time.

After the Thanksgiving break, the Maidens will travel to Hamlin to play the Pipers Nov. 30.

8th Warriors

By Marty Decker

The eighth-grade Warriors traveled to Anson last Monday night only to be clawed, 27-38.

Crucial calls hampered the Warriors all night.

Chris Tanner and Johnny Rodriguez led the Warrior scoring attack.

"We played well considering the we only had a week to practice," eighth-grader Heath McMeans said.

The Warriors tried to bring their record to an even 1-1 Monday night against Albany, but scores were unavailable at press time.

7th boys

By Bo Watson

The seventh-grade boys got their first taste of junior high play Monday night when they played Albany. Scores were not available at press time.

Under the leadership of Coach Jimmy Lisle, the Warriors are hard at work preparing for their remaining games.

"We're working hard and hope to win as a team," Coach Lisle said.

The Warriors will host Hamlin at 4 p.m. Monday, and then travel to Hawley Dec. 7 to face the Bearcats.

JV Indians

The JV Indians opened their basketball season last week by defeating the Aspermont Hornets 51-25.

The Indians then traveled to Knox City and suffered a 41-27 loss to the Greyhounds.

The team is a good, strong team, inside and outside. They had their third game of the season Tuesday against Monday but scores were not available at press time.

The Indians will be idle Friday due to the Thanksgiving holidays, but will come back and play the Munday Moguls again Dec. 1.

The Indians have a tough act to follow because last year's JV record was 21-3 with two of the losses against varsity teams.

JV Maidens

The JV Maidens began their season with a 25-23 victory over the Aspermont Hornets last Tuesday night.

Dalyn Gilly and Tonya Isabell led the scoring attack with 6 points each.

The Maidens traveled to Knox City and again came home with a victory, 23-18. Shelia Unger paced the Maidens with 6 points.

The team took on the Munday Mogulettes Tuesday but scores were unavailable at press time.

After a Thanksgiving break, the Maidens will resume play Dec. 1 by traveling to Munday.

Rochester wins; Christoval next

Rochester will meet Christoval at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Winters.

The Rochester Steers zoomed past the Zephyr Bulldogs 45-18 in Albany Friday night to advance to the second round of the six-man playoffs.

It was the 10th consecutive victory for the unbeaten Steers, who will meet Christoval this week.

The Steers jumped to a 16-0 lead early in the game on 41- and 21-yard touchdown runs by James Wyatt and two extra point kicks by Larry King.

The Bulldogs came back in the first quarter to score a couple of touchdowns of their own and narrow the margin to 16-12 by the end of the opening period. Zephyr scored on a 4-yard run by Wes Timmons and a 21-yard pass from Timmons to Dwayne Lewis.

Rochester pulled away in the second quarter with a pair of Anthony Brown touchdowns of 59 and 38 yards to post a 31-12 lead by half time.

The Steers added two more touchdowns in the third quarter on a 5-yard run by Brown and a 1-yard run by Wyatt. The three-quarter score stood at 45-12.

With Rochester reserves playing much of the final period, the Bulldogs scored the game's final touchdown in the last minute of play on a 14-yard run by Dennis Carter.

Area teams advance in playoffs

Hamlin, champion of district 7-2A meets Abernathy at 8 p.m. Friday in Snyder in an area playoff game. The Pied Pipers advanced last week by edging McCamey, 26-25.

San Saba, which eliminated Haskell in the first round two weeks ago, goes against New Deal at 8 p.m. Friday in Abilene. The Armadillos advanced with a 7-0 win over Reagan County.

In Class A, Munday, a 58-7 victor over Sterling City last week, puts its unbeaten record on the line against Baird at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Stamford.

Throckmorton, which bested Rising Star 24-6 last week, goes up against highly rated Paducah at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Electra.

Lady Dusters to host classic

The Western Texas College Lady Dusters of Snyder will host their annual Holiday Classic Friday and Saturday in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Julie Roewe of Haskell is a member of the Lady Dusters' squad this season.

The Dusters will play the 8 o'clock game each night. They will play a team from Fort Hood on Friday and then play Blinn College Saturday night. At 6 on Friday, Howard College of Big Spring will play Blinn. At 6 on Saturday evening, Howard College will play Fort Hood.

Tournament passes can be purchased for $5 and single session tickets will be $3.

Members and Invited Guests Welcome

Bring back the "Good old days" ... with GTE CLASSIC SERVICE.

GTE TURNS BACK THE CLOCK WITH CLASSIC SERVICE.

Remember "the good old days?" Whatever problems you had with your phone service, you'd just call GTE and we'd take care of it. No second thoughts. No repair bill. Your regular phone bill covered everything.

Now, under recent FCC rulings, you're responsible for the cost of repairs to the wiring and jacks inside your home or business. This makes things a little more complicated.

CLASSIC SERVICE HELPS KEEP THINGS MORE LIKE THEY USED TO BE.

We can't bring back "the good old days" entirely but, with new CLASSIC SERVICE, we can make things more like the way they were.

With CLASSIC SERVICE, you pay only $1.25 per month to have GTE repair your telephone wiring and jacks during normal working hours, at no additional charge.

Just $1.25, per telephone number, on your monthly phone bill (about 4¢ a day) covers you, no matter how many jacks you have. And if you sign up before JANUARY 1, 1988, you can avoid the one-time sign-up charge.

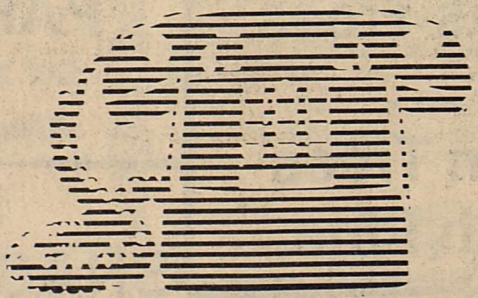

Here's how you'll save with CLASSIC SERVICE ...

NO SERVICE CALL CHARGES

Without CLASSIC SERVICE, if you have a problem with your phone service, and a GTE service call is needed to locate the trouble, you will be charged for the visit if the problem turns out to be in your wiring, jacks, or telephone instrument.

With CLASSIC SERVICE, there is no service call charge during normal working hours.

GTE CLASSIC SERVICE

NO REPAIR COSTS

With CLASSIC SERVICE there is no additional charge for repair or replacement of inside wiring and jacks*. If you elect not to subscribe to CLASSIC SERVICE and need inside wiring or jack repairs, you have three options:

- As a full-service telephone company, GTE will be happy to make the repairs. But under the new FCC ruling, if you have not subscribed to CLASSIC SERVICE, you will be charged.
- Or, you contract with a third party for repairs, but rates and qualifications vary widely.
- Or, you can make the repairs yourself, but you'll have to supply your own materials.

With CLASSIC SERVICE, there is no service call charge. No repair charge. No worry. That's why we call it "CLASSIC."

HERE'S WHAT CLASSIC SERVICE COVERS ...

- Service call charges
- Identification of the problem.
- Repair or replacement of inside wiring and jacks.

Like anything else, your telephone wiring can deteriorate with age and exposure to air and humidity. CLASSIC SERVICE covers this damage, as well as damage caused by natural disasters such as floods or lightning.

*Coverage does not include ...

- Willful damage
- Damage due to negligence
- Telephone instrument repair

AND NOW, NO SIGN-UP CHARGE UNTIL JANUARY 1, 1988.

Whatever problems you may encounter with your phone service, we urge you to call GTE first, even if you don't have CLASSIC SERVICE, because in many cases we can correct the problem from "our end." But if the problem does turn out to be inside your premises, won't it be nice to have CLASSIC SERVICE protection?

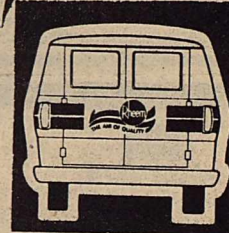

Sign up for CLASSIC SERVICE before JANUARY 1, 1988 and avoid a sign-up charge.

"... and ... ummm ..."

thank you for ..."

Have you ever listened to a child giving thanks in prayer? Saying Grace at breakfast might include "... and thank You for the sun today, thank You for the orange juice, and ... ummm ... thank You for the Rice Krispies".

It's easy for us to give thanks for the big things in our lives, but, when you look at living through a child's eye, a new horizon of bounty appears. Laughter, leaves, loving smiles and thoughtful words from a friend ... all reasons to give thanks.

At your Thanksgiving table this year, try it. Pause for just a moment and discover the true richness of the "Little things" in life. Look 'round the table ... and give Thanks.

A very happy Thanksgiving to you from everyone at

Rule student at Wayland gets honors

Jerrel Paul Riggins of Rule was among 27 Wayland Baptist University students inducted recently into the Texas Alpha Eta chapter of Alpha Chi, national honor scholarship society.

Riggins, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Riggins of Rule, is a senior at Wayland where he has maintained a 3.92 grade average on a 4.0 scale. He is pursuing a degree in Bible and psychology.

To be eligible for Alpha Chi, a student must have at least a 3.7 grade average on 80 or more hours, or a 3.5 average on 104 or more hours.

Membership is the highest academic honor on the Wayland campus. Dr. Charles Baldwin, professor of chemistry and physical science, is sponsor of the organization.

Just nervous

He's just nervous. During his courtship flight, the wings of the male ruby-throated hummingbird beat 200 times per second, according to International Wildlife magazine.

Wanda Thompson of Paint Creek won a sleigh packed with $500 worth of Hallmark productions at the Nov. Christmas open house drawing at Aladdin House in Haskell.

SSI recipients may own homes

Ownership of the home in which you live does not exclude a person or couple from getting supplemental security income (SSI) payments, Glyn Hammons, Social Security manager in Abilene, says.

"It is true that SSI is a means-tested program," Hammons said. "That means that eligibility for SSI is limited to people with little or no income or resources; however, it does not mean that people have to be penniless before they can apply for SSI payments."

"In figuring the value of an SSI applicant's resources, in most cases, a car or truck doesn't count. Neither does any money up to $1,500 that is kept separately for burial and life insurance, nor furniture and other belongings worth up to $2,000."

Anyone who thinks he or she may be eligible for monthly SSI payments should contact the Abilene Social Security office at 142 S. Pioneer, phone 915-698-1360. A free leaflet, SSI for aged, blind or disabled people, can be obtained there.

Interest on bonds at 7.17 percent

The semi-annual market-based interest rate for United States Savings Bonds, in effect from November 1987 to April 1988, has been set at 7.17 percent.

The rate is 85 percent of the average market yield on five-year treasury marketable securities during the preceding six months, 8.44 percent.

Bonds must be held five years or longer to receive market-based rates.

You may be paying for unneeded vitamins

The extra money you pay for foods or supplements that provide 100 percent of the RDA for essential vitamins is probably going for vitamins you don't need.

Food labels list the nutrient content of food in terms of RDA, or "Recommended Dietary Allowances."

Yet, according to Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutrition specialist and registered dietitian, few people understand exactly what RDA measure.

"The RDA are dietary standards adequate to meet the needs of practically all healthy persons, which means they are set very high," says Hunt. "Because nutrient requirements differ among people according to their size and genetic makeup, actual individual needs for essential nutrients range from about 50 percent below to 50 percent above the population average," she explains.
