Rain Helps Cool Things In This Area

Rain came to the Coke County area last Thursday night in sufficient amounts to do some good in some parts of the county and cool things off a bit. The relief from a long hot summer of days and days when the mercury hit 100 degrees was most welcome. The Sanco area had the heaviest rainfall reported to the Observer, with 1.5 inches recorded. Silver had 1.2 inches.

Most reports in Robert Lee gave the measurement as about one inch.

Bronte had .75 inch. Temperatures have been climbing into the mid-90s during the day and dropping into the low 70s at night, some 5-10 degrees cooler than during August and early September.

Citizens Meet to Discuss Hospital; Vernor Resigns

A substantial measure of tranquility has returned to the West Coke County Hospital after considerable controversy which came to a head last week.

A large group of Robert Lee area citizens met last Wednesday night with the board of directors, and a frank and open discussion of grievances developed. After the discussion made it plain that so many citizens were displeased with the way things were running, Administrator Robert Vernor submitted his resignation, effective immediately. Later in the meeting the board accepted it.

Fern Havins, president of the board, told the Observer Tuesday night that a new administrator was employed at a meeting Monday night. Carl Weaver of San An-

Janis Fowler Walks for MD

Jerry Lewis probably would have hugged Janis Fowler of Robert Lee if he had been around this part of the country on Labor Day. Janis took it on herself to work Robert Lee for the annual Jerry Lewis Telethon to raise money for muscular dystrophy research and treatment. She gathered up $130 during the day while walking all over town asking local citizens to help with the drive. Janis said she was going to be better organized next year and publicize a telephone number for people to call if they wish to donate to the cause. She said she knew she missed some donations because there was no number announced for Robert Lee. Another walk is planned for 1979 and Janis said, "I went over my goal this year and, God willing, we will go on to hit the $200 mark next year."

On behald of the MD drive, Janis thanked everyone who donated to her effort and added, "I'll be there again next year."

BALANCING THE BUDGET

WASHINGTON—As the most fundamental document of our democratic nation, the United States Constitution should be altered only at crucial times and for the most vital reasons.

That time is now; the reason? Our economy.

I have decided to sponsor a constitutional amendment to require a balanced budget by 1983.

House Joint Resolution 130 would require that the budget be balanced within five years of enactment. And, going a step further, the amendment also requires that the national debt, now over $800 billion, be paid off over the succeeding

The effects of the federal deficit are obvious. People talk about them every day; but rhetoric produces no change. The deficit grows larger, and unemployment and inflation result. The average rate of economic growth continues its decline.

Yet the Congress has failed to take action to pay off the national debt and balance the budget.

I myself introduced an amendment to the First Concurrent Budget Resolution in May to cut federal spending and reduce the deficit by $7 billion. This amendment failed along with others designed to stop unnecessary federal spending.

My experience in Washington leaves little doubt in my mind—the Congress is not capable of cutting the budget on a program-by-program basis.

The recourse is enactment of House Joint Resolution 130, which will, through specific language added to the Constitution, prevent such fiscal irresponsibility from occurring again.

No corporation, business enterprise or family could expect to last long if they followed the spending example set by the U.S. government.

Deficit spending, once thought to be a way of improving our economy, has proven instead a dismal failure. We cannot afford to view government spending as the major, permanent, stabilizing and growth-promoting agency for the nation as a whole, because we simply cannot afford continuous jumps in the national deficit.

The evidence is in. The budget must be balanced, national debt paid off, and inflation halted.

Enactment of H.J. Res. 130 is the first step toward these goals. The deficit grows larger even as I am writing this to you; surely now the time for talk has ended and the time for constitutional change has arrived.

Civil War Film In Amphitheatre

"Red Runs The River", a production of Unusual Films, will be shown at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 23 at Mountain Creek Amphitheatre in Robert Lee, 18th St. and Austin St. The Civil War production, filmed in color, tells the true story of the conversion of Richard Stoddert Ewell, hero of the Confederacy.

Admission charge will be 50 cents for children 5-11 years, and $1.00 for those who are 12 years and over. Dr. Bob Jones, chancellor of Bob Jones University, plays the role of the hard-fighting Southern general who finds Christ as his personal Savior through the testimony of Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson, played by Jack Buttram. Dr. Bob Jones III, University president, is the daring cavalry off-icer, "Jeb" Stuart.

An Unusual Films representative said, "Although the principal characters are Confedera-

The title has a twofold meaning. It refers to the waters of Bull

"GOD WANTS YOU TO WIN"

Steers Take 21-0 Victory Over Sterling City Eagles

The Robert Lee Steers looked mighty bright last Friday night in their season opener when they traveled to Sterling City and brought home a 21-0 victory.

The win was a non-conference game with a C1ass B team and showed the Steers are likely to be a big factor in the District 6-B race of 1978.

Kerry Gartman started out as quarterback for the Steers but an injury in the first quarter caused Coach Jerry English to relieve him of the QB chores and turn them over to Brett Clark. The coach said Gartman's injury was not serious, but did hinder his ball handling.

The Steers drew first blood in the latter part of the first quarter when a drive moved the ball down to the 2 yard line. From there Clark went in for the first counter and Buddy Walltween the uprights to make the score 7-0.

The remainder of the first and all of the se- evening with 240 yards cond quarter went scor- on 20 carries. Terry eless and the second half began with the 7-0 mark on the secreboard. In the third quarter

Clark again was the man to cross the double stripe. He made the Steers' second touchdown on a 45 yard run and Wallace was again accurate for the extra point to make the score 14-0.

The Steers didn't hit pay dirt again until late in the fourth quarter. Again Clark took the ball, this time on his own 9 yard line, and galloped 91 yards for the score. Wallace kicked the EP and the score was 21-0. Only 1:42 remained on the clock.

The Sterling City Eagles were allowed two penetrations, thanks to fumbles by the Steers. The Steer defense kept their opponents out of the 20 yard zone except on those two occasions. Coach English said the defense deserved a lot of credit for the Eagles' lack of points. "The defense was real strong," he said, "and ace kicked the ball be- I was well pleased with the way they looked." Clark was the leading ground gainer of the Ross carried six times for 56 yards and Edwin Wilson lugged the ball 36 yards in six carries. Statistics showed:

Coke Delegates Attend Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Phillips of Bronte and Dale Reber of Robert Lee attended the Republican state convention last weekend in Dallas. Phillips was the official delegate for Coke County while Reber was alternate.

Highlight of the convention was a series of talks by Jack Kemp of New York, gubernatorial hopeful Bill Clements and others. Phillips said the theme of their addresses was "let's do it ourselves".

Reber cast Coke County's vote from the floor of the convention, as Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were sitting in on the platform and resolutions committee hearings.

Phillips said they were interested in the final adoption of the resolution dealing with agriculture. They attended a caucus of about 50 persons Friday night when various ideas of dealing with problems of farmers and ranchers were talked. "Many of those present were Democrats," Phillips said, "who were trying to obtain parity for their products through any means possible". Debate on the farm resolution continued Friday and Saturday.

Coke County saw at least one of its resolutions adopted when the convention voted for a resolution opposing the extension of the deadline for ratifying the ERA.

The convention ended Saturday night on a note of party unity, having adopted a conservative platform as Coke County Republicans had hoped.

Phillips said they visited Dealey Plaza Saturday night. "I could clearly picture in my mind," Phillips said, "the events of the day when President Kennedy was assassinated. Walking about such a historical place late at night with no traffic or crowds brought on a deep sense of awe."

PUBLIC NOTICE SUMMARY OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 7, 1978

"The Tax Relief Amendment"

H.J.R. 1 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing the legislature to exempt intangible personal property, requiring the legislature to exempt certain household goods and personal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property homestead from state and local property taxation.

The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation of farm and ranch land on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation of timber land on its productive capacity.

The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65 and older to include certain disabled persons.

The amendment grants an exemption from public school property taxes of $5,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homesteads of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.

The amendment prevents local governments from increasing property taxes unless the governments of the governments of the amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.

The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' estimated economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.

The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."

S.J.R. 50 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to delete an archaic reference to the "Deaf and Dumb Asylum." The amendment would allow the State of Texas to purchase products and services done by handicapped individuals in nonprofit rehabilitation facilities without complying with bid re-quirements applicable to other state contracts. The amendment also would eliminate the formality of the approval of certain state contracts by the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment deleting the archaic reference to the 'Deaf and Dumb Asylum,' allowing certain products and services of handicapped individuals to be used by agencies and departments of state government, requiring the procurement of other products and services required in the operation of state government to be made under bids awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, making all such procurement processes subject to laws enacted by the legislature, and eliminating the eliminating the require-ment that the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts of Texas be personally involved with such transactions."

NUMBER TWO (S.J.R. 55)

S.J.R. 55 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to permit local governments to issue bonds for the reconstruction or acquisition of facilities (land, equipment and improvements) designed to develop employment opportunities. These

The amendment also would allow the courts to sit in sections, with the concurrence of a majority of the judges sitting in the section necessary to decide a case.

Thursday, Aug. 31: Dr. Do told Havins and Vernor that he was moving to San Antonio the following Monday.

Monday, Sept. 4: A large group of concerned citizens met in the county court room at Robert Lee. A number of persons presented grievances and expressed concern about the way the hospital was being run. Plans were made for llinger. Great-grandmoa meeting with the board on Tuesday night, but the directors postponed the meeting until Wednesday night.

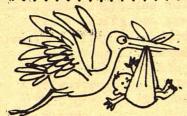

Wednesday, Sept. 6: The board convened in an emergency called meeting at 8 p.m. in the West Coke County New Activity Building. All five directors were present, including: Fern Havins, president; Earl Lindsey, vice president; Larry Anderson, secretary; Joe Ash, member; Curtis Walker, member. Also present was Robert Vernor, administrator. Havins presided at the meeting and called on Rev. Lyle L. Pierce to open the meeting with a prayer. Main events of the evening were a discussion of policies and conditions at the hospital and the submission and acceptance of Vernor's resignation.

Monday, Sept. 11: The board met and officially appointed Mrs. Bagwell as interim administrator. Mrs. Judy Millican was named interim director of nurses, replacing her. Ash's resignation was accepted and Victor Wojtek was named to succeed him. Weaver was employed as administrator.

Weaver worked several years in hospital administration work at Clinic-Hospital in San Angelo, Havins said, and the board felt him well qualified for the job. ..

Havins emphasized that he and other board members are deeply interested in getting the problems of the hospital worked out and are seeking the cooperation of everyone in the area to make the operation run smoothly and efficiently.

RLHS Steer Band Makes Headway

(Editor's note: A spokesman for the Steer Band turned in the following article about band activities so far this year.)

The R.L.H.S. Stompin' Steer Band has been a little behind schedule this year. We were not able to attend the Sterling City game, but wi-11 be able to attend the Roscoe game and the pep rally this Friday.

County Agents News Column

By Sterling Lindsey

Several people have called the office during the past month wanting information on the control of "honey dew", particularly on pecan trees.

Honey dew is actually waste material given off by aphids or plant lice. This insect can multiply rapidly in the spring and fall when temperatures and feeding conditions are favorable.

Lice can be controlled on pecan trees by spraying with malathion or toxaphene. Be sure to use adequate pressure to penetrate into the tree. Also, you must spray the bottom surface of the leaves. Normally, aphids stay on the bottom side of a leaf.

Something you may want to try is washing your tree with your garden hose. Sometimes this wi-11 drown the aphids and will help the leaves to "breathe". Put your nozzle on your hose and use a solid pressure stream. A light spraying or watering will not do the job. You need some force behind the water.

The protein value of roughages or hays for feed can vary considerably, depending on the stage of growth at harvest whether or not it was fertilized and the type of hay in question. I received some information recently that may stock operators. Some thers have put up hay during the year.

of tests conducted by the Texas A&M University forage testing service during a given period. Their tests showed the following crude protein percentages:

low high ave. Alfalfa- 8.7, 22.9, 17.6 Bermuda- 2.5, 19.1, 10.4 Johnson Grass - 3.4, 21.0, 7.7 Sudan

Hybrids- 3.0, 15.0, 8.5

As you can see, the results can vary considerably. Likewise, the palatability is usually lower on the lower protein value hays.

Generally speaking, hay cut before it boots has a higher percentage of the nutrients still in the leaves, a higher percentage weight in the leaves, more tender stems or stalks and is eaten more readily by livestock. On the other hand, if a hay crop is booting to heading, the yield will be greater, but the quality and palatability will be reduced.

Fertilizer is the biggest single factor affecting the protein level. Hay grown on rich soil and/or fertilized soil will have a higher protein content and more total leaves. Hay that is fertilized, then cut at the right stage, will usually be eaten readily and give the desired results. Willie Carper, in the Tennyson community, had three different hays analyzed recently that he plans to grind and use in feeding lambs. Some of the roughage he produced, some was purchased.

The three hays tested as follows:

Alfalfa - 15.1% Sorghum - 6.8% Oat straw - 2.7% He can now calculate fairly accurately the desired protein in the ration he is feeding.

We remind you again of the County Fair scheduled to be held at the Robert Lee Community Center, Sept. 29-Oct. 1. The catalogs were mailed out late last week. If you failed to receive a copy, please let us know. We hope you are planning to enter several items in the fair this year. People like to see what other people are doing. We hope you will want to display some items in this year's fair.

Mrs. Juanice Herr of Blacksburg, Va., is in Robert Lee this week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Childress.
