Following several preliminary meetings, another public meeting is planned for Coke County Pageant Association, an organization being created for the perpetuation of the pageant presented last summer by Bronte and Robert Lee people depicting the history of Coke County.

The meeting is set for July 25, 7:30 p.m. at the Robert Lee City Hall. Main business of the evening is election of officers. A nominating committee will present names of people who have agreed to serve if elected, and additional nominations may be made from the floor.

A Theatre Construction Committee has located a site for creation of an outdoor theatre for future productions. No show is planned for this summer, but it is hoped that an amphitheatre might be sufficiently completed to premier an outdoor production by summer of 1978.

All interested persons are urged to attend Monday's meeting to help plan policies and procedures for the organization. Whether interested in acting, singing, square dancing, makeup, costuming, using sound and lighting equipment, or other aspects of creating an organization and producing a play, many people will be needed.

Church of Christ Meeting Planned

The Northside Church of Christ in Robert Lee announces a meeting to be held next week.

Bro. Douglas Wilks of Robstown will be preaching.

The first service of the meeting will be held Wednesday evening July 27, at 7:30 p.m. Services will be each evening through Saturday at the same hour with Sunday services at 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Bro. Wilks is well known in Robert Lee, having lived here and preached for the church previously.

The congregation invites all to come and engage in the services and fellowship.

Plans Are Made For County Fair Sept. 23, 24, 25

Coke County Fair Catalogues will be out soon and all persons in the county are urged to be "thinking Fair" and working toward completing items for exhibit. Now is the time to be canning for the canned food section.

The dates of the Annual Fair are September 23, 24, and 25.

There will be a flea market, craft sale and starving artist division in the barn area again, also commercial, educational, and regular booths exhibits in the main building.

Plans are being made for the Beau and Belle program Saturday evening.

Further information can be obtained from the County Extension Office in Robert Lee.

Local P. O. to Sell Food Stamps

The Robert Lee Post Office is now offering food coupons for its patrons and others in the area. In the past participants have had to drive to other cities to make purchases.

Robert Lee Postmaster Ray Shandley applied for the program in February of this year, and was notified two weeks ago that the plan had been approved.

LITTLE LEAGUE GAME FRIDAY

The Colorado River Little League team advanced a notch up the ladder Tuesday night when they defeated a Winters team, 16-2, in a game played at Winters.

The Colorado River lads now will have to go up against Snyder Friday at 7:30 p.m. in a game to be played in Robert Lee.

In the Tuesday night game Jamie Alley was winning pitcher and was mighty stingy with the hits allowed the boys of Winters. The Colorado River bunch had an easy time of it in making their 16 runs.

In a game Monday night the Colorado River team downed Ballinger 8-3 to advance to the Tuesday night game. Everett Wilson was the winning pitcher, striking out 10, walking three and allowing 3 hits. The team played errorless baseball.

The plan was made effective July 16, and supplies are expected to be on hand and the program active by July 22.

Those who wish to purchase at the Robert Lee Office should be certain to bring their identification cards. No purchase can be made without this card. Also, a valid ATP (Authorization To Purchase) card is required. The ATP card is good only for the month that is shown on it. "The regulations are very exacting and must be adhered to without exception. Your cooperation in this will be appreciated," Shandley said.

Initially, hours for purchase will be from 9 a.m. through 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. No sales of food coupons will be made on Saturday. This schedule may be revised at a later date if necessary.

Congressman
Bob Krueger
Reports

Krueger Impressed at Recent Visit

A sense of community, of belonging to a particular time and place, is an element increasingly difficult to harness in today's world.

Last week, while traveling throughout the 21st District, I was struck by the pride and confidence so evident in the people who live in towns such as Ballinger, Bronte, Robert Lee, Winters, Sterling City and, on a larger scale, San Angelo.

Fortunately, Congress each year allows breaks in its work schedule in Washington so congressmen can return to their home districts for extended work periods. It was during such a break last week that I was able to enjoy, not only the perspective of people in my district, but their hospitality as well.

In Winters, for instance, I was able to view firsthand the role that my district congressional office had been able to play in helping Winters retain rail service in the face of a threatened shutdown of service from Winters to Abilene. Although I had prepared testimony supporting farmers who need rail service to ship agricultural goods to market, being in Winters and having people there express gratitude that the railroad line remained open meant far more to me that anything that could be said in an official ruling by the Interstate Commerce Committee, on which I sit.

That victory, though based on hard data showing Winters as a vibrant and growing agricultural community deserving of continued rail service, is also a tribute to the stamina and concern for their community of the people of Winters.

I witnessed the same concern for community in other towns, and was particularly gratified in visiting Bronte and Robert Lee to find that each had recently acquired the services of new physicians, both of whom are Vietnamese and have relocated in Texas, not only in a situation that is bound to bring them professional satisfaction, but to also fill a medical vacuum that exists in too many small Texas towns.

The meshing of the widely varying cultures of West Texans and of the Vietnamese doctors is testimony to the fact that the people of the 21st District have great capacity for growth, culturally and geographically.

I recieved other significant input, including the story one farmer told me of trying to exchange four bushels of wheat for two pounds of coffee, and still coming up short. Receiving information pertaining to agriculture has been essential as I deal with agricultural legislation and with leaders such as Bob Strauss, foreign trades expert, who pledged in a recent meeting with me to give greater priority to finding export markets for American farm products.

I ended my trip with stops in Bronte and Robert Lee where friends had prepared 11 freezers of homemade ice cream, a commodity one seldom encounters in Washington, D. C. That evening, on the eve of a demanding work schedule this week in Washington, is one I will remember for many years.

Nelson Wolff Visits in Coke

Congressional Candidate Nelson Wolff is continuing his travels throughout the 21st District this week (July 18-22) with visits to 13 communities.

On Tuesday, Wolff visited Sonora, Ozona, Big Lake, Barnhart, Mertzon and San Angelo. On Wednesday, he was in Ballinger, Winters, Bronte, Robert Lee, Sterling City and Garden City.

To further acquaint himself with the wool and mohair industry in the district, Wolff will attend the 62nd Annual Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Convention in Kerrville on Friday and Saturday. Wolff plans to continue his travels throughout the district. He will make the formal announcement of his candidacy in late August.

Water Quality Plan to Be Made

Citizens of this area will have an opportunity to offer suggestions about the 208 Water Quality Management Plan if they will fill out a form in a public service announcement appearing in this issue.

The Plan is being developed through a planning grant from the Texas Water Quality Board and the Environmental Protection Agency. The Colorado River Municipal Water District of Big Spring is the planning agency for the upper portion of the Colorado River Basin. This includes all of the drainage area of the Colorado River from the Texas-New Mexico border to just above the confluence of the Colorado and Concho Rivers. The initial phase of the management plan has been completed. This includes information on projected water use, projected population trends and projected land use patterns. The report is currently being reviewed by the Texas Water Quality Board and will soon be ready for distribution to municipalities and counties in the study area.

Crape myrtles can enhance any Texas landscape with their delicate blossoms and gently sculptured trunks. This ornamental tree can withstand the long hot Texas summers and rather droughty conditions. Crape myrtles can provide a variety of colorful blossoms and even comes in dwarf sizes that are excellent for mass plantings. They prefer full sunlight and well-drained soils.

THINK CLEAN WATER

Who Decides How Clean Your Water Should Be?

Right now a planning agency is studying the water in your area to determine where it comes from, how it can be used, what happens to it after it is used, and how it is cleaned up to use again. Who will decide how clean your water should be? This decision will affect you. Do you want to help make it? Fill out and return the form below, and we will send you information on the planning program currently underway.

WTU Sees No Blackout Here

West Texas Utilities Co. customers are using record amounts of electricity this summer, but generation engineers say the system is capable of supplying any demands.

Three new record peaks have been set and daily consumption is running above average. But in response to questions prompted by the recent New York blackout, WTU officials said that even though usage likely will continue increasing if the weather stays hot, the projected peak will be within the system's generation and transmission capacity.

Carl Yancy, WTU systems operation manager, said it is "highly unlikely" that a blackout similar to the one in New York could occur here.

"Of course no one can be absolutely certain, but there is no doubt in my mind that our system is reliable," Yancy said.

He explained that WTU's eight major power stations are strategically located near the load centers and that the transmission network is designed to eliminate too much dependence on one plant.

Total generating capacity is 1,055,500 kilowatts, Yancy said, and the all-time consumption peak so far was 747,000 kilowatts, which was recorded at 5 p.m. on Monday, July 11. Last year's record peak was 725,000 kilowatts on Aug. 11.

WTU officials have forecast a summer peak of 785,000 kilowatts, which is 270,000 kilowatts below the company's generating capacity. This reserve of about 26 per cent is considered good by national standards.

And the reserve would more than make up for the loss of the company's largest generating facility, which is the new 200,000 kilowatt unit at the Fort Phantom Power Plant near Abilene.

The system also could receive back-up power from neighboring companies, Yancy pointed out.

Heavy consumption is occurring this summer in spite of customer efforts at conservation, company officials said. They attribute the increase to the hot weather and to the fact that WTU is serving about 3,000 more residential customers now than at the same time last year.

Though the system is geared up for any emergency, company spokesmen acknowledge there is no sure guarantee against an electrical outage, particularly those caused by acts of nature.

Yancy said the last system-wide blackout occurred in April, 1961, when a phone wire broke and fell into the Paint Creek substation. The outage spread throughout the system, although all service was restored completely within 40 minutes.

Since then, automatic oil circuit breakers have been installed to prevent a recurrence.

Brenda Adams of Austin and Mrs. Roy Ford of Big Spring visited Friday with Mrs. Ford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Prine Jr. of Sanco. Mr. and Mrs. James Adkins of Mississippi visited in the Prine home last week.

Firms Cautioned On State Taxes

AUSTIN--Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday cautioned persons doing business with the state to check to be sure that all their state taxes have been paid.

"If we find that any of these people providing goods or services to the state haven't paid their taxes, we aren't going to issue them their checks," Bullock warned.

Bullock said his office has no choice but to withhold the checks because of a law recently passed by the Texas Legislature and effective immediately.

HB 2067, authored by Rep. Joe Wyatt of Bloomington, prohibits the Comptroller from issuing a state warrant (check) to anyone owing delinquent taxes to the state.

He said the new law will be a valuable tool in his efforts to collect hundreds of thousands of delinquent tax dollars that have built up over the years.

"We have hundreds of persons who provide goods and services to the state and all but a small number of them pay their taxes on time and in full," Bullock said.

"You can bet they are going to settle up when they find out they aren't going to get their checks until they do," he added.

Home Demonstration Clubs Have Much to Offer Residents of County

New residents in Coke County are finding that home demonstration clubs offer one good solution for meeting other community residents with similar interests--and learning at the same time, Mrs. Fay C. Roe, County Extension Agent, reports. Newly married ladies or just anyone who is interested are included as well as new residents.

Forty-four women in Coke County are members of home demonstration clubs--which meet each month to learn the latest home economics information, develop leadership skills and expand social ties, she explained.

Throughout the county, community clubs design and carry out a number of projects each year--and serve as county service clubs, sponsoring projects to benefit all residents, including 4-H and other youth, Nursing homes, etc.

For members, home demonstration clubs mean money saving information--with many members reporting individual savings from $200-$500 last year, Mrs. Roe noted.

Much of the savings stemmed from information and "know how" they gained in home repairs, furniture refinishing, food preservation, homesewing or improving their family-finance plan, she said.

Better family relationships were also reported as items that do not have a price tag, Mrs. Roe added.

Home demonstration club membership is open to everyone, regardless of sex, race, color, or creed--and the time it takes amounts to about two or four hours a month, the agent said.

Over 100 Entries Compete In Annual County Rodeo

The annual Coke County Rodeo, held last Friday and Saturday, was declared a huge success by the sponsors, members of the Coke County Rodeo Association. The event was held in the Bronte Roping Arena.

More than 100 entries participated in the rodeo and a large number of them rode in a parade in downtown Bronte Saturday afternoon prior to the activities at the arena.

Rodeo Association officials said this year's contests went off very smoothly and the action was concluded each night at a reasonable hour. Last year's events dragged out until early in the morning and starting time this year was moved up one hour to allow for an earlier completion of the action.

FARM SAFETY URGED

With National Farm Safety Week set for July 25-31, it's especially a good time to give more consideration to accident prevention. The theme of the week is "Safety Is a Good Investment" and emphasizes that accidents result not only in personal injury but in costly equipment damage, medical expense, loss of valued talent and skill of agricultural producers and workers, and production loss.

Screwworms Hit New Low in State

The sixth day of July, 1977, was a big one in history of the 16-year-old Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program, says U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) veterinarian M. E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr.

That day the number of confirmed screwworm cases in Texas livestock for this year (31) fell behind 1970 levels. This makes 1977 the best year on record, says the program director.

"Each day since has seen an improvement over the 1970 situation," comments Dr. Meadows. "By July 15 that year Texas had tallied 54 cases. We still stand at 31 for this year."

Meadows credits the impressive 1977 showing to many factors, all part of the "Mission '77: Stamp Out Screwworms" (S.O.S.) effort.

The "S.O.S." campaign features rancher care of animals and prompt submission of samples of all worms found in livestock wounds. Backing up the rancher effort is work by the Texas A & M Cooperative Extension Service, the Texas Animal Health Commission, and distribution of sterile screwworm flies by the USDA program.

"We were aided tremendously by cool weather which suppressed the over-wintering population in south Texas last winter," says Meadows.

Also helping create this year's pleasant situation is production of 200 million sterile screwworm flies in Mexico each week. Half of these flies are distributed in northern Mexico while the other half are distributed in the southwest U.S. along with the 200 million produced weekly at the Mission insectary

ACCIDENT CONTROL

Safe operating practices for lawn mowers include shutting off the mower when moving it from one level to another, when leaving it unattended, and when removing debris, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Report your out-of-order phone, says a consumer information specialist. The telephone company is required to give credit for "extended interrupted service," she says.

HAY CROP EXPECTED

Dry weather has limited hay making in some sections of Texas this year, but there is still plenty of time for good hay production, says a pasture and forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Due to the long growing season and the fact that most of the state generally receives good late summer and early fall rains, a good hay crop is still possible. It's important to fertilize hay meadows now so that the grass will be able to make good growth once the rains come. Cutting grass at the proper stage of growth will also insure top quality, high protein hay.

Public Is Invited To Craft Program

Coke County Home Demonstration Club members are extending an invitation to non club members to attend their Craft Day on Friday, July 29. The meeting place will be the Old Recreation Hall in Robert Lee.

Mrs. B. Kauffman of San Angelo will demonstrate the crafts and each person may make one or more crafts. The cost will be set on each item or article and participants will pay for what they make. The crafts planned are new and rather inexpensive.

Persons attending may bring something simple to add to the lunch that will be served.

Invite your friends to accompany you.

Please call the Extension Office 453-2461 or send a card if you plan to attend by Monday, July 25 at 5 p.m. The number is important to Mrs. Kauffman as she makes plans to bring materials. The only cost will be for the craft. Everyone is invited.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is for everyone.
