Farmers Fire and Aid Association

At Comfort on March 1 delegates from the Farmers Institutes of Kerr and Kendall Counties met at Comfort and organized a farmers co-operative fire insurance association to be known as the Farmers Fire and Aid Association of Kendall and Kerr Counties, and elected Louis Wiedenkamp president, G. A. Schattner vice-president and Paul Holzkamp, secretary.

Its activity in the matter of insuring property shall be confined to property within Kerr and Kendall Counties, and also within their immediate outside surroundings not to exceed 5 miles out from any point of county lines.

A constitution was adopted. The directorate shall consist of 11 members distributed as nearly as possible equally over the territory. All insurance is written and accepted at one-half of value of property.

The intention of this organization is to protect its members from the danger of fires, at a nominal and very low cost or expense. Therefore everybody owning a farm or ranch house, houses or improvements should join this organization. No town property will be accepted for insurance.

Died

Edmund Marchessaux, who came to Kerrville several months ago for the benefit of his health, died last Thursday, March 6. He was 38 years of age and his home was in New Orleans. H. B. Sere, a brother-in-law of the deceased, was with him when he died and accompanied the remains home.

Newspapers as Boosters

Speaking of what a newspaper does in a community, the late United States Senator Davis of Illinois made an address in which he said: "Every year each local paper gives from $200 to $1000 in lines to the city in which it is located, in boosting and praising lodges, church, school, societies, etc. No other agent can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other man and he ought to be supported, not because you like him and his style, but because a good local paper is the best investment a community can make. Today the local papers are doing more for less pay than anything on earth, and it is a fact that in many cases of free notices, announcements, etc., they are not even thanked for what they do."—Pecos Record-Times.

Center Point Letter.

Center Point, March 11.—We had another good rain and everything is lovely except the mud.

It rained out the entertainment at the school house Saturday night.

D. McWilliams returned last Wednesday from a visit to his son at Lake Charles, La.

Chas. Wheeler of Kerrville was here Tuesday in the interest of the Wheeler saddlery and vehicle business.

J. A. Spencer returned Sunday from a few days trip to Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bruff left Saturday to attend the Head Camp meeting of the W. O. W. and Woodman Circle at Dallas.

A. Walker put F. M. Sprinkle in charge of his stable and left this morning for a weeks visit with his son at San Antonio and daughter at Mathis. This is the first layoff Mr. Walker has had for a long time.

W. L. Ezzell and family left this afternoon for Beaumont where they expect to make their future home. We regret to see "Bill," as he was familiarly known, leave us. He and his family will be missed as they are known and loved by all. Mr. Ezzell is an honest, industrious, Christian gentleman and hard-working blacksmith.

They come and they go. Some stay and some don't.

J. M. Morehead, recently of Miss., is loading out today for the return. Because he did not find things here as he had left them in Miss., or as his imagination had pictured Texas to be, he at once became dissatisfied and instead of trying to adjust himself to the conditions as they are here, tried to make the conditions fit his ideas, and as they would not, he has taken the only wise course of returning to the conditions that do suit. We are sorry to lose him and wish him success and happiness in his Mississippi home.

When this writer first came to Texas he was fortunate in not being able to "go back," for if he could he would have gone back. But when he had earned the price and could go, he had no desire to depart.

Rev. M. S. Osborne returned Sunday from Stage Camp where he went to meet his wife's sister, Miss Edith Sherborn, who has been teaching near Rock Springs. Miss Sherborn will leave for her home in Okla. in a few days. We understand Bro. Osborne has finally accepted the pastorate of the Baptist Church at Sanderson and will soon move out there.

C. W. Howland made a business trip to Kerrville today.

The entertainment that was rained out Saturday night is scheduled to come off tonight.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Methodist Church Wednesday night. Bro. Duke has been engaged for several days cleaning up and making repairs on the Parsonage grounds and beautifying the yard. Now, if his efforts in the meeting will do as much good for Center Point, there will be much rejoicing.

John T. Page

In the death of John T. Page, another of Kerrville's old and highly respected citizens has passed away. Mr. Page died in this city on Thursday March 6, after a long and complicated illness and his body was interred at Glen Rest Cemetery on Saturday afternoon, Rev. D. P. Airhart conducting the service.

The deceased was a native of this State, having been born in Caldwell County, Jan. 5, 1846. For many years he resided in Blanco County and came to Kerrville fifteen years ago. He is survived by his wife and six children, as follows: Seth and Jesse Page of Blanco, Eli Page of El Paso, Robert Page of Llano, Geo. A. Page and Mrs. Sidney McKown of Kerrville.

Working Night and Day

Work on the Fredericksburg Ry. is being pushed. The contractors are employing as many men as can be used to advantage and are working them in both night and day shifts. Within a week or two the present force will be doubled.—Comfort News.

WHITE WOMAN KILLS MEXICAN

Mrs. Buck Bishop Attacked by Strange Mexican Near Rock Springs, Shoots and Kills Him After Awful Struggle

In a life and death struggle with a fiend in human form, Mrs. Buck Bishop shot and killed an unknown Mexican at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Bishop at Carter Valley, near Rock Springs, Monday night.

It appears that Mr. Bishop had gone to Del Rio for supplies and Mrs. Bishop and the small children, the oldest a boy of ten years, were alone at the ranch. Shortly after dark the mother took a lighted lamp and went to the kitchen to prepare some medicine for one of the children which was sick, when the Mexican, who was crouched in a corner, sprang at her. She threw the lamp at him and he seized her and then in the dark began a terrible struggle. Mrs. Bishop called for her little boy to bring the axe and the little hero was quick to come to her rescue. The brute had overpowered the poor woman and was holding her when the boy made a desperate attack on him cutting him in several places and making it so hot for him that the mother was enabled to free herself from his grasp and get a rifle which was in her bedroom. But the Mexican followed her and grappled with her for possession of the gun. Another terrible struggle followed but the plucky woman finally succeeded in turning the gun upon her assailant, pulled the trigger and the would-be assassin fell backwards and died instantly.

Mrs. Bishop telephoned to a nearby ranch and neighbors came and took her from the scene of her horrible experience to their home. Mrs. Bishop is a step-daughter of Mrs. L. H. Henderson who was brutally murdered by a Mexican near the same place two years ago, the Mexican afterwards being burned by a mob.

Earl W. Underwood.

Surrounded by his wife, his mother and other loved ones, Earl Underwood passed from this life at his tent in the outskirts of Kerrville at 2:40 o'clock last Sunday morning, after a long illness, his affliction being tuberculosis.

Deceased was born near Dexter, Kansas, June 28, 1882. He was reared on the farm, and at the age of 24 he was married to Miss Gertrude Cunningham. From Kansas he moved to Fort Worth, Texas and engaged in the printing business. In April of last year his health failed, which forced him to give up his business and in June following he came to Kerrville with the hope of regaining his health. He leaves behind him a loving and devoted companion, his mother, three sisters and one sister-in-law, as follows: Mrs. Mary M. Underwood of Winfield, Kansas, his mother; Mrs. Gertrude Underwood, his wife; Mrs. Leona Reynolds of Wabash, Ind.; Mrs. May Currier of Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. Grace Ester of Houston, Texas and Mrs. Ella Underwood of Burden, Kansas.

Pastor D. P. Airhart of the Kerrville Baptist Church and Pastor J. D. Overton of the Center Point Baptist Church will exchange pulpits for the morning service next Sunday. It is hoped Bro. Overton may have a large audience to hear him.

Here in Interest of Prohibition Daily Paper.

J. W. Freeman, of San Marcos, was in Kerrville Monday in the interest of the big Prohibition daily paper which is being established in Texas. Mr. Freeman stated that $350,000 in stock had already been sold in the big enterprise and the cash paid in. The sale of stock that can be made to an individual is limited and is restricted to Prohibitionists. The sale of the stock is being distributed over the entire State. Mr. Freeman says the only difficulty he has is to keep from selling over limit in given territory. Over fifty thousand paid up subscriptions have been received and $100,000 worth of advertising contracted for the new paper which will start publication next month simultaneously at Waco and San Antonio. A dozen or more leading business and professional men are behind the proposition as an advisory committee, including Cone Johnson, S. P. Brooks, Judge Ramsey, S. P. Strong, Senator Morris Sheppard and others.

Quarterly Conference

The Second Quarterly Conference for Kerrville will be held by Dr. Burgin next Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. He will preach at the Methodist Church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Tribute to The Bible

This book contains—"The mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, doom of sinners, and happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy. It contains light to direct you; food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christians charter. Christ its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure. It is given you in life, will be open at the judgment, and be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents."

Fredericksburg Railroad Notes

The shipment of 2,400 tons of 65 pound steel rails for the San Antonio, Fredericksburg & Northern road will begin from Chicago next week, according to R. A. Love, president, who is back at headquarters after an absence of several weeks.

Mr. Love yesterday had a long conference with Foster Crane, the general contractor, who is looking after the construction of the new road. According to Mr. Crane, all of the grading has been completed from the Guadalupe river to Fredericksburg with the exception of the big cut through the mountain, nine miles from the river. This big cut is the heaviest work on the road.

However, steel will be laid as the rail is delivered here. Mr. Love says the work will be pushed forward as fast as conditions will permit.

While in the North he had a number of inquiries concerning investments in the State.—S. A. Express.

Sunday School Field Worker Here

The meeting of Sunday School Teachers conducted by John M. Adams, Field Worker of the State Sunday School Association, at the Methodist Church on last Thursday afternoon, was one of the most interesting and instructive ever held in our city. Quite a number attended from Center Point and a fair number of our home people; those who failed to attend certainly missed not only a treat, but an opportunity for making themselves more efficient and better equipped workers in the Sunday Schools.

The lecture, entitled "RATIONS," at night was also excellent. In it Bro. Adams emphasized the necessity of teachers being more spiritually minded and wholly consecrated if they truly hope to succeed in their aim which should be the leading of children to a deeper love and knowledge of God.

There was a fair number out at night, but the church ought to have been crowded. Strange, is it not, how many of our Christian brethren will let these opportunities pass them by?

Hirsh to Lecture

R. H. Hirsh an editor, lecturer and writer of New York will deliver a lecture Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Union Church, on Why Has God permitted Evil for Six Thousand Years?

An invitation to everybody is issued and no admission fee is charged.

Mrs. F. L. Fordtran spent a few days in the Alamo City this week.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Speaker Clark was renominated, Representative Underwood of Alabama chosen chairman of the ways and means committee, the entire democratic personnel of that tariff-making body named and all the house officers renominated at a harmonious caucus of the democrats of the house of the Sixty-third congress Thursday.

With the tinsel and the military pomp, the cheers of the multitude, the stirring music of bands and the heavy tread of marching thousands, the fireworks and the limelight only a pleasant memory, Woodrow Wilson Thursday settled down in the chair of president as quietly and with as little ceremony, probably, as almost any man who ever crossed the threshold of the White House. His long day was crowded with incidents and filled with the flavor of power that is a president's.

Two of the annual appropriations necessary to the maintenance of the federal government failed of passage Tuesday when the Sixty-second congress wound up its affairs. Senator Fall of New Mexico, holding the floor through the closing hours of the session, talked the Indian appropriation bill to death, with his $12,000,000 for the support of the Indian service, while President Taft used his veto on the $115,000,000 bill to take care of "sundry civil expenses" of the government.

Busied with the final consideration of the department of labor bill, the plan for the reorganization of the customs service, scores of visitors, the signing of a mass of legislation at the last hour from congress and innumerable interruptions by members of the executive force, President Taft Monday put in his last day at the White House with the most strenuous labor he had performed since four years ago he came to Washington.

The senate Monday ended its struggles over the Taft appointments by confirming the promotions of Colonels Carrol A. Devo, James Parker and Hunter Liggett to be brigadier generals. The confirmations came at the end of a long fight, led by Senator Johnston of Alabama, who objected to Colonel Devo's promotion.

The conference report on the army appropriation bill was adopted by the senate Saturday, providing a 35 per cent increase in pay to officers detailed to the aviation corps of the army.

The postoffice department does not deem it practicable to conclude agreements for 20 letter postage at this time with Norway, Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands and any other foreign country, according to a memorandum of the department which President Taft forwarded Saturday to the house with a message.

Two battleships were voted into the naval appropriation bill by the senate Friday after a short discussion of the provision adopted by the house limiting the building program to one battleship. The two battleship amendments, offered by the naval committee of the senate, was adopted, 56 to 16.

C., practically fought their way by foot up Pennsylvania avenue, through a "surging mob" that completely defied the Washington police, swamped the marchers and broke their procession into little companies. The women, trudging stoutly along under great difficulties, were able to complete their march only when troops of cavalry from Fort Myer were rushed into Washington to take charge of Pennsylvania avenue.

No inauguration had produced such scenes, which in many instances amounted to nothing less than riots. The establishment this week of a base and port of embarkation under command of Colonel S. W. Miller, the beginning of practice marches and drills by the Fifth brigade and the settling into camp of the Sixth cavalry from Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and the aviation squadron from Augusta, Ga., and other points, marked the activities of the mobilization camp of the Second division of the reorganized army of the United States now mobilized at Galveston and vicinity under the command of Major General William H. Free conference committees appointed on Alamo and woman's property rights bills.

Executive Action.

Bill providing two assistants to the inspector of masonry is signed.

Home Rule Measure Engrossed.

Austin, Tex.—The house, by a vote of 99 to 24, passed the home rule bill to engrossment Thursday, after adopting an amendment by Mr. Wanzstaff which eliminates all specific recital of powers cities may exercise under the act, merely providing that any city of more than 5,000 population may adopt or amend any charter it pleases, subject to the constitution of the State and not inconsistent with the general State laws.

The bill provides, however, by the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Rogers, that "nothing herein shall prevent the people of any city placing in their charter the initiative, referendum and recall."

An amendment by Mr. Reedy retains the clause expressly providing that all powers heretofore granted any city by general law or special charter are preserved to such cities until its charter is changed or amended as permitted by this act.

Senate Passes House Merger Measure.

Austin, Tex.—After an all-day scrap Thursday the senate finally passed the house bill authorizing the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company to purchase and operate the Stephensville North and South Texas railroad. Attempts to amend it proved futile and that bill will now go to the executive.

Mr. Townsend's amendment to permit the Stephensville North and South Texas and the Eastern Texas roads to be acquired and requiring the extension of the latter from Kennard to Crockett, twenty-seven miles, as of record Wednesday, was defeated, as was the amendment by Mr. Paulus requiring the Cotton Belt to buy the State railroad extending from Rusk to Palestine. He said that would be a compensatory return to the State for permitting their extension.

Monday's Senate Proceedings.

Passed Katy merger bill over governor's veto.

Finally adopted senate initiative and referendum resolution.

Finally passed bills prohibiting foreign corporations from taking causes from state to federal courts; establishing an agricultural experiment station at Lufkin; requiring accurate information to be posted about the movement of trains; and relieving the attorney general from the duty of giving opinions to various county officers.

By Macgill, Mendell and McAskill—Dog check bill.

WILSON SPEAKS TO THE NATION

Inaugural Address Delivered by the New President.

SEES WORK OF RESTORATION

Task of Victorious Democracy Is to Square Every Process of National Life With Standards Set Up at the Beginning.

Washington, March 4.—President Wilson's inaugural address, remarkable for its brevity, was listened to with the greatest interest by the vast throng which was gathered in front of the capitol's east portico, and at its close there was heard nothing but praise for its eloquence and high moral tone. The address in full was as follows:

There has been a change of government. It began two years ago, when the house of representatives became Democratic by a decisive majority. It has now been completed. The senate about to assemble will also be Democratic. The offices of president and vice-president have been put in the hands of Democrats. What does the change mean? That is the question that is uppermost in our minds today. That is the question I am going to try to answer, in order, if I may, to interpret the occasion.

Purpose of the Nation.

It means much more than the mere success of a party. The success of a party means little except when the nation is using that party for a large and noble purpose. No one can mistake the purpose for which the nation now seeks to use the Democratic party. It seeks to use it to interpret a change in its own plans and point of view. Some old things with which we had grown familiar, and which had begun to creep into the very habit of our thought and of our lives have altered their aspect as we have lately looked critically upon them, with fresh, awakened eyes; have dropped their disguises and shown themselves alien and sinister. Some new things, as we look frankly upon them, willing to comprehend their real character, have come to assume the aspect of things long believed in and familiar, stuff of our own convictions. We have been refreshed by a new insight into our own life.

We see that in many things that life is very great. It is incomparably great in its material aspects, in its wealth, in the diversity and sweep of its energy, in the industries which have been conceived and built up by the genius of individual men and the limitless enterprise of groups of men. It is great, also, very great, in its moral force. Nowhere else in the world have noble men and women exhibited in more striking form the beauty and energy of sympathy and helpfulness and counsel in their efforts to rectify wrong, alleviate suffering, and set the weak in the way of strength and hope. We have built up, moreover, a great system of government which has stood through a long age in many respects a model for those who seek to set liberty upon foundations that will endure against fortuitous change, against storm and accident. Our life contains every great thing, and contains it in rich abundance.

Evils That Have Come.

But the evil has come with the good, and much fine gold has been corroded. With riches has come an excusable waste. We have squandered a great part of what we might have used, and have not stopped to conserve the exceeding bounty of nature, without which our genius for enterprise would have been worthless and impotent, wanting to be careful, shrewdly planned, and the judge and the brother are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be indeed their spokesmen and interpreters, whether we have the power to comprehend and the rectified will to choose our high course of action.

Nation Deeply Stirred.

And yet it will be no cool process of mere science. The nation has been deeply stirred, stirred by a solemn passion, stirred by the desire of wrong, of ideals lost, of government often debauched and made an instrument of evil. The feelings which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heartstrings like some air put of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled and the judge and the brother are one. We know our task to be no mere task of politics but a task which shall search us through and through, whether we be able to understand our time and the need of our people, whether we be indeed their spokesmen and interpreters, whether we have the power to comprehend and the rectified will to choose our high course of action.

The Wheelbarrow.

If you have occasion to use a wheelbarrow, leave it, when you are through with it, in front of the house with the handles toward the door. A wheelbarrow is the most complicated thing to fall over on the face of the earth. A man will fall over one when he would never think of falling over anything else. He never knows when he has not thought falling over it, other than it will catch his legs and his arms, turn over with him and rear up in front of him, and just as he pauses in his profanity to congratulate himself, it takes a new turn, and scoops fire from his feet, and he commences to scold anew, and he bumps himself on fresh places. A man never comes to fall over a wheelbarrow until it turns completely on its back, or brings up against something it cannot upset. It is the most inoffensive looking object there is, but it is more dangerous than a locomotive, and no man is secure with it unless he has a tight hold on its handles, and is sitting down on something. A wheelbarrow has its uses, without doubt, but in its leisure moments it is the great blighting curse on true dignity.—James Montgomery Bailey.

Things to Be Altered.

We have come now to the sober second thought. The scales of heedlessness have fallen from our eyes. We have made up our minds to square every process of our national life again with the standards we so proudly set up at the beginning and have always carried at our hearts. Our work is a work of restoration. We have stigmatized with some degree of particularity the things that ought to be altered and here are some of the chief items: A tariff which cuts us off from our proper part in the commerce of the world, violates the just principles of taxation, and makes the government a facile instrument in the hands of private interests; a banking and currency system based upon the necessity of the government to sell its bonds fifty years ago and perfectly adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all its sides, financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or served as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; water courses undeveloped, waste places unreclaimed, forests untended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine. We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production, but we have not had cost or economy as we should either as organizers of industry, as statesmen, or as individuals.

Government for Humanity.

Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity, in safeguarding the health of the nation, the health of its men and its women, and its children, as well as their rights in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not pity. These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the most essential of justice, in the body politic, if men and women and children be not shielded in their lives, their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control, or singly cope with. Society must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of law is to keep sound the society it serves. Sanitary laws, pure food laws, and laws determining conditions of labor which individuals are powerless to determine for themselves are intrinsic parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

These are some of the things we ought to do, and not leave the others undone, the old-fashioned, never-to-be-neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right. This is the high enterprise of the new day; to lift everything that concerns our life as a nation to the light that shines from the hearthfire of every man's conscience and vision of the right. It is inconceivable that we should do this as partisans; it is inconceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste. We shall resolve, not to destroy, we shall deal with our economic system as it is and as it may be modified, not as it might be if we had a clean sheet of paper to write upon; and step by step we shall make it what it should be, in the spirit of those who question their own wisdom and seek counsel and knowledge, not shallow self-satisfaction or the excitement of excursions whether they can or not tell. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motto.

Honor Texas Heroes.

The graves of Texas heroes, men who gave their lives to the State of Texas in the struggle of her people for independence from Mexico, were marked Thursday by committees from Sidney Sherman Chapter, Daughters of the Republic of Texas. Miniature flags, bearing the state's lone star, symbolic of the state, were placed at the resting places of all known graves; wreaths of flowers were placed upon the mounds, in tribute to the memory of men who gave their lives for their State and her cause. This tribute is usually paid on March 2, the anniversary of Texas independence, but as the anniversary this year fell on Sunday, Thursday was selected as the date most suitable to members of the D. R. T. chapter.

Burleson Names Two Assistants.

Washington.—Postmaster General Burleson Thursday decided to appoint Daniel C. Repp of North Carolina, the expert of the house committee on ways and means, as first assistant postmaster general, and John I. Blakesley, secretary of the democratic state committee of Pennsylvania, as third assistant postmaster general.

Simultaneous Attacks Planned.

Douglas, Ariz.—A plan of the constitutional rebels to attack simultaneously border towns in Sonora was reported Thursday to General Ojeda, who is commanding the federal garrison at Agua Prieta, opposite Douglas. At once work was begun in throwing up fortifications about the town.

Saw Mill Being Built.

GREEKS CAPTURE TURKISH FORT AND 32,000 DEFENDERS

JANINA, KEY TO POSSESSIONS OF CP EPIRUS, IN GREEK HANDS.

The Most Brilliant Episode of War. Greeks Fire 35,000 Shots, and Battle Lasted Two Days and Nights.

Athens, Greece.—The Turkish fortress of Janina, the key to the possession of the Epirus Province, with its garrison of 32,000 men, surrendered to the Greek army Thursday, after a defense which stands out as one of the most brilliant episodes of the Balkan war.

The surrender was preceded by a fierce bombardment, continuing two days and nights. Every available gun, including heavy howitzers, lent by the Serbian artillery, was brought to bear on the forts defending the beleaguered city.

Thirty thousand shells were fired by the Greek guns during the first day's cannonade. Gradually the Turkish batteries at Biazni, Naolira, Sakni and elsewhere were silenced.

The Greek commander, by a feint, led the Turks to believe that their attack would be made from the right. As soon as the attention of the defenders had been distracted the Greeks hurled large bodies of infantry onto the Turkish left. The Ottoman troops, utterly surprised, fell back in disorder.

Batteries on the heights of Biazni, the main key of the defense, had been unable to stand the pelting of the shells and were reduced to complete silence early in the fight.

The Greeks pushed their forward movement and occupied the Turkish batteries on the Sankindales Hills, capturing all the guns and 110 artillerymen. Then the Greek battalions gradually deployed onto the plain in front of the city itself.

WILSON INDUCTED INTO HIGH OFFICE

Inauguration of Twenty-Seventh President Is Witnessed by Great Crowds.

MARSHALL SWORN IN FIRST

Simple Ceremony in Senate Chamber Followed by More Impressive Affair on East Portico of the Capitol.

By GEORGE CLINTON.

Washington, March 4.—In the presence of a vast throng of his fellow citizens, Woodrow Wilson today stood in front of the east portico of the capitol and took the oath of president of the United States. Thomas R. Marshall already had been sworn in as vice-president, and with the completion of the ceremony the ship of state was manned by the Democratic party, which had been ashore for sixteen years.

As the new chief executive of the nation stood with bare head, Edward Douglass White, chief justice of the Supreme court, held before him the Bible always used in the ceremony. Mr. Wilson placed his hands upon the book and in a voice strong, though somewhat affected by emotion, swore to support the Constitution and the laws of the country and to perform the duties of his high office to the best of his ability.

Thomas Riley Marshall swore fealty to the Constitution and to the people in the senate chamber, where four years it will be his duty to preside over the deliberations of the members of the upper house of congress.

Severely Simple Ceremonies. Both of the ceremonies proper were conducted in a severely simple but most impressive manner. The surroundings of the scene of the president's induction into office, however, were not so simple, for it was an out-of-door event and the great gathering of military, naval and uniformed civil organizations gave more than a touch of splendor to the scene.

In the senate chamber, where the oath was taken by the man now vice-president of the United States, there were gathered about 2,000 people, all that the upper house will contain without the risk of danger because of the rush and press of the multitudes. It is probable that nowhere else in the United States at any time are there gathered an equal number of men and women whose names are so widely known. The gathering in the senate chamber and later on the east portico of the capitol was composed largely of those prominent for their services in America, and in part of foreigners who have secured places for their names in the current history of the world's doings.

The arrangements of the ceremonies for the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas Riley Marshall were made by the joint committee on arrangements of congress. The senate occupied. On the floor of the chamber were many former members of the senate who, because of the fact that they once held membership in that body, were given the privileges of the floor. After the hall was filled and all the minor officials of government and those privileged to witness the ceremonies were seated, William H. Taft and Woodrow Wilson, preceded by the sergeant-at-arms and the committee of arrangements, entered the senate chamber. They were followed immediately by Vice-President-elect Thomas R. Marshall, leaning upon the arm of the president pro tempore of the senate who, after the seating of the incoming vice-president, took his place as presiding officer of the senate and of the day's proceedings.

The president and the president-elect sat in the first row of seats directly in front and almost under the desk of the presiding officer. In the same row, but to their left, were the vice-president-elect and two former vice-presidents of the United States, Levi P. Morton of New York and Adlai A. Stevenson of Illinois.

When the distinguished company entered the chamber the senate was still under its old organization. The oath of office was immediately administered to Vice-President-elect Marshall, who thereupon became Vice-President Marshall. The prayer of the day was given by the chaplain of the senate, Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, pastor of the First Baptist church of Washington.

SERVICE DAINY AND COSTLY ANGEL SLEEVE HAS RETURNED

Extravagance Marks Tea Sets Which Modern Hostess Is Willing to Set Before Her Guests.

If afternoon tea sets continue to get more attractive, the services which were considered lovely a few years ago will be relegated to the remotest corners of china closets. All in-palest green porcelain is a very dainty set comprising a tea pot, sugar basin, cream pitcher and a half dozen cups and saucers. It sets upon a square tray of green willow. Quite as dainty and only a trifle more costly are tete-a-tete tea sets of white china banded with dark blue or red, edged with a gold vine and standing on an oblong matching tray.

Among the four-piece services are sets of amber porcelain so thin that the leverage seems to color it. These sets stand upon trays of amber crystal having projecting handles of gilded metal, set with genuine amber. Exceedingly pretty tea sets are of silver deposited white porcelain or comprise a tea pot of silver, sugar bowl silver deposited white porcelain.

SPRING STREET COSTUME

Street gown of black accented with white. The waist is finished with white ruffling and a small chemise of white lace.

Serge Right Side. If any who are puzzled to determine which is the right side of serge will follow this rule the difficulty will vanish. Whenever there are diagonal lines, a line in serge or in the pattern as in some suitings, these lines run from the upper right-hand corner to the lower left hand on the right side. In many materials other than serge these diagonal lines may be seen, such as merino, cashmere, and even broadcloth, though not so distinct as in serge.

Medici Collars. New Medici collars usually have vest-like labels of net or shadow lace. Shades of bright Roman striped ribbons are pretty on blue serge dresses.

Exception to the Rule.

"Yes, we always called him a sissy in school and when he got to college everybody there regarded him as a poor stick. He used to go around alone, with his mouth open and a far-away look in his eyes, and it became one of the regular customs to make him the victim of practical jokes." "And I suppose that he is now the most famous member of his class?" "No. When I heard of him last he was third assistant dishwasher in a vegetarian restaurant."

Epigram.

"That wasn't a bad epigram on the magistrate's part," said the somewhat educated tramp, who had been convicted for vagrancy. "What did he say?" asked the tramp's pal. "Seven days," came the reply. "That ain't no epigram, is it?" "I'm sure it is. I asked a parson once what an epigram was, and he says: 'It's a short sentence that sounds light, but gives you plenty to think about.'"—London Opinion.

Wife—Why, George, whatever in the world are you trying to do? Husband—Putting this cover on my umbrella, of course. Wife—That isn't an umbrella cover. It's my new black silk skirt!—Puck

Defending Her Perquisites.

"In the paper here, Marie the market prices are entirely different from those you put down." "Heavens! Do you still believe that in the home?"—McLenderer's Jester (Munchy)

SHIPWRECK UP TO DATE.

"Is there much danger, captain?" "Not a particle. A moving picture outfit will soon be along and rescue us after they have taken a few films."

Poor Outlook.

Although the play is shady, Its songs will hardly last, Because the leading lady Has never had a part.

These Times.

Ex-Governor Pennypacker, discussing the divorce evil in Pennsylvania, said, with a smile: "In these times one never, as the saying goes, knows where one is at. An acquaintance of mine extended his hand to me at the historical society the other day and cried: 'Congratulations! I am the happiest man alive!' 'I looked at him doubtfully. 'Engaged, married or divorced?' I asked."

Breaking It Gently.

Mrs. Bukkit—Gude marnin', Mrs. Flintie, Feelin' well today? Mrs. Flintie—Yes, very well, thanks. Mrs. Bukkit—An' strong? Mrs. Flintie—Oh, yes, Mrs. Bukkit, quite strong.

History of the Harp.

Mary—I've just found out what was the origin of the harp. John (looking up from his newspaper)—Yes? Mary—It was in the Garden of Eden. Eve ate the apple—and men have been harping about it ever since.—Judge.

Amicable Agreement.

"Some family in this building," observed the stranger, sniffing, "is cooking cabbage today." "All of 'em, sir," said the janitor. "It's the understanding among all the renters that Monday is the regular cabbage day."

Where He Gets Them.

Frost—Where do you get your hats, old man? Snow—At cafes usually. But once or twice I've been lucky enough to exchange at church.—Judge.

Cured.

"You don't seem to be troubled by rheumatism any more?" "Nope, I'm cured." "How stings?" "Nope, auto horn."

They All Do It.

Mrs. Minks—Mrs. Leadem is aging rapidly. Mrs. Blinks—Yes; poor thing. She is worrying herself gray trying to look young.

HE WAS IT.

"Smothers, the new congressman makes an awful clever speech. He may be smart, but he doesn't look it." "You want to take a squint at his secretary."

Generosity.

"But, George," protested the lovely girl, "your salary is only $20 a week, and we can't live on that!" "Darling," exclaimed George, "you don't suppose I'd be mean enough to ask you to throw up your $10 a week job, do you?"

Double Chance.

Willis—My son wants to go to war. Gills—That so? Willis—Yes, in the aeroplane corps. Gills—Great Scott, why does he want to get killed twice?—Puck.

Couldn't and Wouldn't.

"Why so glum?" "She told me she wouldn't return my love." "How about all those beautiful gifts you lavished on her?" "She told me she wouldn't return them."

A Chance to Hear It All.

"That woman's fond of gossip." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "I like to see people happy, and I hope that when women are eligible to all offices she will be a judge in Reno."

THE KERRVILLE ADVANCE

Published Every Thursday at Kerrville, Texas, by T. A. Buckner.

SUBSCRIPTION $1.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

Entered in the U. S. Mails as second class matter at Kerrville, Texas, on Oct. 17, 1912, according to act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Smashed the Machine

Last Friday the city of Houston had a primary. Hon. Ben Campbell a native of Walker County, was nominated for mayor by a majority of more than two to one over J. M. Geiselman, who was the candidate of the city administration headed by Mayor Baldwin Rice and which had built up a political machine, Mr. Campbell represented clean government devoted to the best interests and welfare of all the people, better schools, better streets and other improvements, strict enforcement of law, and a thorough business administration. Notwithstanding he voted for Prohibition, and the fact that Col. Jake Wolters, R. M. Johnston and other prominent anti and the Houston Post fought him bitterly because of this vote, Mr. Campbell swept the city, not, of course, because he voted for Prohibition, for Houston cast a large majority against it, but because he stood for a clean people's government and against machine and ring politics. The Houston Chronicle did splendid work for Mr. Campbell and against the ring. The four city commissioners nominated are J. J. Pastoriza, Matt Drennan, David Fitzgerald and H. A. Halverson, all strong men and supporters of Mr. Campbell.

We congratulate the public spirited and patriotic citizens of Houston on their great victory. Boss rule and ring domination are fast playing out. They can't stand publicity or stand against the public conscience.

SECRETARY of State William J. Bryan does not approve the view of his predecessor, Senator Knox, that warships should be used to enforce the collection of debts due Americans in foreign countries. He believes that American investments abroad must take care of themselves. But American citizens must be protected in every land and clime. Mr. Bryan still places the man above the dollar.

PRESIDENT Wilson says the great work before the people is restoration, not destruction; that the success of the Democratic party means not a day of triumph, but a day of dedication to the highest ideals of humanity. He closes his patriotic address with this summons and pledge: "I summon all honest men, all patriotic, all forward-looking men to my side. God helping me, I will not fail them if they will but counsel and sustain me." All honest, patriotic and far-looking people will counsel and sustain him in his great work of restoration.

THE so-called illiteracy bill has passed the House and is pretty sure to pass the Senate. It provides that every voter must prepare his own ballot without help. We have had splendid public schools in Texas for forty years and there is no excuse for such illiteracy as being unable to prepare a ballot when the offices and names of candidates are all printed. Ignorance is said to be the mother of vice, and ignorance and vice are the chief causes of bad government.

THE stockholders of the West Texas Fair will meet at the Court House on Friday, March 14, at 3 p. m. to elect directors for the ensuing year. The Kerrville Fair has always proved a great success in bringing large numbers of people here and exhibiting the products of this section. We hope all will pull together for a bumper Fair this year.

PRESIDENT and Mrs. Wilson have barred liquor and wine from the White House. Secretary Bryan and other cabinet officers and their wives will not permit the use of these liquors, which clearly are not essential to the highest public or private life.

ALL business property owners are not able to put down cement sidewalks, but they could with little expense make good gravel walks. Or, is it the business of the city council to have good sidewalks as well as good streets and crossings.

The keynote of President Wilson's inaugural address is that the great object of government is the safeguarding of humanity and not the piling up of wealth.

KERRVILLE

Is the county seat of Kerr County, has a population of about 2500, is situated 20 miles north-west from San Antonio, and is the terminus of the Kerrville branch of the S. A. & A. P. railroad. It has two daily trains to and from San Antonio, and daily mail routes, carrying passengers in hacks, to Ingram, Junction, Rock Springs Harper and other places north and west of Kerrville, and also a daily line to Fredericksburg. From Kerrville to Fredericksburg is 25 miles; to Bandera and Medina City, 25 miles; to Junction--90 miles--Rock Springs, 80 miles, Harper 21 miles.

The elevation at Kerrville is 1250 feet. The Guadalupe river, which heads 30 miles north of Kerrville, runs through the city. On the east side where the city is located, there are high cliffs on the river, and on the west side is a fertile and beautiful valley, and mountains surround the city on the east and west. The Guadalupe valley is occupied by thrifty farmers and ranchmen, and the mountain regions, among which there is considerable valley, creek and arable land, there are large ranches of cattle, horses, sheep and goats, all of which do well in the Kerrville country. The land generally is well wooded, principally with live oak, Spanish oak and cedar, and the range is good, and water excellent.

Our farmers grow wheat, oats and all other small grain, cane and alfalfa, cotton and corn, and fruit and vegetables do well. Kerrville is one of the largest wool markets in the state, and large quantities of wool, mohair, cotton, oats, cattle, etc., are shipped from this point.

The climate of the Kerrville country is unsurpassed. The winters are short and generally mild and invigorating owing to the dryness of the climate and the prevalence of sunshine. The summers are good and delightful, and the mountain air is pure and bracing. Game abounds in the Kerrville country, and fishing in the Guadalupe, especially north of Kerrville, is good. Kerrville and the adjoining towns are popular resorts for health and recreation.
